[illegible] a capacity audience attending the second and last of the series of University lectures, Sir Frederick Whyte, well-known lecturer and authority on Asiatic affairs, spoke on "Crises in the Far East" in the auditorium of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum last Tuesday evening, March 7.

Following a brief introduction by Prof. A. R. Gifford of the philosophy department, Sir Frederick proceeded to give an interesting and informative talk on the background of this all-important subject.

Beginning with a short history of the present trouble, Sir Frederick proceeded to give a background of both China and Japan, taking them separately at first and then bringing them together in the last heads which includes the Sino-Japanese troubles.

China," says Sir Frederick, "has always been a democratic nation. Their art and culture is one of the greatest in the world. When the European culture came it was held at arms length. In the end, the Chinese adopted the spirit of the western culture, but rejected its form.

In 1911, China overthrew its empire and established a republic, and it at once encountered social, economic, and commercial troubles. That is why China has been so torn by continuous internal strife.

Japan is an undemocratic nation. The western culture here, too, met with resistance. But the difference was that China accepted the spirit and let the form go, while Japan accepted the form and let the spirit go.

At the end of the World War, Japan accepted numerous treaties and attended and ratified all disarmament plans. This sudden change of policy was due directly to the war. The militaristic party lost in old Germany, their model, had been crushed on the battlefields of the western front. In 1919, a prime minister who was not a militarist was chosen for the first time and for eleven or twelve years Japan was peaceful.

Suddenly, in 1931, the same old militaristic attitude of Japan returned. This was due to the apparent undemocratic mind of the Japanese mind; political corruption, and the world-wide economic crisis.

These three factors have resulted in the present controversies and maladjustments in Manchuria.

Japan justifies its policy in Manchuria on two grounds; first, that Manchuria is needed in a strategic point against Russia and, secondly, the economic significance of Manchuria is of essential importance to her.

However, says Sir Frederick, Japan is careful not to anger either China or the United States in its struggle for Manchuria, for these two great nations receive 60 percent of Japan's entire trade.

Closing with a stirring appeal, Sir Frederick said: "It is upon the basis of liberty, and the pursuit of happiness based on the rule of law, that we stand for a permanent rule of the two great English-speaking nations of the sea."

After the lecture, Sir Frederick answered questions put to him by the audience.

DR. PHILIP D. WOODBRIDGE OSLER SOCIETY SPEAKER

Noted Authority on Anesthetics Gives Enlightening Information

Dr. Philip D. Woodbridge, of Boston, noted authority on anesthetics, lectured before the Osler Clinical Society at the University of Vermont last evening. This was the third lecture of a series of six lectures sponsored by the society this year. The subject of the lecture was "Modern Anesthesia and Anesthetics."

Doctor Woodbridge is a graduate of the Harvard University School of Medicine and for some time has been associated with the Lahey Clinic in Boston as consultant in anesthesia. Because of his extensive experience with the many types of modern anesthetics, Doctor Woodbridge is considered one of the leading specialists in this branch of medicine in the country.

SEVENTEEN STUDENTS IN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE PLACED ON DEAN'S LIST

Eight Seniors, One Junior, Two Sophomores, and Six Freshmen Receive All A's or B's

Seventeen students in the Agricultural College received all A's and B's. Eight of these were seniors, one a junior, two sophomores and six freshmen.

Ethel C. Bishop, of Springfield, has the distinction of being the only student in the College of Agriculture at the University of Vermont to receive a scholastic grade of all A's during the first semester. Miss Bishop is a senior and captain of the women's rifle team.

The seniors were Elizabeth J. Aiken, Benson; John O. Buchanan, Derby; James O. Hoag, Grand Isle; Laura A. Johnson, Wallingford; Esther C. Leary, Burlington; Priscilla R. Perry, Springfield; Isobel Torrens, Lansdowne, Pa.; Cola D. Watson, Newport Center.

Ruth A. Johnstone, of Morrisville, was the only junior to make the grade, and the two sophomores were Madeline W. Ainsboro, Derby, and Winifred S. Perry, Essex Junction.

The six high ranking freshmen were Kenneth W. Dike, Bristol; Edna M. Leach, Enosburg Falls; Thelma H. Leach, Essex Junction; Frederick J. Nuissl, Montpelier; Harry M. Rowe, Barnet; Esther Sinclair, Essex Junction.

LAMBDA IOTA HOLDS FRESHMAN INITIATION

Lambda Iota Fraternity initiated eleven men last week, all of the freshman class. L. E. Hoyt '33 presided at the initiation and alumni present included H. M. McIntosh '90, H. G. Hicks '05, W. T. Fulton '22, L. S. Rowell '25 and F. W. Householder '32. The initiates are: Philip M. Andress, of Newtonville, Mass.; John M. Bellows, Jr., of Maynard, Mass.; Neil J. Cahn, of Lawrence; Dean E. Coburn of Newport; Eugene C. Dresser, of Burlington; E. Raymond Greenaway, of Worcester; Orison W. Lawson, of Newport; Millard D. McCarthy, of North Brookfield, Mass.; H. Esmonde Mahoney, of North Adams, Mass.; J. Arthur Macaulay, of Milton, and Howard L. Rubmshottel, of Amityville, L. I., N. Y.

Faculty Recital To Be Given in Chapel Sunday Afternoon

Professor Leonard and Mme Bradish Have Varied Program to be Presented to Audience

The music department of the University is sponsoring a faculty recital at the Ira Allen Chapel, Sunday afternoon, March 12, at 4:00 p.m. Mme. Elizabeth Bradish, dramatic soprano, and Prof. Clair T. Leonard, organist, have prepared the following program.

PROGRAM

Canzona in D minor — Bach
Professor Leonard

Biblical Songs — Dvorak
1. Clouds and Darkness
2. Lord, Thou Art My Refuge
3. Hear My Prayer
Madame Bradish

Pastorale — Bach
Professor Leonard

Biblical Songs — Dvorak
4. God Is My Shepherd
5. I Will Sing New Songs of Gladness

Goin' Home (based on the Largo from the New World Symphony) — Dvorak
Madame Bradish

Concerto in D minor — Handel
1. Adagio
2. Allegro
3. Larghetto
4. Allegro quasi presto
Professor Leonard

LOST

A green Parker pen and pencil. Finder kindly call 3485.

SIX FRATERNITIES TO HOLD EASTER DANCES AT HOUSES TONIGHT

Informal and Formal Dances Mark Opening of Spring Social Season

MARCH 30 OTHER DATE

Six fraternities are holding dances this week-end, and four others will be held March 30.

Lambda Iota will have an informal at their house this evening. Prof. and Mrs. W. F. Eckhard and Prof. and Mrs. Leon Cassell will act as chaperones. E. A. Metcalfe '34 and P. M. Andress '34, who compose the committee in charge of the dance, have secured the Crusaders to play.

S. Pierce '34 is directing the Delta Psi informal, which will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Van Note. Music will be furnished by Minotti's orchestra.

Freddie Lynch's orchestra will play for the Kappa Sigma dance, to be chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. P. H. Ewert and Mr. and Mrs. S. F. French. It is under the direction of C. L. Howe '35.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ward will chaperone the Zeta Chi dance, a feature of which will be an Easter egg hunt. The New England Troubadours are to play. R. S. Wright '34 heads the committee in charge and other members are D. F. Green '35 and G. O. Ricker '34.

V. H. Lunna '36 heads the committee of freshmen who are directing the Sigma Delta dance. Prof. and Mrs. L. B. Puffer and Prof. K. J. Sheldon are to be chaperones.

C. W. Janke '33, social chairman, has made arrangements for Lechner's orchestra to play for Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Doctor and Mrs. Briggs will act as chaperones.

Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Nu, Alpha Tau Omega and Phi Mu Delta will hold their Easter formals on March 30.

The Sigma Phi formal, planned for tonight, has been indefinitely postponed.

FACULTY CLUB ELECTS ECKHARD AS PRESIDENT

Evans, Vice-Pres.—Puffer, Treas.—Dean, Sec.—are Other Officers

The new Faculty Club of the University of Vermont has elected officers for the coming year as follows: Prof. C. F. Eckhard president; Prof. P. D. Evans vice-president; Prof. L. B. Puffer treasurer; Prof. F. W. Dean secretary.

The last meeting of the year will be held April 15 when Col. John R. Herr or Lieut. Elliot Allen will be the speaker. Other speakers during the year have been Prof. Arthur E. Morgan, Sen. Warren R. Austin, Atty. Gen. M. Page, Prof. Paul A. Moody, Justice Sherman R. Moulton and Prof. Samuel E. Bassett.

The officers of the club for the past year have been Prof. F. C. Mower president, Prof. C. F. Eckhard, vice-president, Prof. A. W. Adams, treasurer, Prof. F. W. Dean secretary.

OMICRON NU PLEDGES PURINTON, JOHNSTONE

Phi Chapter of Omicron Nu, the honorary home economics society, recently announced the pledging of Valeria Purinton '34 and Ruth Johnstone '34. Membership in the society is the highest honor which a student of the home economics department may hold. Pledging was held at the home of Prof. Bertha Terrill, head of the home economics department, Friday evening, March 3.

Members of Omicron Nu are chosen for scholarship, leadership and promise of future attainment. The chapter at Vermont is very small because of the basis on which the number to be received, chapter states that only a certain percent of a class may be chosen, and as the home economics department here is relatively small, only two or three are chosen each year.

REDSTONE HAS DANCE TOMORROW EVENING

Redstone dormitory will hold a victrola dance tomorrow evening from 7:30 until 11:00 o'clock. Prof. and Mrs. G. V. Kidder of the Latin department will act as chaperones and Anita Weir '35 is acting as chairman of the dance.

Faculty Optimistic About Present Banking Holiday

Members of Faculty Give Opinions on Banking Situation Showing General Optimism

PRES. BAILEY COMMENTS

[illegible] reporter [illegible] reading the [illegible] and [illegible] to the bank [illegible] [illegible] was met by [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible]. Optimism seemed prevalent [illegible] although all agreed that [illegible] [illegible] pondering on the subject.

"Conditions change from day to day and new orders are being promulgated daily so that it is difficult to foretell as to what the situation will be one week from today. I expect that by the first of next week conditions will be at least temporarily modified so that it will be possible to exercise the usual necessary banking functions," commented President Bailey when interviewed.

Professor Buehler, of the economics department, explained the whys and wherefores of the holiday a bit. "It is rather difficult to say much about it. It was inevitable, the country was suffering from a run on the banks. To protect depositors it was necessary to declare a holiday. The western banks had been drained and were now drawing on the Federal Reserve Bank of New York affecting eastern banks.

The situation is similar to that in the panics of 1907 and 1893. Something of a panic with mob spirit, is taking place now. Even in normal times banks by their very nature do not and cannot have enough cash on hand to pay at one time a dollar on a dollar for all deposits. If that were the case no interest could be paid on deposits and the banks would be mere safety vaults.

The holiday will permit the Federal and State governments and the banks to arrange plans to protect both cash and depositors. If we may judge by past experience, it will come out all right.

Professor Perkins of the zoology department declined to give any opinion concerning the situation. "I am not qualified to say anything whatsoever in stated when interviewed. "All I know is what I have read concerning it. Of course it is causing us all a great deal of anxiety and trouble."

When asked his opinion of [illegible] Professor Dean of the English department replied: "By only using I must say that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

BURLINGTON, HARTFORD, SPAULDING WIN

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] attracting as each team scored. The [illegible] margin maintained by the losing [illegible] throughout the game. The [illegible] when the game was [illegible] teams showed a lot of fight and perfected playing. Hostler brought the stands to [illegible] last when he made a [illegible] from mid-court tieing the [illegible] [illegible] completed.

[illegible]

[illegible]	1	1	2
[illegible]	4	2	10
[illegible]	1	0	2
[illegible]
[illegible]	1	1	3
[illegible]	1	0	2
[illegible]
Totals	8	4	19

[illegible]

[illegible]
[illegible], rb	2	1	5
[illegible], rb	1	0	2
Totals	3	1	7

Barber, rb	6	0	0
Malen, c	3	3	6
[illegible], lf	4	1	9
Rapchack, rf	0	0	0
[illegible], rf	1	0	2
Totals	12	5	29

Despite the close nature of their game with Proctor, Spaulding completely outplayed their opponents and when the half was called they had secured a comfortable ten-point lead, which they maintained throughout the game. Both teams played excellent ball in the second half. The efforts of the Proctor quintet were [illegible] and they bowed to the superior [illegible] of the Green and White [illegible].

[illegible]

[illegible], rf	1	0	6
[illegible], rf	0	0	0
[illegible], lf	4	1	9
[illegible], lf	4	0	8
[illegible], rb	1	1	3
[illegible], rb	0	0	0
[illegible], lb	2	0	4
[illegible], lb	0	0	0
Totals	14	2	30

Proctor

Gallus, lb	1	0	2
Carlson, rb	0	0	0
Schon, c	4	0	8
Illinski, lf	1	2	4
Tarasavitch, rf	3	3	9
Totals	9	5	23

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Fleming Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
Open daily 6:30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.

RUTLAND OVERCOMES HARTFORD TEAM

(Continued from page 3)

and came back with McLeod, Watson and McGrath making shots to put them [illegible] the game. Hostler threw one [illegible] and Lindsey made a [illegible] the quarter with Spaulding [illegible] 18 to 17.

Rutland, although they started slowly, had the game well in hand and appeared to be the only ones not afraid of the great Spaulding team. The [illegible] Spaulding team failed to take [illegible] Bradley and especially [illegible] had to come up to expectations and watch his great performance against Proctor Friday by [illegible] the ball.

Most Valuable Player

[illegible] Salzarano of Hartford.

All-tournament Team

[illegible], rf	Hartford
[illegible], lf	Hartford
[illegible], c	Springfield
Lichy, rb	Burlington
Hostler, lg	Rutland

Second Team

[illegible], rf	Rutland
[illegible], lf	Spaulding
[illegible], c	Hartford
[illegible], lg	Rutland

McGILL DEFEATS VERMONT DEBATERS

(Continued from page 1)

government has been generous toward the veterans who are foolhardily demanding an immediate payment in these times of depression. They are under the impression that these endowment policies can be cashed before they are due. It is therefore undesirable that the veterans should be paid now.

Vermont Again

Bigelow, the second speaker for Vermont stated that the veteran has been discriminated against. Both Harding and Coolidge, before they were respectively [illegible] said that the veteran should be fully paid. But each, in turn, vetoed the bill when it was presented before them. The veteran had no choice in taking the $50.00 which the government gave him. Those who were due more had to wait. If the bonus is paid now the veteran will spend the money and put it back into circulation thereby helping to alleviate the depression. The bonus is due now, not in 1945.

The United States government should float a bond issue at the rate of 2 percent in order to raise the money to pay the veteran.

McGill Concludes Construction

The second speaker for the negative, A. Marshall, stated that if the United States floats a bond issue, the money will be taken from the people by being added to their taxation. The money the veteran puts in [illegible] will be limited. The veteran can [illegible] $500.00 at 3½ percent on a [illegible] tificate whereas he receives [illegible] interest from the government. [illegible] try has been, therefore, [illegible] cannot pay money which [illegible] After all the veterans had [illegible] serve his country and [illegible] be proud of that fact. [illegible] American Legion have [illegible] immediate payment but [illegible] only a small number of the [illegible] The men who know about the [illegible] are against immediate payment.

SIX FRATERNITIES DANCE THIS FRID[illegible]

(Continued from page 1)

charge, and Joe Lechnyr's [illegible] furnish harmony.

Zeta Chi will also have [illegible] with formal hours. The [illegible] charge is R. S. Wright '35 [illegible] '35, and G. O. Ricker '34. Prof. Mrs. Ewert and Prof. and Mrs. M[illegible] ton will chaperone and music [illegible] furnished by the New England [illegible] dours.

The Sigma Delta dance is [illegible] the freshman class.

Bob Minotti's orchestra will [illegible] the Delta Psi formal.

Freddie Lynch's will [illegible] Sigma Phi. G. H. Burrows '34 [illegible] charge.

Don't you get Pipe Hungry once in a while?

"MAYBE it's back to Nature. Maybe it's something else. I don't know just what it is, but somehow or other I've just got to slip out in the woods and sit down on a log. I always take the old pipe along. Thinking somehow seems easier when you are smoking a pipe. I can fill up my pipe with Granger, and somehow just seem to see things clearer than at any other time.

"Don't know what it is about Granger, but it must be made for pipes—real pipe tobacco.

"Somehow, there's a flavor and aroma about Granger I never found in any other tobacco. When I pack my old pipe tight and good with these big Granger flakes, it's about the coolest smoke I ever enjoyed. It makes me downright pipe hungry every time I look at the package."

Some years ago we made a painstaking, scientific study to find out, if we could, the kind of tobacco best suited for pipes.

Down in the Blue Grass regions of Kentucky, we found a tobacco called White Burley. There is a grade of this tobacco between the kind used for chewing and the varieties suitable for cigarettes that is best suited for pipes. This tobacco is used in Granger.

This tobacco is prepared by a method worked out many years ago by Mr. J. N. Wellman. It gives Granger a fragrance and mellowness that pipe smokers like, and makes it burn to a clean, dry ash. Granger never gums a pipe.

Granger has not been on sale very long, but it has come to be popular, and there is this much about it: We have yet to know of a man who started smoking it, who didn't keep on. Folks seem to like it.

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

TEN CENTS

The Granger pouch keeps the tobacco fresh

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1933 NUMBER 46

Sir Frederick Whyte Gives Stirring Lecture in Museum

Sino-Japanese Dispute Clearly Explained by Noted Lecturer Who Speaks Before Capacity Audience in Fleming Museum

INTRODUCED BY GIFFORD

[illegible] capacity audience attending [illegible] and last of the series of University lectures, Sir Frederick Whyte, [illegible] lecturer and authority on [illegible] affairs, spoke on "Crises in the [illegible] in the auditorium of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum last Tuesday evening, March 7.

Following a brief introduction by Prof. A. R. Gifford of the philosophy department, Sir Frederick proceeded to give an interesting and informative talk on the background of this all-important subject.

Beginning with a short history of the present trouble, Sir Frederick proceeded to give a background of both China and Japan, taking them separately at first and then bringing them together in the last stage which includes the Sino-Japanese conflict.

"China" says Sir Frederick, "has always been a democratic nation. Their art and culture is one of the greatest in the world. When the European culture came it was held at arms length. In fact the Chinese adopted the spirit of western culture, but rejected its form."

In 1911, China overthrew its empire and established a republic, and it at once encountered social, economic, and commercial troubles. That is why China has been so torn by continuous internal strife.

Japan is an undemocratic nation. The western culture here, too, met with resistance. But the difference was that Japan accepted the spirit and let the form go while Japan accepted the form but let the spirit go.

At the end of the World War, Japan signed numerous treaties and attended and signed all disarmament plans. This sudden change of policy was due directly to the war. The militaristic party lost while Germany, their model, had been defeated on the battlefields of the west-front. In 1919, a prime minister who was not a militarist was chosen for the first time and for eleven or twelve years Japan was peaceful.

However, in 1931, the same old militaristic attitude of Japan returned. This was due to the apparent undemocratic attitude of the Japanese mind; political unrest, and the world-wide economic crisis.

These three factors have resulted in numerous controversies and maladjustments in Manchuria.

Japan institutes its policy in Manchuria on two grounds: first, that Manchuria is located in a strategic point against Russia, and, secondly, the economic significance of Manchuria is of essential importance to her.

However, says Sir Frederick, Japan must be careful not to anger either China or the United States in its struggle for Manchuria, for these two great nations control 60 percent of Japan's entire trade.

Closing with a stirring appeal, Sir Frederick said: "It is upon the basis of liberty, and the pursuit of happiness based on the rule of law, that we must look for a permanent rule of the two great English-speaking nations of the world."

After the lecture, Sir Frederick answered questions put to him by the audience.

DR. PHILIP D. WOODBRIDGE OSLER SOCIETY SPEAKER

Noted Authority on Anesthetics Gives Enlightening Information

Dr. Philip D. Woodbridge, of Boston, noted authority on anesthetics, lectured before the Osler Clinical Society at the University of Vermont last evening. This was the third lecture of a series of six lectures sponsored by the society this year. The subject of the lecture was "Modern Anesthesia and Anesthetics."

Doctor Woodbridge is a graduate of Harvard University School of Medicine and for some time has been associated with the Lahey Clinic in Boston as assistant in anesthesia. Because of his extensive experience with the many types of modern anesthetics, Doctor Woodbridge is considered one of the leading specialists in this branch of medicine in the country.

SEVENTEEN STUDENTS IN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE PLACED ON DEAN'S LIST

Eight Seniors, One Junior, Two Sophomores, and Six Freshmen Receive All A's or B's

Seventeen students in the Agricultural College received all A's and B's. Eight of these were seniors, one a junior, two sophomores and six freshmen.

Ethel C. Bishop of Springfield has the distinction of being the only student in the College of Agriculture at the University of Vermont to receive a scholastic grade of all A's during the first semester. Miss Bishop is a senior and captain of the women's rifle team.

The seniors were Elizabeth J. Aiken, Benson; John O. Buchanan, Derby; James O. Hoag, Grand Isle; Laura A. Johnson, Wallingford; Esther C. Leary, Burlington; Priscilla R. Perry, Springfield; Isobel Torrens, Lansdowne, Pa.; Cola D. Watson, Newport Center.

Ruth A. Johnstone, of Morrisville, was the only junior to make the grade, and the two sophomores were Madeline W. Ainsboro, Derby, and Winifred S. Perry, Essex Junction.

The six high ranking freshmen were Kenneth W. Dike, Bristol; Edna M. Leach, Enosburg Falls; Thelma H. Leach, Essex Junction; Frederick J. Nuissl, Montpelier; Harry M. Rowe, Barnet; Esther Sinclair, Essex Junction.

LAMBDA IOTA HOLDS FRESHMAN INITIATION

Lambda Iota Fraternity initiated eleven men last week, all of the freshman class. L. E. Hoyt '33 presided at the initiation and alumni present included H. M. McIntosh '90, H. G. Hicks '05, W. T. Fulton '22, L. S. Rowell '25 and F. W. Householder '32. The initiates are: Philip M. Andress, of Newtonville, Mass.; John M. Bellows, Jr., of Maynard, Mass.; Ned J. Calvi, of East Haven; Dean F. Coburn of Newport; Eugene C. Dresser, of Barkhamsted; E. Raymond Greenaway, of Winooski; Orison W. Lawson of Newport; Millard D. McCarthy, of North Brookfield, Mass.; H. Esmonde Mahoney, of North Adams, Mass.; F. Vernon Marseille, of Milton, and Howard J. Rubinschtetel, of Amityville, L. I., N. Y.

Faculty Recital To Be Given in Chapel Sunday Afternoon

Professor Leonard and Mme Bradish Have Varied Program to be Presented to Audience

The music department of the University is sponsoring a faculty recital at the Ira Allen Chapel Sunday afternoon, March 12, at 4:00 p.m. Mme. Elizabeth Bradish, dramatic soprano, and Prof. Clair T. Leonard, organist, have prepared the following program:

PROGRAM

Canzona in D minor — Bach
Professor Leonard

Biblical Songs — Dvorak
1. Clouds and Darkness
2. Lord, Thou Art My Refuge
3. Hear My Prayer
Madame Bradish

Pastorale — Bach
Professor Leonard

Biblical Songs — Dvorak
4. God Is My Shepherd
5. I Will Sing New Songs of Gladness

Goin' Home (based on the Largo from the New World Symphony) — Dvorak
Madame Bradish

Concerto in D minor — Handel
1. Adagio
2. Allegro
3. Larghetto
4. Allegro quasi presto
Professor Leonard

LOST

A green Parker pen and pencil. Finder kindly call 3485.

SIX FRATERNITIES TO HOLD EASTER DANCES AT HOUSES TONIGHT

Informal and Formal Dances Mark Opening of Spring Social Season

MARCH 30 OTHER DATE

Six fraternities are holding dances this evening, their dates will be [illegible] March 30.

Chi Psi will have an informal at the house this evening. Prof. and Mrs. W. T. Fulton and Prof. and Mrs. J. [illegible] Howell will act as chaperones. J. A. Metcalfe '33 and P. M. Andress '33, who comprise the committee in charge of the dance, have secured the Crusaders to play.

S. Pierce '34 is directing the Delta Psi informal which will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Van Note. Music will be furnished by Minotti's orchestra.

Freddie Lynch's orchestra will play for the Kappa Sigma dance, to be chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. P. H. Ewert and Mr. and Mrs. S. F. French. It is under the direction of C. J. Howe '35.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ward will chaperone the Zeta Chi dance, a feature of which will be an Easter egg hunt. The New England Troubadours are to play. R. S. Wright '35 heads the committee in charge and other members are D. F. Green '35 and G. O. Ricker '34.

A. H. Lunna '36 heads the committee of freshmen who are directing the Sigma Delta dance. Prof. and Mrs. L. B. Puffer and Prof. K. J. Sheldon are to be chaperones.

C. W. Janke '33, social chairman, has made arrangements for Lechnyr's orchestra to play for Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Doctor and Mrs. Briggs will act as chaperones.

Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Nu, Alpha Tau Omega and Phi Mu Delta will hold their Easter formals on March 30.

The Sigma Phi formal, planned for tonight, has been indefinitely postponed.

FACULTY CLUB ELECTS ECKHARD AS PRESIDENT

Evans, Vice-Pres.—Puffer, Treas.—Dean, Sec.—are Other Officers

The men's faculty club of the University of Vermont has elected officers for the coming year as follows: Prof. C. H. Eckhard, president; Prof. P. D. Evans, vice-president; Prof. L. B. Puffer, treasurer; Prof. F. W. Dean, secretary.

The last meeting of the year will be April 15 when Col. John E. Hervey, Jr. and Prof. Edgar Allen will be the speakers. Other members during the year have been Prof. Arthur E. Morgan, Sam Warren, E. Austin Ayer, Gen. M. Page, Prof. Fred A. Moody, Justice Sherman R. Moulton and Prof. Samuel J. Elsworth. The meetings at the club for the past year have been Prof. J. C. Mower, president, Prof. G. F. Eckhard, vice-president, Prof. A. W. Adams, treasurer, Prof. F. W. Dean, secretary.

OMICRON NU PLEDGES PURINTON, JOHNSTONE

Phi Chapter of Omicron Nu, the honorary home economics society, recently announced the pledging of Virginia Purinton '34 and Ruth Johnstone '34. Membership in the society is the highest honor which a student of the home economics department may hold. Pledging was held at the home of Prof. Bertha Lowell, head of the home economics department, Friday evening, March 3.

Members of Omicron Nu are chosen for scholarship, leadership and promise of future attainment. The chapter at Vermont is very small because of the basis on which the number to be received each year is limited. Only a certain per cent of a class may be chosen and as the home economics department here is relatively small only two or three are chosen each year.

REDSTONE HAS DANCE TOMORROW EVENING

Redstone dormitory will hold a victrola dance tomorrow evening from 7:30 until 11:00 o'clock. Prof. and Mrs. G. V. Kidder of the Latin department will act as chaperones and Anita Weir '35 is acting as chairman of the dance.

Faculty Optimistic About Present Banking Holiday

Members of Faculty Give Opinions on Banking Situation Showing General Optimism

PRES. BAILEY COMMENTS

[illegible] opinions [illegible] on the banks [illegible] were sent for [illegible] and canvas of opinion. Optimism seemed prevalent [illegible] although all agreed that [illegible] [illegible] pondering on the subject.

"Conditions change from day to day and new rulings are being promulgated daily so that it is difficult to foretell as to what the situation will be one week from today. I expect that by the first of next week conditions will be at least temporarily modified so that it will be possible to exercise the usual necessary banking functions," commented President Bailey when interviewed.

Professor Buehler, of the economics department, explained the whys and wherefores of the holiday a bit: "It is rather difficult to say much about it. It was inevitable, the country was suffering from a run on the banks. To protect depositors it was necessary to declare a holiday. The western banks had been drained and were now drawing on the Federal Reserve Bank of New York affecting eastern banks.

The situation is similar to that in the panics of 1907 and 1893. Something of a panic, with mob spirit, is taking place now. Even in normal times banks by their very nature do not and cannot have enough cash on hand to pay at one time a dollar on a dollar for all deposits. If that were the case no interest could be paid on deposits and the banks would be mere safety vaults.

"The holiday will permit the Federal and State governments, and the banks to arrange plans to protect both cash and depositors. If we may judge by past experience it will come out all right."

Professor Perkins of the zoology department declined to give any opinion concerning the situation. "I am not qualified to say anything whatsoever," he stated when interviewed. "All I know is what I have read concerning it. Of course it is causing a great deal of anxiety and trouble."

When asked for comment on scrip Professor Dean of the English department replied: "The only scrip I ever saw was the confederate money of the Civil War—and that was a museum piece. I don't even know where it was but I guess that's all it was good for. I've got lots of big words and fine promises and that government money but what I need is cash."

Mystified as the educational department was by the situation most interested Professor Thompson. He feared the College Hall Dome probably that the [illegible] would be some amount of [illegible] as a result of a closing of [illegible] in the hands of the bad condition in the country."

Dean Swift said that he didn't know whether the course was wise or not, but supported it as it existed.

Professor Carpenter of the German department said that he had come into [illegible] on the needs elected president and that he is only interested in getting some money.

Word came from the cashier's office that the bank holiday has caused their business considerable [illegible] Checks [illegible] but no money is paid out on any deposits made.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT TO AWARD NEW TROPHIES AT INSPECTION THIS YEAR

Four Medals to be Presented by Sons of American Revolution

A number of prizes presented by various patriotic societies are available to the Department of Military Science and Tactics for award to members of the R. O. T. C. Battalion at the University of Vermont. Some of these have been in force for a number of years and others will be awarded for the first time in 1933. These prizes are:

The Scabbard and Blade Cups

Two cups presented annually by Company F, 3rd Regiment, Scabbard and Blade, University of Vermont.

These cups are awarded at the Annual Federal Inspection for excellence in the execution of the manual of arms: one to a sophomore and one to a freshman. The procedure in this contest is to arrange all members of the sophomore class in two parallel lines facing each other about five yards apart. Commands for movements in the manual of arms are given by a member of Scabbard and Blade and each sophomore making a mistake in the execution of a movement is fallen out by the other members of Scabbard and Blade who act as judges. The last survivor receives the cup. A similar procedure is followed with the freshman class. These awards were instituted in 1927 and have been continued every year since that time.

The winners of the Scabbard and Blade cups last year were: G. H. Burrows, sophomore and F. T. Churchill, freshman.

The Reserve Officers' Cup

In order to encourage preparedness for National defense, a large silver loving cup was presented to the University of Vermont R. O. T. C. Infantry Unit in 1929, by the Reserve Officers of Burlington, Vermont, through Col. R. W. M. Cuen. This cup is awarded annually to the most efficient squad as selected at a drill competition held during the Federal Inspection. The squad in competition consists of eight students in ranks and one additional student who will conduct the drill as squad leader. The members of each squad must be members of the basic course R. O. T. C. organization or [illegible] Not exceeding 50 percent may be

(Continued on page 4)

Middlebury's Oldest Graduate, Dr. Eddy Dies at Age of 100

Was Oldest Practicing Physician in United States; Graduate of Vermont Medical College

Dr. Merritt H. Eddy of Middlebury, who was the oldest practicing physician in the United States and worldwide, died Friday, March 4 at 8:30 a.m. He was 100 years old on January 25 and had practiced medicine in Addison County for sixty-seven years.

Doctor Eddy was the oldest living graduate of Middlebury College, the oldest living member of Chi Psi Fraternity, the oldest Methodist in the State, and the oldest Mason in the State. He had officiated at some 2,000 births.

On January 25, 1833 Doctor Eddy was born in Winmall, Vt. He prepared for college at Black River Academy and at Parr and Burton Seminary. After graduating from Middlebury College in 1861 he became principal of a school in Lake Saranac, N. Y. In 1863 he entered the Harvard School of Medicine. For one year, 1864 to 1865, he attended the University of Vermont Medical College. He started practice in Middlebury at the end of that college year.

He attributed his long life to hard work and lack of worry.

Doctor Eddy's son, Dr. Stanton Eddy, is a practicing physician in Middlebury, and two grandsons, Dr. Stanton Eddy, Jr., and Maxon Eddy, are located in Boston. The latter is a student at the Harvard Medical School.

VERMONT RANKS FOURTH IN GLEE CLUB CONTEST

According to the official scoring of the New England Intercollegiate Glee Club contest, Vermont rated fourth of the eight competing groups. Amherst College was first, Wesleyan College, second, and M. I. T., third reports J. S. Dalton, president of the New England Intercollegiate Glee Club Association.

This year found Vermont gaining a higher place than ever before. Previously, the highest rating they had received was fifth place. On the basis of ten points on each ensemble, interpretation, tone, enunciation and pitch for both the prize song and the choice selection, and awarded by three judges, a perfect score of 300 was possible. The order of the clubs in the contest with their scores is as follows: Amherst, 255; Wesleyan, 237; M. I. T., 229; Vermont, 224; Williams, 220; Trinity, 215; Clark, 188; Bowdoin, 184.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

[illegible] Editor in Chief
[illegible] Women's Editor
[illegible] Managing Editor
[illegible] Sports Editor
[illegible] Recording Editor
[illegible] Business Manager
[illegible] Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

[illegible] Howe Mount '35
[illegible] Dustin White '35
[illegible] Howard Abbott '35
[illegible] Arlington Wilcox '35
[illegible] Stuart Wright '35

FEATURE EDITORS

[illegible]
[illegible] '34
[illegible] '34
Jane Parsons '35

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Crosby Hale '35
Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

COLUMNIST

[illegible] '34

FACULTY ADVISER

Prof. Leon Dean

[illegible] HOWARD ABBOTT

[illegible] Editor in Charge

[illegible] weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a [illegible]

[illegible] authorized October 24, 1922.

[illegible] Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 March 10, 1933 No. 40

Editorials

Vermont's physical education department has in the past few years, done more to better the physical condition and habits of the average student than any other medium of the college. The department has forged ahead and has inaugurated many new features which have kept the interest of the upper classmen, even though they have graduated from the elementary physical development course, which is required of every man who enters the University.

Many intramural sports have been added to the activities of the department. It is these sports which keep every man in college active in one way or another in the athletic doings on the hill. Basketball, baseball, track, winter sports, and touch football comprise the various competitions in which the fraternities engage during the course of the school year. This year has been a year of exceedingly fine tournaments, and in a market in which some fine teams have been developed, excitement has reigned intense.

Replacing the old class football days, the department runs off an interclass basketball tournament. This year's tournament was featured by some fine playing and until the final game, the title was in doubt. This form of tournament replaces the sophomore-freshman grid classic, which was a big event in the sports world, but excluded the upper classes.

There are now various fields in which a man may demonstrate his individual skill. Now he may enter the boxing and wrestling tournaments, the golf competition, the tennis title matches. Recently, there has been added to these, competitions in ping pong, badminton and handball. For individual prowess, membership in Sigma Delta Psi, the national honorary athletic society, may be earned. A branch at Vermont was opened, and at present, there is only one campus member.

Beginning Saturday, a new form of competition will be run off. A hexathlon will be competed in by several students. This progress may be attributed to the present physical education department.

It has also been the purpose of this department in the past few years to establish a feeling of good-will between Vermont and other schools in athletic relations. Only last Wednesday evening, the champions of the interfraternity league travelled to Middlebury in a return game with the Middlebury fraternity league winners. Earlier in the basketball season, the class league champions played an exhibition game at one of the high schools in the State.

We hope that under the stimulating influence of the physical education department the students at the University will be able to participate actively in the affairs that occur from time to time at the gymnasium.

Princeton is rife with anecdotes of former Pres. Francis Landy Patton, who has just passed his ninetieth milestone in his island refuge Bermuda. An alumnus remembers how he once dealt with a class who got on his nerves by shelling peanuts while he was lecturing. He said:

"Young gentlemen, I had hoped before I reached this point in the lecture that the visible supply of peanuts would be exhausted. I realize that these lectures to which you are compelled to listen put a great strain upon you and I have no desire to interfere with your natural right to seek that refreshment which will enable you to bear up under that strain. But I am a somewhat nervous man, and I must admit that the constant popping of peanuts is somewhat disturbing to me. I wish that in the future you would be willing to substitute some less audible means of refreshment, say spongecake."

A "punctuality machine" which flashes a cheerful "welcome" to prompt students and a sarcastic "late again" to those who are tardy has been invented by Dr. G. M. Shrum of the physics department at the University of British Columbia. A beam of light sends up the disturbance of the late scholar. The apparatus is set in motion by an invisible beam of ultra violet, which is cut by each student as he enters the room.

Campus Comment

Through the columns of the Cynic, [illegible] coaches, and officials in managing the [illegible] Senior Interscholastic Basketball Tournament the most successful one ever held in Vermont.

Although the above-mentioned men contributed their time without remuneration, the Athletic Council will receive a portion of the net receipts, which means that the ones interested in sport will benefit thereby through the income made available for use in carrying out the general athletic program.

Again thanking you for your assistance, I am

Very sincerely yours,
S. C. ABELL,
Graduate Manager.

Society Notes

KAPPA DELTA

The active chapter was entertained Monday evening at a maple sugar party by its patronesses, Mrs. Dresser and Mrs. Ingalls at the former's home at 49 Mansfield Avenue.

VERMONT ALUMNI WILL VOTE FOR ONE TRUSTEE

Ballots have been distributed to University of Vermont alumni for the election of an alumni trustee to succeed Dr. Peer P. Johnson, of Beverly, Mass., whose term expires in June.

The Alumni Council submits the following names of candidates for the office of trustee of the University of Vermont to hold office for four years. The balloting will close Saturday, June 10, 1933.

WILLIAM ALVORD MITCHELL of New York City; born in Chateaugay, N. Y., February 5, 1868; entered U. V. M. in 1882; Columbia Law School 1888-89; admitted to Bar in New York County 1890; engaged in general law practice in New York City 1892 to date, organized first U. V. M. Alumni Association; member of New York State Bar Association, New York City Bar Association, Lawyers' Club, Phi Beta Kappa Alumni Association, United States Seniors Golf Association and Lido Country Club; married Lillian I. Miles of New Haven, Conn., December 21, 1893.

DR. GEORGE LYSANDER SHATTUCK of Providence, R. I.; born in Bakersfield, Vt., January 21, 1868; M.D. '92 U. V. M.; A.M. (honorary) '30 U. V. M.; Associate Physician, Medical staff of Butler Hospital for Mental Disease '92-'96; Private Medical Practice, Providence, R. I. '03 to present time; held various positions in Rhode Island Hospital, becoming President of Medical and Surgical Staff Association '26-'27 and Consulting Neurologist to that and four other large hospitals; member of the American Medical Association, three Rhode Island medical societies, the Amos Throop Club (medical) and the Providence Art Club; married Miss C. E. Spring of Worcester, Mass. July 30, 1910.

ARTHUR EDWARD POPE of Boston, Mass.; born in Burlington, Vt. August 31, 1883; B.S. in Electrical Engineering '04, U. V. M.; honorary degree in Electrical Engineering '29, U. V. M.; from '06 until '11 engaged in engineering and construction work with White and Company of New York; from 1911 to date with New England Power interests, occupying various positions in engineering operating, and executive work; at present vice-president of New England Power Association, president of New England Power Co., and vice-president of several other subsidiary production companies; member of National Electric Light Association, A. I. E. E., University and Exchange Clubs, Boston, and Wellesley Country Clubs; married Elizabeth Kellogg of Plattsburg, N. Y. June 19, 1909; two children.

Bits of Bunk

The newly married couple were receiving a little conventional advice from the clergyman. First the husband was charged with his responsibilities; then came the wife's turn.

"You must love, honor and obey your husband," droned the parson, "and follow him wherever he goes."

The wife looked aghast.

"Fancy!" she exclaimed, "and him a dirt track rider!"

A Hollywood actress was caught reading a book. Her excuse was her next picture called for an intelligent expression.

She: Why did you tell Mrs. Tuff her husband was dead when he had only lost all his money?

He: I thought I'd better break it to her gently.—Humorist (London).

Father: So you'd like to marry my daughter, eh? What do you make?

Suitor: Nothing, sir. I don't even touch the stuff.

Wife: Been to a lecture? Ridiculous! They don't lecture until one o'clock in the morning!

Husband: Th-this one did, my dear. Poor chap, he had a most terrible stutter.

People who make their living by street trading, including costers, peddlers and sandwichmen in London number 30,000; of these 700 are sandwichmen.

"Histrionic Develings" Marks Birth of Vermont's Dramatics

In 1898 Began the Events Which Led Up to the Founding of Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal

By WILLIAM SOKOL

The need for a dramatic society was felt in this University as far back as 1898. Several men formed a dramatic club and called it "The Histrionic Develings." They presented a one-act farce called "Turn Him Out," which was favorably received by the audience.

The following year the women became interested in dramatics and they put on "As You Like It" on the Grassmount lawn during Commencement Week. This play was followed by "Much Ado About Nothing," in which Mrs. Calvin Coolidge took part. The men didn't want to be ousted by the women, and they, therefore, decided to put on a play. They presented in 1900 the English comedy "Ralph Royster Doyster" at the old Howard Theater where Reynolds' is now. The play was so enthusiastically received that Professor Tupper, now head of the English department, was encouraged to bring to the University an English actor, Elton, who happened to be playing with traveling companies in this country at the time, to coach the actors. In 1901 "The Silent Woman," a play about Vermont, was successfully presented under the direction of Mr. Edwin Lawrence, who is now one of the trustees of the University and a prominent lawyer in Rutland. The chief characters were Professors Tupper, Donahue and Aiken. It was brought to Bennington, Bellows Falls, Montpelier, Barre and St. Albans, where it was "an artistic success and a financial failure" according to Professor Tupper. "A Box of Monkeys" followed in the same year.

In 1902 Wellington E. Aiken, now professor of English, was elected president of the society. "She Stoops to Conquer," under the direction of Elton, was successfully presented in the Howard Opera House, followed by "Twelfth Night," which was put on by the women in Grassmount. The men gave their plays during Junior Week and the women presented theirs during Commencement Week.

Men and Women Combine

In 1904 the women and men combined for the first time and staged "The Tempest" at Grassmount in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the University of Vermont. It was successfully presented and received laudable comment. Before this play was given the men played the women's parts and the women played the men's parts which resulted in clumsy and awkward acting as compared with the acting in "The Tempest," in which both the men and women acted naturally.

Five years later a new era in dramatics came into existence in the University. An undergraduate student, Roger C. Ramsdell, wrote "William Warren's Welcome," a farce in three acts which was performed in the Strong Theater on June 3, 1909. The play met with such decided success that it was taken to Bennington, where it was played before a full house on June 12. It was brought back to Burlington and another performance given on June 28 during Commencement Week.

Students Become Playwrights

The Histrionic Develings wanted to stimulate an interest in dramatics and encourage play writing among the undergraduates. It, therefore, offered a prize of $25 plus 10 percent of the net profits on the production to any undergraduate who would write a play which the club should accept and present.

The inducement of such a prize brought forth in 1911 a dramatic success, "The Ispahan Rug," a comedy in four acts by George P. Tuttle. The play was given during Junior Week under the direction of Mr. Harry E. Gage. Lockwood, manager of the club, secured dates for a week's trip through parts of the states of New York and Massachusetts. The play was performed in Northampton, Mass., on April 3, in Boston on April 4, in Bennington on April 5, in North Adams, Mass., on April 6, in Newburg, N. Y., on April 7, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on April 8, Richford on May 18, Enosburg Falls on May 19, and in Burlington on May 22, 1911.

All these successes placed the University of Vermont in direct competition with the larger colleges. Dramatics were now firmly established in the University.

On February 10, 1912, "The Wrong Baby," a farce in two acts under the direction of Harry E. Gage, was presented in the gymnasium, followed by "Circle X," which was written by J. H. Hoffnagle and presented in 1913. "London Assurance" was revived and a performance was given in the Majestic Theater on January 14 of the same year. Another big hit was presented in the same year, George Ade's "The College Widow," that was enthusiastically received at the Strong Theater on May 28. Messrs. Clancy and Andrews directed the students.

Masque and Sandal Appears

"Pomander Walk," a [illegible] manners of Georgian [illegible] Louis N. Parker, was [illegible] Strong Theater in M[illegible] players got into the [illegible] and acted very well. [illegible] Masque and Sandal, the [illegible] matic society, was organ[illegible] who had had a part in [illegible] was entitled to membership [illegible]ly meetings were held [illegible] were read. They put on [illegible] Dames" in 1915.

On May 17, 191[illegible] was presented at the S[illegible] and during Junior Week [illegible] of Masque and Sandal [illegible] to Enosburg Falls, where [illegible] "went off to the satisfac[illegible] body except the [illegible] presentation marked the [illegible] dramatic interest in the [illegible]

It was not until 191[illegible] Buskin revived, and put [illegible] Street," J. M. Barrie's Napo[illegible]riod play, at the Strong [illegible] story of a spinster's life [illegible] old-fashioned village, a bit [illegible] on color and excitement [illegible] the heavy foot of man [illegible] pavements and soils its [illegible] predominance of women [illegible] would have made the [illegible] as old maidish as "Cranford" [illegible] and the lover had not been [illegible] body's mind.

On March 29, 1920, "The [illegible] Hour," by Augustus Thomas [illegible] on at the Strong Theater [illegible] large audience. It was well [illegible] and everybody was happy. It [illegible] with a murder and the 'trial' [illegible] quittal of the accused. This play marked a milestone in the [illegible] Wig and Buskin. Again dramatics put on a solid basis in the [illegible] Professor Andrews was made [illegible] member of the society.

The Dramatic Club Organizes

At this time another dramatic society called "The Dramatic Club" organized by the women and presented several one-act comedies.

"Three Live Ghosts," a [illegible] centers about one hectic day [illegible] tures of three ex-prisoners on [illegible] their way to London was presented [illegible] the Strong Theater on January [illegible] 1924. On December 11 and 12 [illegible] the play was brought to Fort [illegible] Vergennes, where it scored a hit. [illegible] Arthur Elliot, now of New York, [illegible] coached the actors.

On January 13, 1928, "Up Among the Taurians," the first play ever presented in Vermont given in English. Prof. J. T. [illegible] was in charge of the coaching. Prof. H. G. Bennett, head of the department, was in charge of the [illegible] sical arrangements. Miss Martha Patrick was in charge of the [illegible] ing. The play was presented [illegible] an audience of seating capacity [illegible] cage, where a Greek temple and [illegible] other properties had been erected. The play caused a sensation and was claimed as the most outstanding [illegible] ever to have been presented [illegible] University of Vermont.

In recent years several plays have been given by the University players who are members of Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal. The outstanding presentations were "The Queen's Husband" and "Hay Fever" and another showing of "She Stoops to Conquer."

"To the Ladies," the latest [illegible] University players productions, [illegible] which was put on the boards of the [illegible] City Hall Auditorium stage in December, was a success financially [illegible] spite of the depression. This was the first time that a play had been performed on that stage. The play was of a lighter character [illegible] been usual for college players, but was so well received by the audience that the University will [illegible] choose a spring play or [illegible]

RECORD NEW YORK REUNION IS

The recent New York reunion [illegible] largest attended meeting ever held by the University of Vermont Alumni Association of New York, with 287 present, including alumnae. Speakers were President Guy W. Bailey and [illegible] secured by a committee of the '00.

Every class from '87 to [illegible] was present, with '21 and '25 [illegible] largest attendance, with [illegible] B. B. Oatley, president of the Council, says he believes the success of the meeting was largely to the effort to have as many as possible, and to make it [illegible] those who could not attend the dinner come in later at a reduced [illegible]

Those who will carry on the New York department next year are [illegible] dent, William J. Dooley, president, George L. Best '21, secretary, [illegible]ham T. Burns '22, and [illegible] Nye '07.

SPORTS NEWS

TENNIS TEAM TO PLAY ELEVEN-GAME SCHEDULE DURING APRIL AND MAY

Two Out-of-state Trips to be Included in Heavy Schedule

FIRST MATCH APRIL 27

[illegible] C. Abell, graduate manager [illegible]letics at the University of Ver[illegible] released the Catamount schedule [illegible] spring season Monday afternoon, [illegible] 6. For the first time in recent [illegible] the Green and Gold netsters will [illegible] trips, the annual Massachusetts [illegible] during the last week of April and [illegible] day trip to Troy and Schenectady [illegible] of May. The tennis team cap[illegible] the Vermont conference title last [illegible] defeating both St. Michael's and [illegible]bury twice and amassing a total [illegible] consecutive victories and one tie [illegible] the home season. Hugh Wilson [illegible] has been elected captain of the 1933 [illegible]ation and Nate Press '33 the man[illegible].

The schedule follows:

April 27 Worcester Polytechnic Institute, there.
April 28—Boston University, there.
April 29—Tufts College, there.
May 9—Tufts College, there.
May 12—Middlebury, there.
May 13—Boston University, here.
May 18—St. Lawrence, here.
May 19—Middlebury, here.
May 22—St. Michael's, there.
May 26—Union, there.
May 27—Rensselaer, there.

NATIONAL GUARD MEETS RIFLE TEAM TOMORROW

Hearst Trophy Competition to Begin Next Week Among R. O. T. C. Units

Vermont's rifle team will meet the National Guard rifle team tomorrow afternoon at the armory. The match with McGill University at Montreal on March 18 completes the program. The team dropped two matches to Norwich this season, but it has recently shown an improved score, which improvement will be noticed in their concluding matches.

Next week the rifle team will fire for the Hearst trophy. Competition is held annually among all of the R. O. T. C. units throughout the country. Each unit has a five-man team, whose results are sent to the Sixth Corps Area at Chicago who have charge of the contest.

Douglas County, Wisconsin, plans to be the first county in the United States to adopt a regional rural development plan. The project outlined by Prof. Franz Aust, of the University of Wisconsin horticultural department, includes marking historical trails, development of recreational areas, scenic tours, zoning of stream valleys and land adjacent to state and county highways, and survey and coordination of fish and game preserves in relation to park areas.

NEW TOPCOATS $16.50

Spring HATS $2.95 to $5.00

Winter Overcoats at Sharply Reduced CLEARANCE PRICES!

Miles & Perry Co.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Since 1898

ALL-FRATERNITY TEAM

First Team

[illegible], Beal, Alpha Tau Omega, g
[illegible], Heath, Delta Kappa Epsilon, g
Meserve, Phi Sigma Kappa, f
Beardsley, Alpha Tau Omega, f
Lanahan, Chi Psi, Kappa Sigma, c
Mahoney, Chi Psi, Kappa Sigma, g

Second Team

Cogswell, Lambda Chi Alpha, g
Beardsley, Phi Delta Theta, g
Meyers, North Zeta Psi, f
Smith, Kent, Kappa Sigma, f
Montgomery, Chi Psi, Kappa Sigma, c

GIRLS' BOWLING TEAMS DIVIDED BY CLASSES FOR TOURNAMENT PLAY

Four-member Teams Compete at Regal Alleys for Bowling Supremacy

Girls' bowling teams have been chosen and the tournament was played Wednesday at the Regal Bowling Alleys on lower Church Street.

The teams are as follows:

Seniors: Marion Urie, Esther Urie, Alice Lunna, Frances Thomas (substitute).

Juniors: Elizabeth Woodward, Jean Kinlock, Edith Rogers, Daisy Putnam (substitute).

Sophomores: Susan France, Lois Whitcomb, Elizabeth Beckvold, Mary Tupper (substitute).

Freshmen: Harriet Gray, Ruth Barron, Marion Herberg, Margaret Patterson (substitute).

WOMEN'S RIFLE TEAM CONTINUES FINE SCORES

Errorless Shooting Extended to Fourth Straight Week

The University of Vermont women's rifle team has completed its fourth consecutive week of errorless shooting in intercollegiate competition, and its four sharpshooters, Esther Smith of Lyndonville, Frances Thomas of Jeffersonville, and Daisy Putnam and Ethel Bishop of Springfield, still keep their record of perfect 100's. These four have not missed the bull's-eye this season.

In the seven matches from which results of opposing teams have been received by Miss Smith, manager, Vermont is untied as well as unbeaten. Scores received the past week were: Vermont 500, Carnegie Tech 497, Vermont 997, Wichita 957; Vermont 500, Nebraska 472. Four victories were previously recorded.

In the six matches last week, Vermont's score was 500 in five, and 997 in the sixth in which a team of ten competed. Besides the perfect records of the four students mentioned above, Marion Urie of Craftsbury Common turned in 100's in all six matches; Helen Allen of Burlington scored 100 against Ripon, Kansas and Washington; and Genevieve Hutchins of Tupper Lake, N. Y., shot 100 against South Dakota, Kansas and Washington.

Twenty girls took part in two or more of the six matches. Scores of those failing to make perfect records were: Against Kansas, Katherine LeBarron, Morrisville, 99; Marion Vosburgh, South Burlington, 99; Lenda Walker, Chelsea, 99; Janet Dodds, Burlington, 98; Elizabeth Eckhard, Burlington, 98; Medora Kendall, Newport, 98; Katherine Worthen, Springfield, Mass., 98; Helen Miller, Danvers, Mass., 97.

All candidates for varsity tennis team should report at cage daily at 1.00 p.m. until further notice.

CAT'S MEOW

—SPORTS EDITOR—

The tournament staged this year in the cage was the best ever. Every spectator was able to witness the contests under far more ideal conditions than ever before afford.

Rutland certainly upset the dope in capturing all the honors, but no one can deny the fact that they earned their victories.

No conversus of opinion on the part of those questioned on this particular subject was that the refereeing, while generally fair in all respects, was not up to standard.

The all-fraternity team appearing on this page was picked by Bunny Prentice and Archie Post of the Physical Education Department.

The most practical reasons advanced were that the referees are overworked, in that they handle seven games within thirty-six hours, and that due to the knowledge which they gain of the style of play employed by the various teams, they are apt to let their imagination play in calling fouls.

Several times during the semi-finals and the final games, one referee at the opposite end of the floor, would call fouls which the referee on the play would not notice.

While it is not right to take any of the glory and fire away from Rutland, it should be brought out that the midget Hartford team was far and away the cleverest, best passing, best conditioned and best coached entry in the tournament.

The all-tournament selections met with general approval, as did the awarding of the most valuable player trophy to Louis Falzarano, the main cog of the Hartford machine.

RIFLE TEAM LOSES TO NORWICH BY 17 POINTS

Catamount Squad Victim of Cadets for Second Time Within Last Few Weeks

The University of Vermont rifle team dropped another shoulder-to-shoulder match last Saturday, March 4, to Norwich at the Northfield Armory. This is the second match that Vermont had dropped to Norwich within the past two weeks.

The scores were Vermont 1,720 and Norwich 1,737.

Individual shots were as follows:

VERMONT

	Prone	Kneeling	Standing	Sitting	Total
Sheldon	97	87	70	95	349
Darden	98	74	82	91	345
Burke	97	86	69	91	343
Treadway	91	87	71	93	342
Williams	97	82	68	94	341
Total					1,720
*Hopkinson	97	69	71	92
*Davis	91	74	65	93
*Donahue	90	75	67	89

NORWICH

	Prone	Kneeling	Standing	Sitting	Total
Moffitt	96	88	84	94	362
Williams	94	83	79	93	349
Hanson	97	81	74	95	347
Carter	97	86	78	83	344
Stebbins	92	79	83	81	335
Total					1,737
*Radden	96	75	68	82
*Ceruth	94	73	59	93
*Barr	95	72	40	84

*Only the total of the five highest were counted in the standings.

Collegiate Footwear for Spring

B. J. BOYNTON
65 Church St.

ALL-CONFERENCE TEAM

First Team

Hayden, rf, Vermont
Sweet, lf, Middlebury
Miles, c, St. Michael's Leddy, rg, Norwich
Lott, lg, Vermont

Second Team

Palmer, rf, Vermont
Rasmussen, lf, St. Michael's Morgan, c, Vermont
Corbin, lg, Middlebury
Farrow, rg, St. Michael's

A. T. O.'S LOSE AGAIN TO DEKES AT MIDDLEBURY IN CLOSE GAME, 24-20

Bouryschkine Leads Scoring With 12 Points; Brislin Local High Man

The A. T. O. basketball team, Vermont interfraternity champions, lost a hard-fought game to Delta Kappa Epsilon, Middlebury champs, last Wednesday night in the Middlebury gym. A. T. O. held a two-point lead with but two minutes to go but baskets by Clonan and Bouryschkine put D. K. E. in the lead and the game ended with A. T. O. on the short end of a 24-20 score. The A. T. O.'s led at half time 9-8.

Bouryschkine led the scoring for D. K. E. with 12 points while Brislin was the A. T. O. star, scoring three floor baskets and two fours for a total of 8 points.

Clonan the Middlebury varsity center and high scorer in the intercollegiate game played here two weeks ago was pretty well guarded and scored only 6 points. Beardsley played a great defensive game for A. T. O.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts
Brislin, r.f.	3	2	8
Williams, l.f.	2	0	4
Beardsley, c.	1	1	3
Lanahan, r.g.	0	1	1
Mahoney, l.g.	2	0	4
Totals	8	4	20

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts
Bouryschkine, r.f.	6	0	12
Martin, l.f.	1	0	2
Lovell, l.f.	1	0	2
Clonan, c.	3	0	6
Brown, l.g.	0	0	0
Barker, r.g.	1	0	2
Totals	12	0	24

PRESS CLUB ENJOYS SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENT

Press Club enjoyed a social evening March 7 at the Alpha Chi Omega house, following a short business meeting. Jigsaw puzzles, cards, and dancing furnished entertainment, and refreshments were served. Katherine Shaw '34, of Peacham, social chairman of Press Club, had charge of the meeting.

One of the characteristics of modern art is the search for beauty in unlikely places.

BOXING AND WRESTLING TOURNAMENT STARTED WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Keen Competition Expected as Pair-offs are Evenly Matched

FINAL MATCHES MARCH 17

The fourth annual boxing and wrestling tournament got under way Wednesday afternoon with the first preliminary matches. The tournament under the supervision of "Bumps" Lesure will continue this afternoon with the second round of matches. The pairs-offs are as follows:

Wrestling

125-lb class—Eastman vs. White, at 4:30 p.m.
Linden vs. Crandall, at 4:50 p.m.
135-lb class—Kreiger vs. F. Leving, at 4:30 p.m.
145-lb class—Hale vs. McCarthy, at 4:40 p.m.
158-lb class—E. F. Miller vs. P. Powell, at 5:40 p.m.
Ludwig vs. Peterson, at 5:50 p.m.
175-lb class—Paul vs. Leehoff, at 6:00 p.m.

Boxing (No Classes)

Perry vs. Fienburg, at 5:00 p.m.
Shufeldt vs. Kingsland, at 5:10 p.m.
Roane vs. Kelley, at 5:30 p.m.
Newlin vs. Buckley, at 5:40 p.m.

Other enteries will be paired March 8 at 6 p.m. The tournament will be run off in four divisions.

First preliminaries on Wednesday, March 8.
Second preliminaries on Friday, March 10.
Semi-finals on Wednesday, March 15.
Finals on Friday, March 17.

Tournament Rules

The following rules will govern the tournament:

I. Length of bouts.
a. Preliminary matches, 10 minutes.
b. Two extra three-minute periods if no decision is reached after the first ten minutes.
c. Championship bouts shall be 12 minutes to decide the winner if no decision can be reached at the end of the regular match.

II. Default.
If contestant fails to appear five minutes after scheduled time, he shall forfeit the match.

III. Falls.
Only pinfall shall count. Flying or rolling falls shall not be considered.

IV. The referee's power.
He shall have power to render any decision not covered by the above rules.

V. The referee and the judges shall make the decision in case of no fall. Aggressiveness and wrestling ability shall be the main consideration.

VI. Medals properly inscribed shall be awared to the winners.

LOST

A black Moore fountain pen in the cage. Finder please call H. H. A., 762.

Japan is composed of a race mixture as everywhere else on earth.

EXPERIMENTAL AUCTION

at the

University Store

to the

HIGHEST BIDDER

during the week of

MARCH 6 - 11

NO OPEN BIDDING ON SATURDAY NOON

Vermont Fraternities

LAMBDA IOTA HOUSE

[illegible] the Vermont Legislature it was incorporated as a local in 1855. On several occasions the Owls have been asked to become a member chapter of national fraternal groups and on one occasion in particular to become the parent chapter of a national fraternity, but they have declined.

The list of members of Lambda Iota includes prominent men of all professions, one of whom is John Herman Converse '61 president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works donor of Converse Hall and the founder of the department of commerce and economics at Vermont.

Note—This is the first in a series of articles on the history of fraternities at Vermont.

RADIO SCRIBES CHOOSE ALL-AMERICA AIR TEAM

James Cannon radio columnist of the [illegible] released the results of the second annual radio poll conducted by that newspaper among [illegible] across the country the United States and parts of Canada. The results [illegible] 127 radio scribes, [illegible] "All-America radio team" for the [illegible] year.

[illegible] Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians.

[illegible] Philadelphia Orchestra.

Male singer of popular songs: Morton Downey.

Female singer of popular songs: Kath Lyons.

Male singer of classical and semi-classical songs: [illegible] Gilbert.

Female singer of classical and semi-classical songs: [illegible].

Dramatic sketches: The Boswell Sisters.

Male dramatic team: The Mills Brothers.

Announcers: Ted Husing and Andy [illegible].

Master of ceremonies: Ed Wynn.

Sports announcer: Ted Husing.

Announcer (news broadcasts): Lowell C. Hill.

Organist (pipe): Lowell Redmond.

Organist (grand): Marsh of Time.

Announcer (program): Columbia Service.

Announcer (musical): Jack Pearl.

Children's program: Skippy and Little Orphan Annie.

Women's home advice: Ida Bailey Allen.

The participants received trophies awarded in December [illegible] when Jack Benny won the all-star program radio [illegible] the first poll. These two men, [illegible] Lombardo and the Royal Canadians, the Philadelphia Orchestra, Morton Downey, Jessica Dragonette, the Boswell Sisters, Amos and Andy, Lum Berne, Ted Husing, Jesse Crawford and Ida Bailey Allen. The balloting was remarkably close in three groups. Morton Downey nosed out Bing Crosby by a bare point and one-half in the male popular singing division; Jessica Dragonette scored 205 points to Kate Smith's 197 among the popular song stresses; and the Mills Brothers topped the Revellers by a scant two points to win the mythical blue ribbon in the male harmony team group.

An Experiment

Antioch College is an experiment—a fascinating research project, a glorious adventure in education, an expedition into the problems of today's youth," says Leonard Ayres Hawk in an article in the December College Humor which discusses the college in Yellow Springs, Ohio, and its famous president. "The experiment is financed by Arthur E. Morgan, engineer, and is dedicated to the proposition that all although all men and women are created equal there is no reason, the most recent that way, why [illegible] should be [illegible] himself solely to his work; when the work period is over, he returns to school furnished with new enthusiasm for study and social activities. The program [illegible] at both ends—though I should think an employer might be somewhat concerned on summoning his secretary to find that she is a red head [illegible] a blonde."

High-school Hattie was sniffling. She said her boy friend, so she informed her mother had parted forever.

"Good! If he doesn't call up by tomorrow night, you'll get a chance to wash your hair."—Louisville Courier-Journal

PRIZE TROPHIES

DIAMONDS - JEWELRY - SILVER

Gifts for All Occasions

If you wish to give a gift that is good one that will last—you will find here a wide selection to choose from.

It may be for a wedding or engagement present. Or a Prize for Athletics or other competitions.

Whatever the gift you select you may be assured of fine quality correctness and proper designing.

An excellent department for engraving, repairing and special order work is always at your service.

F. J. Preston & Son

INCORPORATED

JEWELERS

17 Upper Church St.

U. V. M.
STUDENTS and FACULTY will find many BOOKS of VALUE and INTEREST in our remarkable
$1
EDITIONS

McAULIFFE'S

Church and College Sts. Phone 629

MILITARY DEPARTMENT OFFERS NEW TROPHIES

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] the winning squad will be [illegible] the best [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 1933 — NUMBER 41

VARSITY FORENSIANS MEET N. Y. U. HERE

The ... varsity debating team will ... negative against the N. Y. U. ... here, on March 18, on the question, Resolved, that the Modern Trend ... ing is Deplorable." On the ... the Vermont forensians will ... Hamilton and debate on "Resolved that Dictatorship is Preferable to ... Vermont will uphold the ...

The Vermont freshman forensians will ... verbal tilt against St. Michael's ... debaters here on the twenty-... resolved that at Least 50 Percent ... Local and State Revenue Should ... Derived From Sources Other than ... Property," Vermont's opponents ... the negative.

TRI-STATE CONTEST IS NOW UNDER WAY AMONG LITERARY ENTHUSIASTS

Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine are Only Colleges Taking Part in the Annual Contest

The annual Tri-state Literary Contest ... '33, is now under way. This affair ... among the three northernmost ... in the New England States, was started in 1926, with Maine as the originator of the idea, Vermont and New Hampshire the other two participants. The aim of this contest is to encourage writing among the three colleges. Each college sends in three manuscripts of short story, three manuscripts of essay, and three manuscripts of verse, making a total of nine manuscripts per college. There is a board of nine judges chosen, three for each phase of the contest. The judges are chosen in the following manner. Each institution chooses the judges for one phase of the contest. This year, Maine will take charge of the short story judges, New Hampshire the verse judges, and Vermont will select the essay judges. At present the judges for the contest have not been selected.

A record of the standings every year is kept, and the scores each year are added on to the total score to discover the leader in the contest. Last year Vermont was leading with a total of 66½ points, New Hampshire second, totaling 53, and Maine bringing up the rear with a total of 46. This year, however, New Hampshire has jumped into the lead by getting 17 points to Vermont's 11, and Maine's 2, to reach a score of 82½; Vermont second with a score of 78 ½, and Maine last with a total of 48.

The records of the winners during the last seven contests are as follows:

Vermont: First-place winners in 1927, 1928 and 1931; second place in 1926, 1929 and 1932; and third in 1929.

New Hampshire: First-place winners in 1926, 1930, and 1932; second place in

(Continued on page 4)

SIX FRATERNITIES HOLD INFORMAL EASTER DANCES

Six of the ten fraternities that have ... Easter dances this year, held ... last Friday night, March 10.

Lambda Iota's dance was an informal ... at the chapter house. Prof. and Mrs. W. ... and Prof. and Mrs. L. S. ... were chaperones. F. A. Mayville ... and P. M. Andress '36 comprised the ... in charge. Doten's Cunarders ... the music.

... Lyon '34, was chairman of the ... informal which was chaperoned ... and Mrs. W. G. Van Note. Music was furnished by Minotti's ... orchestra.

Freddie Lynch's orchestra played for the Kappa Sigma dance under the direction of C. J. Howe '35. Prof. and Mrs. H. H. Ewert and Mr. and Mrs. S. F. French were the chaperones.

The Zeta Chis featured their dance in the form of an Easter egg hunt. The ... in charge, R. S. Wright '35, ... D. F. Green '35 and G. O. ... '34 secured the New England ... to play with Prof. and Mrs. ... Washington and Mr. and Mrs. ... Ward as chaperones.

... man of the Sigma Delta ... A. H. Lunna '36. Prof. and ... Puffer and Prof. K. J. Shel... the chaperones.

... Burke '33 was the social chairman ... the dance at the Sigma Alpha ... house. Lechnyr's orchestra furnished the syncopation and Dr. and Mrs. ... were honored.

... Theta, Sigma Nu, Alpha Tau ... and Phi Mu Delta will hold ... Easter dances on March 30. Par... will soon appear.

TWENTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL MEETING OF VERMONT TEACHERS TO BE HELD Conducted by Champlain Valley Teachers' Association and University of Vermont

UNIVERSITY HEADS SPEAK ON FRIDAY

The twenty-eighth annual conference of the schools of Vermont with the University of Vermont and the Champlain Valley Teachers' Association will be held this week Friday, March 17, at Burlington High School. Principals and teachers of the secondary schools of Vermont will attend, as well as University professors and students.

The conference last for only one day, with a full schedule planned. Among the principal speakers will be the Hon. Arthur W. Hewitt, chairman of the State Board of Education, on Friday morning, and three speakers from the Teachers' College of Columbia University: Prof. Thomas H. Briggs, Prof. Jean Betzner and Prof. Lois C. Mossman.

The conference opens Friday with a general meeting at the High school. The chairman will be George R. Stockpole, president of the Champlain Valley Teachers' Association. The High School orchestra will furnish music. Arthur W. Hewitt will make the address of this session. The conference then divides into two sections—one for the secondary and one for the elementary schools.

Secondary Schools

The general subject of the secondary school conference is "The Relation Between Secondary and Higher Education." The chairman of this section is Prof. George R. Burns, of the University. Two addresses will follow. The first on "What is a Progressive High School?" by Prof. B. Holmes Wallace of the University, and the second by Prof. Thomas H. Briggs of Columbia on "Desirable Relations Between Secondary and Higher Education."

This section's afternoon session will have Dean Elijah Swift of Vermont as chairman. The subject is to be "The Problem of College Admission from the Viewpoint of the High School Principal," and will be discussed by the committee on college admission of the Vermont Headmasters' Club. The next discussion will be conducted by Forrest W. Kelso, registrar at Vermont, on "The Problem of College Admission from the Viewpoint of the College." Separate round-table discussions for teachers of commercial subjects, English, Latin, mathematics, modern languages, and home economics will be held at 3:15.

Elementary Schools

The elementary school section is to be conducted by George R. Stockpole as chairman. Two addresses will be given, by Prof. Jean Betzner of Columbia on "The Teaching of Reading and Literature in the Primary Grades" and by Prof. Lois C. Mossman also of Columbia, on the "Improvement of Instruction in the Intermediate Grades."

At 2:00 p.m. there will be two sessions of this section. One will be the primary

(Continued on page 4)

LENTEN PROGRAM GIVEN BY PROFESSOR LEONARD AND MADAME BRADISH

A Lenten recital was presented last Sunday, March 12 at 4:00 p.m. in the Ira Allen Chapel by Mme. Elizabeth Bradish, dramatic soprano and Prof. Clair T. Leonard, organist. The varied program was of a religious character that was very harmonious with the atmosphere of the chapel.

Mme. Bradish sang a suite of five biblical songs by Dvorak and "Going Home" by the same composer. The songs make of them dramatic gave Mme. Bradish an opportunity to show her unusual ability in colorful changes in volume. The suite of songs included "Clouds and Darkness," "Lord Thou Art My Refuge," "Hear My Prayer," "God Is My Shepherd" and "I Will Sing New Songs of Gladness." "Going Home" is based on the Largo from the New World Symphony.

Mr. Leonard's program consisted of two selections by Bach, "Canzona in D minor" and a "Pastorale," and a Concerto by Handel. Professor Leonard played these with a great deal of clarity and feeling.

SEISMOGRAPHS RECORD SO. CALIFORNIA QUAKE

On the morning of Friday, March 10 ... seismographs at the Laboratory ... recorded the violent earthquake ... which practically destroyed Long Beach and damaged ... California. According to Prof. J. C. Lincoln, seismologist ... the people recorded the quake at ... a considerable amount ... appeared ... 5 on motion chart.

"The waves of the quake began to arrive at 3:01 and 25 seconds past. Eastern Standard Time and were still coming in at the instruments at 3:26 p.m. when the records were removed. With a time ... difference between Pasadena and the Pacific Coast the earthquake began ... here about six minutes and ... seconds after it was reported ... California.

Health Week Begins March Seventeenth

Woman Having Best Carriage to be Presented With a Winged Victory

Health Week sponsored by the Health Council is scheduled for the week of March 17 to 23. A contest will be announced offering a two-dollar cash prize for the best set of suggestions for raising the health standards on campus. Entrees will be urged to consider living conditions, study and food habits, etc. All papers must be submitted by 2.00 p.m. on Wednesday, March 22.

Voting for the woman student on campus who has the best carriage will be held on Monday and Tuesday, March 20 and 21. Miss Florence Maddock of the Burlington Y. W. C. A. will speak at the mass meeting on Friday night, March 24, at which time the winning set of suggestions will be read and the prize awarded. The woman having the greatest number of votes for best carriage will be announced. She will be presented with a small figurine of the winged Victory.

A poster campaign will be carried on in the "Y" room during the week, a different subject being treated every day, with pertinent articles posted.

Members of the Council are Katherine Tolman '33, chairman, Helen Jenkins '34, secretary, Alice Hoyt '34, Esther Sicard '34, Helen Meyer '35, Helen Rockwell '34, Caroline Cabot '35, Leah Gowen '33, Barbara Lawler '35, Margaret McCracken '35, Gladys Speaker '36.

Men's Glee Club Annual Sing To Take Place Friday Evening In the Museum Auditorium

Assisted by Women's Glee Club and University Orchestra—Conducted by F. P. Colburn '34—Under Direction of Professor C. T. Leonard

OSLER SOCIETY HEARS DOCTOR WOODBRIDGE ON SUBJECT OF ANESTHESIA

Doctors and Students Gain Information on Use of Local and General Anesthetics

Dr. Philip D. Woodbridge of Boston conducted one of the leading specialists in the field of anesthesia addressed an audience consisting of members of the Osler Society, pre-medical students and local doctors on "Modern Anesthesia and Anesthetics" in the auditorium of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum on Thursday evening, March 9.

He stressed the fact that anesthesia is regarded as a new science since it has been in existence for no more than eighty years. Anesthesia should be given by men who have made a special study of the subject and who devote all their time to it.

"It wasn't so long ago that the anesthetist simply used a cone to pour the ether on," said Doctor Woodbridge, "now he has different kinds of apparatus and drugs for administering anesthesia."

Some men prefer certain types of anesthetics to others because they have used the preferred types more than the others and are experienced in the use of them.

"If I were to be operated on," said Doctor Woodbridge, "and needed a local anesthetic but the surgeon at hand was not experienced in administering it, yet experienced in giving ether, which is a general anesthetic, I would prefer the latter."

Ethylene is considered a very good anesthetic but due to its high inflammability and explosive properties some hospitals are afraid to use it. However if it is carefully handled by an experienced anesthetist and given in a proper manner it is safe. As far as statistics show there have been only four explosions reported from the use of ethylene. In these cases

(Continued on page 3)

HAS VARIED PROGRAM

The Men's Glee Club concert under the direction of Prof. C. T. Leonard takes place Friday evening, March 17, at 8:15 in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum. The club will be conducted by F. P. Colburn '34 and will be assisted by the Women's Glee Club, the University Orchestra with Miss Charlotte De Volt as concert master, Mary Whitney '36 as piano soloist and Muriel Magee '36 as accompanist. Professor Leonard will accompany the Men's Glee Club and Ruth Larrow of the Women's Glee Club. The Men's Double Quartet composed of R. S. Jenks '33 Med., A. E. Wilcox '35, J. G. Gordon '33, F. C. Berry '36 tenors, and D. W. Jenks '34, A. A. Schaetzlein Jr. '35 Med., G. H. Burrows, II '34, C. B. Harwood '34 basses will also assist with three selections.

The program of the evening follows. The numbers starred (*) were used in the Intercollegiate Contest at Springfield.

*Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee ..... Bach
The Men's Glee Club
Adoramus Te ..... Palestrina
Lo How A Rose ..... Praetorius
Light ..... French Folksong
Men's Double Quartet
Volga River ..... Russian Folksong
The Men's Glee Club
A. A. Schaetzlein, Jr., Soloist
Peer Gynt Suite ..... Grieg
1. Morgenstimmung 2. Aases Tod
3. Anitras Tanz
University Orchestra
The Summer Night ..... Brahms
Come Again Sweet Love ..... Dowland
What Saith My Dainty Darling ..... Morley
The Women's Glee Club
Souvenir ..... Drdla
The Bee ..... Schubert
Miss Whitney, Violin Soloist
Gypsy Life ..... Schumann
*L. All You Ladies Now On Land ..... Caesar Pearsall
I Can't Sleep Nights ..... Norton
Chorus of Boys from Schools
..... Coleman
*D. V. M. ..... Leonard
The Men's Glee Club

FAMOUS TRIO APPEARS IN FINAL CITY CONCERT

Barrère, Salzedo, and Britt to Present Varied Program of Flute, Harp, and 'Cello Music

Georges Barrère, Carlos Salzedo, and Horace Britt are the three artists who will play in the final Community Concert for this season to be held at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, March 23 in the City Hall Auditorium. The first two, flutist and harpist respectively, have worldwide reputations, and Barrère is a world's champion. Britt, the 'cellist, is also famous, but his name is not as well known.

The story of Salzedo appears on page 4 of this issue and in the next two issues there will appear stories of the other two artists.

Almost every student here has been familiar of the Burlington Community Concert Association this season and I never yet encountered one person who was not pleased at the Burlington series concert. Any increase in charges since a membership obtained in one city entitles its holder to attend any concert sponsored by this international organization.

Among some of the programs of these famous artists have appeared the following numbers some of which are very likely to appear on the Burlington program.

Pieces en Concert ..... Jean Philippe Rameau
Etude in Volapuk ..... P. Schumann
Piece en Forme de Habanera ..... Maurice Ravel
Granadina ..... Joaquin Nin
Menuet ..... Guiseppe Tartini
Deep River ..... Lucien Lecontal
Lorraine ..... Jules Mouquet
Theme and Variations ..... Franz Haydn
Chanson dans la Nuit ..... Carlos Salzedo

ANNUAL EASTER CONCERT DATE SET FOR MARCH 26

The Annual Easter concert given by the University Choir will be held this year under the direction of Prof. C. T. Leonard in the Ira Allen Chapel at 4:00 p.m. on Sunday, March 26. The program of music will consist principally of "The Resurrection" by Gabriel Faure. Miriam Bennett Marston will accompany at the organ and the choir is to be assisted by Martin Pearson, tenor soloist and Mme. Anna de Voe Harper.

CARBEE IS FIRST TO ENTER PAINTINGS

Lucia C. Carbee of Boston, formerly the head of the Fine Arts Department of the University of Vermont summer school was the first artist to enter a painting with Harold F. Kemp for the third annual Northern Vermont artists' exhibition to be held at the Fleming Museum April 30 to May 7.

Miss Carbee has exhibited in public and private homes in Vermont as well as in Massachusetts.

Forty-Seven Student Teachers Now Practicing in High School

Twenty seniors are engaged in supervised student teaching at the Barrington High School this semester as well as twenty-six members of the Vermont state two-year training course who are industrially doing elementary school teaching for two weeks in the various city graded schools. These student teachers are very earnestly trying to teach these boys and girls of pre-adolescent and adolescent age and especially as the latter ones they are attempting to instill the responsibility of clear intelligent thinking a problem as encountered in the walks of everyday life.

These young people are full of zest and enthusiasm and are out to enjoy all the adventures that life has in store for them. The student teachers are faced with this demanding spirit and learn and even begin to realize that the duties as instructor is not the only important factor in teaching but that the pupil must understand the pupil's problems and encourage studying clearly, speaking accurately and acting wisely.

Many boys and girls do not realize the importance of obtaining an education and leave school at an early age because of discouragement in their studies or arise to personality situations or perhaps lack of encouragement on the part of the teacher, all of which are contributed by the temperate physical struggles of youth in the secondary school. The same problems, self-consciousness, likes and dislikes and every such matter must be taken into consideration by the teacher whose duty it is to help the interested co-operating and overcome obstacles and encourage school interest and spirit.

Today with new and improved method of preparation along every line the teacher's profession is growing rapidly. Educational authorities are beginning to realize the real importance of a fine training period as the basic fundamental in the appointment of the school. Frances Perkins recently be said that this drill period lasts upon the actual job experience of the student-teacher. Since we are living in such a progressive and interesting civilization today, the teacher must be equal the needs of each individual as completely and satisfactorily that will be beneficial to have his as well as the present parents' needs.

On the whole the student teachers have found the boys and girls very willing to co-operate during their first experience in teaching.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The daily student newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

[redacted] Editor-in-Chief
[redacted] Women's Editor
[redacted] Managing Editor
[redacted] Sports Editor
[redacted] Recording Editor
[redacted] Business Manager
[redacted] Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

[redacted] Helen Mount '35
[redacted] Dustin White '35
[redacted] Howard Aldrich '35
[redacted] Arlington Wilcox '35
[redacted] Stuart Wright '35

FEATURE EDITORS

[redacted] Nathaniel Gould '35
Milton Greenburg '34
[redacted] Ruth Kobel '34
Jane Parsons '35

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Crosby Hale '35
Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

COLUMNIST

[redacted] Robert Weisenman '34

FACULTY ADVISER

Prof Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge ARLINGTON WILCOX

Founded in 1907. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $4.00 a year, single copy five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at The Vermont Cynic Office, Smith College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1444.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1920.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 March 14, 1933 No. 41

CAUGHT SHORT

Students, as well as many other citizens, are looking forward to the cessation of the banking holiday, which has now been in progress since March 4. Many of them have found to their dismay that going around without any change in their pockets is a distinct inconvenience, though in most instances not an actual hardship. Very few University of Vermont students have suffered greatly because those who were caught short were fortunate enough to find friends or creditors to supply them the necessary cash.

Some students, who are habitually broke anyway, did not notice any particular change in their lives. Perhaps they would not have even known about the banking holiday had they not read about it in the newspapers. There probably were those who found that it was not so difficult to live comfortably without money as they had anticipated. To those students, the banking holiday was a distinct benefit.

In the town itself, the storekeepers, although hesitant at first, have extended credit to the students and things have been going on with much the same gusto on campus. There have been many individuals, both students and instructors who have been living the last few days on their good name, and they have encountered no particular hardship.

However there have been some noticeable effects at the University. Some of the fraternity dances scheduled for last Friday evening were called off, while others supposed to be formal affairs were, out of necessity, informal dances. Perhaps, too, many girls were forced to walk to those dances, but no one can blame it on the struggling college student whose credit is limited in most instances to necessities only.

When the banking holiday has been terminated, there is no doubt that the students will be able to pay their creditors. Nevertheless everyone will feel more confidence once more business is done with a medium of exchange.

DISASTER ON DEPRESSION?

To help pole disaster on depression, the fraternity tax bill has passed the House of Representatives and there is a possibility of its also passing the Senate. There was a time when it was felt that the bill would be undoubtedly squelched in the latter body, but with the amendment attached, which makes the taxation entirely a matter of local option, there is a feeling that the bill will be passed.

After three readings were heard of the bill in the House, it was sent to the Senate. To the original bill was added an amendment leaving the matter in the hands of the townspeople to decide whether or not the tax exemption for fraternities would be continued. Everyone will remember how the citizens of Burlington reacted to this question when the town vote was held. The results of the ballot indicated that Burlington was against the tax exemption of fraternities, although supporters of the Greek letter organizations did not go to the poles.

At present the fraternity tax question has been eclipsed by the more weighty national problems, but the fact remains that the bill will come up in the Senate this week and will, if passed, affect nearly all of the fraternities on the campus in varying degrees of harshness.

There has been much talk concerning deeding the fraternities' property to the University. There have been opinions that some groups will be in such a position that they will not be able to pay the tax, and will have to relinquish their property when the accumulating tax has reached a sum, half the value of the property.

There is no doubt in the minds of every college student that such a tax if passed would be extremely unfair. It might even mean the termination of all existing fraternal organizations at Vermont, because their members in many instances minors and from outside the State will refuse to pay taxes to the city of Burlington from whom they are deriving no benefits whatsoever.

What representation do the students of the University of Vermont have in affairs of the town? If they pay taxes it seems only fair that they should vote. And if they were allowed to vote in the matter that would affected them, the bill would never have gone to the Legislature. If it did go to the Legislature and was passed, they could revoke any measures the townspeople enacted. Perhaps when the people of the city of Burlington see their city littered by seventeen deserted houses that were once distinguished appearing fraternity houses, vibrant and alive with youthful life, the way station of every tramp and bum making his way through the city of Burlington, when they see the houses, windows broken, and in a greatly run-down condition, then will they see the errors of their ways and will rue the day they voted to tax fraternities owning houses.

THEATRE

Flynn

(M. T.) State Fair. Four all-star screen offering. A typically American picture. Taken from a prize-winning novel, the story deals with experiences on a typical Mid-West family during one booming week at the fair in which each sibling and parent realizes his or her supreme desire. Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers, Lew Ayres, Sally Eilers and Norman Foster head the cast. Worth a camel's walk at the very least.

(T. F. S.) The King's Vacation. G. Arliss, of the unusual lip, is starring in this vehicle which shows that kings are human—that they are sometimes torn between the woman and the hot seat of the reign. Marjorie Gateson, Dudley Digges, Dick Powell, Patricia Ellis and an alphabetic throng of supporters. Spirited direction claimed for John Adolfi, late of the Hinterland.

Majestic

(M. T.) From Hell to Heaven. Adrienne Ames and blond Carole Lombard, V. Hillie and Shirley Grey tread the long trail with David Manners and Jack Oakie. Lots of laughs in this tale of race-track folly and fortune. Shooting and tense moments.

(W. T.) Broadway Bad. Romantic drama. Good cast. J. Blondell, R. Cortez, Injay Rogers, V. Jory, A. Vincent, A. Ames, etc. Two new song hits. Is Broadway bad? Scene for yourself.

(F. S.) Sailors' Luck. James Dunn and Sally Eilers in the romance of a happy gob and a wise girl down on her luck. S. Cohen, F. Moran and lots of others.

State

(M. T.) The Mummy. Zita Johann, Boris Karloff, and David Manners. A good shocker with magic spells and everything. Very convincing.

(W. T.) Faithless. Robt. Montgomery and Talullah Bankhead. Talully is the one Bank head still doing fine.

(F. S.) Central Park. Joan Blondell, Wallace Ford. A thumping good crime drama.

Strong

(M. T.) The Conquerors. Richard Dix and Ann Harding star in this fine story of a race of pioneers with faith in the future of this hyar country. They win out, and their reward comes in the beauty of the heritage. Good.

(W. T.) Manhattan Tower. Mary Brian and James Hall are the stars. A two-fisted sophisticate story of sky-scratcher intrigue. In the big city.

(F. S.) Renegade of the West. Don Keene. These will go on as long as horseflesh breathes. Recommended for the jitters. Don gets his man and the girl gets Don.

OSLER SOCIETY HEARS DOCTOR WOODBRIDGE

(Continued from page 1)

the explosions were due to ignorance in handling it. Doctor Woodbridge said that in order to make ethylene safe to use, the operating room must be damp.

He illustrated his talk with a series of slides which consisted of demonstrations of different types of apparatus for administering gases. He showed the various means of allowing for the escape of carbon dioxide and for the intake of oxygen. Doctor Woodbridge demonstrated a very efficient means for giving artificial respiration, when necessary, by squeezing a bag in correspondence to the inspiration and then allowing it to expand in correspondence to the expiration.

"Who you shoving?"

"I dunno—what's your name?"—Blue Gator.

SPECIAL
SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO
MASSAGE $1.00
ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY
JOE'S BARBER SHOP
JOE LANGLOIS, Proprietor
BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.
TRY US

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY
YOUR LIFE WORK?
THE Harvard University Dental School offers a comprehensive course in this field of health service, which is becoming increasingly important in relation to medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school.
Write for catalog
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 45, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

Carlos Salzedo, Famous Harpist, to Appear in Community Concert Soon

Carlos Salzedo, who will be heard here in Burlington in a recital on Thursday evening, March 23, at 8.15 in the City Hall Auditorium, is generally recognized as the greatest living harpist. He has been called "The Napoleon of the Harp," "The Paderewski of the Harp," "The Chopin of the Harp," and various others "Of the Harp," but he remains distinctively "The Salzedo of the Harp," for he is a unique artist.

Salzedo is a native of the French Basque provinces and first came to this country as solo harpist of the Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra under Toscanini. It was not long before his superlative playing brought about a demand for his appearance in concert, and he said farewell to the orchestra pit and devoted himself to the concert platform, where he won highest honors as a virtuoso.

As A Pianist

Although Salzedo is the most famous harpist of the day, he might have been equally great as a pianist, had he chosen to devote himself to the keyboard rather than to the hand-plucked strings. When he was only fifteen years old he took first prize for both piano and harp at the Conservatoire in Paris, an achievement unequalled in the annals of that historic institution and one hardly paralleled by another musical artist anywhere. Occasionally, Salzedo appears at the piano in the production of some new work and lovers of the piano then regret that he does not appear more frequently as a pianist.

The harp, however, is Salzedo's first love, and he has devoted himself to making the harp a solo instrument worthy to be compared with the violin, 'cello and piano. The constant demand for his appearances as a concert harpist proves how well he has succeeded in his endeavor.

Spontaneity is the keystone of Salzedo's art. He creates what actors call "the illusion for the first time," playing every composition on his program as though it were an impromptu work just issued from his mind. Bach, Handel, Mendelssohn, folk songs and the works of such moderns as Debussy and Ravel come to life vividly under his magic fingers.

CARLOS SALZEDO, famous virtuoso . . . appearing at the City Hall Auditorium March 23

As a composer, Salzedo holds a high rank, and his programs include a number of his own works, which are not only of great value as music but also of the uttermost interest as virtuoso pieces for the difficult instrument which Salzedo has made peculiarly his own.

"Pardon me," said the Hunchback of Notre Dame, "while I go out and gargoyle."—Octopus.

Here's Your
NATURAL ENERGY FOOD

When you see Niagara Falls on the package, you KNOW you have Shredded Wheat.

SHREDDED WHEAT is all wheat. All its nourishing goodness. All the bran that Nature provides. And in a most delightful form ... ready cooked ready-to-eat biscuits with a satisfying nut-like flavor. Try some for breakfast, for a bed-time bite. Easy to digest. Just ask for Shredded Wheat and a bowl of milk or cream. A sustaining food at little cost . . . At all campus eating places.

SHREDDED WHEAT
ALL THE WHEAT . . . ALL THE BRAN
THE NATURAL ENERGY FOOD
MADE BY NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY Uneeda Bak

SPORTS NEWS

Andress Leads Field After First Day's Competition in Events of Hexathlon

HOLDS 130 POINT LEAD OVER SECOND MAN

Pvt. Andress '36 led the field by a good margin as the first events of the hexathlon were concluded. He had amassed 3,152.42 points against 3,021.54 for his nearest competitor, Scratch Caraccio.

Four of the six events comprising the hexathlon were run off last Saturday at the Gym.

The rope climb was held first. The contestants sat on a stool with their feet raised from the floor and their hands on the rope and climbed to touch a piece of paper at the top. Scratch was easily best in this event with the remarkable time of 7½ seconds. Andress' time was 8⅘ seconds. Willis did it in 9⅛ seconds, and Jezukawicz in 9⅝ seconds.

The next event was the 110-yard dash, over around the track. Joe Delfausse and Chris Meligonis both made this run in 13- seconds, and Wesoly's time was 13⅘, and Dusty White and Julie Jezukawicz both took 13⅘.

The high jump was last. The men were pretty well bunched until the five foot one inch line was reached. Then Ray Brooks, Andy Wesoly, and Dusty White

		Rope Climb Sec.	Dash Sec.	High Jump Ht.	Broad Jump Dist.
1	Andress	8⅘	14⅘	5'	2"
2	Caraccio	7½	14⅘	4'	4"
3	Jezukawicz	9⅝	13⅘	4'	10"
4	Willis	9⅛	14⅘	4	10"
5	White	10⅘	13⅘	5'	1"
6	J. Delfausse	11-	13⅘	5'	6"
7	Meligonis	10⅘	13⅘	4	7"
8	Howe, C. J.	10⅘	14	4'	10"
9	Brooks	11⅘	14⅘	5	1"
10	Paul	11⅘	14⅘	4'	8"
11	Woodruff	12	14⅘	4'	11"
12	Drown	12	14⅘	4'	8½"
13	Wesoly	*	13⅘	5	1"

* Wesoly did not compete in the rope event.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

Playing hockey on sidewalks on the campus is fun for the first time in several years, as reported Orleans team managed and maybe expected but not believed. They had secured a double reservation at a hotel in the town of Rutland. Hayes, wisely certainly spelled his last and installation for the Marble Society.

Notes the Nomad sez "Rutland is certainly the worst team in the State but they are really one point better than Orleans."

The fervent pleas of the Orleans rooters to get goom that toss in some baskets, certainly worked wonders with the Ice Cream Town representatives.

After the game one of the latter sex lads followed her team south to Burlington was asked "Are you going to go to Newport?" To which she replied, "No, we are going right straight home."

Perceiving that the young lady did not quite absorb the gist of the question, Channy then proceeded to make his point clear by saying, "I mean are you going to the Newport tournament?" referring, as you no doubt have now inferred, to the general area of the Rhode Island coast line, and not to the Clyde River Valley in particular to which she replied "No, they haven't even got an inners up there."

Tournament results this year have upset nearly every prediction. Two dark horses triumph and then in the play at the darker of the two records a tall

It has been rumored about that Hartford High winners of the southern tournament and runners-up in the senior tournament, are to represent Vermont at the New England interscholastic tourney.

We hope so.

Beckley Elected Captain of Basketball; Tobin, Manager

Howe, Patch and Woodard are Assistent Managers According to Announcements Made Yesterday Afternoon by Graduate Manager

John Beckley '34 of Great Neck, Long Island was elected captain of the 1933-34 basketball team and Donald Tobin '34 of Dorchester, Mass. was named manager according to announcements made yesterday afternoon by Clarke Abell, graduate manager. Marshall Patch '34 of Worcester, Charles Howe '35 of Lethbridge and Richard Woodard '35 of Hyde Park are the new assistant managers.

Beckley is a three-sport man playing basketball, baseball and football. He is a member of Key and Serpent of Delta Psi fraternity. Tobin is a member of the Key and Serpent society also and Kappa Sigma fraternity and was recently elected financial manager of Junior Week.

TENNIS TEAM PRACTICES FOR AN ELEVEN-MATCH SCHEDULE, FOUR AT HOME

Capt. Hugh Wilson '34 Leads Team in Effort to Retain State Title

The varsity tennis men are reporting for daily practice in the cage from one until three o'clock. Capt. H. C. Wilson '34, B. I. Mulcahy '34, N. H. Myers '34 and I. I. Woodward '33 are among last year's veterans who are reporting for practice. The workouts are confined mostly to volleying and practicing on strokes. While the combinations of players to be used in the matches have not yet been decided on the men will probably play either singles or doubles according to what they played last year. Like season the team will miss the freshest playing at Holbrook and Lupper lost by graduation.

With over a month to get in form before their first trip the varsity net should easily duplicate the excellent record made last year. Six straight victories led to the capture of the Vermont Conference title last year.

As usual six players will go on trips which include one to Massachusetts in April and one to Troy and Schenectady on May 26 and 27.

The schedule is as follows:

April 27—Worcester Polytechnic Institute, there.
April 28—Boston University, there.
April 29—Tufts College, there.
May 9—Tufts College, there.
May 12—Middlebury, there.
May 13—Boston University, here.
May 18—St. Lawrence, here.
May 19—Middlebury, here.
May 22—St. Michael's, there.
May 26—Union, there.
May 27—Rensselaer, there.

The teacher was putting questions to the class.

"What do we call a man," he asked, "who keeps on talking and talking when people are no longer interested?"

"Please, sir," replied a boy, "a teacher."

ORLEANS HIGH QUINTET SPRINGS SURPRISE WIN OVER SENIOR CHAMPS

First Team to Perform Feat in History of Junior-Senior Play-off Saturday Night

Last Saturday night at the Memorial Auditorium in the deciding game for the Vermont state basketball championship, for the first time in history a junior team defeated a senior team, when Orleans High School beat Rutland, winners of the Senior Tournament, 23 to 22 to become state champions.

The senior champions, playing without "Red" Chalmers, the spark plug of the team put on a miserable exhibition of basketball and failed to even approach the form which carried them to victories over the leading senior teams of the state. Neither team played good basketball but Orleans won because they capitalized on the chances which Rutland's erratic playing offered them.

Rutland seeming lost without Chalmers had no organization or sense of teamwork and in the latter part of the game became almost demoralized as Orleans scored several times.

The chief cause of the defeat of the senior champions of course was overconfidence. Heralded as easy winners and already planning what to do with their trophy they came onto the floor and during the first half did nothing but pass. They were caught flat footed in numerable times and seldom made any attempts to break for the basket, being content to take it easy and rely on long shots. Orleans underrated simply would not be taxed with and outfought Rutland to win.

Lorman was the one bright spot in the Rutland side of the game. Freddie fought hard all the way collected twelve points and played a good passing game.

The game started very slowly with each team playing very cautiously. Lorman was fouled and made a basket. He was fouled again shooting and made two shots. Freddie then looped a long one in from the side. Austin threw one in from away out and Elder did the same thing for Rutland. Mulcahy made a short shot and immediately followed it with a follow up shot. Allen made a foul shot as the quarter ended with the score knotted at seven seven.

The second quarter was very interesting. Stockton on a long pass from Hosier made an easy set shot. Allen continued his shooting with a long shot and then made a spectacular follow shot. Elder made a pretty step shot and Lord got in a beautiful play received a pass from Stockton and scored. Orleans took time out with Rutland leading 12 to 11.

Time in again and things looked good for Rutland as Lorman looped one in from the side. Austin made a foul to

(continued on page 4)

FRESHMAN BASEBALL SCHEDULE INCLUDES SIX GAMES DURING SEASON

Play Home and Away Contests With T. C. A., Clark School and Montpelier Seminary

TEAM APPARENTLY WILL BE STRONG

The revised schedule for Frosh baseball includes four games, three here at Burlington. They play home games with the Green Mountain Junior College, Clark School, and Montpelier Seminary.

Doc Newton is again handling the reins for the Kittens. It is too early to make any predictions for the season, but the battery of Kirley and Billings look good, and Funk, Negus, and Werner are making nice infield material.

Then, we have Naylor, Degree, Tasker, Williams, Dodds, and Marks, to fill out the team.

The schedule:

May 3—Green Mountain Junior College here.
May 6—Montpelier Seminary at Montpelier.
May 13—Green Mountain Junior College at Poultney.
May 19—Clark School here.
May 23—Montpelier Seminary here.
May 27—Clark School at Hanover.

LOCAL BANKS EXPECTED TO REOPEN THIS WEEK

With the announcement from President Roosevelt last night that the banks in the twelve Federal Reserve cities would reopen today, and that those in the clearing house cities would reopen Tuesday, it was hoped in Burlington banking circles that the government would get around to grant the local banking institutions permission to reopen at least in a limited way by the middle of this week.

R. S. R.: There's a rug grandmother hooked.
M. U. T.: Tsk, tsk.—Juggler.

JUNIORS SCORE HIGH IN FRATERNITY GAMES

Looking over the records of the interfraternity games we find that Hugh Wilson scored an average of 15.5 points for every game. Norm Myers scored 10.5, Bernie Mulcahy 10.3 and Curly Williams 10.2. Ormie Brown averaged 9.7 points a game, Earl Morse 8.5, and Carl Buzzell and Tommy Cogswell 8.2 apiece.

Of these eight high scorers five played on the junior class team which won the interclass contest.

MANY FALLS FEATURE WRESTLING TOURNAMENT BOUTS HELD THIS YEAR

Contests Held Wednesday and Friday of Last Week

According to Bumps Levine the wrestling is the best in three years. Last Wednesday out of six matches four were won by falls and out of four last Friday two were won by falls.

Some of last year's stars are already showing up well. Keelan, Miller and Carraciola all winning their contests easily.

WEDNESDAY

125-lb. class—Crandall threw Esden in 4 minutes 23 seconds.
135 lb. class—Keelan threw F. Levine in 9 minutes 30 seconds.
145 lb. class—Hale threw McCarthy in 2 minutes 1 second.
158-lb. class—Miller threw Powell in 2 minutes 44 seconds, and Ludwig gained a time advantage over Peterson of 5 minutes 5 seconds.
175 lb. class—Paul won a 1 minute 17 seconds time advantage over Lockett.

FRIDAY

125-lb. class—White won a 4 minutes 39 seconds time advantage.
135 lb. class—Dean vs. Shea postponed.
145 lb. class—Klasan threw Carolan in 8 minutes.
158-lb. class—Varricchio vs. Kingsley postponed.
175-lb. class—Caraccio threw Woodward in 3 minutes 45 seconds.
Unlimited—Beardsley won a 1 minute 10 seconds time advantage over Dunham.

BOWLING TEAMS ARE SELECTED FOR WOMEN

Women's class bowling teams have been picked at the University of Vermont from the large squad of girls who have been engaged in the sport during the winter. The teams follow.

Seniors: Marion and Esther Crue, Cruttenden, Compton, Alice Emma, Newport Center, with Frances Thomas, Jeffersonville, as substitute.

Juniors: Elizabeth Woodward, Rocky Hill, Conn., Jean Kinloch, Springfield, Mass., Edith Rogers, Fairhaven, Mass., with Daisy Putnam, Springfield, Vt., as substitute.

Sophomores: Susan France, Brooklyn, N. Y., Lois Whitcomb, Burlington, Elizabeth Brockveld, Concord, Mass., with Mary Tupper, Burlington, as substitute.

Freshmen: Harriet Gray and Marion Herberg, Burlington, Ruth Barron, Barre, with Margaret Patterson, East Cruttenden, as substitute.

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

• • •

Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Fleming Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
Open daily 6.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m.

Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.
Sporting Goods for All Sports
Special Prices to Schools, Clubs and Societies
The W. E. Greene Co.
In consolidation with
Patten, Irwin & White

PLAID IS THE THING

Glen Plaid Slacks $5.00
Plaid Shirts $2.50
Plaid Neckwear 50c to $1.00
Glen Plaid Suits $25 and up

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

TO GRADUATES of the Two-Year Teacher Training Course

An order for a CAP and GOWN placed before the Easter Recess—with a deposit of $2.00—will also buy for you 15 INVITATIONS OR ANNOUNCEMENTS or any combination of these that you may desire.

A refund of 50c will be made if the Cap and Gown are returned on Commencement Monday.

Place your orders at the
UNIVERSITY STORE OFFICE

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

CHARLES J. TUTTLE '34 ..... Editor-in-Chief
ANNE SAYLES COHEN '36 ..... Women's Editor
WILLIAM CROWLEY '34 ..... Managing Editor
WILLIAM DEVLIN '34 ..... Sports Editor
ROBERT MORRISS '34 ..... Recording Editor
GEORGE H. BURROWS II '34 ..... Business Manager
CHARLES J. TUTTLE '34 ..... Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Dorothy Kennedy '35 Helen Mount '35
Howard Abbott '35 Dustin White '35
Stuart Wright '35 Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

Nathaniel Gould '35
Walter Greenburg '34
Ruth Kidder '34
Jane Parsons '35

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Crosby Hale '35
Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

COLUMNIST

Robert Weissman '34

FACULTY ADVISER

Prof Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge ..... ARLINGTON WILCOX

Founded in 1891. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year, single copy five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at THE VERMONT CYNIC Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1444.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication: Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 March 14, 1933 No. 41

CAUGHT SHORT

Students, as well as many other citizens, are looking forward to the cessation of the banking holiday, which has now been in progress since March 4. Many of them have found to their dismay that going around without any change in their pockets is a distinct inconvenience, though in most instances not an actual hardship. Very few University of Vermont students have suffered greatly because those who were caught short were fortunate enough to find friends or creditors to supply them the necessary cash.

Some students, who are habitually broke anyway, did not notice any particular change in their lives. Perhaps they would not have even known about the banking holiday had they not read about it in the newspapers. There probably were those who found that it was not so difficult to live comfortably without money as they had anticipated. To those students the banking holiday was a distinct benefit.

In the town itself, the storekeepers, although hesitant at first, have extended credit to the students and things have been going on with much the same gusto on campus. There have been many individuals, both students and instructors who have been living the last few days on their good name, and they have encountered no particular hardship.

However there have been some noticeable effects at the University. Some of the fraternity dances scheduled for last Friday evening were called off, while others supposed to be formal affairs were, out of necessity, informal dances. Perhaps, too, many girls were forced to walk to those dances, but no one can blame it on the struggling college student whose credit is limited in most instances to necessities only.

When the banking holiday has been terminated, there is no doubt that the students will be able to pay their creditors. Nevertheless everyone will feel more confidence once more business is done with a medium of exchange.

DISASTER ON DEPRESSION?

To help pile disaster on depression, the fraternity tax bill has passed the House of Representatives and there is a possibility of its also passing the Senate. There was a time when it was felt that the bill would be undoubtedly squelched in the latter body, but with the amendment attached, which makes the taxation entirely a matter of local option there is a feeling that the bill will be passed.

After three readings were heard of the bill in the House, it was sent to the Senate. To the original bill was added an amendment leaving the matter in the hands of the townspeople to decide whether or not the tax exemption for fraternities would be continued. Everyone will remember how the citizens of Burlington reacted to this question when the town vote was held. The results of the ballot indicated that Burlington was against the tax exemption of fraternities, although supporters of the Greek-letter organizations did not go to the poles.

At present the fraternity tax question has been eclipsed by the more weighty national problems, but the fact remains that the bill will come up in the Senate this week and will, if passed, affect nearly all of the fraternities on the campus in varying degrees of harshness.

There has been much talk concerning deeding the fraternities' property to the University. There have been opinions that some groups will be in such a position that they will not be able to pay the tax, and will have to relinquish their property when the accumulating tax has reached a sum, half the value of the property.

There is no doubt in the minds of every college student that such a tax if passed would be extremely unfair. It might even mean the termination of all existing fraternal organizations at Vermont, because their members in many instances minors and from outside the State will refuse to pay taxes to the city of Burlington from whom they are deriving no benefits whatsoever.

What representation do the students of the University of Vermont have in affairs of the town? If they pay taxes it seems only fair that they should vote. And if they were allowed to vote in the matter that vitally affected them, the bill would never have gone to the Legislature. If it did go to the Legislature and was passed, they could revoke any measures the townspeople enacted. Perhaps when the people of the city of Burlington see their city littered by seventeen deserted houses that were once distinguished appearing fraternity houses, vibrant and alive with youthful life, the way station of every tramp and bum making his way through the city of Burlington, when they see the houses, windows broken and in a greatly run down condition, then will they see the errors of their ways and will rue the day they voted to tax fraternities owning houses.

THEATRE

Flynn

(M. T. W.) State Fair. Foxy all-star screen offering. A typically American picture. Taken from a prize-winning novel, the story deals with experiences of a realistic Mid-West family during one booming week at the fair in which each sibling and parent realizes his or her supreme desire. Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers, Lew Ayres, Sally Eilers and Norman Foster head the cast. Worth a camel's walk at the very least.

(F. F. S.) The King's Vacation. G. Arliss, of the unusual lip, is starring in this vehicle which shows that kings are human—that they are sometimes torn between the woman and the hot seat of the reign. Marjorie Gateson, Dudley Digges, Dick Powell, Patricia Ellis and an alphabetic throng of suporters. Spirited direction claimed for John Adolfi, late of the Hinterland.

Majestic

(M. T.) From Hell to Heaven. Adrienne Ames and blond Carole Lombard, V. Hillie and Shirley Grey tread the long trail with David Manners and Jack Oakie. Lots of laughs in this tale of race-track folly and fortune. Shooting and tense moments.

(W. T.) Broadway Bad. Romantic drama. Good cast: J. Blondell, R. Cortez, Injay Rogers, V. Jory, A. Vincent, A. Ames, etc. Two new song hits. Is Broadway bad? Scene for yourself.

(F. S.) Sailors Luck. James Dunn and Sally Eilers in the romance of a happy gob and a wise girl down on her luck. S. Cohen, F. Moran and lots of others.

State

(M. T.) The Mummy. Zita Johann, Boris Karloff, and David Manners. A good shocker with magic spells and everything. Very convincing.

(W. T.) Faithless. Robt. Montgomery and Talullah Bankhead. Talully is the one Bank head still doing fine.

(F. S.) Central Park. Joan Blondell, Wallace Ford. A thumping good crime drama.

Strong

(M. T.) The Conquerors. Richard Dix and Ann Harding star in this fine story of a race of pioneers with faith in the future of this hyar country. They win out, and their reward comes in the beauty of the heritage. Good.

(W. T.) Manhattan Tower. Mary Brian and James Hall are the stars. A two-fisted sophisticate story of sky-scratcher intrigue. In the big city.

(F. S.) Renegade of the West. Don Keene. These will go on as long as horseflesh breathes. Recommended for the jitters. Don gets his man and the girl gets Don.

OSLER SOCIETY HEARS DOCTOR WOODBRIDGE

(Continued from page 1)

the explosions were due to ignorance in handling it. Doctor Woodbridge said that in order to make ethylene safe to use, the operating room must be damp.

He illustrated his talk with a series of slides which consisted of demonstrations of different types of apparatus for administering gases. He showed the various means of allowing for the escape of carbon dioxide and for the intake of oxygen. Doctor Woodbridge demonstrated a very efficient means for giving artificial respiration, when necessary, by squeezing a bag in correspondence to the inspiration and then allowing it to expand in correspondence to the expiration.

"Who you shoving?"

"I dunno—what's your name?"—Blue Gator.

SPECIAL
SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO
MASSAGE $1.00
ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY
JOE'S BARBER SHOP
JOE LANGLOIS, Proprietor
BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.
TRY US

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY
YOUR LIFE WORK?
THE Harvard University Dental School offers a comprehensive course in this field of health service, which is becoming increasingly important in relation to medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school.
Write for catalog
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 45, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

Carlos Salzedo, Famous Harpist, to Appear in Community Concert Soon

Carlos Salzedo, who will be heard here in Burlington in a recital on Thursday evening, March 23, at 8:15 in the City Hall Auditorium, is generally recognized as the greatest living harpist. He has been called "The Napoleon of the Harp," "The Paderewski of the Harp," "The Chopin of the Harp," and various others "Of the Harp," but he remains distinctively "The Salzedo of the Harp," for he is a unique artist.

Salzedo is a native of the French Basque provinces and first came to this country as solo harpist of the Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra under Toscanini. It was not long before his superlative playing brought about a demand for his appearance in concert, and he said farewell to the orchestra pit and devoted himself to the concert platform, where he won highest honors as a virtuoso.

As A Pianist

Although Salzedo is the most famous harpist of the day, he might have been equally great as a pianist, had he chosen to devote himself to the keyboard rather than to the hand-plucked strings. When he was only fifteen years old he took first prize for both piano and harp at the Conservatoire in Paris, an achievement unequalled in the annals of that historic institution and one hardly paralleled by another musical artist anywhere. Occasionally, Salzedo appears at the piano in the production of some new work and lovers of the piano then regret that he does not appear more frequently as a pianist.

The harp, however, is Salzedo's first love, and he has devoted himself to making the harp a solo instrument worthy to be compared with the violin, 'cello and piano. The constant demand for his appearances as a concert harpist proves how well he has succeeded in his endeavor.

Spontaneity is the keystone of Salzedo's art. He creates what actors call "the illusion for the first time," playing every composition on his program as though it were an impromptu which he just issued from his mind. Bach, Handel, Mendelssohn, folk songs and the works of such moderns as Debussy and Ravel come to life vividly under his facile fingers.

As a composer, Salzedo holds high rank, and his programs include a number of his own works, which are not only of great value as music but also of the uttermost interest as virtuoso pieces for the difficult instrument which Salzedo has made peculiarly his own.

CARLOS SALZEDO, famous virtuoso, who is appearing at the City Hall Auditorium March 23

"Pardon me," said the Hunchback of Notre Dame, "while I go out and gargoyle."—Octopus.

Here's Your
NATURAL ENERGY FOOD

When you see Niagara Falls on the package, you KNOW you have Shredded Wheat.

SHREDDED WHEAT is all wheat. All its nourishing goodness. All the bran that Nature provides. And in a most delightful form ... ready cooked ready-to-eat biscuits with a satisfying nut-like flavor. Try some for breakfast, for a bed-time bite. Easy to digest. Just ask for Shredded Wheat and a bowl of milk or cream. A sustaining food at little cost . . . At campus eating places.

SHREDDED WHEAT
ALL THE WHEAT . . . ALL THE BRAN
THE NATURAL ENERGY FOOD
MADE BY NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY Uneeda Bak

SPORTS NEWS

Andress Leads Field After First Day's Competition in Events of Hexathlon

HOLDS 130 POINT LEAD OVER SECOND MAN

Phil Andress '36 led the field by a good margin as the first events of the hexathlon were concluded. He had amassed 3,152.42 points against 3,021.54 of his nearest competitor, Scratch Caracciolo '35.

Three of the six events comprising the hexathlon were run off last Saturday at the Gym.

The rope climb was held first. The contestants sat on a stool with their feet raised from the floor and their hands on the rope and climbed to touch a piece of paper at the top. Scratch was easily best in this event with the remarkable time of 7⅘ seconds. Andress' time was 8⅕ seconds. Willis did it in 9⅕ seconds, and Jezukawicz in 9⅗ seconds.

The next event was the 110-yard dash, once around the track. Joe Delfausse and Chris Meligonis both made this run in 13⅘ seconds, and Wesoly's time was 13⅘, and Dusty White and Julie Jezukawicz both took 13⅘.

The high jump was last. The men were pretty well bunched until the five foot one inch line was reached. Then Ray Brooks, Andy Wesoly, and Dusty White fell out. Phil Andress went one inch higher, while Joe Delfausse went up a five foot six inches.

The events were scored on a point basis as previously announced. The standard for each event being 1,000 points with points being added or subtracted if the man were above or below that mark. The men are now in the following order, with records in the different events as follows. Andress is first with 3,152.42 points. Caracciolo is second with 3,021.54 points.

	Rope climb Secs.	Dash Secs.	High jump
1. Andress	8⅕	14⅘	5' 2"
2. Caracciolo	7⅘	14⅘	4' 4"
3. Jezukawicz	9⅗	13⅘	4' 10"
4. Willis	9⅕	14⅕	4' 10"
5. White	10⅕	13⅘	5' 1"
6. J. Delfausse	11⅕	13⅘	5' 6"
7. Meligonis	10⅕	13⅘	4' 7"
8. Howe, C. J.	10⅘	14	4' 10"
9. Brooks	11⅘	14⅕	5' 1"
10. Paul	11⅘	14⅘	4' 8"
11. Woodruff	12	14⅘	4' 11½"
12. Drown	12	14⅘	4' 8½"
13. Wesoly	*	13⅘	5' 1"

* Wesoly did not compete in the rope climb.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

Playing before an audience in the Queen City for the first time in seven starts, an inspired Orleans team perspired and finally expired but not before they had secured a double reverse decision and a Cadaich in the form of Rutland High, which eventually spelled defeat and humiliation for the Marble Cutters.

Nemo the Nomad sez, "Rutland is probably the worst team in the State, but they are really one point better than Orleans.

The fervent pleas of the Orleans rooters to "git goin' thar" "toss in some baskets" certainly worked wonders with the Ice Cream Town representatives.

After the game, one of the fairer sex, who followed her team south to Burlington was asked "Are you going to go to Newport?" To which she replied "No, we are going right straight home."

Perceiving that the young lady did not quite absorb the gist of the question Chammy then proceeded to make his point clear by saying, "I mean are you going to the Newport tournament," referring, as you no doubt have now inferred, to the general area of the Rhode Island coast line, and not to the Clyde River Valley in particular, to which she replied, "No, they haven't even got an armory up there."

Tournament results this year have upset nearly every prediction. Two dark horses triumph and then in the play off the darker of the two records a fall.

It has been rumored about that Hartford High, winners of the southern tournament and runners-up in the senior tournament, are to represent Vermont at the New England interscholastic tourney.

We hope so.

BOWLING TEAMS ARE SELECTED FOR WOMEN

Women's class bowling teams have been picked at the University of Vermont from the large squad of girls who have been engaged in this sport during the winter. The teams follow.

Seniors: Marion and Esther Urie, Cruttsburg Common; Alice Emma Newport Center, with Frances Thomas, Jeffersonville, as substitute.

Juniors: Elizabeth Woodward Rocky Hill, Conn.; Jean Kimball, Springfield, Mass.; Edith Rogers Fairhaven, Mass., with Daisy Putnam, Springfield, Vt., as substitute.

Sophomores: Susan France, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Lois Whitcomb, Burlington; Elizabeth Beckwold, Concord, Mass., with Mary Tupper, Burlington, as substitute.

Freshmen: Harriet Gray and Marion Herberg, Burlington; Ruth Barron, Barre, with Margaret Patterson, East Cruttsburg, as substitute.

Beckley Elected Captain of Basketball; Tobin, Manager

Howe, Patch and Woodard are Assistant Managers According to Announcements Made Yesterday Afternoon by Graduate Manager

John Beckley '34 of Great Neck, Long Island was elected captain of the 1933-34 basketball team, and Donald Tobin '34 of Dorchester, Mass. was named manager to succeed [illegible] announcements made yesterday afternoon by Sabin Abell, graduate manager. Marshall Patch '34, of Windsor, Charles Howe '35 of Tunbridge and Richard Woodard '35 of Hyde Park are the new assistant managers.

Beckley is a three-sport man, playing basketball, baseball and football. He is a member of Key and Serpent of Delta Psi fraternity. Tobin is a member of the Key and Serpent society also and Kappa Sigma fraternity, and was recently elected financial manager of Junior Week.

TENNIS TEAM PRACTICES FOR AN ELEVEN-MATCH SCHEDULE, FOUR AT HOME

Capt. Hugh Wilson '34 Leads Team in Effort to Retain State Title

The varsity tennis men are reporting for daily practice in the cage from one until three o'clock. Capt. H. C. Wilson '34, B. J. Mulcahy '34, N. H. Myers '34 and I. L. Woodward '33 are among last year's veterans who are reporting for practice. The workouts are confined mostly to volleying and practicing on strokes. While the combinations of players to be used in the matches have not yet been decided on the men will probably play either singles or doubles according to what they played last year. This season the team will miss the finished playing of Holbrook and Tupper, lost by graduation.

With over a month to get in form before their first trip the varsity men should easily duplicate the excellent record made last year. Six straight victories led to the capture of the Vermont Conference title last year.

As usual six players will go on trips which include one to Massachusetts in April and one to Troy and Schenectady on May 26 and 27.

The schedule is as follows:

April 27—Worcester Polytechnic Institute, there.
April 28—Boston University, there.
April 29—Tufts College, there.
May 9—Tufts College, there.
May 12—Middlebury, there.
May 13—Boston University, here.
May 18—St. Lawrence, here.
May 19—Middlebury, here.
May 22—St. Michael's, there.
May 26—Union, there.
May 27—Rensselaer, there.

The teacher was putting questions to the class.

"What do we call a man," he asked, "who keeps on talking and talking when people are no longer interested?"

"Please, sir," replied a boy, "a teacher."

ORLEANS HIGH QUINTET SPRINGS SURPRISE WIN OVER SENIOR CHAMPS

First Team to Perform Feat in History of Junior-Senior Play-off Saturday Night

Last Saturday night at the Memorial Auditorium in the deciding game for the Vermont State basketball championship, for the first time in history a junior team defeated a senior team when Orleans High School beat Rutland, winners of the Senior Tournament, 24 to 22 to become state champions.

The senior champions, playing without "Red" Chalmers, the spark plug of the team, put on a miserable exhibition of basketball and, failed to even approach the form which carried them to victories over the leading senior teams of the state. Neither team played good basketball but Orleans won because they capitalized on the chances which Rutland's erratic playing offered them.

Rutland, seeming lost without Chalmers had no organization or sense of teamwork and in the latter part of the game became almost demoralized as Orleans scored several times.

The chief cause of the defeat of the senior champions, of course, was overconfidence. Heralded as easy winners and already planning what to do with their trophy, they came onto the floor and during the first half did nothing but peer. They were caught flat footed innumerable times and seldom made any attempts to break for the basket, being content to take it easy and rely on long shots. Orleans underrated, simply would not be toyed with and outfought Rutland to win.

Lorman was the one bright spot in the Rutland side of the game. Freddie fought hard all the way, collected twelve points and played a good passing game.

The game started very slowly with each team playing very cautiously. Lorman was fouled and made a basket. He was fouled again shooting, and made two shots. Freddie then looped a long one in from the side. Austin threw one in from away out and Elder did the same thing for Rutland. Mahchuk made a short shot and immediately followed it with a follow up shot. Allen made a foul shot as the quarter ended with the score knotted at seven-seven.

The second quarter was very interesting. Stickney on a long pass from Hostler made an easy step shot. Allen continued his shooting with a long shot and then made a spectacular follow shot. Elder made a pretty step shot and Lindsey on a beautiful play received a pass from Stickney and scored. Orleans took time out with Rutland leading 12 to 11.

Time in again and things looked good for Rutland as Lorman looped one in from the side. Austin made a foul to

(Continued on page 4)

FRESHMAN BASEBALL SCHEDULE INCLUDES SIX GAMES DURING SEASON

Play Home and Away Contests With T. C. A., Clark School and Montpelier Seminary

TEAM APPARENTLY WILL BE STRONG

The revised schedule for Frosh baseball includes four games, three here at Burlington. They play home games with the Green Mountain Junior College, Clark School, and Montpelier Seminary.

Doc Newton is again handling the reins for the Kittens. It is too early to make any predictions for the season, but the battery of Kirley and Billings look good, and Funk, Negus, and Werner are making nice infield material.

Then we have Naylor, Degree, Tasker, Williams, Dodds, and Marks, to fill out the team.

The schedule:
May 3—Green Mountain Junior College here.
May 6—Montpelier Seminary at Montpelier.
May 13—Green Mountain Junior College at Poultney.
May 19—Clark School here.
May 23—Montpelier Seminary here.
May 27—Clark School at Hanover.

LOCAL BANKS EXPECTED TO REOPEN THIS WEEK

With the announcement from President Roosevelt last night that the banks in the twelve Federal Reserve cities would reopen today, and that those in 400 clearing house cities would reopen Tuesday, it was hoped in Burlington banking circles that the government would get around to grant the local banking institutions permission to reopen at least in a limited way by the middle of the week.

D. V. R.: There's a rug grandmother tucked.
N. L. T.: Tsk, tsk.—Juggler.

JUNIORS SCORE HIGH IN FRATERNITY GAMES

Looking over the records of the inter-fraternity games we find that Hugh Wilson scored an average of 15.5 points for every game. Norm Myers scored 10.5, Bernie Mulcahy 10.3, and Curly Williams 10.2. Onnie Brown averaged 9.7 points a game, Earl Morse 8.5, and Carl Buzzell and Tommy Cogswell 8.2 apiece.

Of these eight high scorers five played on the junior class team which won the interclass contest.

MANY FALLS FEATURE WRESTLING TOURNAMENT BOUTS HELD THIS YEAR

Contests Held Wednesday and Friday of Last Week

According to Bumps Levine the wrestling is the best in three years. Last Wednesday out of six matches four were won by falls and out of four last Friday two were won by falls.

Some of last year's stars are already showing up well. Keelan, Miller and Carraciola all winning their contests easily.

WEDNESDAY

125-lb. class—Crandall threw Esden in 4 minutes 23 seconds.
135-lb. class—Keelan threw E. Levine in 9 minutes 30 seconds.
145-lb. class—Hale threw McCarthy in 2 minutes 1 second.
158-lb. class—Miller threw Powell in 2 minutes 44 seconds, and Ludwig gained a time advantage over Peterson of 5 minutes 5 seconds.
175-lb. class—Paul won a 1 minute 17 seconds time advantage over Lockett.

FRIDAY

125-lb. class—White won a 4 minutes 39 seconds time advantage.
135-lb. class—Levin vs. Shelc postponed.
145-lb. class—Klavan threw Cardone in 8 minutes.
158-lb. class—Varricchione vs. Kingsley postponed.
175-lb. class—Caracciolo threw Woodward in 3 minutes 45 seconds.
Unlimited—Beardsley won a 1 minute 10 seconds time advantage over Dorbolt.

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
• • •
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Fleming Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
Open daily 6.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m.

Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.
Sporting Goods for All Sports
Special Prices to Schools, Clubs and Societies
The W. E. Greene Co.
In consolidation with
Patten, Irwin & White

PLAID IS THE THING
Glen Plaid Slacks $5.00
Plaid Shirts $2.50
Plaid Neckwear 50c to $1.00
Glen Plaid Suits $25 and up
HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

TO GRADUATES
of the
Two-Year Teacher Training Course
An order for a CAP and GOWN placed before the Easter Recess—with a deposit of $2.00—will also buy for you 15 INVITATIONS OR ANNOUNCEMENTS or any combination of these that you may desire.
A refund of 50c will be made if the Cap and Gown are returned on Commencement Monday.
Place your orders at the
UNIVERSITY STORE OFFICE

TRI-STATE LITERARY CONTEST UNDER WAY

(Continued from page 1)

VERMONT TEACHERS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

(Continued from page 1)

conference, with Miss Mabel C. Patchurst of Burlington as chairman. It will consist of the demonstration of a first grade reading lesson by pupils from the Asa Messer School, Burlington. Participation of the demonstration will include four boys and girls. The class session will be run as an intermediate science class from Miss E. Donnelly of Burlington will preside. A demonstration in a sixth grade science lesson will be given by pupils from the Frederic School. Interpretations and comments will follow by Miss Lois Meservey.

During the conferences there will be an exhibition of posters and pictures loaned by the American Federation of Arts of Washington D. C. and selected through the Fleming Museum of the University. There will also be exhibits of the work of special classes in Burlington schools, of the class in special methods at the University, of the art classes of the University, and also of the art classes of Burlington schools.

During evening the Vermont Women Teachers Association and the Vermont Superintendents Club will have banquets at the Hotel Vermont.

In the account of the Delta Delta Delta pledge dance, which took place at the Elks Rooms, Saturday, March 4, the names of Prof. and Mrs. C. L. Stineford were unintentionally omitted from the list of chaperones.

Prof. J. J. Lindsay of the English department urges the students of the college to contribute manuscripts since the year there will be a close fight between Vermont and New Hampshire for first place and Vermont wants to regain the lead that it has held formerly. The more manuscripts the better we shall like it" declares Professor Lindsay.

*Frances Frost received the highest rating that a writer or manuscript has ever received in the contest. Her verse and short story received a total of 25 credits.

SIGMA PHI, ZETA CHI PHI DELTA THETA LEAD IN TRAYNOR CONTEST

Delta Psi and A. T. O. Are in Second Place for Cup Awarded Annually by Key and Serpent

Sigma Phi, Phi Delta Theta and Zeta Chi are each in the lead by the slightest margin at the present time with 2 points each. Delta Psi and A. T. O. are in a second place tie with 3 points apiece. Kappa Sigma is a close second to the leaders with eight points.

The award to the fraternity making the best record in interfraternity competition during the year is the Traynor cup, presented by the Key and Serpent Society. The purpose of awarding the cup is to foster interest and activity among the various organizations in all interclass competition. Ratings are on all athletic competition, scholarship standing, Eddie Watts and Junior Week events, three points being given in each.

Key and Serpent awarded the cup for the second time last year. It was established in memory of Edward L. ("Pie") Traynor, who was killed in an automobile accident two years ago near his home. "Pie" a great favorite among his classmates was the captain-elect of the 1931 baseball team.

Both last year and the year before it was felt that competition was strong and that the cup was fulfilling its purpose. Last year the cup was won by Sigma Phi with a total of twenty-four points. A. T. O. coming second with seventeen and S. A. E. third with fourteen. Two years ago it was won by Kappa Sigma. It is awarded the last of May or early June annually. The cup is the only one of its kind on the Vermont campus connected with interfraternity competition. It is a fine appearing trophy being larger than any other given out.

ORLEANS HIGH DEFEATS RUTLAND, WINS TITLE

(Continued on page 3)

end the half with the score Rutland 14 Orleans 13.

At the second half started Allen made a field goal and Mansnuk popped in another a minute later by Maisnuk. Maisnuk on a tap play went in for an easy step shot. As the quarter ended Lorman shot another long one for Rutland from the side to make the score 19 to 17 with Orleans leading.

Orleans continued his sensational shooting with a shot from the foul line and Rutland took time out with Orleans ahead 21 to 17.

On a pretty play Lorman took a pass from Cressotties to score. Lindsey made a basket and a foul to put Rutland ahead 22 to 21 but Austin was fouled and made the shot good to tie the score. A few seconds later Herman was fouled and made his only score of the game to win it for Orleans 23-22.

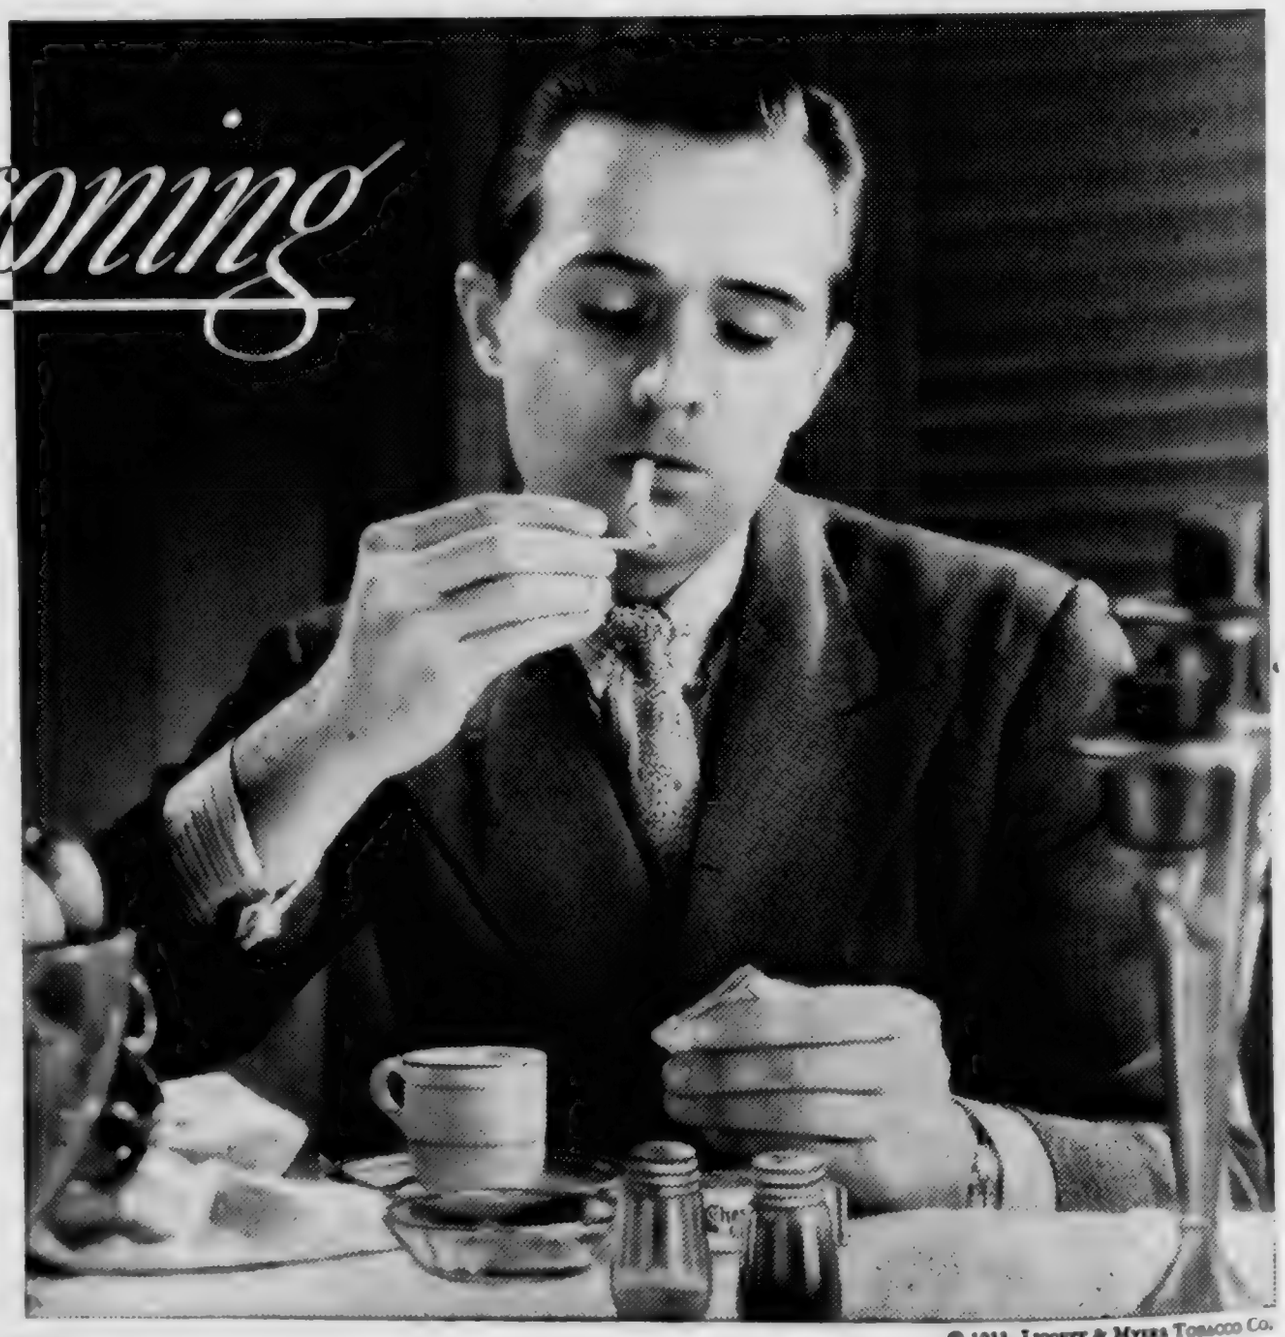
FRANCES FROST '31 BECOMES CONTRIBU

Frances Frost gr... sity of Vermont is a contributor to the Measure of R... place of going to the ... the magazine the ... notable group now ... been invited to appear ... their contributions ... be devoted to the p... the Rollins College ...

A volume of children's ... a child's serial by F... recently been accepted ...

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

WATCH REPAIRING
Special Prices to Students
V. W. GRANT
18½ Church Street Telephone 187



HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

FRENCH Summer Schoo
Residential ... educat... Only ... Board and ... Intermediate ... for circular to Secretary ... Summer School
McGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vege...
Home Made Mayonnaise
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 3070, 3071, 3072

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHO...
Founded 1900
DENTISTRY has developed into an ... branch of health service. In order ... its obligation to ... and women of the higher ... by superior training.
College men and women who ... ested in a career in the field ... obtain a premise ... the ... quirements by admission.
HOWARD M. MARJERISON, D.M.D.
Tufts College Dental School
416 Huntington Ave. Boston

Cigarettes, like Foods need Seasoning

That's the part Turkish Tobaccos play in making Chesterfields Taste Better

SMOKERS notice a certain "touch" in Chesterfields that comes from having just enough Turkish tobacco in them . . . a spicy, aromatic flavor that's much the same to a cigarette as seasoning is to food.

For only by blending and cross-blending the right amounts of mild Domestic tobaccos with the right amount of Turkish can we get the flavor and aroma that Chesterfield smokers enjoy.

Next time, ask for "The Cigarette that Satisfies". . . you'll get Chesterfields, with Milder, Better Taste.

© 1933, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Chesterfield

THEY'RE MILDER — THEY TASTE BETTER

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1933 | NUMBER 42

Charlotte Odell Will Represent Beauty in Lilac Day Pageant

...Board is beginning its prepara... the annual Lilac Day. Ara ... '33, who is in charge of the ... told a CYNIC reporter that the ... written by Gladys LaFlamme ... same as that used last year, ... rations. The cast was chosen ... weeks by Mortar Board, with sugges... by the author. Margaret Crane '33, ... Leary '33, will be the two ... while Charlotte Odell '33, will ... Beauty and Dorothy Murphy ... will take the part of the Sister of ...

... Dallas Pollard has agreed to help ... the production again this year, and ... Vonis Baldwin is already training ... gymnasium and dancing classes for ... interpretive dancing of Lilac Day. ... the presentation of the pageant ... Lilac Day, the men's glee club will ... the new college song, written by ... Clair Leonard; then all will attend ... planting of a lilac tree on Redstone's ... campus, where the pageant will be ... All join hands as they sing "Cham... and complete the celebration of ... Day.

S. K. RATCLIFFE TO TALK ON "ENGLAND IN CRISIS AND RENEWAL"

"One of the Most Distinguished of English Journalists," Says London Paper

LECTURE IN MUSEUM TUESDAY, MARCH 21

... K. Ratcliffe of London, "One of the ... distinguished of English Journal... will come to the University of Ver... to deliver the final lecture in the ... series of University Lectures the ... of Tuesday, March 21. Mr. ... has twice before appeared as ... Lecturer and on both occa... evoked the warmest praise and ap... for his finished diction and ... exposition, as well as broad in... and fair-minded attitude. ... years ago he spoke on three rival ... systems: American, British and ... Two years ago he gave a ... discriminating account of Gandhi ... the Indian situation. This year he ... speak upon: "England in Crisis and ...

A leading London paper recently re... to Mr. Ratcliffe as "One of the ... distinguished of English journal... For five years he edited the Cal... Statesman, the most influential ... in India. More recently he has ... associated with the editorial staff of ... Statesman in London. This ... of liberal opinion holds with ... Spectator first rank among English ...

For eighteen years Mr. Ratcliffe has ... making an annual lecture tour in ... and the United States. Year by ... his fame and following have grown ... the colleges, clubs and forums of ... new world. His personal acquaint... with political leaders and public ... in many lands is extensive and he ... to possess an exceptional ability ... securing from such men just the ... and significant information ... he needs. As G. B. Shaw re... "They give him inside information ... matter of course."

The lecture will be held in the Flem... Museum at 8 o'clock, Tuesday eve... March 21. The public is cordially ...

CO-ED BASKETBALL TEAM WILL HAVE BANQUET

... banquet for all the girls who made ... teams or are substitutes to the ... will be held at the Catholic ... rooms on Wednesday, ... 22.

... L. Crouter will act as toast... Marion Patterson, dean of ... and Professors Cummings and ... Miss Baldwin and Mrs. Hard, ... department of physical educa... will be present.

... speakers will be Mary Petras ... Bennington; Grace Harris '34, ... Susan France '35, of Brook... N. Y.; and Ruth Barron '36, of ...

... Armstrong '33, president of ... will present silver basketballs ... girls who are elected to the ... varsity team.

PHI MU DELTA INITIATES SEVEN

Phi Mu Delta Fraternity held their annual formal initiation on Sunday, March 5, at 6.30 p.m. Following the rites of the initiation there was a banquet, with C. E. Dobson '34 as toastmaster. The men initiated were T. J. Bushey '35, R. Hurley '35, A. A. Morrissette '35, H. E. Fitch, Jr., '36, T. A. George '36, P. E. Lamoray '36, J. S. Pozsabut '36. Among the alumni who attended the banquet were Prof. Evan Thomas, professor emeritus of mathematics and mechanics, and Prof. L. A. Woodward, assistant professor of physics.

TEACHERS' CONFERENCE TO BE HELD TODAY AND TOMORROW AT B. H. S.

Sponsored by Champlain Valley Teachers' Association and the University of Vermont

UNIVERSITY FACULTY MEMBERS TO SPEAK

The twenty-eighth Conference of the Schools of Vermont with the University of Vermont and the Champlain Valley Teachers' Association is being held today and tomorrow at the Burlington High School. All students taking Education subjects are excused from classes in this department in order that they may have an opportunity to attend at least a part of the conference. Seniors who are planning to teach next year are especially urged to be present.

The General Meeting, under the direction of Supervising Principal George R. Stackpole, President of the Champlain Valley Teachers' Association, opens the conference at nine o'clock this morning. The program is: 9.00 a.m. Music by the Burlington High School Orchestra; 9.30 Address of Welcome; 9.40 Business session: 9.40 Address: "Pupils Who Never Grow Up," by the Hon. Arthur W. Hewitt, chairman of the State Board of Education.

Following the general meeting the conference will divide into two sections, one for those interested in secondary school work and one for those interested in elementary school work.

Prof. B. Holmes Wallace, of the University of Vermont, and Prof. Thomas H. Briggs, of Teachers College, Columbia University, will address the Secondary School Conference; the former speaking on "What is a Progressive High School?" While Professor Briggs will take as his subject, "Desirable Relations Between Secondary and Higher Education."

Prof. Jean Betzner and Prof. Lois Mossman, both of Teachers College, Columbia University, have been secured for the Elementary School Conference. The subject of Professor Betzner's talk is "The Teaching of Reading and Literature in the Primary Grades"; Professor Mossman will address the assembly concerning "The Improvement of Instruction in the Intermediate Grades."

Both sections of the conference will adjourn at twelve o'clock for lunch. In the afternoon session Mr. Forrest Kehoe, Registrar of the University of Vermont,

(Continued on page 4)

GLEE CLUB GIVES CONCERT TONIGHT AT THE MUSEUM

Men's Glee Club Will Be Assisted by Women's Glee Club and Orchestra

MARY WHITNEY TO GIVE VIOLIN SOLOS

The Men's Glee Club will present its first home concert tonight at the Fleming Museum at 8:15. The Glee Club will be assisted by the Women's Glee Club and the University orchestra, with Mary Whitney '33, violinist, of Northfield, and Muriel Magee '35, accompanist, of Watertown, Conn.

Prof. C. T. Leonard will accompany the Men's Glee Club and Ruth Barrett '35 of Bradford will accompany the Women's Glee Club.

Three selections will be given by the Men's Double Quartet, composed of R. S. Jenks, Med., of Burlington, A. R. Wilcox '35 of Derby, J. G. Gordon '33 of Williamstown, and E. C. Berry '36 of Rutland, tenors; and D. W. Jenks '34 of Burlington, A. A. Scharbius, Jr., Med., of Brooklyn, N. Y., G. H. Burrows, II, '34 of Exeter, N. H., and C. P. Harwood '34 of Rupert, basses.

Three selections were used in the intercollegiate contest at Springfield. They are "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," by Bach, "To All You Ladies Now on Land," by Calcott, and "U. V. M.," by Leonard.

The evening's program follows:

"Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" ..... Bach
Men's Glee Club
"Adoramus Te" ..... Palestrina
"Lo How a Rose" ..... Praetorius
"Fight" ..... Finnish Folk Song
Men's Double Quartet
"Volga" ..... Russian Folk Song
Men's Glee Club
A. A. Scharbius, Jr., Soloist
"Peer Gynt Suite" ..... Grieg
1. Morgenstimmung
2. Ases Tod
3. "Anitras Tanz"
University Orchestra
"The Summer Night" ..... Brahms
"Come Again Sweet Love" ..... Dowland
"What Saith My Dainty Darling." Morley
Women's Glee Club
"Souvenir" ..... Drdla
"The Bee" ..... Schubert
Miss Whitney
"Gypsy Life" ..... Schumann
"To All You Ladies Now on Land," Calcott
"I Got Shoes" ..... Negro Spiritual
Chorus of Peers from "Iolanthe," Sullivan
"U. V. M." ..... Leonard
Men's Glee Club

UNIVERSITY GETS ART TEACHING EQUIPMENT

Collection, Valued at $7,000, Will Be Placed in Museum for Benefit of Those Interested

The Carnegie Corporation has awarded to the Fleming Museum of the University of Vermont, for the use of its art department, one of the Carnegie sets of college art teaching equipment, valued at about $7,000.

The set comprises 1,800 reproductions of the greatest works in architecture, sculpture and painting; 50 original prints by famous artists; 500 books on various branches of art; and 30 textiles. The gift was not made merely for the purpose of aiding the work of University art classes, but will also be available for the benefit of people outside of the University—in Burlington and other parts of Vermont—who are interested. It is one of a limited number of such sets distributed by the Carnegie Corporation to institutions where an active interest in art exists.

The collections are designed to stand as a systematic representation of the evolution of Western art. In them are shown the works of outstanding men, of different periods, different schools, different techniques, and distinctive cultures. The Carnegie Corporation has been particularly interested in providing this material, which it considers essential to the study of art, for smaller centers where the interest in art is great but such facilities as metropolitan museums offer, are lacking.

(Continued on page 4)

COGSWELL APPOINTED CHAIRMAN OF JUNIOR PROM FOR THIS YEAR

Appointments to the Various Junior Week Committees Also Announced

Committees for the University of Vermont Junior Week events of May 11, 12 and 13 have been announced by C. F. Dodson of E. Templeton Mann, chairman of Junior Week. He is from Northwood, Mass., was nominated financial manager. The nine committees of the events are:

Chairman Junior Prom: T. G. Cogswell.

Decorations: Alice McConnell, chairman, W. H. Galvin, Jr., D. P. Germann, H. J. Selib, E. C. Morse, N. O. Wells, E. E. Carlson, Alice Chalmers, Augusta Cohen, Alice Hoyt, Elinor Bean, Velma Purinton.

Music: P. C. Cummings, chairman, F. P. Colburn, Mary Bennett, Helen Jenkins.

Programs: K. D. Spaulding, chairman, B. C. Rubino, B. J. Mulcahy, Ada Ingalls, Joyce Young.

Parade: T. F. Miller, chairman, D. W. Jenks, G. W. Patterson, C. H. Drown, S. W. Fishman.

Refreshments: Katherine Durock, chairman, S. Pierce, D. C. Worcester, Ruth Reynolds, Elvira Farman.

Publicity: W. Cohen, chairman, G. H. Burrows, R. J. Weissman, W. J. Ivan, R. E. McCuin, A. A. Ross.

Favors: R. A. Martin, chairman, O. L. Brown, M. Kramer, J. I. Murray, Claribel Morris, Harriet Willard.

Banquet: W. E. Concannon, chairman, P. B. Williams, N. H. Myers, W. M. Waterman, Anna Greene, Grace Harris.

FIVE DELEGATES ATTEND MODEL LEAGUE SESSIONS HELD AT NORTHAMPTON

Spiller, President of International Relations Club, Heads Delegation

SIR HERBERT AMES CRITICIZES MEETING

A delegation of Vermont students to the Model League of Nations held at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., returned last Sunday from a three-day trip to the fifth annual assembly.

The Vermont delegation headed by S. N. Spiller '33, president of the International Relations Club, took the part of Venezuela in the conference. The other Vermont delegates included J. B. Bigelow '33, S. M. Wolk '35, Ira Fleischman, P. G., and C. J. Kilburn, Jr., '34.

Pres. Stanley King of Amherst College opened the first session of the assembly Friday at Smith College.

"In beginning these discussions I hope you will remember that your own country is in no position to tell the world how to run its affairs," President King informed the delegates. "We have come closer to the brink of disaster than at any time in our history. In economic affairs we are close to the brink and looking over.

"Geneva cannot help us. The disarmament conference cannot help us. We have got to solve these problems ourselves, by our resourcefulness and willingness to sacrifice now for the future. Unless we solve these problems the voice of America will have and will be entitled to little weight in world affairs."

The assembly session followed a meeting of the council, which, in drawing up a plan for the settlement of hostilities between Bolivia and Paraguay, won the praise of Sir Herbert Ames, former financial director of the League Secretariat at Geneva, for the fidelity with which the delegates represented the viewpoint of the nations.

Miss Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke College, reviewing the history of the disarmament conference and the "human factor which makes success so difficult," urged upon the delegates an "endless crusade of education" to eliminate the "armed mind" and bring about moral disarmament.

One of the obstacles to the progress of the conference, she said, had been the "interim between November 8 and

(Continued on page 3)

DELEGATION FROM VERMONT ATTENDS TAXATION HEARING

Groups from Burlington and Northfield Represents Respective Fraternities

SENATE WILL VOTE ON BILL BEFORE LONG

A large Vermont delegation attended and participated in a special public hearing of the senate Committee on municipal corporations in Montpelier Wednesday afternoon, on the subject of taxing fraternities. There will be another minor hearing for those unable to attend Wednesday, but this one was the most important.

Only two people supported the bill at the hearing, which is worded to repeal the law which provides exemption from taxation. These were Representative Burke of Burlington, mayor-elect, and Representative Joseph Denny of Northfield.

The fraternities were supported by a large delegation from Burlington, Norwich, and other points in the state. The alumni of Vermont speaking for the fraternities were: Merle L. Powell of Burlington, Delta Psi; Thomas Cheney, Montpelier Phi Delta Theta; Prof. W. T. Fulton, Burlington, Lambda Iota; H. M. McIntyre of Burlington, Lambda Iota; H. A. Bailey of Winooski, Phi Mu Delta.

Vermont students speaking against the bill were: E. B. Drew '33, Lambda Iota; J. C. Beckley '34 and L. I. Reed '33, Delta Psi; H. M. Loudon '33, Phi Delta Theta. Two fraternity men from Northfield spoke, representing S. A. E. and T. P. F.

Powell spoke of the moral issue of the question of the Legislature breaking faith with the University and with fraternities since by the act of 1906 it exempted them from all taxation. With that exemption in mind fraternities built extensively expecting fair treatment. He termed the state as practically confiscating the fraternity property, as so many would be unable to meet the taxation. Mr. Bailey presented statistics about the financial condition of each of the fraternities. Clarence McIntyre and Fulton presented specific cases of their fraternities, Phi Delta Theta and Lambda Iota. Reed asked Representative Burke several questions about the amount of help expected from the taxation, and Beckley asked if the state of Vermont would sell the educational facilities of its students for $4,000.

Drew, president of the Interfraternity Council, exploded the prevalent idea that

(Continued on page 3)

PROFS. BUCHANAN AND BUEHLER TO BROADCAST

Topics are "Interconnection of Electric Systems" and "Railroad Problems"

The weekly broadcast of the University of Vermont to be held tonight is in charge of Prof. B. R. Buchanan of the Engineering College and Prof. A. G. Buehler of the economics department. Professor Buchanan will talk on the "Interconnection of Electric Systems." The topic of Professor Buehler's speech will be "The Railroad Problem."

The broadcast will be from 7.30 to 7.45. Each speaker will talk for seven and one-half minutes.

GERMAN CLUB MEETS AT ALPHA CHI HOUSE

Popular German songs were sung and amusing games were played by the members of the Deutsche Verein who met in the Alpha Chi Omega house on Tuesday afternoon, March 14.

Esther Fishman '33 was the pianist of the hour. She played the songs so well that the other members were stimulated to test their vocal talents. As a result, everyone felt proud of the fact that he or she could sing German songs by merely glancing in the book. During the hour refreshments were served. The members of the German department were the chaperones.

Any student who is taking German and is interested in joining the Deutsche Verein should come to the next meeting which will be held on Tuesday afternoon, at 4.00 o'clock, March 28.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official student newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

CHARLES I. LIBBY '34 ..... Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] '34 ..... Women's Editor
WILLIAM COHEN '34 ..... Managing Editor
WILLIAM BRISLIN '34 ..... Sports Editor
[illegible] McCUIN '34 ..... Recording Editor
GEORGE H. BURROWS, II '34 ..... Business Manager
[illegible] LIBBY '34 ..... Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

[illegible] Kennedy '35 Helen Mount '35
Howard Abbott '35 Dustin White '35
Stuart Wright '35 Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

[illegible] '35
Milton Greenburg '34
Judith Kribel '34
Jane Parsons '35

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Crosby Hale '35
Marshall Patch '35

COLUMNIST

Robert Weissman '34

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

FACULTY ADVISER

Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge ..... DUSTIN WHITE

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year, single copy, five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at THE VERMONT CYNIC Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 March 17, 1933 No. 42

IT MUST NOT PASS

The fate of the Vermont fraternities rests upon the judgment of the Vermont State Senate. According to the delegates who attended the public meeting last Wednesday, there was little support evidenced in that body for the measure, which was proposed by Representative Burke of Burlington, and substantiated by Representative Denny of Northfield. If the bill passes the Senate, however, as it has already passed the House, the decision as to whether or not it shall apply will be left to the option of the various towns.

If the bill does pass, many fraternities will be forced to relinquish their property, according to testifications made last Wednesday by the various delegates. Very few are at present breaking even on the expenses of running their houses.

There is no doubt in any student's mind that the bill would have disastrous effects on the fraternities at Vermont. But that is just what many townfolk are eager for, thinking, if fraternity men have no house to live in because of the lack of fraternities, they will find rooms and board with the common householder, much of whose business has been taken away by the fraternities. These are the townspeople whom Mayor-elect Burke is stirring to action in the exemption repeal, while others do not recognize any reason for a higher tax when there might be a little lower one.

Fraternity men are awaiting with eager anticipation the outcome of the Senate's vote. If the bill is passed, there will undoubtedly be much activity on the part of these men to defeat the town vote. While any such action would in all probability result in failure, there is no question but that, if the fraternity supporters had struck and struck quickly during the last town vote, they could have easily aroused enough supporters to defeat the move in its own birthplace. For, if contrary to their proclamation, fraternity backers had swarmed to the polls, the move could have easily been defeated. At that time there were not enough people interested in the matter to poll a large vote, but at the next referendum, with the matter continually on the front page of the newspapers, there will be many more persons who have something to say in regard to the matter.

If the measure does not pass the Senate, there will be much relief among college men. Also there will be a few regrets. With Representative Denny of Northfield asserting that Vermont has not the right to tell towns whether or not they shall tax fraternities or exempt them from taxation, there is bound to be quite a stir in public opinion.

There would be more feeling on the matter if the city of Burlington did ratify the bill according to the "local option" clause. Talk about boycott, rowdyism and general defiance concerning such a ratification has been circulated on the campus. But the only thing that any of these actions would invoke is the widening of the breach in cooperation that already exists between the Vermont students and the city of Burlington. Then again, we doubt very much whether the camupus itself would be unified enough to attempt a mass action of any sort. And it must be remembered that the merchants are interested in retaining the good-will of their customers and are backing the exemption supporters. Any adverse action of the sort we have mentioned would make them suffer the most.

VERMONT'S HEXATHLON

Vermont's hexathlon began last Saturday afternoon, when three of the scheduled events were run off. Since that time there has been much discussion concerning the fairness of one of the events and the system employed in scoring it. In all the fraternity houses in which there were members who took part in the competition to determine the best athlete in college, the question as to whether or not the rope climb is scored fairly has been heatedly debated.

In all other events except the rope climb, the deviation in scores did not reach more than 150 points from the average. But in this particular event, there was a difference of 600 points in some cases. Obviously, there is something wrong. In all fairness to the contestants, and to the object of the hexathlon, it seems that in the case of the rope climb, the system should be somewhat modified.

Although the hexathlon is being run to determine who is the most all-around athlete in college, it consists mainly of track and field events. To eliminate the one sport idea of the contest, the rope climb only was added. If one gymnast's sport was added, why couldn't more be?

In our opinion, there has been too much emphasis placed on the rope climb. Either it should be omitted entirely or a sufficient number of additional events, other than track and field, should be added to neutralize its effects.

Janitor of Williams Science Hall Says Students Are a Good Lot

JANE PARSONS '35

As a group, a bunch of students as [illegible] is what [illegible] A. Donaher, [illegible] of the largest building on [illegible] Williams Science Hall, [illegible] A. V. Mr. Donaher thinks "they are a mighty good clean class of people" he said on a recent interview, adding that the type of college student has improved he thinks to a great extent since the years just following the World War. He likes all the professors, too and they like the students, claim him for a good friend.

Mr. Donaher has been here for twenty years. He came to Burlington in 1892 and has had only five different jobs in the forty-one years. "I like my work" he said "it is home to me now." He is sixty years old, and at one time worked in the mines in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Donaher's day starts at five-thirty in the morning with the stoking of the furnace. Although the average amount of coal burned in Science Hall is said to be 300 tons a year, he conservatively estimates that he has shoveled 5,000 tons in his twenty years here. He must keep up ten pounds of steam from six in the morning until five-thirty at night in order to have the 103 radiators in the building keep the many seekers of scientific knowledge comfortable. A fire is kept from the middle of September until the middle of June. In snowy weather his walks are always shoveled by 7.00 a.m.

Through the day this janitor's duties are varied. He looks after all of the express which comes in. An extra man has charge of the stock. With the help of two students, who work two hours each day, Mr. Donaher washes 103 blackboards and sweeps all of the floors daily. On Saturday his two aides work four hours and the three men clean the building from top to bottom. "There are 104 steps from the basement to the fourth floor," states this caretaker. And who should know better than he! Just how many times his feet have trod those 104 in twenty years nobody knows.

Another of the duties of this very necessary man is to keep the grounds around Science Hall in proper shape and this he does with the most satisfying results. At the present time he is working on a parking space just at the rear of the building which will be ready for use in the spring.

Williams Science Hall was the gift of Edward Higginson Williams and his wife, Cornelia Bailey Williams. Doctor Williams' father, the Honorable Norman Williams of Woodstock, took his degree at this University with the class of 1810. The hall was built during what has been called the building era of the University—1886 to 1901. In this period were erected the Billings Library, Converse Hall, three houses for professors, mechanical engineering plant, extensive farm buildings and Commons Hall. The renewing of Old College also took place at that time. Williams Science Hall was completed in 1896. Its total cost was $140,000, and $60,000 in addition was invested in furnishings and inside equipment.

There are seventy-two rooms in the building, including laboratories, classrooms and offices. There is a dark room on the third floor. On the second floor is a fair-sized library and a second smaller dark room. The large lecture room on this floor has 200 built-in seats and room for 100 extra chairs. It is equipped with dark window screens for the showing of moving pictures.

Considerable research is being done in all the departments of this building, in chemistry, physics and zoology particularly.

In The Good Old Days

From the columns of ancient CYNICS have come some interesting highlights.

November, 1901

TO A DISAPPOINTED LOVER

"Her eyes will lose their light,
Her cheeks their rose;
Her charms will steal away
As summer goes:
On noiseless wing;
For beauty is at best
A fleeting thing.

So drink to her once more,
And then forget,
As others who have lost,
And not won yet.

Your love will lose its sting,
Your pain its edge,
Your passion bind as loosely
As a pledge,
A severed ring.
For youth, itself, is but
A passing thing.

So drink to her once more,
And then forget,
As others who have lost,
And not won yet."

D. E. L.

January, 1902

The new gymnasium will soon be open to students for exercise and to athletic teams for training.

March, 1907

The military department is pleased to announce the arrival of a new and complete set of rifles and equipment for the use of the student battalion.

Boulder Society offers a prize of twenty-five dollars ($25) for an acceptable Vermont song.

March, 1911

Robert Roberts '69, has been elected mayor of Burlington on the Republican ticket.

March, 1922

The state basketball championship was settled March 8 at the Cathedral High School gymnasium when the University of Vermont, in one of the fastest and most interesting games of the year, defeated St. Michael's to the score of 35 to 22.

Kappa Sigma wins the interfraternity Hockey Cup.

About 15 couples attended a house dance at Grasse Mount.

Alpha Chi Omega leads women's fraternities in scholarship and Phi Mu Delta leads the men's.

A one-year moratorium on higher education would be declared in Oklahoma under a resolution State Senator H. P. Daugherty of Chelsea proposes to introduce in the legislature. He said the funds saved by closing the University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma A. and M. College and half the state teachers' colleges and junior colleges would be diverted to the common schools.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS AT MODEL LEAGUE

(Continued from page 1)

March 4" in this country, leading to comments at Geneva that "we begin things and don't carry them through."

The day opened with the council meeting on South American hostilities, William V. Parker of Brown University presiding. An eleven-point program for arbitration and evacuation of the disputed territory was brought forward by the conciliation commission of American neutrals and a plan for an ultimatum and arms embargo by the council subcommittee. The council adopted the proposal of the Irish Free State to try first arbitration, then an embargo, and if both failed to constitute an international police force under a neutral power.

Sir Herbert Ames, who spoke at the University of Vermont on the Polish Corridor last fall, criticized the conduct of the meeting rather than the policies adopted. He also commended the students for their grasp of historical facts and of the attitudes of the various countries. He could find no "glaring faults," but admonished the delegates not to forget the fact that the members of the league council speak not so much to each other as to the world.

After organizing, the assembly broke up into meetings of the Committee on Far Eastern Affairs, the Committee on Technical Organizations Studying Tariffs and Currency, and the Committee on Disarmament. The Committee on Eastern Affairs kept imaginary telegraph wires busy with messages to the Japanese delegation in Paris, the State Department in Washington and elsewhere.

The organization committeee which met following the Saturday afternoon session was not informed as to what college would be able to honor the Model League next year, so no president was elected. Plans will be more definitely formulated in the spring.

The twenty-seven colleges participating in this unique affair are: Albertus Magnus, Amherst, Bates, Boston University, Brown, Clark, Colby, Colby Junior, Connecticut, Harvard, Mt. Holyoke, Pembroke, Pine Manor, Princeton, Radcliffe, Rhode Island State, Rhode Island College of Education, Smith, Springfield, Tufts, University of New Hampshire, University of Vermont, Wellesley, Wesleyan, Wheaton, Williams, and Yale.

This was the fifth annual Model League of Nations assembly and the second, in which the University of Vermont has participated.

God made man
Frail as a bubble.
God made love
Love made trouble.
God made the vine
Was it a sin
That man made wine
To drown that trouble in?
—West Point "Pointer."

Tough: You're a low-down, dirty, spineless, flabby jellyfish, and you know what I'm gonna do to you?

Tuff: What?

Tough: I'm gonna break every bone in your body.—Dirge.

"Say good-bye to the nice lady, son."
"Scram, Moll, scram."—Medley.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Christine Bliss '[illegible] the week-end.

PI BETA PHI

The Pi Phi pledges [illegible] pledges of the other [illegible] day, March 14.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Last week Alpha Xi [illegible] officers. They are [illegible] Jenkins '34, vice-president [illegible] '35; recording secretary, [illegible] '34; treasurer, Daisy [illegible].

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

On Saturday, March [illegible] Chi freshmen entertained [illegible] pledges at a tea from 4 [illegible] Friday, March 10, Mar[illegible] a dinner for the Alpha Chi [illegible].

KAPPA DELTA

Anna Green '34 had a [illegible] Tuesday, March 14 [illegible] Vermont chapter's delegate [illegible] tional convention, which will [illegible] June 26 until July 1 at Bryant [illegible] Hotel at Bemidji, Minn. [illegible] will be given this afternoon [illegible] Greenebowl.

EPSILON SIGMA

On Wednesday, March 8, Mr[illegible]las and Mrs. Adams gave [illegible] bers of Epsilon Sigma a lunch[illegible] at Mrs. Douglas' house [illegible] Street. Beryl and Merilyn B[illegible] in charge of preparations [illegible] be given for the freshmen at [illegible] House on Monday, March 27.

K. E. L.

The freshmen will entertain [illegible] bers on Saturday, March 18, the [illegible] tee in charge consists of Lea[illegible] berg '36 and Gertrude Fishman.

The Catty Co-ed

Dear Sue:

My deah, I would swear that [illegible] London now! Tomorrow I will [illegible] myself in Alaska.

They had a winter carnival [illegible] the other day. Of course I [illegible] ably have won all the events [illegible] couldn't possibly go out in this [illegible] You know what a time I had [illegible] of freckles!

The other day I was in the [illegible] Room at the libe, and what do [illegible] I found in a 1902 CYNIC [illegible] saying that the issue was [illegible] early. Just imagine that! [illegible] Old Days.

You would die to see us [illegible] around the gym. Oh, are we [illegible] Running around in your stock[illegible] waving your arms! I think it's [illegible] foolishness! The worst of it [illegible] men are always running throu[illegible] never did look my best in a g[illegible].

There were about fifty people [illegible] this morning—quite a crowd [illegible] too, and there are over a thou[illegible] dents around the place. I've [illegible] times this year myself.

I had to go to a fraternity [illegible] day night. They're horribly b[illegible] one has to go to keep up one's [illegible] somehow.

We had a math test Tuesday [illegible] have time to study for it [illegible] don't seem to be interested in [illegible] more. Perhaps because I [illegible] around to go to class.

Oh! We had our sorority pic[illegible] for the Ariel, and they made [illegible] school dress! I shall postiv[illegible] when I see that picture in pri[illegible].

I have to go to the libe [illegible] every night now. Student Un[illegible] let us go out to eat, so what else [illegible] do? I suppose I really sho[illegible] some this half for the honor of [illegible] ville.

I bought a smooth dress to[illegible] formal, and then the man who [illegible] ing me said the fraternity had [illegible] have an informal. I broke the [illegible] bet. Imagine him thinking I [illegible] just the same. Of all the ne[illegible] men have!!

BETTY C[illegible]

VERMONT DELEGATI[illegible] AT TAXATION HE[illegible]

(Continued from page

fraternities had a bad moral [illegible] and showed that the scholast[illegible] of fraternity men is higher th[illegible] non-fraternity men. He point[illegible] there was a larger percentage [illegible] ties at Vermont than anywhe[illegible] the country. Loudon spoke [illegible] played by fraternities in colleg[illegible] education.

The Vermont fraternities [illegible] were: Delta Psi, L. E. Reed [illegible] Beckley '34; Lambda Iota, S[illegible] '33, F. B. Drew '33; Phi De[illegible] H. M. Loudon '33, G. M. [illegible] Kappa Sigma, K. D. Spaulding [illegible] Brown '33; Phi Mu Delta [illegible] '33; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, G[illegible] Kenzie '33, D. C. Worcester [illegible].

A Senate vote is expected [illegible] issue. The vote will probably [illegible] as several Senators are already [illegible] aligned on both sides, while t[illegible] of a few is yet unknown.

SPORTS NEWS

ANNUAL HEXATHLON TO BE FINISHED TOMORROW AND TROPHY PRESENTED

Andress '36 Now Leads With 3,152.42 Points and Caracciolo '35 Second

BROAD JUMP, SHOT PUT, AND MILE RUN TOMORROW

Saturday afternoon, March 18, will see the best all round athlete of the University crowned when the final events of the first annual Hexathlon will be completed and the Donahue trophy awarded to the winner. Thus far a freshman leads the field with a grand total of 3152.42 points for the first three of six events. Phil Andress '36 of Newton, Mass., holds a lead of 130 points over his nearest rival, Scratch Caracciolo '35, of Hartford, Conn.

The events to be completed on Saturday are the broad jump, the shot put and the mile run.

The mile run equals 1,000 points at a mean of 5 minutes, 30 seconds. For each second over the mean the entrant loses 3.03 points and gains that many points for each second that he clips off the mean.

The shot put equals 1,000 points with a mean of 30 feet. For each inch over or under the mean the entrant gains or loses 2.78 points.

The broad jump also equals 1,000 points with a mean of 17 feet and the entrant may gain or lose 4.63 points in the event for each inch over or below the mean.

Andress should show up well in the mile and broad jump, but Scratch can probably take him over in the shot put. However, there are others who may take enough points Saturday to be seriously considered. J. Delfausse, Chris Meligonis, Julie Jezukawicz and Dusty White all showed up well in the previous events and with them in the running we are making no more predictions.

MEN'S RIFLE TEAM TO GO TO McGILL

The University of Vermont rifle team will travel to Montreal Saturday, March 18, to fire a shoulder-to-shoulder match against McGill University. This will close the season for the local team. The match will be between five-man teams, shooting 20 shots, two targets, from prone position.

Last week Vermont shot its National Rifle Association match against Norwich, turning in an unofficial score of 1,333, subject to revision by the Association which is now checking the targets. Norwich has twice defeated Vermont in shoulder-to-shoulder matches by less than 25 points. Individual scores in the N. R. A. match were: J. W. Hopkinson, Derby, 273; H. J. Sheldon, Fair Haven, 272; W. J. Burke, Rutland, 266; F. B. Williams, Montpelier, 262; R. H. Treadway, Burlington, 261.

HAVE YOU "RAIDED"
THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

SENIORS BEAT JUNIORS IN CO-ED BASKETBALL

To a score of 18-11, the seniors defeated the juniors Tuesday afternoon in a hard-fought game.

The line-up was as follows:

Seniors		Juniors
Petras	f	Scutakes
Miller	f	Harris
Lunna	c	Horak
M. Urie	c	Hogg
Nichols	g	I. M. Goodrich
F. Urie	g	Johnstone

Referees: Blanchard and Hard.
Timer: H. Gray.

COMPETITION IN RELAYS BETWEEN FRATERNITIES STARTED ON WEDNESDAY

Phi Delta Theta Defeats Delta Psi and Sigma Phi Defeats Alpha Tau Omega

The first round of the interfraternity relay races was run Wednesday afternoon in the gym at 4.30 p.m. Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Phi emerged victorious from closely fought contests.

The first race between Phi Delta Theta and Delta Psi was won by the former in the time of 2 minutes, 56 seconds. For Delta Psi, Cass, Simonds, Woodruff and Palmer, composed the team. The winners were Suitor, Utley, Symes and Grant.

The second race between Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Phi, won by the latter, was done in slightly slower time of 3 minutes and 1 second. Sigma Phi entered Ranslow, Crane, M. Jones and Connor; A. T. O., Blakey, Burke, Williams and Lanahan. This race, although slower than the first, was decided in the last lap and it was anybody's race when the men rounded the final curve.

Friday afternoon Sigma Alpha Epsilon meets Lambda Iota in the second round of the annual tournament. The S. A. E.'s will probably use Jezukawicz, Warren, Twitchell and Walters. Lambda Iota, Andress, Ruhmshottel, White and Bellows. The Kappa Sigs meet the Phi Mu Delts.

WOMEN'S GYM NOTES

On Wednesday, the Regal Bowling Alleys allowed one string free to every girl who had never bowled. Student instructors in charge were Vera Chadburn, P. G., Elizabeth Beckvold '35, Susan France '35, Harriet Gray '36, Frances Thomas '33, and Lois Whitcomb '35.

W. A. A. has added the names of five more freshman women to its honor list. They are: Teresa Fayette of Burlington, Edna Leach of Enosburg Falls, Christine Noble of Windsor, Helen Skerry of St. Johnsbury, and Lorraine Spaulding of Burlington.

There is a notice in the Y room for girls interested in the ping-pong tournament to sign.

Election of officers will take place next week.

Editor: My boy, your punctuation and grammar are something fierce.

Literary Aspirant: Then there is no hope for me?

Editor: Sure there is; try dialect stories.

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY CO-ED RIFLE TEAM WINS TWO MATCHES OF U. V. M.

Close Contest Decided by the Eighth Target Shot by the Teams

ESTHER SMITH WINS SECOND PLACE

University of Washington women sharpshooters barred the way of the University of Vermont riflewomen to a perfect record by the narrowest of margins in two contests, the results of which were made known today. Previously undefeated and untied in four weeks of competition, the Vermont lasses lost their team match to Washington on the eighth target. According to schedule, the best five targets out of the ten shot were to count, but both teams turned in perfect 500's. The sixth and seventh places for both universities were also 100's. Washington's eighth place girl shot a 100 while Vermont's eighth score was a 99. This decided the match. Washington's ten contestants fired eight perfect targets and two 99's. Vermont's ten fired seven perfect targets, a 99 and two 98's.

The other hair's breadth victory of Washington over Vermont was in the women's individual intercollegiate championship in which Miss Esther S. Smith of Lyndonville, manager of the U. V. M. team, tied with Miss Harriet Woodward of Washington with a score of 599 out of a possible 600. In inspecting the targets to break the tie in accordance with National Rifle Association rules, the Washington girl's target were judged a shade nearer perfect than the Vermont girl's. Last year's champion, Irene Knox of Maryland, who won with a 599, scored a 596 this year to take fifth place. Two other Vermont girls placed in the first ten and will receive bronze medals, Lenda Walker of Chelsea and Ethel Bishop of Springfield, who placed ninth and tenth, respectively, with scores of 591.

Forty-six girls entered the contest from seven colleges, including the entire Vermont squad of 20. Washington and George Washington entered 7 each, Oklahoma 5, Maryland 4, Carnegie Tech and Missouri 1 each. Other Vermonters placing in the upper half of the field were Helen Allen, Burlington, 590; Katharine Worthen, Springfield, Mass., and Frances Thomas, Jeffersonville, 584; and Marion Urie, Craftsbury Common, 581.

Perfect team scores of 500 were again turned in by Vermont last week in its fifth consecutive week of competition. The four girls who haven't missed the bull's eye in an intercollegiate team match this season maintained their records. They are Esther Smith, Lyndonville; Ethel Bishop and Daisy Putnam, Springfield, Vt; and Frances Thomas, Jeffersonville.

The Vermont scores were: Against Washington University of St. Louis, Mo., Misses Smith, Bishop, Thomas, Putnam, Esther Sinclair, Essex Junction; and Janet Dodds, Burlington, all 100. Helen Allen, Burlington and Lenda Walker, Chelsea, 99; Mildred Vosburgh, South Burlington, 98; Medora Kendall, Newport, 97.

Against University of Tennessee, Misses Smith, Bishop, Putnam, Thomas, Dodds, Genevieve Hutchins, Tupper Lake, N. Y.; Marion Urie, Craftsbury Common and Katharine Worthen, Springfield, Mass., 100; Allen and Walker, 99.

Against University of Idaho, Misses Smith, Bishop, Thomas, Urie, Worthen, Sinclair, and Helen Miller, Danvers, Mass., 100; Mary Poling, Hillsboro, N. H., 99; Kendall, 97 and Katherine LeBaron, Morrisville, 96.

"Help your wife," says the Good Housekeeping, "when she mops up the floor, mop up the floor with her."—Siren.

NEW TOPCOATS!
Styles Especially Adapted for Younger Men!
$16.50
NEW HATS
$2.95 to $5.00
New Shirts
$1.50
Miles & Perry Co.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Since 1898

COACH J. H. BURKE

COACH LARRY GARDNER CUTS BASEALL SQUAD TO TWENTY-FIVE MEN

Starts Intensive Preparation for the Southern Trip

A smaller squad reported to Coach Larry Gardner Tuesday night in the cage. The coach had cut the squad to the usual twenty-five men, and these boys showed plenty of enthusiasm beside displaying the form expected of them. They're getting down to real hard work in preparation for the first game of the southern trip which is only a few weeks away.

The pitching staff were beginning to fall into the real swing of things with Ed Layden, Ed Swartz, Garrett, Beckley, Farmer and Spicer. Ed Layden looks good and he certainly has had plenty of experience. Swartz and Garrett of last year's frosh team look good too. Farmer and Spicer are having some difficulty with their arms but are expected to pull around.

Larry Bowers, Gorden Sheehe and Skinner behind the plate, didn't see much of the ball after batting practice started. The boys were right on their toes and hitting more than consistently. The coach seemed well satisfied with the way things were going.

The infielders went into their practice with a burst of pep and chatter. They were tossing the ball around with a snap and ease that makes things look complicated for choice of four men.

The coach remarked, "This is the first night that the pitchers have tried curving the ball and they look fine. It is also the first time that the boys have hit as consistently as they have. With the amount of enthusiasm shown and the squad working as smoothly as this, I can feel confident."

The picked squad that is still out include Roly Delfausse, Dutch McKay, Cogswell, Bowers, Collins, Burns, Swartz, Buster Garrett, Rubino, Talbert, Macomber, Spicer, Bent, Farmer, Sheehe, Skinner, Beckley, Layden, Whitey Palmer, Lanahan, Taft, Ramon, Pires, Collins and Rapuano.

Miss Slater: Are you living in the handsome house left you by your aunt, Colonel—the house you went to law about?

Colonel: No, my lawyer resides there.

"Help your wife," says the Good Housekeeping, "when she mops up the floor, mop up the floor with her."—Siren.

WHITEY PALMER LEADS SCORING AS TEAM WINS SIX OUT OF FOURTEEN

Scores 76 Points During Season, Taft and Morgan Have 57 and Layden 56

Whitey Palmer led the team in scoring during the past season gathering 76 points as the team won six games out of fourteen and won the State title.

Coach Burke is due a great deal of the credit of taking a team that did not know his system and winning the State title.

The season started with high hopes, only Metcalf with a strong team won its first victory in Burlington 37-34. Next St. Lawrence, with as good a team as was in Burlington, this year won easily 38-15.

The fighting Catamount was not daunted and came back strong to hold Dartmouth to a one-basket victory. Then in the first series clash they crashed through with a one point win in an overtime game from St. Michael's.

On the trip the team won from New Hampshire by two points and lost to Harvard by four. St. Mike's then won a hard-played game.

On the second trip the Catamounts trounced the Cadets and lost to both Springfield and Massachusetts State.

They were now on the home stretch and with Ed Layden and Chet Taft playing forwards they licked Middlebury there, lost to a bunch of sharpshooters from Union by one point and then easily took Norwich and Middlebury in stride in games here at Burlington.

During the year foul shooting has been stressed and shows in the number of points gained thereby. Chet Taft scored more points from the foul line than from the floor.

Ed Layden was the sensational star, scoring 56 points in the seven games he played.

The schedule:

	Vt.	Opp.
McGill	24	32
St. Lawrence	15	38
Dartmouth	27	29
St. Michael's	39	38
New Hampshire	27	25
Harvard	18	23
St. Michael's	22	26
Norwich	22	14
Springfield	13	37
Massachusetts State	25	36
Middlebury	33	29
Union	33	34
Norwich	33	20
Middlebury	37	20
Totals	368	401

The individual records of the players follow. We see that Vermont scored 368 points to her opponents' 401. But in the Conference games she scored 186 to her opponents' 137.

	Gms.	Gls.	Fls.	Tot.
Palmer, g.	14	29	18	76
Taft, f., g.	14	14	29	57
Morgan, c.	13	16	25	57
Layden, f.	7	21	14	56
Beckley, g., c.	14	18	7	43
Sowka, g.	13	11	8	30
Pires, f.	10	7	4	18
Ramon, f.	12	7	1	15
Grant, f.	12	3	5	11
Green, f., c.	4	2	1	5
Totals	128	112	368

"Any old beer bottles to sell, lady?"
"Do I look as if I drank beer?"
"Any old vinegar bottles, lady?"—Masquerader.

Mother is the name of God in the lips and hearts of little children.—Thackeray.

TO GRADUATES
of the
Two-Year Teacher Training Course
An order for a CAP and GOWN placed before the Easter Recess—with a deposit of $2.00—will also buy for you 15 INVITATIONS OR ANNOUNCEMENTS or any combination of these that you may desire.
A refund of 50c will be made if the Cap and Gown are returned on Commencement Monday.
Place your orders at the
UNIVERSITY STORE OFFICE

PLAID IS THE THING
Glen Plaid Slacks $5.00
Plaid Shirts $2.50
Plaid Neckwear 50c to $1.00
Glen Plaid Suits $25 and up
HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

Vermont Fraternities

[illegible] was founded at Union College [illegible] It is next to the oldest Greek-letter fraternity and was the first to establish a chapter [illegible]

The founding of Vermont was the outgrowth of the founding [illegible] of a small group of students attracted by its literary and [illegible] These discussions among themselves the advantages of the [illegible] were set up by the Greek letter societies which had developed in other eastern colleges. After a considerable period of agitation the Alpha and Sigma Phi gave visible evidence of the questions and aims that were current in their day. They petitioned for a charter which was granted in 1848.

During the early life the chapter met in private rooms but within two years permanent quarters were secured. In 1849 larger rooms were rented in the building of the Commercial Bank whose site the Burlington Trust Company later occupied for many years and there for thirty years the Alpha made her home. In 1905 an energetic campaign was started to raise funds for a modern chapter house and six years later the task was completed. In 1902 the corner stone of the present house was laid and in April of the following year the building was completed. At Commencement it was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies with a large attendance of active and alumni brothers. Five years later the mortgage was triumphantly burned by Henry I. Ward. The land for the house was given to the chapter by Mrs. L. C. R. Spear of Burlington and the generous contributions of Vermont Sigs provided the building.

Although Sigma Phi was the first to become a national, in the matter of extension it has exhibited an intense conservatism now having only few chapters.

NOTE: This is one of a series of articles on the history of fraternities at Vermont.

Frances Frost Reads Her Poetry To Class

Is on an Eastern Reading Tour at Present

All the two o'clock English I sections met Tuesday afternoon in North College to hear Miss Frances Frost '31, Vermont poet, read from her own works. Miss Frost graduated from the University of Vermont in 1931 and since has been writing extensively, gaining wide recognition. She stopped in Burlington on a reading tour of the East. She recently spoke to readings in Boston, and is going on to New York to lecture before the Poetry Society of America. She has returned from Florida where she spent some time.

Besides poetry Miss Frost writes prose, especially short stories. Her three books of poetry already published are "Hemlock Wall," "Blue Harvest," and "Three Acres," and another will be ready this fall.

Miss Frost read from several of her short poems, including "Language," "Escape," "Ice," and "Voice for an April Dusk." The following is an excerpt from "Language," one of her popular poems featuring Vermont:

"This is a country of little rivers—
Dog river, Mississquoi, Otter creek—
Shining villages with gold at sunset,
Leaping trout with silver on yellow afternoons,
Putting them to sleep with cloud-purple and mountain-purple at dusk."

A grindstone under apple trees by a white house,
Old wagons under apple trees by a deserted barn
A scythe hung in the low crotch of an apple tree east of a rocky hill—
These are the stunted speech of a country
Slow to live and equally slow to die.

A selection from "Voice for an April Dusk," one of her most expressive poems, follows, showing its sheer word melody and beauty:

"The breast of earth. O out of frozen pain
Out of the ice passion of these hills
Where tall pines cracked beneath the heavy cold
And maple woods ran naked to the sky,
These have descended many voices crying.
These have descended emerald waters crying
To the deep and furrowed valleys of the spring."

IMPORTED ART PRINTS TRAVEL IN CONNECTICUT

The exhibition of imported prints of French Art belonging to the Fleming Museum of the University of Vermont, which was shown last year as a traveling exhibit in the schools of the state, has been traveling recently through Connecticut. It was at Yale University a month and is now at the Slater Museum, Norwich, Conn. Connecticut is said to have expressed a desire to keep the exhibit another year, and other states are also said to wish to borrow it.

He was only sixteen, yet he had Pink Razor Blades.—Sun Dial.

ETA SIGMA PHI TO INITIATE NEW MEMBERS

To Hold Meeting Soon for Initiation of Members and Installation of Officers

Eta Sigma Phi, the University's Greek society, is planning to hold a meeting soon for the installation of officers and the initiation of new members.

The new members, Natalie Carleton '33 told the CYNIC, are K. L. Raymond '35, Margaret Nugent '35, C. I. Keelan '35, and Constance Calkins '35.

The recently elected officers are: President, Natalie Carleton; vice-president, Leah Gowen '33; secretary, Joyce Young '34; treasurer, Hugh Wilson '34; corresponding secretary, Ruth Reynolds '34; doorkeeper, Ida Saiger '34; song leader, Helen Bellows '35.

UNIVERSITY GETS ART TEACHING EQUIPMENT

(Continued from page 1)

In the set of 1,800 reproductions of great works of art, about one-quarter are in color. They have been taken from the best collections of reproductions in the world where possible; where subjects wanted have not existed in reproduction, special reproductions have been made. The photographs vary in size from eight by ten inches to sixteen by twenty inches, and are uniformly mounted with labels giving the artist, the setting of the work as to school and technique, something of the life of the artist, and why the particular painting is distinguished.

The second unit, of fifty original prints, shows the different processes of print making and the work of different periods and notable men. They begin with Burgmaier and Wolgemut in the fifteenth century, cover the wood-blocks of the sixteenth century and the engravings of later times. Among the artists represented are Urs Graf, Durer, Hans Schaufelin, Goya, Daumier, Richard Earlom, Delacroix, Meryon, Raffet, Corot, Manet, Turner and Whistler.

Third, the collection of textiles, dating from antiquity to the present, was chosen to illustrate design, color, geography, period and technique. Represented here are pieces of primitive Congo weave, Indian kinkob and embroidery, Cashmere weave, Peruvian and Central American fabrics, Near Eastern rugs, Greek embroideries, Morocco embroideries, sixteenth century velvets, French velvets and brocades, Russian weave, English cotton prints, Paisley shawls and modern printed silks.

The collection of 500 books was selected to constitute a good working library in the history of art and the analysis of all the arts, including decoration and the decor of the theatre. The art book shops of the world were combed to get copies of each work, some of which are rare.

The only condition laid down by the Carnegie Corporation in making the gift is that "the college use the material for teaching and set aside a suitable room for the collection and use it as a center of art activities in the college."

Frederick P. Keppel, president of the Carnegie Corporation, has made the following statement concerning the collections and their objects:

"While the immediate usefulness of the collections will be to the teachers and students of the institutions to which they have been sent, it is believed they will serve a broader purpose in setting a reasonable standard for teaching equipment throughout the country. . . . The present collections are far from perfect, but at least they are based upon competent group judgment and have had the benefit of special services upon which no single institution could call, and it is believed that they have demonstrated that a representative collection of material can be brought together at a small cost."

It is expected that the collection will arrive at the University within a few weeks. Upon receipt of the collection the museum authorities and art department assistants will make arrangements for a public showing at the earliest opportunity, before it is used for specific teaching purposes.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT TO HAVE AN ACTIVE TWO WEEKS

Hexathlon, Interfraternity Relays and Track, Basketball Game and Varsity Practice

The past week has been a very busy one in the gymnasium. The University [illegible] which is to be an annual event, started on Saturday after noon, March 11. The interfraternity track meet got under way Wednesday, March 15. A series of intramural basketball games between the physical education classes began Monday, March 13.

The Hexathlon is dedicated to the late Prof. James L. Donahue, who was intensely interested in athletics at Vermont, and who was at the time of his death chairman of the Athletic Council. Its purpose is to decide who is the best all-around athlete at U. V. M. The six events in which the competition will take place are the rope climb, the 110-yd. dash, the high jump, the mile run, the broad jump, and the shot put. The contestants will be marked on a point basis. The first three of these events, the rope climb, the 110-yd. dash and the high jump were staged Saturday, March 11. The four high men, with their corresponding number of points are as follows: 1—Andress, 3152.42. 2—Caracciolo, 3021.54. 3—Jezukawicz, 3009.77. 4—Willis, 3001.19.

The last three of the events will be run off Saturday, March 18. The winner of the Hexathlon will be presented with a permanent trophy.

The interfraternity track meet began March 15 with the relays. The various track events will follow. All of the fraternities are represented by strong teams. It is said that the "independents" will enter a strong team this year. The winner for the last two years has been Kappa Sigma, but this year a close fight is expected.

The basketball games between Archie Post's and Bump Levin's physical education classes will continue for awhile. Coach Burke said that he thinks it is a good idea and wishes that it had been started last semester.

Candidates for both varsity and freshman track and baseball teams have been working out every afternoon.

Falls Feature The Wrestling Tourney

Segur and Lyford are the Stars of Wednesday's Exhibition

Falls again featured the wrestling bouts held at the gym last Wednesday at four o'clock. All the bouts were good, but the exhibition match between Segur and Lyford was by far the best. It is seldom that we see two as finished wrestlers in college competition.

125-lb. class—Crandall threw White in 8 min., 40 sec.

135-lb. class—Shele threw Levin in 2 min., 40 sec.

145-lb. class—Hale threw Klaban in 6 min., 2 sec.

158-lb. class—Miller threw Ludwig in 9 min., 45 sec. Varricchione threw Gregg in 1 min., 5 sec.

175-lb. class—Fineburg threw Kelly in 2 min., 30 sec.

Unlimited—Beardsley won a time advantage of 2 min., 25 sec. over Rome.

After the bouts were over several exhibition bouts were arranged. Perry and Clough boxed. Cardone and Bushey, Varricchione and Caracciolo also. Segur threw Lyford in a first-class wrestling exhibition that was easily the class of the show.

A Student-at-Large

A certain military student at Vermont, finding it inconvenient to sit in class in wet pants last Wednesday morning, took the offending pair off and let them dry on the radiator for an hour.

ARIEL EDITOR REPORTS SATISFACTORY PROGRESS

A [illegible] returning to Burlington yesterday from a week-end spent at the plant of the Howard-Wesson Engraving Co. in Worcester, Mass., Chester B. Eaton, editor of the 1934 Ariel, announced that work on the book is progressing satisfactorily and that the volume will appear this spring unless an unforeseen delay should interrupt some phase of its production.

The balance of the organization, athletic, and fraternity copy is due at the Free Press Printing Company this week and it will require a high degree of co-operation to keep production up to schedule.

Catherine Durick '34 has assumed the duties of Elvira Farman, women's editor, who is convalescing at the Mary Fletcher Hospital following an operation last week. Anyone who has any question relative to the women's section of the Ariel should refer such questions to Miss Durick.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION TODAY AND TOMORROW

(Continued from page 1)

and the Committee on College Admission of the Vermont Headmasters' Club will address the Secondary School Conference; this will be followed by a discussion period.

Two other sections will be added to the afternoon conference, i.e., the Primary Conference, and the Intermediate School Conference. Mrs. Nelle Adams of the University of Vermont, Miss Florence Fisher of the Ira Allen School, and Professor Betzner will speak at the afternoon gathering of the Primary Conference; the Intermediate School Conference will hear Professor Mossman, and Miss Catherine Cartier of the Pomeroy School.

At 3.15 p.m. round-table discussions will be held. The teachers of Commercial Subjects will be under the leadership of Professor Catherine Nulty of the University; the teachers of English with Prof. Frederick Tupper of the University; the teachers of Latin with Prof. Lester Prindle of the University; the teachers of Mathematics with Dean Elijah Swift of the University; the teachers of Modern Languages with Prof. A. B. Myrick of the University; the teachers of Home Economics with Miss Elida Fairbanks of the University, Miss Marianne Muse, Research Specialist, and Miss Marjorie Luce, State Home Demonstration Agent.

This evening two banquets, for the Vermont Women Teachers' Association and the Vermont Schoolmasters' Club will be held at the Hotel Vermont. The closing sessions will be held tomorrow.

Art exhibits showing the work done by the Burlington schools, the art classes at the University, the special classes in the Burlington schools and of the work of the class in special methods at the University will be shown in the High School Building; in addition to this an exhibition of fifty pictures appropriate for schools have been loaned by the American Federation of Art at Washington, D. C.

TELEPHONE 1613
Star Restaurant
Chinese and American Food
144 Church Street Burlington, Vt.

DIAMOND ENGAGEMENT RINGS

If you appreciate real fine Diamonds and wish to know and see exactly what you are purchasing you will be interested in our large display of fine Diamonds.

As an engagement ring is a lifelong gift and one that is most cherished it is well to select a perfect Diamond and to have a stylish mounting of Platinum of Gold.

It will be a pleasure to show you our Diamonds

F. J. Preston & Son
INCORPORATED
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

FORTY-TWO MEN GET RIFLE MEDALS FOR THEIR GOOD SHOOTI

Members of Senior, Junior, [illegible] Freshman Classes Qualify f[illegible] Medals

Col. Frederick [illegible] department of the [illegible] leased the list of [illegible] qualified in rifle [illegible] military course. All [illegible] advanced years of [illegible] required to try out [illegible] manship. The following [illegible] second-year advanced [illegible]

As expert rifleman [illegible] Gordon '33, 334.

As sharpshooter small-bore: [illegible] Powell '34, 316.

The following juniors, members [illegible] first-year advanced course [illegible]

As expert rifleman small-bore: Connelly, 343; R. M. [illegible] G. L. Davis, 339; R. H. [illegible] F. H. Spear, 338; D. P. [illegible] A. C. Pond, 337; L. E. Davis, [illegible] Bennett, 335; C. J. Libby, 335; [illegible] 334; S. Pierce, 332; M. D. Howe, W. N. Coburn, 330; D. W. [illegible] W. A. Ross, 330; F. O. Walker.

As sharpshooter small-bore: [illegible] Cass, 327; C. H. Drown, 32[illegible] Morgan, 316; W. J. Ryan, 316.

As marksman small-bore: P. F. [illegible] 276.

The members of the basic course in the military training are given a course in rifle marksmanship. After has been completed, those showing cial ability are allowed to shoot the marksmanship qualification course. freshmen who qualified are:

As expert rifleman small-bore: White, 343; P. M. Andress, 340; [illegible] Gibson, 338; A. C. Werner, 337; Dickinson, 335; H. L. Martin, C. H. Buchanan, 334; J. H. Naylor, L. J. Leavens, 333; J. A. Tasker, F. J. Nuissl, 332; W. W. Wait, 332; J. A. Dodds, 330; H. L. Gray, J. H. Montgomery, 330; J. S. [illegible] 330.

As sharpshooter small-bore: George, 325; E. R. Greenmore, 32[illegible]

Something like a parcel post was working, the parcels being letters in form of bricks, in the Babylon of years ago.

FRENCH SUMM[illegible] SCHO[illegible]
Residential Summer Sc[illegible] (co-educational) in heart of French Canada. Country French staff. French spoken. Elemen[illegible] Intermediate, Advanced. tificate or College Credit. Fr[illegible] entertainments, sight-seeing, sp[illegible] etc.
Fee $150, Board and Tuition. Jun[illegible] July 29. Write for circular to S[illegible] tary Residential French Sum[illegible] School
McGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHO[illegible]
102A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZ[illegible]

DECORATIONS
•
PARTY FAVORS
•
NOISEMAKERS
•
For Your Dances!
•
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts. Pho[illegible]

BOSTONIANS Shoes for Men
$5.00
BROWN-BUK
MON-DAC
Oxfords for Men
B. J. BOYNTON
65 Church St.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 1933 | NUMBER 43

Civilization Will Attain What It Aims For Says Douglas At Vespers

Present Economic Conditions are Only a Milestone in Progress to New World Situation

SOCIAL STRUCTURE IS IN PROCESS OF CHANGE

People usually get what they ask for, and read what they seek," asserted Rev. [illegible] C. Douglas, D.D., of Montreal, in the address at the vesper service conducted at the Ira Allen Chapel last Sunday March 19. He took for his text verses seven and eight of Matthew, seventh chapter: "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you."

In illustrating his statement, Reverend Douglas showed that mankind's advance has been wholly toward an earthly paradise. He started with Adam's fall from grace and from his perfect enjoyment of Eden and a worthless existence, and showed that man has ever since attempted to regain that perfect habitation, a non-working world. Great strides have been made in modern inventions and conveniences among which cranes, machines, steam shovels and electricity. All these things, he said, have brought unemployment and economic problems, but have, nevertheless, all a part in recovering that paradise. Here he asserted: "It is not a loss we are now in, but an important milestone on the road we are traveling."

Along with the striving for paradise is the search for liberty. "All present trends are inevitable because the present generation is finding what it seeks. It is returning the social orchestra for a better symphony," was his apt description. "One liberty we seek is freedom from old superstitions. The wide revolt today against all former holiness is to be expected in the search for spiritual liberty."

"To every man openeth a high way and a low: it is for the man to choose. And when he does, he shall find what he seeks and get what he asks for. So let him take care what he decides to seek.

Reverend Douglas was born and received his education in the middle west, where

(Continued on page 3)

S. K. RATCLIFFE TO SPEAK ON "ENGLAND IN CRISIS AND RENEWAL" TONIGHT

Speaker is One of Leading Authorities on Anglo-American Problems

S. K. Ratcliffe of London who delivers a University Lecture on "England in Crisis and Renewal" at the University of Vermont this evening is generally regarded as one of the leading authorities on the problems of England and the British Empire. He has been personally associated with the Prime Mimster, Ramsay MacDonald, since the days when MacDonald was winning his spurs in labor life.

He is visiting America this year as a special correspondent of The London Observer and also to gather material for a volume on the United States which is one of an important Modern World Series dealing in separate volumes with the several nations of the world today. His wide and intimate knowledge of this country brought him the honor of delivering an English radio address in 1930 in connection with the Massachusetts Tercentenary. This address was broadcast by the Columbia network throughout the United States as well as in England.

Mr. Ratcliffe's announced lecture upon "England in Crisis and Renewal" is likely to be a significant contribution to our understanding of one of the great international problems of the day and of the next generation, says Professor Gifford, Chairman of the Committee on University Lectures. Cordial understanding and effective cooperation between England and America would make possible the exercise of Anglo-American influence so as to stabilize and elevate international relations in the world's family of nations. A clearer understanding of England's peculiar perplexities and problems, and of English plans and policies for accommodation to a new and changing world, should help us in America to determine upon ways and means of effective and friendly cooperation with England.

Health Week Will Be Featured By Four Afternoon Conferences

Other Events Will Be a Tea This Afternoon at Theta House and a Mass Meeting of All University Women, Thursday, March 23

MISS NULTY TO SPEAK AT THE MASS MEETING

The health week program is underway. The first of a [illegible] program was held yesterday noon from noon until six in the afternoon in the gymnasium office when Miss Florence Bailey of the Home Economics department was present to help any girl who might desire it with diet problems. This afternoon the Health Council will entertain at the Kappa Alpha Theta house on South Prospect Street at a tea from four until six p.m. At four thirty Miss Sara Hubbard, who is an authority on her subject will give a short talk on "Present Problems A Challenge to Personality Development." Everyone is cordially invited to be present.

On Wednesday afternoon Dr. Katherine McSweeney will be in the women's gymnasium office at four o'clock to consult with any girl who is interested. As a feature of health week there will be no charge for this service. It is hoped that the convenient location of the gym office and the time will attract all girls with any personal health problem.

Thursday afternoon, Miss Cummings will be in her office prepared to help any girl, especially those from the junior and senior classes, with posture problems, or other health difficulties.

In connection with health week, the council is sponsoring a contest in which every girl who has an interest in any topic relative to health the Health Council, etc., is asked to submit a set of suggestions for raising the individual health standards on campus. Entrants are urged to consider living conditions, food and study habits, sleep, etc., as well as the larger issues involved.

Two dollars is offered as a prize for the best set of suggestions. All papers must be put in the box on the door of the gymnasium office or handed to a member of the Health Council before two o'clock on Wednesday.

Voting for the posture queen, that will

KATHERINE TILLMAN '33
Chairman of the Health Council who has the best carriage on the campus, took place yesterday and today. The winner will be announced at the mass meeting Tuesday night, and at that time she will be presented with a statue of the Winged Victory. At the meeting Miss Florence Maddock of the State Y. W. C. A. will give a short talk, the nature of which is not available for publication.

The Health Council is very anxious that students cooperate with its program, especially in regard to the four afternoon features. Each of these women is an authority in her field and very real help may be obtained from them.

[illegible]

Sylvia Boyd '33 Is Recipient Of Scholarship To Grenoble

Sylvia Boyd '33 of West Newton, Mass., has received word from the Institute of International Education in New York that she has been awarded a scholarship for study at the University of Grenoble in France. The award has been made in connection with a similar award which will be received by a French student, who will enroll as a student at the University of Vermont for the college year 1933-34. The French student who has been enrolled at the University this year is Mlle Francoise Duchesne of Paris, France. She has taken courses in English, psychology, and political science during her stay at Vermont, and has made her home at Slade Hall. Arrangements have been made by the University of Vermont in connection with the Institute of International Education for an exchange of this sort to be made every year.

To the Cynic reporter, Miss Boyd said, "I feel that it is a very great honor that the University of Vermont has conferred on me, and I intend that in return for such an honor I shall [illegible] by putting forth the greatest effort on my power to improve the opportunity that I have been given."

She further said, that Miss Boyd's field purpose is a continuation of that which she has taken up during her college course; she will do advanced work in Latin which will count toward a doctor's degree. She will leave for the University of Grenoble some time in the middle of next September, about a month before the opening date of the French universities, which is during the month of November. The academic year in France lasts about eight months, from November 3 until July 15.

Miss Boyd, a member of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority, has been extremely active in campus affairs during her college course. She has been a member of Eta Sigma Phi for all four years; when she was a sophomore, she played in the class baseball games; she was a member of Dramatic Club in her sophomore year, and she has belonged to Masque and Sandal during her junior and senior years; she had parts in the college plays "To Have the Honor," "She Stoops to Conquer," "Hedda Gabler," and the Poly Junior Week play, "Hay Fever," as well

(Continued on page 4)

WIG AND BUSKIN HOLDS INITIATION BANQUET

Members and initiates of Wig and Buskin, men's honorary dramatic society, met on Thursday afternoon, March 16, at 5.30 p.m. in the Delta Psi house where initiations and elections of new officers were held. The following officers were elected: President, S. Pierce '34, secretary-treasurer, C. J. Libby '34; business managers, A. A. Ross '34 and D. J. Tobin '34, stage and property manager, D. W. Jenks '34.

The retiring officers are: President, W. W. Perry '33; vice-president, C. J. Libby '34, business manager G. M. McKenzie '34.

After the elections the initiates who had worn tuxedoes and masks all day marched in squad formation to the Hotel Vermont and were directed from the sidewalk by the members.

At the hotel a banquet was held and Professor Tupper head of the English department and Prof. F. H. Merrill head of the psychology department were the speakers.

Professor Tupper commented concerning his experiences in watching University dramatics for the past thirty years.

Professor Merrill has directed many of the later University Players dramatic productions up to this fall.

The newly elected members are: H. H. Abbott '35, F. M. Bellows Jr. '35, D. J. Tobin '34, P. M. Andress '35, D. W. Jenks '34, C. P. Dorsey '35, E. D. B. Kane '36, A. A. Ross '34, S. K. Carter '33.

JOHNSON RECEIVES PH.D. DEGREE FROM ILLINOIS

Prof. Rozelle Parker Johnson, assistant professor of Latin at the University of Vermont, received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the classics from the University of Illinois in February, and copies of his dissertation in abstract are now being distributed by the Illinois library.

GLEE CLUB SINGS TO CAPACITY AUDIENCE IN MUSEUM FRIDAY NIGHT

University Orchestra, Women's Glee Club, and Mary Whitney Assist Men's Glee Club

[illegible] concert sponsored by the Burlington Musicians' Association Friday evening March 17 the men's glee club gave its annual concert. The club was assisted by the women's glee club, the University orchestra and Mary Whitney '36, violinist.

The twenty men who participated in the concert all sang recently in the New England inter-collegiate contest, winning fourth place. Recent press notices of the concert [illegible]. Their singing gave evidence of their high standing. Their work was characterized by excellent balance, accurate intonation, clear enunciation and satisfying blending.

The men's double quartet rendered three selections in fine harmony. "Adoramus Te" by Palestrina, "Le Heux a Rose" Praetorius and "Light a Little Candle" by [illegible]. It was composed of E. S. Jenks (med.), A. R. Wilcox '35, F. G. Gordon '33 and E. C. Berry '36, tenors; D. W. Jenks '34, A. A. Scharbius (med.), G. H. Burrows '34, and C. B. Harwood '34, basses.

A. A. Scharbius, Jr., was the soloist in the "Song of the Volga Boatman," and was accompanied by the glee club.

The University orchestra, with Miss Charlotte deVolt, concert master, and Prof. C. T. Leonard, conductor, delighted the audience with its superior interpretation of the Peer Gynt Suite by Grieg. The women's glee club followed with three numbers accompanied by Kay Everett '35. They sang Brahms' "Lullaby Summer Day," "Come Again Sweet Love" by Dowland, and "What Saith My Dainty Darling" by Morley.

Mary Whitney '36 violinist, proved one of the hits of the evening by her skilful and beautifully toned rendition of Dvolik's "Humoresk" and "The Bee" by Schubert. She was forced to respond to the applause with the encore "Caprice Gypsy Dance." She was accompanied by Muriel Magee '35.

During the evening the men's glee club sang six numbers, three of which were new in the contest at Springfield. These [illegible] "Sweet and Low" by Barnby, "Come Live With Me and Be My Love" by Lord Byron, "Lullaby" by Gilbert, "I Got Shoes" a Negro spiritual, "Listen to the Lambs" by Dett, and "Ho! Jolly Jenkin" by Professor Leonard.

[illegible]

Professor Leonard has trained the clubs and deserves much praise for their success. The final number is the new college song

(Continued on page 4)

TWENTY-FIFTH SUMMER SESSION AT VERMONT TO OPEN JULY FIFTH

The 25th summer session of the University of Vermont will open Wednesday July 5 and close Saturday August 12 according to the preliminary bulletin just issued from the office of Prof. Bennett C. Douglass, director. The bulletin states that enrollment will be limited to [illegible].

Courses of instruction are listed in the education, commercial education, English, [illegible], French, German, history, Latin, mathematics, music, philosophy, general training, psychology, Scandinavian, science, social science, Spanish.

The summer session faculty is made up of members of the regular faculty of the University of Vermont and of visiting instructors. Each week, according to the announcement issued by the director, entertainments are provided, and other entertainments and lectures are also arranged. Assemblies, at which popular addresses will be given, will be held three mornings each week and chapel services one morning. An elementary demonstration school will be conducted in one of the Burlington schools. All the college buildings with the exception of the Home Economics Practice House will be used for instruction or research purposes. Week-end mountain camping, excursions to places of historic and scenic interest, automobile trips and mid-week short excursions are being arranged as recreational features of the session.

Last year the enrollment at the summer session was 970, with 21 states and Canada being represented.

Vermont Debaters Meet N.Y.U. Men in No-Decision Debate

McCuin '34 and Myers '35 Defend Negative Side of Advertising Question

SIEGEL AND TILOVE REPRESENT NEW YORK

The Green and Gold intercollegiate debaters [illegible] a non-decision bout with New York University last Saturday evening March 18 on the question propounded: That modern advertising is detrimental to the best interests of the American people. Vermont represented by R. I. McCuin '34 and W. H. Myers '35 upheld the negative while N. Y. U. represented by Harold Siegel and Kenneth Tilove took the affirmative. Dr. [illegible] professor of the English department introduced the speakers and acted as chairman of the debate which was in the Assembly room.

Harold Siegel, the first speaker for the affirmative opened the debate by attempting to prove that there are two evils to advertising, one moral and the other economic. He stated that people are being forced to buy against their will and that they are made to buy luxuries rather than necessities. Advertisements also misrepresent their products for example the [illegible] soup ads which state their soup is "99 and "one percent pure."

W. H. Myers the first speaker for the negative pointed out the advantages of advertising by showing how it saves money for the individual consumer. He stated that a person pays only five cents for the Saturday Evening Post due to the large number of advertisements which it contains. In contrast to this he said that the Literary Digest costs the subscriber ten cents because it does not print any ads. Myers asked the affirmative what they would do if advertising were abolished and what plan they would formulate to take care of mass production and distribution.

Kenneth Tilove second speaker for the affirmative further pointed out the good ends of advertising and stated that we have a certain social service to perform as the battle of Lexington.

(Continued on page 4)

WORLD-FAMED ARTIST TO PLAY THURSDAY AT COMMUNITY CONCERT

Barrère, Flutist, Salzedo, Harpist, and Britt, 'Cellist, Will Appear at Auditorium

A flutist, a harpist, and a 'cellist all of world reputation and the first two of world renown will play in the final concert presented by the Community Concert Association in the City Hall Auditorium this Thursday evening March 23. They are Georges Barrère, Carlos Salzedo and Horace Britt. The program

The [illegible] about sixty college students have been members of the Community Concert Association and there will also be an opportunity for them to join next year for the reduced rate of three dollars.

Middlebury, too, will have this concert series next year so that those who might require here may also attend the Middlebury concerts if they wish. As a member of the association may go to any community concert, no matter where it is held. The extension of the series to Middlebury is in large measure due to the action of the Middlebury College [illegible] which has advanced a considerable sum to help the town of Middlebury secure this international feature.

KINGSLEY DECLAMATION CONTEST WILL BE MAY 1

The annual Kingsley prize speaking contest for men of the freshman and sophomore classes will be held May 1 according to a statement issued from the office of the Vermont Christian Association by Mr. M. D. Powers. Prizes of twenty-five dollars, fifteen dollars and ten dollars have been provided for this event by the late Darwin P. Kingsley of New York, a graduate of the University of Vermont in the class of 1881.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

[illegible] LIBBY '34 ..... Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] COHEN '34 ..... Managing Editor
WILLIAM BRISLIN '34 ..... Sports Editor
[illegible] '34 ..... Recording Editor
GEORGE H. PETERSON, II '34 ..... Business Manager
CHARLES J. LIBBY '34 ..... Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Dorothy Kennedy '35 Helen Mount '35
Howard Abbott '35 Dustin White '35
Stuart Wright '35 Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

Nathaniel Gould '35
Milton Greenburg '34
Ruth Kobel '34
Jane Parsons '35

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Crosby Hale '35
Marshall Patch '35

COLUMNIST

Robert Weissman '34

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

FACULTY ADVISER

Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge ..... DOROTHY KENNEDY

Founded in 1881. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year; single copy, five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at THE VERMONT CYNIC Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 404 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 March 21, 1933 No. 43

Editorials

Ancient motors groan agonizingly in one building! A sifting machine sends its rhythmic vibrations throughout another edifice. The busy hum of belting pervades in yet another structure. Thus the song of the engineer is heard in three different places. The electrical engineers have their corner in the Williams Science Hall, the mechanical engineers spend most of their time in hot dusty cages in the Engineering Building proper, and all the technical students spend a few of their hours in the Old Museum.

Despite the fact that many other groups in the University are clamoring for new equipment and in some cases an entire new building, it must be conceded that the engineers are the ones, who most deserve a satisfactory "workshop." Back in the opening years of the twentieth century, there was much talk concerning a new addition to the college in the form of a modern engineering building, a structure in which the electrical engineers could work in open, sanitary shops with new motors and generators, in which the mechanical engineers could investigate the mysteries of the steam engine with up-to-date apparatus and in which the civil engineers could work on their drawings in well-lighted, comfortable rooms; in short an engineer's pipe dream. In those days the men wanted a building which would in every respect be equipped with modern fixtures, which would be properly ventilated, which would include up-to-date fire protection and which would contain lecture rooms, an auditorium and other features attractive to the hard-working technician.

It has been argued that because the engineering building at Vermont is in such an antiquated state, the men who have graduated have been better prepared to face similar conditions in life than those who graduated from schools which boasted of equipment of a much higher grade. Perhaps this argument is true in many respects, but the fact remains that the average high school graduate does not consider it when he is choosing the college which he will attend. Thus the argument is neutralized, first because an old, decrepit building does not attract very many high school graduates and second because it does not hold their interest after they have enrolled.

Back in the days when agitation was first started for a new building, it was suggested that each man at his graduation should put one dollar in a fund for a new engineering building. It was argued that if every man added a dollar to the common cause at commencement the money for a new structure would accumulate faster than if an endowment were solicited. Even now the logic of this plan is discernible, for it may be years before there is a new engineering building.

Thirty years ago graduates of Vermont probably made a vow that their sons would attend the University of Vermont and receive the benefit of a modern engineering building. Now, there are many students, just graduating, who are optimistically making the identical resolution. Let us pave the way now so that a second generation will not be disappointed.

THAT OLD CUSTOM OF SAYING "HELLO"

Several years ago, all freshmen were required to say "Hello" to upperclassmen whether they had been formally introduced to each other or not. Also the upperclassmen were required to address the freshmen in a similar manner. Moreover this same spirit was supposed to prevail between the upperclassmen.

This school year found the upperclassmen giving a brief, occasionally hearty greeting to the incoming freshmen until rushing season was terminated. Then, all semblance of cordiality was dropped. The average student, instead of greeting his college mates as formerly, is in many cases cloaked with an impenetrable mantle of reserve. The University that was once distinguished by a typical geniality once cheerily pervading the campus atmosphere, has slowly begun to change.

The whole-hearted custom of saying "Hello" to fellow collegians was one which, in the course of the year, enabled the average freshman to become acquainted not only with his peers but upperclassmen as well. It permitted the upperclassmen an opportunity to recognize and become friendly with newly matriculated students. It also gave the experienced ones a chance to welcome the green freshmen to the brotherhood of the students at the University of Vermont.

Let us consider the results of a self-contained student body. There are many colleges where the student is intent only in his own thoughts. He lurries madly here and there, an insignificant cog in the entire ensemble for existence at that institution. He is cold and aloof to outsiders, his personality fails to invite the warm fellowship that a smile and a welcome word will so easily do. The college becomes more of a factory, its students, cogs of an immense machine. There are a great many colleges in the United States in which keen rivalries, sophisticates and snobs reign, but it has been the laudable custom at Vermont to avoid any tendency toward is such a condition.

And so let us not forget that the convivial "Hello" should always be kept on the Vermont campus. This slight gesture of friendship, which will bind together all Vermont men in the ties of friendship and college spirit, is something that should be retained at this University—an institution which is advancing steadily year by year. A struggling young graduate is always thankful for a familiar face in the business world. A friend of college days means much in these times of economic distress, with that thought in mind that we take the opportunity to recommend to all men of Vermont that the custom of saying "Hello" to each other whether formally introduced or not should never become a dead custom.

And so it is, with that with a thought for the present and a glance at the future that we recommend the complete resurrection of this amiable greeting between college mates.

Author's Arena

"The Bulpington of Blup," H. G. Wells' latest work, has for several weeks maintained a place on the list of best-sellers, as, of course, any book of H. G. Wells' naturally would. However, let it not be thought that by this is implied that any book of H. G. Wells' would not deserve a prominent place in the attention of present-day thinkers. Furthermore, we may be attacked by some conscientious objector to whom best-seller lists are anathema, or, at the best, a relatively unimportant criterion of worth. All such considerations aside, this latest offspring of the Wells mind is, we think, well worth the perusal of any of you who have been doing a bit of thinking on the situation of the world during the Great War and the conditions arising from that situation in the years that have followed it.

Tracing the development of that part of Mr. Theodore Bulpington which a psychologist might describe as the activities of the individual, but which we shall content ourselves with naming the mind, Mr. Wells shows his growth from a precocious youngster, finding pleasure in imagining himself The Bulpington—greater and more powerful than any of the rest of the Bulpingtons of Blup, the ancient stamping ground of the Bulpingtons before the name had been corrupted to the vulgar "Blayport" of the present day, to a youth fond of argument and facile therein because of the background afforded him by a father who "wrote," and an indiscriminate devouring of all manner of literature. The youth still contorts himself for all inadequacies in his environment by giving the Bulpington of Blup all the successes and valiant exploits of a knight of old, all the learning of the veriest bookworm, and all the chivalry of a medieval lover. Feeling a little thwarted by the accomplishments of his friend, Teddy Broxted, in the realm of science, which he scorns and almost fears at times, he makes up for his ineffective dabbling at a school of art by puzzling Teddy and other friends by the vague subtleties of his arguments when the circle of intimates engages in its perpetual round of discussions on the merits of socialism and other projected forms of human experiment.

Theodore experiences the awe of a first experience with death in his own family when his father dies; he grows in knowledge of life by carrying on a liaison with a Jewess slightly older than himself, while he is secretly cherishing a childhood love for Teddy's sister, who in her turn also becomes his mistress. This is immediately before the beginning of the Great War—or rather before its beginning for Theodore, who for reasons best known to himself, did not enter until a year had gone by.

Finally he inherits a cottage in Devonshire, where he finds the country so delightful and his neighbors so delightfully receptive to tales of heroism from a slightly world-weary man, who plainly finds these trifling incidents commonplace and might tell more if political expediency would allow it, that he devotes himself to the pleasant task of making his war experience that of a hero and himself one of those dashing men of the world who can always find a warm corner in the heart of an old maid.

After a brief but intense revelation of the empty character of his existence during the awakening from a comfortable state of drunkenness induced by the richness of the wines supplied at a dinner party given Mr. Bulpington by his maiden admirers, he sinks back into the comfortable apathy of the everyday life led by the Bulpington of Blup.

Whether or not Mr. Wells would have us apply the moral of his book to pre-war civilization and its pre-war problems, we cannot say.

THIS IS HEALTH WEEK!

OUR ENGLISH JOKE

"I say, milord, that's a fine stopper you have in that bottle there."

"Quite so, Blitheringsgate, my man. Corking, isn't it?"—Ski-U-Mah.

Country Gentleman: Here, hold my horse a minute, will you?

Senator from Kentucky: Sir, I am a member of Congress.

C. G.: That's all right. I'll trust you.—Log.

"Do you believe in clubs for women?"

"Yes, if kindness fails."—Reserve Red Cat.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Initiation was held [illegible] at four o'clock. After [illegible] was a banquet at the [illegible]

DELTA DELTA DELTA

A tea will be [illegible] March 23, at the [illegible] Whalen '35 for the [illegible] Greek-letter fraternities.

Initiation will take [illegible] March 25.

PI BETA PHI

Initiation will be [illegible] March 25, at the chapter [illegible]

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

A banquet on the roof [illegible] Hotel Vermont followed the [illegible] Saturday, March 18.

SIGMA GAMMA

The pledges elected officers at a meeting. Ethel Cook '35 was [illegible] president, Marion Burroughs '36 chosen as vice-president, and Thompson, '36, as secretary.

K. E. L.

The pledges entertained the chapter at the home of Lena [illegible] berg '36 Saturday night.

NOTICE

There will be a regular meeting Philagon on Friday, March 24 at o'clock. Attention is called to a by-law passed at the last meeting unexcused cuts automatically de from membership. Barbara Brew will grant all excuses, which must applied for before the meeting.

LAURA JOHNS

It takes resourcefulness . . .

Time and again, Bell System engineers have demonstrated their pioneering bent in working out unusual telephone construction problems.

For example, they laid a huge conduit under the Harlem River. They dredged a trench in the river bottom, lowered enormous sections of iron pipe, sent down divers to join the sections, encased the finished tube in concrete. Through this they ran telephone cables forming one of New York's main lines of communication. Across the Gila River in Arizona they constructed a catenary span 2373 feet long. To bridge oceans, they developed radio telephony. They have built telephone lines over mountains, across deserts, through swamps.

Their resourcefulness in getting through, over or under natural barriers makes possible telephone service that is practically world wide in reach.

BELL SYSTEM

SAY "HELLO" TO MOTHER AND DAD ...RATES ARE LOWEST AFTER 8:30 P. M.

SPORTS NEWS

VARSITY BASEBALL MEN WORK OUT PRELIMINARY TO SOUTHERN JAUNT

Coach Gardner Cuts Squad to Twenty-two Candidates as Season Approaches

FROSH SQUAD RECEIVES ADDITIONAL MATERIAL

Three New Men Report for Practice With Aspirants for First-year Diamond Team

The varisty baseball squad is working out every day in preparation for a successful season which will begin as the team leaves on the southern trip Thursday, March 30, playing its first game April 1. This year the team will travel by bus instead of by train, as has been the custom for the last few years. It has not been decided yet what players will make the trip, but Coach Larry Gardner will probably take about fifteen men.

The squad was cut down to twenty-two men Monday, March 13. The pitching position seems to have attracted the most candidates. Among the aspirants for this position are Beckley, Farmer, Gaden, Spicer, Swartz, R. Collins, Garrow and Lanahan. Either Whitey Pallow or Rollie Delfausse will hold down the first base post. Captain McKay will probably play third, with Tom Cogswell, Bernie Pires, Tommy Burns, Rubino, or Macomber fighting it out for the two infield positions. The out-field will be chosen from Taft, Rapuano, Bent, Hunt, and T. Collins. The likely catchers are Larry Bowers, Bill Skinner Cass, and Sheehe.

Freshman Nine Practice

The Frosh baseball squad held its last practice Wednesday, March 15. It is a little early yet to predict how the team will line up. At the last workout the squad was strengthened by the addition of R. Frazier, Moran, and Wool, who reported for the first time.

Ted Negus and Stretch Kirley, the two most promising hurlers, have begun to open up and look very good. Billings seems to be the best candidate for the receiving birth. Jim Naylor, a promising first baseman, who met with an accident a couple of weeks ago, joined the squad last week and will play this year.

S. A. E.'S, PHI DELTS AND INDEPENDENTS ADVANCE IN FRATERNITY RELAYS

Defeat, Owls, Phi Mu Delts and Sigma Phis—Kappa Sigma Wins by Default

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta, and the Independents won races in the second round of the interfraternity relays on Friday afternoon. Kappa Sigma also won by default from Sigma Nu.

The Independents outran the Phi Mu Delts in 2 minutes 51¼ seconds. Roly Poly, Joe Delfausse, Martin and Wesoly ran for the Independents. Brooks, Pozzatello, Weeks, and Young made up the Phi Mu Delta team.

The race between the Owls and Sigma Phi Epsilon was won by the latter. The Owls apparently had the race won when Justin White had a tough break on the last lap. Andress, Davis, Ruhmshottel and White entered for the Owls. Jezukawicz, Twitchell, Walter and Warren made up the winning team.

The Sigma Phis lost their race to the Delta Thetas. Caldwell, Grant, Hurd and Syme represented Phi Delta Theta. The entrants for Sigma Phi were Connors, M. Jones and Ranslow.

Athletic Outfitters
for U. V. M.
Sporting Goods for All Sports
Special Prices to Schools,
Clubs and Societies
The W. E. Greene Co.
In consolidation with
Patten, Irwin & White

FIRST OF SERIES OF TALKS FOR PRE-MEDICS TO OCCUR TOMORROW

The first of this year's series of talks for pre-medics will be held in Hall A Medical Building, on Wednesday evening, March 22, at 8:00 p.m. The speakers will be Dean Jenne and Dean Swift. These talks are for all pre-medical students and any other students interested in the study of medicine. While attendance is not compulsory it is strongly recommended that all pre-medical students attend. Students planning to enter the Medical College next fall will make appointments for interviews with the Committee on Admission to the Medical College at this meeting. Dates and speakers for subsequent talks will be announced later.

FINAL WRESTLING BOUTS WILL BE HELD TOMORROW AFTERNOON, MARCH 22

Various Athletic Awards Will Be Given Out Between the Matches —Jesukawicz to Receive Hexathlon Award

Tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock the finals for the tournaments will be held. In the 115-pound class, Bellini will wrestle an opponent yet to be selected. In the 125-pound class, Lyford will wrestle Crandall. The 135-pound class finds as opponents Keelan against Shele. These boys are very evenly matched and both are tough and willing to mix it up. The 145-pound class will have Hale and Seegar as opponents. This match should be good because both boys are very finished wrestlers. In the 158 pound class Miller and Varricchione will do battle. Both of these boys are big and strong with Varricchione having a bit more experience.

In the 175-pound class "Murph" Fienberg wrestles "Susie" Paul. Susie is a bit stronger that Murph but Murph should win on his greater knowledge of wrestling.

The unlimited class brings Beardsley to oppose Caracciolo. Caracciolo was in the 175-pound class but wished to come against heavier opponents and so changed to the unlimited class. These boys are football rivals and although Beardsley has a weight advantage, Scratch makes it even by having had more experience.

The boxing bouts, with the exception of the Rome Kelley match, have yet to be arranged. However, Perry, Kingsland, Arkin and Nevulis will probably see action.

Between the bouts tomorrow afternoon there will be held the finals of the interfraternity relays. At the completion of these the prizes for all the events will be awarded—the wrestling medals, the interfraternity relay cup and the winter sports cup.

At the same time, Jezukawicz, the winner of the recent hexathlon, will be awarded the trophy which goes with this event.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB GIVES CONCERT IN MUSEUM

(Continued from page 1)

called 'U. V. M.,' which he has written and at its conclusion, the audience and then the men gave Mr. Leonard an ovation of applause."

When questioned about the concert, Miss Miriam Marston, instructor in music, said she enjoyed the performance very much and liked "U. V. M." particularly.

THIS IS HEALTH WEEK!

All sophomores desiring to scrub varsity baseball should report as early as possible to Assistant Managers Adams, Burrows or Powell any afternoon in the cage.

DAVID WEBSTER,
Mgr. of Baseball.

Jesukawicz Wins Hexathlon by Taking Broad Jump and Shot Put

Leads Field by 12 Points After the Final Events of the Annual Event Were Run Off Last Saturday—Willis Second and Delfausse Third

BOX SCORE

First Day's Events, March 11, 1933

Name	Dash Time	Dash Pts.	Broad Jump Dist.	Broad Jump Pts.	High Jump Ht.	High Jump Pts.	Total
	sec.		ft. in.		ft. in.
Jezukawicz	9.4	1,060	13.8	1,014.29	4 10	935.48	3,009.77
Willis	9.2	1,080	14.2	985.71	4 10	934.48	3,001.19
Delfausse	11.4	860	13.4	1,042.87	5 6	1,004.52	2,967.39
Wesoly	10.2	980	13.6	1,028.58	5 1	983.87	2,992.45
White	10.2	980	13.0	1,014.29	5 1	983.87	2,978.16
Andress	8.2	1,180	14.4	971.42	5 2	1,000	3,152.42
Caracciola	7.6	1,240	14.8	942.84	4 4	838.70	3,021.54
Woodruff	12.0	800	14.4	971.42	4 11½	959.67	2,731.09
Brooks	11.8	820	14.2	985.71	5 1	983.87	2,789.58
Howe	10.4	960	14.0	1,000	4 10	935.48	2,895.48
Drown	12.0	800	14.8	942.84	4 8.75	915.32	2,658.16

Second Day's Events, March 18, 1933

Name	Broad Jump Dist.	Broad Jump Pts.	Shot put Dist.	Shot put Pts.	Mile run Time	Mile run Pts.	Total
	ft. in.		ft. in.
Jezukawicz	19 1½	1,118.07	32 8.5	1,000.35	5 50.2	938.80	3,147.22
Willis	18 1	1,087.97	39 6.5	1,051.43	5 28.6	1,004.24	3,143.64
Delfausse	18 3	1,043.99	31 1.5	1,037.53	5 28	1,006.06	3,087.58
Wesoly	17 8.5	1,039.36	30 1.5	1,004.17	5 39.4	971.52	3,015.05
White	17 3.5	1,016.31	25 2	838.76	5 25.6	1,013.33	2,868.40
Andress	15 8	925.92	20 1	696.98	5 28.8	1,003.64	2,626.54
Caracciola	13 4	796.28	28 10.5	962.47	5 36.8	979.40	2,738.15
Woodruff	16 8	981.48	27 4.5	912.43	5 08.4	1,065.45	2,959.36
Brooks	16 9½	988.42	25 8	855.44	5 18.8	1,033.94	2,877.80
Howe	15 10½	937.39	22 6.5	751.19	5 25.2	1,014.54	2,703.12
Drown	17 00	1,000	29 5	980.54	6 25.8	830.93	2,811.47

BURKE NAMED MANAGER OF FRESHMAN BASEBALL

Prominent Senior Receives Managerial Position After Resignation of Leonard Brock

William Burke of Rutland was named manager of freshman baseball according to an announcement made yesterday by Sabin Abell, Graduate Manager. Following the resignation of Leonard Brock '33 of South Newbury, Burke was appointed to fill the position.

Burke was an assistant manager of varsity basketball in the 1931-32 season. He is the captain of the rifle team and was recently elected chairman of senior week. Last year he was a member of Key and Serpent. He is also a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

Sign in a Scotch Cafe: Use less sugar and stir like hell; we don't mind the noise.—Rammer Jammer.

DOUGLAS SPEAKES AT SUNDAY VESPER SERVICE

(Continued from page 1)

he began his pastoral work. Ordained in the Lutheran ministry, he has held charges in North Manchester, Ind., Lancaster, Ohio; Washington, D. C., Ann Arbor, Mich.; Akron, Ohio; Los Angeles, Calif.; and since 1929, at St. James United Church, Montreal. He was at one time director of religious work at the University of Illinois, was a chaplain and a director of publicity in the World War, and is the author of numerous books. He plans to retire from the ministry in May, and devote his time to lectures and writing books. His "Magnificent Obsession" and "Forgive Us Our Trespasses" are considered the greatest works on their particular subject.

THIS IS HEALTH WEEK!

SPECIAL
SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO
MASSAGE $1.00
ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY
JOE'S BARBER SHOP
JOE LANGLOIS, Proprietor
BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Flanting Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
Open daily 6.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m.

FOUR CONTESTANTS GET OVER 6,000 POINTS

J. J. Jezukawicz, '36 of Gardner, Mass., won the first annual Hexathlon by gathering 3,147.22 points in the last three events for a total of 6,156.99 points for the contest. The Hexathlon sponsored by the physical education department, consisted of six events: rope climb, 110 yd. dash, high jump, broad jump, mile run and shot put. The winner will be given a permanent trophy, to be known as the Donahue Trophy in memory of the late James R. Donahue, a man intimately connected for many years with the athletic policies of the University and who served as chairman of the Athletic Council. The purpose of the contest is to bring out the well-developed, all-around athlete and the winner can truthfully be considered the best individual all-around athlete in the University.

Only 12.16 points behind Jezukawicz was Jack Willis '33 of East Hardwick with a total of 6,144.83 points. J. Delfausse '35, of Rockville Center, N. Y. was third and Andy Wesoly '34, of New Britain, Conn., finished fourth.

The contestants in the order that they finished and their total number of points as follows:

1. Jezukawicz 6,156.99
2. Willis 6,144.83
3. Delfausse 6,054.97
4. Wesoly 6,007.50
5. White 5,846.56
6. Andress 5,778.96
7. Caracciola 5,759.69
8. Woodruff 5,690.45
9. Brooks 5,667.38
10. Howe 5,598.60
11. Drown 5,469.63

The mean number of points set for the contest was 6,000, 1,000 points for each event with a system of scoring similar to the Olympic Decathlon whereby a fixed number of points for each event are subtracted or added to the mean if the contestant falls below or betters the mark set for each respective event. It will be noticed that the first four men amassed more than the mean of 6,000 points and the three runners-up should be congratulated upon their fine showing.

At the end of the first day's events Andress '36 led the field with 3,152.42 points while Jezukawicz had 3,009.77 and Willis had 3,001.19. The second group of events were more to the liking of Jezukawicz and less to that of Andress. Many of the men were not specialized in such field events as the broad jump and shot put. It was the general opinion of the contestants that the events were not broad enough in their inclusions. Most of the contests were either track or field while it seems that a baseball throw for distance or accuracy might be included.

However, the first contest was more or less of an experiment to govern next year's. The fact that a freshman won should be an obvious challenge to the members of other classes. H. A. Prentice, director of the Hexathlon, says, "The contest was very satisfactory. There is only one possible change that may be made next year and that is in the number of points awarded as a bonus or penalty in the rope climb. Next year we hope

(Continued on page 4)

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY
YOUR LIFE WORK?
The Harvard University Dental School offers a comprehensive course in this field of health service, which is becoming increasingly important in relation to medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school.
Write for catalog
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 62, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

PLAID IS THE THING
Glen Plaid Slacks $5.00
Plaid Shirts $2.50
Plaid Neckwear 50c to $1.00
Glen Plaid Suits $25 and up
HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

TO GRADUATES
of the
Two-Year Teacher Training Course
An order for a CAP and GOWN placed before the Easter Recess—with a deposit of $2.00—will also buy for you 15
INVITATIONS OR ANNOUNCEMENTS or any combination of these that you may desire.
A refund of 50c will be made if the Cap and Gown are returned on Commencement Monday.
Place your orders at the
UNIVERSITY STORE OFFICE

VERMONT MEETS N. Y. U. IN NO-DECISION DEBATE

(Continued from page 1)

JEZUKAWICZ WINS FIRST VERMONT HEXATHLON

(Continued from page 3)

THIS IS HEALTH WEEK!

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.
TRY US

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
• • •
Elias Lyman Coal Company
204 College Street

LIVE in FRENCH
Residential Summer School (co-educational) in the heart of French Canada. Old-Country French staff. Only French spoken. Elementary, Intermediate, Advanced Certificate or College Credit. French entertainments, sight-seeing, sports, etc.
Fee $150. Board and Tuition, June 29-July 29. Write for circular to Secretary Residential French Summer School
McGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA

PROFESSOR WALLACE WILL BE HEAD OF 29TH TEACHERS' CONFERENCE

Over Seven Hundred Vermont Teachers are Present at the Twenty-eighth Conference, March 17

Fred L. Hunter Wallace of the education department was elected president of the next conference at the annual meeting held at the Burlington High School Friday, March 17.

Over 700 teachers coming from all over the state attended the conference which was sponsored by the Champlain Valley Teachers' Association and the University of Vermont. Other officers for the coming year are: Mrs. J. E. Congdon of Essex Junction, vice-president and Miss Margaret Hardacre of Winooski, secretary-treasurer.

George W. Hoxsey, chairman of the state Board of Education, gave an address on "Pupils Who Never Grow Up" for conferences then broke up into two groups, the secondary school conference and the elementary school conference. Speakers from Columbia University and from the University of Vermont addressed the two gatherings. Both conferences adjourned at noon for lunch.

The secondary and elementary school conferences were resumed immediately after lunch. The problems of college admission both from the viewpoint of the high school principal and of the college were discussed at the secondary school meeting. Ernest W. Kehoe, registrar at the University of Vermont, presented the college's side while the Committee on College Admission of the Vermont Headmasters' Club, composed of the principals of several high schools in the State, gave an account of the problem from the viewpoint of the high school principal.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT TO GIVE FACULTY RECITAL

A faculty recital, sponsored by the Department of Music, will be given [illegible] from eight, [illegible], March 22, at 8:15 at the Fleming Museum. It will consist of a program of music for two pianos by Miss Miriam Nattlee Marston and Prof. C. T. Leonard, head of the Music Department. This is one of a series of recitals to be presented by the department.

[illegible] Compositions of Beethoven [illegible] Debussy [illegible] Poems of Hardy [illegible] Brahms [illegible] Concerto in E flat [illegible] Grieg [illegible] a recital was originally scheduled for Wednesday, March 1 but was postponed because of the illness of Professor Leonard.

THIS IS HEALTH WEEK!

The good old pirates of two and three centuries ago were like modern brigands and similar folk, a pious and extremely punctilious disposition in the observance of the more superstitious practices of religion. Even in church upon occasion they would shoot anybody considered to be lacking in a proper respect for the God they worshipped.

THIS IS HEALTH WEEK!

At 3.15 p.m. the conferences broke up into smaller groups for departmental gatherings, the round-table discussions. Meetings for the teachers of commercial subjects, English, Latin, mathematics, modern languages, and home economics were held.

The conference came to a conclusion in the evening with a banquet on the Hotel Vermont roof garden for the Vermont Schoolmasters' Club; and a banquet for the Vermont Women Teachers' Association, also at the Hotel Vermont.

THEATRE

Flynn

(M. T. W.) Our Betters, starring [illegible] Lenore in a very modern story of modern life. Parlor and cocktail romance of a good sort.

(T. F. S.) Forty-second Street—ballyhooed to the skies, this epic of the musical revue is a full-starred attraction that's worth seeing. Lots of money has been spent on giving the illusion of the real broad way. Three stars.

Majestic

Dark house M. T. W. T. on account of difficulty in booking. A George O'Brien feature for Friday and Saturday.

State

(M. T.) Red Dust, Harlow and Gable in a torrid romance of the tempestuous tropics. A good picture. Does the blond triumph over the brunette? Go see.

(W. T.) They Just Had To Get Married—meaning the flexible Zasu and the vacuous Slim Summerville. All the laughs packed in tight. Good.

(F. S.) Smiling Through, Norma Shearer and Frederic March smiling through one of the most delightful pictures ever made.

Strong

(M. T.) Most Dangerous Game, Joel McCrea, Fay Wray, and Leslie Banks. About the monster who hunted humans for sport in his jungle island. Good hunting.

(W. T.) No Living Witness, crime story. Gilbert Roland, Barbara Kent

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

SYLVIA BOYD '33 IS TO STUDY AT GRENOB

(Continued from page [illegible])

as the recent University [illegible] tall. "To the Ladies" [illegible] freshman rules [illegible] year she was vice-president [illegible] Union Council; she has been [illegible] of the glee club; in her [illegible] was vice-president [illegible] tions Club; during her [illegible] she was secretary [illegible] and in her junior year [illegible] took part in women's athletics [illegible] freshman and sophomore [illegible] ceived an honor scholarship [illegible] ating from high school [illegible] sistently maintained a [illegible] scholarship in college [illegible] the dean's list every semester [illegible] recently elected to Phi Beta [illegible] has also held the position [illegible] of Women's Student Union [illegible] and Noah More Beery. We [illegible] have to be alive.

(F. S.) Boiling Point. He [illegible] does the boiling. Oh, he's cool [illegible]

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables
Home Made Mayonnaise
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHOOL
Founded 1900
DENTISTRY has developed into an important branch of health service. In order to meet its obligation to humanity, it needs men and women of the highest intelligence backed by superior training.
College men and women who are interested in a career in this field should obtain a prospectus of the educational requirements by addressing
HOWARD M. MARJERISON, D.M.D., Registrar
Tufts College Dental School
416 Huntington Ave. Boston, Mass.

They're Milder and yet
They Satisfy

You get what you want, and you don't have to take what you don't want

It's like this: You don't want a strong, rank cigarette; you don't want one that's tasteless. You want one that lets you know that you are smoking, but you don't want one that's bitey.

Chesterfields are milder . . . and yet They Satisfy.

Chesterfield
the cigarette that's MILDER
the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

© 1933 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1933 — NUMBER 44

GROUP PLAYS TO BE PRESENTED AT MUSEUM TUESDAY

The Four One-act Plays to Include a Variety of Entertainment

UNDER DIRECTIONS OF GROUP PLAYERS

Play Sponsored by Dramatic Clubs of University and Coached by Them

[four] one-act plays will be presented [Tuesday] March 28, in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum under the [auspices] of the University Players. The plays will include a melodrama, a farce, a [tragi]-comedy, and a short skit. The members of Wig and Buskin are in charge of the plays.

[These] plays are the first of a series to be sponsored by the group players to present new talent which has, up to the present, had no chance to show itself. Consequently, the coaches, members of Masque and Sandal and Wig and Buskin, are merely directing rehearsals and are leaving the interpretation up to the actors themselves.

Play number one, coached by R. S. Wright '31, includes D. W. Jenks '34, [J.] Leone '36, J. M. Libby '35, C. F. [Jerven] '36, and E. R. Greemore '36.

Play number two, under the direction of Marian Kiel '33, includes Birdie [Cra]ig '35, Rosemary Cahill '36, and A. A. Morrisette '35.

Play number three has as its cast S. N. Spiller '33, P. M. Andress '36, Marian Herberg '36, Thelma Rosenberg '[3]5, Evelyn Perry '35, and S. K. Carter [3]5. It is being coached by Virginia [Goo]denough '33.

Play number four, under Dorothy [Kap]ple's guidance, includes H. H. [Sco]tt '35, Alice McConnell '33, P. M. [Howe] '35, Mary Casey '36, Frances [Ma]n '36, E. D. B. Kane '36, Mary [Cun]ningham '35, Medora Kendall '33, [J.] Costello '36.

A. A. Ross '34, Alice McConnell '34,

(Continued on page 2)

EXTENSION SERVICE SPONSORS CONTEST

Prizes Will be Given to Person Picking Best Name for Broadcasts Over WDEV

A radio name contest, open to any person in the State of Vermont, is being conducted by the Extension Service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College. The purpose of the contest is to obtain a suitable name for a series of talks on agricultural and economic subjects which are being broadcast over Station WDEV in Waterbury. The broadcasts will occur from 12:45 to 12:00 o'clock each Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. The Extension Farm Bureau is offering a fountain pen and pencil set to the person suggesting the winning name in the contest.

The contest is limited to Vermont residents. Names must be submitted to the Committee, Vermont Extension Service, Burlington, Vt., postmarked not later than March 31. A contestant may submit as many as five names but no one of the names submitted must not contain more than five words. They will be judged on originality, appropriateness and [illegible].

A committee of five judges will pass upon the names. In case one or more persons send in the winning name the prize will be selected by lot. The name of the winner will be announced over WDEV during one of the 11.45 to 12.00 programs.

JENNE AND DOLE TO BROADCAST TONIGHT

Two outstanding speakers will broadcast over station WCAX at 7.30 p.m. tonight, March 24. One is Doctor [illegible] of the Medical College, who will talk on "Some Observations of the Committee on the Cost of Medical Care." Professor Dole of the Agricultural Department, who is the other speaker, will talk on "Plants of Vermont." Each speaker will talk for seven minutes.

There will be no University broadcast next week because of the Easter vacation.

Cynic Meeting

Members of the Cynic Editorial Board will meet this afternoon at 4:30. Those eligible for appointment as reporters will be announced.

DEAN ASKS FOR MORE ENTRANTS FOR EIGHTH TRI-COLLEGE CONTEST

Requests Particularly That Underclassmen Submit Work for Contest

Contributions are beginning to come in for the tri-college literary contest, but Professor Dean urges that many more entries are wanted in all three classes—short stories, essays, and poetry.

The three colleges which engage in this competition are the Universities of Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont.

In the seven years that the contest has taken place, Vermont students have placed twenty-five times—twelve times in the short story, six in the essay, and seven times in verse.

There are now in college only six people who have been entered in the contest in previous years. Marguerite Dunsmore '33 of Swanton, Eleanor Gates '33 of Richford, and Frances Sinon '33 of Burlington have submitted material in the short story contest, W. E. Cass '35 of Burlington and Virginia Goodenough '33 of Jewett City, Conn., in the essay contest, and Gladys LaFlamme '33 of Bennington in the poetry competition. All of these are now seniors, except Cass.

Professor Dean says, "We want to begin to build up a new group of contestants this year. We particularly urge that underclassmen try out. Janice Goodrich (Mrs. Doten), who won more places for Vermont while in college than has any other contestant, placed third in the essay contest and second in verse as a freshman. Last year W. E. Cass '35 won second place in the essay. It is true that most of the contestants come from senior and junior ranks, but freshmen and sophomores have also figured and have won places and prizes. We are anxious to have these classes well represented in contributions. All entries must be sent in before Easter vacation."

DELTA PSI ANNOUNCES PLEDGING OF THREE MEN

Delta Psi announces the pledging of Robert W. Nevin '36 of Edgartown, Mass., Harold E. Williamson '36 of Bristol and Ernest G. Young '36 of Craftsbury.

UNIVERSITY CONDUCTS CHERRY EXPERIMENTS

Extensive experiments with both sweet and sour cherries which have just been completed at the University of Vermont after about twelve years of progress have shown that certain varieties of sweet cherries can be grown in the State under favorable conditions of soil, land exposure and cross pollination.

Previous to the experiments it had been generally understood that the reason why sweet cherry culture was not more of a success in Vermont was because sweet cherries are less hardy and therefore less dependable than the sour varieties. Prof. M. B. Cummings of the Agricultural Experiment Station, who has been conducting the experiments, states that this reason is partly kind, but that recent studies have revealed that the chief reason for failure of sweet cherries in the State is the lack of proper pollen bearers and the absence of bees for the crossing of flowers. Sweet and sour cherries interpollinate he says.

A large amount of cherries are brought into Vermont each year to meet the market demands. Some of this is unnecessary declares Professor Cummings, as home production is possible. As the most dependable sweet cherries for cold climates he cites the Windsor, Woud and Napoleon varieties.

Among the important points for determination in the experiments conducted at the University have been that of the best roots to graft sweet and sour cherries into to give early bearing trees, to insure regularity of crops and longevity of trees. Some interrelation studies of stock and cion have been made and some new methods of cherry propagation have been devised.

MASS MEETING ENDS FOUR-DAY ACTIVITIES OF ANNUAL HEALTH WEEK

Four Afternoon Features Were Included in Week of Constructive Advice to Co-eds

Health Week is over. With the announcement of "Bunny" Perry '33 as Posture Queen, the Health Council brought to a close, a week full of helpful suggestions on health, how to attain it, how to keep it and how to regain it when lost.

Four afternoon features were sponsored by Health Council. On Monday, Miss Florence Bailey of the Home Economics Department held a conference to help girls with diet problems. Tuesday from four until six a tea was given at the Theta House featuring Miss Sara Holbrook, who spoke on "A Challenge to Personality." On Wednesday, Dr. Katherine McSweeney gave free medical advice to all those who sought a remedy for their ills. Thursday, Miss Cummings gave advice on posture—how to correct poor posture and develop excellent posture.

It is hoped that the students got a great deal of help and satisfaction from these features.

DEANS JENNE AND SWIFT GIVE TALK TO PRE-MEDICS

Attendance Large at Wednesday's Talk Sponsored by Medical College

The first of this year's series of talks for pre-medical students at the University of Vermont was held in Hall A, Medical Building, Wednesday evening, March 22 at eight o'clock. These talks are under the supervision of the Medical College and are designed for those contemplating medical work. The speakers at the first meeting were Dean J. N. Jenne of the Medical College and Dean Elijah Swift of the College of Arts and Sciences.

The talks are for all pre-medical students and any other students interested in the study of medicine. Attendance is not compulsory but it was recommended that all pre-medical students attend. Students planning to enter the Medical College next fall will make appointments for interviews with the Committee on Admission to the Medical College at this meeting.

Dates and speakers for subsequent talks will be announced later.

NORTHROP ADMITTED TO SUPREME COURT

Miss Consuelo B. Northrop, of Burlington, a graduate of the University of Vermont in the class of '21 and a member of Sigma Gamma sorority, former State's Attorney and Vermont State Senator, on March 21 became the first woman from Vermont to be admitted to practise before the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.

Her public career included a year and a half as prosecuting attorney in Burlington, four years as State's attorney of Chittenden County, and a term in the Vermont Senate. She is one of eleven women now qualified to practice law in Vermont.

Posture Queen

Priscilla Perry '33 has been chosen Posture Queen on campus. She is active in musical and other activities and is a member of Pi Beta Phi.

S. K. RATCLIFFE SPEAKS ON "CRISIS AND RENEWAL IN ENGLAND" TUESDAY

Speaker Explains Current Tendencies in England in University Lecture

"England has the appearance of great social stability amid a world in revolutionary unrest, but actually it is a country undergoing deep and permanent change," said S. K. Ratcliffe, correspondent of the London Spectator, in a University lecture held last Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum. The social and economic transformation of Britain within the past generation has been more significant than the similar phenomenon in any country which has escaped violent revolution, he declared.

The political changes in England have been less extensive than any others. Parliament stands and functions, and there are no signs of any serious alteration of the political structure, although it is certain that in the near future, the government will be given large emergency powers. Nothing in parliamentary history has been more interesting than the change in the position of Ramsay MacDonald who, after forty years of service in the labor movement, becomes prime minister and virtually the master of the Conservative Party for a short spell. The National Government will remain, for some time longer, if only for the reason that the disappearance of the Liberal Party and the splitting of labor by MacDonald's defection makes an alternative government impossible, Mr. Ratcliffe told his audience.

Of unemployment, he said there had lately been a great outburst of voluntary community service in England, many thousands of people working for, and with, the unemployment. It had brought hope and spirit to a large number of the unemployed but it did not provide work for the workless. That he believed could not be attained if the British government would follow the positive example of some European governments and of the new administration in the United States.

Finally Mr. Ratcliffe exploded several American opinions on British politics. He gave a very satisfactory and humorous explanation of the so-called "Dole," which is nothing more than a kind of old age insurance.

At the end of lecture, a number of questions were asked and answered.

THOMAS BRADLEE PRIZE OPEN TO AGGIE STUDENTS

Each year at commencement time, the Thomas Bradlee prize is awarded to a student for outstanding work in extension service at the State Agricultural College. The prize is fifty dollars, established in memory of Thomas Bradlee, director of the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Vermont. Many remember his untimely death at the Kake Walk of 1931, and recall his particularly attractive personality and friendly ways. He showed the same good nature and friendly spirit to all with whom he came into contact, and was always ready to help any who came to him. And so it was especially fitting that his name be perpetuated as one connected with the University by such a prize.

The award is made by vote of the faculty of the College of Agriculture to the student of either sex in the Agricultural College, either a senior or junior, who has done good 4-H Club work before entrance, and has since maintained high scholarship and at the same time has kept fine traits of character.

However, if no student fulfills these qualifications, the faculty may waive the requirement concerning previous 4-H Club work, and they may give the prize to any senior in the Agricultural College. Further, if they so decide, they may award it to any former 4-H Club member who has completed a four-year course in either the College of Arts and Sciences, or of Engineering, on the recommendations of their deans.

"REQUIEM" TO BE GIVEN AT EASTER CONCERT SUNDAY

Will be First Time the "Requiem" is Presented in This Country

PROGRAM DIRECTED BY PROFESSOR LEONARD

Assisted by Reverend Hall, Miss Marston, the Misses deVolt and Putnam

For weeks the University choir has been working for the Easter concert, at which they will sing the "Requiem." On Sunday, March 26, at four o'clock, in the Ira Allen Chapel, they will present the Easter program. The Rev. Reverend Varey Hall will assist and special features will be offered by Miss Miriam Natilee Marston, the organist, Miss Artias deVolt of Boston, harpist; Miss Charlotte deVolt, violinist; and Miss Marila Putnam, soprano. Prof. Claire I. Leonard will direct the choir.

The "Requiem" is being sung on Sunday for the first time in this country. Professor Leonard went to Paris for the music.

The program, as released to the Cynic, is as follows. We print the "Requiem" in full.

Prelude for Harp, Violin and Organ:
Andante .....Gustave Charpentier (1860)

Invocation and Prayer

Requiem .....Gabriel Faure (1845-1924)

I

Requiem aeternam dona eis Domine et lux perpetua luceat eis. Te decet hymnus Deus in Sion et tibi reddetur votum in Jerusalem. Exaudi orationem meam ad te. Omnis caro veniet. Kyrie eleison. Christe eleison.

II

O Domine Jesu Christe rex gloriae libera animas defunctorum de poenis in

(Continued on page 2)

A. I. E. E. HEARS TALK ON SEISMOGRAPH RECORDING

Thomas Reeves '35 and George Patterson III '34 Give Reports on Topics of Current Interest

The regular meeting of A. I. E. E. was held last Monday, March 20 with G. W. Patterson presiding. Thomas Reeves '35 gave a discussion on earthquakes. Mr. Reeves gave several causes of earthquakes and told how they are recorded by the seismograph and how the location of the quake is calculated from the seismograph record. He explained that a knowledge of the earth's internal structure might be obtained from seismograph records of earthquakes. Mr. Reeves also described the electrical equipment installed on the dirigible "Macon."

G. W. Patterson '34 spoke on the Russian hydro-electric power plant located on the Dneiper River. The plant is equipped with five turbo-generators developing 756,000 total horsepower. The plant supplies electricity for an area of 70,000 square miles whose population is 10,000,000. The power is also to be used in the production of fertilizer alloys.

Mr. Patterson also described tests which were conducted in New York City on the transmission of radio short waves between three and eight meters. The transmitter was located in the Empire State Building, the antenna being 1,250 feet above the ground level. Receivers were located in office buildings, suburban homes, aeroplanes and automobiles, preparing and recording [illegible] the strength of signals and effect of various forms of interference recorded.

BASKETBALL HOP TOMORROW NIGHT

The Basketball Hop will be held tomorrow evening in the gymnasium. Freddie Lynch's orchestra will furnish the music. Coach Burke and Captain Pires of the basketball team will be in the receiving line.

The dance which is an annual affair at Vermont, is being run by Gold Key, the sophomore honorary society. G. H. Cook '35 president heads the committee in charge, other members being P. J. Lanahan '35, R. E. Palmer '35 and R. S. Wright '35.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The Official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

CHARLES J. LIBBY '34 ..... Editor-in-Chief
AUGUSTA COHEN '34 ..... Women's Editor
WILLIAM COHEN '34 ..... Managing Editor
WILLIAM BRISLIN '34 ..... Sports Editor
REALTUS McCUIN '34 ..... Recording Editor
GEORGE H. BURROWS, II '34 ..... Business Manager
CHARLES J. LIBBY '34 ..... Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Dorothy Kennedy '35 Helen Mount '35 Dustin White '35
Howard Abbott '35 Arlington Wilcox '35
Stuart Wright '35

FEATURE EDITORS

Nathaniel Gould '35
Milton Greenburg '34
Ruth Kobel '34
Jane Parsons '35

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Rees '34
George Patterson '34

COLUMNIST

Robert Weissman '34

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge ..... DUSTIN WHITE

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year; single copy five cents.
All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at THE VERMONT CYNIC Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644.
Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 March 24, 1933 No. 44

Editorials

SUCCESS

Many aspiring business men and many earnest college students may be quoted as saying, "Success means nothing more than winning at your neighbor's expense." To further this idea, we call attention to the transaction on the ever-changing stock market, whereby a gain for one person means a corresponding loss for someone else.

If this statement is true, if our education serves merely to instill in us the thought that to be a success in the world we must beat out the other fellow, then education becomes harmful and defeats its own end—cultural advancement. Success must be viewed from an absolute as well as from a relative standard. We may consider that a man is successful when he achieves a position superior to his fellow man; or our infinitely wiser conception may be that a person, who has improved his own status without thinking of it in relation to someone else's, is successful.

If to be successful we must always attempt to better our position by the exploitation of others, then true happiness is but a vain ideal. What person can be truly happy if, continually suspicious of his neighbor's doings, he knows that he must either crush or be crushed?

But why not look at success from another point of view? If we measure the progress we have made, not with a side glance at others, but concerning ourselves mainly with our own intellectual and physical betterment, then there will be room for ambition for everyone and if success is attained, it will be at the expense of no one, but to the advantage of all.

FOR BETTER HEALTH STANDARDS

One of the prime requisites of happiness and success, both in school and in the business world, is good health. In an attempt to promote interest in physical well-being, Health Week was sponsored by the Health Council of Y. W. C. A. Yesterday saw the termination of a four-day schedule of events, which were intended to give all girls an equal opportunity to check up on their health and hear various helpful suggestions concerning the personal management of their everyday lives.

To be sure, Health Week comes only once each year. The Winged Victory, a statue awarded each year to the girl who has the best carriage in school, has already been won. The speeches, which were of great value to listeners, are over, but the spirit of good health should be carried on throughout the entire year. To those who have failed to observe faithfully good health doctrines, the time to reform is now at hand.

Spring, in spite of all pessimistic observations, will soon be here. The ground will be clear and free from snow. It is everyone's opportunity to breathe good, clean air after months of wintry atmosphere—air either very damp or very cold. In the winter time a person develops sedentary habits, but, with spring close at hand, the ill effects of the long, dragging winter are easily thrown off.

Now is the time one may build toward a healthier life. To be effective, one must make the entire year a period of continuous good health, instead of confining his efforts to four days. College life is often a hard grind, and to be a complete success in it one must be able to work hard.

We close the book on the week just ended with a fond hope that its theme will linger long in the minds of all those concerned and will influence them strongly toward an honest attempt to raise Vermont's health standards as far above the average as possible.

BASEBALL

The passing of the basketball season has left a gap in the sports regime of the University, but during Easter vacation fans will be in a position to observe and comment on the further ventures of the Catamount teams. Already the baseball team is shaping up for its trip which begins next week. With the basketball championship chalked up to the Green and Gold athletes, there will be many persons speculating about the possibility of a baseball title as well.

The University of Vermont nine meets its first antagonists, Annapolis, while on the southern trip. Next Thursday the team will embark on a long invasion of the Southland. No other Vermont team will make a southern trip preparatory to its regular scheduled games as the Cats will.

Soon the major leagues will begin their circuits, and in some quarters the interest in the coming horse races will be great. Baseball will reign supreme in college, high school, industrial and amateur athletics as the true spring season is once more ushered in to play its vital part in the realm of sports.

CONGRATULATIONS

Here's a toast to the King of Athletes, and here's another toast to the Posture Queen. May their success continue both in college and in the fast-moving whirl of the business world. To the man who had the grit and the stamina to last through an ordeal such as the hexathlon, and then win, we extend the heartiest congratulations. To the student who has been deemed worthy of selection as the girl with the best posture at the University we offer additional felicitations.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Caroline Whitney '31 was in town for the week-end.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Mrs. Parmelee, a national officer, recently visited the Eta Chapter. A tea was given in her honor by Mrs. Lindsay.

The Trident degree was given Wednesday to Marjorie Cook '36 and Frances Whaler '35.

The pledges held a tea Thursday afternoon for the pledges of the other sororities.

The initiation banquet will be held Saturday evening at the Hotel Vermont.

PI BETA PHI

Mrs. Marie Stebbins of Pittsburgh, Pa., president of Beta Province, is in town. A tea was given in her honor at the chapter house on Wednesday.

SIGMA GAMMA

Ruth Spear '31 was in town for the week-end.

KAPPA DELTA

Orabelle Main '32 of Groton was in town for the week-end.

Winona Spencer '31, Winifred Stone '31, and Irene Marcott '30 were in town for the teachers' convention.

Dr. Dalton's Advice to College Students

(From Vermont Department of Health)

I have been asked to write a short statement for health week. Many subjects might be chosen, but the one most applicable at this time is probably the "common cold." This malady is so "common" that it frequently gets little attention, and yet it is a fact that a cold is often the beginning of more serious diseases. Further than that, it is one of the most contagious diseases known. It is spread from one person to another by sneezing, coughing, close contact, or any of the many ways in which saliva is freshly transferred.

A person who has a cold in the acute or "running" stage owes an obligation to others to remain apart until this stage is over. This may be an inconvenience, but is the safe way for the person himself and for those with whom he might come in contact. The best way is to remain in bed for a day or two, during which time the cold will often quickly subside and more serious results will be prevented. If it does not clear up, or if the fever continues for more than a few hours, the person should be seen by a physician.

Attention to these suggestions would save many days of illness and perhaps save lives.

Yours very truly,
CHAS. F. DALTON.
Secretary.

GROUP PLAYS TO BE PRESENTED NEXT TUESDAY

(Continued from page 1)

and Elizabeth Eckhard '33 are in charge of properties and staging.

No admission will be charged for the plays since it is the purpose of the Group Players to encourage dramatics among the students, not to make money. A collection will be taken to defray incidental costs of production.

The casting was done, as is customary, by members of the English department.

DEPUTATIONS SENT TO WINOOSKI, CAMBRIDGE

On March 19, V. C. A. sent out many more deputations.

At the Methodist Church in Winooski college students led all morning services. F. L. Kingsley '35 and W. D. White '35 were in charge of the regular service, while Sylvia Boyd '33 conducted the story-telling hour of the junior church program.

Sunday evening, residents in Cambridge were entertained by a musical program given by Norma Carder '33, Daisy Putnam '34, Mary Whitney '36, and R. S. Wright '35.

REQUIEM TO BE GIVEN AT EASTER CONCERT

(Continued from page 1)

ferni et de profundo lacu. O Domine Jesu Christe rex gloriae libera animas defunctorum de ore leonis ne absorbeat Tartarus ne cadant in obscurum. Hostias et preces tibi Domine laudis offerimus. Tu suscipe pro animabus illis quarum hodie memoriam facimus. Fac eas Domine de morte transire ad vitam quam olim Abrahae promisisti et semini eius. Amen.

III

Sanctus sanctus sanctus Dominus Deus Sabaoth. Pleni sunt coeli et terra gloria tua. Hosanna in excelsis.

IV

Pie Jesu Domine dona eis requiem sempiternam.

V

Agnus Dei qui tollis peccata mundi dona eis requiem sempternam. Lux aeterna luceat eis Domine cum sanctis tuis in aeternum quia pius es. Requiem aeternam dona eis Domine et lux perpetua luceat eis.

VI

Libera me Domine de morte aeterna In die illa tremenda quando coeli movendi sunt et terra dum veneris judicare saeculum per ignem. Tremens factus sum ego et timeo dum discussio venerit atque ventura ira. Dies illa dies irae calamitatis et miseriae dies illa dies magna et amara valde. Requiem aeternam dona eis Domine et lux perpetua luceat eis.

VII

In paradisum deducant angeli in tuo adventu. Suscipiant te martyres et perducant te in civitatem sanctam Jerusalem. Chorus angelorum te suscipiat et cum Lazaro quondaf paupere aeternam habeas requiem.

Benediction
Organ Postlude: Processional Music from Finale, Act I, "Parsifal"
Richard Wagner
(1813-1883)

At Rochester University

The faculty of Rochester University have done away with eight o'clock classes for the reason that they prefer to have students sleep in bed rather than in classes.

It is incredible that students have any difficulty in staying awake in any class, for classes should always hold the greatest interest for the student. The professor is always in good humor, admittedly students are never behind in their work, assignments are never so long that the student has to stay up late and study them and, above all, lectures are never boresome.

Students are never tempted to cut that early morning class in order to indulge in a few more minutes' sleep. Yawns are uncommon in the classroom, which all goes to prove that if you are here for an education, the hour when you receive your education will not be the predominant factor.

After all, the point is this: Wouldn't it be nice to do away with 8.30 classes here? For we'll agree with the Rochester faculty that the bed is a much more comfortable place to sleep than these hard one-armed chairs.—University Kansan.

Barney Berlinger won the decathlon event in the University of Pennsylvania relays in 1930, James Baush triumphed In the same event at the 1932 Olympics. Why not another S A E to win at the University of Vermont? Julius Jezukawicz performed the feat and defeated his opponents in the hexathlon held at the University recently.

Main street is Main street again in Canon City, Colo. Two months ago the city council, as an economy measure, ordered every other street light turned off. Now, after an agreement with the power company, the lights have been turned on again and Main street shines out in all its glory.

After reading the collegiate humorous magazines, one can understand why material for publication is called "copy."
—Notre Dame Juggler.

Emma Lou's Diary

By Emma Lou

Dear Diary

How time does fly! [illegible] days before vacation! [illegible] any time at all since [illegible] are not quite ten more [illegible] Then my freshman year [illegible] and I don't know whether I [illegible] sorry.

Tuesday night I went [illegible] hear S. K. Ratcliffe a [illegible] It was very worthwhile—

Oh!—

Frances Frost read some [illegible] to our English class one [illegible] uated from here, and is [illegible] most modern women poets [illegible] and is even now in the front [illegible] will she become?

Sylvia Boyd, a senior [illegible] scholarship to study in Fr[illegible] I think it is simply wonder[illegible] certainly deserves it. Seems [illegible] some honor for the Universit[illegible]

The pledges of the various [illegible] are giving teas for the [illegible] others. They are fun, and I [illegible] several girls whom I didn't [illegible]

What weather we've [illegible] Rain, sleet, snow, sun, sleet, [illegible] rain, ice!

Grassmount and Campus H[illegible] vic dances Saturday night.

The men's fraternities have [illegible] ing initiation. Those late calls [illegible] poor initiates are rather exciting.

"In the spring a young man's [illegible] turns to thoughts of love," and a woman's turn to spring clothes! [illegible] seeing things though multi[illegible] glasses to look at the gay spring [illegible] which are out on style parade. [illegible] Nicholas says that most every daytime frock is worked out in color or bi-color ways. She also that fringe, checks, stripes, and [illegible] are due for a run of popularity.

A Maiden's Soliloquy

To eat, or not to eat; that is the question:
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to
The stares and glances for an ideal figure,
Or to forego all pleasing victuals
And by not eating, be thin, to starve eat—
No more; and by a fast to say we
The wrinkles and the thousand chins
That flesh is heir to, 'tis a perfect
Devoutly to be wished. To change shape;
To fast; perchance to starve; aye, there the rub;
For to that starving soul tem come,
When we have shuffled off de sweet,
To give us pause: There's the re
That makes calamity of such a
For who could bear against the of apple dumplings,
The teacher's threat, the sentence tumely,
The pangs of empty stomach, [illegible] eggs,
The isolence of rules, and the [illegible]
The patient fat one of the skinny
When she herself might eat a hearty
In one great mouthful. Who could self,
To grunt and sweat under weari cise,
But that the dread of giving up food,
An undiscovered pleasure, which tation
No one refuses, puzzles the will
And makes us rather bear the ills have
Than be uncomfortable for a moment?
Thus hunger does make cowards
And thus the noble point of resolution
Is sicklied o'er with the pale thought,
And calories of great power and
With this regard are tempted stomachs,
And use the name of action.

Apologies to an unknown

PRINCETON KEEPS THE SITUATION IN

In the midst of national uncertainty, caused by the prolonged holiday, Princeton's own local problem was partially alleviated when The Daily Princetonian publication, issued $500 in cent denominations to relieve dents who were in need of The issue was printed on the presses and guaranteed by W. Selden, business manager and was generally accepted purchases by the major concerns in Princeton. limit for each individual was and there continued to be more scrip on the part of graduates, The Princetonian to increase the issue "in view that the amount in circulation sufficient to provide an temporary medium of exchange."

Although definite results lacking, the fact that the erally accepted insures the action for which The serves the highest praise. Gauss, Dean of Princeton hearty approval of the move lic service."

SPORTS NEWS

FINAL MATCHES OF WRESTLING TOURNAMENT FAST AND FURIOUS

Bellino, Crandall, Keelan, Segur, Miller, Paul, and Caracciolo Win Matches

TROPHIES PRESENTED AT CONCLUSION OF BOUTS

The final matches in the wrestling tournament and the final run for the interfraternity relay championship were held last Wednesday afternoon in the gym. In the 115-pound class Bellino secured a fall on Ronca in 5 minutes 40 seconds. The matchmakers had some difficulty in finding an opponent for Bellino; Ronca agreed to wrestle on short notice, however, and made an excellent showing. With more experience and adequate training this combination may be expected to put on a more evenly matched exhibition next year.

Wrestling in the 125-pound class, Crandall secured a time advantage of 3 minutes 27 seconds over Lyford. The latter apparently was not in as good form as shown previously during the contest, but at least stayed on his feet to prevent the loss of the match by a fall. The entrants in the 135-pound class were Shelc and Keelan. Shelc has shown up well during the tournament and was picked as a possible winner; Keelan, however, sprung an unexpected fall at the end of 2 minutes 28 seconds to win the match.

Hale and Segur were opponents in the 145-pound class. Both boys put on a good exhibition, with Segur getting the decisive fall in 6 minutes 40 seconds.

The best battle of the afternoon was staged by Miller and Varricchione, entrants in the 158-pound class. Both men were evenly matched and each had secured his share of falls, which evened the count at the end of the

(Continued on page 4)

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL TEAM HOLDS BANQUET

All Members of Class Teams Were Present and Varsity Team Was Announced

The annual basketball banquet was held Wednesday night at the Catholic Daughters' Rooms for all members of the first teams of the four classes and the substitutes. Members of the second teams acted as waitresses. After the banquet, Ara Armstrong '33 announced the varsity team.

About sixty-five people enjoyed the banquet sponsored by W. A. A. for all the people who had played in the interclass game.

After eating was over, several girls gave pep talks. Grace Harris '34 spoke on loyalty; Susan France '35 on cooperation; Mary Petras '33 used "How's the Game" as the subject for her talk; and Ruth Barron '36 spoke on fair dealing.

Ara Armstrong announced the varsity made up of "Nat" Hilliker '36 and "Junk" Mount '35 as guards, "Elda" Miller '33 and "Rene" LaFountain '35 as forwards, and "Meg" Millet '35 and Alice Lunna '33 as centers. The evening was closed by the singing of "Champlain."

There will be an indoor rally Tuesday, March 28, at Robinson Hall, when the new W. A. A. officers will be installed and the spring awards made.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

Misfortune again seems to have overtaken Bill Carr, Pennsylvania's star Olympic quarter-miler who is now in a hospital with two broken ankles and a fractured pelvic bone, the result of an automobile accident.

While in high school he had the misfortune to break both ankles competing in the high jump, and recovered to become one of the most brilliant quarter-milers in track history.

We most sincerely hope that this latest setback will not put an abrupt end to his brilliant career.

After looking over the baseball squad in their workout last Saturday afternoon, we were quite impressed in the way that Coaches Larry Gardner and Doc Newton have brought them along.

The pitching staff seems particularly well fortified with the veterans Layden, Farmer and Beckley flanked by Swartz, Spicer, Lanahan and Garrett.

The infield problem seems far from settled, with Capt. Dutch McKay, the Flying Baptist, and Ambrose "Bobby" Burns looking quite impressive.

The outfield candidates are all hitting those re-covered pills hard. Especially Razor Talbert, who had a great season last summer with the Monkton Mongrels.

WOMEN'S RIFLE TEAM GETS SCORE OF 1,488 IN 15-PLACE MATCH

Misses Smith, Bishop, Thomas, Allen, Cabot, Hutchins, LeBaron, Poling, Vosburgh and Walker Have Perfect Scores

CORNELL, SYRACUSE AND WYOMING ARE OPPONENTS

With the three other universities in the country who have women's rifle teams of sufficient size and ability to furnish teams of fifteen women, the University of Vermont has just completed firing a 15-place match, turning in 10 perfect scores, three 98's and two 97's for a total of 1,488. Cornell, Syracuse and Wyoming are the opponents, and their scores have not as yet been received.

In most rifle matches, ten women shoot the five highest counting. In six such intercollegiate matches during the past week, Vermont had scores of 500. In two matches where fifteen girls fired, the highest ten counting, Vermont scored 998 against Indiana and 996 against Missouri.

The week marked a depletion in the ranks of the sharpshooters who had not missed a bull's-eye in team competition this season. Miss Daisy Putnam of Springfield, turned in a 98, leaving the Misses Esther Smith, Lyndonville, Ethel Bishop, Springfield, and Frances Thomas, Jeffersonville, all seniors, to contend for highest honors. There will be two weeks more of competition.

In addition to the four scores given above, the results of the 15-place match were: Helen Allen, Burlington; Carolyn Cabot, Woodstock; Genevieve Hutchins, Tupper Lake, N.Y.; Katherine LeBaron,

(Continued on page 4)

ZETA CHI WINS WINTER SPORTS COMPETITION WITH PHI DELTS SECOND

Zets Score 41 Points, Phi Delts 34 and A. T. O.'S 27

WINNERS LEAD IN SNOWSHOEING EVENTS

Leading its nearest opponent by 9 points, Zeta Chi clinched the interfraternity winter sports title with 44 points by winning all but one place in the four snowshoeing events.

Although handicapped somewhat by the weather, the winter sports program was completed. This year there were a few more competing in comparison with last year and the program was very successful in the opinion of the directors H. A. Prentice and A. T. Post.

The three groups of contests, skating, skiing and snowshoeing, were held at various times, governed by weather conditions.

Skating

One-quarter mile—1st, McCrea, A. T. O.; 2nd, Ricker, Zeta Chi; 3rd, Loudon, Phi Delta Theta. Time, 53.2 seconds.

One-mile—1st, McCrea, A. T. O.; 2nd, Ricker, Zeta Chi; 3rd Loudon, Phi Delta Theta. Time, 4 minutes 14.6 seconds.

Two-mile—1st, Martin, A. T. O.; 2nd, McCrea, A. T. O.; 3rd, Ricker, Zeta Chi. Time 9 minutes 33.8 seconds.

One-mile relay—Won by A. T. O. (Burke, McCrea, Ferriter, Martin); 2nd, Phi Delta Theta; 3rd, Zeta Chi. Time, 3 minutes 59 seconds.

Skiing

Cross-country—1st, Suitor, Phi Delta Theta; 2nd, Dutton, Zeta Chi; 3rd,

(Continued on page 4)

PROF. CARPENTER WINS HANDBALL TOURNAMENT

Defeats Kiphuth to Get Faculty Title—To Play Student Champion Soon

Prof. F. D. Carpenter, head of the German department at the University of Vermont and coach of the tennis team, won the faculty handball tournament Saturday, defeating H. B. Kiphuth, instructor in the German department.

Professor Carpenter will meet the winner of the student championship, which is to be fought out between Chet Taft, senior, three-letter athlete, and Eddie Wimant, three-letter athlete who graduated last year and is now studying medicine. Wimant is defending student champion.

LIVE in FRENCH

Residential Summer School (co-educational) June 26-July 29. Only French spoken. Fee $150. Board and Tuition. Elementary, Intermediate, Advanced. Write for circular to Secretary, Residential French Summer School.

McGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA

Interfraternity Track Meet

40-yard dash	2 (1)
Shot put	2 (1)
Pole vault	2 (1)
One-mile run	2 (1)
35-pound hammer throw	2 (1)
Broad jump	2 (1)
30-yard high hurdles	2 (1)
44-yard run (two men at a time against time)	2 (1)
30-yard low hurdles	3 (1)
Two-mile run	3 (1)
High jump	3 (1)
88-yard run	3 (1)

There will be four places to count 5-3-2-1. The total points will be 132.

Officials

Starter—A. T. Post
L. W. Gardner
M. Aldrich

Timers—H. A. Prentice
Dr. E. S. Kent
L. W. Gardner
M. Aldrich

Clerk of course—Carl Kilburn

Asst. clerks—Carlson, Patterson, Lwobicy, Musicant, Pozzabut, Householder and Panettieri

Judges—Running—All the timers
H. Avery, H. Kiphuth

Field—R. Bassett, A. Gershov, L. Sutton, J. Burke

Announcer—W. Bedell

U. V. M. RIFLE TEAM WINS SHOULDER-TO-SHOULDER MATCH FROM MC GILL

Donahue, Hopkinson, Williams, Sheldon, Burke and Darden Win 957-869

MEN TO COMPETE FOR HEARST TROPHY

The University of Vermont rifle team defeated McGill University Saturday in a shoulder-to-shoulder match at Montreal by a score of 957 to 869.

Six men fired for each college, the five highest counting. The sixth man for Vermont turned in a 188 to tie with McGill's best shot. All targets were fired from prone position.

Individual scores for Vermont were: R. M. Donahue '34, Jericho, 193; J. W. Hopkinson '35, Derby, 192; P. W. Williams '34, Montpelier, 192; H. J. Sheldon '33, Fair Haven, 190; W. J. Burke '33, Rutland, 190; A. S. C. Darden '35, Townshend, 188.

These six men, and G. G. Davis '34, Springfield, and R. H. Treadway '34, Burlington, will fire an elimination tomorrow and Wednesday to pick five men to represent Vermont in the Hearst trophy competition to be fired Thursday and Friday. This competition is open to all R. O. T. C. units in the United States in team competition, firing from four positions.

WORLD'S TALLEST MONARCH

King Christian X of Denmark, the tallest monarch, measures six feet six inches. He is also a fine linguist, speaking some five languages.

INTERFRAT TRACK AND FIELD MEET SCHEDULED FOR TOMORROW IN GYM

Kappa Sigma, the Winner Last Year, Expected to Have a Strong Team

INDEPENDENTS ALSO HAVE GOOD TEAM

Saturday afternoon another competition will be held which will bring again the fraternities on the hill against each other. The Interfraternity track meet has during the past week, aroused great interest and every day has found the gym packed with embryo athletes getting in practice for the event in which they intend to compete. Assistant track managers have been kept busy checking off the five practices necessary to each candidate before he can compete in the meet.

The interest this year has been spurred on by the Hexathlon and the interfraternity relays which have uncovered some exceptional material among the freshman class. Jezukawicz, Andrews, Connor, Martin, Suitor and Jones added to last year's stars of Cook, Lanahan, Sowka, Meligonis, Smith, Delfausse and Wessly should make the meet one close event after another.

Kappa Sigma, the winner of the meet last year, will make a strong bid for first place honors and will undoubtedly furnish strong competition. They have Cook for the weights, Smith and Meligonis for the sprints, Sowka for the pole vault, Adams for the hurdles and broad jump and Farmer, Hebb and Howe for the distances. Onnie Brown will take care of the high jump and will also throw the weights. They have a well-balanced team with few outstanding individuals.

(Continued on page 4)

INDEPENDENTS WIN RELAY CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeat Phi Delta Wednesday Afternoon After Establishing Record in Semi-finals

The deciding race for the interfraternity relay championship was run off between the wrestling bouts. The Independents entered the race confident of a victory, after establishing a new record of 2 minutes 40.6 seconds for the University last Monday. The Phi Delta Theta combination reached the final bracket as opponents of the Independents. The Independents secured an early lead in the race which they maintained throughout the running. Suitor, running for the Phi Delts in the third lap, regained some of the lost ground, but the lead of the Independents proved too difficult to approach and the Independents won by about a quarter of a lap. The Independents finished the race in 2 minutes 51 seconds, which was slower than the record they previously established. The Phi Delta Theta entrants were Caldwell, Grant, Suitor and Syme. The Independents were represented by Joe and Roly Delfausse, Wessly and Martin.

Easter Sale

STARTING SATURDAY, MARCH 25

All New Spring Merchandise at Prices Far Below Normal

TOPCOATS as low as	$12.50
SUITS	20% OFF
SHIRTS (Fine Values)	$1.00
NEW NECKWEAR	50c
PAJAMAS	$1.00

Everything Reduced

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

BURLINGTON'S
JUBILEE
SALE
March 25th to April 1st

50 Suits
25 O'Coats
at $15
Values up to $35

MANY SPECIAL ITEMS!

Miles & Perry Co.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Since 1898

The BARGAIN PRICE
on
CAP AND GOWN RENTALS
with purchase of
INVITATIONS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS
lasts only to the
EASTER RECESS

Place your order now
at the
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

CHARLES J. LIBBY '34.....Editor-in-Chief
AUGUSTA COHEN '34.....Women's Editor
WILLIAM COHEN '34.....Managing Editor
WILLIAM BRISLIN '34.....Sports Editor
REALTUS McCUIN '34.....Recording Editor
GEORGE H. BURROWS II '34.....Business Manager
CHARLES J. LIBBY '34.....Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Dorothy Kennedy '35 Helen Mount '35
Howard Abbott '35 Dustin White '35
Stuart Wright '35 Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

Nathaniel Gould '35
Milton Greenburg '34
Ruth Kobel '34
Jane Parsons '35

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

COLUMNIST

Robert Weissman '34

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge.....DUSTIN WHITE

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year, single copy, five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at THE VERMONT CYNIC Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1446.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 March 24, 1933 No. 44

Editorials

SUCCESS

Many aspiring business men and many earnest college students may be quoted as saying, "Success means nothing more than winning at your neighbor's expense." To further this idea, we call attention to the transaction on the ever-changing stock market, whereby a gain for one person means a corresponding loss for someone else.

If this statement is true, if our education serves merely to instill in us the thought that to be a success in the world we must beat out the other fellow, then education becomes harmful and defeats its own end—cultural advancement. Success must be viewed from an absolute as well as from a relative standard. We may consider that a man is successful when he achieves a position superior to his fellow man; or our infinitely wiser conception may be that a person, who has improved his own status without thinking of it in relation to someone else's, is successful.

If to be successful we must always attempt to better our position by the exploitation of others, then true happiness is but a vain ideal. What person can be truly happy if, continually suspicious of his neighbor's doings, he knows that he must either crush or be crushed?

But why not look at success from another point of view? If we measure the progress we have made, not with a side glance at others, but concerning ourselves mainly with our own intellectual and physical betterment, then there will be room for ambition for everyone, and if success is attained, it will be at the expense of no one, but to the advantage of all.

FOR BETTER HEALTH STANDARDS

One of the prime requisites of happiness and success, both in school and in the business world, is good health. In an attempt to promote interest in physical well-being, Health Week was sponsored by the Health Council of Y. W. C. A. Yesterday saw the termination of a four-day schedule of events, which were intended to give all girls an equal opportunity to check up on their health and hear various helpful suggestions concerning the personal management of their everyday lives.

To be sure, Health Week comes only once each year. The Winged Victory, a statue awarded each year to the girl who has the best carriage in school, has already been won. The speeches, which were of great value to listeners, are over, but the spirit of good health should be carried on throughout the entire year. To those who have failed to observe faithfully good health doctrines, the time to reform is now at hand.

Spring, in spite of all pessimistic observations, will soon be here. The ground will be clear and free from snow. It is everyone's opportunity to breathe good, clean air after months of wintry atmosphere—air either very damp or very cold. In the winter time a person develops sedentary habits, but, with spring close at hand, the ill effects of the long, dragging winter are easily thrown off.

Now is the time one may build toward a healthier life. To be effective, one must make the entire year a period of continuous good health, instead of confining his efforts to four days. College life is often a hard grind, and to be a complete success in it one must be able to work hard.

We close the book on the week just ended with a fond hope that its theme will linger long in the minds of all those concerned and will influence them strongly toward an honest attempt to raise Vermont's health standards as far above the average as possible.

BASEBALL

The passing of the basketball season has left a gap in the sports regime of the University, but during Easter vacation fans will be in a position to observe and comment on the further ventures of the Catamount teams. Already the baseball team is shaping up for its trip which begins next week. With the basketball championship chalked up to the Green and Gold athletes, there will be many persons speculating about the possibility of a baseball title as well.

The University of Vermont nine meets its first antagonists, Annapolis, while on the southern trip. Next Thursday the team will embark on a long invasion of the Southland. No other Vermont team will make a southern trip preparatory to its regular scheduled games as the Cats will.

Soon the major leagues will begin their circuits, and in some quarters the interest in the coming horse races will be great. Baseball will reign supreme in college, high school, industrial and amateur athletics as the true spring season is once more ushered in to play its vital part in the realm of sports.

CONGRATULATIONS

Here's a toast to the King of Athletes, and here's another toast to the Posture Queen. May their success continue both in college and in the fast-moving whirl of the business world. To the man who had the grit and the stamina to last through an ordeal such as the hexathlon, and then win, we extend the heartiest congratulations. To the student who has been deemed worthy of selection as the girl with the best posture at the University we offer additional felicitations.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Caroline Whitney '31 was in town for the week-end.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Mrs. Parmelee, a national officer, recently visited the Eta Chapter. A tea was given in her honor by Mrs. Lindsay.

The Trident degree was given Wednesday to Marjorie Cook '36 and Frances Whalen '35.

The pledges held a tea Thursday afternoon for the pledges of the other sororities.

The initiation banquet will be held Saturday evening at the Hotel Vermont.

PI BETA PHI

Mrs. Marie Stebbins of Pittsburgh, Pa., president of Beta Province, is in town. A tea was given in her honor at the chapter house on Wednesday.

SIGMA GAMMA

Ruth Spear '31 was in town for the week-end.

KAPPA DELTA

Orabelle Main '32 of Groton was in town for the week-end.

Winona Spencer '31, Winifred Stone '31, and Irene Marcott '30 were in town for the teachers' convention.

Dr. Dalton's Advice to College Students

(From Vermont Department of Health)

I have been asked to write a short statement for health week. Many subjects might be chosen, but the one most applicable at this time is probably the "common cold." This malady is so "common" that it frequently gets little attention, and yet it is a fact that a cold is often the beginning of more serious diseases. Further than that, it is one of the most contagious diseases known. It is spread from one person to another by sneezing, coughing, close contact, or any of the many ways in which saliva is freshly transferred.

A person who has a cold in the acute or "running" stage owes an obligation to others to remain apart until this stage is over. This may be an inconvenience, but is the safe way for the person himself and for those with whom he might come in contact. The best way is to remain in bed for a day or two, during which time the cold will often quickly subside and more serious results will be prevented. If it does not clear up, or if the fever continues for more than a few hours, the person should be seen by a physician.

Attention to these suggestions would save many days of illness and perhaps save lives.

Yours very truly,
CHAS. F. DALTON,
Secretary.

GROUP PLAYS TO BE PRESENTED NEXT TUESDAY

(Continued from page 1)

and Elizabeth Eckhard '33 are in charge of properties and staging.

No admission will be charged for the plays since it is the purpose of the Group Players to encourage dramatics among the students, not to make money. A collection will be taken to defray incidental costs of production.

The casting was done, as is customary, by members of the English department.

DEPUTATIONS SENT TO WINOOSKI, CAMBRIDGE

On March 19, V. C. A. sent out many more deputations.

At the Methodist Church in Winooski college students led all morning services. F. L. Kingsley '35 and W. D. White '35 were in charge of the regular service, while Sylvia Boyd '33 conducted the story-telling hour of the junior church program.

Sunday evening, residents in Cambridge were entertained by a musical program given by Norma Carder '33, Daisy Putnam '34, Mary Whitney '36, and R. S. Wright '35.

REQUIEM TO BE GIVEN AT EASTER CONCERT

(Continued from page 1)

ferni et de profundo lacu. O Domine Jesu Christe rex gloriae libera animas defunctorum de ore leonis ne absorbeat Tartarus ne cadant in obscurum. Hostias et preces tibi Domine laudis offerimus. Tu suscipe pro animabus illis quarum hodie memoriam facimus. Fac eas Domine de morte transire ad vitam quam olim Abrahae promisisti et semini eius. Amen.

III

Sanctus sanctus sanctus Dominus Deus Sabaoth. Pleni sunt coeli et terra gloria tua. Hosanna in excelsis.

IV

Pie Jesu Domine dona eis requiem sempiternam.

V

Agnus Dei qui tollis peccata mundi dona eis requiem sempternam. Lux aeterna luceat eis Domine cum sanctis tuis in aeternum quia pius es. Requiem aeternam dona eis Domine et lux perpetua luceat eis.

VI

Libera me Domine de morte aeterna. In die illa tremenda quando coeli movendi sunt et terra dum veneris judicare saeculum per ignem. Tremens factus sum ego et timeo dum discussio venerit atque ventura ira. Dies illa dies irae calamitatis et miseriae dies illa dies magna et amara valde. Requiem aeternam dona eis Domine et lux perpetua luceat eis.

VII

In paradisum deducant angeli in tuo adventu. Suscipiant te martyres et perducant te in civitatem sanctam Jerusalem. Chorus angelorum te suscipiat et cum Lazaro quondaf paupere aeternam habeas requiem.

Benediction
Organ Postlude: Processional Music from Finale, Act I, "Parsifal"
Richard Wagner
(1813-1883)

At Rochester University

The faculty of Rochester University have done away with eight o'clock classes for the reason that they prefer to have students sleep in bed rather than in classes.

It is incredible that students have any difficulty in staying awake in any class, for classes should always hold the greatest interest for the student. The professor is always in good humor, admittedly students are never behind in their work, assignments are never so long that the student has to stay up late and study them and, above all, lectures are never boresome.

Students are never tempted to cut that early morning class in order to indulge in a few more minutes' sleep. Yawns are uncommon in the classroom, which all goes to prove that if you are here for an education, the hour when you receive your education will not be the predominant factor.

After all, the point is this: Wouldn't it be nice to do away with 8.30 classes here? For we'll agree with the Rochester faculty that the bed is a much more comfortable place to sleep than these hard one-armed chairs.—University Kansan.

Barney Berlinger won the decathlon event in the University of Pennsylvania relays in 1930, James Baush triumphed In the same event at the 1932 Olympics. Why not another S A E to win at the University of Vermont? Julius Jezukawicz performed the feat and defeated his opponents in the hexathlon held at the University recently.

Main street is Main street again in Canon City, Colo. Two months ago the city council, as an economy measure, ordered every other street light turned off. Now, after an agreement with the power company, the lights have been turned on again and Main street shines out in all its glory.

After reading the collegiate humorous magazines, one can understand why material for publication is called "copy."—Notre Dame Juggler.

Emma Lou's Di

By EMMA L.

Dear Diary:

How time does fly! ... days before vacation! It ... any time at all since ... are not quite ten more ... Then my freshman year ... and I don't know whether I'll ... sorry.

Tuesday night I went to ... hear S. K. Ratcliffe, a ... It was very worthwhile—

Oh!—

Frances Frost read some ... to our English class one day ... uated from here, and is one ... most modern women poets. She ... and is even now in the front ran... will she become?

Sylvia Boyd, a senior, has ... scholarship to study in Franc... I think it is simply wonderful ... certainly deserves it. Seems to ... some honor for the University.

The pledges of the various ... are giving teas for the pledges ... others. They are fun, and I ... several girls whom I didn't kn...

What weather we've been ... Rain, sleet, snow, sun, sleet, ... rain, ice!

Grassmount and Campus H... vic dances Saturday night.

The men's fraternities have ... ing initiation. Those late calls ... poor initiates are rather excitin...

"In the spring a young man ... turns to thoughts of love," and ... woman's turn to spring clothes ... seeing things though mul... glasses to look at the gay sprin... which are out on style parade. ... Nicholas says that most ever... daytime frock is worked out ... color or bi-color ways. She ... that fringe, checks, stripes, a... are due for a run of popularity.

A Maiden's Soliloquy

To eat, or not to eat; that is tion:
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind
The stares and glances for an figure,
Or to forego all pleasing victuals
And by not eating, be thin, to s eat—
No more; and by a fast to say
The wrinkles and the thousan chins
That flesh is heir to, 'tis a perf
Devoutly to be wished. To cha shape;
To fast; perchance to starve; ay
the rub;
For to that starving soul te come,
When we have shuffled off d
sweet,
To give us pause: There's the
That makes calamity of such a
For who could bear against t of apple dumplings,
The teacher's threat, the sen
tumely,
The pangs of empty stomach,
eggs,
The isolence of rules, and the s
The patient fat one of the skin
When she herself might eat a ho
In one great mouthful. Who ex self,
To grunt and sweat under wea
cise,
But that the dread of giving food,
An undiscovered pleasure, whi
tation
No one refuses, puzzles the will
And makes us rather bear the have
Than be uncomfortable for moment?
Thus hunger does make cowards
And thus the noble point of re
Is sicklied o'er with the pale thought,
And calories of great power an
With this regard are tempte stomachs,
And use the name of action.

Apologies to an unknown

PRINCETON KEEPS TH SITUATION IN

In the midst of national confi... uncertainty, caused by the prolon... holiday, Princeton's own little ... problem was partially alleviated ... when The Daily Princetonian ... publication, issued $500 in ... cent denominations to relieve ... dents who were in need of ... The issue was printed on the ... presses and guaranteed by W... Selden, business manager ... and was generally accepted ... purchases by the majority ... concerns in Princeton. ... limit for each individual was ... and there continued to be a ... more scrip on the part of ... graduates, The Princetonian ... to increase the issue "in view ... that the amount in circulation ... sufficient to provide an ... porary medium of exchange."

Although definite reports ... lacking, the fact that the ... erally accepted insures the ... action for which The Prince... serves the highest praise. Dr. ... Gauss, Dean of Princeton, ... hearty approval of the measure ... lic service."

SPORTS NEWS

FINAL MATCHES OF WRESTLING TOURNAMENT FAST AND FURIOUS

Bellino, Crandall, Keelan, Segur, Miller, Paul, and Caracciolo Win Matches

TROPHIES PRESENTED AT CONCLUSION OF BOUTS

The final matches in the wrestling tournament and the final run for the interfraternity relay championship were held last Wednesday afternoon in the gym. In the 115-pound class Bellino secured a fall on Ronca in 5 minutes 49 seconds. The matchmakers had some difficulty in finding an opponent for Bellino; Ronca agreed to wrestle at short notice, however, and made an excellent showing. With more experience and adequate training this combination may be expected to put on a more evenly matched exhibition next year.

Wrestling in the 125-pound class, Crandall secured a time advantage of 2 minutes 27 seconds over Lyford. The latter apparently was not in as good condition as shown previously during the season, but at least stayed on his feet to prevent the loss of the match by a fall. The entrants in the 135-pound class were Shelc and Keelan. Shelc has shown up well during the tournament and was picked as a possible winner; Keelan, however, sprung an unexpected fall at the end of 2 minutes 28 seconds to win the match.

Hale and Segur were opponents in the 145-pound class. Both boys put on a good exhibition, with Segur getting the decisive fall in 6 minutes 40 seconds.

The best battle of the afternoon was staged by Miller and Varricchione, entrants in the 158-pound class. Both men were evenly matched and each had secured his share of falls, which evened the count at the end of the

(Continued on page 4)

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL TEAM HOLDS BANQUET

All Members of Class Teams Were Present and Varsity Team Was Announced

The annual basketball banquet was held Wednesday night at the Catholic Daughters' Rooms for all members of the first teams of the four classes and the substitutes. Members of the second teams acted as waitresses. After the banquet, Ara Armstrong '33 announced the varsity team.

About sixty-five people enjoyed the banquet sponsored by W. A. A. for all the people who had played in the interclass game.

After eating was over, several girls gave pep talks. Grace Harris '34 spoke on loyalty; Susan France '35 on cooperation; Mary Petras '33 used "How's the Game" as the subject for her talk; and Ruth Barron '36 spoke on fair dealing.

Ara Armstrong announced the varsity made up of "Nat" Hilliker '36 and "Twink" Mount '35 as guards, "Elda" Miller '33 and "Rene" LaFountain '35 as forwards, and "Meg" Millet '35 and Alice Lunna '33 as centers. The evening was closed by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

There will be an indoor rally Tuesday, March 28, at Robinson Hall, when the new W. A. A. officers will be installed and the spring awards made.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

Misfortune again seems to have overtaken Bill Carr, Pennsylvania's star Olympic quarter-miler, who is now in a hospital with two broken ankles and a fractured pelvic bone, the result of an automobile accident.

While in high school he had the misfortune to break both ankles competing in the high jump, and recovered to become one of the most brilliant quarter milers in track history.

We most sincerely hope that this latest setback will not put an abrupt end to his brilliant career.

After looking over the baseball squad in their workout last Saturday afternoon, we were quite impressed in the way that Coaches Larry Gardner and Doc Newton have brought them along.

The pitching staff seems particularly well fortified with the veterans Layden, Farmer and Beckley flanked by Swartz, Spicer, Lanahan and Garrett.

The infield problem seems far from settled, with Capt. Dutch McKay, the Flying Baptist, and Ambrose "Bobby" Burns looking quite impressive.

The outfield candidates are all hitting those re-covered pills hard. Especially Razor Talbert, who had a great season last summer with the Monkton Mongrels.

WOMEN'S RIFLE TEAM GETS SCORE OF 1,488 IN 15-PLACE MATCH

Misses Smith, Bishop, Thomas, Allen, Cabot, Hutchins, LeBaron, Poling, Vosburgh and Walker Have Perfect Scores

CORNELL, SYRACUSE AND WYOMING ARE OPPONENTS

With the three other universities in the country who have women's rifle teams of sufficient size and ability to furnish teams of fifteen women, the University of Vermont has just completed firing a 15-place match, turning in 10 perfect scores, three 98's and two 97's for a total of 1,488. Cornell, Syracuse and Wyoming are the opponents, and their scores have not as yet been received.

In most rifle matches, ten women shoot, the five highest counting. In six such intercollegiate matches during the past week, Vermont had scores of 500. In two matches where fifteen girls fired, the highest ten counting, Vermont scored 998 against Indiana and 996 against Missouri.

The week marked a depletion in the ranks of the sharpshooters who had not missed a bull's-eye in team competition this season. Miss Daisy Putnam of Springfield, turned in a 98, leaving the Misses Esther Smith, Lyndonville, Ethel Bishop, Springfield, and Frances Thomas, Jeffersonville, all seniors, to contend for highest honors. There will be two weeks more of competition.

In addition to the four scores given above, the results of the 15-place match were: Helen Allen, Burlington; Carolyn Cabot, Woodstock; Genevieve Hutchins, Tupper Lake, N.Y.; Katherine LeBaron,

(Continued on page 4)

ZETA CHI WINS WINTER SPORTS COMPETITION WITH PHI DELTS SECOND

Zets Score 41 Points, Phi Delts 34 and A. T. O.'S 27

WINNERS LEAD IN SNOWSHOEING EVENTS

Leading its nearest opponent by 9 points, Zeta Chi clinched the interfraternity winter sports title with 44 points by winning all but one place in the four snowshoeing events.

Although handicapped somewhat by the weather, the winter sports program was completed. This year there were a few more competing in comparison with last year and the program was very successful in the opinion of the directors, H. A. Prentice and A. T. Post.

The three groups of contests, skating, skiing and snowshoeing, were held at various times, governed by weather conditions.

Skating

One-quarter mile—1st, McCrea, A. T. O.; 2nd, Ricker, Zeta Chi; 3rd, Loudon, Phi Delta Theta. Time, 53.2 seconds.

One-mile—1st, McCrea, A. T. O.; 2nd, Ricker, Zeta Chi; 3rd Loudon, Phi Delta Theta. Time, 4 minutes 14.6 seconds.

Two-mile—1st, Martin, A. T. O.; 2nd, McCrea, A. T. O.; 3rd, Ricker, Zeta Chi. Time 9 minutes 33.8 seconds.

One-mile relay—Won by A. T. O. (Burke, McCrea, Ferriter, Martin); 2nd, Phi Delta Theta; 3rd, Zeta Chi. Time, 3 minutes 59 seconds.

Skiing

Cross-country—1st, Suitor, Phi Delta Theta; 2nd, Dutton, Zeta Chi; 3rd.

(Continued on page 4)

PROF. CARPENTER WINS HANDBALL TOURNAMENT

Defeats Kiphuth to Get Faculty Title—To Play Student Champion Soon

Prof. F. D. Carpenter, head of the German department at the University of Vermont and coach of the tennis team, won the faculty handball tournament Saturday, defeating H. B. Kiphuth, instructor in the German department.

Professor Carpenter will meet the winner of the student championship, which is to be fought out between Chet Taft, senior, three-letter athlete, and Eddie Winant, three-letter athlete who graduated last year and is now studying medicine. Winant is defending student champion.

LIVE in FRENCH

Residential Summer School for educational aim. June 26 July 29. Only French spoken. Fee $150. Board and Tuition. Elementary, Intermediate, Advanced. Write for circular to Secretary, Residential French Summer School.

McGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA

BURLINGTON'S
JUBILEE
SALE
March 25th to April 1st

50 Suits
25 O'Coats
at $15
Values up to $35

MANY SPECIAL ITEMS!

Miles & Perry Co.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Since 1898

Interfraternity Track Meet

40 yard dash	2 (1)
Shot put	2 (1)
Pole vault	2 (1)
One mile run	2 (1)
35 pound hammer throw	2 (1)
Broad jump	2 (1)
30 yard high hurdles	2 (1)
44 yard run (two men at a time against time)	2 (4)
30 yard low hurdles	3 (1)
Two-mile run	3 (1)
High jump	3 (1)
88 yard run	3 (4)

There will be four places to count 5 3 2 1. The total points will be 13.

Officials

Starter—A. T. Post
J. W. Gardner
M. Aldrich

Timers—H. A. Prentice
Dr. F. S. Kent
L. W. Gardner
M. Aldrich

Clerk of course—Carl Kilburn

Asst. clerks—Carlson, Patterson, Twohey, Musicant, Pocgabut, Householder and Panettieri

Judges—Running—All the timers
H. Avery, H. Kiphuth

Field—R. Bassett, A. Gershoy, E. Sutton, J. Burke

Announcer—W. Bedell

U. V. M. RIFLE TEAM WINS SHOULDER-TO-SHOULDER MATCH FROM McGILL

Donahue, Hopkinson, Williams, Sheldon, Burke and Darden Win 957-869

MEN TO COMPETE FOR HEARST TROPHY

The University of Vermont rifle team defeated McGill University Saturday in a shoulder to shoulder match at Montreal by a score of 957 to 869.

Six men fired for each college, the five highest counting. The sixth man for Vermont turned in a 188 to tie with McGill's best shot. All targets were fired from prone position.

Individual scores for Vermont were: R. M. Donahue '34, Jericho, 193; J. W. Hopkinson '35, Derby, 192; P. W. Williams '34, Montpelier, 192; H. J. Sheldon '33, Fair Haven, 190; W. J. Burke '33, Rutland, 190; A. S. C. Darden '35, Townshend, 188.

These six men, and G. G. Davis '34, Springfield, and R. H. Treadway '34, Burlington, will fire an elimination tomorrow and Wednesday to pick five men to represent Vermont in the Hearst trophy competition to be fired Thursday and Friday. This competition is open to all R. O. T. C. units in the United States in team competition, firing from four positions.

WORLD'S TALLEST MONARCH

King Christian X of Denmark, the tallest monarch, measures six feet six inches. He is also a fine linguist, speaking some five languages.

INTERFRAT TRACK AND FIELD MEET SCHEDULED FOR TOMORROW IN GYM

Kappa Sigma, the Winner Last Year, Expected to Have a Strong Team

INDEPENDENTS ALSO HAVE GOOD TEAM

Saturday afternoon another competition will be held which will bring again the fraternities on the hill against each other. The Interfraternity track meet has, during the past week, aroused great interest and every day has found the gym packed with embryo athletes getting in practice for the event in which they intend to compete. Assistant track managers have been kept busy checking off the five practices necessary to each candidate before he can compete in the meet.

The interest this year has been spurred on by the Hexathlon and the interfraternity relays which have uncovered some exceptional material among the freshman class. Iezukawicz, Andress, Connor, Martin, Suitor and Jones, added to last year's stars of Cook, Lanahan, Sowka, Meligonis, Smith, Delfausse and Wesoly should make the meet one close event after another.

Kappa Sigma, the winner of the meet last year, will make a strong bid for first place honors and will undoubtedly furnish strong competition. They have Cook for the weights, Smith and Meligonis for the sprints, Sowka for the pole vault, Adams for the hurdles and broad jump and Farmer, Hebb and Howe for the distances. Ommie Brown will take care of the high jump and will also throw the weights. They have a well-balanced team with few outstanding individuals.

(Continued on page 4)

INDEPENDENTS WIN RELAY CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeat Phi Delts Wednesday Afternoon After Establishing Record in Semi-finals

The deciding race for the interfraternity relay championship was run off between the wrestling bouts. The Independents entered the race confident of a victory, after establishing a new record of 2 minutes 40.4 seconds for the University last Monday. The Phi Delta Theta combination reached the final bracket as opponents of the Independents. The Independents secured an early lead in the race which they maintained throughout the running. Suitor, running for the Phi Delts in the third lap, regained some of the lost ground, but the lead of the Independents proved too difficult to approach and the Independents won by about a quarter of a lap. The Independents finished the race in 2 minutes 51 seconds, which was slower than the record they previously established. The Phi Delta Theta entrants were Caldwell, Grant, Suitor and Syme. The Independents were represented by Joe and Roly Delfausse, Wesoly and Martin.

Easter Sale

STARTING SATURDAY, MARCH 25

All New Spring Merchandise at Prices Far Below Normal

TOPCOATS as low as	$12.50
SUITS	20% OFF
SHIRTS (Fine Values)	$1.00
NEW NECKWEAR	50c
PAJAMAS	$1.00

Everything Reduced

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

The BARGAIN PRICE
on
CAP AND GOWN RENTALS
with purchase of
INVITATIONS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS
lasts only to the
EASTER RECESS

Place your order now
at the
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

Vermont Fraternities

On May 26, 1848, a group of nine students met in the Old Mill to form a new fraternity. The names of this meeting were the founding of Delta Psi fraternity, the badges being first worn in public at Commencement 1850.

Two years later Delta Psi was a member of the Anti-secret Federation, a loosely connected body of anti-secret societies with chapters at Williams, Amherst, Union and other colleges. Since then, however, there has been no affiliation with any other society, although it has received offers from several national fraternities as well as one to become the mother chapter of a new national.

In 1858, the prospect of sometime owning a home led to its being incorporated and about that time some undergraduate members started a building fund. In June, 1860 the General Henry property on South Prospect street was purchased. It is now known as the music building, but served as the fraternity home for twenty years. In 1904 large additions such as a fraternity hall, dining room and billiard room were added to the building.

In 1871 John Ellsworth Goodrich, the last and most active of the founders died. The love and veneration in which he was held led to the dedication in 1924 of the new home on Summit Street as the Goodrich Memorial Home. This is Delta Psi's present house. It is spacious and roomy and contains a recreation room and a ballroom. Its view over the lake is one of the most beautiful in Burlington.

During its eighty-three years of existence Delta Psi has contributed six of the eleven Rhodes scholars from the University, and about 150 members of Phi Beta Kappa.

Some of the outstanding alumni of the fraternity are: Robert Hull Fleming, donator of the Fleming Museum; Charles W. Waterman, founder of the Waterman Fund, Dr. J. M. Wheeler, noted New York surgeon; John Dewey, outstanding authority on philosophy; Darwin P. Kingsley, late president of the New York Life Insurance Company, and Chief Justice George M. Powers of the Vermont Supreme Court.

KAPPA DELTA PI OFFERS $1,000 RESEARCH AWARD TO EDUCATION STUDENTS

National Honorary Education Society Offers Prize for Development of Problem

Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary education society, is offering its second $1,000 Research Award, for which the competition will close December, 1933. The problem selected for the competition has been formulated as follows: "What educational program will best meet the needs of our developing social and economic situation?"

Manuscripts will be reviewed by the Executive Council of the society and by such expert students of the problem involved as the council may select. The three best of five manuscripts deemed most worthy by these judges will then be submitted to a committee of the Laureate Chapter of the society for final decision.

Manuscripts will be considered for the award only under the following conditions:

1. Each must represent original and unpublished work.

2. Although longer manuscripts will be considered, preference will be given rather things approximately equal) to reports that do not exceed one hundred fifty (150) double-spaced typed pages, 8½ by 11 in. It will expedite the work of the readers if two copies of each manuscript are to be sent.

3. While joint or co-operative authorship is not discouraged, each manuscript must be submitted in the name of one person.

4. Names should not appear on the manuscripts. Names and addresses should be sent with the manuscript in a sealed envelope and an identifying number or mark should be placed on the envelope and on the manuscript.

5. The competition is open to anyone anywhere, but reports must be submitted in the English language.

6. The society through its Executive Council reserves the right to reject any manuscript or all manuscripts and the right to divide the prize among two or more contestants or in the opinion of the judges, omit a award is merited.

7. The prize-winning manuscript or manuscripts will become the property of the society and will be published in its monograph series without cost to the author or authors. If the net sales should exceed the total cost of the award and of publication (including distribution and not to exceed that) the balance will be divided equally between the author or authors and the society on the basis of an annual accounting.

8. At its discretion the society may publish with the winning manuscript or manuscripts other reports entered in the competition. Such publications however shall be only with the consent of the authors and the latter shall not participate in the profits from sales.

9. At its discretion, with the consent of the authors, the society may arrange for separate publication in its monograph series or for abridged or condensed form in the Kadelpian Review manuscripts that are not awarded the prize.

10. The society assumes no responsibility for loss or damage of manuscripts while in its possession or while in transit. Contestants who desire manuscripts to be returned if unsuccessful should send return postage.

11. To be considered in the competition manuscripts must be in the hands of the recording treasurer of the society not later than December, 1933.

WRESTLING TOURNAMENT COMPLETED WEDNESDAY

(Continued from page 3)

ten minute period, and necessitated an overtime period of five minutes. The crowd of mat fans was in an uproar as both wrestlers continued to secure falls. At the end of the overtime period Miller had won by a time advantage of only 1 minute 44 seconds, proof of the closest match of the day.

In the 175-pound class Susie Paul defeated Murph Eisenberg by a fall in 2 minutes 51 seconds. Carraciola, in his usual good form, won the unlimited championship title by throwing Beardsley in 2 minutes 46 seconds. Kelley and Rome put on the only boxing exhibition of the afternoon, which proved to be a fast but rough and tumble match.

The wrestling tournament this year, sponsored and managed by the physical education department, has undoubtedly been the most successful one in several years. The initial tournament was held several years ago in the small gym, and only a few students showed much interest in the event. However, enthusiasm has grown rapidly in the last few years, resulting in a greater number of entries in the events and a larger body of students attending the tournament.

After the completion of the program awards were made to the winners by H. A. Prentice, director of the contests. The following winners in the wrestling matches received medals: Bellino, Crandall, Keelan, Segur, Miller, Paul and Carraciola.

The Zeta Chi fraternity, with 44 points, won the trophy for the interfraternity winter sports competition. Phi Delta Theta and Alpha Tau Omega fraternities had 35 and 27 points, respectively, in the same contest.

J. J. Jezukawicz '36 of Gardner, Mass., was awarded the first trophy given to the winner of the hexathlon held in memory of Prof. James E. Lenehan. In awarding the trophy H. A. Prentice stated that the hexathlon was a fair test of the athletic ability of the winner, and that the winner can and should be considered the best individual all-around athlete in the University. J. E. Willis '33 and J. J. Delfausse '34 received honorable mention for placing second and third in the contest.

The interfraternity relay trophy was awarded to the Independents and will be displayed in such a place as that body may designate. The awarding of the points in regard to the Traynor trophy will be decided upon by the Key and Serpent Society, as the Independents are a non-fraternity organization and there is a question as to whom shall be credited with the points. The winner of the relays receives three points and the team placing second gets one point.

The Duchy of Luxemburg has a force of some 100 police and an ornamental army of 250.

BASEBALL TEAM HAS NOT BEEN PICKED YET FOR SOUTHERN TRIP

Fourteen Men Will Leave on Annual Trip Next Thursday

The first game on the southern trip with Navy at Annapolis is but ten days off, yet Coach Lefty Gardner is still undecided as to the choice of men to go. The element of uncertainty that the squad has thus created has brought forth an unusual amount of zeal from the squad. The southern trip is, of course, the goal of every Vermont baseball aspirant and it appears that every one of those twenty-five men is trying to convince the coach that they ought to go. No one is positive that he will make the trip, even the veterans of past years' squads realize that there is plenty of competition. As a matter of fact, uniforms have not been issued, and this only adds to the all-important question. Only fourteen men will be picked to leave on Thursday for that hard-earned invasion of the South.

Ed Layden looks like the star twirler and Swartz and Garrett are not far behind him. Spud Farmer's arm is beginning to come around and he will be in shape soon. The pitching staff is at a disadvantage practicing in the cage, but weather conditions offer them no alternative. Stretch Kirley, frosh twirler and former Cushing star, looks like real material for next year's varsity.

The boys spent most of Monday's practice period brushing up on the fine points of hunting. The coach seems well satisfied with the way the squad is hitting. There is another point to consider in the choice of men for the trip, that the men who do make the trip will not necessarily comprise the team for the home season. So the southern trip is not wholly a deciding factor.

WOMEN'S RIFLE TEAM IN 15-PLACE MATCH

(Continued from page 3)

Morrisville. Mary Poling, Hillsborough, N. H.; Mildred Vosburgh, South Burlington; and Lenda Walker, Chelsea, all 100. Janet Dodds, Burlington and Marion Urie, Craftsbury Common, 98; Helen Miller, Danvers, Mass., and Esther Sinclair, Essex Junction, 97.

Scores in the 10-place matches were: Against Indiana, Misses Allen, Bishop, Hutchins, LeBaron, Poling, Smith, Thomas, Vosburgh and Walker, 100; Misses Putnam and Urie, 98; Miss Miller, 97; Miss Eckhard, Burlington, 95; Medora Kendall, Newport and Katharine Worthen, Springfield, Mass., 94; Against Missouri, Misses Allen, Bishop, Hutchins, Poling, Smith, Thomas, Vosburgh, Walker, 100; Putnam and Urie, 98; Miller and Sinclair, 97; Eckhard, 95; Kendall and Worthen, 94.

Results of the five-place matches were: Against Sargent School, Allen, Bishop, Hutchins, LeBaron, Smith, Thomas and Walker, 100; Dodds, Putnam and Urie, 98. Against Utah State, Allen, Bishop, Poling, Smith, Thomas, Vosburgh and Walker, 100; Putnam and Urie, 98; Kendall, 94; Against Akron, Allen Bishop, Smith, Thomas and Walker, 100; Putnam and Urie, 98; Miller and Sinclair, 97; Eckhard, 95, Against Arkansas, Allen, Bishop, LeBaron, Smith, Thomas and Walker, 100; Putnam and Urie, 98; Kendall and Worthen, 94. Against Illinois, Allen, Bishop, Hutchins, Smith, Thomas and Walker, 100; Dodds, Urie and Putnam, 98; Sinclair, 97. Against Minnesota, Allen, Bishop, Smith, Thomas and Walker, 100; Putnam and Urie, 98; Miller, 97; Eckhard, 95; and Worthen, 94.

Lawyer: You reside——?
Witness: With my brother.
Lawyer: And your brother lives——?
Witness: With me.
Lawyer: Precisely, but you both live——?
Witness: Together.

Bore: Yes, I don't know how it is, but I feel thoroughly wound up tonight.
Hostess: How strange! And yet you don't seem to go.—Brown Jug.

TELEPHONE 1613
Star Restaurant
Chinese and American Food
144 Church Street Burlington, Vt.

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY
YOUR LIFE WORK?
THE Harvard University Dental School offers a comprehensive course in this field of health service, which is becoming increasingly important in relation to medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school.
Write for catalog
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 42, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

INTERFRATERNITY TRACK MEET TO BE TOMORROW

(Continued from page 3)

The Independents, with their champion relay team, bearing the brunt of the burden, will furnish strong opposition. The Delfausse brothers in the field events and Wesoly and Martin in the running events will undoubtedly win a number of places.

The other fraternities will probably build their teams around individuals. The Phi Delts will have as a nucleus the smooth-running freshman—Doug Suitor. He is a valuable distance man and can double up for the shorter events. Grant, Syme, Caldwell and Utley will help to round out the team.

The S. A. E.'s have Jezukawicz, the Hexathlon champion, around whom to build their team and the Owls have as a base for theirs another freshman, Andress. The other fraternities will furnish strong opposition with the Sigma Nus and the A. T. O.'s the strongest.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT PRESENTS RECITAL

Prof. Claire Leonard and Miss Miriam Marston Give Piano Selections

A faculty recital on Wednesday, March 22, in the Fleming Museum, featured two piano selections by Miss Miriam Natilee Marston and Prof. Claire T. T. Leonard. The audience marveled at their coordination and at the ease with which they interpreted the most difficult pieces.

The program included:

Variations on a theme of Beethoven, by Camille Saint-Saëns (1835-1921)
Prélude à l'Après-midi d'un Faune (after a poem by Mallarmé), by Claude Debussy (1862-1918)
Variations on a theme of Haydn, by Johannes Brahms (1833-1897)
Rhapsody in Blue, by George Gershwin (1898-1905)

NEW APPLE CRATE WINS FAVOR WITH FARMERS

A new apple crate with a cubic content of 2,645 inches, known as the "Approved Eastern Apple Crate" is gaining favor among New England fruit growers according to information given out by the Extension Service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College. The new apple crate has been approved by prominent fruit growers in New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont and New Hampshire.

Following a conference held recently in Massachusetts it was unanimously agreed by representatives of these states that it would be advisable to set up a uniform crate to be adopted voluntarily by growers and dealers, but that at the present time no attempt will be made to effect either state or federal legislation. At the conference there were members from all the horticultural and pomological societies of the New England states and New York State, who discussed the matter from every point of view and recommended the action taken.

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHOP
102A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES

DECORATIONS
•
PARTY FAVORS
•
NOISEMAKERS
•
For Your Dances!
•
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts. Phone 629

BURLINGTON BUSINESS MEN FOR TAXATION OF VERMONT FRATERNITIE

Burke-led Delegation Prese Case at Senate Meeting Last Wednesday Afternoon

The fraternity tax bill [illegible] ing in the air, with [illegible] House and Senate expressing [illegible]

Wednesday afternoon a [illegible] Burlington business men [illegible] the bill which would repeal [illegible] law exempting the fraternities [illegible] taxation, appeared before [illegible] committee on municipal [illegible] Their main point was [illegible] laid on Burlington by the [illegible] property freed from taxation.

The men speaking for [illegible] John J. Flynn, Representative [illegible] Patrick H. Donovan and [illegible] Limoges. Representative [illegible] Northfield also spoke in favor of the bill.

ZETA CHI WINS WINTER SPORTS COMPETITIO

(Continued from page 3)

Adams, Kappa Sigma. Time, 27 minutes 34 seconds.

One-half mile—1st, Suitor, Phi Delta Theta; 2nd, Sabin, Phi Delta Theta; 3rd, Dutton, Zeta Chi. Time, 3 minutes 45 seconds.

220-yard dash—1st, Suitor, Phi Delta Theta; 2nd, Sabin, Phi Delta Theta; 3rd, Ricker, Zeta Chi. Time, 26 seconds.

One-half mile relay—1st, Phi Delta Theta (Syme, Hale, Sabin, Suitor); 2nd, A. T. O.; 3rd, Zeta Chi. Time, 2 minutes 3 seconds.

Snowshoeing

Cross-country—1st, Green, Zeta Chi; 2nd, Dutton, Zeta Chi; 3rd, Ricker, Zeta Chi. Time, 25 minutes.

One-half mile—1st, Burrows, Sigma Phi; 2nd, Green, Zeta Chi; 3rd, Ricker, Zeta Chi. Time, 4 minutes 2.4 seconds.

220-yard dash—1st, Green, Zeta Chi; 2nd, Ricker, Zeta Chi; 3rd, Dutton, Zeta Chi. Time, 42.6 seconds.

One-half mile relay—1st, Zeta Chi (Ricker, Brock, Dutton, Green); 2nd, Phi Delta Theta; 3rd, A. T. O. Time, 5 minutes 36 seconds.

First place in each event won [illegible] points; second, three; and third, [illegible]

The result of this scoring gave Zeta Chi 41 points, Phi Delta Theta 35, A. T. O. 27, Sigma Phi 5 and Kappa Sigma 1. In addition, Zeta Chi was awarded three more points for the best balanced team, and Phi Delta Theta one point for the second best balanced team.

A wireless set has been installed in one of the cars owned by the Prince of Wales, so that his royal highness may listen to music while motoring. There is also an extra loud speaker for the chauffeur's use while waiting.

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 144

DIAMOND ENGAGEMENT RINGS
If you appreciate real fine Diamonds and wish to know and see exactly what you are purchasing you will be interested in our large display of Diamonds.
As an engagement ring is a long gift and one that is most cherished it is well to select a perfect Diamond and to have a stylish mounting of Platinum of Gold.
It will be a pleasure to show you our Diamonds
F. J. Preston & Son
INCORPORATED
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

BOSTONIANS
Shoes for Men
BROWN-BUK
$5.00
MON-DAC
Oxfords for Men
B. J. BOYNTON
65 Church St.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, MARCH 28, 1933 NUMBER 43

TAX BILL DEFEATED

Group Plays On The Boards Tonight

Four One-act Plays To Be Presented By Group Players Tonight In Fleming Museum

PRODUCTIONS COACHED, STAGED AND DIRECTED ENTIRELY BY STUDENTS

No Admission Charge—a Hat to be Passed Instead to Cover Expenses of Staging

Tonight at 8.15 the Group Players present in the Fleming Museum Auditorium their first and only dramatic evening of the season. It will consist of four one-act plays as previously announced—a tragedy, a skit, a comedy, and a melodrama—the casts of which contain in the main inexperienced material. They are being sponsored by the University Players, members of which organization are directing the plays. The casts of the plays with their directors will be found on page four of this issue.

No regular admission is to be charged, but Prof. L. W. Dean of the English department will take charge of passing the hat, since there are incidental expenses involved in the staging and production.

In re "The Group Players"

In regard to the Group Players and their activities this year we print the following statement by Dorothy Murphy '33, president of Masque and Sandal and director of one of the plays. Miss Murphy took the title rôle in "Hedda Gabler," the first Group Play, which was given last year.

"The Group Players originated last year when a number of us, all having had part previously in regular college plays of our volition presented Ibsen's 'Hedda Gabler' at the Fleming Museum. We did our own directing, stage managing, property managing, and make-up. We were fortunate in making a success of our first attempt at self-directed acting. Best of all, the faculty was pleased, and we ourselves very much enjoyed staging the play.

"This year, however, we are doing things a little differently. The members of the four casts, rather than being drawn from veteran players, are, for the most part, people who have not been in college plays before. More experienced players are acting as student advisors, and are assisting in the general directing of the plays. Interpretation of the parts has been left as much as possible to the initiative of the casts.

"We want everyone to come so we are not charging a regular admission. We do, however, have to pay for production expenses so we are having a

(Continued on page 4)

Bits From the Plays

Play No. 1. Are you superstitious? Could you live on thirteen children a year? Would you hesitate to embark on a matrimonial voyage with thirteen offspring as a crew? See the group players solve the problem in three deck chairs.

Play No. 2. What hubby does when the wife's away is all right providing the wife remains away. But sometimes the schedules get mixed and when Cleopatra enters the plot—well, see the farce enacted by the Group Players and go on with the story.

Play No. 3. What does a decent, self-respecting spiritualist do when his raw material turns out to be flesh and blood? That's the situation in the melodrama on the boards in the museum Tuesday night.

Play No. 4. A tiff with the girl friend and a firm resolve to join the Bosnians and die in Africa—but no top hat!

CHORUS FOR "IOLANTHE" SELECTED BY DIRECTOR

Fifteen Men and Sixteen Women Included in Supporting Cast for Spring Production

The chorus has been selected for the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "Iolanthe," which will be given April 27 under the direction of Prof. C. T. Leonard. It consists of fifteen men and sixteen women. One rehearsal was held last week and two are scheduled for this week, while after vacation rehearsals will continue at the rate of two or three a week until the date set for the presentation.

The chorus follows:

First sopranos: Marjorie Jenks '35, Ellen Lyman '34, Helen Miller '35, Janet Thompson '36, Dorothy Willey '36.

Second sopranos: Ellinor Bean '34, Marion Burroughs '36, Janet Dodds '34, Edna Leach '36, Margaret Kinsman '34.

First altos: Sylvia Jarvis '36, Elizabeth Page '33, Elizabeth Rich '35.

Second altos: Stella Brown '34, Barbara Bryan '35, Evelyn Holden '34.

First tenors: R. B. Eaton '36, A. S. Everest '36.

Second tenors: R. R. Baldwin '34, E. C. Berry '36, R. H. Bingham '34.

(Continued on page 2)

WORLD-FAMED ARTISTS DELIGHT AUDIENCE AT COMMUNITY CONCERT

Barrère, Salzedo, and Britt Exhibit Mastery of Their Instruments in Last Concert of Series

George Barrère, Carlos Salzedo and Horace Britt delighted a large and enthusiastic Burlington audience last Thursday evening in a concert for flute, harp and 'cello given under the auspices of the Community Concerts Association at the City Hall auditorium.

Their program contained a wide variety of numbers, including interpretations of romantic themes, racing tunes, and delicate melodies. So popular were they that the artists were forced to add encores to every group they presented.

The trio opened the program with the five "Pièces en concert" of Rameau. Another group was Valensin's "Minuet," the popular Negro spiritual "Deep River" in a fine arrangement, and "Dorienne" by Jules Mouquet. The closing trio group was three movements of Maurice Ravel's "Sonatine en trio." Each time they generously responded with added numbers. Among them was a set of Debussy melodies from the suite "The Children's Corner."

George Barrère, the world's flute marvel, held his audience with his delicate silvery tones throughout his selections. He is known generally as "the monarch among the flute players," and he manifested all the qualities of his great art. He first played "Poem" by Charles T. Griffes, and returned with two encores, "Serenade" by George Hue and Gluck's "Andante."

The "commanding figure of the harp world," Carlos Salzedo, presented a group of four numbers, the first being Haydn's "Theme and Variations." "Chanson dans la nuit," "La Desirade" and "Whirlwind" were all his own compositions and offered an opportunity for displaying the many possibilities of the seldom heard harp. His encore was another of his work, called "Mirage."

The famed 'cellist, Horace Britt, presented three delightful numbers, accompanied by Carlos Salzedo at the piano. He played Schumann's "Stucke im Volkston," "Pièce en forme de Habanera" by Maurice Ravel, and "Granadina" by Joaquin Nin. He contrasted moods and imagination and was insistently encored for a "Serenade Espagnole" by Glozinoff.

This program was the last of the community concerts this season. Its success assures the concert series for the season 1933-34. The Burlington Community Concert Association announced that the campaign will be started early in September. Middlebury has already joined the Association, so both Burlington and Middlebury members will benefit by concerts in both places, since tickets are good in any town where the Association is formed. Middlebury and Burlington plan not to have the same numbers on their series.

Proposed Measure Killed By Overwhelming Majority In Vermont Senate Action

BACCALAUREATE SPEAKER

Rev. H. E. Luccock

REV. H. E. LUCCOCK TO SPEAK HERE JUNE 18

Well-known Preacher is Member of Yale Divinity School

The Rev. Halford E. Luccock, D.D., of Yale University Divinity School will be the Baccalaureate speaker at the University of Vermont, Sunday, June 18.

Doctor Luccock was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., March 11, 1885. He has degrees from Northwestern University, Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University. In 1924 Syracuse University conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity, and in 1927 he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature from Allegheny College.

He was ordained in the Methodist Episcopal ministry in 1910, and has been pastor of churches in Windsor, Conn., and St. Andrew's Church, New Haven, Conn. From 1912-14 he was instructor in Hartford Theological Seminary, and in 1916 he was appointed registrar and instructor at Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J. Since 1928 he has been professor of homiletics at Yale Divinity School. He has been a member of the editorial section of the Methodist Board

(Continued on page 4)

FRATERNITIES NOW SAFE FROM MUNICIPAL TAX FOR COMING TWO YEARS

Senate Veto of House-successful Bill Comes as a Surprise in Final Session

The bill to tax college fraternity property of Vermont was killed last Friday by vote of the Vermont Senate. The bill had previously passed the House and came to a vote in the Senate the day before final adjournment. Interested college men and alumni can at last draw a deep breath, with the certainty of the fraternity tax question being definitely settled for at least two years to come.

The bill came up for debate in the rush for adjournment. Senator Hopkins of Burlington was the only supporter of the measure. He asked for its return to the committee so that he might discuss it there, but the Senate refused the request. Hopkins claimed that it was only reasonable to demand some tax from the fraternities, at least for the police and fire protection they receive. He said they could pay this if they cut down a little on their social functions.

Blodgett Chief Opponent

Senator Blodgett of Rockingham was the chief opponent of the measure and spoke forcefully against it. He objected to making the University a "political football," and claimed that only $6,000 would be paid Burlington if the fraternities were taxed. He said that if the University were taken out of the city the city property would not be worth fifty cents on the dollar, and all the business from about 1,200 students would be lost; that the University was a child of the State, and that Vermont should support it. He said, "The City of Burlington has been deprived of no taxes by the fraternities, because had the fraternities not taken over certain buildings they would by now have tumbled down and former residents of these buildings have bought or built new structures from which the city is receiving taxes." He concluded by enumerating the benefits to Burlington brought by the college including in the list regular meetings of educational societies and farmers, the musical festival, athletic contests, State extension work, a summer school for teachers, and numerous concerts and college entertainments.

(Continued on page 4)

Varsity Debating Team Starts on Annual Southern Trip Tomorrow

Annual Forensic Tour Will Include Ten Debates With Former Opponents, on War Debt Cancellation and Japan's Far Eastern Policy

The annual men's varsity debating southern trip will start on Wednesday, March 29. The tentative list will include about ten debates with Keene, N. H., on Wednesday, March 29; Boston, Mass., on Thursday, March 30; New York City on Friday, March 31; Selinsgrove, Pa., on Saturday, April 1; Richmond, Va., on Monday, April 3; High Point, N. C., on Tuesday, April 4; Columbia, S. C., on Wednesday, April 5; either one of the colleges on Thursday, April 6, Emory and Henry College at Emory, Va.; East-ern Tennessee State Teachers' College at Johnson City, Tenn.; Concord Teachers' College at Athens, W. Va.; or Roanoke College at Salem, Va., with the University of West Virginia on Friday, April 7.

The outcomes of the debates will be either cancellation of World War debts or the justification of Japan's far eastern policy. When debating on the former the Vermont forensicists will defend either the affirmative or the negative, but on the latter topic Vermont will debate only from the affirmative viewpoint.

The trip this year is about half as long as last year's, and covers about half the number of debates.

Those men that will probably make the trip are: R. F. McGuin '34, R. F. Colburn '33, and W. H. Myers '35. J. F. Bigelow '33, senior varsity debater, will not go, as he was suddenly taken ill and is now in the Mary Fletcher Hospital. However, it is expected that the team will have as successful a season this year as last year.

This year the Green and Gold men

(Continued on page 2)

Reduced Railroad Rates

Students and members of the University staff will be able to travel on train rates reduced to a fare and one-ninth per round trip to all destinations outside of New England. These reduced fare tickets may be purchased only upon the presentation at the ticket office of identification certificates, which will be furnished to any student or member of the University of Vermont staff by the registrar's office upon request.

They have been on sale from March 15 and will be available until April 15, and are good for return trip within thirty days after purchase is made.

Freshman hygiene will be held Wednesday at four o'clock, both the Monday and Tuesday classes meeting together at this time. Doctor O'Neil of Waterbury will lecture on mental hygiene.

Choir Presents Faure's "Requiem" Sunday in Annual Easter Concert

The Misses Artiss deVolt, Harpist; Charlotte deVolt, Violinist; Miriam Marston, Organist; and Mailla Putnam, Soprano; Assist in Novel Musical Program at Ira Allen Chapel

The annual Easter concert was given Sunday, March 26, at the Ira Allen Chapel by the University choir, with a presentation of Gabriel Fauré's "Requiem," to a near-capacity audience. The choir was directed by Prof. C. T. Leonard acting head of the Music Department. Rev. Raymond Avery Hall assisted, and special features of the program were given by Miss Miriam Matilda Marston, organist; Miss Charlotte deVolt, violinist; Miss Artiss deVolt, of Boston, harpist; and Miss Mailla Putnam, soprano.

Contrary to the statement made in Friday's CYNIC, this was not the first American use of the "Requiem." However, only one other previous presentation is known in this country. Professor Leonard procured the music from Paris.

The program showed the result of the weeks of practice put into the preparation of the concert. Professor Leonard's superior and intensive training and conducting were revealed in the ensemble singing of the six numbers. The music was characterized by its beautiful unison tones, swelling from the pianissimo to the forte and to the very soft upon the quiet religious chanting, ending with long sustained major notes. Miss Marston accompanied all the numbers on the organ, and Miss Artiss deVolt accompanied the "Sanctus Deus," "Pie Jesu" and "In Paradisum" on the harp.

The program was as follows:

Prelude for Harp, Violin and Organ

Andante Gustave Charpentier (1860-)

Invocation and Prayer

Requiem .. Gabriel Fauré (1845-1924)

I Requiem Aeternam

II O Domine

(Continued on page 2)

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The Official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

[illegible] '34 ..... Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] '34 ..... Women's Editor
[illegible] '36 ..... Managing Editor
[illegible] '34 ..... Sports Editor
[illegible] '34 ..... Recording Editor
[illegible] H. [illegible], II '34 ..... Business Manager
[illegible] '34 ..... Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

[illegible] Kennedy '35 — Howard Abbott '35 — Howes Mount '35 — Dustin White '35 — Stuart Wright '35 — Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

[illegible] Conrad '35 — Marion Greenberg '34 — Judith Kobel '34 — Jane Parsons '35

COLUMNIST

Robert Weisman '34

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34 — George Patterson '34

FACULTY ADVISER

Prof. Leon Dean

[illegible] Editor in Charge — R. STUART WRIGHT

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year. Entered upon five years.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department and sent to The Vermont Cynic Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 2144.

Arrangements for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1918.

Printed at the Publications Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 — March 28, 1934 — No. 45

Editorials

WHERE A KILLING WAS JUSTIFIED

Any new plan, to be successful must be equitable to all. Since the Cynic's position on taxation bill was not acceptable to all concerned, the Vermont Senate properly killed it. There is not a fraternity man on the campus of the University of Vermont who does not feel grateful to those who made every effort to bring about the defeat of this unjust measure.

Undoubtedly the passage of the bill proposing to assess the fraternities at the option of the towns involved would have created much hard feeling. In the end, the enactment of such an act would have meant the dissolution of several Greek letter bands at Vermont. At the present time many of these societies are experiencing much difficulty in making ends meet, and any added disbursement would have irrevocably burned them in debt.

According to Senator Blodgett, the University of Vermont is the best of the State and Vermont is obliged to support it. It must not be forgotten that State legislation was passed in the earlier part of this century to encourage the fraternities to build and buy up property. As an additional argument against passage of the bill, Senator Blodgett advised that the college brought many distinct advantages to the city of Burlington in that there were many periodic meetings of educational and agricultural societies, a music festival, the summer school and several other important conclaves which attracted hundreds of people.

At the present time the fraternities are rejoicing because of the overthrow of what seemed merely a political move. True the bill passed the House, but the more cautious members of the Senate reviewed with wiser deliberation both sides of the case. There is no doubt that the fraternities were far more in the right than the various towns concerned. Had the bill passed the Senate, there is no question that it would also have been ratified by the citizens of this city in accordance with the terms of the local option clause. In that event the fraternities would have had no say in the matter.

As the matter stands now, we hope closed forever, there will probably be a better spirit between the townspeople and the student body. There will be no feeling on the part of the students towards the town for attempting to "put one over on the fraternities," and by way of reciprocity, the townspeople should bear no grudge against the collegians, because the move was made a dead issue by the recent action of the Senate.

FROM VERMONT'S ICY MOUNTAINS

From a land covered with snow and ice, the baseball team will venture forth to a land of warm weather and sunshine on its annual southern trip. Without so much as seeing a diamond, the University of Vermont baseball team will journey to Maryland where it will make its 1934 diamond debut. There are not many teams which undertake this feat from year to year, but according to custom the sturdy Catamount nine packs up its bags and trots forth to invade a balmier clime.

With little more than a month of cage practice the team certainly deserves unlimited credit for their hardiness. The fourteen men who will represent the college in the southland and Coaches Gardner and Newton should be considered as pioneers in the world of college baseball. As the date of the first game draws near every member of the college becomes more anxious and the interest grows.

And when the team comes back from the trip, whether it has won all its games or lost them all, one must not lose sight of the fact that the players had not the advantage of practicing on an open field previous to the trip. Since the major part of their schedule begins after the return, it should be the part of every college man and woman to be out there at Centennial Field each game to cheer on the team—a team which has done so much in putting Vermont's name on the map by making an annual southern trip, a trip no other New England college attempts.

FIRE, FIRE, FIRE

Once again the question of smoking in the building of the University comes before us. There is no doubt that many students are indeed careless concerning the matter. Consequently there is great danger that fire may take its toll of irreplaceable property. The building most exposed to this danger is the Old Mill. This grand old structure has seen many years of service and in the mind of the college man is hallowed with glorious tradition.

There is not a single true Vermont man who will not look back after graduation and review with pleasure experiences enjoyed in the corridors of this old red brick building. There are many even now who admire and appreciate this antique structure. How would you feel if in the middle of the night you heard the fire alarm and were told that the Old Mill was completely wrapped in destroying flames? An investigation would probably show that some careless smoker had left a smoldering cigarette on the wooden floors.

Several days ago we had the opportunity of visiting the upper portions of the Old Mill and noting the charred beams on the fourth floor caused by a previous conflagration. We were astonished that the fire had not caused more damage than it did. What if a fire broke out during the day when there were classes in the Old Mill? The stairways are narrow, there has been no attempt at organized fire drill; the interior of the building is mostly of inflammable material and would burn like a match box once a blaze started. The only method of preventing such a loss is to eliminate the possible cause. STOP SMOKING IN THE OLD MILL.

Now that spring months are at hand, it should be easier to break the habit of smoking inside the building. There is absolutely no reason for this practice to continue. The only thing that will in any measure stop this practice in the hallways and classrooms is for every loyal Vermonter to take it upon himself to break the habit and thus preserve the sanctity of our college buildings.

One must not get the idea that the only reason for stopping smoking in the premises of the Old Mill is to prevent the loss of irreparable property. That is only one of the reasons. Another important reason, and one that should appeal to every chivalrous Vermont man, is the prevention of possible loss of life. If a serious blaze broke out on the ground floor of the building, the situation would be extremely dangerous. A panic might start and many unlucky ones might be caught in the rush.

Because a fire has not yet broken out is no sign that there is no possibility of such a disaster in the future. We appeal to every man who smokes to assume the responsibility we have mentioned as a preventive measure to any such catastrophe.

In an attempt to stimulate the interest in dramatics, a series of four plays will be presented tonight. The actors have been coached entirely by members of Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal. It is hoped that as many students as possible will be able to attend the performances. Members have announced that a good evening's entertainment is available and will be enjoyed by all those who go.

THEATRE

Flynn

[illegible] Errol and the [illegible] Some good [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SPORTS NEWS

Kappa Sigma Wins Inter-fraternity Meet Saturday

Amass a Total of 40 Points Mostly in Field Events to Win the Meet by a 9-point Margin—Cook Gets 10 Points

INDEPENDENTS SECOND WITH 31.3 POINTS

[illegible] Sigma, with a total of 40 points [illegible] intertraternity meet last Satur[illegible] the second consecutive year. The [illegible]ents entered a strong team and [illegible] second with 31.3 points and were [illegible] by the S. A. E.'s, the Phi Delts, [illegible] Delta Chis.

Interest in the track events centered [illegible] the 880 where Ray Brooks, var[illegible]ack captain and Doug Suitor, frosh [illegible], battled their way to a tie in [illegible]. The mile was more of an upset [illegible]. Woodruff, the favorite, had to [illegible]nd to Suitor in 4.58, a new rec[illegible] the indoor track at the gym.

[illegible] Cook was high-point man with 10 [illegible] representing a first in both the [illegible] and the weight throw. Wesoly, an [illegible]dents, got 8⅓ points from a first [illegible] 440, a second in the 30 and a tie [illegible]rth in the high jump for third [illegible] in the scoring. Suitor with one [illegible]nd one tie for first was second [illegible] points.

[illegible] pole vault was closely contested [illegible] Sowka, Beckley, Lanahan, and [illegible]wicz fighting it out. Beckley and [illegible] tied for first at 10 ft. 3 in. Adams, [illegible]'s high jumper, won the low hurdles [illegible]wed by Walters, Jones, and Connor [illegible]ola won the long hard two-mile [illegible] by a brilliant finish to beat out [illegible]ell at the tape. Rogers and Sheehe [illegible]ack third and fourth. Ken Smith easily [illegible] the 30-yd. dash leading Wesoly, [illegible]egoms and Jones to the tape. Andy [illegible] won the 440 in 58.4 seconds [illegible] good time for the track

The point standing follows: Kappa [illegible] 40; Independents, 31.3; Sigma [illegible] Epsilon, 15; Phi Delta Theta, 14; [illegible] Psi, 10.6; Phi Mu Delta, 7.6; [illegible] Phi, 6; Alpha Tau Omega, 5; [illegible] Iota, 1.5; and Phi Sigma Delta, [illegible].

[illegible] dash: Smith, Wesoly, Mehgoms [illegible] 3.6 seconds.

[illegible] put: Cook, Bowers, R. Delfausse, [illegible]ley, 37.16 feet.

Pole vault: Beckley and Sowka, Lana[illegible]ezukawicz, 10 feet 3 inches.

Mile run: Suitor, Woodruff, Har[illegible] Levine, 4 minutes 58 seconds, a [illegible] record.

[illegible] hammer: Cook, Nevulis, Naylor, [illegible]ers, 31.1 feet.

Broad jump: Jezukawicz, Lanahan, [illegible] Delfausse, R. Delfausse, 19 feet 7½ inches.

[illegible] high hurdles: Syme, Walters, [illegible] Andress, 4.6 seconds.

[illegible] low hurdles: Adams, Walters, [illegible] Connor, 4.2 seconds.

440 yd. run: Wesoly, Howe, Barker, [illegible]ness, 38.4 seconds.

[illegible] run: Suitor and Brooks, Col[illegible] Dadley, 2.18 minutes.

[illegible] run: Caracciola, Twitchell, [illegible] Sheehe, 11 minutes 49.2 seconds.

High jump: J. Delfausse, Bowers, [illegible] Delfausse, Beckley, Davis, Wesoly, [illegible] 5 feet 7 inches.

It must be awful to be a dictionary [illegible]ed and have to wait for the su[illegible] court to define the word "intoxi[illegible]".

WOMEN'S PING-PONG TOURNAMENT IN PROGRESS

[illegible] women's ping-pong tournament [illegible] W. A. A. is being run off [illegible] the next few weeks and matches [illegible] being played early by the contestants. [illegible] two classes in the tournament allow an opportunity for more girls to participate. Girls having entered the [illegible] intramural class while the [illegible] class numbers thirty-two.

All matches will be cancelled if not played off before the dates indicated on the bulletin board in the Y room. Miss Vera Armstrong, president of W. A. A. We ask that all girls finish up before vacation in order that we may keep to the schedule. I should also like to say that the [illegible] tournament program will be continued after vacation, in addition to the non-final matches.

FORECAST ON PRICES OF POULTRY IN 1933

A forecast of poultry meats made by Extension Service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College states that no improvement in prices is anticipated for 1933. The storage holdings of poultry meat, including turkeys, on January 1, 1933, were 4.5 percent less than on January 1, 1932 and about 5.5 percent lower than the five-year average for January 1, 1925-29. The forecast states that the low price of other meat will continue to affect adversely the demand for poultry. No improvement in the demand for poultry meat is expected and the anticipated increase in the number of chickens to be raised this spring should result in increased poultry marketing this summer and fall.

Even though poultry and egg prices are relatively low it is not good practice to cut the number of birds by culling drastically says A. W. Lohman, Extension poultryman. As long as birds pay all costs and make some profit it is best to keep the flock to housing capacity. Culling is done only when birds refuse to respond to proper management.

Early hatchery reports in the east indicate a smaller production of winter broilers this winter, but the anticipated increase in chickens to be raised indicates a production of spring broilers fully as large as last year.

This is a time when every effort should be made to grow high quality pullets declares Lohman. Greater attention should be given to the details of brooding chicks and the growing of healthy, rugged pullets. It would be good economy to grow fewer and better pullets.

Dear President Rightmire

I sincerely hope that you will excuse me from military science as it is against my religion to take any military training. you see I am a Quaker

Sincerely

ABE BROMOWITZ

—Log

Baseball Team Departs Thursday Morning On Yearly Southern Trip

Coach Gardner, Manager Webster, Graduate Manager Abell, Reporter Tupper and Fourteen Stickwielders Comprise Caravan of 1933 Campaigners from Vermont

ITINERARY INCLUDES WELL-KNOWN RIVALS

[illegible] morning at seven the baseball squad departs for points south. The big event on the Vermont sports calendar starts to materialize next Saturday when the base ball season begins in the first contest of the current season. Last year the Catamounts defeated the Navy batsmen on a three encounter. According to Coach Lary Gardner this year's team will be no disappointment and will live up to the standard set by the Vermont baseball teams of the past years. The schedule this year is the most consistent to be encountered by a Vermont team and should serve to complete the nine up in a shape that will spell defeat for the Engineers on Saturday April 29 at Centennial Field.

Itinerary for Annual Southern Trip

Tuesday, March 30
Leave Burlington (approximate [illegible]
[illegible] 7:00 a.m.
Leave Albany 12:00 m.
Leave Albany 1:45 p.m.
Arrive [illegible] 6:00 p.m.
Dinner at Hotel Traylor
Lodging at Hotel Traylor
Friday, March 31
Breakfast at Hotel Traylor 7:00 a.m.
Leave Allentown 8:00 a.m.
Lunch at Bel Air 12:00 m.
Leave Bel Air 1:45 p.m.
Arrive at Annapolis 3:00 p.m.
Practice at Annapolis 4:00 p.m.
Dinner and Lodging at Navy
Saturday, April 1
Breakfast and lunch at Navy
Game with Navy 3:00 p.m.
Dinner and Lodging at Navy
Sunday, April 2
Breakfast at Navy 8:00 a.m.
Leave Annapolis 9:30 a.m.
Arrive in Washington 11:00 a.m.
Tour, photograph at Hotel Continental 1:00 p.m.
Dinner at Hotel Continental 12:30 p.m.
Lunch at Hotel Continental Lodging at Hotel Continental
Monday, April 3
Breakfast at Hotel Continental 7:00 a.m.
Leave Washington 8:00 a.m.
Lunch in Harrisburg 1:00 p.m.
Leave Harrisburg 1:45 p.m.
Arrive in Lexington 6:00 p.m.
Practice at V. M. I. 4:00 p.m.
Dinner and lodging at V. M. I.
Tuesday, April 4
Breakfast and lunch at V. M. I.
Game with V. M. I. 3:00 p.m.
Dinner and lodging at V. M. I.
Wednesday, April 5
Breakfast at V. M. I. 7:30 p.m.
Lunch at Washington and Lee
Game at Washington and Lee 3:00 p.m.
Dinner and lodging at Washington and Lee
Thursday, April 6
Breakfast at Washington and Lee 8:30 a.m.
Leave Lexington 9:00 a.m.
Arrive in Charlottesville 11:30 a.m.
Lunch at Charlottesville 12:00 m.
Game with University of Virginia 3:00 p.m.
Dinner in Charlottesville 6:00 p.m.
Lodging at University of Virginia
Friday, April 7
Breakfast in Charlottesville 7:00 a.m.

(Continued on page 4)

Team Plays Nine Games

[illegible] Green Mountain boys then took [illegible] into Virginia where they will encounter three new opponents in last years and Virginia Military Institute on Monday at Lexington, Washington and Lee on Wednesday and University of Virginia at Charlottesville on Thursday. The comparative strength of these teams is hard to predict.

William and Mary is slated next for two games on Friday and Saturday. Last year the Vermont team met strenuous opposition in Williamsburg dropping a game in a tight 2-0 battle.

The squad then returns northward to Princeton for a game with the Tigers on Monday. The Black and Orange stickwielders trounced the Vermont in a close game last season and they will probably be one of the strongest teams on the schedule this year.

On Tuesday the Vermont nine meets New York to meet Manhattan one of the fastest college clubs in the East. The Vermont team was trounced badly in the game last season. Le Chien opener is almost entirely sophomore. Lepper were stopped Columbia by a 7-4 score.

On Wednesday the Vermont nine moves up the Hudson to West Point to meet the Army, also an addition to last year's schedule. The Cadet team will undoubtedly offer one of the hardest games of the schedule.

The University of Richmond, Medical College of Virginia, University of Delaware, Lehigh, Seton Hall and Rutgers were dropped from the schedule of last year.

Lettermen now will make the trip to gether with Coach Larry Gardner, Graduate Manager Sabin Abell and Manager Dave Webster.

Delbert Lott and Root will compose the outfield. Capt Lott is a veteran of last year's trip. Wilbur Palmer will be at first base. Little Lemuel Bates, second on place of competition is sure to play in the second spot. Clarence Skinner Pares the coral here will probably be at shortstop. Capt Dutch McKay, the slugging Baptist from Montpelier will have the usual place at third. Dutch had the best batting and fielding average of the veterans and is the backbone of the team. Harris Bowers, the mound hander and scrappy Louis Ranson will be behind the plate.

Ed Landon, Dexter Garrett, Sweetz Beedle and Speer will complete the pitching staff. Landon will account a credit to the pitching are having had plenty of experience on the mound. Dexter Garrett loses like the fool of the season, but it's a little early to make predictions.

(Continued on page 4)

No Beer Licenses Issued in Vermont Until First of May

MONTPELIER March 3—Vermont cannot receive beer[illegible] until May 1. While April 7 may be the day when somehow the local flow of 3.2 percent beer in other states [illegible] western must wait until May 1.

Under the law passed by the Legislature for control of beer and wine [illegible] the April third may be sold only by licensed persons and no licenses may be issued until May 1.

Always a stickler for local option Vermont has preceded the referenda on the matter of selling beer in Maine and other states. The citizens showed strong enough desire for such an opportunity. Persons having street petitions may file a petition for a referendum to be held before May 1, otherwise the selectmen or city governing bodies will issue licenses and the sale of beer will become legal in the communities.

Hotels having at least 30 rooms will be the official spots in communities whether they go wet or dry. The Legislature provided that said hotels can be authorized to sell beer and wine with meals regardless of the method placed on communities by the governing bodies after referenda.

FOUR LETTERMEN TO FORM NUCLEUS FOR NEW VERMONT TENNIS TEAM

April 27 is the Date for Tennis Trip to Massachusetts—Practices Now Being Held [illegible] Tennis at Vermont [illegible] a rapidly developing [illegible] their match on April 29. On the [illegible] team will travel to Massachusetts where it will [illegible] all matches that at the Worcester [illegible] [illegible] could not have been arranged [illegible] [illegible] the last two years from the [illegible] [illegible] a place was in the baseball [illegible]. After the Easter [illegible] in the southern section the team [illegible] on the trip.

[illegible] manager [illegible] the present are [illegible] exceptionally good and the [illegible] Although it is too early to make [illegible] it is expected that the team will play the same good brand of tennis that gave the Vermont [illegible] [illegible] Of the six men who represented Vermont [illegible] [illegible] Hallock and Hotel Leger [illegible] [illegible] graduation. The team is [illegible] veterans are Capt Lloyd Wilson [illegible] Norris Meyer '34 Lee Woodward '[illegible] [illegible] Malcolm '34. These men [illegible] are experienced players and should [illegible] a creditable record. The team will be built around Captain Wilson and Norris Meyer are probably the two outstanding men on the team.

Lloyd Perry '33 manager of the ruling [illegible] the past season is [illegible] [illegible] Perry Cummings '34 [illegible] and assumes the reins next year and is [illegible] the material left over from last year. [illegible] is back as an old veteran there will be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] but it is hoped that Vermont will be able to have one in the near future.

The BARGAIN PRICE
on
CAP AND GOWN RENTALS
with purchase of
INVITATIONS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS
lasts only to the
EASTER RECESS

Place your order now
at the
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

Easter Sale
STARTING SATURDAY, MARCH 25
All New Spring Merchandise at Prices Far Below Normal

TOPCOATS as low as	$12.50
SUITS	20% OFF
SHIRTS (Fine Values)	$1.00
NEW NECKWEAR	50c
PAJAMAS	$1.00

Everything Reduced

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

FRENCH Summer School
Residential Summer School (co-educational) June 26 July 29
Only French spoken Fee $150
Board and Tuition Elementary Intermediate, Advanced Write [illegible] Resident of French [illegible]
McGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA C

Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.
Sporting Goods for All Sports
Special Prices to Schools, Clubs and Societies
The W. E. Greene Co.
In [illegible] with
Patten, Irwin & White

CATHERINE DURICK IS NOMINATED PRESIDENT OF WOMEN'S STUDENT UNION

Priscilla Perry is Chosen Posture Queen, With Margaret Crane Runner-up

Priscilla Perry '33 of Springfield was nominated posture queen at the Cynic office on Thursday morning at the weekly chapel meeting held in the auditorium.

Miss Perry received 41 votes and Margaret Crane received 24. Other candidates received single votes.

As a result of the nomination, Miss Perry will be the guest of honor at the Posture Dance to be held Thursday, May 4.

A prize will be given at Intervale Hall this afternoon. Dates having entered the contest will be placed in pairs according to their weight.

Many beautiful posthumous votes were cast.

Any Armstrong or Morgan Board representatives interested in Morgan Board may see Ted Armstrong '33 concerning a scholarship to Ada Ingalls '34 at Commons.

Kathleen Adams '33, chairman of the Health Council, then took charge of the meeting.

Winifred Perry '35 of Essex Junction was announced winner of the contest for the best set of suggestions for raising the informal health standards on the campus.

Individual posters to aid Westervelt was commended for the best individual effort to achieve good posture.

Priscilla Perry '35 was presented with a small Winged Victory by the Health Council for having the best posture of any woman on the present campus. Margaret Crane '35 of Stamford, Conn. was given special mention as a close contender.

The eight girls receiving honorable mention in the order which they are placed below are: Ruth Hammer '36 of Lincoln, Helen Jenkins '34 of Orleans, Mary Augustenavitch '36, of Springfield, Priscilla Moller '33 of Morrisville, Carolyn Cabot '36 of Woodstock, Margaret Lowe '35 of Burlington, Dorothy Edwards '33 of Westervelle, and Charlotte Odell '33 of Bronxville, N. Y.

FOUR ONE-ACT PLAYS TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

(Continued from page 1)

collection of any small sums that students may put in.

"The plays are extremely varied ranging from the very humorous and amusing to the very dramatic and serious. The four casts have been devoting much of their free time to make this entertainment a success and I am sure that it will be an enjoyable evening for all who come."

The Faculty Applauds

Favorable reports of these attempts are from the English department. We quote Professor Carleton: "We should encourage work of this sort, for there are tokens of returning interest in dramatics on the hill. The idea is to produce a play once-in-a-while which will fill in the interim between the fall and spring plays. It encourages dramatics for everyone is eligible to try out. 'Hedda Gabler' as the first one given was very successful."

Professor Tupper comments: "I am very much in favor of this sort of thing. I was pleased and gratified at two weeks by the outcome of 'Hedda Gabler.' The character of presentation was surprisingly good and the student response to it was fine. A spontaneous presentation of drama is ever delightful and encouraging and I hope that the students will give it the same support that they did last year."

Professor Lindsay: "In fact I am very enthusiastic over the group plays. I was most interested in last year's presentation of 'Hedda Gabler.' The manner in which these plays are produced helps those directing as well as the cast to gain skill in technique," said Professor Lindsay.

Last Year's Beginning

Two members of the University Players Dorothy Murphy '33 and E. J. Fitzgerald '32 decided that there was a need for more dramatic work among the students and conceived the plan of offering to the students and faculty a play which should be managed entirely by members of the cast. They communicated their wish to others of the University Players and from this beginning came "Hedda Gabler," the giving of which aroused the interest of all and drew much favorable comment from the faculty.

Those presenting "Hedda Gabler" included Miss Murphy as Hedda Gabler, Aunt Juliana Tesman by Sylvia Boyd '33; Thea Elmstead, Hope Ranslow '32; Berta, the servant, Kay Rauh '32; George Tesman, F. W. Householder '32; Eilert Lovborg, E. J. Fitzgerald '32; and Judge Brack, R. F. Holbrook '32.

REV. LUCCOCK TO GIVE BACCALAUREATE SERMON of Foreign Missions and contributing editor of the "Christian Advocate."

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] is the author of several volumes of religious poetry including "Fares, Please," "The Mid-Week Service," "Five Minute Sleep Talks," "Studies in the Parables of Jesus," "The Christian Crusade for World Democracy," "The New Map of the World," "Skylines," "The Haunted House and Other Sermons," and "Preaching Values in the New Translations of the New Testament."

RE-EXAMINATION LIST ISSUED BY REGISTRAR

The University registrar has issued the re-examination schedule which will take effect during the latter part of the spring semester. All re-examinations will be held in the large lecture rooms on the second floor of Science Hall and will begin at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Monday A.M., April 10

Chem. 2, Dem. Geom. French 1, Geology 2, Hygiene 1, Tr. 1, Latin 2.

Monday P.M., April 10

Economics 2, History 8, H. Econ. 3, Music 1, Mech. Drawing, Psychology 1, Rural Edu. 1, Tr. 1, Eng. 1.

Tuesday A.M., April 11

Botany 1, Botany 3, Chem. 1, Chem. 19, Chem. 21, Chem. 23, Econ. 3, Econ. 8, Econ. 9, Educ. 1, H. Ec. E. E. Landscaping, English 1, English 2, English 13, English Methods, H. Tr. 1, Geol. 1, History 7, H. Ec. 7, (Ap. Design), Music 1, Art 1, Math. 2, (Arts), Mc. Chem., Physics 1, Pol. Science 1, Pub. Science 3, Public School Music 2, Tr. 1, Tr. 2, Spanish 2, Surveying, Zool. 1, Zoology 6, Zoology 9.

Tuesday P.M., April 11

A. 6, Eng., Algebra (Eng.), Arith. Meth. (T. Tr.), Botany 2, Calculus (Eng.), Chem. 9, Child Lit. (T. Tr.), Econ. 1, Econ. 6, French 3, French 4, Gen. E. E., German 1, German 2, Greek 0, Greek 1, History 12, H. Ec. 2 (Foods), Latin A, Latin 1, Math. 6, Mech. Drawing, Mil. Science, Philosophy 1, Spanish 1, Spanish 3, Steam Lab.

VERMONT FORENSICISTS MEET HAMILTON COLLEGE DEBATING TEAM HERE

The men's debating teams, both varsity and junior varsity, have been active during the past week.

For March 20 a debate with Hamilton College was scheduled. On Monday morning two forensicists, R. F. Colburn '33, and R. E. McCann '34, left for Clinton, N. Y. The Vermont men upheld the affirmative of the question "Resolved, That dictatorship is preferable to democracy."

The junior varsity debaters have been busy this week with the question "Resolved, That at least 50 percent of local and state revenue should be derived from sources other than tangible property." On Monday night before a Grange meeting in Charlotte, they presented both sides of the question. R. Greemore '36, H. Workman '36, E. Hale '36, took the affirmative, while W. Levin '36, R. Mildram '36, and C. Rogers '36, had the negative.

The debate at Charlotte was also a practice round for the freshman intercollegiate debate with St. Michael's on Thursday. Three non-faculty members will act as judges at the debate, which will be held in the parish house of the First Congregational Church. Greemore, Workman and Hale, for Vermont, will have the affirmative.

NINE STARTS SOUTHERN TRIP THURSDAY MORNING

(Continued from page 3)

Every year the Vermont squad starts on the trip at an extreme disadvantage, but have always succeeded in making an admirable showing. Practicing in the cage with no chance to do much batting, meeting teams that have already been practicing for weeks in a milder climate, driving hundreds of miles by bus to play, all these things detract from the men's stamina on the trip. The pitching staff has trouble throwing in the cage and they have no chance for a real workout until the trip. Coach Larry Gardner deserves a lot of credit for the type of teams that he has turned out for the trips with these obstacles in his path. If the team can win over Navy, Princeton and Army, they should feel well satisfied.

A clergyman, on hearing some one remark that liberalism was creeping into the churches, made the comment: If that is so, I hope it will soon strike the contribution boxes.—Boston Transcript.

"Are you the Bull of the campus?"
"That's me, baby."
"Moo."—Rensselaer Red Cat.

THIRD NUMBER OF "THE WINNOWINGS" TO APPEAR AFTER EASTER RECESS

Vermont Literary Magazine to Have Column of Freshman Poetry; Several New Authors are listed in Table of Contents

A number of new authors will appear in the spring issue of The Winnowings, which will be ready for the publication soon after the Easter recess, according to an announcement recently made by Charles M. LaFlamme '33 in his capacity as editor of Winnowings. One of the features of this third issue of Vermont's literary magazine will be a column of freshman poetry. There will also be several short poems, including two by a new author, Walter Van Tilburg of the English department. A short play by R. J. Weissman '34 will be a feature of the number. There are several book reviews and also a contributors' column, as usual.

A number of short stories, written by several well-known contributors to the magazine, and one narrative by an author new to Winnowings are also included in the table of contents. "Another Morning" poem, by Electra Schaefer '35; 'Natura Naturata,' play, R. J. Weissman '34; "Running Back," story, Frances Smith '33, "A Twilight Journey," narrative, I. M. Libby '35; "Blue Alley Corner" poem, Walter Van Tilburg; "A Stitch in Time," short short story, R. I. Weissman '34; "Golden Moments," poem, Marguerite Dunsmore '33; "Sonnet" Dorothy Kennedy '35; "The Peoples Choice," story, A. A. Ross '34; "The Ox Team," poem, Walter Van Tilburg, "Cape Despair," narrative, W. E. Cass '35; Freshman Poetry Column; "Week-end Trip," story, Eugenia Powers '34; "And For a Little Space," poem, Dorothy Kennedy '35; "Toward Sleep," poem, Gladys LaFlamme '33; Book Reviews; Contributors' Column.

The freshman poetry column is an innovation proposed to encourage new writers; compositions will not be accepted, however, except on merit.

Play No. 1
Director, Marian Kiel '33
Birdie Creagh '35
Rosemary Cahill '36
A. A. Morrisette '35

Play No. 2
Director, Virginia Goodenough '33
S. N. Spiller '33
P. M. Andress '36
Marion Herberg '36
Thelma Rosenberg '35
Evelyn Perry '35
S. K. Carter '33

Play No. 3
Director, Dorothy Murphy '33
H. H. Abbott '35
Alice McConnell '34
P. M. Howe '35
Mary Casey '36
Frances Rowe '36
E. D. B. Kane '36
Mary Cunningham '35
Medora Kendall '33
B. J. Costello '36

Play No. 4
Director, R. S. Wright '35
D. W. Jenks '34
C. F. Derven '36
J. M. Libby '35
E. Levine '36
E. R. Greemore '36

FRATERNITY TAX BILL DEFEATED IN SENATE

(Continued from page 1)

The bill was presented in the Legislature early in the session by Representative Burke of Burlington, and was chiefly pushed by the Burlington legislators afterwards. It was passed several weeks ago in the House, and has been considered in the Senate committee on municipal corporations for some time. Two major hearings were held before this committee which several fraternity delegates and alumni attended. At the last, Wednesday, March 22, a large group from the college were present and urged its defeat.

BASEBALL ITINERARY IS RELEASED BY WEBSTER

(Continued from page 3)

Leave Charlottesville	7.30 a.m.
Arrive in Williamsburg	12.00 m.
Lunch at William and Mary	12.30 p.m.
Game with William and Mary	3.30 p.m.
Dinner and lodging at William and Mary
Saturday, April 8:
Breakfast at William and Mary	7.00 a.m.
Lunch at William and Mary
Game with William and Mary	3.30 p.m.
Dinner and lodging at William and Mary
Sunday, April 9:
Breakfast at William and Mary	7.00 a.m.
Leave Williamsburg	7.30 a.m.
Dinner in Washington	1.00 p.m.
Leave Washington	2.00 p.m.
Arrive in Philadelphia	7.00 p.m.
Lunch and lodging at Hotel Robert Morris
Monday, April 10:
Breakfast at Hotel Robert Morris	9.00 a.m.
Leave Philadelphia	10.00 a.m.
Arrive at Princeton	12.00 m.
Lunch at Nassau Inn	12.15 p.m.
Game with Princeton	3.30 p.m.
Dinner at Nassau Inn	6.00 p.m.
Leave Princeton	6.30 p.m.
Arrive in New York	8.30 p.m.
Lodging at Hotel New Yorker
Tuesday, April 11:
Breakfast at Hotel New Yorker	8.00 a.m.
Lunch at Hotel New Yorker	11.30 a.m.
Game with Manhattan	3.00 p.m.
Dinner and lodging at Hotel New Yorker
Wednesday, April 12:
Breakfast at Hotel New Yorker	8.30 a.m.
Leave New York	9.30 a.m.
Arrive at West Point	12.00 m.
Lunch at West Point	12.15 p.m.
Game with Army	3.45 p.m.
Dinner and lodging at West Point
Thursday, April 13:
Breakfast at West Point	7.30 a.m.
Leave West Point	8.00 a.m.
Lunch in Bennington	12.30 p.m.
Leave Bennington	1.30 p.m.
Arrive in Burlington	5.30 p.m.

TRAVEL AGENCY MAPS OUT PLAN FOR N. Y. CITY TOUR DURING RECESS

Price Per Student for 3 Days in N. Y. Including Transportation, Lodging, Entertainment, is $15

A sightseeing tour to New York by a party of Vermont students is being planned for several days during recess, according to a report this week by the Cynic. The tour will be organized by a travel agency, and be in charge of a tourist agent who interested the services of the [illegible] New York hotel, and various theatre houses in New York City.

The tour, as outlined by the tourist agent may include: transportation from New York City for a group of college people (minimum ten to twenty), three nights' lodging at a New York hotel, the Times Square hotel, the Wentworth Hotel; six meals at a hotel; a special luncheon meeting at the Tony Sarg Bohemian Restaurant; an evening at the Hollywood Night Club; a complete sightseeing tour of the metropolis with visits to the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Museum of Natural History; the ascent of the Empire State Building or the Chrysler Building which afford a fine view of the city; a trip to the Radio City Music Hall including one evening's show; a trip through the Holland Tunnel; visits to Greenwich Village, the East Side of New York, Chinatown, and Harlem; a sightseeing tour around the city by bus; and the choice of one Broadway hit or musical comedy.

The tentative price for the three days of entertainment, transportation, bus fare, and hotel lodging will be fifteen dollars per person. Persons who desire to make the trip may signify their choice of dates which may be during any three days of the Easter vacation.

All the plans mentioned by the tourist agent are tentative until he receives word of what number wish to make the trip. After hearing from the Vermont party a contract will be made specifying the exact route and mapping out in detail every feature of the trip.

All those who are interested in the project are asked to sign their names at the Cynic office immediately so that definite plans may be made. According to the tourist agent, "it is very possible that the larger the party, the more places we will be able to visit. We would like to make it a very fine thing of the trip and therefore solicit the cooperation of the students. If both men and women wish to join the party we shall be glad to make arrangements with the dean of women concerning chaperonage, as it is our wish that everything be carried out in a proper manner."

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.
TRY US

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY
YOUR LIFE WORK?
The Harvard University Dental School offers a comprehensive course in this field of health service, which is becoming increasingly important in relation to medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school.
Write for catalog
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 48, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables
Home Made Mayonnaise
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

SPECIAL
SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO
MASSAGE $1.00
ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY
JOE'S BARBER SHOP
JOE LANGLOIS, Proprietor
BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Fleming Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
The hours during Easter Vacation will be from 7.30 a.m. to 8.00 p. m.

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHOOL
Founded 1900
DENTISTRY has developed into an important branch of health service. In order to meet its obligation to humanity, it needs men and women of the highest intellectual type, trained by superior training.
College men and women who are interested in a career in this field of service may obtain a prospectus of the educational requirements by addressing
HOWARD M. MARJERISON, D.M.D., Dean
Tufts College Dental School
416 Huntington Ave. Boston, Mass.

BROOKLYN LAW SCHOOL
ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY
375 Pearl St., Brooklyn, New York
SUMMER SESSION—June 19—Sept. 1
Courses carry full credit
Forenoon and Evening Classes
Regular Fall Session Begins September 25
For information address the Registrar

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1933 — NUMBER 46

VARSITY DEBATE TEAM RETURNS FROM ANNUAL SPRING TRIP TO SOUTH

Newly Formed Team Loses the Decisions of the Ten Forensic Encounters

The University of Vermont forensic [illegible] returned Sunday, April 9, from its [illegible] spring tour among the foremost [illegible] and debating teams of the East [illegible] West. The team composed of R. F. [illegible]arm '33, Burlington, R. E. McCuin '33 Highgate, and W. H. Meyers '35, [illegible]ington, although lacking in experi[illegible] and debating technique, the team [illegible] the admiration and compliments of [illegible] audiences wherever it went. J. E. [illegible]adow '33, senior varsity debater of [illegible] Haven, was unable to make the trip [illegible] of illness. Nine debates were [illegible] meeting ten colleges in as many [illegible]. Teams which were met include: [illegible] Normal School, Boston Univer[illegible], Rutgers University, and Richmond [illegible]versity, Susquehanna University, Vir[illegible]nia Union University, University of [illegible] Carolina, University of South [illegible]rolina, Roanoke College, and West [illegible]rginia State College. Both sides of [illegible] cancellation of the war debts and [illegible]pan's policy in Manchurian questions [illegible] used in forensic battle.

The first debate on foreign territory [illegible] on the affirmative for Vermont of [illegible] war debts with Keene Normal at [illegible], N. H. Although in the past years [illegible]debates with Keene have been decision [illegible]ters this debate was a no-decision. [illegible] Vermont will meet Keene in a return [illegible] at Burlington.

The next battle of wits was after the [illegible] of the Rotary Club of Marlboro, [illegible]Mass. with the team of Boston Uni[illegible]versity. The judges for this debate were [illegible]unanimous that Boston University had [illegible] eighteen consecutive debates and [illegible]es out for the nineteenth victory. [illegible]Vermont's first speaker of the debate [illegible]old the gentlemen of the Rotary that [illegible]considered it a privilege and pleasure [illegible] Vermont to debate such a victorious [illegible]am before the distinguished club mem[illegible]bers and stated the policy of Vermont [illegible]debates to foster the good relations be[illegible]tween colleges and universities, and al[illegible]though Vermont could not boast such a [illegible]ng of victories she was proud to meet [illegible]Boston University. McCuin and Myers [illegible]peated for Vermont.

A triple debate was held between the [illegible]esentatives of Rutgers College and [illegible]mond University and Vermont at [illegible]New Brunswick, N. J. A representative [illegible]from each college was on each side of the [illegible]question and the outcome was novel and [illegible]interesting. This was probably the first [illegible]debate of its nature in this part of the [illegible]country. Forty-eight intercollegiate de-

(Continued on page 3)

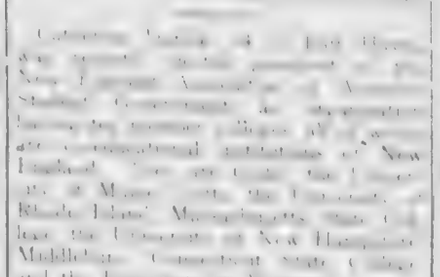
DEUTSCHE VEREIN GIVES PLAYLET "BEIM ARZT"

A playlet entitled "Beim Arzt" was [illegible] by the members of the Deutsche [illegible]rein on Tuesday afternoon, March 28 [illegible] the Owl House. The characters were: [illegible] Lutman '35, L. Schildhaus '34, [illegible] Lattimer '36, Margaret Nugent '34, [illegible] Mitchell '34, R. J. Weissman '34 [illegible] H. Klavan '35.

[illegible]ssor Carpenter, head of the Ger[illegible] department spoke on "Modern Ger[illegible]". He explained the growth of the [illegible]al parties in Germany and gave [illegible] résumé of the present Hitler [illegible].

[illegible]committee in charge of this meet[illegible]ed of Augusta Cohen '34, Ruth [illegible]'36, G. Davis '34, Grace Lut[illegible] and L. Schildhaus '34.

[illegible]r and Mrs. Carpenter were the [illegible].



[illegible] who are interested may at[illegible] meeting which will be held on [illegible] April 25. Membership in the [illegible] be limited to those who pay [illegible]ive cent fee for the rest of [illegible], although non-members may at[illegible]ings.

[illegible]a Cohen '34 was elected treas[illegible] the organization.

DOCTOR O'NEILL SPEAKS ON MENTAL HYGIENE

[illegible] C. O'Neil of Waterbury, pro[illegible] of psychiatry in the College of [illegible] has addressed the freshman [illegible] in a series of lectures on mental [illegible]. In the first lecture Doctor [illegible] the conception of mental [illegible] and traced its development. In [illegible] he dealt with different phases [illegible] disease and its effect upon [illegible] students.

DURICK HEADS STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

[illegible] Durick, president of the Student Government Association of the University of Vermont, who will preside at the meeting of the Association of New England [illegible] to be held at the University of Maine [illegible] Rhode Island Monday. The [illegible] will have the University of New Hampshire, Middlebury, Connecticut State College and the University of Vermont.

This year Miss Durick attended the conference of the Association which was held at Lewiston Me. Next year the conference will be held at University of Vermont.

UNIVERSITY SUMMER SESSION TO HAVE STAFF OF FIFTY TEACHERS

Only Twelve Members of Summer SSchool Personnel Are Not Vermont Faculty Members

The summer session of the University of Vermont, which opens July 5 and closes August 12, will carry a faculty of 50 teachers according to information released today from the office of Prof. Bennett C. Douglass, the director. All but 12 are from the regular teaching staff of the University.

Among those to give summer courses who are not carried on the regular teaching staff of the University are Clare Dudley Buck, instructor in expression, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Elizabeth H. Dee, instructor in physical education, New York City; Florence M. Fisher, demonstration teacher, grades one and two, Ira Allen School, Burlington; Sanford D. France, instructor in mathematics, Boys' High School, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Harvey S. Grover, superintendent of schools, Lynn, Mass.; Nina B. Jordan, demonstration teacher, grades three and four, Springfield, Mass.; Lois J. King, demonstration teacher, grades five and six State Normal School, New Haven, Conn., Edith S. Lister, instructor in vocal music, New York City; Margaret A. Ritchie, instructor in art, Yonkers, N. Y.; W. Warren Shaw, director of vocal music, New York City; Hilda L. Suddes, instructor in The Study School, Montreal, Canada; Mary B. Sullivan, instructor in methods, Castleton Normal School, Castleton; Charles Lee Tracy, instructor in Piano, New York City.

Among the resident teachers will be eight heads of departments. They are: Prof. Bennett C. Douglass, head of the department of education; Prof. Fred D. Carpenter, German; Prof. Paul D. Evans, history; Prof. George G. Groat, economics; Prof. Clair T. Leonard, music; Prof. Arthur B. Myrick, romance languages; Prof. Henry F. Perkins, zoology; Prof. Frederick Tupper, English.

ONLY SEVEN WEEKS ARE LEFT BEFORE FINALS

Women's Formals, Junior Week, Founder's Day and Graduation Exercises Are Features

Easter vacation at the University of Vermont [illegible] with the [illegible] of classes Wednesday morning, April 12. Seven weeks remain until the beginning of the final examination period June 1.

The most important social events remaining on the calendar for the year are the women's formals on April 24 and May 5, and the events of Junior Week, May 12 to 13 inclusive. Among other [illegible] campus activities [illegible] the baseball [illegible] the opera holds first place on April 29, Founder's Day will be observed about May 1.

A few games of baseball and tennis are on the sports schedules for this month, and early in May the whole spring sports program bursts into activity. On May 3 the freshman baseball team will be playing Green Mountain Junior College in Burlington. On May 4 the varsity is at Northfield in a state series game. The freshman track schedule opens May 5 with Lyndon Institute at Burlington. The varsity track team is at St. Lawrence May 6. The tennis team, after a trip into Massachusetts, plays its first home matches May 9 with St. Michael's on the other side of the nets.

The final examination period lasts from June 1 to 15. Commencement activities will occupy the time from June 16 to 19.

LYMAN C. HUNT '12 TO BE ALUMNI SPEAKER AT FOUNDER'S DAY SERVICE

Mr. Hunt, a Graduate of Bellows Free Academy, is Superintendent of Schools in Burlington

The alumni speaker at the Founder's Day exercises of the University of Vermont this year will be Lyman C. Hunt superintendent of schools in Burlington a member of the class of 1912. The senior and junior classes will also present speakers. Other features of the day will be the review of the R. O. T. C. battalion the exercises of Boulder and Scabbard and Blade societies, and the announcement of new members of various honorary societies.

Lyman C. Hunt the principal speaker of the day, is a native of Fairfax. His preparatory education was received at Bellows Free Academy, Fairfax, and he received his A.B. degree from the University in 1912. After graduation he served as principal successively at McIndoes Academy, McIndoes; Champlain High School, Champlain, N. Y., People's Academy, Morrisville; Spaulding High School, Barre. He has been superintendent of schools in Burlington since 1922.

MAY 29TH TO JUNE 10TH DATES OF FINAL EXAM PERIOD SAYS REGISTRAR

All Conflicts Must Be Reported by Wednesday, April 19 at Registrar's Office

Final examinations are scheduled to take place from May 29 to June 10 according to the preliminary schedule released last Wednesday afternoon from the Registrar's office. All conflicts in examinations must be reported before Wednesday afternoon, April 19, 1933.

The schedule:

Monday a.m., May 29: Dairy 1, Dairy Mfg. 11 (Butter making), German 1, German 2, German 4, Machine Draw. (Mechanism).

Monday p.m., May 29: Economics 114 Geography (T.Tr.), Geology 2, Greek 109, History 6, Psych. 2 (Applied), Psych. 5 (Abnormal), Sociology, Zoology 10.

Wednesday a.m., May 31: Economics 12, Economics 13, Elect. Commun., History 2, Music 8 (Solfeggio), Zoology 2.

Wednesday p.m., May 31: Chemistry 111, Farm Mechanics, French 8, General Elect. Eng., Genetics (Ag.) History of Art, History 8, History 10, Home Ec. 11 (A & B), Pol. Sci. 109.

Thursday a.m., June 1: Care of Child. (H. Ec.), Contracts, Elect. Design, Geology 4, Home Ec. 8, Indust. Eng., Latin 14, Mathematics, Math 4, Prof. Courses, Public School Music 2, (H. Ec. Pol. Sci. 4, Soils & Soil Management, Zoology 3 (H. Ec.).

Thursday p.m., June 1: Botany 115, Engineering Drawing, Forestry (General and 2), History 12, Mech. Drawing, Senior E. E. Lab., Zoology 4 (Ag.).

Friday a.m., June 2: Latin 11 [illegible] Pharm. 1, Pol. Sci. 1, [illegible] Psychology, Child [illegible] Public School Music [illegible] Math. [illegible] Physics 3, Economics [illegible] History, Latin 105 or [illegible] Latin 1, French 1, French 4.

(Continued on page 3)

SUMMER SCHOOL WILL HAVE EXHIBIT AT GRAND CENTRAL PALACE, N. Y.

The University of Vermont summer school will have an exhibit at the International Vacation Exposition by Champlain Valley Council April 27 to May 6 at the Grand Central Palace, New York City. The exhibit will be a large bird-eye view of the campus with accompanying copies. The summer school will also have a paragraph in the Exposition's circular setting forth its advantages as a place of study during the summer months. Summer session bulletins will be on hand for distribution among those interested. Between 75,000 and 100,000 people are expected to attend the Exposition. Cooperating with the Champlain Valley Council in its campaign to publicize the valley as a vacation ground are the Adirondack Resort Association, the Vermont Publicity Bureau and the Vermont Hotel Association.

Professor R. P. Johnson

GROUP PLAYERS SCORE HITS IN PERFORMANCES GIVEN BEFORE VACATION

Melodrama, Farce, Comedy and Short Skit on Program of Evening Entertainment

The second appearance of the Group Players under the direction of the University Players was made before a capacity audience in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum Tuesday evening, March 28.

The first of the four plays, coached by Stuart Wright '35, started promptly at 8:30 the time having been set at 8:15. However as one student was heard to remark, "That just shows what may happen to the most efficient of organizations."

Three plays, coached by Marion Kael '33 Virginia Goodenough '35 and Dorothy Murphy '33 followed. The four plays included a melodrama a farce, a [illegible] comedy and a short skit. Interpretation of the characters was left to those taking part, the coaches merely directing rehearsals.

No admission was charged. Prof. L. W. Dean of the English department passed the hat, in the form of a small square box. Pennies and other small change quickly found their way to the receptacle, the audience having been put in good humor by the very short addresses given in advance by Professor Dean.

"We consider that the Group Players were successfully presented," states Miss Murphy, who is also president of Masque and Sandal. "The English department seemed pleased with the outcome of our attempt. They urged us to give another presentation, but because of the shortness of time we shall not be able to get it in. We are much encouraged by the student and faculty response to our attempt."

ANNUAL LILAC DAY IS VERMONT TRADITION

Planting of the Lilacs is Custom Instituted by Dean Wasson

[illegible] Professor Sweetser, [illegible] [illegible] has planted each year at the [illegible] on campus of the University of Vermont [illegible] that a pageant will be given in the [illegible] which was written by Gladys [illegible] '28 and [illegible] '28 [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The three weekly Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Editor-in-Chief
Associate Editor
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Recording Editor
Business Manager
Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Helen Mount '35
Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

COLUMNIST

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge DOROTHY KENNEDY

Published at the ... Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year; single copy five cents

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at THE VERMONT CYNIC Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 ... No. 46

Editorials

THAT FINAL STRETCH

Back to the closing period of the current school year, the students at the University find a busy time in store for them. Some returning from genuine vacations find that the sheer work greeted them last Wednesday morning was not anticipated, while others more accustomed to the idiosyncrasies of Vermont climate endure the inclement weather in silence.

The spring days are usually difficult ones for the average college student. He is torn between the necessity of keeping up his courses to the end of the year, the desire to participate in outdoor sports and pastimes, and the ever urgent searching for a summer job or a permanent one if he is graduating.

That "tired feeling" of which the student has been relieved during the vacation has suddenly returned. He wonders what he did with all the time during the recess. There were so many back papers to write and so many reports to begin that the spring vacation loomed large as his only salvation. But now it is all over, and although that extra amount of time did help some, it was not long enough so that the student could accomplish both the things he wanted to do and those that had to be done. As a result the latter were neglected in a majority of cases.

Everything will be for the best, however, if one can hold out until the summer vacation. Then everyone will have plenty of time to enjoy the many activities which had to be curtailed during the Easter recess. This is the hardest period of the year for studies; face it bravely.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER?

How many times have students worried, fretted, torn their hair and finally burst indignantly into protests when a professor delays for days in returning test papers that should have been handed back long ago? As a result the worn pupil does not know where he stands in the course. A professor sets a certain date for the student to finish a certain assignment, and if the student is unfortunate enough not to hand the paper in on scheduled time, in nine cases out of ten he receives an incomplete or a flunk. But what if the professor does not hand the reports or examination papers back within a reasonable length of time? What happens? Nothing. If any student objects, his attitude is considered very poor and the chances are slim that he will obtain a very high grade.

Without doubt, some of the courses a college student most enjoys are those in which the professor places himself on a par with his subjects. In these courses the professor will return all papers corrected as soon as possible with the markings arranged in a neat, comprehensible fashion. Inevitably students are bound to consider with a greater amount of confidence instructors and professors of this type. There should, except in extreme emergencies, be no such thing as a professor's work piling up so much that he is unable to return graded papers within a reasonable length of time after the reports are passed in.

How many times have we heard that the teacher as well as the student should receive a grade? In the eyes of the student, the professor's own grade will depend much on the efficiency and promptness in which he returns corrected papers. Aren't we all taught that promptness is a fundamental virtue?

TO THE LADIES

Following a custom which has been followed intermittently in the editing of the Vermont Cynic, the next publication will be the Women's Issue. The paper will be completely in the hands of the women of the staff and will be supervised by the women's editor. Elections to offices in women's organizations will be printed at this time with all other news in which co-eds of the University of Vermont will be particularly interested. In this issue the editor will have to content himself with only a small corner of the paper.

THE MODERN GREEKS ALWAYS HAVE A WORD FOR IT

Intent on making ... as collegiate as possible, "Bing" Crosby and ... Paramount picture today worked out a ... book," you are leaving hurriedly to go ... for a loss," you mean that you made ... If you attend classes dressed up you are a "capitalist," but if you go in corduroy ... you are a "peasant."

... and Arlen, both college men, remembered a long list of equally effective words and phrases common to most campuses. Here are some of them:

... a "real" regatta as "Joe's ..."

Apple-polisher: one who curries favor or grades from an instructor by ingratiating himself in the latter's good graces.

Babe: any girl.

Barb: non-fraternity man; not a "Greek"; a barbarian.

Base-hit: successful attainment of any objective.

Bender: state of intoxication.

Binge: see "bender."

Blew: departed.

Boiled: see "binge."

Brawl: (1) a dance; (2) wild party; (3) see "boiled."

Canned: (1) expelled; (2) see "brawl."

Capitalist: one who wears good clothes to classes.

Cockeyed: see "canned" (2).

Cocky: unmerited feeling of superiority.

Constructed: built; said of a girl.

Crack a book: to study.

Cram: to study diligently.

Crate: an automobile.

Dame: any girl.

Dark horse: blind date.

Davenport technique: parlor tricks.

Dilley: very good, as in "it's a dilley."

Dig: a dance.

Don't be a ditzel: don't be silly.

Don't be an oaf: same as "don't be a ditzel."

Knocked out: departed suddenly.

Drag: to take.

Flop: a failure.

Frau: fiancee.

Funk: a pledge to a fraternity.

Forest Primeval: nice girl; see Longfellows "Evangeline."

Goat: pledge to a fraternity.

Going steady: has started taking out one girl regularly.

Gravy train: any sort of a successful grant, usually a managership of some student activity.

Grind: one who attends college for the purpose of getting an education.

Heap: automobile.

Heavy: big, important, as in "heavy date."

Heavy: pleasing, beautiful, successful, etc.

Hero: glass of intoxicating liquid.

Hung a pin: became engaged.

Lapland: girl who likes to cuddle.

Make a pass: make overtures, attempt.

No go: impossible, can't be done.

Oiled: see "cockeyed."

On the lam: hurried departure.

Peasants: opposite of "capitalists."

Pipe: easy, as "the course is a pipe."

Polishing the apple: an apple-polisher at work.

Professional: an athlete who has a campus job.

Right over second: same as "base hit."

Riot: splendid, praiseworthy, as "It's a riot."

Running with: going with.

Rushing: pursuing in a social way.

Slid through: (1) narrow escape; (2) easily.

Smoothie: modern version of "slicker."

Snooty: supercilious.

Snazzy: degree of perfection. Anything can be "snazzy."

Squirreley: slightly demented.

Sucker: one who is unable to "take it."

Spiffed: see "oiled."

Stay up and get a draw: don't let adversity get the better of you.

Struggle: a dance.

Stewed: see "spiffed."

Stiff: see "stewed."

Thrown for a loss: defeated when "making a pass."

Took a powder: disappeared from a difficult situation.

Two strikes on him: he didn't have a chance when he started.

Waving his arms: see "stiff."

Went down swinging: tried hard, but missed.

What's the score: what is going on?

RIFLE TEAM SCORE IS CERTIFIED IN HEARST TROPHY RIFLE MATCH

The University of Vermont rifle team scores for the National R. O. T. C. Hearst Trophy shoot have been certified back from Chicago showing a team score of 865. Five shots were fired from each of four positions. H. J. Sheldon '33 fired 50 prone, 48 sitting, 46 kneeling and 41 standing to lead with 185 out of a possible 200. Other scores were R. H. Treadway '35, 183; A. L. Williams '35, 173; R. M. Donahue '34 and A. S. C. Darden '35, 162 each.

UNIVERSITY PURCHASES THREE NEW PIECES OF PROPERTY RECENTLY

The University which recently purchased the property on the southeast corner of Main and South Prospects streets in Burlington, belonging to the Bittersweet Tea Room, has now purchased the Fred S. Jackson property on South Prospect Street. Both properties contain houses and just how the University contemplates. Another piece of property just acquired by the University is a house and lot on University Terrace.

The first-named property will be converted into an apartment building for the University. It will contain four apartments. On the upper floor there will be a kitchenette, bath, living room, and two bedrooms. The lower floor will have a kitchenette and dinette combined, bath, living room, and two bedrooms. In the ell part of the house, the apartment on the upper floor will have a living room, bedroom, bath, and large kitchenette and dinette. On the lower floor in the ell there will be a kitchenette, dining room, living room, bath, and bedroom.

It is expected that the apartments will be ready for occupancy by the first of May.

PRESS CLUB ELECTIONS HELD AT LAST MEETING

Voting was held yesterday for Press Club officers.

Nominations were as follows: For president, Grace Harris '34 and Helen Mount '35; for secretary-treasurer, Muriel Conant '35 and Eunice Mann '35; for social chairman, Catharine Shaw '34 and Shirley Tripp '34.

Pi Beta Phi

Initiation of the pledges will be held tomorrow afternoon at the chapter house. At night there will be an initiation banquet on the roof garden of the Hotel Vermont.

Bits of Bunk

The sweet ... Well, I ... me stealing that kiss ... from me and that's made ... The tenant: Yes, ... Lord.

Lady Calves ... Goodness, what's that ... sleeper? Oh, are ... morning to wake up the ...

Ad—If the person who ... and out of my cellar ... return Grandma's ... will be asked. ...

Seated one day at the ...
Weary and ill at ease
The organist counted ...
While the monkey ...

"Did you know that Rex ... had much money and ... broke?"

"No. How do you know ...

"Doesn't he always say ... body, I owe.'"

My boy, beware of the lad ...
Because if it's a blunt
She knows too much ... and it ...
She doesn't know enough

She loves me,
She loves me not
What's the dif?
She's not so hot.
—Syracuse ...

"Where do you go to school?
"Harvard."
"Taking medicine?"
"No."
"Well, you need it."—Lion

"They must have had a hell ... to keep people on earth before the ... the law of gravity."—Lion

Another aid to business ...a Teletypewriter "Central

Working out new ways to serve the communication needs of the public is an objective always in the minds of Bell System men. The new Teletypewriter Exchange Service—typing by wire—is an example.

For some years Private Wire Teletypewriter Service has speeded communication between separated units of many large organizations. Telephone men—anxious to make this service more widely useful—have now established Teletypewriter central offices, through which any subscriber to the service may be connected directly with any other subscriber. Both can type back and forth—their messages being reproduced simultaneously at each point.

This new service provides fast, dependable communication and does for the written word what telephone service does for the spoken word. It is one more Bell System contribution to business efficiency.

BELL SYSTEM

TAKE A TRIP HOME BY TELEPHONE
... TONIGHT AT HALF-PAST EIGHT!

ELLENBERGER, HEAD OF NEW ENGLAND DAIRIES, RESUMES HIS DUTIES

Head of the Department of Animal Husbandry Returns to His Work at the University

[illegible] and a quarter million dollars is [illegible] Dr. H. B. Ellenberger, head of the [illegible] Administration Board under New [illegible] Dairies, Inc. contracts and [illegible] of the New England Governors' [illegible] Advisory and Arbitration Board, [illegible] was received by Vermont [illegible] from May to December, 1932, [illegible] and above what otherwise they [illegible] have received, as a result of opera[illegible] under the temporary set-up of New [illegible] Dairies. And this, he says, does [illegible] take into account what they might [illegible] lost prior to May 1 had the market [illegible] as it surely would have done had [illegible] been kept up by the preliminary [illegible] of the Governors' Board.

Doctor Ellenberger, who was drafted over a year ago for this arduous task, has now resumed his work as active head of the department of animal and dairy husbandry at the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College. When called to head the Milk Administration Board he was granted leave of absence from the University in order that his services might be made available to the dairy industry of New England. The call came naturally as a result of many months of work on his part as chairman of the New England Governors' Dairy Advisory and Arbitration Board, which had succeeded in lining up the disagreeing producing and distributing units and ironing out their difficulties so that New England Dairies could start functioning May 1, 1932. During his leave of absence from the University he has remained in nominal charge of his department, supervising its plans and their administration.

W. H. Bronson, statistician for the New England Milk Producers' Association, has estimated that $1,744,000 more money was returned to New England farmers from sales in the Boston market alone attributable to the effective operations of New England Dairies during the control period from May 1 to December 31, 1932, which was made possible through the work of the Governors' Dairy Advisory Board. In the larger secondary markets he estimates the extra returns to have amounted to more than $[illegible]. The total of "more money," according to Mr. Bronson's estimates, is $2,[illegible]698; and this does not include returns from many small markets nor the increments resulting from the stabilization of market prices during the preliminary period, January to April, 1932, when negotiations were going forward, nor does it include the losses which might have occurred through price decreases but for the work of the Governors' Board not been effective. Doctor Ellenberger believes that New England milk producers during 1932 may have gained [illegible] or quite $4,000,000 as a result of the stabilization thus effected. Bronson's figures for Boston and secondary markets indicate that Vermont milk going into southern New England must have returned to Vermont farmers at least the $1,250,000 extra income estimated by Doctor Ellenberger as a result of wholly independent calculations based on data collected by him as Milk Administrator. Both the University of Vermont and Doctor Ellenberger feel amply repaid for the sacrifice they have made, since this extra income was a material factor in helping Vermont dairymen face the difficult days of 1932.

Doctor and Mrs. Ellenberger have been in Boston most of the time during the past fourteen months. The burden of the Boston work since last May has been in connection with the administration of the New England Dairies temporary contracts in seeing to it that both producers and dealers were treated fairly in so far as the contracts would permit. A staff of certified public accountants was kept busy auditing the records of all contracting parties and all data were checked and interpreted by the head administrator. Numerous adjustments were required, sometimes favor of the dealers but more in favor of the producers. While such administrations work is costly, the net returns to all parties amounted to many times more than the expense. Doctor Ellenberger feels that he has gained an insight into market conditions and practices and has accumulated facts that may prove to be of substantial service to the industry. The other members of the New England Governors' Dairy Advisory and Arbitration Board and of the Milk Administration Board, Messrs. A. L. Felker of New Hampshire, F. P. Washburn of Maine, James O'Brien of Massachusetts and H. R. Lewis of Rhode Island, loyally and effectively cooperated in the work.

The Governors' Board regrets that certain producer units were unwilling to cooperate to the extent required to continue New England Dairies in active operation after January 1 or more promptly to effect a permanent setup. However, it should be noted that the Board has not been directing the New England Dairies organization program. It did not set it up, and certain principles were adopted by those in control against its advice. However, the Board members did not deem themselves infallible and for many months worked full-heartedly with the officers of New England Dairies and especially furthered their efforts to secure the cooperation of producing interests. However, the Board recently announced that it could no longer lend its approval to the plan and program then being followed by New England Dairies, feeling that in certain vital respects it was not wholly sound, equitable or practical and fearing that, as a result, the expectations of producers might not be fully realized. It felt that steps should be taken which would tend to preclude the necessity of starting all over again and of losing ground already gained. It sought to salvage and to preserve the sound and useful parts of the set-up and to suggest changes in structural organization and policies to the end that the plan might be made more acceptable to certain producing interests whose cooperation must be secured if New England Dairies is again to become operative and effective and furnish relief to New England milk producers.

Doctor Ellenberger said that he felt that such activities as had been directed in the past by the Governors' Board had been successful. It had secured agreements which made the temporary operation of New England Dairies possible and had provided the administration that made the contracts effective. While his duties as Milk Administrator under the temporary contracts of New England Dairies are practically completed, the Governors' Advisory Board is still in being and his relation to its work continues.

MAY 29–JUNE 10 MARKS DURATION OF FINALS

(Continued from page 1)

Monday a.m., June 5: Botany 2 & 3 (all sections), Education 6, English 3, Geology 1, History 8, Latin 2, Music 1, Physics [illegible], Physics 3, Sociology.

Monday p.m., June 6: Botany 1, Psych 10b (Experimental Psychology).

Tuesday a.m., June 7: Greek 107, Spanish 1, Spanish 3.

Tuesday p.m., June 7: Chemistry 9, Chemistry 17, Art, Chemistry 20, (H Ec.), Music 3, Physics 3, Socio. Ethics), Pol. Sci. 10, Pub. School Music 1 (T Tr.).

Wednesday a.m., June 8: Economics 2, Economics 7, Education 10, Engineering Construction, English 3, Greek 1, History 11, Physics 5, (Hist. Ed. Soc.).

Wednesday p.m., June 7: Alt Currents (Juniors), Alt Currents (Seniors), Bridge Design, Economics 9, Economics 11, English Methods (T Tr.), Farm Management, Geology 5, Home Ec. 9, Internal Combustion Engines, Philos. 2 (Ethics), Stock Feeding.

Thursday a.m., June 8: Chemistry 1, Chemistry 21, Chemistry 22, Chemistry 23, Education 4, Greek 0, Math 7 (Adv. Algebra), Reading Methods (T Tr.), Rural Ed. (T Tr.).

Thursday p.m., June 8: Chemistry 8, Economics 5, Economics 58, Education 5, French 112, History (T.Tr.), History 7, Junior E. E. Lab., Latin B, Pol. Sci. 111, Pol. Sci. 114, Zoology 1 (Pre-Medic).

Friday a.m., June 9: Botany 8 (Cytology), Chemistry 104, Economics 8, Economics 60, Economics 63, French 105, Greek 2, History 1, Intro. to Ed. (T Tr.), Latin 1, Zoology 7 (Embryology).

Friday p.m., June 9: Child Lit. (T.Tr.), Dairy Bact., Economics 4, Economics 20, Elements of E. E., Home Ec. 1 (Survey), Home Ec. 2 (Foods), Home Ec. 5, Home Ec. 16, Hort. 1b, Mechanics 2 & 3.

Saturday a.m., June 10: Home Ec. 12, Math. 1 (Arts & Ag.), (Anal. Geom.), Math. 1 (Arts, Math. of Finance), Math. 1 (Engineer, Anal. Geom.), Math. 2 (Arts, Calculus), Math. 2 (Engineer, Calculus).

Saturday p.m., June 10: English 2.

LICENSE PLATES FREE

Automobile license plates are now issued free in Mexico City and lower California, but the new law has increased the sales tax on gasoline one and one half centavos a liter (approximately one cent, United States) per gallon.

ROTARIANS LUNCH AT FLEMING MUSEUM AND SEE VARIOUS EXHIBITS

[illegible] members at the Burlington [illegible] Club [illegible] at the auditorium of the Fleming Museum of the University of Vermont yesterday, and later viewed the exhibits under guidance of the [illegible] staff and others.

President Guy W. Bailey of the University showed the visitors about the Wheeler room, where the James B. Wilbur collection of Vermontiana is housed. Mrs. [illegible] Patrick was in charge of the [illegible] room.

Staff members who assisted were Prof. E. C. [illegible] geology, Prof. P. A. Moody, mammals, W. H. Rehmey, shells and birds, H. E. Eldred, Japanese and Lower Vermont fauna, lower animals, W. A. Newton, archaeology and ethnology, Miss Isabel Mayo, art room.

Children who are members of the museum's junior printing club showed the Rotarians through the children's room.

DEBATE TEAM RETURNS FROM SPRING JAUNT

(Continued from page 1)

bates have been held at Rutgers College during the year.

Colburn and McCuin upheld the negative of the war debate against Susquehanna University at Selinsgrove, Pa., Saturday night. Vermont lost the contest under decision by a close margin of 87 to 84 points. The judge was a coach and director of debating at Penn State College.

Sunday, April 2, found the team in Washington, D. C., prior to the debate in Richmond, Va. The highlights of the day in the capital city was the visit to the Washington and Lincoln Memorials. Later a visit was made to Sen. Warren Austin of Vermont whose secretary, Mr. John P. Adamson, who has been in the service of Vermont senators for twenty-nine years, guided the Vermonters throughout the Capitol and White House and made possible the outstanding feature of the trip, shaking hands with the Secretary of Treasury Mr. Woodin as he arrived at the committee room on business for a meeting.

The Manchurian question was the topic of the Richmond debate, Vermont upholding the policy of Japan. The war debts once again held forth at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N. C., with Vermont on the negative and the following night at Columbia, S. C., with the University of South Carolina and Vermont the affirmative. Both debates were acclaimed as the best held at those institutions and the Vermont men were commended upon their extemporaneous ability at debating. The Patrick Henry type of debate was used by the southern colleges to a great extent with the orations prepared and learned speeches. The University of North Carolina is planning a trip north and will attempt to take in Vermont.

The debaters turned north from this point and met Roanoke College at Salem, Va., in perhaps the best and most lively debate on the trip. Vermont used three speakers on the affirmative of the war debts.

Moving further north the debaters met West Virginia State College in the last forensic battle at Institute, W. Va. The policy of Japan was once again upheld by Vermont in the no-decision tray. The Vermonters won a decision from the state college last year.

Traveling all night after the West Virginia debate the team arrived in New York City the next day, Saturday, April 8, covering a distance of some 600 miles. Sunday, April 9 found the team on its way home, following what perhaps was not a successful trip as far as decisions go, but proud of the fact that they had upheld the University of Vermont to the best of their abilities and had won the friendship and relationships of new colleges and above all an abundance of debating experience which cannot be evaluated in the winning of decisions.

ANNUAL LILAC DAY IS VERMONT TRADITION

(Continued from page 1)

annual Field Day was combined with Lilac Day for that year. The Lantern Walk and the planting of a lilac tree were dropped however. The next year however, Smith '27 wrote a pageant which delighted its audience. Pageants were given both in 1931 and in 1932, last year's suffering was especially present.

On September 11, 1932 Pearl Randall Wasson died after only three years as Vermont's beloved dean of women. During her short connection with the University she had encouraged many new attempts of the women students, among them student Government; she had won the respect of all her associates, the admiration of the students, and the love of all who met her. She had the rare gift of tempering the enthusiasm of youth with the judgement of matured experience. For Vermont she has left a creed which we believe, typifies also her own character.

Vision to see the right our world demands
Enthusiasm not content with dreams
Reserve to guard foundations with firm hands
Mentality to judge between extremes
Opportunity for those who do not shirk
Normality to guide real honest work
Tradition all our own to us—Vermont

SUNRISE SERVICE TO BE HELD AT COUNTRY CLUB

Outdoor Breakfast Will be Served Immediately Afterward

An outdoor Easter sunrise service will be held Sunday morning, April 16, at 6:15 at the Burlington Country Club. The gathering is sponsored by the College Street Collegium and the First Church Christian Endeavor Society.

Rev. Charles G. King, pastor of the Federal Church of Colchester, will be the speaker of the service, and the leaders of worship will be D. W. Jenks '34 and D. F. Campbell '34, respective presidents of the two sponsoring organizations. An outdoor breakfast will be served immediately following, for which an offering will be taken to defray expenses. About 100 persons are expected at the meeting, which is open to everybody. In case of inclement weather, the sunrise service and breakfast will be held at the First Church parish house.

The order of service follows:

Call to Worship—D. F. Campbell
Hymn—"The Day of Resurrection"
Scripture—Matt. 28 1-9, read by D. W. Jenks
Prayer—D. F. Campbell
Hymn—"Christ is Risen"
Easter Thought—Rev. C. G. King
Benediction—Reverend King

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHOOL
Founded 1868

Dentistry has developed into an important branch of health service. In order to meet its obligation to humanity, it needs men and women of the highest intellect, backed by superior training.

College men and women who are interested in a career in this field of work may obtain a prospectus of the educational requirements by addressing

Howard M. Montgomery, D.M.D., Dean
Tufts College Dental School
416 Huntington Ave. Boston, Mass.

Fordham University
School of Law
NEW YORK

Case System. Three Year Course

CO-EDUCATIONAL

College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required

Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases

Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE

CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHOP
182A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES

STUDENTS
SUPPLIES
ART MATERIALS
FAVORS & DECORATIONS
FOR DANCES
•
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts. Phone 429

DIAMOND
ENGAGEMENT RINGS

If you appreciate real fine Diamonds and wish to know and see exactly what you are purchasing you will be interested in our large display of fine Diamonds.

As an engagement ring is a life-long gift and one that is most cherished it is well to select a perfect Diamond and to have a stylish mounting of Platinum of Gold.

It will be a pleasure to show you our Diamonds

F. J. Preston & Son
INCORPORATED
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

Were you BORN TIRED?

When you see Niagara Falls on the package, you KNOW you have [illegible] Wheat

HO, HUM . . . another day, another dollar. But why let it put you in a state of vertical collapse, when the nearest campus eating place has the best pick-me-up awaiting your command?

It's Shredded Wheat, the food that's VITALLY DIFFERENT, that puts the spring in your step. Some folks call it "energy by the bowlful." And it is for Shredded Wheat is whole wheat, the one cereal grain that's packed with proteins, carbohydrates, minerals and vitamins. All these vital, life-sustaining elements—nothing added, nothing taken away—come to you in Shredded Wheat. With just the right amount of bran, measured for you by Nature.

You'll like the taste. Millions say they do. Have it served any way you like—with milk or cream, fresh or preserved fruit. It will even put new life in your pocketbook . . . it's a lot of food for a little!

SHREDDED WHEAT

A product of NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY "Uneeda Bakers"

SPORTS NEWS

Travel Worn Baseball Team Returns From Southern Trip After Playing Eight Contests

Record of Two Wins in Eight Starts Marks Opening Campaign of Coach Larry Gardner's Charges; Game With Army Only Game Cancelled

Arriving in Burlington in the wee hours of yesterday morning, the campaign-worn Catamount baseball players completed an eight-game invasion of the Middle Atlantic States, winning two contests and losing six. Victories over Virginia Military Institute and Princeton and tight games with the Naval Academy and William and Mary College were a feature of the trip. The game scheduled to be played with the Army had to be called off because of wet grounds. The Vermont team batted on a par with their opponents despite the fact that they lost the majority of their encounters. Many of the teams which were met had been practicing on the field several weeks before the Vermont invasion.

Homers Spell Defeat of Cats in Début

Smashing out two timely home runs, Daunis won the Navy game for the Middies against a fighting Vermont team in their first appearance on the diamond this year. The Annapolis team's ability to hit in pinches was another big factor which contributed to the downfall of the Catamount team on Saturday, April 1.

Although the Catamounts outhit the Midshipmen 11 to 7, they were only able to come out of the short end of the 8-7 final score. Bobby Burns, playing his first year with the varsity nine, was the spark plug of the Green and Gold attack, fielding errorously and connecting three times. Ed. Layden, Catamount hurler outhurled Davenport in every department of the game. The Vermont nine accumulated six of its tallies in the fifth and sixth innings.

The box score:

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Burns, 2b.	4	3	3	2	2	0
Pires, s.s.	5	1	0	1	4	4
Taft, l.f.	5	1	1	1	0	0
Layden, p.	4	1	2	1	2	0
McKay, 3b.	5	0	2	1	2	0
Talbert, r.f.	4	0	0	0	0	0
Palmer, 1b.	4	0	2	10	0	0
Bent, c.f.	4	0	0	1	0	0
Bowers, c.	3	1	0	7	5	0
Totals	38	7	10	24	15	4

Navy

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Cassidy, c.f.	4	1	0	0	0	0
VanArsdel, c.	3	1	0	7	0	0
Walters, 2b.	1	1	0	0	0	0
Kessler, 3b	4	2	3	4	1	0
Masterton, l.f.	2	1	0	1	0	0
Daunis, 1b.	4	2	3	11	0	1
Borries, c.f.	2	0	0	2	0	1
Davenport, p.	4	0	0	0	2	1
Gorham, 2b	3	0	0	0	2	0
Knapper, s.s.	3	0	1	1	0	5
Weller, s.s.	1	0	0	1	0	0
Totals	31	8	7	27	5	8

Vermont	0	1	0	0	3	3	0	0	0—7
Navy	3	0	2	0	1	0	2	0	*—8

Two-base hits—Taft McKay. Three-base hits—Palmer, Knapper. Home runs—Daunis 2. Sacrifice hits—Van Arsdel, Masterton, Burns, Borries. Base on balls—off Layden 3, Davenport 4. Struck out—by Layden 5, Davenport 7. Wild pitches—Davenport, Layden. Umpires—Hughes and Green. Time—2:05.

Vermont Bats Hard, Wins

Playing their second contest of the southern trip, the nine earned a victory at the hands of the Virginia Military Institute team smashing out five hits in the sixth inning and two safe blows in the third inning, the Cats collected seven runs to the Institute's four. Ed. Swartz, another newcomer to the ranks of Vermont varsity baseball, limited his opponents to six scattered hits during the encounter. The Virginians went hitless for the first six stanzas.

Burns, brilliant keystone sacker, stole the spotlight in the field playing a hangup game of baseball, and scoring seven assists and five putouts. Noble, Cadet right fielder, poled a long homer out of the ball park at Alumni Field. His circuit blow came with one man on base.

Larry Bowers, Vermont backstop, opened the scoring for the Cats in the third inning with a base on balls. Swartz laying down a bunt advanced him to second. Burns walked and was forced at second when Pires drove a liner to short, while Bowers went to third. A single by Chet Taft and a screaming double by Capt. Dutch McKay drove in three tallies. In the sixth frame consecutive singles by Palmer, Bent, Swartz, Burns and Taft coupled with a wild pitch accounted for four more markers.

The box score:

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Burns, 2b.	4	1	1	5	7	0
Pires, s.s.	5	1	0	1	0	1
Taft, l.f.	4	1	2	0	0	0
McKay, 3b.	4	1	1	2	3	1
Talbert, r.f.	5	0	0	0	0	0
Palmer, 1b.	3	1	1	14	3	0
Bent, c.f.	4	1	1	1	0	0
Bowers, c.	2	0	0	3	1	0
Swartz, p	2	1	1	1	1	0
Totals	33	7	7	27	15	2

V. M. I.

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Outen, c.f.	5	1	1	2	0	0
Ward, l.f.	4	0	0	2	0	0
Edmunds, 2b.	3	0	1	0	1	0
Smith, 1b	3	0	0	7	0	1
Greiner, 1b.	1	0	0	2	0	0
Gilbert, p., c	4	0	0	3	4	0
Buford, 3b.	4	1	1	0	2	0
Ferrara, s. s.	1	0	0	2	1	0
Noble, r.f.	4	1	2	0	0	0
Reynolds, p.	1	0	0	1	0	0
Tyree, c.	3	1	1	8	1	1
Totals	33	4	6	27	9	2

Vermont	0	0	3	0	0	4	0	0	0—7
V. M. I.	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	2	0—4

• Two-base hits—McKay, Tyree, Edmunds. Home run—Noble. Sacrifices—Swartz 2. Stolen bases—McKay, Talbert. First base on balls—Off Gilbert 6, off Swartz 1. Left on bases—Vermont 7, V. M. I. 6. Struck out—By Gilbert 8, Reynolds 3, Swartz 3. Passed balls—Tyree, Bowers. Wild pitch—Gilbert. Hit by pitched ball—Ferrara (by Swartz 2). Umpire—Orth. Time—2:15.

Cats Outhit W. and L. But Lose 9-2

Although outhitting the Washington and Lee University nine at Wilson Field the following day, the Vermonters were forced to suffer defeat at the hands of the Generals to the tune of 9-2. The home team took advantage of John Beckley's wildness, mustering their batting strength to the greatest possible advantage. The battle was well played, but the Washington and Lee's advantage was never threatened.

The Catamount nine collected ten safety blows off Jarrett, General's mound ace, but failed to hit in pinches as the winning pitcher fanned twelve Vermont batters during the game and was complete master of the situation. Burns, Pires and McKay hit safely twice each. Whitey Palmer drove out the longest hit of the day, when he slammed one far over the right fielder's head. Except

(Continued on page 5)

BASEBALL NINE AT WASHINGTON—1933

Reading from left to right: Bowers, Talbert, Swartz, Palmer, Webster (Manager), Beckley, Taft, Spicer, Ramon Bent, Layden, McKay (Captain), Burns, Pires, Norton (Bus Driver), Garrett, Reed (Basketball Manager), Gardner (Coach of Baseball), Abell (Graduate Manager), Tupper (Reporter).

DONAHUE TO CAPTAIN VERMONT RIFLE TEAM FOR COMING SEASON

Gould Will Be New Manager; Members of Vermont Rifle Club for Coming Year Are Elected

R. M. Donahue '34 was elected captain of the University of Vermont rifle team for the next season, and N. Gould '35 was elected manager at a meeting of the team held on Wednesday, March 29. Officers of the University of Vermont Rifle Club were also elected as follows: President, R. H. Treadway '35; vice-president, G. L. Davis '34; secretary, A. L. Williams '35; treasurer, A. S. C. Darden '35; executive officers, captains, P. S. Campbell and M. E. Craig, assistant professors of Military Science and Tactics; assistant executive officer, J. W. Hopkinson '35.

Rifle team insignia were awarded to Donahue, Davis, Williams, Darden, Hopkinson and to N. H. Press '33, retiring manager, to W. W. Burke '33, retiring captain, and to H. J. Sheldon '33.

The rifle team has just completed an active season in which intercollegiate matches with teams in all parts of the country were fired weekly since January. National Rifle Association (N. R. A.) matches at least one a week for six weeks, and shoulder to shoulder matches with Norwich (two), McGill and Company K, Vermont National Guard. The team has also fired in the First Corps Area team competition and the Hearst trophy competition which is national in scope.

The team was victor by a large score over McGill and Company K, and lost by less than 20 points in both Norwich matches, although defeating Norwich in the Corps Area shoot. It also won a fair number of its matches with teams outside the state.

Burke and Sheldon, two of the most reliable shots on the team, will be lost by graduation.

CAGE IS LOANED TO NEIGHBORING SCHOOLS THIS EASTER VACATION

During the spring vacation at the University of Vermont, while the baseball team is on its annual Southern trip, the baseball cage will continue to be busy every week-day afternoon. Diamond candidates of St. Michael's College at Winooski Park, four miles from here, and of the two local high schools, Burlington and Cathedral, will use the cage to limber up their throwing arms and sharpen their batting eyes. The Burlington High track team will also use the cage several mornings for practice in field events, starts, and general limbering up.

For a number of years the University has extended the courtesy of the cage during spring vacation to the two high schools. This is the first year the St. Michael's players, who later will be keen rivals in a two-game series with the Green and Gold, have used the cage for indoor practice.

"Are you there?"
"No, I'm here."
"Well, I didn't think you were."

PALMER GETS HONORABLE MENTION WITH ALL-NEW ENGLAND HOOP QUINT

The University of Vermont [illegible] Mountain Conference champions [illegible] ketball during the past season, has [illegible] ly been honored by the selection [illegible] of its most versatile members, W. Palmer, to the post of "honorable tion" on the All-New England [illegible] ball team. The Boston Transcript, ly assimilators of hoop data and pub ers of this honorary quintet, chose P immediately following the selection first two teams. Clark Corliss, of the Black Panther squad during 1933 season, was also mentioned Palmer as a guard among the hono mention candidates.

PERKINS' PORTRAIT IS HUNG AT RECENT EXHI

During the past week the portra Dean G. H. Perkins of the Univers Vermont, painted in 1914 by Ca Blenner, was one of the dozen pa in an exhibition by Mr. Blenner Grand Central Galleries, New York Dean Perkins' son, Prof. H. F. Pe and Mrs. Perkins, were present opening of the exhibit. The which Mr. Blenner has been will be returned to Burlington next

GARDNER DISCUSSES ETHICS OF BASEBALL VERMONT ALUMNI WEE

An article by "Larry" Gardner, of the University of Vermont club, which is now playing in the has appeared in the latest issue Alumni Weekly of the University the article "Larry" says in part:

"Our aim is to teach the men fundamentals and, without loss aggressiveness, to control their in an emergency, thereby ac poise which is so essential in life. This fact is borne out to degree by some of us who have analyzed last season, which have to relate was disappointing one concerned from the standpoint and losses. During all last cannot recall a single instance member of the team lost his in the face of some very trying stances. Therefore, from this believe that the men on last received a very valuable t otherwords they learned to and to lose gracefully."

Prof: Now, Willie, if James you a dog and David gave you how many dogs would you have '35: Four.

Prof: Now, now, think hard. you have four if James and gave you one?

'35: Yep. You see, I got two at home now.—Blue Gator.

First Hopeless: I hear there merger in the court house.
Second S. A. E.: What d
First Hopeless: They put riage license department in with license department because after a marriage license you lead a —Purple Parrot.

LIVE in FRENCH

Residential Summer School (co-educational) in the heart of French Canada. Old-Country French staff. Only French spoken. Elementary, Intermediate, Advanced. Certificate or College Credit. French entertainments, sight-seeing, sports, etc.
Fee $150, Board and Tuition, June 26-July 29. Write for circular to Secretary Residential French Summer School

McGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA D

"Spring Specialties"

Relieve Spring Fever by Letter Writing

Special Sale on Stationery

$1.00 and 75c

at the

University Store

APRIL 14 - 22

EASTER CLOTHES
FOR YOUNG MEN

SUITS
$18.50 to $35

TOPCOATS
$16.50 to $30

SMART—NEW FURNISHINGS

Miles & Perry Co.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1898

TRAVEL WORN BASEBALL TEAM RETURNS FROM SOUTHERN TRIP

(Continued from page 4)

...that he did not touch second ...automatically retired, it would ...gone for the only Catamount home ...of the season.

...e:

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
	4	0	2	5	3	0
	5	1	2	0	2	1
	4	0	1	2	0	0
.....	4	0	2	1	3	1
	4	0	0	0	0	0
	4	0	1	11	0	0
	2	1	1	3	0	0
	4	0	1	2	0	0
	3	0	0	0	5	0
	1	0	0	0	0	0
.....35	2	10	24	13	2

...for Beckley in ninth.

W. and L.

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
	4	0	1	2	0	0
	4	0	1	0	2	0
	5	0	1	0	1	0
...d, 1b.	3	2	2	6	0	0
	3	2	1	13	0	0
	2	0	0	0	0	0
...r, l.f.	1	0	0	0	0	0
...ks, r.f.	4	1	0	2	2	0
	3	2	2	2	2	0
	0	1	0	0	1	0
	3	1	1	2	0	0
	32	9	9	27	8	0

...0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 1—2
...0 4 2 0 0 2 0 1 *—9

Two-base hits—Violett, Pires, Bent, ...McKay, Burns. Three-base ...Short. Sacrifice hits—Miller, Mat...os. Stolen bases—Mattox, Cook, Mc...Kay. First base on balls—Off Jarret ...Beckley 5. First base on errors—...ington. Left on bases—Vermont ...and L. 3. Struck out—By Jarret ...Beckley 2. Double plays—Beckley...ans-Palmer, Burroughs and Short. ...assed balls—Ramon 3. Umpire—... Time—1:45

Virginians Too Much for Vermont

The University of Virginia, held scoreless for six innings and to a single run in the following frame, finally found Ed. Layden, smooth working Cat mound man, and nicked him for five safeties, which paired with several Vermont errors, netted the Virginia team six runs and eventually the game at Lambert Field on April 6. The final score was 7-2 against the Cats.

The Green and Gold scores came in the sixth inning when Enos Ramon pinch hit for Bent, smashed out a long single to drive in McKay and Talbert. However the Cavaliers stopped the rally! Vermont rally short after the pair of runs was made.

Both pitchers were in rare form, but Layden weakened in the eighth. Luck, the Virginia hurling ace held the Vermont team bottled up effectively for eight innings.

The box score:

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
...ns, 2b.	5	0	1	1	0	0
...es, ss	5	0	2	0	4	1
...ait, l.f.	4	0	1	0	0	1
...den, p.	4	0	0	1	5	0
...cKay, 3b.	3	1	1	1	2	1
...albert l.f.	3	1	1	1	1	0
...mer, 1b.	2	0	0	13	1	0
...ett c.f.	2	0	0	3	0	0
...wers c.	4	0	0	4	0	0
...Ramon	1	0	1	0	0	0
.....33	2	7	24	13	3

Virginia

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
...Brewer, r.f.	4	1	2	0	0	0
...ssel, c.f.	4	1	2	2	0	0
...ides, 2b	5	0	2	1	1	0
	5	0	1	8	0	0
...ngers, l.f.	4	1	1	2	0	0
...ss, ss	4	0	0	4	2	0
...ers, 1b	4	1	2	8	3	0
...ce, 3b.	3	1	1	1	3	0
...ck, p	2	2	1	1	2	0
.....35	7	12	27	11	0

...Batted for Bent in ninth.

...ermont ..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2—2
...rginia ..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 6 0—7

...base hit—Charles. Three-base ...Sacrifice hits—Drissel, ...Stolen bases—Talbert. First base ...off Layden 4, off Luck 4. Left ...Vermont 7, Virginia 6. Struck ...Layden 2, by Luck 6. Double ...Pires to Layden. Passed ball—... Wild pitch—Layden. Hit by ...Talbert by Luck. Umpire ... Time—2 hours.

Wild Peg Loses Close Game

...beautifully pitched and speedily ...game the William and Mary ...out a 1-0 win over the Ver... when Frank Pires, Green and ...stop, threw wide to first base ...second stanza allowing Sullivan ...

...Stankus, Indian slab artist, held ...ants eating out of his hand for ...inute, fanning twelve batsmen ...but three bases on balls and ...hits. Babe Spicer, doing ...for Vermont in his first ...of the Southern trip, was al... first frame, when he walked, ... second on a well placed bunt. Jester drove a liner at Pires in deep short and the latter threw wide to first base, enabling Sullivan to score from the keystone.

Ramon displaced Bent in center field and celebrated his promotion by cracking out a single, executing two difficult catches and pegging from deep center to catch a runner at third in the seventh inning.

The box score:

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Burns, s.s.	4	0	0	4	4	0
Pires, s.s.	4	0	1	3	2	2
Taft, l.f.	3	0	0	0	0	0
McKay, 3b.	4	0	0	1	2	0
Ramon, c.f.	4	0	1	2	1	0
Talbert, r.f.	3	0	0	0	0	0
Palmer, 1b.	2	0	0	11	0	1
Bowers, c.	1	0	0	3	2	0
Spicer, p.	2	0	0	0	4	0
Totals	27	0	2	24	15	3

William and Mary

Shade,			0	1	0	2	0
Gallmant, r.f.			0	0	0	0	0
Christensen, 1b.			0	0	6	0	0
Stewart, 3b			0	0	0	1	1
Lacroix, c.f.			0	0	0	0	0
Sullivan, 2b			1	1	2	1	0
Bradley, l.f.			0	0	1	0	0
Jester, c			0	0	14	1	0
Stankus, p			0	0	2	2	0
Total	28	1	3	27	12	1

Vermont	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
William and Mary	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1

Two-base hits—Christensen. Sacrifice hits—Bradley, Spicer. Stolen base—Sullivan. First base on balls—Off Spicer 6, Stankus 5. Left on bases—W and M. 4, Vermont 3. Struck out—By Stankus 12, Spicer 3. Wild pitches—Stankus. Umpire—Gresham. Time—2:00

One Bad Inning Costs Second W. and M. Game

In the second William and Mary game, the Indians drove in six runs against Swartz on Saturday, April 8. Errors and general weariness played a large part in the Indians' 6-1 victory over Vermont.

Bobby Burns tallied the lone Catamount run in the eighth inning when he smashed a solid blow through the right fielder's leg and circled the bases. The ability of the William and Mary nine to capitalize many of its safeties at the right minute combined with the lax fielding of the Vermont nine ruined a well pitched game.

The Indians could collect but eight hits off the Vermont pitcher, but five of these went for extra bases. Callison, winning moundsman, fanned twelve Vermont batters and permitted but two bases on balls.

The box score:

William and Mary

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Shade, s.s.	4	1	1	0	1	0
Gallmant, r.f.	5	2	2	0	0	1
Christensen, 1b.	3	0	1	8	0	0
Stewart, 3b	3	0	0	2	1	0
Lacroix, c.f.	4	1	1	3	0	0
Sullivan, 2b.	3	0	0	3	4	0
Bradley, l.f.	4	0	1	0	0	0
Jester, c	3	1	2	11	0	1
Callison, p.	4	1	0	0	1	0
Totals	33	6	8	27	7	2

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Burns, 2b.	3	1	1	1	6	0
Pires, ss.	4	0	0	1	3	1
Tait, l.f.	4	0	0	1	0	1
McKay, 3b.	4	0	1	2	5	0
Ramon, c.f.	4	0	1	1	0	0
Talbert, r.f.	4	0	1	0	0	1
Palmer, 1b.	2	0	0	14	1	1
Bowers, c.	3	0	1	4	0	0
Swartz, p	3	0	0	0	2	0
Totals	31	1	5	24	17	4

W. and M.	0	0	1	5	0	0	0	0	*	6
Vermont	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1

Two-base hits—Christensen, Shade. Three-base hits—Lacroix, Gallmant. Jester. Sacrifice hits—Sullivan, Christensen. Base on balls—Off Swartz 3, Callison 2. Left on bases—W. and M. 4, Vermont 5. Struck out—By Swartz 1, by Callison 10. Wild pitches—Swartz 2. Umpires—Proctor and Gresham. Time—2:00

Palmer's Double Snatches Game From Fire

With a man on first and third in the ninth inning, and two men out, Whitey Palmer, Catamount initial sacker, emulated the tales of Frank Merriwell by taking a count of three and two and then smashing the next pitch against the right field wall for a double to drive in two runs. An error by Croul, seconds later, enabled Palmer to score as the University of Vermont defeated Princeton here today on University Field by the score of 6 to 4.

Ed Layden, hurling for the Green and Gold, pitched flawless ball allowing but four scattered bingles and whiffing eight batters during the encounter. The teams were tied going into the last half of the eighth inning, three to three. With two out and a man on second, Layden threw wild over first on an easy put out and Larsen scored standing up from second to break the tie.

Chet Taft, Whitey Palmer and Dutch Krame...

The box score:

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Burns, 2b.	4	0	0	3	5	1
Pires, s.s.	5	1	1	1	1	0
Taft, l.f.	4	2	3	0	0	0
McKay, 3b.	3	1	2	0	3	0
Ramon, r.f.	4	0	1	0	0	0
Layden, p.	5	1	1	0	6	1
Palmer, 1b	5	1	2	12	0	0
Bent, c.f.	3	0	0	1	0	0
Bowers, c	2	0	0	10	0	0
Totals	35	6	9	27	15	2

Princeton

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Neel, s.s.	2	1	0	1	3	0
Bramlette, 2b.	4	1	0	2	2	0
Borger, l.f.	5	0	1	2	0	0
Dierson, c.f.	0	0	0	0	0	1
Wegener, l.f., c.f.	3	1	1	1	0	0
Kammer, p., l.f.	3	0	1	1	1	0
Larsen, 1b	3	1	0	11	2	0
[illegible]	1	0	0	4	0	0
[illegible]	0	0	0	0	1	0
[illegible]	1	0	0	0	1	0
[illegible]	0	0	0	0	0	0
[illegible]	1	0	0	0	0	0
[illegible]	4	0	1	0	4	1
*[illegible]	1	0	0	0	0	0
[illegible]	1	0	0	0	0	0
Total	40	4	4	25	13	2

*Pincoff batted but [illegible] who

Glazebrook batted but [illegible] who

Vermont	1	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	3	6
Princeton	0	0	3	0	0	0	0	1	0	4

Two base hits—Wegener. Three-base hit—McKay, Palmer. Sacrifice hits—Bramlette, Bent, McKay. Stolen bases—Dierson, McKay, Ramon. First base on balls—Kammer 2, Layden 9, Croul 6. First base on errors—Bent 1. Left on bases—Vermont 11, Princeton 7. Struck out—by Layden 8, Croul 2. Double plays—Neel to Bramlette. Passed balls—Bowers. Wild pitch—Layden. Umpires—Hales and Devitt. Time—2 hours.

Better Than Last Year Anyway

One day in old beer crazed New York was enough for the Vermont batters, weary after seven contests in almost as many days, as the Cats took it on the chin from the strong Manhattan ball nine last Tuesday afternoon by a 13-8 score. Nekola who had previously hurled the Lester to victory over a powerful Columbia nine led by their star pitcher Jay White, had the Vermont batters entirely under control during the entire game.

Despite the fact the score was one sided the Vermonters did better than they did last year on the final game of the Southern trip when sleep was beginning to mean more to them than baseball. The Green and Gold nine collected only four safety blows off the outright Nekola.

Swartz who relieved Spicer in the sixth inning limited the Jasper to three hits during the remainder of the contest.

The box score:

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Burns, 2b.	3	0	0	3	1	1
Pires, ss.	4	0	0	2	3	0
Tait, l.f.	4	0	0	1	0	0
McKay, 3b.	3	1	1	2	0	1
Ramon, r.f.	3	2	1	1	0	0
Palmer, 1b.	3	0	0	5	1	0
Bent, c.f.	3	0	0	1	2	0
Bowers, c.	4	0	1	8	0	0
Spicer, p.	2	0	1	1	3	0
Swartz, p.	2	0	0	0	2	0
Totals	31	3	4	24	12	2

Manhattan

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Tremark, c.f.	5	1	1	4	0	0
Coons, 2b.	5	2	2	4	2	0
Thomas, 3b.	4	2	1	1	3	1
Hassett, 1b.	5	3	3	10	0	0
Stoke, ss.	3	2	2	5	6	0
Corbett, l.f.	5	1	2	0	0	1
Johnston, r.f.	4	1	2	0	0	0
Pincoff, c.	4	1	3	3	0	1
Nekola, p.	4	0	0	0	2	0
Total	39	13	16	27	13	2

Two base hits—Tremark, Coons 2. Pincoff. Sacrifice—Nekola. Left on bases—Manhattan 10, Vermont 6. Double plays—Bent to Swartz to Pires. Stoke to Coons to Hassett. Struck out—By Spicer 6. Hit by pitcher—Pincoff (by Spicer). Hits off Spicer 13 in 5 innings. Umpires—Birmingham and Kopf. Time—2:15

Summary of Trip

A hasty survey of the summary of the trip shows that the team fared pretty well. The material developed was the most important accomplishment of the trip. With a record of two games won and six games lost, the nine should not be ashamed of their showing as it is a well known fact that eight game trips are difficult ones unless the team is used to the big league style of season which the University of Vermont nine is not.

Figures disclose the fact that Captain McKay led the batting with an average of .333 while Enos Ramon followed by Bobbie Burns were second and third in the batting averages. In the line of fielding, Palmer, Burns and Bowers seem to have shown up to the best advantage. The consecutive shortstop's work on the trip...

Summary of Southern Baseball Trip

Player	g	ab	r	h	po	a	e	fldg pct	batg pct
McKay, 3b	8	30	4	10	10	20	4	.882	.333
Ramon, r.f.	6	20	2	6	6	1	0	1.000	.300
Burns, 2b.	8	31	5	8	24	28	2	.963	.258
Taft, l.f.	8	32	4	8	5	0	2	.714	.250
Spicer, p.	2	4	0	1	1	7	0	1.000	.250
Palmer, 1b.	8	25	2	6	50	6	2	.978	.240
Layden, p.	4	14	2	3	2	13	1	.938	.214
Pires, 2b.	8	37	4	6	9	19	7	.800	.162
Swartz, p.	3	7	1	1	0	5	0	1.000	.143
Bent, c.f.	6	19	2	2	10	2	0	1.000	.111
Bowers, c.	7	19	1	2	40	8	1	.978	.105
Talbert, r.f.	6	23	1	2	1	1	1	.667	.087
Beckley, p.	1	3	0	0	0	3	0	1.000	.000
Totals	--	265	28	57	198	135	20	.940	.2149

Doubles: McKay 3, Taft, Pires, Bent, Ramon. Triples: Palmer 2, McKay. Home Runs: Burns (on error, recorded as single). Sacrifice Hits: Burns 2, Swartz 2, Spicer, Talbert, Bent, McKay. Stolen Bases: McKay 4, Talbert 2, Ramon. Wild Pitches: Layden 3, Swartz. Passed Balls: Bowers 3, Ramon 3.

Pitchers' Records

	g	w	l	bb	so	pct
wartz	3	1	1	8	7	.500
ayden	4	1	2	13	13	.333
	2	0	2	13	8	.000
Beckley	1	0	1	5	2	.000
		2	6	38	42	.250

FIGURES SHOW GAIN IN NUMBER OF PRACTICING PHYSICIANS IN VERMONT

Increase is Shown to Come From the University of Vermont Medical College

Figures released recently from the office of Dean J. N. Jenne of the Medical College of the University of Vermont show that in 1929-30 there were 446 practicing physicians in the State of Vermont of whom 269 were graduates of the University and 177 were from other sources. The year 1932-33 the figures show the number of physicians practicing in the State to be 460, all but one of the increase above the 1929-30 number coming from the University which now supplies 287 with 173 from other sources.

Eight physicians from the University and six from other sources located in Vermont in 1929-30. In 1931-32 the respective figures were eight from the University and three from other sources; in 1931-32 there were 14 from the University 12 from other sources; in 1932-33 the number from the University was 24 with 12 from other sources.

In 1929-30 and 1930-31 the State suffered a loss in number of practicing physicians. During the years 1931-32 and 1932-33 there has been a gain in numbers. In 1929-30 14 physicians located in Vermont while 28 were lost by death, removal or retirement making a net loss of 14. In 1930-31 with 11 locating in the State 14 were lost, making a net loss of 3. In 1931-32 the number to locate was 26 as against a loss of 24, making a gain of 2. In 1932-33 those locating numbered 30, those lost 21, making a gain of 15. During the four year period the losses have been due to 51 deaths 25 removals 11 retirements.

From 1926-27 to 1931-32 inclusive, making a six year period the medical college as shown by the statistics has graduated 172 students. Thirty-nine of these students or 22 percent, located in Vermont with three of the 39 removing since. Of the 172 graduates during these years 94 have been students with State scholarships. Thirty-eight of these 94 students have already settled in Vermont and more will do so as soon as their internships and other post graduate work is completed. All but one of the 39 graduates to locate in the State in the six years have held State scholarships.

FRENCH STUDENTS TO RECEIVE FIVE MEDALS

Prof. A. E. Morgan has announced that the French Embassy at Washington has presented to the French department at the University of Vermont five bronze medals, one of gold and four of bronze, which will be awarded after final examinations to the five outstanding students of French. The presentation of the medals was made shortly after the visit of M. Claire, first secretary of the French Embassy, who spoke before the Alliance Francaise and is one of the last events lectures.

A dorm date
Can't stay out late
And that is why
The town girls rate

...was one of the biggest encouragements Larry Gardner, the hard working coach has had this year. Of the pitchers Swartz fared the best of any. McKay led his team in doubles while Palmer clammed in the only Vermont triples of the trip.

INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATE AND ORATORICAL FINALS TO BE HELD AT MUSEUM

Prize Speaking Contest to Occur April 20; Debate Finals to be May 5 in Museum Auditorium

Judges for the interscholastic prize speaking finals, which will be held Friday, April 28, and for the interscholastic debating finals, to occur Friday, May 5, have recently been announced at the University of Vermont. Both contests will be held in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum at the University.

The chairman at the prize speaking contest on April 28 will be W. J. Aiken, associate professor of English. The judges will be P. D. Evans, professor of history, J. J. Metcalf, associate professor of psychology, and K. J. Sheldon, associate professor of agricultural education.

The chairman at the debating contest on May 5 will be J. W. Dean, assistant professor of English. The judges will be A. R. Gifford, professor of philosophy, E. H. Wallace, associate professor of secondary education, and J. J. Lund, associate professor of English.

District finals in the oratorical contests will be held in Montpelier and Burlington on Tuesday, April 11, and at Rutland on Wednesday, April 12. The University judges who will serve on the district oratorical finals in Montpelier are Prof. L. V. Ballard, Prof. George Dickinson and Prof. E. E. Wainwright. Those at Rutland will be Prof. P. H. Wallace, Prof. F. D. Carpenter and Prof. W. R. Adams. At Burlington the judges will be Prof. C. V. Fobbler, Prof. P. A. Moody and Prof. R. L. Judd.

The first, second and third place winners in the prize speaking contest will receive University of Vermont scholarships of $150, $100 and $75 respectively. They will already have received scholarships of $150 and $100 as first and second place winners in their district contests. Members of the winning team in the debating contest will receive scholarships of $400 each and the members of the losing team will receive scholarships of $150 each.

HOUSEHOLDER RECEIVES GRANT FOR STUDY AT COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

News was received here on Tuesday, March 28 that Frederick W. Householder, Jr., son of Prof. and Mrs. F. W. Householder, professor in the mathematics department at the University of Vermont, has been awarded a $1,500 scholarship by Columbia University for the college year 1933 in recognition of his scholastic attainments. Householder who will seek for his doctorate in New York will receive the scholarship renewable for three years beginning with the fall season.

He was graduated from the Burlington High School in 1928 and from the University of Vermont in 1932. A member of Lambda Iota and Phi Beta Kappa he was outstanding during his college career in musical dramatic and literary activities. Householder was managing editor of the Cynic, humor editor of the Ariel and was elected to Eta Sigma Phi Greek honor society.

Particularly active in dramatics, he played important roles in "The Devil's Disciple," "Summertime," "She Stoops to Conquer," "Hay Fever," and "Hedda Gabbler." Since his graduation from the University he has performed with the Burlington Theatre Club.

During the current year Householder has been engaged in post graduate work for his master's degree in the classics at the University of Vermont.

Mr.: She's the pick of the crop.
I.: Yeah, the prune crop.—Black and Blue Jay.

MUSEUM GETS LARGE COLLECTION OF EGGS

A collection of eggs belonging to Carl E. Pember, former state ornithologist, has recently been presented to the Museum of Natural History through the generosity of Miss Gertrude Billings of Woodstock, Vermont. The collection contains from 3000 to 4000 eggs.

A great deal of time was spent by Mr. Pember in collecting eggs of every species of birds available, even to the extent of purchasing native eggs for foreign ones. The foreign egg would be known by a small hole and be handled for its use in a museum. The most interesting specimen of natural egg is of deep blue from the North African guinea hen on the table. It is slightly smaller than the white egg but more interesting because of its uniqueness. An interesting comparison is made in the exhibit between an ostrich and hummingbird egg. The difference is as great as the comparative size of the birds themselves.

Other interesting eggs of foreign origin are the emu egg from New Zealand, the cassowary from Australia and the goose from Canada. Every kind of egg from native birds is included, from those of the swallow to those of the American Eider.

Mr. Pember specialized in the collection of duck hawk's eggs, which are always laid in inaccessible places of high cliffs. At times a great number of clutches or sets of the same species were taken because of the variety of markings and also the difference of numbers in each clutch.

The process of preserving eggs is quite complicated, for the reason that some eggs are found to have the embryo very well advanced. At first a small hole is made in the side of the egg and through it the egg material can be broken up. Then by introducing air into the inside by a small tube the material can eventually be removed. When an embryo is encountered the process is much harder.

Being Collegiate

Neighbor: Where's your brother Freddie?

Freddie: Aw, he's in the house playing a duet. I finished my part first.—Lantern

Desperate suitor: Say, I'll give you twenty-four cents for a lock of your sweetheart's hair.

Commercially minded little brother: Make it a dollar and I'll give you the whole bunch. I know where she has—Lantern

Chemistry prof: What is the most startling contribution that chemistry has given the world?

Frosh: Blondes.—Country Club

Frosh: How much are your rooms?

Hotel clerk: Five dollars up to twelve.

Frosh: How much for one all night?—Panther Junior

Co-ed: Young thing: I hate to think of my twenty fifth birthday.

The brute: Why, what happened?—Froth

Sir Francis Drake's historic trip around the world, we read, netted him some $10,000,000 worth of treasure.

"Really, Bill, your argument with your wife last night was most amusing."

"Wasn't it though—and when she threw the axe at me I thought I'd split."—Hunter

HAVE YOU "RAIDED"
THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 8.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

WINANT DEFEATS PROF. CARPENTER TO WIN TITLE IN HANDBALL CONTEST

Edward M. Winant of New York City, a freshman in the Medical College, for the second year won the handball championship of the University of Vermont defeating Prof. L. D. Carpenter, head of the German department, the faculty champion, by scores of 21-8 and 21-10. Winant, a former Erasmus Hall basketball guard and baseball star, a year ago took the student title by beating E. Sussen '32 Medic and F. M. Tutt '33, three-letter man in the semi-finals and finals respectively. About 40 handball players took part in the student and faculty tournaments.

HOW TO WIN YOUR GIRL

Dear Sally, of all the girls I've asked I want to take this dance. I most hope you can come.—Film Guide

Sir: Give me a sentence using the word inveterate.

Her: Kate Smith has a dress with ten bucks but she can only fasten eight.—Times

The Colonel: Confound it, sir, you nearly hit my wife!

Mr. Miggs: Did I? Well, you have a shot at mine!—Goblin

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY
YOUR LIFE WORK?
The Harvard University Dental School offers a comprehensive course in this field of health service, which is becoming increasingly important in relation to medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school.
Write for catalog.
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 62, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

NOTABLE PICTURE ON EXHIBITION AT MUSEUM

A landscape by the contemporary French artist, André Derain, which will later be shown at the World's Fair in Chicago, is now on exhibition in the Fleming Museum at the University of Vermont. Derain ranks high among living French painters and is represented in collections in this country such as the Phillips Memorial Gallery in Washington and the Chicago Art Institute. The landscape exhibited at the University is the property of the E. J. Harriman estate and is loaned by the Marie Harriman Gallery, New York City.

China was the first, in the long, long ago, to have an examination system as a test for state employment.

The British lion and American eagle are examples of symbols persisting throughout the ages, for they are to be found in early Sumerian or Elamite art.

NOTICE

Spring football candidates [illegible] in the auxiliary gym Monday at [illegible] p.m. Equipment will be [illegible] Tuesday.
COACH JOHN H. BURK

THESPIANS ATTENTION

Spring Play Tryouts Monday, Tuesday, 4.00 p.m. in Old Mill

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Tryouts for this year's Spring [illegible] are being held in Room 3, [illegible] College, at four o'clock, Mo [illegible] and Tuesday, April 17 and 18. one is eligible for casting wh [illegible] not under warning and not a [illegible] card student.

Sambo was hired out on a [illegible] gang. At the close of the [illegible] he was all tired out and [illegible]

"Mister, yo' sho' yo' all [illegible] on that pay roll?"

"Sure," said the boss. "Here's [illegible] name—Sambo Simpson. That [illegible]

"Yes, suh," replied Sambo. "I thought you might have me [illegible] Sampson."

Real values for men who value VITALITY

$4.00 AND $5.00

B. J. BOYNTO
65 Church St.

Why is the Stem removed from the tobaccos used in Chesterfield?

That's a very simple question to answer. The stem in a tobacco leaf, like the stem in most other plants, is "woody". It hasn't any of the flavor or the aroma that you want when you smoke. And it doesn't burn right.

So after tobacco has been properly aged, one of the first things to do is to remove the stems.

But what has this to do with your enjoyment of Chesterfield cigarettes? Just this. It means that we start right when we make Chesterfield—the right kind of leaf with the stem removed, the right manufacture—everything that science knows that can make CHESTERFIELD a milder cigarette, a cigarette that tastes better.

That's why people say "They Satisfy."

Tobacco used to be stemmed by hand—Now this machine stems 14,300 leaves every hour.

Wherever you buy Chesterfields, you get them just as fresh as if you came by our factory door

© 1933, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

WOMEN'S ISSUE

MASS MEETING TONIGHT

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 1933 | NUMBER 47

DURICK CHOSEN STUDENT UNION HEAD

WORTHWHILE TASK MUST BE A PART OF LIFE, MISS HOLBROOK

Education Professor Counsels Seniors Who Fail to Get Jobs to Plan Definitely

MAINTENANCE OF GOOD HEALTH GREATEST ASSET

One should face one's own problem squarely and make a definite, carefully thought out plan for meeting the immediate situation rather than allowing oneself to give way to complaining and vague worrying." This was the message of Prof. Sara Holbrook of the education department conveyed through a recent Cynic interview to members of the senior class who fail to secure positions upon graduation.

"Work, a worthwhile task, must be part of one's life if one's personality is to be developed to its best," declared Miss Holbrook, "and so to those who are sad to obtain the position which carries with it the sorely needed salary, the urgent plea goes that you do not let yourselves drift, but find the worthwhile, interesting task, and so fill your days that there will not be time for the depression to do its worst to you."

Sleep Costs No Money

A consideration of first importance, according to Miss Holbrook, is that the various rules for maintaining physical health be observed with more than ordinary care. "Good health is almost the greatest asset in maintaining sound mental health. Sleep, in sufficient amount," she declared, "is one need that at least does not cost money."

To objectify the situation and make clearer a possible solution, Miss Holbrook suggested talking over the special problems with some one, or writing down the outstanding facts.

In advising students who finished their college course or graduate work last year and who have not found the coveted and much-needed position, and to those who have lost a position previously enjoyed because of a curtailed budget, Miss Holbrook cited several examples from which she expressed the wish that young people would glean a bit of cheer and perhaps draw a few suggestions of some things to strive for.

The Examples

"Margaret K. had been a successful college teacher for four years following

(Continued on page 3)

THIRTY-THREE WOMEN ARE ON U. V. M. FACULTY

Thirty-three women hold positions on the Vermont faculty this year, according to a news release from the registrar's office. They are connected with every college except the College of Engineering. The home economics department of the Agricultural College is completely in charge of women.

There is a total of 485 co-ed students enrolled in the colleges of the University, the College of Arts and Sciences ranking highest with 345. The Agricultural College has 72 women, the Medical College 9, and the Engineering College 2. The two-year education course has a membership of 48 women.

The freshman class has the largest number of co-eds, with an enrollment of 120. The junior and sophomore classes have 105 women each, while the senior class is the lowest with 83 members.

Vermont leads the states in women residents at the University with a total of 199. Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New York having 32, 28, and 23, respectively.

In 1872 the first woman student was admitted to the University, the charter of the institution having been granted in 1800. In 1920 the first women were admitted to the College of Medicine.

ELIZABETH RICH TO EDIT 1937 FRESHMAN HANDBOOK

Elizabeth Rich '35 will edit the Women's 1937 Freshman Handbook, according to an announcement made by Susan France, president of Y. W. C. A. Carolyn Cabot '35 is the new business manager.

The retiring editors of the handbook are Leah Gowen '33 and Helen Jenkins '34.

CONTACT WITH EMINENT PERSONALITIES THE MOST VALUABLE EXPERIENCE

So Says K. A. T. Sorority Head in Discussing Benefits of a College Education

The contact with eminent men and the stimulus of their personalities and of their ideas comprise the most valuable experiences in college, according to Elizabeth Eckhard '33, the president of Kappa Alpha Theta. This opinion was gleaned in a Cynic investigation this week which solicited the opinions of the heads of the eight campus sororities on the value of a college education.

Miss Eckhard stated that the friendships we form are also highly important. College teaches us to think clearly and broadens our outlook, she declared.

Virginia Goodenough, speaking for Delta Delta Delta, advocates a generally rounded-out education with not too strict attention to studies. She advises all students to enter some activities, for the social and the extra-curricular side of college count for half its value to the individual. "There are two sides to education—theory and experience," she stated. "In the academic courses is found the necessary theory, and in the activities the experience." She also feels that meeting and living with different people of all sorts and from all places is very beneficial to the student in future years.

Physical Fitness First

"We come to college essentially for an education," says Norma Freeman, newly

(Continued on page 3)

SUSAN FRANCE '35 TO PRESIDE OVER Y. W. C. A.

Mary Horak Chosen Treasurer; Mary Whitney, Secretary; M. Ainsboro, Vice-president

Susan France '35 of Brooklyn, N. Y. was elected president of Y. W. C. A. at the Council meeting held just before the Easter recess. Madeline Ainsboro '35 of Derby was chosen vice-president; Marie Horak '34 of Lynn, Mass., was elected treasurer; and Mary Whitney '36 of Northfield was made secretary.

Miss France belongs to Alpha Chi Omega. She has played on her class basketball teams and has played hockey, tennis, and bowling. She was last year's freshman representative on W. A. A. Council and this year has served as corresponding secretary of that organization. She is a member of the Robinson house committee and has been campus manager of tennis and manager of sophomore basketball.

Miss Ainsboro, a member of Alpha Chi Omega, has played on the dean's list and is a member of Glee Club and the orchestra. She was also a member of the choir last year. She holds the office of treasurer of home economics of W. A. A.

Miss Whitney is a member of Delta Delta Delta. She belongs to Dramatic Club, is on the Slade house committee, and holds the position of grind editor on the 1934 Ariel.

Marie Horak, a Kappa Delta, is a member of Press Club and Dramatic

(Continued on page 2)

From top to bottom: Sylvia Boyd '33 and Caroline Taft '33, retiring president and chief justice of Student Union; and Gladys La Flamme '33, outgoing editor of Winnowings From the Mill.

MORTAR BOARD TO HOLD SPRING DANCE SATURDAY

Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society, will hold its spring dance on Saturday evening, April 22, in the gymnasium. Priscilla Perry '33 heads the committee in charge.

Dancing will begin at eight-thirty sharp, with Freddie Lynch's orchestra furnishing the music. Co-eds may purchase tickets of any of the Mortar Board girls. The admission charge will be $1.10 per couple.

Prof. and Mrs. J. T. Metcalf and Prof. and Mrs. P. D. Carleton will be the chaperones.

GRACE HARRIS ELECTED CHIEF JUSTICE; MARGARET KANE FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT

VT. CO-EDS TO DEBATE WITH MIDDLEBURY APR. 29

The women forensicists will stage their annual Middlebury debate here on Saturday, April 29 in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum. The question is "Resolved, That Democracy is a Failure." Virginia Goodenough '33, Laura Johnson '33 and Sophie Logan '33 who will represent Vermont will uphold the affirmative in this decision tilt.

This will be the last home debate for the women this year. During the first part of May they will debate against St. Lawrence University there on the same question. This will be the first radio broadcast debate in which the women have participated.

They won the debate with Pembroke on the topic of legal censorship. It was held in Providence, R. I., during the Easter recess.

DOROTHY KENNEDY '35 WILL HEAD WINNOWINGS EDITORIAL BOARD 1933-34

Cass Appointed Essay Editor, Ross, Short Story Editor, Miss Jenkins, Poetry Editor

Dorothy E. Kennedy '35 of Waterbury was appointed editor-in-chief of Winnowings from the Mill, Vermont's literary magazine, according to an announcement made today by Gladys La Flamme '33, retiring editor. The appointment was ratified by Prof. L. W. Dean, faculty advisor of the magazine.

W. E. Cass '35 was elected essay editor of the magazine; A. A. Ross '34 was chosen short story editor; Elva-Mae Jenkins '36, poetry editor; Eugenia Powers '34 and R. J. Weissman '34, contributing editors; and Sylvia MacKinney '34, art editor.

J. M. Libby '35 was elected as business manager. The circulation managers are R. J. Weissman '34 and Elizabeth Rich '35. W. E. Cass '35 and Elizabeth Haig '36 are the new advertising managers.

The last issue of the magazine this year will be under the direction of the new board.

The outgoing members of the board are: Gladys LaFlamme, editor-in-chief; Marguerite Dunsmore, short story editor; Virginia Goodenough, essay editor; Katherine Tolman, circulation manager; Eleanor Gates, advertising manager; Frances Simon '33, business manager and contributing editor; all seniors, and E. P. Colburn '34.

Miss Kennedy is a member of Sigma Gamma. She was poetry editor of Winnowings this year. She has been a reporter and news editor on the Cynic board and is a member of Bluestockings. She belongs to Press Club, W. A. A. and the John Dewey Club. She has been on the dean's list and has played class basketball and hockey.

Cass belongs to Delta Psi. He has also been connected with the Cynic and has been a contributing editor of Winnowings for the past year. He took second place in the essay division of the tri-state literary contest last year.

Ross is a contributing editor on the Cynic board. He is a member of Gray Friars and holds the position of sports editor of the Ariel.

Miss Jenkins is a member of Alpha Xi Delta. She has had several poems printed in Winnowings this year, one of which has also appeared in Driftwind, a Vermont literary magazine. She is a member of W. A. A. and of Bluestockings.

Miss Powers has contributed several short stories to Winnowings this year. She is a member of W. A. A. and has played class basketball and hockey. She is a member of Bluestockings and

(Continued on page 3)

Installation of Officers Will Be Held Tonight in Fleming Museum

RETIRING PRESIDENT LAUDS STUDENT SPIRIT

Catharine Durick '34 of Fair Haven, the newly elected president of Women's Student Union. She was unanimously elected at the Student Union mass meeting held March 28. According to an announcement made by Union Board, governing head of the coed organization, Miss Durick was the only junior girl eligible for the position. This is in accordance with the new ruling which states that the president of the governing body must have served a term on Student Council and may not be a Burlington resident.

Grace Harris '34 was elected chief justice, Margaret Kane '35 first vice-president, Madeline Ainsboro '35 second vice-president, Claribel Morris '34 secretary, Elizabeth Brown '36 Barbara Whitney '34, chairman of the program, Elizabeth Washburn, 1 F, two-year representative.

Installation of officers will be held tonight at the Fleming Museum at eight o'clock. Attendance of all women students is required.

"The cooperation of the students this year has been unusually fine," was the statement made by Sylvia Boyd in a recent Cynic interview. "Every officer who has served in the past year, has proved her worth in assuming responsibility."

Efficiency and Cooperation

The success of a year's work in student government, according to Miss Boyd, depends on two factors. The efficiency and cooperation of the Council and the general good spirit of all the members of the Association. Each year adds a few improvements and a better understanding between the administration and the student body.

In her message to student government officers of the coming year, Miss Boyd said, "As we leave our posts to the next Council we wish sincerely that the Women's Student Union may grow in wisdom, tact and helpfulness to make Vermont outstanding in her achievements in student government."

At this time of the year, when one set of officers is retiring and the new set being installed Miss Boyd suggests that students discuss the year's accomplish-

(Continued on page 8)

PRESS CLUB ELECTS HELEN MOUNT PRESIDENT

Helen Mount '35 of Burlington was elected president of Press Club for the ensuing year at a meeting of the organization held Monday, April 10 in the Old Mill.

Muriel Conant '35 was chosen secretary-treasurer and Shirley Tripp '35 social chairman.

Miss Mount, a member of Alpha Chi Omega, has held the office of treasurer of the Women's Athletic Association, and was the sophomore representative of W. A. A. She served as a reporter on the Cynic staff for a year, and was chosen to the position of news editor. She has been on her class basketball team for two years and was captain of the freshman five; she is a member of the honorary basketball and volleyball teams. She was president of the hockey team last year and chairman of La Cercle Lafayette.

Miss Tripp is a member of Alpha Chi Omega. She belongs to W. A. A. and plays on the class basketball team.

Miss Conant, a member of Delta Delta Delta, has held the office of treasurer of Press Club for the past year, is a member of W. A. A., and has placed consecutively on the dean's list.

(Continued on page 2)

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The Official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

CHARLES F. LIBBY '34 ..... Editor-in-Chief
ANGELICA COHEN '34 ..... Women's Editor
EDITH MACLEAN '34 ..... Managing Editor
WILLIAM HOLLAND '34 ..... Sports Editor
[illegible] '34 ..... Recording Editor
GEORGE H. DEBROWS, II '34 ..... Business Manager
CHARLES F. LIBBY '34 ..... Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Dorothy Kennedy '35 — Helen Mount '35
Howard Abbott '35 — Dustin White '35
Stuart Wright '35 — Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

Nathaniel Gould '35
Milton Greenburg '34
Ruth Kidel '34
Jane Parsons '35

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Roos '34
George Patterson '34

COLUMNIST

Robert Weissman '34

FACULTY ADVISER

Prof. Leon Dean

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year; single copy five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at The Vermont Cynic Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644.

Acceptance for mailing at points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 — April 18, 1933 — No. 47

WOMAN'S NEW ROLE

With women playing an important role in every field from which they were barred a century ago, it is time for college women everywhere to do some constructive thinking concerning the place they will fill in the community after their school days are ended. A woman in the White House no longer feels relegated to the rank of the country's best housewife or the nation's first social leader. With the inspiring example set by our illustrious first lady of the land who is competent to manage and direct all sorts of important projects and who takes active part in movements of education, home politics, and international relations there ought to be a strong impetus for the ladies throughout the land to learn to manage well any affairs of which the men have made a muddle.

The various sorority heads, as stated in the news columns of the CYNIC today, have stressed the value of the social contacts which University life enables them to make. Co-eds, however, must not underestimate the place that the advantages of a college training enables them to hold in community life. No longer should they pride themselves on being mere social lights nor content themselves with the graceful poise and the gloss of conversational chatter which, they maintain, contact with text books and professors has led them to acquire. They must bear in mind that their families, friends, and communities gave them the opportunity to seek higher learning in order that they might influence the nation's trends and in order that they together with the men might enlist their services in the modern war against ignorance, superstition, exaggerated patriotism, and intolerance of every sort.

Four hundred and eighty-five women are enrolled in the various colleges of the University. Among this number should be heard many voices of protest against campus evils and many pleas for the betterment of campus life. Within the co-ed ranks there should be active participation in worthwhile activities; the influence of women's thoughts on local problems and on questions of national and international import should be strong.

We note with pride that the women in our midst have consistently led the men in scholastic rating. This should signify more than mere drudgery or unenlightened pursuit of study. A good scholastic record should be the symbol of a wideawake mind and of original thought along broad, progressive lines.

Those of us who excel in languages should not limit our horizon to mere deciphering of hieroglyphics; we should master the spirit of the language and the life of the country in which it is spoken. Those of us whose major interest is in the social sciences should not feel that history and politics are things of text books alone; we should remember that history is in the making about us today and that the newspaper which mirrors rather faithfully the current events of the day, is the best of text books for the study of modern life. Those of us who are devoting our time to the sciences should not immerse ourselves in the narrowest aspects of science but should strive to relate our studies to the world of the living which science controls.

Miss Holbrook, professor of education, when interviewed by the CYNIC, urged graduating students to find a life work, "some worthwhile task," the pursuit of which would prevent them from wasting their time away. This, we admit, is more difficult than may at first appear, in a time of economic depression when jobs are scarce and are not always awarded to the people of the most ability. A college woman who has had a specialized training should engage her time in useful employment regardless of the amount of material gains. As Miss Holbrook so admirably pointed out, the fact that only a small remuneration will reward the zealous worker should not hinder her from worthy work. There is no life so monotonous, so worthless and wasted, as a life of empty waiting for something which seems never to come. It is by enthusiastic application to the job in hand regardless of the salary objective that worthwhile contacts may be made. A full and varied program should enable the college graduate of ability and intelligence to meet the people who have the power and influence to place her in the position whose "salary is so sorely needed."

—A. C.

SUSAN FRANCE '35 TO PRESIDE OVER Y. W. C. A.

(Continued from page 1)

Club. She has been awarded her class numerals and U. V. M. emblem in W. A. A. and has played hockey, volleyball, basketball, and archery. Last year she served as representative of Y. W. C. A. at the convention at Silver Bay. She is the vice-president of Robinson Hall. For two years she was costume manager of her class plays and she is now the advertising manager of the dramatic clubs.

The retiring officers of Y. W. C. A. are: Daisy Putnam '34, president; Marie Horak '35, vice-president; Susan France '35, secretary; and Esther Urie '33, treasurer.

"Marry me, Richard! I'm only the garbage man's daughter, but——"

"That's all right, baby, you ain't to be sniffed at"—Ranger.

Review of "The Winnowings"

PROF. P. D. CARLETON

Analyzed by Wright

This March issue of Winnowings from the Mut has 48 pages; that of November had 30—a gain of 18 pages. That is an advance in length if not in strength. There are five men and seven women on the list of contributors; it is safe to say that the men of the University are nearly as articulate as the women. All classes are represented by the contributors; there are two graduates, three seniors, two juniors, two sophomores, and two freshmen: proof that there should be a cross-section here of the life of the college, its ideals, interests, interpretations of existence. A large variety of forms has been used: play, poem, short story, short short story (a clumsy term), book review, and essay. Poetry predominates.

Conte

These statistics are encouraging, and their brightness is enhanced when I find that all the writings display a good level of competence: the authors had ideas that they wished to express and drove directly at a goal. The stories manifest a wide interest in love; all varieties are represented here for varied tastes. Then too there is the play that comes under the same category, a smart little play being very sophisticated about deceived husbands. There is the story in which the philanderer is deftly checked by a clever girl, the tale of sentiment in which the lovers' quarrel is ended by the girl's little sister, and (almost too good a coincidence) by the man's little brother; there is an idyll in a backyard garden, a bit of adventurous romance, and the story in which physical blindness leads the girl to a clearer insight into the fundamentals of love—nicely allegorical. These are valid enough interpretations of living and loving and though they are not all convincing, they all show patterns of thought that are of interest. I think that despite this reminiscence of Marquand and Newburyport in the Saturday Evening Post I would award the palm here to Cape Despair for its precision and color of style. A meditation on death and a satirical poke at politics complete the stories. The first has a pleasant flamboyance and the second a wry distaste with the methods of politicians that is enheartening. The poems vary from the rigid sonnet to the freest verse, from direct bright imagery of nature to mystic identification with it. I like the gentle, moonlight-flooded frustration of Blue Alley Corner, the sharp clear phrases of And for a Little Space, and the quiet scoff in Young Wisdom. The poets are sure enough of themselves so that they can jest a bit at their own profession. But what, by the way, is Shaparilli velvet? A regrettable ignorance keeps me from appreciating Morning. The book reviews are a novel departure and a satisfactory one, especially the quarrelsome one of One More Spring. I like the idea of a debate over literary values. Miss La-Flamme has commended Nathan's whimsical bitterness with our social system, and Miss Rice has urged that he be a little less whimsical and a little more sensible. I refuse to arbitrate, and offer the office of judge to those who read the book.

All in all this issue justifies its existence completely. It treats of subjects within the grasp of the student; it deals competently with those subjects; and it represents, I should say, the ideas of the student body. If it doesn't, it's the fault of the students. Objectors should enter the lists with contributions of their own or with emphatic denials of what has been said before. After all, I reflect, there are only twelve out of a thousand students represented here and there must be other things to say and other points of view. This magazine should become an intellectual center of exchange for all departments of the University—and I cannot see why it shouldn't be. I note in this issue that the most obvious literary form, the essay, has been practically omitted, and the essay is a form that offers anyone with an opinion on any subject a direct form of expression, and relieves him of the necessity of recasting his idea in some artistic form that requires long practice to perfect.

PRESS CLUB ELECTS HELEN MOUNT PRESIDENT

(Continued from page 1)

Miss Durick, who belongs to Alpha Xi Delta, was vice-president of her class last year, and served on the sophomore hop committee last year and a junior prom committee this year. Miss Durick is women's photographic editor of the Ariel.

Miss Morris, a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, is women's business manager of the Ariel, is a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, has served on Student Union Council for the past year, and is on the junior prom favors committee. She was on the women's rifle team her freshman year.

Miss Brown is secretary of the Home Economics Club, and is a member of Philagon and W. A. A. She is on the Robinson house committee and plays on the class basketball team.

Miss Washburn, a member of Epsilon Sigma, has been on the dean's list and is a member of W. A. A. She played on the freshman tennis team.

Miss Kane, who is a member of Alpha Chi Omega, belongs to Bluestockings, Press Club and John Dewey Club. She was a member of the women's Glee Club last year and has placed on the dean's list.

Miss Harris, who belongs to Delta Delta Delta, is a member of Press Club, Dramatic Club, W. A. A., and is on a Junior Week committee. She has played basketball during her college course, hockey and volleyball. She has recently been elected one of the senior representatives.

Miss Horak, a Kappa Delta, is a member of Press Club and Dramatic Club. She has been awarded her class numerals and U. V. M. emblem in W. A. A., and has played hockey, volleyball, basketball, archery and baseball. Last year she was vice-president of Y. W. C. A.; she served as representative of Y. W. C. A. at the convention at Silver Bay. She is the vice-president of Robinson Hall. For two years she was costume manager of her class plays and she is now the advertising manager of the dramatic club.

Miss Whitney is a member of Alpha Chi Omega. She is the treasurer of Philagon and is connected with the orchestra, Dramatic Club and Glee Club. She has been on the dean's list and has participated in the deputations work which is sponsored by Y. W. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

GRACE HARRIS STUDENT UNION CHIEF JUSTICE

(Continued from page 1)

ments among themselves and think about projects for Student Union work of next year.

The retiring officers of Student Union are: Sylvia Boyd '33, president; Caroline Taft '33, chief justice; Catherine Durick '34, first vice-president; Helen Jenkins '34, second vice-president; Charlotte Odell '33, secretary; Priscilla Perry '33, treasurer; Claribel Morris '34, chairman of the program.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the CYNIC:

While walking around the halls the other day we heard the rumor that the Junior Week Committee is planning to have the prom in the dining room of the Hotel Vermont. It appeared rather strange to us so we made some inquiries and here is what we found. It seems that the whole thing started over the fact that it is twenty-five dollars cheaper to hold the prom in the hotel and to be in keeping with the times the committee thought it would be well to make a cut at this point. This sounded good to us since we have always thought that they charged too much. We then remembered that we had been to the sophomore hop and that we thought at the time that the amount of the crowd was just right. It seems that they had sixty couples at that affair. We understand that they have about 125 at the prom. Now it looks like a mere matter of arithmetic to see that the hotel is not going to be anywhere large enough. Furthermore, there is the question of maintaining the social prestige of the prom. It always has been a much-looked-forward-to affair and one which people expected to be a little better than any other dance during the year. It does seem too bad to spoil the whole thing just for twenty-five dollars and the fact that the decorating might take a little more time. What is the decorating committee for? We think that the Junior Week Committee might consider these facts before making their definite suggestion which might ruin the whole dance for many people.

A MEMBER OF THE CLASS OF 1934.

WINTERBOTHAM TO TALK AT UNIVERSITY TEA SUN.

Mr. Joseph Winterbotham of Burlington will be the guest speaker at the University tea to be held at Redstone on Sunday afternoon, April 23, at four o'clock. Mr. Winterbotham will discuss the new dormitory collection of prints.

The new collection contains five prints of the best work of modern art.

Mr. Winterbotham has shown active interest in the University art department and has been influential in securing the material for the exhibitions which have been held at the Fleming Museum.

Both men and women students are invited to attend the tea, according to Miss Marion Patterson, dean of women, who sponsors the affair. Art students, says Miss Patterson, should be especially interested, since it will be a worthwhile discussion.

Homeless Londoners, who sleep in common lodging houses, shelters and casual wards, now average only between 20,000 and 25,000 for the county of London.

THE CATTY CO-ED

The Catty Co-ed thinks [illegible] ices should be held in the Chapel so that men [illegible] Vermont may smoke [illegible] Ira Allen Chapel on W[illegible]

The Catty Co-ed says [illegible] that a certain political [illegible] sor and a certain Eng[illegible] are very punctual.

The Catty Co-ed can[illegible] department reports that He[illegible] not waste his vacation [illegible] his strangely altered [illegible]

The Catty Co-ed desires [illegible] Do the Theta girls pay [illegible] certain wall in Coffee Corner.

The Catty Co-ed wants to k[illegible] can the girls tell whether [illegible] ing in or out of the "Y" [illegible] gestions: (1) Remove the wall [illegible] appoint traffic "cops."

The Catty Co-ed wants to [illegible] acquaintance of a certain [illegible] young journalist.

The Catty Co-ed must learn [illegible] fare our two fair damsels [illegible] gineering College.

The Catty Co-ed yearns for [illegible] cret of how the Sigma Gamma [illegible]

The Catty Co-ed does not [illegible] lieve that more women than [illegible] tend German Club meetings. [illegible] right on this point.

The Catty Co-ed will not attend [illegible] dent Union meeting tonight unless [illegible] freshments are served in the [illegible] manner.

The Catty Co-ed seeks a [illegible] information. What is a politi[illegible] chine? Is there one on the ca[illegible] Is it dangerous? Worse than a [illegible] nity combine?

The Catty Co-ed thinks there [illegible] to be good-looking girls on the [illegible] board after this.

The Catty-Co-ed doubts the [illegible] of . . . Well, gossip has it [illegible] member of the fair sex on cam[illegible] sporting an Owl pin. Just who[illegible] was the "wise guy"?

The Catty Co-ed doesn't walk [illegible] Loomis Street any more since the [illegible] fraters took stick and pack and [illegible] to "ritzy" quarters.

The Catty Co-ed requests that [illegible] fine spring days that are sure [illegible] here soon the medics take airin[illegible] the back porch and leave the [illegible] entrance open for unmolested [illegible] traffic.

The Catty Co-ed cannot believe [illegible] Miss Kiel has a dimple, too.

The Catty Co-ed has a sugge[illegible] That John speak for John on the [illegible] telephone.

The Catty Co-ed never saw [illegible] Pat. Is she a nice lady?

The Catty-Co-ed prefers [illegible] professors. They're so much eas[illegible] converse with.

The Catty Co-ed was told that [illegible] professors are human. Are they [illegible] ally?

The Catty Co-ed has a good [illegible] tion for lecturing instructors: [illegible] the temperature lower than [illegible] (to cure the Vermonters of the [illegible] ing disease).

The Catty Co-ed wants to k[illegible] all required subjects are very va[illegible] She says she wishes she were [illegible] so she could take argumentative [illegible] debate!

The Catty Co-ed wants to k[illegible] hospitals are public buildings [illegible] whenever she has visited the [illegible] she has smoked.

The Catty Co-ed likes men w[illegible] handsome but dumb. She [illegible] vanced military students. W[illegible] they wear their uniforms all [illegible] They're so impressive looking.

The Catty-Co-ed wonders who [illegible] got her hose and why did she [illegible] them with so many holes [illegible]

The Catty Co-ed wants to [illegible] Sophie Levin '33, Virginia [illegible] '33 and Laura Johnson '33 [illegible] after the debate.

The Catty Co-ed would like [illegible] immediately any person who [illegible] seen Sylvia Boyd, Elizabeth [illegible] Miss Cummings devoid a [illegible]

"A Sigma Chi names the [illegible] of boys on the campus."

"Who are they?"

"Who are they? How can [illegible] Sigma Chis, of course."

VERMONT RIFLEWOMEN RUNNERS-UP IN NATIONAL COLLEGIATE COMPETITION

Esther Smith, High Scorer, Places Second in Individual Championship Shooting

WASHINGTON IS ONLY TEAM TO DEFEAT U. V. M.

The women's rifle team of the University placed second among nine teams which competed for the women's intercollegiate team championship last February under the auspices of the National Rifle Association, according to official announcement received here last week. Vermont with a team score of 2,970 out of a possible 3,000, was six points behind the University of Washington five. Washington is the only team to defeat Vermont in a dual meet this winter.

Esther Smith '33, runner-up for individual championship, and Lenda Walker '33 were Vermont's high scorers in the team match with 598's. Washington's team turned in three 596's, a 595, and a 593.

The scores of the nine teams were: Washington, 2,976; Vermont, 2,970; Maryland, 2,956; George Washington, 2941; Carnegie Tech, 2,931; Oklahoma, 2920, Drexel Institute Varsity, 2,914; Vermont second team, 2,891; Drexel Institute freshmen, 2,819.

Winners to Receive Medals

The winners will receive silver medals and the title to hold for a year. Members of the Vermont and Maryland teams will receive bronze medals. In addition, all women who averaged 95 or better will receive percentage medals. All of the Vermont first team and all but two of the second team are eligible for these percentage medals.

The match was fired from prone position in three stages of two targets each with the condition that at least two targets must be fired on the same day. Although fired in February the targets were not completely checked so that the results could not be announced from N. R. A. headquarters in Washington, D. C., until this week.

The Vermont team completed its shooting for the year with five perfect 500's against Maryland, Michigan, Oklahoma, North Dakota Aggies and U. C. L. A., and a 998 in a ten-place match with the University of California. In 27 matches in which ten fired, the five highest counting, the team has not failed to turn in a 500 in every match. Only one opponent thus far reporting has fired 500 against Vermont, and that was the University of Washington, which won its match on the eighth target. In its six ten-place matches, Vermont won with scores of 995-996, two 997's and two 998's. In its fifteen-place match Vermont defeated Syracuse 1,488 to 1,470, Cornell failed to report more than ten, and Wyoming is yet to report.

Hit the Bull's Eye

Ethel Bishop '33, Esther Smith '33, and Frances Thomas '33 completed the season without missing a bull's-eye in team competition. Daisy Putnam '34,

(Continued on page 4)

WORTHWHILE TASK IS PART OF LIFE, HOLBROOK

(Continued from page 1)

Miss Holbrook, and she as the last one appointed in the department has been [illegible]. After unsuccessful attempts to find another [illegible] she looked about to see what work most needed her help. [illegible] and noticed the [illegible] in the public library. [illegible] sible. Having a [illegible] week for the [illegible] assisting the Visiting Nurse Association through volunteer clerical service, organizing a Girl Scout troop, and assisting the local Parent-Teachers Association in preparing a [illegible] bulletins and literature. As a result she is today well and happy in her work, and is facing the future courageously, with good poise, in spite of living on a very small budget, nearing the end of her savings. She is fortunate in having a home where she can stay.

"Winifred M graduated from college three years ago and had a year of interesting and promising work. An accident made it necessary to give up for a few weeks and when she was able to go back she found that, in her absence, her work had been divided between two others in the department and in the interest of economy that plan was to be continued. After fruitless attempts to find another position she finally worked out a plan to keep house for a young widow and her two children, in return for room and board. As the children were in school she had time to spare, and decided to utilize it so that she might not lose her professional contacts and interest. A woman's club was wanting someone to broadcast for ten minutes a week, on a subject closely enough allied to her major interest so that she volunteered. During these last months this broadcasting has furnished incentive for reading and an interest in life which made her say, 'This has been one of the richest experiences I have ever had, even if it hasn't paid a cent.'

"Considering the attitude of others on the present situation may also help," said Miss Holbrook. According to a recent magazine article, "Those of us who are unemployed or whose incomes are so deeply cut that we are almost at the poverty level may find some comfort in the fact that in the present crisis we are not alone in adversity, that there are millions of others, and that we are not to blame for our present difficulties. . . . While the present depression has many unique features not known to other economic crises, yet such catastrophes and calamities are not unknown in the history of the world. Somehow matters tend to straighten out in time—so has it been in the past and so will it be now."

75 Couples Attend Boulder Dance

Seventy-five couples attended the informal Boulder dance held in the gymnasium last Saturday evening, April 15.

Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Braun and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gardner chaperoned the affair. Freddie Lynch's orchestra provided the syncopation.

C. S. Brown '33 was in charge of the dance; Irene LaFountain '35 and F. B. Drew '33 were in the receiving line.

ABA ARMSTRONG '33
President of Women's Athletic Association

CONTACT WITH EMINENT PERSONALITIES VALUABLE

(Continued from page 1)

elected president of Pi Beta Phi, "but our contacts are invaluable." She favors a broad general education with specialization in some one field. She stressed the importance of physical education, for "physical fitness comes first in any field of endeavor." "One fundamental in an education often not stressed enough," according to Miss Freeman, "is careful training in the use of the English language."

"A college education is merely a preparatory step," says Aba Armstrong the retiring president of Alpha Xi Delta. In college one develops the ability to adjust oneself to all situations, to other people and to new ideals. One cannot keep any sort of priggishness. Moreover, we are able to learn how to accept responsibility although the opportunities for initiative and original work are much more limited than they should be.

Margaret Tower of Alpha Chi Omega lists the three most important benefits of college. Contact with many people, adjusting oneself to personalities and to situations; and the acquisition of a broadened outlook.

How Little We Know

"College teaches us how little we know," according to Medora Kendall '33, presiding officer of Kappa Delta. "It makes us realize what fields of opportunity and of learning are open, and it gives a foundation upon which the rest of our life may be built," she says. "It offers an extraordinary opportunity for self development and for becoming the nation's best citizens."

A few ways to become the nation's best citizens were suggested by Dorothy Jackman '33, retiring president of Sigma Gamma. "To concentrate on one thing at a time; to be able to express oneself clearly and logically before others, and to have something to express; not to take personally any ill luck or slight.

Pearl Cannon '33 of K. E. L. stresses the social amenities. "I think the contacts one makes at school are very important," states Miss Cannon. "In college one develops poise and social grace. One's manners are improved, and one even learns to dress in good taste. The student's mind is growing and he does more thinking than he ever did before, largely because his interest in a large variety of subjects has been widened through contact with text books, professors, and school friends."

Daisy Putnam Will Direct Co-ed Athletic Association

Ruth Reynolds Chosen Vice-President, Helen Hubbard and Carolyn Hill, Secretaries; Helen Miller to Be Hiking Chairman

MEN'S BASEBALL SQUAD LEAVES FOR BOSTON WED.

The men's varsity baseball squad leaves tomorrow, April 19 at one o'clock for Boston to play three games in that city. The three games include Tufts College on Thursday, April 20, Boston University on Friday, April 21; Boston College on Saturday, April 22.

The men will be at the Hotel Kenmore in Boston during their stay. They will return to Burlington on Sunday morning, April 23.

INDOOR MEET WILL BE HELD IN GYMNASIUM FRI.

Features of Lower Class Competition to Include Posture March and Cageball Game

The women's indoor meet which closes the season of winter athletics, will comprise competition between the freshman and sophomore classes. It will be held in the gymnasium on Friday evening, April 21, at seven o'clock. Attendance is required of all girls taking physical education work for credit.

A posture march and a cage ball game between the members of the two lower classes will be features of the evening.

The advanced dancing class will present a dancing demonstration and sophomores and freshmen will compete for the best dancing award.

Three relay games and competition in running, jumping, ping-pong, handball, and basket throwing will be part of the evening's program.

Students and members of the general public are invited to attend.

Tennis and Archery

The spring sports schedule of the physical education department will be opened on Wednesday, April 26.

Classes as posted will be: Monday and Wednesday: 8.30 to 9.30, tennis; 9.30 to 11.30, archery and tennis; 2.00 to 3.00, archery and tennis; 3.00 to 4.00 archery, freshman baseball, and intermediate tennis; 4.00 to 5.00, sophomore baseball, advanced tennis, and junior and senior archery. Tuesday and Thursday 10.30 to 11.30, archery and tennis; 2.00 to 3.00, archery and tennis; 3.00 to 4.00, archery; 4.00 to 5.00, junior and senior baseball and intermediate tennis.

The junior and senior archery class is only tentative as yet, according to Miss Blanchard but if enough girls ask for it there will be one.

Miss Baldwin will coach the intermediate and advanced classes in tennis. There are to be two student instructors for each beginners' class.

There will be riding classes for both beginners and advanced riders, with a charge of six dollars for eight lessons.

The fourth annual women's intercollegiate telegraphic archery tournament, sponsored by the National Archery Association will be held May 14-21, and Vermont students may participate in competition.

Sophie Levin '33, Marion Mitchell '35, and Harry Klavan '35 comprise the committee in charge of the next Deutsche Verein meeting which will be held Tuesday, April 25. The meeting place and program are as yet undecided.

NINE AWARDS PRESENTED AT W. A. A. INDOOR RALLY

Daisy Putnam '34 was elected president of the Women's Athletic Association by popular ballot of the members during the week preceding the Easter recess. Edith Reynolds '34 is the new W. A. A. vice-president and Helen Hubbard '34 the recording secretary.

Carolyn Hill '36 will be the corresponding secretary and Helen Mount '35 treasurer. Other elections to office in May.

Helen Miller '35, hiking chairman; Helen Jenkins '34, Health Council chairman; Gladys Sunderf '36, publicity manager; Josephine Hunt and Grace Harris, senior representatives; Irene LaFountain, junior representative; and Ruth Barton '36, sophomore representative.

Installation of officers was held at an indoor rally of W. A. A. in Robinson Hall on March 28.

Nine girls received W. A. A. awards on the basis of the point system of athletic activity.

To Helen Allen

A "V," which is the highest W. A. A. award was presented to Helen Allen '33. Blazers were awarded to Edith Rogers '34 and Lenda Walker '33, Jennie Scutakes '34 and Helen Fogg '34 received their U. V. M.'s; Fanny Hooley '35, Betty Gray '36, Harriet Gray '36, and Margaret Patterson '36 were awarded the class numerals.

The Pi Beta Phi Sorority won in the competition for the best stunt by presenting a take-off on a fashion show. The merit of the stunt, as decided by the audience, was the absurdity and appropriateness of the costumes.

Campus House, winning honorable mention, gave an act entitled "If Girls Had a Kake Walk." The stunt included a peerade and "Walkin' fo' de Kake."

The "Bodiless Girl" of the Delta Delta Delta Sorority became whole by attaching her head to the headless body of W. A. A. One anonymous girl took the full burden of Redstone's stunt. A story was read, the blank spaces of which were filled in with adjectives by the audience.

Supper was served to all the girls who attended.

DOROTHY KENNEDY '35 WILL HEAD WINNOWINGS

(Continued from page 1)

was an assistant grind editor on the 1934 Ariel board. Her name has appeared on the dean's list.

Weissman, a member of Tau Epsilon Phi, is the Cynic columnist. He has contributed several stories, as well as poems and sketches to Winnowings during the past year. He is the president of Grey Friars, men's honorary literary society. Several of his stories have appeared in current magazines. He is on the board of the 1934 Ariel. Recently he was chosen a member of the Junior Prom publicity committee.

Libby is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He has made the dean's list while he has been in college. He was on the football squad this year and played football with the freshman squad. He has also been a contributor to Winnowings. He was president of Gold Key and is treasurer of the class of 1935.

Miss MacKinney is a member of Epsilon Sigma. She is an assistant in the art department.

Miss Rich, a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, has assisted in the circulation department this year. She was recently elected editor of the Women's Freshman Handbook. She is a member of Glee Club, W. A. A. and John Dewey Club. She has played basketball and baseball on her class teams. She has won her numerals in W. A. A. She has also placed on the dean's list.

Elizabeth Haig is a reporter on the Cynic staff and a member of W. A. A. and Deutsche Verein. She belongs to Kappa Alpha Theta.

Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.

Sporting Goods for All Sports

Special Prices to Schools, Clubs and Societies

The W. E. Greene Co.

In consolidation with

Patten, Irwin & White

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the

U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor

All Work Guaranteed

ALEX VERRET

112 CHURCH ST.

The Health Food Center

Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables

Home Made Mayonnaise

FREE DELIVERY

Telephones: 1070, 1071, 1072

RAND'S HOME LUNCH

Opposite New Fleming Museum

MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING

Open daily 6.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Sunday 7.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m.

LIVE in FRENCH

Residential Summer School (co-educational) June 26-July 29. Only French spoken. Fee $150. Board and Tuition. Elementary, Intermediate, Advanced. Write [illegible] Secretary. Residential French Summer School

McGILL UNIVERSITY

MONTREAL, CANADA

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

Elias Lyman Coal Company

206 College Street

SPECIAL

SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO MASSAGE 1.00

ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY

JOE'S BARBER SHOP

JOE LANGLOIS, Proprietor

BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

"Spring Specialties"

Relieve Spring Fever by Letter Writing

Special Sale on Stationery

$1.00 and 75c

at the

University Store

APRIL 14 - 22

THE CROSBY SQUARE SHOE

$5.00

On display now for spring

A real shoe at a popular price

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.

127 Church Street

"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

Fordham University School of Law

NEW YORK

Case System—Three Year Course

CO-EDUCATIONAL

College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required

Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases

Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE

CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar

233 Broadway, New York

VERMONT RIFLEWOMEN NATIONAL RUNNERS-UP

(Continued from page 3)

[illegible] a week ago was her only score of [illegible] [illegible] to equal [illegible] week and another possible. Modena Kendall [illegible] a possible in her last intercollegiate match.

Scores of opponents in five-place matches in which Vermont lead 500 in each: Southwestern 475 South Dakota 484 [illegible] Agnes 493, Ripon 480, [illegible] 492, Penn 468, Washington [illegible] 484, Utah 461, Akron [illegible] 484 [illegible] Vermont 502, Kansas [illegible] Illinois 979, Vermont [illegible], Missouri 986. In the match originally considered the lowest high to count, Vermont exceeded the top by two high [illegible] was tied 1488 in the match.

Individual scores of the California match were the Misses Bishop, Thomas, Smith, Kendall, Jane Dodds 94, Esther Walker 96, Katherine LeBaron 96, Loyola Walker 95, 100 each; Caroline Cabot 96, Elizabeth Eckhard 93, Marion Jenks 94, Mildred Urie 93, Helen Miller 95, Mildred Vosburgh 94, 99 each; Genevieve Hutchins 96, 97.

Against Maryland which is reported to have one of the best teams in the country, the Misses Bishop, Dodds, Putnam, Smith, Thomas, LeBaron, Sinclair and Walker fired 500. Urie 99 and Hutchins 97. Against Mississippi, Bishop, Kendall, LeBaron, Smith, Thomas and Walker 100; Cabot, Urie, Vosburgh and Miller, 99. Against U. C. L. A., Bishop, LeBaron, Putnam, Smith, Thomas and Walker, 100, Cabot, Vosburgh and Eckhard 99; Hutchins 97. Against North Dakota Aggies Bishop, Dodds, LeBaron, Putnam, Smith, Thomas and Walker 100, Eckhard and Miller 99, Hutchins 97. Against Oklahoma Bishop, Kendall, LeBaron, Sinclair, Smith, Thomas and Walker, 100; Poling and Urie, 99; Hutchins, 97.

Seniors on the rifle team who will be lost by graduation include the Misses Bishop, Thomas, Smith, Kendall, Eckhard, Walker, and Helen Allen.

Two years ago Edith Pritchard '31 was the national champion of college women.

There will be an important meeting of Bluestockings at the Alpha Chi Omega house, Thursday evening at 7:15. All members should attend, as officers will be elected at this meeting. Committee in charge: Esther Beardsley, Norma Freeman, Lois Whitcomb and Marion Kiel.

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.
TRY US

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS TO PRESENT "MARCH HARES"

"March Hares," a three-act comedy by Harry Wagstaff Gribble, is the University Players' selection for the annual Junior Week spring play which will take place Thursday evening, May 11. The play cast includes four men and five women and final try-outs for it are being held this afternoon at four o'clock in Room 3, North College. First try-outs were held yesterday afternoon in the same place.

The other title of the work is "The Temperamentalists," and according to Mrs. C. I. Taggart of Burlington, who will coach the play, in style it falls about halfway between last year's spring play, "Hay Fever," and this year's fall production, "To the Ladies." "It is not sophisticated nor too subtle and not English, all of which 'Hay Fever' was, and it is cleverer brighter, and more well-rounded than 'To the Ladies,'" according to a member of the University Players who took part in both plays.

The play was chosen at the second of two joint meetings of Masque and Sandal and Wig and Buskin, women's and men's dramatic societies held last Thursday and Saturday afternoons, during which other plays considered were "The Yellow Jacket," rejected because of its excessive royalty and huge expense for costumes; John Drinkwater's "Bird in Hand," put aside because of its difficulty and maturity of acting needed; "The [illegible] Fairy," by Molnar—which has [illegible] female part and the whole [illegible] on that part; "The Left Bank" and "Play's the Thing."

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY
Open from 8.45 a.m. to 11.00 p
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 14

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY YOUR LIFE WORK?
The Harvard University Dental School offers a comprehensive course in this field of health service, which is becoming increasingly important in relation to medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school.
Write for catalog
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 62, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

BROOKLYN LAW SCHOOL
ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY
375 Pearl St., Brooklyn, New York
SUMMER SESSION—June 19—Sept. 1
Courses carry full credit
Forenoon and Evening Classes
Regular Fall Session Begins September 25
For information address the Registrar

Ever smoke "whittle" tobacco?

Well . . . here it is . . . already whittled FOR you. Granger Rough Cut is tobacco whittled right . . . that's one reason why it burns so slow and cool.

WHEN we started to make Granger Rough Cut we knew that fine tobacco burnt hot because it burnt so fast. It kept your pipe hot. You could hardly hold your pipe in your hand, it got so hot at times.

Then we remembered that some folks back yonder used to "whittle" their tobacco. So we made GRANGER just like "whittle" tobacco — "Rough Cut." It smokes cooler and lasts a lot longer. And also, you'll find it never gums the pipe.

So far, so good. Now we wanted to sell this tobacco for 10c. Good tobacco—right process—cut right. It was a question of how to do it for the price.

So we put GRANGER in a sensible soft foil pouch instead of an expensive package, knowing that a man can't smoke a package. We gave smokers this good GRANGER tobacco in a common-sense pouch for 10c.

GRANGER has not been on sale very long, but it has grown to be a popular smoke. And there is this much about it —we have yet to know of a man who started to smoke it, who didn't keep on. Folks seem to like it.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

©1931 LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

The Granger pouch keeps the tobacco fresh

TEN CENTS

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1933 — NUMBER 46

CAST FOR "MARCH HARES" DECIDED

New Faces to Appear Among Experienced Players in Three-act Comedy

PARTS ARE ALL ONES OF EQUAL IMPORTANCE

The cast for "March Hares," a three-act comedy by Harry Wagstaff Gribble, was chosen last Tuesday afternoon following tryouts which took place Monday and Tuesday afternoons, April 17th and 18th. The newly chosen cast for this play, which is the Junior Week Play to be presented Thursday evening, May 11, includes players with experience in dramatics for the most part, although several of the cast have not previously taken part in a college production.

The newly chosen cast is:

Mrs. Janet Rodney..Alice McConnell '34
Ethel, the housemaid
Dorothea Edwards '33
Edgar Fuller.....Prentiss Howe '35
Geoffrey Wareham
Marshall Miltimore '33
Janet Rodney.....Mary Casey '35
Oliver, the manservant
Charles Derven '36
Claudia Kitts.....Rosemary Cahill '36
Mrs. Cook.....Ruth Wood '34
Mr. Brown.....William Perry '33

Miss McConnell, who plays the part of Mrs. Janet Rodney in whose suburban home all the action of the play takes place, was in "The Great Delusion" presented by the Group Players. She is a member of Masque and Sandal and Kappa Alpha Theta.

Miss Edwards will be Ethel, the housemaid, who is about to be married and is somewhat a flutter over the prospects. Miss Edwards has had parts in several college productions and is a member of Masque and Sandal and Kappa Delta.

Prentiss Howe who will be remembered for his splendid work in "To the Ladies" will be Edgar Fuller, a guest at Mrs. Rodney's home and a pupil of the elocutionist who is also at Mrs. Rodney's. Mr. Howe was also in the Group Players' production. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Another Phi Delt, Marshall Miltimore will take the part of Geoffrey Wareham, the very eccentric elocutionist who affords a great deal of amusement. Mr. Miltimore has never done much in dramatics at the University, but anyone who saw

(Continued on page 4)

JUDKINS AND MERRIHEW SPEAK BEFORE A. I. E. E.

At the meeting of the A. I. E. E. April 17, 1933, L. P. Merrihew '35 gave a talk on "The Reading Railroad's Suburban Electrification." Mr. Merrihew described in detail the work of electrifying the steam lines and stated that the number of trains and train miles has been doubled and schedules made faster by the current, and the cost of suburban operation has been lowered substantially by electrification. Resulting service and improvements have changed an appreciable loss to a traffic increase.

The lines now under operation by the Reading Railroad include 87 route miles and 263 track miles. The single-phase, 11,000 volt system of electrification was installed by power being purchased from the Philadelphia Electric Company. The present system of cable system was the trolley wire being suspended by a catenary cable, this eliminating the trolley wire.

Hydroelectric Development

S. Judkins '33 gave a very interesting account of the Rocky River hydro-electric development of the Connecticut Light and Power Company near New Milford, Conn., which is a storage development for regulating the Housatonic River below New Milford. Mr. Judkins stated that the action of this power development was analogous to the action of a tidal power. He stated that since there are no sites on the Housatonic River for a large storage reservoir, it was necessary to select a site on a tributary, the Rocky River. The run-off or natural drainage area of the Rocky River furnishes only a part of the water required to fill the reservoir. It is necessary to pump the balance from the Housatonic River at a maximum head of 340 feet. This is the first high head pumped storage in the United States.

WILLIAM PERRY '33

Who takes the part of Mr. Brown in Junior Week Play

Manton to Speak At Commencement

Commencement speaker at the University of Vermont this year will be Martin T. Manton, of New York City, judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, according to information released Wednesday from the administration offices of the University.

Judge Manton was born in New York City, August 2, 1880. He is a graduate of Columbia University. He was appointed judge of the United States District Court, Southern District of New York, in 1916; and of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Second Circuit, in 1918. He is a member of the International Law Society, the Bar Association of Brooklyn, and the New York Bar Association.

Commencement day at the University of Vermont will be observed Monday, June 19, marking the termination of the one hundred forty-second year of the University.

C. H. DROWN '34 ELECTED V. C. A. CABINET CHAIRMAN

A. A. Ross '34 Will Edit 1937 Frosh Handbook; W. R. Hauke '35, Business Manager

Clarence Drown '34 was elected chairman of the V. C. A. for the ensuing year at a meeting of the men's cabinet held last Wednesday. Other officers elected were Donald Campbell '34, director of freshman camp; Arnold Ross '34, editor of the Handbook; William Hauke '35, business manager of the Handbook; Dustin White '35, vice-chairman; Leon Hill '35, secretary; Realtus McCuin '34, treasurer; Stuart Wright '35, director of deputations; Allan Everest '36, director of publicity; Arlington Wilcox '35, director of entertainment; Clifford Harwood '34, director of student service; Floyd Kingsley '35, director of church relations, and Ronald Bingham '34, director of Christian world education.

Drown is an engineer here at the University and has been active on the cabinet, serving two years as director of deputations. Campbell is also active in church work and is especially fitted to handle camps.

Ross is a leading literary figure on the campus. He is on the CYNIC board, on the Winnowings staff, and is a member of Grey Friars.

STUDENTS ATTRACTED TO EARLY MORNING BLAZE

A gathering of fifty or more sleepy-eyed, nondescript clad college students witnessed a two-alarm fire early yesterday morning at Provost's Sanatorium on South Prospect Street. The interior of the building was badly damaged by fire, smoke and water.

The blaze broke out on the second floor. An alarm brought out every piece of fire-fighting apparatus in the city. Everyone in the building, when the fire broke out, got out safely before any serious injury. After about two hours of thoughtful manipulation of the hoses the fire was completely extinguished.

Founder's Day Chapel Service Declared Compulsory By The University Council

Council Acting at Meeting Wednesday Afternoon, Believe Every College Member Should Take Part in Exercises

Attendance at the chapel exercises on Founder's Day, May 1, will be compulsory for every student at the University of Vermont. The University Council reached a decision in this matter last Wednesday afternoon when it was decided that the program of the day should be carried out with due observance on the part of all connected with the University.

One Formal Function Desired

It was urged by the members of the Council that there should be at least one formal function in the course of the college year when all members of the faculty and the students should meet in assembly. Accordingly it was voted by the Council that the exercises be held Monday forenoon, May 1 and that the attendance of all connected with the University, both the faculty and the undergraduates, be required to attend.

Preceding the formal activities in the chapel, which have been planned so that they will consume less than one hour, the R. O. T. C. battalion will hold a review at nine o'clock in front of the Old Mill. This will be followed immediately by the Boulder exercises, the Scabbard and Blade ceremonies and the chapel hour.

The members of the board of trustees are to be invited and it is planned to make the observance of Founder's Day the outstanding function of the college year. In view of the added interest in the life of Ira Allen which has been brought about because of the interest of the late Hon. James B. Wilbur, it was decided that the program of the day should be more appreciated by the students.

By virtue of the fact that attendance to the chapel exercises is to be required the afternoon will be a half holiday.

SORORITY DANCES TO COMMENCE NEXT WEEK

Only One Sorority to Hold Formal April 28th; Others May 5th

One sorority is holding its dance a week from tonight and four others will be held May 5.

Kappa Alpha Theta will have a formal at the roof garden of the Hotel Vermont on the evening of May 5. Dr. and Mrs. P. K. French and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Van Note will act as chaperones. Mary Poling '34, who is in charge of the dance, has secured the Barbary Orchestra from Dartmouth to play.

The Black Panthers of Middlebury will play for the Delta Delta Delta dance April 28. It is under the direction of Eleanor Gates '33 and will be held at the Country Club.

Mary Bennett '34 is directing the Pi Beta Phi supper dance on May 5, the Black Panthers of Middlebury are to be in attendance.

Prof. and Mrs. P. H. Ewert and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Vogler will chaperone the Alpha Xi Delta formal. Freddie Lynch's Orchestra is to play. It is under the direction of Mary Moore '35, to be held at their rooms on College Street, May 5.

Ruth Reynolds '34 heads the committee for the Alpha Chi Omega dance, on May 5. She has secured Whittemore's Orchestra from Vergennes. Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Braun will act as chaperones.

The Sigma Gamma and Kappa Delta dances have been postponed indefinitely.

INSTALLATION OF NEW OFFICERS OF STUDENT UNION HELD TUESDAY

Dean Patterson Announces Co-ed House Fellowships at Meeting in Museum

The installation of the new officers of Student Union was held Tuesday evening, April 18, at the Fleming Museum. The program was opened by the procession of the old officers and the singing of "Vermont, My Vermont." Miss Sylvia Boyd '33, the retiring president, spoke a few words of farewell on behalf of the members of the old cabinet. Miss Marian Patterson, dean of women, announced the selection of the co-ed house fellows for the coming year: Helen Jenkins '34 at Grassmount; Velma Purinton '34 at Campus House; Elizabeth Rich '35 at Slade; Madeline Ainsboro '35 at Redstone; Barbara Taylor '35 at Robinson. These fellowships, the granting of which is a new system to be tried next year, are presented to five women students who are outstanding on campus.

Durick New President

The installation commenced by the procession of the incoming officers onto the stage. Caroline Taft '33 the outgoing chief justice, swore in the new officers by the student government oath. Catherine Durick '34, the new president, received her gown from Miss Boyd and was the first to be sworn in. With the exception of Grace Harris '34 the incoming chief justice, the other members then received their gowns from the retiring cabinet and took the oath. Miss Harris, receiving her gown from Caroline Taft, was the last to be sworn in.

The program was closed by the singing of "Champlain" by all present. Before the recessional of the newly installed officers Miss Durick was presented with a bouquet of yellow roses.

The new officers of Student Union are: President, Catherine Durick '34; chief justice, Grace Harris '34; vice-president, Margaret Kane '35; second vice-president, Madeline Ainsboro '35; secretary, Claribel Morris '34; treasurer, Elizabeth Brown '36; two-year representative, Elizabeth Washburn '36.

NOTICE

The New V. C. A. Cabinet will meet Sunday afternoon, April 23 at 4 p.m. at the V. C. A. office.

CLARENCE DROWN,
Chairman.

WINTERBOTHAM TO TALK AT UNIVERSITY TEA SUN.

The third University tea this year will be held sunday afternoon April 23 at four o'clock. Mr. Joseph Winterbotham of Burlington is to be the speaker. The discussion will concern the new dormitory collection of prints and Modern French Art.

Miss Marian Patterson, Dean of Women, says that all students, both men and women, should be interested and urges all to attend.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN TO CHOOSE NEW ROOMING PLACES NEXT TUESDAY

Numbers Already Drawn for Privilege of First Choice of New Rooms

Next Tuesday is the day on which women of the University will choose their rooming places for the next college year. Already the members of next year's sophomore, junior and senior classes have drawn numbers for the privilege of choosing rooms, those highest receiving precedence in the choice. It is required by the Dean's office that all women make arrangements for rooms at this time. These directions should be followed by room applicants.

1. Remember your number.
2. Be on hand when your number is called. Your turn will be forfeited if you do not answer. Loss of turn will place you at the end of the line.
3. Bring your $5 deposit if you expect to live in one of the dormitories.
4. Each student should act for herself.
5. If you are sick notify the office of your representative chosen to act for you. Do this before it is too late. By your signature, or your verbal statement, and in no other way, can we honor a representative.
6. Roommates should come forward together. Joint action, with both present, is necessary to reserve a double room. This must apply even if you are not classmates. Both must be present.
   a. Roommates who are also classmates will come forward when that number is called which represents the lower one held. Of the two numbers involved the lower one will reserve a room for both girls.
   b. If roommates are not classmates, they may choose their room with either class represented, using the corresponding number.
7. Roommates must be selected prior to the day of choosing rooms. Find yourself a roommate if you wish to be in a double room. Do your discussing before the day of room choosing. Do not choose at random, choose your roommate with discretion.
8. Upperclasswomen who are sorority members may not room with entering students. See the necessity of finding yourself a roommate before the day of assigning rooms, if you desire half of a double room.
9. Those who plan to live with relatives other than parents may if they wish make their arrangements with the Assistant Dean of Women immediately, not waiting for the day set aside for room choosing. They are asked, however, to draw numbers thus creating a specified time for conference in case all adjustments have not been completed earlier.
10. Paragraph 9 should apply also to those who plan to work for their room or board in homes about the city.
11. Sorority members of the classes of '34 and '35 who plan to live in their sorority houses next year should indicate this plan to the Dean of Women immediately. Note that members of the class of '36 who are sorority members are not eligible to live in the sorority houses.
12. Has the householder with whom you wish to live already sought approval by filing in the office of the Dean of Women her signed agreement to conform to the University's standard of residence for 1933-34? Do not ask to live in a place not already approved. Confer with the householder.

COMMITTEE WILL GIVE VERMONTERS PREFERENCE

State Students Applying to Medical College to Receive First Consideration

Vermonters, University of Vermont pre-medical students, and sons of University of Vermont alumni will be given first consideration by the Medical College committee on admissions in choosing the students for admission to the first year class next fall.

The committee, comprising Dean J. S. Jenne, chairman, Dr. F. H. Battles, P. W. Kehoe, and Prof. Hovey Jordan, secretary, held personal interviews last week and will continue this week with candidates for admission. These interviews supplement the record of college work done in preparation for the study of medicine. They inquire into the aptitude of the candidates for the study and practice of medicine.

Particular attention has always been given to consideration first of all of Vermonters who were properly qualified and seeking admission. Since the new system of admissions was put into effect two years ago only two Vermont applicants have been found ineligible and more than two-thirds of the membership of the present first and second-year classes is made up of Vermonters.

The interviews last week and this week are by appointment. The committee has announced that the opportunity for applying for interviews will remain open but that it is desirable that applications be made as soon as possible.

CITIZENSHIP MEETING TO BE SPONSORED BY S A E

Carrying out a program inaugurated by the national headquarters, the Vermont Beta chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon will sponsor a citizenship evening next Monday, April 24, instead of the usual fraternity meeting. The move has been started with the purpose in mind to stimulate the interest in the meaning of citizenship to the average college student.

As a part of the evening's exercises Prof. Arthur Myrick will talk to the group on some appropriate subject.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

CHARLES J. LIBBY '34.....Editor-in-Chief
AUGUSTA COHEN '34.....Women's Editor
[illegible] '34.....Managing Editor
[illegible] '34.....Sports Editor
WILLIAM PERLIN '34.....Recording Editor
[illegible] '34.....Business Manager
GEORGE H. BURROWS, II '34.....Business Manager
CHARLES J. LIBBY '34.....Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

[illegible] Kennedy '35 Jane Parsons '35
Howard Abbott '35 Dustin White '35
Stuart Wright '35 Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

Nathaniel Gould '35
Milton Greenburg '34

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

COLUMNIST

Robert Weisman '34

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge.....HOWARD ABBOTT

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year, single copy, five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at The Vermont Cynic Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1646.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 448 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 April 21, 1933 No. 48

COMPULSORY CHAPEL

Believing that the worthwhile services which are held every Founder's Day are wasted to the majority of the college members, the University Council has decreed that attendance at the services in the Chapel the morning of May 1 be required of all students and faculty members. In previous years, many students would take leave of the holiday, granted for attending the exercises, and would go home for a short vacation.

Now, despite the fact, that the freshman and sophomore men are required to take part in the Boulder, and Scabbard and Blade ceremonies in front of the Boulder, they must also attend the services held in the Ira Allen Chapel the same morning. While there may be some protest on the part of the college members at the compulsion and the threats involved if they cut, the move is one to be commended.

One of the things the University needs is a common meeting ground for all the students and faculty members in the institution. An event such as the one which will be held on Founder's Day is certainly an opportune time to initiate such a plan. Thus the students will have an opportunity to pay homage to the founder of the College of the Green Mountains at one service during the year.

There ought to be no "kicking" on the part of those involved, for the move might easily be regarded as a constructive one. Founder's Day should mean something to everyone, but there are probably many pupils on the campus who have never given the matter a thought except for the fact that elections to honorary societies are announced then. Those, who are fraternity men, often celebrate a Founder's Day, and along the same line, these same men may often be seen with a piece of crêpe around their badges, on the death of one of their founders.

Why then should our founder be disregarded?

A MAN'S PART IN SPORTS

The green turf spread out on all sides, the cool breeze from the lake sweeping overhead, the waning golden rays of an afternoon sun, the picturesque sky, patterned in azure and white are only some of the long-to-be-remembered scenes at Centennial Field any pleasant spring afternoon of the year. A vast scene of activity is spread out on all sides. Batting, fielding, pitching, sprinting, hurdling, shot putting, all play an important part in the scene of the day; one which occurs every afternoon in the never-ending process of shaping up the athletes of the University of Vermont.

What part has the average male student, who is not an adept in sports, to play in the vast machine of athletics at Vermont?

In the first place, there is the need of managers and helpers to assist the coach and the team in preparing the way for the varsity and frosh teams before the big meets and during each afternoon practice. The track teams, both varsity and freshman, greatly desire additional scrub managers to aid them in the daily conditioning, which they hope will smooth out the path to victory.

Should the opportunity present itself to any male freshman or sophomore, he ought at once to pledge himself to the support of the teams of his alma mater. If perchance, he is not able to actively participate in the meets, then he should do more than stand on the sidelines and cheer. He should enter into the spirit of the team itself, by becoming a part of the managerial organization.

To those who have never scrubbed a sport at Centennial Field, we may say that the months occupied in this fashion will not only be healthy, but enjoyable as well.

Feeling that track is in for a great season this year, it should be the part of those interested to report at once for duty. Track at Vermont has had seasonal fluctuations. The variations of success from one season to another are affected in a measure by the efficiency of the managerial department. Therefore, sophomores and freshmen, you can aid your team to victory on the cinder path by contributing your unrestrained moral and physical efforts in the matter.

Next Tuesday finds the CYNIC celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. A special issue will be prepared in commemoration of the occasion. On May 1 the Founder's Day issue will appear on the campus after the ceremonies in the Ira Allen Chapel have ended. This edition is a yearly feature containing all news of elections to the various honorary societies on the campus.

All campus comments addressed to the editor-in-chief should be signed by the writer as an evidence of good faith. All communications received in the office will be rejected if they are not properly signed. The writer's name will be withheld from print if so desired, but may be obtained from any of the news editors or the editor on inquiry.

Campus Comment

In regard to the article in Campus Comment in Tuesday's issue of the CYNIC we thought that the person writing it had the right idea. It certainly would be rather degrading to have the Junior Prom held in the dining room of the Hotel Vermont. We think that the author overlooked a few vital points which might stand bringing out. The first thing has to do with a purely business proposition. It seems that the hotel has not carried an advertisement in the CYNIC for some time. If the management wishes to continue to cater to college trade wouldn't it be possible for them to contribute their share by giving the CYNIC an advertisement? The other thing which comes to us is that it would be a very good thing for the college to give the city the business. Despite the recent controversy over fraternity taxation we are quite sure that we do not bear any grudge against the city. We think that Mayor Burke might be quite taken back by any such action which could convey nothing but the best of feeling. These are just two more things that we think the Junior Week Committee might consider before they make their decision. We offer them in our most humble manner.

ANOTHER MEMBER OF THE CLASS OF 1934.

Sugar production of the Hawaiian Islands this year will be over the million-ton mark for the first time in history.

OPERA "IOLANTHE" TO BE PRESENTED THURSDAY

Rehearsals Held Daily in Final Preparation for Performance

The Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "Iolanthe," to be presented next Thursday evening, April 27, by students under the direction of Prof. C. T. Leonard, is progressing very well, with the vigorous final rehearsals. Men and women have had several rehearsals weekly since Easter vacation, both separately and together with the complete cast, and all indications point to a finished and superior performance.

Professor Leonard is directing the opera. He is being assisted by Madame Elizabeth Bradish, who is drilling in dramatics and the solo work of the members of the cast. Elaborate suitable costumes have been ordered for the entire cast from New York.

The presentation will take place at the Fleming Museum Thursday evening. In order to insure a large student attendance, a special student rate of twenty-five cents admission is to be charged.

NOTICE

There will be an important meeting of the Gold Key Society tonight at 7.30 at the Owl House. Members are urged to be present.

"MARCH HARES"

A cast, having been selected to stage the annual Junior Week play, "March Hares," the players will commence their long siege of rehearsals tomorrow and will not relax until the performance has been added to the already lengthy list of successful University dramatic productions. All those who are familiar with the contents of this comedy will agree that a worthwhile and amusing evening's entertainment is in store for the spectators.

During the current year, interest in college dramatics has been augmented. The one-act stage plays enacted before the Easter vacation only served to prove that Vermont has in her midst much Thespian ability. A little less than three weeks from now the outstanding dramatization of the year will be presented to the Junior Week audience —an audience comprised of guests, alumni, students and teachers.

One of the things which most determines the success of any theatrical performance is the audience which graces the house. A critical attitude of the group of onlookers will soon determine whether or not the play is going over. There is nothing more dejecting to one of the performers than to see the acts, on which he has diligently spent so much time in preparation, falling away before the onlookers without any noticeable response.

In the case of a theater-going throng, the larger it is, the more magnified will be the applause and laughter, and hence the greater response. Those of you who have never felt the thrill of watching the curtain rising on the initial scene of a play have much in store for you. Those of you, who have experienced this significant feeling, will enjoy mingling with the audience which usually attends the Junior Week festivities, and watching the play from prologue to epilogue.

Junior Week's evening activities start formally with the play, and with "March Hares" on the boards, there should be a capacity attendance. No one who enjoys the theatre and efficient acting should let an opportunity such as this slip by.

EXIT THE SILVER PLATTER

The time when a college degree and a good job were practically synonymous seems to have disappeared. Even famous athletes have found the famed silver platter jerked forcibly from their hands after the completion of their university schooling.

Often, newspapers picture the jobs hard-pressed college men have been forced to accept to earn their daily sustenance. Thousands of men, who have experienced the beneficial influence of a higher education, have been forced to bend their backs and callous their hands in hard manual labor.

No longer is the college diploma a one-way ticket to easy money, and in all probability many college graduates of recent years are well aware of the fact. The present-day student has few illusions as to the warmth of the reception he will receive as he crosses the portals into the business world after commencement. He realizes that a degree has become in the eyes of the world only a proof of average intelligence.

With this thought in mind, all students at the present time should develop a serious attitude towards college life, in order that they may be better equipped to face the whirlpool of life afterward.

PARADE OF SOCIAL LIFE

With the Boulder dance last week-end, the spring social season of the University opened full blast. From the present time until Commencement, with the exception of a brief lapse during final examinations, one society after another will be doing its utmost to entertain the student. Tomorrow night the annual spring Mortar Board dance holds sway.

The following week-end, the sororities will hold their annual formals. The next evening the junior class honorary society will sponsor a dance. From then until examinations the student will have his or her hands full keeping up with the various social functions of the spring term.

To those who are not in the habit of attending these affairs, it might not be a bad idea to participate in them. After all, college life will be a mere recollection after graduation, but the times most enjoyed will linger foremost in memory.

Also, in order that we may better the spirit of fellowship among the members of the colleges, it is necessary that we come together more often. And what better time is there to meet others than at a dance? If anyone has any suggestions to make concerning a remedy that would gain a better spirit of fun and at the same time would vouchsafe a stronger union between college students at social functions, the CYNIC would gladly offer the idea to its readers through its campus column.

Feeling that a much better cooperation and spirit would subsequently follow, we urge all Vermont men and women to give the matter serious consideration.

THEATRE

Flynn

(T. F. S.) Topaze. [illegible] in a heart-stealing story [illegible] honest school teacher [illegible] people and in the end [illegible] cated egoist and a better [illegible] those who did him wrong. [illegible] picture always appeals [illegible] this one will get you. [illegible] Loy is a big help to the prof.

Majestic

(F. S.) Humanity. A story [illegible] it is that might have been [illegible] F. Hurst but wasn't. Ralph [illegible] Boots Mallory, Alexander [illegible] Irene Ware star in this drama. Every emotion known to the [illegible] and seven new ones never before ploited on the screen.

State

(F. S.) Fast Life. William [illegible] has a gadget that makes the [illegible] faster. He sinks the admiral and the navy, getting along with a [illegible] able girl on Catalina Island. thrills and William Haines.

Strong

(F. S.) End of the Trail. A throbbing western with the Met the saddle. You've seen the [illegible] the sad Indian on his pony. See action in the talkies.

AVOCATION CONFEREN FOR WOMEN STUDEN WILL BE HELD M

Women's Student Union sors Meeting to Aid Pr spective Graduates

To say that college students re a few weeks, to walk forth to gr world with their coveted degree want "jobs" with a tremendous of desire, would be as foolish as be false. Never has the lure of been greater, never has it been to find the way leading to a salary.

The University of Vermont, h in a conference scheduled for May through the Women's Student Un to its women students, "But all lost if you haven't a position. Y not have a salary but you'll ha to live, time to do interesting thi to discover some of your own time to do a variety of things make Folkstown a pleasant place kind of folk."

Folkstown? Yes, the Univers terested in Folkstown, Vt. Ev town. Folkstown is to be the of the discussions at the afterno evening sessions of this conferenc the Women's Student Union will the auditorium of the museum.

Many avocations may center Folkstown if young college gradu let them; avocations that have to almost every phase of life bring them to the students, wo have made themselves masters occupations, turning some of th profitable vocations, will take pa conference.

Work with little children, inclu art of story telling and the m simple toys with educational val changing of the atmosphere o rather dingy rooms in the ho the expenditure of only a ve money; the making of jigsaw of marionettes; flower arrangem ganizing recreation for the c weaving; stenciling; increasi knowledge of the bird and ins one's very threshold; all these a beyond them, may become avoca fine possibilities for the enric the life of the individual and t the community.

This conference will represent versity girls' efforts to answer tion—what is there for me t year? I can't go home and d I should lose the impetus o years at college. I must find of this universal depression in life, and create some endeav own, I will.

Society ...

KAPPA ALPHA THE

Betty Eggleston '33 last M announced her engagement to Williams '33 of Kappa Sigma.

SIGMA GAMMA

Officers elected at a re were Dorothy Thomas '34 pre ceeding Dorothy Jackma Kennedy '35, vice-president Marjorie Scott '33, Victoria P secretary, succeeding Lydia Curler '34, treasurer herself; Theodora J chairman, succeeding '34; Ruby Jenness '34 r succeeding Ada Ingalls '34 '34 and Dorothy Kenned junior representatives on Council.

SPORTS NEWS

STRONG SQUAD REPORTS FOR TRACK PRACTICE IN PREPARATION FOR MEET

Sixty Candidates Turn Out for Duty at Centennial Field

VERMONT SEEMS STRONG IN ALL DISTANCE EVENTS

The University of Vermont track squad, which has been working out on the gymnasium 110-yard track and in the baseball cage for the past two months, will report for duty on Centennial Field daily, rain or shine, beginning today and continuing through May 27. Such was the edict of Coach Archie T. Post, whose duty it is to round the squad of about sixty candidates into a balanced team by May 6 when the first meet is scheduled with St. Lawrence University. The freshmen, who will train with the varsity, open their season May 5 here against Lyndon Institute.

Vermont's strongest contingent of veteran material appears to be in the distance events where the members of a successful cross-country team will divide the mile and two-mile assignments. Capt Roy Brooks, Ralph Hadley, John Woodruff, Charles Howe, and Clifford Harwood are leading prospects. In the sprints Coach Post will have C. C. Grant, C. W. Meligonis, Kenneth Smith, and A. G. Young. New talent will have to be discovered to supplement J. J. Delfausse, A. S. Wesoly and J. E. Willis in the middle distances. W. M. Adams, Jr., and Delfausse in the high jump, Wesoly in the broad jump and J. L. Beckley, E. C. Sowka and F. J. Lanahan in the pole vault will be the nucleus for their departments of the field events, Meehan and Tupper, state title holders in the pole vault and broad jump, respectively, having graduated last June. G. H. Cook leads the weight throwers, assisted by L. L. Bowers, Beckley, Willis and A. Gardner.

The team will meet the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association at Montreal on May 20, Rennselaer Polytechnic Institute here on May 13, and will meet Middlebury and Norwich in a triangular meet at Northfield on May 27.

PIRES CAPTURES RECENT FOUL SHOOTING CONTEST

The physical education department has announced that Frankie Pires, captain of this year's varsity basketball team, is the winner of the foul shooting tournament. The contest has been going on for the last two months. It was open to any male student in college, and was supervised by Archie Post, track mentor and physical instructor. The trick was to see who could make the most baskets out of a possible 100, shooting the ball from the foul line. The free tries were divided up into two sets of 50 each. Pires sank 75 out of the possible 100. Eddie Sowka, guard on this year's varsity, ran a close second with 73. Third place was claimed by Whitey Palmer, basketball flash, with 71.

Last year the contest was won by Elmer Layden, basketball star, who converted 34 times out of a possible 50. This year the number of required throws was raised to 100 because it was believed that with the increased shots, the winner would have to show greater accuracy.

1933 INTER-FRATERNITY BASEBALL SCHEDULE

LEAGUE A.

PHI DELTA THETA / PHI MU DELTA — April 24
INDEPENDENTS / TAU EPSILON PHI — April 27
SIGMA PHI / SIGMA NU — May 1
LAMBDA IOTA — bye
→ May 4
→ May 8
→ May 11

LEAGUE B.

PHI SIGMA DELTA / SIGMA DELTA — April 25
ALPHA TAU OMEGA / DELTA PSI — April 28
KAPPA SIGMA / ZETA CHI — May 2
SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON — bye
→ May 5
→ May 9
→ May 12

CHAMPIONSHIP May 22

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

With three hard games ahead, Dutch McKay and his gang left yesterday for a trip into the wilds of Boston.

Bobbie Burns will be down in his own back yard again and if his bad ankle doesn't hinder him too much we can all expect the same fine showing he made on the southern trip.

Taking on Tufts, Boston University and Boston College on three successive days is no set up but with "Hook" Layden, Swartz and Farmer doing the twirling, the team has a fine chance of taking all three.

Three new faces will be seen in the lineup for the Boston trip, "Rubinoff" Rubino, "Bob" Macomber, and "Spud" Farmer, all of whom saw service last year, have been picked to go to the "Bean Town."

A few predictions, garnered as the boys boarded the "Queen of Vermont."

Captain Dutch: "The shirt and tie should knock 'em dead." (We always did like robin's egg blue.)

"Squit" Taft, dean of Essex sluggers, asks if we've ever seen him when he's hot.

Good joke, huh?

"Elmer" Layden says, "I like to work with Bowers." "Tuffy" says, "I like to work with Layden." (Lovey-dovey.)

"Whitey" Palmer: "It's lovely weather we're having."

Mr. Ramon: "It only takes one to hit 'em."

Interfraternity baseball starts next week. The Phi Mu Delt battery of Burnell and Lyford seems to give their team a slight advantage this year but "Chummie" Farwell has started training for the Kappa Sigs and promises to toss 'em fast and furious when his boys take the field.

NINE VICTORIOUS OVER TUFTS YESTERDAY 2-1

Superb Pitching of Layden Wins for Vermont Club Over Jumboes

Held to two scant hits by the pitching of Ed Layden, Green and Gold star hurler, Tufts bowed to the University of Vermont on Medford Oval yesterday by the score of 2 to 1.

Opening the sixth frame, Bobby Burns and Dutch McKay doubled and Chet Taft pounded a single through the infield to give the Catamounts their two tallies and the winning margin. Tufts counted in the third on a base on balls, wild pitch and Ed Ralph's screeming two-base hit. Vermont hammered out five hits in all and erred twice. Batteries: Layden and Bowers, Staffon and Ingraham.

The Cynic Editorial Department wishes to express its appreciation and thanks to Frederick Tupper '32 of the Burlington Free Press for his aid in accumulating data and compiling averages of the University of Vermont baseball team, while on the southern trip.

CHARLES J. LIBBY '34,
Editor-in-Chief.

Doctor Johnson (in exasperation) And whatever on earth made you write a paragraph like that?

Student: I quoted it, sir, from Dickens.

Doctor Johnson: Beautiful lines, aren't they?—Syracuse Orange Peel.

HAVE YOU "RAIDED"
THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

WOMEN'S INDOOR MEET TO MARK CLOSE OF WINTER ATHLETICS FOR WOMEN

Sophomore and Freshman Compete Tonight for Athletic Honors

The Women's Indoor Meet, which will be held this evening in the gymnasium will mark the close of winter athletics for the women at Vermont. All girls taking physical education work for credit are required to attend.

This is an annual event, at which the freshman and sophomore classes compete for honors. The Indoor Meet cup will be presented to the winning class.

A posture march will open the program. Everyone, whether doing individual work in the meet or not takes part in this event. Judges will mark the girls individually on carriage and the class having the higher percent of good postures will receive a certain number of points to count toward the final standing.

The four most proficient girls from each class will compete in high jumping, handball, ping-pong, and basketball goal throwing. The students will participate in a running relay for time.

Three other relays are features of the evening. The nature of these has not yet been decided.

Miss Baldwin, instructor of dancing has been training the girls for competitive tree dancing and demonstration dancing. Only those girls who have shown the most aptitude in this will take part.

All members of the faculty and friends are cordially invited, according to a statement made by Miss Cummings professor of physical education for women.

No gymnasium classes will be held Monday and Tuesday. Spring sports start Wednesday. Freshman are required to take only two hours of sports a week this spring. They may elect tennis, archery, baseball and horseback riding.

NOTICE

Will the members of the new Winnowings staff meet in the Marsh room of the Billings Library, Tuesday, April 25, at 7.30 p.m. Plans for the last issue will be discussed.

VERMONT TEAM MEETS TWO BOSTON NINES ON MASSACHUSETTS TRIP

Coach Gardner Makes Shake-up in Squad Before Leaving Burlington

TUFTS MET YESTERDAY AFTERNOON AT MEDFORD

Coach Larry Gardner made a bit of a shake up in the squad before they left for Boston. Rus Garrett and Knox Ramon stepped into places in the outfield. Benny Rubino and that hard-hitting Macomber boy of last year's squad went along as shorts.

Bobby Burns, who put on his own little show on the southern trip, still held his position at second sack. This boy wonder should make history for himself this season.

Capt. Dutch McKay, the quiet man from Mattapan, will continue to wear down that last sack until he graduates. Dutch's batting average looked like a bright spot in the sky shining out of the southern trip record.

Old spoon bending Bowers will be behind the plate. Albie Palmer went along as guardian of the initial bag. Chet Taft will occupy the other outfield position.

Ed Layden, Ed Swartz and Spud Farmer comprised the pitching staff. Spud's arm has come around and he's back on the mound. Layden and Swartz, both of whom made excellent records on the last trip are expected to give the Boston teams a lot of trouble.

The hardest game of the schedule came yesterday with Tufts College. These boys always play an exceptional brand of baseball.

Boston University today looks like a snap, being by far the easiest job in the Beantown.

Tomorrow the boys will meet another snappy outfit at Boston College. Like Tufts, they can be counted on for a real battle.

If the team starts hitting as they should there is no reason why they should come back without three scalps.

NETMEN GIVEN WORKOUT IN BASE-LINE ACCURACY

Team Daily Practicing in Cage in Preparation for Boston Trip

The University of Vermont tennis squad has been practicing every afternoon since the Easter holidays came to a close. The daily workouts are held in the cage, where a court has been marked out. The candidates have been concentrating on base line accuracy for the last few days and are rapidly whipping into form. The squad has to give the cage up to the baseball team at three o'clock, so their workouts are necessarily cut short. As soon as the weather permits the players will come out on the outdoor courts.

The U. V. M. racketeers will leave Wednesday, April 26 on their trip into Massachusetts. They will play Worcester Polytechnic Institute April 27, Boston University on the twenty-eighth, and Tufts on the twenty-ninth, returning home Sunday, April 30. The players who will make the trip have not been chosen as yet. The promising material includes Capt. Hugh Wilson, Norm Myers, Les Woodward, Bernie Mulcahy, O. B. Eastman and Earl Morse.

The first home match will be with St. Michael's on May 9.

"Spring Specialties"
for
FOUNDER'S DAY
Banners, Pennants, Stickers
at SPECIAL PRICES
in the
University Store

SPRING
SUITS
$18.50
To $35
TOPCOATS
$16.50
To $35
SPORT WEAR
FLANNEL SLACKS
LEATHER JACKETS
SPORT COATS
SWEATERS
Miles & Perry Co.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1898

THE CROSBY SQUARE SHOE
$5.00
On display now for spring
A real shoe at a popular price
HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

Vermont Fraternities

PHI DELTA THETA HOUSE

The national organization of Phi Delta Theta is the third largest college fraternity in existence. It has ninety-eight chapters throughout the United States and five in Canada. The fraternity was founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in 1848, and is a member of the famous Miami Triad which includes Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Chi and Phi Delta Theta.

Among its most prominent members are President Harrison, Justice McReynolds, Grantland Rice, Lew Gehrig, William Allen White, Eugene Field, Clark Evans, and Guy Potter Benton.

Although in 1879 there were already three fraternities at Vermont, it was thought that among a small group that there was a definite place for another. On October 30, 1879, ten men, aided by C. J. Redding of Gettysburg as an official from the national organization, established Vermont Alpha of Phi Delta Theta. At first the growth of the local chapter was slow and at times discouraging, but from 1886 on the growth has been steady.

After organizing at the Van Ness House meetings were held in the Merchant's Bank building. Later, the chapter moved to the Middlebrook Block on College Street, a location nearer the college, where rooms were maintained until the summer of 1882. From there they changed to Johnson and Lord's block on College Street, where the class of 1886 was initiated. In the next few years the fraternity had several homes in the city. After some years a second house was rented at 89 North Prospect Street.

In 1903 the chapter moved to 439 College Street, later to be selected as a site for the present chapter home. At last the day came in 1922 when this old house was torn down to make way for the present chapter house, which was formally opened at Commencement, June, 1923.

The local chapter has always been prominent in campus activities. A few of the prominent members are Carrol Warren Doten, George I. Forbes, M.D., S. Hollister Jackson, ex-lieutenant governor of Vermont, F. W. Kehoe, Roy L. Patrick, E. C. Mower, and William Lockwood, Rhodes scholar from Vermont.

ENGINEERING STUDENTS SEE FILM ON BRIDGE CABLE CONSTRUCTION

"The Span Supreme" Shows Pictures of George Washington Bridge

"The Span Supreme" a film showing the construction and erection of the cables of the George Washington Bridge, was shown Tuesday afternoon, April 18 in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum before an audience composed of 150 engineering students and members of the engineering faculty. The film was released by the Roeblin Co., makers of the cables.

The meeting was arranged by the sophomore members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. E. A. Dame, M.E. '33, president of the society, was in charge of the meeting.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, April 28 when the members will present their papers on mechanical engineering subjects. The winner of this presentation will represent the University of Vermont at the Regional Conference of the American Society of Mechanical Engineering student branches at Worcester on May 12 and 13. The trip is open to junior and senior members of the Society.

"MARCH HARES" CAST IS DEFINITELY CHOSEN

(Continued from page 1)

the Phi Delt stunt will not deny that he has dramatic ability.

Miss Casey, who has taken leads in several class plays as well as this year's Group Production, has been cast as Janet Rodney, daughter of Mrs. Rodney and fiancée of Mr. Wareham. She is also an elocutionist. Miss Casey is an Alpha Xi Delta.

Oliver, the manservant, is played by Charles Derven who who has had parts in every play possible since he entered college last fall. He is a member of Sigma Nu.

Claudia Kitts, a rather flirtatious friend of Janet's will be played by Miss Cahill, who was also in the cast of the Group Plays. She is a Pi Beta Phi.

Miss Wood, also a Pi Beta Phi, will play a character part, that of the cook. Miss Wood has kept her talents somewhat hidden as she has never been in a college production before.

Mr. Brown, a mysterious husband who turns up at the crucial moment and straightens things out is played by William Perry former president of Wig and Buskin, a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity.

The parts are all equally important and all will be remembered by anyone who sees the play, which will be coached by Mrs. C. I. Taggart of Burlington. She also coached the fall play "To the Ladies."

CORRECTION

In the Y. W. C. A. election story, the name of Esther Urie '33, who was chosen treasurer, was omitted by mistake.

Miss Urie is a member of W. A. A. and has played class basketball, baseball, hockey, volleyball, and bowling. She has been on the Dean's list.

Beer For College Athletes Denounced By U.V.M. Coache

Athletic Staff Joins in General Sentiment of Coaches of Count

Is Beer Injurious to Athletes? That is rather a two-sided question, say the University of Vermont Athletic coaches and physical education directors.

"If you mean from the physiological point of view," says Bunny Prentice, "you have no right to ask us at all. We know nothing of the health part of the question. But we do know that it is decidedly detrimental to the morale of the team, and for this reason, should be barred from all athletes. For that matter, I am whole-heartedly opposed to tobaccos for athletes for precisely the same reason."

The beer would be injurious to the morale of the teams, was the almost unanimous opinion of the coaches.

Mr. Burke states, "Aside from the moral effects, I think beer does no more harm than very strong coffee. Of course, this can be overdone, in the same proportions as overeating."

"One-half of one percent for athletes," was Archie Post's verdict. Beer is not particularly necessary. They can get along without it. Some claim that they need a tonic to work up an appetite. All bosh. There are many other kinds of tonics they can take, without resorting to alcoholic beverages."

"Bumps" Levine was of the same opinion as the others. "Beer won't do anyone any good, including athletes, but we are not in a position to say anything about the physiological effects; we can only see the effects created on the team as a whole. For the morale of the team, we prescribe 'no beer.'"

The reactions of other college athletic directors have been varied. Bill Bingham, representative of eastern college athletic leaders said, "The beer situation is really no problem at all as far as the undergraduate athletes are concerned."

At Fordham, Jim Crowley [illegible] coach, believes that no benefits are to be derived from beer [illegible] during gridiron season.

John F. Meehan of Manhattan shares the general opposition to beer or ale to any college [illegible] diet but added: "At the same [illegible] would have no hesitation in [illegible] bottle or two of ale for an athlete is over trained or stale. A glass after the evening meal and before going to bed has benefit [illegible]

"Personally," said Lou Little football at Columbia, "I think [illegible] two of beer, occasionally, [illegible] athletes, especially if they have [illegible] customed to it, but we would not of making this a part of [illegible] ing diet. It is largely an individual matter, as I see it, involving a man's background and his personal liking [illegible] like for beer."

According to the statement of Lou Heydler, president of the Southern League, there is no harm in the [illegible] having a bottle or two of beer after particularly hard game or series. Jackson Robertson who has been head coach of the last three American Olympic teams says, "I have never made it a practice to give beer to athletes and do not intend to do so. It has a tendency to increase the weight of men in active competition." Harvey Harman, Pennsylvania football coach, said that he did not feel that the use of beer is conducive to the well being of any athlete, in or out of season.

The general consensus of athletic opinion regarding the legal return of the 2.75 percent beer is opposed to use on the training tables and among American athletes. The English plan reveals a willingness to permit an occasional [illegible]

Author's Arena

Three books of varied and exceptional interest have just been published by Macmillan.

The Expanding Universe, a reprint of Sir Arthur Eddington's classical exposition of his theory of cosmological equilibrium is one of the most interesting and readable volumes on the subject. In the book Eddington suggests that the whole material universe of stars and galaxies of stars is dispersing, the galaxies scattering apart so as to occupy an ever-increasing volume. Eddington's theory is especially interesting since his subject lies at the meeting point of astronomy, relativity and wave mechanics. Sir Arthur is now director of the observatory at Cambridge and has been Plumian professor of astronomy at Cambridge for the last twenty years.

While Jeans and other theorists may take issue with the author—the theory is one of lively appeal with simple applications and explanation and well worth reading and understanding. (Macmillan $2.00.)

The Psychology of Childhood, by Norsworthy and Whitley, has been a standard text on the subject since 1918. Now republished in a revised edition, the book shows many improvements in content and theory. Newer features of the book, which should be of large interest to training teachers and students of psychology, are the expanded discussions of language and reading, mental hygiene, character training, children's thinking, constructive activities, sex development, and boys' gangs. The up-to-date bibliography lists a set of books that would make a worthwhile literature on the subject. The book shows a great improvement over the earlier editions in ease and clearness of treatment. (Macmillan, $1.80.)

The Action of the Living Cell, by the late Dr. Fenton B. Turck. Developing through experimental researches in biology, a new theory of shock mechanism, Doctor Turck presents in his new book an interesting viewpoint, which, with the proper scientific attitude, he feels may not be the right in the last analysis, but is good for what it is worth until its defeat. Biologists have long recognized the fact that in communities of cells, whether microorganisms, or members of a tissue of higher animals, the individual members of the community are influenced by their neighbors. As a result of forty years of experimental investigation, Doctor Turck reaches the conclusion that the mutual interplay of cellular activities is due to the influence of a more or less specific product of cellular disintegration which he named "Cytost." A man of international repute, Doctor Turck's theory will come as an interesting development in physiological chemistry and as a practical theory, it may stand the test of time. At any rate it is a fit monument to Doctor Turck's genius. Of interest to premeds and medics. (Macmillan, $3.50.)

Two Macaulay books on the subject of G. V. N. and motherhood as an emotional experience have recently been received.

Woman's Doctor, by an anonymous author, evidently a gynecologist in a large Canadian city, is a remarkable volume. Combining the slight thread of an unimportant plot for the artistic purpose of discussing his field, the author manages to include within the covers a terse and intensely interesting description of many of the problems which face the specialized woman's doctor, as well as the problems facing the woman, which are discussed in an intelligent, clear manner, giving, with the aid of an exhaustive glossary, an exposition of many matters still left in unfortunate obscurity. A worthwhile book for women and premed students especially. Many of the ethical problems facing the doctor are pointed out. (Macaulay, $2.00.)

The Late Cry, also by an anonymous writer, this book is an exceptionally well handled treatment of the emotional course of experience in an intellectual and artistic woman who chooses to have a child without benefit of clergy. While in no way encouraging such experiences for others, this book, written in its appealing "I" and "You" style, shows clearly the force of character and the influence of events which made this writer's experience one of the most interesting in modern fiction of actuality. (Macaulay, $2.00.)

VERMONT DEBATERS TO MEET PLYMOUTH NORMAL

Burrows, Patterson and Rogers To Attempt to Out-talk Women Tonight

This evening at eight o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel, the University of Vermont varsity debate team meets Plymouth Normal School of Plymouth, N. H. The two teams will use as their subject, Resolved: That the Hoover-Stimson doctrine of non-recognition should be made an international policy. Vermont will uphold the negative in this no-decision debate.

Those members debating for Vermont are George H. Burrows, II, '34, George W. Patterson, III, '34, and Carl A. Rogers '35. Burrows and Patterson have never before debated on the varsity team. Rogers has previously encountered Plymouth Normal School in debating. Burrows last year debated on the 1934 class team. Patterson, a former Vergennes High School debater, was last year a member of 1935 class team as was Rogers who is a recipient of a debating scholarship which was awarded to him as a member of the state championship team of Wallingford, Vt.

HOW ABOUT NOW

In the smoking room of a club, two business men just passed middle age were criticizing the young men of today.

Said one, "Look how reluctant young men are to marry and settle down."

"That's so," replied the other. "They seem to fear marriage. Why before I was married I didn't know the meaning of fear."

NOTICE

Scrubs for women's properties are wanted for the Junior Week plays. All interested see Elizabeth Eckhard '33, before April 22.

All those whose manuscripts were not accepted in the Tri-State Literary Contest can secure their papers from Professor Dean.

NON-STOP

Colonel Pepper was relating his jungle experiences to a party of uninterested listeners at his club.

"I well remember the incident that gave me the biggest fright of my life," he said. "We were hot on the track of a lioness, when suddenly I found myself separated from the rest of the party. Even my trusted gunbearer had deserted me. I was helpless. At that moment the lioness' mate sprang out of a bush right in front of me. What do you think I did?"

"About sixty miles an hour," put in one of his audience tiredly.

LIBBY AND BRISLIN TO RUN KEY AND SERPENT DANCE ON APRIL

At a Key and Serpent meeting Tuesday evening at the Delta Psi H[illegible] C. J. Libby '34 of Richmond Hill, N. [illegible] and W. W. Brislin '34 of Rutland [illegible] appointed a committee of two to charge of the Key and Serpent da[illegible] The dance will be held April 29, night after the Middlebury game.

A bead flew out of a bursting [illegible] lace worn by Amy Fownes Barnes [illegible] dinner in Philadelphia and lodged [illegible] young woman's ear. When guests tempted to remove the bead, it broke several pieces. Miss Barnes was fined five days in a hospital until pieces of bead were extricated.

LIVE in FRENCH

Residential Summer School (co-educational) June 26—July 29. Only French spoken. Fee $150. Board and Tuition. Elementary, Intermediate, Advanced. Write for circular to Secretary, Residential French Summer School.

McGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHOP
102A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES

STUDENTS
SUPPLIES
ART MATERIALS
FAVORS & DECORATIONS
FOR DANCES
•
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts. Phone 629

DIAMOND ENGAGEMENT RINGS

If you appreciate real fine Diamonds and wish to know and see exactly what you are purchasing you will be interested in our large display of fine Diamonds.

As an engagement ring is a lifelong gift and one that is most cherished it is well to select a perfect Diamond and to have a stylish mounting of Platinum of Gold.

It will be a pleasure to show you our Diamonds

F. J. Preston & Son
INCORPORATED
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHOO
Founded 1900

DENTISTRY has developed into an importa branch of health service. In order to me its obligation to humanity, it needs m and women of the highest intellect, back by superior training.

College men and women who are int ested in a career in this field of work m obtain a prospectus of the educational quirements by addressing

HOWARD M. MARJERISON, D.M.D., De Tufts College Dental School
416 Huntington Ave. Boston, Ma

Fordham University
School of Law
NEW YORK

Case System—Three-Year Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
College Degree or Two Years College Work with Good Grades Required
Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases
MORNING, EARLY AFTERNOON AND EVENING CLASSES
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registra
233 Broadway, New York

Real values for men who value VITALITY

$4.00 AND $5.00

B. J. BOYNTON
65 Church St.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1933 NUMBER 49

Professor Leonard Praises Cast; Operetta "Iolanthe" To Be Presented Thursday Night

Gymnasium Will Be Scene of Annual Musical Production This Year, Affording as It Does Larger Room for the Audience

capable and extremely hard ast is now practicing day and make 'Iolanthe' the best presented, and one of the of the Vermont year." says Leonard, who has put much effort in trying to mould the shape for the annual presentation will take place in the gymnasium Thursday night, April 27, at eight the title rôle, will be played Phyllis Putnam, veteran of many productions. Iolanthe has been by the fairies because of her to a mortal, who turns out to ther than the Lord Chancellor part of the Lord Chancellor is by D. F. Campbell '34, a newcomer this year, who has, nevertheless, his ability in the field of music his work with the choir and Men's Glee Club. The Lord Chancellor has words, the most beautiful of which Phyllis

Phyllis is played by Charlotte Odell a veteran in musical productions. has been in several operetta and took lead in last year's presentation. She in the choir. Phyllis is in love with 's son, Strephon, who has the usual feature of being half man and

S. Jenks '35, medic, takes the part Strephon. He has made music a large of his college life. He has been in since his freshman days and a member of Men's Glee Club. He had important rôles in almost every production and he is also a member the R. O. T. C. band and leads orchestra of his own.

Queen of the fairies, who is instrumental in having Iolanthe pardoned, is by Priscilla Perry '33. She, too, remembered for her work in previous She is a member of the choir assisted by Celia, Elizabeth '36; Leila, Ruth Joyal '36; and Marjorie Jenks '33.

Chancellor has as part of his Lord Mountararat, D. W. Jenks Lord Tolloler, A. R. Wilcox; and Willis, W. E. Morgan '33.

Remember that the students who feel the expression badly may not be kept from attending, a student ticket can be had for only twenty-five cents. It is hoped that everyone will take advantage of this offer as the operetta cast has worked extremely hard to make it worth while.

U. V. M. WOMEN DEBATERS TO MEET MIDDLEBURY

Annual Encounter Next Saturday is Last Home Debate on Co-ed Slate

the example of their masters, the women's debating counter the Middlebury Col- debaters. The debate will the Fleming Museum at Saturday evening, April 29. engagement is an annual teams. On the platform will be Virginia Goodenough Cox, Conn., Laura Johnsingford, and Sophie Leon of the debate is "Re Democracy is a Failure" disputants will uphold the Middlebury controver- maintain the negative. Saturday will terminate the Ver- home season. Early in May to St. Lawrence to debate in a radio pre-

American oil well was drilled Pa. in 1859. The well had feet. The oil pro- $25 to $30 a barrel

VERMONT WOMEN WILL HAVE AVOCATION DAY MAY 4 IN MUSEUM

Folkstown, Imaginary Village, Will Feature Program to Show Avocational Opportunities

The University of Vermont is a conference in the Fleming Museum next Thursday, May 4 sponsored by Women's Student Union will endeavor to answer the question "What is there for me to do next year?" It will be of special interest to those who are planning to return to their home towns and would like some help on what to do to earn a little money.

Folkstown, in Vermont will be the scene of this Avocation Day program. Folkstown is an imaginary village in which most people are engaged in proving that life can be profitable interesting and enjoyable even if one doesn't have a job with a salary. Everyone there has time to live, time to do interesting things, time to discover some of his abilities and time to do a variety of things which make Folkstown a pleasant place for all kinds of people.

Among the avocations demonstrated will be work with little children including the art of story telling and the making of simple toys with educational values, the making of interesting jig saw puzzles, of marionettes, flower arrangement, organized recreation, weaving, stenciling, development of interest in birds and others of nature's wonders.

STUDENT UNION AND V. C. A. PLAN CHAPEL PROGRAM

A new departure in chapel programs, the one planned for tomorrow morning which will be under the direction of Student Union Council and the Vermont Christian Association Commission was obtained especially for the opportunity by Student Union. Depending on its success and the enthusiasm of the student plans will be forwarded for having two or three such presentations each semester during next year.

FACULTY-STUDENT COUNCIL

The next Faculty-Student Council meeting will be held Thursday at 4.15 p.m. The meeting has been called to discuss the need of more social affairs in the gymnasium, priced so that all the students could afford to attend.

Members of the new Winnowings editorial staff: Please bring any available manuscripts with you to the board meeting, Tuesday, April 25, at 7.30 in the March Room of the Billings Library. All material must be in by April 30.

FIFTEEN NEW REPORTERS ADDED TO MAST HEAD

CALENDAR

Minotti And Band Furnish Music For Dance Saturday

Key and Serpent Presents Annual Spring Frolic in Gym

Bob Minotti and his band will furnish music for the annual Key and Serpent spring frolic in the gymnasium Saturday evening, it was announced by W. W. Bowen '34, president of Key and Serpent, and chairman of the committee in charge of the dance.

THIRTY-THREE WOMEN ON U. V. M. FACULTY, PRESENT SCHOOL YEAR

ANNUAL MORTAR BOARD DANCE IS HELD AT GYM

First Issue of Vermont Cynic Appeared On Campus Fifty Years Ago Today, April, 1883

First Issue of Student Publication, Edited by William Cantwell '84 and Managed by George Lane '84, Marks Start of Cynic Career

JUNIOR PROM IN GYM SAYS PUBLICITY HEAD PRICES TO BE LOWER

Mal Hallet, Orchestra and Entertainers Selected to Furnish Music for Junior Week but will give no consideration to anonymous proposals that are not brought directly to the committee's attention in person.

"The Incomparable Mal Hallet and His Band"

Mal Hallet brings a two-piece orchestra with him as part of the entertainment he has lined up for the Junior Prom. He has been featured at many leading hotels and clubs throughout the country and has played for many college proms. He has been featured on the radio and has made many phonograph records.

EXPLANATION OF WORD "CYNIC" IN 1ST EDITORIAL

That Word "Cynic"

The First Appearance

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE SHOWS FRENCH MOVIE

Moliere's "Monsieur de Pourceaugnac," Picturing Seventeenth Century Life, Shown in Winooski

Vermont Fraternities

PHI DELTA THETA HOUSE

The national organization of Phi Delta Theta is the third largest college fraternity in existence. It has ninety-eight chapters throughout the United States and five in Canada. The fraternity was founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in 1848 and is a member of the famous Miami Triad which includes Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Chi, and Phi Delta Theta.

Among its more prominent members are President Harrison, Justice McReynolds, Grantland Rice, Lou Gehrig, William Allen White, Eugene Field, Chick Evans, and Guy Potter Benson.

Although in 1879 there were already three fraternities at Vermont, it was strongly felt among a small group that there was a definite place for another. On October 30, 1879, ten men, aided by C. J. Redding of Gettysburg as an official from the national organization, established Vermont Alpha of Phi Delta Theta. At first the growth of the local chapter was slow and at times discouraging, but from 1886 on the growth has been steady.

After organizing at the Van Ness House, meetings were held in the Merchant's Bank building. Later, the chapter moved to the Middlebrook Block on College Street, a location nearer the college, where rooms were maintained until the summer of 1882. From there they changed to Johnson and Lord's block on College Street, where the class of 1886 was initiated. In the next few years the fraternity had several homes in the city. After some years a second house was rented at 89 North Prospect Street.

In 1903 the chapter moved to 439 College Street, later to be selected as a site for the present chapter home. At last the day came in 1922 when this old house was torn down to make way for the present chapter house, which was formally opened at Commencement, June, 1923.

The local chapter has always been prominent in campus activities. A few of the prominent members are Carrol Warren Doten, George I. Forbes, M.D., S. Hollister Jackson, ex-lieutenant governor of Vermont, F. W. Kehoe, Roy L. Patrick, E. C. Mower, and William Lockwood, Rhodes scholar from Vermont.

ENGINEERING STUDENTS SEE FILM ON BRIDGE CABLE CONSTRUCTION

"The Span Supreme" Shows Pictures of George Washington Bridge

"The Span Supreme" a film showing the construction and erection of the cables of the George Washington Bridge, was shown Tuesday afternoon, April 18 in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum before an audience composed of 150 engineering students and members of the engineering faculty. The film was released by the Roeblin Co., makers of the cables.

The meeting was arranged by the sophomore members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. E. A. Dame, M.E. '33, president of the society, was in charge of the meeting.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, April 28 when the members will present their papers on mechanical engineering subjects. The winner of this presentation will represent the University of Vermont at the Regional Conference of the American Society of Mechanical Engineering student branches at Worcester on May 12 and 13. The trip is open to junior and senior members of the Society.

"MARCH HARES" CAST IS DEFINITELY CHOSEN

(Continued from page 1)

the Phi Delt stunt will not deny that he has dramatic ability.

Miss Casey, who has taken leads in several class plays as well as this year's Group Production, has been cast as Janet Rodney, daughter of Mrs. Rodney and fiancée of Mr. Wareham. She is also an elocutionist. Miss Casey is an Alpha Xi Delta.

Oliver, the manservant, is played by Charles Derven who who has had parts in every play possible since he entered college last fall. He is a member of Sigma Nu.

Claudia Kitts, a rather flirtatious friend of Janet's will be played by Miss Cahill, who was also in the cast of the Group Plays. She is a Pi Beta Phi.

Miss Wood, also a Pi Beta Phi, will play a character part, that of the cook. Miss Wood has kept her talents somewhat hidden as she has never been in a college production before.

Mr. Brown, a mysterious husband who turns up at the crucial moment and straightens things out is played by William Perry former president of Wig and Buskin, a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity.

The parts are all equally important and all will be remembered by anyone who sees the play, which will be coached by Mrs. C. I. Taggart of Burlington. She also coached the fall play "To the Ladies."

CORRECTION

In the Y. W. C. A. election story, the name of Esther Urie '33, who was chosen treasurer, was omitted by mistake.

Miss Urie is a member of W. A. A. and has played class basketball, baseball, hockey, volleyball, and bowling. She has been on the Dean's list.

Beer For College Athletes Denounced By U.V.M. Coache

Athletic Staff Joins in General Sentiment of Coaches of Count

Is Beer Injurious to Athletes? That is rather a two-sided question, say the University of Vermont Athletic coaches and physical education directors.

"If you mean from the physiological point of view," says Bunny Prentice, "you have no right to ask us at all. We know nothing of the health part of the question. But we do know that it is decidedly detrimental to the morale of the team, and for this reason, should be barred from all athletes. For that matter, I am whole-heartedly opposed to tobaccos for athletes for precisely the same reason."

The beer would be injurious to the morale of the teams, was the almost unanimous opinion of the coaches.

Mr Burke states, "Aside from the moral effects, I think beer does no more harm than very strong coffee. Of course, this can be overdone, in the same proportions as overeating."

"One-half of one percent for athletes," was Archie Post's verdict. Beer is not particularly necessary. They can get along without it. Some claim that they need a tonic to work up an appetite. All bosh. There are many other kinds of tonics they can take, without resorting to alcoholic beverages."

"Bumps" Levine was of the same opinion as the others. "Beer won't do anyone any good, including athletes, but we are not in a position to say anything about the physiological effects; we can only see the effects created on the team as a whole. For the morale of the team, we prescribe 'no beer.'"

The reactions of other college athletic directors have been varied. Bill Bingham, representative of eastern college athletic leaders said, "The beer situation is really no problem at all as far as the undergraduate athletes are concerned."

At Fordham, Jim Crowley, new [illegible] coach, believes that no benefits [illegible] are to be derived from beer [illegible] during gridiron season.

John F. Meehan of Manhattan [illegible] shares the general opposition to [illegible] beer or ale to any college train[illegible] diet but added: "At the same [illegible] would have no hesitation in prescri[illegible] bottle or two of ale for an athlete [illegible] is over trained or stale. A glass [illegible] after the evening meal and another [illegible] fore going to bed has beneficial effe[illegible]

"Personally," said Lou Little, [illegible] football at Columbia, "I think a gla[illegible] two of beer, occasionally, is all right [illegible] athletes, especially if they have been [illegible] customed to it, but we would not [illegible] of making this a part of regular [illegible] ing diet. It is largely an individual [illegible] ter, as I see it, involving a man's [illegible] ground and his personal liking or [illegible] like for beer."

According to the statement of John [illegible] Heydler, president of the Nati[illegible] League, there is no harm in the play[illegible] having a bottle or two of beer afte[illegible] particularly hard game or series. [illegible] son Robertson who has been head c[illegible] of the last three American Olympic te[illegible] says, "I have never made it a practic[illegible] give beer to athletes and do not in[illegible] to do so. It has a tendency to incr[illegible] the weight of men in active competit[illegible] Harvey Harman, Pennsylvania [illegible] coach, said that he did not feel that [illegible] use of beer is conducive to the well b[illegible] of any athlete, in or out of season.

The general consensus of athletic o[illegible] ion regarding the legal return of [illegible] percent beer is opposed to use on [illegible] training tables and among American [illegible] letes. The English plan reveals s[illegible] willingness to permit an occasional g[illegible]

Author's Arena

Three books of varied and exceptional interest have just been published by Macmillan.

The Expanding Universe, a reprint of Sir Arthur Eddington's classical exposition of his theory of cosmological equilibrium is one of the most interesting and readable volumes on the subject. In the book Eddington suggests that the whole material universe of stars and galaxies of stars is dispersing, the galaxies scattering apart so as to occupy an ever increasing volume. Eddington's theory is especially interesting since his subject lies at the meeting point of astronomy, relativity and wave mechanics. Sir Arthur is now director of the observatory at Cambridge and has been Plumian professor of astronomy at Cambridge for the last twenty years.

While Jeans and other theorists may take issue with the author—the theory is one of lively appeal with simple applications and explanation and well worth reading and understanding. (Macmillan, $2.00)

The Psychology of Childhood, by Norsworthy and Whitley, has been a standard text on the subject since 1918. Now republished in a revised edition, the book shows many improvements in content and theory. Newer features of the book, which should be of large interest to training teachers and students of psychology are the expanded discussions of language and reading, mental hygiene, character training, children's thinking, constructive activities, sex development, and boys' gangs. The up-to-date bibliography lists a set of books that would make a worthwhile literature on the subject. The book shows a great improvement over the earlier editions in ease and clearness of treatment. (Macmillan, $1.80)

The Action of the Living Cell, by the late Dr. Fenton B. Turck. Developing, through experimental researches in biology, a new theory of shock mechanism, Doctor Turck presents in his new book an interesting viewpoint, which, with the proper scientific attitude, he feels may not be the right in the last analysis, but is good for what it is worth until its defeat. Biologists have long recognized the fact that in communities of cells, whether microorganisms, or members of a tissue of higher animals, the individual members of the community are influenced by their neighbors. As a result of forty years of experimental investigation, Doctor Turck reaches the conclusion that the mutual interplay of cellular activities is due to the influence of a more or less specific product of cellular disintegration which he named "Cytost." A man of international repute, Doctor Turck's theory will come as an interesting development in physiological chemistry and as a practical theory, it may stand the test of time. At any rate it is a fit monument to Doctor Tuck's genius. Of interest to premeds and medics. (Macmillan, $3.50)

Two Macaulay books on the subject of G. Y. N. and motherhood as an emotional experience have recently been received.

Woman's Doctor, by an anonymous author, evidently a gynecologist in a large Canadian city, is a remarkable volume. Combining the slight thread of an unimportant plot for the artistic purpose of discussing his field, the author manages to include within the covers a terse and intensely interesting description of many of the problems which face the specialized woman's doctor, as well as the problems facing the woman, which are discussed in an intelligent, clear manner, giving, with the aid of an exhaustive glossary, an exposition of many matters still left in unfortunate obscurity. A worthwhile book for women and premed students especially. Many of the ethical problems facing the doctor are pointed out. (Macaulay, $2.00)

The Life Cry, also by an anonymous writer, this book is an exceptionally well handled treatment of the emotional course of experience in an intellectual and artistic woman who chooses to have a child without benefit of clergy. While in no way encouraging such experiences for others, this book, written in its appealing "I" and "You" style, shows clearly the force of character and the influence of events which made this writer's experience one of the most interesting in modern fiction of actuality. (Macaulay, $2.00)

VERMONT DEBATERS TO MEET PLYMOUTH NORMAL

Burrows, Patterson and Rogers To Attempt to Out-talk Women Tonight

This evening at eight o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel, the University of Vermont varsity debate team meets Plymouth Normal School of Plymouth, N. H. The two teams will use as their subject, Resolved: That the Hoover-Stimson doctrine of non-recognition should be made an international policy. Vermont will uphold the negative in this no-decision debate.

Those members debating for Vermont are George H. Burrows, II, '34, George W. Patterson, III, '34, and Carl A. Rogers '35. Burrows and Patterson have never before debated on the varsity team. Rogers has previously encountered Plymouth Normal School in debating. Burrows last year debated on the 1934 class team. Patterson, a former Vergennes High School debater, was last year a member of 1935 class team as was Rogers who is a recipient of a debating scholarship which was awarded to him as a member of the state championship team of Wallingford, Vt.

HOW ABOUT NOW

In the smoking room of a club, two business men just passed middle age were criticizing the young men of today.

Said one, "Look how reluctant young men are to marry and settle down."

"That's so," replied the other. "They seem to fear marriage. Why before I was married I didn't know the meaning of fear."

NOTICE

Scrubs for women's properties are wanted for the Junior Week plays. All interested see Elizabeth Eckhard '33, before April 22.

All those whose manuscripts were not accepted in the Tri-State Literary Contest can secure their papers from Professor Dean.

NON-STOP

Colonel Pepper was relating his jungle experiences to a party of uninterested listeners at his club.

"I well remember the incident that gave me the biggest fright of my life," he said. "We were hot on the track of a lioness, when suddenly I found myself separated from the rest of the party. Even my trusted gunbearer had deserted me. I was helpless. At that moment the lioness' mate sprang out of a bush right in front of me. What do you think I did?"

"About sixty miles an hour," put in one of his audience tiredly.

LIBBY AND BRISLIN TO RUN KEY AND SERPENT DANCE ON APRIL

At a Key and Serpent meeting Tuesday evening at the Delta Psi H[illegible] C. J. Libby '34 of Richmond Hill, N[illegible] and W. W. Brislin '34 of Rutland [illegible] appointed a committee of two to charge of the Key and Serpent da[illegible] The dance will be held April 29, night after the Middlebury game.

A bead flew out of a bursting [illegible] lace worn by Amy Fownes Barnes dinner in Philadelphia and lodged in young woman's ear. When guests tempted to remove the bead, it broke several pieces. Miss Barnes was fined five days in a hospital until pieces of bead were extricated.

LIVE in FRENCH

Residential Summer School (co-educational) June 26—July 29. Only French spoken. Fee $150. Board and Tuition. Elementary, Intermediate, Advanced. Write for circular to Secretary, Residential French Summer School.

McGILL UNIVERSITY
MONTREAL, CANADA

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHOP
102A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES

STUDENTS
SUPPLIES
ART MATERIALS
FAVORS & DECORATIONS
FOR DANCES
•
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts. Phone 629

DIAMOND ENGAGEMENT RINGS

If you appreciate real fine Diamonds and wish to know and see exactly what you are purchasing you will be interested in our large display of fine Diamonds.

As an engagement ring is a lifelong gift and one that is most cherished it is well to select a perfect Diamond and to have a stylish mounting of Platinum of Gold.

It will be a pleasure to show you our Diamonds

F. J. Preston & Son
INCORPORATED
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHOO
Founded 1868

DENTISTRY has developed into an importa branch of health service. In order to m its obligation to humanity, it needs m and women of the highest intellect, back by superior training.

College men and women who are int ested in a career in this field of work m obtain a prospectus of the educational quirements by addressing

HOWARD M. MARKERSON, D.M.D., De Tufts College Dental School
416 Huntington Ave. Boston, Ma

Fordham University School of Law
NEW YORK
Case System—Three-Year Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
College Degree or Two Years College Work with Good Grades Required
Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases
MORNING, EARLY AFTERNOON AND EVENING CLASSES
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registr
233 Broadway, New York

Real values for men who value VITALITY

$4.00 AND $5.00

B. J. BOYNTON
65 Church St.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1933 | NUMBER 49

Professor Leonard Praises Cast; Operetta "Iolanthe" To Be Presented Thursday Night

Gymnasium Will Be Scene of Annual Musical Production This Year, Affording as It Does Larger Room for the Audience

STUDENT TICKETS ARE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

A very capable and extremely hard-working cast is now practicing day and night to make 'Iolanthe' the best operetta ever presented, and one of the highlights of the Vermont year," says Professor Leonard, who has put much time and effort in trying to mould the cast into shape for the annual presentation which will take place in the gymnasium Thursday night, April 27, at eight o'clock.

Iolanthe, the title rôle, will be played by Marilla Putnam, veteran of many musical productions. Iolanthe has been banished by the fairies because of her marriage to a mortal, who turns out to be none other than the Lord Chancellor.

The part of the Lord Chancellor is taken by D. F. Campbell '34, a newcomer this year, who has, nevertheless, proved his ability in the field of music by his work with the choir and Men's Glee Club. The Lord Chancellor has many wards, the most beautiful of which is Phyllis.

Phyllis is played by Charlotte Odell '33 also a veteran in musical productions. She has been in several operetta and took the lead in last year's presentation. She is also in the choir. Phyllis is in love with Iolanthe's son, Strephon, who has the unusual feature of being half man and half fairy.

R. S. Jenks '35, medic, takes the part of Strephon. He has made music a large part of his college life. He has been in the choir since his freshman days and is also a member of Men's Glee Club. He has had important rôles in almost every musical production and he is also a member of the R. O. T. C. band and leads an orchestra of his own.

The queen of the fairies, who is instrumental in having Iolanthe pardoned, is played by Priscilla Perry '33. She, too, is remembered for her work in previous years. She is a member of the choir. The queen is assisted by Celia, Elizabeth Gibson '36; Leila, Ruth Joyal '36; and Flora, Marjorie Jenks '33.

The Chancellor has as part of his retinue Lord Mountararat, D. W. Jenks '34; Lord Tolloler, A. R. Wilcox; and Private Willis, W. E. Morgan '33.

In order that the students who feel the depression badly may not be kept from attending, a student ticket can be had for only twenty-five cents. It is hoped that everyone will take advantage of this offer as the operetta cast has worked extremely hard to make it worth while.

U. V. M. WOMEN DEBATERS TO MEET MIDDLEBURY

Annual Encounter Next Saturday is Last Home Debate on Co-ed Slate

Following the example of their masculine proponents, the women's debating team will encounter the Middlebury College co-ed debaters. The debate will be held at the Fleming Museum auditorium next Saturday evening, April 29, at 8:15. The engagement is an annual affair between the two teams. On the platform for Vermont will be Virginia Goodenough '33 of New Haven City, Conn., Laura Johnson '33 of Wallingford, and Sophie Levin '33 of Burlington.

The question of the debate is "Resolved: That Democracy is a Failure." Vermont's disputants will uphold the negative while Middlebury controverters will maintain the negative. Saturday's encounter will terminate the Vermont women's home season. Early in May the team travels to St. Lawrence to debate the same debate in a radio presentation.

The first American oil well was drilled at Titusville, Pa. in 1859. The well had a depth of seventy-nine feet. The oil produced from $25 to $30 a barrel.

VERMONT WOMEN WILL HAVE AVOCATION DAY MAY 4 IN MUSEUM

Folkstown, Imaginary Village, Will Feature Program to Show Avocational Opportunities

The University of Vermont in a conference in the Fleming Museum auditorium, May 4, sponsored by Women's Student Union, will endeavor to answer the question "What is there for me to do next year?" It will be of special interest to those who are planning to return to their home towns and would like some help on what to do to earn a little money.

Folkstown, in Vermont, will be the scene of this Avocation Day program. Folkstown is an imaginary village in which most people are engaged in proving that life can be profitable, interesting and enjoyable even if one doesn't have a job with a salary. Everyone there has time to live, time to do interesting things, time to discover some of her abilities, and time to do a variety of things which make Folkstown a pleasant place for all kinds of people.

Among the avocations demonstrated will be work with little children, including the art of story telling and the making of simple toys with educational values; the making of interesting jig-saw puzzles; of marionettes; flower arrangement; organized recreation; weaving; stenciling; development of interest in birds and others of nature's wonders.

STUDENT UNION AND V. C. A. PLAN CHAPEL PROGRAM

A new departure in chapel programs is the one planned for tomorrow morning, which will be under the direction of Student Union Council and the Vermont Christian Association. Permission was obtained especially for the opportunity by Student Union. Depending on its success and the enthusiasm of the students plans will be forwarded for having two or three such presentations each semester during next year.

FACULTY-STUDENT COUNCIL

The next Faculty-Student Council meeting will be held Thursday at 4.15 p.m. The meeting has been called to discuss the need of more social affairs in the gymnasium, priced so that all the students could afford to attend.

Members of the new Winnowings editorial staff: Please bring any available manuscripts with you to the board meeting, Tuesday, April 25, at 7.30 in the Marsh Room of the Billings Library. All material must be in by April 30.

FIFTEEN NEW REPORTERS ADDED TO MAST HEAD

Fifteen new reporters were added to the editorial and sports boards of the Vermont Cynic recently. All are members of the freshman class and have completed the required number of credit niches for selection to the staff.

In the editorial department A. S. Everest of New Haven, J. R. Greenman of Wilmington, Rock Hunter of Proctor, Elizabeth Hoyt of Burlington, O. W. Lawson of Swanton, R. S. Mudgett of Burlington, Norma Piper of Windsor, Frances Rowe of East Monroe, Pa., and W. Sokol of New Britain, Conn. will occupy the positions of reporters.

On the sports board J. M. Bullowa, Jr. of Maynard, Mass., J. J. F. Dwyer of Poultney, R. J. Costello of Rutland, E. D. E. Kain of Montpelier, N. J. O'Brien of Middlebury, Conn. will serve in the capacity of reporters.

CALENDAR

[redacted]

Minotti And Band Furnish Music For Dance Saturday

Key and Serpent Presents Annual Spring Frolic in Gym

Bob Minotti and his band, which yearly scores a success at Bayside and the Hotel Van Ness, will furnish the music for the annual Key and Serpent spring frolic next Saturday evening, it was decided by W. W. Brislin '34 and C. J. Libby '34 members of the committee in charge of the dance.

The dance falls in the Founders Day week-end and will be held the evening after the Middlebury-Vermont baseball game. Attractive programs and colored lights will be an attempt to give the dancing throng a better time. As yet chaperones have not been decided, but will be announced in Friday's issue of the Cynic.

Receiving bids from four different orchestras in the State, the committee decided to award the contract to Minotti. The admission fee will be one dollar per couple.

THIRTY-THREE WOMEN ON U. V. M. FACULTY, PRESENT SCHOOL YEAR

Thirty-three women hold positions on the faculty of the University of Vermont this year. They are connected with every college except the College of Engineering. The home economics department of the College of Agriculture has the most women with the teacher training courses and planning second.

Listed as a total of 495 women students enrolled in the colleges of the University, the College of Arts and Sciences ranking highest with 345. The Agricultural College has 72 women, the Medical College 9, and the Engineering College 2. The two year education course has a membership of 48 women.

The freshman class has the largest number of women with an enrollment of 120. The junior and sophomore classes have 105 women each, while the senior class is the lowest with 83 members.

Vermont leads the states in number of students at the University with a total of 350. Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York having 52, 28, 23 respectively.

Women were first admitted to the University in 1872. The University's graduate and the first Phi Beta Kappa woman to receive a degree. In 1926 she had a degree conferred by the College of Medicine.

The most used metal product group in the largest number of counties are the radio manufacturing companies. Iron and boiler manufacturing establishments are second, and automobile manufacturers are second in number of establishments with the tobacco trade.

First Issue of Vermont Cynic Appeared On Campus Fifty Years Ago Today, April, 1883

First Issue of Student Publication, Edited by William Cantwell '84 and Managed by George Lane '84, Marks Start of Cynic Career

JUNIOR PROM IN GYM SAYS PUBLICITY HEAD PRICES TO BE LOWER

Mal Hallet, Orchestra and Entertainers Selected to Furnish Music for Junior Week

The junior prom publicity committee relieves the parchment chips on the affair by announcing that the jamboree will be held in the gymnasium, the band to be "Mal Hallett and his incomparable orchestra," while the price for W. Cohen '34 publicity chairman is to be considerably lower than last years the exact amount to be given out in the next issue of the Cynic.

Cohen went on to say, in reply to a question by the reporter that "The committee will be glad to receive any suggestions concerning arrangements etc. but will give no consideration to anonymous proposals that are not brought directly to the committee's attention in person."

"The Incomparable Mal Hallet and His Band"

Mal Hallett brings a twelve-piece orchestra with him, as well as three other entertainers. In fact that is what has made him famous. That is instead of merely using an orchestra, he includes in his personnel comedians, singers or some other types of entertainment in addition to his regular ensemble. Says the Boston Post in regard to his first engagement on his New England tour:

"Coming direct from Broadway, New York, ... Mal Hallett and his twelve big-league musicians . . . and three entertainers, including Irene Taylor, blues singer formerly with Paul Whiteman . . . will open his New England tour at Nutting's, Waltham, tomorrow night . . . With his pick of the best in the country . . . . this aggregation is undoubtedly one of the greatest dance bands ever organized . . . . which has been done with rare skill and care to get the best . . . selected from nationally famous big-name dance orchestras. . . . Welcome, Mal!"

Here is the personnel and instrumentation of the group.

Jack Jenny, first trombone, past year with Isham Jones; Teddy Sykes, second trombone formerly with Al Katz; Joe Colarusso, bass fiddle, originally with Mal Hallett; Frank Reeves, first trumpet, formerly with Arnold Johnson; Wade M. Mobley, second trumpet, formerly with Jan Garber; Cliff Weatherell, formerly with Lenny Cate; Louis Mondello, first sax, originally with Mal Hallett; Bob Morgan, arranger and tenor sax, formerly with Jan Garber; Pete Johns, third sax and clarinet, formerly with Isham Jones; Gene Krupa drums, formerly with Russ Columbo; Nat Mandello, guitar, formerly with Mal Hallett; Frank Carle, piano, formerly with Mc-Kinley; Irene Taylor, blues singer, formerly with Paul Whiteman; Lennie White, soloist, formerly with Lang-Lack and Ollie Morris, entertainer, originally with Mal Hallett; all under the personal direction of Mal Hallett.

ANNUAL MORTAR BOARD DANCE IS HELD AT GYM

The spring dance given under the auspices of Mortar Board took place in the gymnasium Saturday night, April 22, and was well attended by the student body. About 100 couples danced about the floor and refreshments were served at intermissions. The chaperones were Prof. and Mrs. J. T. Metcalf and Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Carleton. The dance was informal lasting from 8:00 to 12:00 p.m.

Priscilla Perry '33 was in charge of the dance being assisted by Sylvia Boyd '33 and Leah Gower '33.

EXPLANATION OF WORD "CYNIC" IN 1ST EDITORIAL

[redacted] the result of the efforts of a few energetic members of the community, the Vermont Cynic first appeared on the halls of the Old Mill. Like many of today scholars in the college, with varying degrees of success and satisfaction, read the first publication of the paper, commented on its contents, and cast it aside. Today we do much the same thing, but the historic place it fills in college life is demonstrated by the rush to obtain a copy twice every week.

Since 1883 the Cynic has tried to supply students of the entire college with a reliable and unbiased account of student activities and everything pertaining to the interests of the University. It has tried steadily to raise the standards of news and make it worthy of its place in the college daily news publications. In looking forward the Cynic sees another fifty years of advance and service to all students taking the trouble to read its pages.

That Word "Cynic"

Although the name "Cynic" has been translated "dog," and although many people infer that the cynic is "the assemblage of all the qualities that are bold and bad," the founder of the cynic school was Antisthenes, a follower of Socrates. Thus the editor of the first Cynic explains of his mutual editorial. He continues: The name cynic simply sprang from the gymnasium (Cynosarges) in which their instruction was imparted. The most celebrated cynic was Diogenes, and of him we read that he 'abused literary men for reading about the evils of Ulysses, and yet neglecting their own passions for stripping the bare Caryatides, while they left their minds disordered, were at science for troubling themselves about the moon and the stars, while they neglected what lay immediately before them, orators for learning to say what was right, but not to practice it."

The First Appearance

The University Cynic made its first appearance, in magazine form, on April 25, 1883. Its editorial board, chosen from the senior and junior classes of the academical department, comprised a managing editor and seven associate editors. The staff was: W. P. Cantwell, Jr., managing editor; G. B. Lane, business

(Continued on Page 4)

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE SHOWS FRENCH MOVIE

Molière's "Monsieur de Pourceaugnac," Picturing Seventeenth Century Life, Shown in Winooski

The most recent activity of Alliance Française was the sponsoring of a French movie which was given on Wednesday and Thursday at the Strand Theater in Winooski.

The picture "M. de Pourceaugnac" by Molière, made in a French film sponsored by the French Government and the Cartons" of Paris. It is enacted by well known French actors.

In the costuming and setting of the film the directors strove to give an accurate picture of life in the seventeenth century. Exact detail was studied, the furnishings of the homes, the costumes and manners of the times. Those people who could not understand the French dialogue will probably want to read the titles in an English translation; several copies are to be found in the Billings Library.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

[illegible] College Newspaper
[illegible] University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

[illegible] Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] Women's Editor
[illegible] Managing Editor
[illegible] Sports Editor
[illegible] Recording Editor
[illegible] Business Manager
[illegible] Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

[illegible] Donnelly '35
[illegible] Parsons '35
[illegible] Abbott '35
Dustin White '35
[illegible] Wright '35
Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

[illegible] Lesser '35
Milton Greenberg '34

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

COLUMNIST

Robert Weissman '34

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

[illegible]

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

[illegible] Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year. [illegible] Communications should be signed and addressed to the proper [illegible] Entered at the Burlington, Vermont, Postoffice as second class matter. Offices of publication in the Mansfield Hotel Building, College Street. Business communications should be handled [illegible] Telephone 2-4124. Editorial Telephone 2-4126. Issued Tuesday and Friday of the college year in which they are dated. [illegible] Subscription $3.00. [illegible] Entered in the postoffice at Burlington, Vt., as second class matter [illegible] Acceptance for mailing at special rate provided for in Section [illegible] Act of October 3, 1917.

[illegible] Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Editorials

The Vermont Cynic relaxes for a short while and observes that today it is at middle age. It is fifty years old but the passing years have left no traces of deterioration.

Fifty years ago a campaign was started on the campus of the University of Vermont to have a representative publication. As a result of the agitation William Cantwell, Jr., now in the ranks of the departed alumni, was elected managing editor of the first Cynic.

His first editorial explained the task of the infant project. "It will not assail the Faculty, it will give voice to the sentiments of no faction. But of the city, the students and the college it will aim to be fair's representative. . . . The number of ads found in the Cynic and the character of its printed page, both attest the enterprise of our business men. . . . Upon the alumnus a college paper has peculiar claims. It exhalats, of course, the immaturity of youth, it renews for him some of the pleasant associations of his life. . . ." Thus did the Cynic utter its first cry, and with a gradually increasing retrospect of achievement before its eyes, grew to the position it now occupies.

As the Cynic of today looks back into its album of memories it . . . to pursue its policy of serving the campus as did the first journal . . . eighteen . . . a journal which although now fifty years older still . . . the hardy qualities of its youth.

Down through these two score and a half years, the Cynic has had its periods, successes and failures. It has served both as a magazine and a college newspaper. At different times it has been enlarged, and its field broadened. Many times it has been the object of ridicule and criticism, but fundamentally it has always remained the college news organ.

The staff regrets that the only woman editor-in-chief of the paper has joined the ranks of the deceased. Her service and her leadership in keeping up the standard of the paper during trying war time days will, at all probability, be well remembered by those who were members of the S. A. T. C. at Vermont at that time.

Never has zeal flagged in the publishing of the paper. Each editor has had his own peculiar worries and drudgery. But the paper has come out just as if it were merely a matter of putting up assignments for the reporters and then forgetting that an issue is due until suddenly it appears on the campus wet from the presses.

To those men who have gone before and have faithfully served the staff of their paper, either as editor-in-chief, as managing editor, as business manager, or as any other officer on the board, we appreciatively dedicate this issue of the Vermont Cynic.

Nurse: Are you going to give the patient something to slow down the heart action?

Doctor: Yes, an elderly nurse.

Stenographer: How to spell sense.

Boss: Lessons and cents at home, now.

Darling, all the time all depressing figure has not lost hold on Chinese rug colors.

Niagara Hudson is the largest metered electric system in the world in point of output.

I wonder how Thanksgiving originated.

It was probably instituted by parents whose sons had survived the football season.

A boy who started as boots in an Eighth Ave. store is now the manager. He always was a bright lad and about time we were beginning.

MARY MAUDE PATRICK

[illegible] Mary Maude Patrick, [illegible] of Mrs. [illegible] Patrick, [illegible] Washington, D. C. [illegible] Thursday, April 19, [illegible] Washington. Miss Patrick [illegible] Mansfield. Miss Patrick [illegible] Mrs. Patrick [illegible] Maude Patrick [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. Patrick [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. Patrick [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Mrs.

MISS MARY PATRICK, UNIVERSITY TEACHER, DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Beloved Founder of Epsilon Sigma Had Given Education Courses for Ten Years at U. V. M.

[illegible] night, April 20 Miss [illegible] Patrick of the Education [illegible] the University of Vermont [illegible] an attack of heart trouble [illegible] at Hungerford Street Miss [illegible] ed for ten years given courses [illegible] education at U V M [illegible] returned from Europe [illegible] traveled in other years as [illegible] Patrick had been in contented [illegible] health until last Thursday when [illegible] story of the trouble came [illegible] from Virginia, she assisted [illegible] Murray at Columbia [illegible] while getting her Master's de[illegible] She was the founder of Epsilon [illegible] ication sorority at U V M [illegible] maintained a constant interest in [illegible] G Mason Patrick and a sister [illegible] survive her

[illegible] neral services were held Sunday [illegible] at the Episcopal Church

MISS MARY MAUDE PATRICK

FRESHMAN WOMEN WIN OVER SOPHOMORES IN INDOOR ATHLETIC MEET

Posture March, High Jump, Running, Cage Ball, Dancing and Relays are Features of Program

Winning thirty-three out of a possible [illegible] points the freshman women [illegible] out first in the indoor meet held in [illegible] junction with the sophomores, Friday [illegible] evening April 21, at the gymnasium. The [illegible] mores acquired 9 points, the extra [illegible] points being gained by virtue of two [illegible]

The program was opened at 8.00 p.m. [illegible] a posture marching competition, won [illegible] the freshmen. The cage ball game, in [illegible] the freshmen carried off the honors [illegible] a score of eight to five, proved to be [illegible] very interesting. It is very similar to [illegible] ball with the exception that the [illegible] is about ten times larger than that [illegible] which volley ball is played.

The cage ball teams:

Freshmen M. Ainsworth, E. Brown, [illegible] Davidson, Giddings, Jennings, [illegible] K Kieslich, M. Kieslich, Lowell, [illegible] Stimets.

[illegible] Chapman, Noble, Phelps

[illegible] mores J. Ainsworth, Beckwold, [illegible] Mann, Naylor, Tupper, Creagh, [illegible] LaFountain, Millet, Spellman, [illegible]

[illegible] Miller, Nugent, Rosenfield.

[illegible] Sussdorff won the high jump [illegible] freshmen with a jump of 48" [illegible] was the other member of the [illegible] team with Gallup and N. Piper [illegible] Millett and Russell, with France [illegible] comprised the sophomore team [illegible] ing out on top again the freshmen [illegible] basketball goal throw with ti[illegible] e's out of a possible thirty. The [illegible] es placed seven out of a possible [illegible] through the hoop.

[illegible] teams with number of goals out of [illegible]

[illegible] Barron 8 goals; Giddings [illegible] not participate); Stimets 5 goals

[illegible] Nelson 2 goals; Reeves

[illegible] mores Hoag 1 goal, Mann 4 [illegible] Naylor 2 goals.

[illegible] Millet, Spellman.

[illegible] the ping pong and handball games [illegible] held. The teams and scores

[illegible] pong Haig and Lowell '36 vs [illegible] and Kremski '35, won by Haig [illegible] well, one set, 6-0

[illegible] er and Martin '36 vs Levarn and [illegible] en '35, won by Levarn and La[illegible] one set, 6-1

[illegible] Muntzer '36 vs Wimett '35, [illegible] Muntzer, one set, 8-4

[illegible] '36 vs Mount '35, won by [illegible] set, 8-3

[illegible] margin of [illegible] of a second the [illegible] came out victorious in the [illegible] dash Tupper of the sophomores [illegible] the distance in 16.4 seconds [illegible] and time

[illegible] Augustenovich, 17". Gale[illegible] son 18.2", Hill 17.4"

[illegible] Edinson

[illegible] tes Tupper 16.4", Beckwold [illegible] er 17.3", Rich 18.2"

[illegible] that good gymnasts are a[illegible] es the freshmen gave a splen[illegible] ance in winning the competi[illegible] Both classes gave peppy [illegible] The costumes of the first [illegible] especially appropriate [illegible] ack show of enthusiasm the [illegible] even the three relays walk[illegible] rope, and the French Revolu[illegible] ugh there wasn't much sign of [illegible]

[illegible] teams

[illegible] Downer, F. Leach (did not [illegible] Mahoney Marshall Murray [illegible] ticipate), M Piper N. Piper [illegible] did not participate) G [illegible] Brown [illegible] Muntzer Nelson completed [illegible] Richardson Whitcomb [illegible] with the team)

(Continued on page 7)

MAY 15, 16, DATES FOR FEDERAL INSPECTION

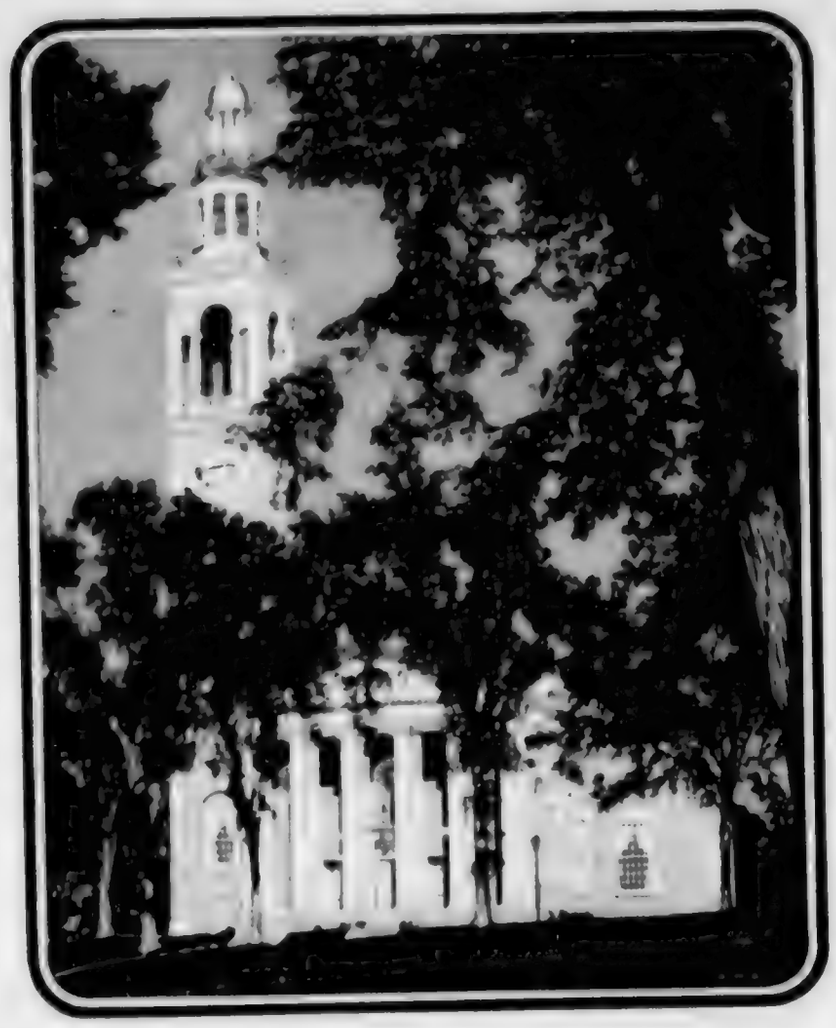
Preparations by R. O. T. C. Men for Annual Event Made in Hope Obtaining Highest Rating

The most important event of the military year, the annual Federal inspection, will take place May 15 and 16 on the U V M back campus. Since 1921 the University of Vermont has scored every year ratings excellent in the First Corps Area which includes New England, and won the right to have a gold star placed upon the right coat sleeve of every uniform.

Preparations are even now under way for that inspection. Reviews will be made by the two lower classes on the term's work, and the band under the baton of Joe Lockhart is polishing up its instruments as well as its technique in expectation of the review.

As a result of the inspection the U V M unit will be given one of three possible ratings: excellent satisfactory or unsatisfactory. Previous to 1928 the only rating was the Distinguished College Rating. In order to obtain the D C R a school must be deemed worthy of inspection and then had to pass that inspection satisfactorily. Under the present system, every college is automatically given the R O T C course to be inspected and rated according to the same standards above given.

The school meeting the excellent requirement is permitted to show a star on every uniform. Factors taken into consideration in the inspection are: Precision in close order drill and execution of every conceivable school command with the manual of the rifle and others that is made including the automatic rifle scouting and patrolling, mapwork and drill and written examinations.



An added feature of this year's inspection will be a demonstration of a new type of machine drill which is now under consideration by the Washington War Department. It is not now a required part of the inspection, but the fact that universities are putting a great emphasis on it as a result of this action will probably be made compulsory from the school year 1933-34 on.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

IRA ALLEN CHAPEL

Chapel Services at Vermont Have Interesting History

[illegible] services were held at the [illegible] rooms in Converse Hall the day the [illegible] dismissed in 1916 until the year 1917 [illegible] the several months during the year [illegible] the College [illegible] was used as a barracks by United States [illegible] and Students in 1917 when the Na[illegible] plunged into the World War.

[illegible] then, Chapel services had been held in the "Old Chapel" room on the second floor of the Old Main but since [illegible] it has not been possible to resume these exercises there as the "Old Chapel" room seats less than 300 whereas the present student body numbers more than 1,300. Now for quite a number of years the College was badly in need of a [illegible] building. It was suggested by a [illegible] that was supposed to be a stage and the only room [illegible] which was a gallery which was worth the [illegible] for use.

The University felt that it did not have [illegible] funds for such an enterprise and [illegible] [illegible] of advancement and loyalty [illegible] Commencement the [illegible] [illegible] Honorable [illegible] Wilson of Manchester, Vt. was [illegible] The committee was had a [illegible] and the [illegible] exercises were held as soon as possible in the [illegible] and [illegible] auditorium [illegible]

The program for the dedicatory exercises which were held Friday morning, January 14, 1927, is a memorable one. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Charles Edward Jefferson, D.D., LL.D., pastor of Broadway Tabernacle, New York City, while the organ was played by one of the world's greatest organists, Dr. Thomas Tertius Noble, organist and [illegible] of St. Thomas Church New York City.

This new chapel contains practically everything that the "Old Chapel" room lacked: beauty, good acoustics, organ, seating capacity and light.

Since the dedication of the chapel, chapel services are held regularly every Wednesday morning during the academic year between 10 and 10:30 o'clock.

Preachers for the services are provided through the efforts of Prof. E. C. Jacobs. There are a number of men who come every year, only once per year and thus the students hear a different person each week. The University provides all these men, paying them their fees, for the purpose of speaking to the students.

SCENES FROM FOUNDER'S DAY

Boulder Exercises

Preliminary Formation

Scabbard and Blade Exercises

CLOTHING SURVEY HELD BY EXTENSION SERVICE

[illegible] a survey to determine the amount of [illegible] spent on clothing by 4-H [illegible] and [illegible] Agriculture [illegible] the purpose of the survey is to [illegible] [illegible] in changing [illegible] that may be used as a [illegible] in revising the clothing budget re[illegible] by the Extension Service to 4-H [illegible].

[illegible] hundred and fifty girls are assist[illegible] in the survey. These girls are from [illegible] Grand Isle, Franklin, Orleans, Essex, and Windsor counties. They are keeping accurate accounts of money [illegible] and clothing. Some of the girls are [illegible] others are in school, some are working, graduating, or [illegible]. At the end of the year they will make their reports and these reports will be summarized. From the findings an [illegible] adequate budget figure will be suggested.

Editors of the Vermont Cynic

1. Wm. Cantwell '84, deceased. Vol. 1, 1883.
2. Homer Keyes '84, deceased. Vol. 1, 1883-84.
3. Cantwell Howard '85, 51 Madison Ave., N. Y. Life Ins. Bldg., New York City. Vol. 2, 1884-85.
4. Earl M. Wilbur '86, 21 Mosswood Rd., Berkeley, Calif. Vol. 3, 1885-86.
5. J. N. Perrin, Jr., '87, Plainfield, Vt. Vol. 4, 1886-87.
6. J. B. Howard '88, St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H. Vol. 5, 1887-88.
7. G. Y. Bliss '89, deceased. Vol. 6, 1888-89.
8. W. C. Flanders '90, 149 Broadway, New York City. Vol. 7, 1889-90.
9. C. W. Buckham '91, 57 Lakeview Ave., Scarsdale, N. Y. Vol. 8, 1890-91.
10. E. C. Mower '92, 204 S. Willard St., Burlington, Vt. Vol. 9, 1891-92.
11. A. C. Stewart '93, 9 Cherry St., Abingdon, Mass. Vol. 10, 1892-93.
12. F. I. Dunham '94, deceased. Vol. 11, 1893-94.
13. F. G. Randall '95, deceased. Vol. 12, 1894-95.
14. J. E. Colburn '96, 118 S. Willard St., Burlington, Vt. Vol. 13, 1895-96.
15. F. F. Lincoln '97, deceased. Vol. 14, 1896-97.
16. W. B. Leavens '98, 125 Ashland Rd., Summit, N. J. Vol. 15, 1897-98.
17. I. E. Daniels '99, Mutual Life Bldg., 32 Nassau St., New York City. Vol. 16, 1898-99.
18. I. B. Kirkpatrick '00, deceased. Vol. 17, 1899-1900.
19. W. E. Aiken '01, 52 N. Prospect St., Burlington, Vt. Vol. 18, 1900-01.
20. C. H. Waddell '02, deceased. Vol. 19, 1901-02.
21. G. P. Auld '02, 4 Kenmore Rd., Larchmont, Westchester Co., N. Y. Vol. 19, 1901-02.
22. Harold Adams '03, 705 Walbridge Bldg., Buffalo, N. Y. Vol. 20, 1902-03.
23. John S. Wright '03, 52 Avenue des Champs-Elysées, Paris, Fr. Vol. 20, 1902-03.
24. Harry Edward Cunningham '04, 1111 W. California Ave., Urbana, Ill. Vol. 21, 1903-04.
25. Fred Wright '05, 195 Broadway, New York City. Vol. 22, 1904-05.
26. Hugh Watson '06, c/o American Consulate, Lyons, Fr. Vol. 23, 1905-06.
27. Elmer Russell '06, Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa. Vol. 23, 1905-06.
28. Ferdinand Pease '07, c/o N. Y. Life Ins. Co., 51 Madison Ave., New York City. Vol. 24, 1906-07.
29. Levi Smith '08, 375 Maple St., Burlington, Vt. Vol. 25, 1907-08.
30. William Rouse '09, R. F. D. 2, Westport, N. Y. Vol. 26, 1908-09.
31. Arthur Dow '10, 18 Adsit Ct., Burlington, Vt. Vol. 27, 1909-10.
32. Elias Lyman '11, 1326 Greenwood St., Evanston, Ill. Vol. 28, 1910-11.
33. Donald Eppler '12, c/o I. P. Co., Dalhousie, N. B. Vol. 29, 1911-12.
34. Hovey Jordan '13, 449 Prospect St., Burlington, Vt. Vol. 30, 1912-13.
35. David Howe '14, 385 S. Prospect St., Burlington, Vt. Vol. 31, 1913-14.
36. Leon Dean '15, 308 S. Prospect St., Burlington, Vt. Vol. 32, 1914-15.
37. Edward F. Crane '16, 239 S. Prospect St., Burlington, Vt. Vol. 33, 1915-16.
38. Robert Joyce '17, Northfield, Vt. Vol. 34, 1916-17.
39. Stanley Provost '18, 139 Church St., Burlington, Vt. Vol. 35, 1917-18.
40. Perley Hill '20, 45 St. Thomas Rd., Villanova, Pa. Vol. 36, 1918-19.
41. Leon Patten '19, 471 Shelburne Rd., Burlington, Vt. Vol. 37, 1918-19.
42. Catherine Casey '19, deceased. Vol. 37, 1918-19.
43. Perley Hill '20, 45 St. Thomas Rd., Villanova, Pa. Vol. 37 and 38, 1919-20.
44. Frederick Pease '21, 209 Carroll Ave., Pelham, N. Y. Vol. 38 and 39, 1920-21.
45. Charles Joyce '22, Box 50, Hatborne, Mass. Vol. 39 and 40, 1921-22.
46. J. Ralph Spalding '23, 184 Brimfield St., Wethersfield, Conn. Vols. 40 and 41, 1922-23.
47. Richard Aplin '24, 107 Buell St., Burlington, Vt. Vols. 41 and 42, 1923-24.
48. Edward Brush '25, University of Maine, Orono, Me. Vols. 42 and 43, 1924-25.
49. S. Burton Heath '26, 3530 94th St., Jackson Heights, L. I., N. Y. Vols. 43 and 44, 1925-26.
50. Raymond Lyon '27, N. Y. U. Community Center, 244 Spring St., New York City. Vols. 44 and 45, 1926-27.
51. Julian Phelps '27, 347 Fourth St., Brooklyn, N. Y. Vol. 45, 1926-27.
52. Herbert Crandall '28, 175 Ninth Ave., New York City. Vols. 45 and 46, 1927-28.
53. Robert Tracy '29, 544 Cathedral Pkwy., New York City. Vols. 46 and 47, 1928-29.
54. Lawrence O. Clayton '30, Burlington, Vt. Vols. 47 and 48, 1929-30.
55. Louis Lisman '31, 65 Inman St., Cambridge, Mass. Vols. 48 and 49, 1930-31.
56. Joseph Carter '32, Ludlow, Vt. Vol. [illegible], 1931-32.
57. Fraser Drew '33, Burlington, Vt. Vol. 51, 1932-33.
58. Charles Libby '34, Burlington, Vt. Vol. 52, 1933.

Ancient Cynics From Dusty Archives Disclose Journalistic Adventurin

Musty Files Dating Back to 1883 Reveal How Twelve-pa Magazine With a Colored Cover Has Developed to Four- and Six-page Five-column Newspaper of Today

The Vermont Cynic of 1883 bore little [illegible] to a newspaper, with [illegible] editorials on the first page. resemblance to the Cynic of today.

The first Cynic was in magazine form with twelve pages, each about nine inches [illegible] and two columns wide. It had an [illegible] rose cover with "The Vermont Cynic" slanted across it. For further details see other story.

The next year "A College Directory" was printed in the Cynic and was continued in every issue until 1886. It listed the members of all fraternities—Lambda Iota, Sigma Phi, Delta Psi, Phi Delta Theta and Kappa Alpha Theta battalion members, baseball and football teams, class officers, the Cynic staff, and Glee Club and Y. M. C. A. members.

In volume 6, number 1, the issue of May 3, 1888, a constitution was drawn up and published, and the masthead was changed so that the managing editor became the editor-in-chief. Arrangements were made for one of the editors to accompany the baseball team on its southern trip.

On March 30, 1893, the Cynic carried a picture of the Glee Club—the first picture to be carried on glossy paper in the Cynic.

An issue of May had the same cover but was larger. It carried a notice of the death of William Cantwell, Jr., the first Cynic editor at Troy, N. Y., on May 5, 1893.

First Baseball Trip a Feature

A baseball trip to Chicago was the big story of the June, 1893, issue. Eight colleges made the trip—Amherst, Illinois, Vanderbilt, Vermont, Virginia, Yale, Wisconsin, and Wesleyan. Vermont won from Yale, 14-12, and was defeated 1-0 by Amherst. Yale won the series.

Katherine Page '97, managing editor, and Grace Noyes '97, business manager, had charge of the first women's issue.

On the southern baseball trip that year, Vermont won from Fordham 16-14, Manhattan 11-10, Seton Hall 9-3, V. A. S. 32-0; and lost to Virginia 12-4, Georgetown 22-5, Washington 12-5, Princeton 11-0, N. Y. U. 11-9, and University of Pittsburgh 15-1. In 1898 games were won from Hobart, Cornell, West Point, Bates, and Tufts.

Excerpts From 1899 Issue

The following are excerpts from the Cynics of 1899:

July: Aldinger bats for an average of .449 for a season of twenty-three games.

October: Sophomore class elects: President, Beckley; vice-president, Miss Goodhue; secretary, Bean; treasurer, Sears.

December: It was voted to hold the third Kake Walk. The following men had charge of arrangements: Tobey, Oatley, Wheeler, Aiken, Brand, Pease, Grout, Senter, Tellier, and Hutchinson.

The junior prom committee, published in January, 1900, was comprised of Reed, chairman, and Bailey, Thomas, Kern, Gilson, and Miss Hall.

First Bi-weekly Year

In 1901 the Cynic became a bi-weekly. Each issue had a different colored cover, and the paper was smaller in size. Following the ascent of Auld '02 to the editor's chair, the Cynic became more [illegible]

In February, 1908 [illegible] a newspaper [illegible] and magazine were published [illegible] issues were made up [illegible] each three columns in, were [illegible] were somewhat smaller [illegible] today's Cynic. Headlines [illegible] with no attempt at balance, the big story of the week [illegible] first page.

The magazine became a [illegible] Arthur Dow.

A full-page tribute to M[illegible] Buckham, D.D., LL.D. [illegible] vember 29, 1910, was [illegible] December, 1910, issue. Ella [illegible] editor of the Cynic [illegible] scholarship in 1911.

The literary magazine died [illegible] revived in 1913 under the [illegible] Henry Jordan.

On May 2, 1914, when Dartmouth [illegible] selected for the government's [illegible] military instruction camp [illegible] to August 1, 1914, a student [illegible] instruction camp number was [illegible] as a supplement to the Cynic. In [illegible] a souvenir camp and summer [illegible] ber were published.

In 1917 the war began to play [illegible] portant part in every paper, [illegible] right-hand column in most [illegible] The heading was characterized by [illegible] American flags. Each issue [illegible] Cynic carried a record of [illegible] Signal Corps, National Army, [illegible] took an entire page.

The class of 1919 compiled a [illegible] testimonial of the class and [illegible] Cynic print a special issue. [illegible] ten '19 holds a place of distinction [illegible] the history of the Cynic as having [illegible] positions of both business manager [illegible] editor-in-chief.

Women Take Charge in War

The women took over the [illegible] Cynic when duties of the students' [illegible] training corps made it impossible [illegible] men to carry it on.

Perley Hill '20 was the first [illegible] hold the position of editor two [illegible] was the first sophomore to be [illegible] editor.

In 1922 the Cynic for the first [illegible] carried pictures of women and a [illegible] page.

At Last the Cynic as It Is To[illegible]

With the ascension of Julian [illegible] '27 to the editorship (September, [illegible] the Cynic became the size it is to[illegible] also started to be a semi-weekly.

A football issue was published [illegible] and in 1928 was printed the first [illegible] Kake Walk issue with cuts.

FIVE NEW FELLOWSHIP[illegible] FOR WOMEN ANNOUN[illegible]

Five new undergraduate [illegible] $100 each have just been an[illegible] the administration at the [illegible] Vermont. These fellowships [illegible] five upperclassmen among the [illegible] the University who are [illegible] leadership, personality, char[illegible] scholarship. They will be [illegible] the first time next year.

The five girls who are [illegible] receive the distinction will [illegible] next year's senior and [illegible] Four of them are from V[illegible] from Connecticut. They [illegible] Rich '35, South Man[illegible] Barbara Taylor '35, New [illegible] Ainsboro '35, Derby; Hel[illegible] Orleans; Velma Purint[illegible]

Each of the five girls [illegible] different dormitory.

Alberta Vaughn, former [illegible] star, today was added [illegible] Paramount's "College H[illegible] Vaughn is the third lady [illegible] a rôle in the musical [illegible] Andre and Mary Carlis[illegible] cast previously. Bing C[illegible] Arlen, Jack Oakie, Geo[illegible] Gracie Allen, and Mar[illegible] included in the "College [illegible]

SPORTS NEWS

Baseball Team Victorious Over Boston University 12-7

Team Makes It One Hundred Percent Perfect on Massachusetts Trip When Boston College Game Is Cancelled Because of No Field

U. V. M. 12—B. U. 7

[illegible] by "Chet" Taft, Enos Ramon, and "Whitey" Palmer [illegible] mants took the second game of their Boston trip by [illegible] ston University 12-7 at Nickerson Field last Friday. [illegible] three bingles and Ramon and Palmer two apiece, the [illegible] including a triple.

[illegible] had registered in the first [illegible] virtue of a walk, a sacrifice, [illegible] single by Capt. Rht. Wilson, [illegible] and Gold stepped into a long [illegible] to a seven-run parade in [illegible] In this canto the Catamounts [illegible] six hits, one a triple by [illegible] these combined with walks [illegible] gave Coach Gardner's team [illegible] to put the contest on ice [illegible]

[illegible] feature of the game was a long [illegible] off the bat of Tuffy Bowers, [illegible] sailed completely over the distant [illegible] the adjoining football gridiron [illegible] claimed to be the longest drive [illegible] at Nickerson Field. Bowers [illegible] a great game behind the [illegible] and donated his share of two runs [illegible] cause of the Vermont team.

[illegible] used three pitchers to try to [illegible] Vermont sluggers while Swartz, [illegible] ten hits, went the full route [illegible] Catamounts. The Terriers rallied [illegible] seventh to bring the score up to [illegible] three runs in the ninth clinched [illegible] victory for U. V. M.

Palmer and Burns featured in the field, [illegible] accepting a total of nineteen [illegible] without a slip while the latter [illegible] care of seven without an error at [illegible] base.

The summary:

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
[illegible] 2b	3	3	1	1	6	0
[illegible] 1b	5	1	2	19	0	0
[illegible], lf	6	1	3	1	0	1
McKay, 3b	1	0	0	2	5	1
[illegible], cf	6	1	2	0	1	0
[illegible]mber, ss	5	1	0	2	4	0
[illegible] c	4	2	1	2	1	0
[illegible] rf	5	1	1	0	1	0
Swartz, p	4	2	1	0	3	0
Total	39	12	11	27	21	2

Boston University

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
[illegible]ar, 1b	3	2	1	10	0	0
Connors, lf	4	0	0	0	1	0
Hart, ss	5	1	2	0	0	1
A. Wilson, 3b	5	2	3	2	4	1
[illegible]mon, rf	3	0	0	2	0	0
[illegible]s, 2b	5	0	1	4	3	0
[illegible]gren, c	5	1	1	2	0	0
J. Wilson, cf	2	1	1	2	0	0
*[illegible]kman	1	0	1	0	0	0
[illegible]don, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
[illegible]ck, p	3	0	0	0	2	0
[illegible]rskey, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
Total	37	7	10	27	11	2

*Batted for P. Wilson in ninth.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	T
[illegible]	0	7	0	0	0	1	1	0	3	12
[illegible] University	1	0	0	2	0	1	3	0	0	7

Two-base hits: A. Wilson.
Three-base hits: Ramon, Blakeman.
Home run: Bowers.

Sacrifice hit: Connors.
Stolen bases: McKay, Ramon, Semmo, Legnem (3).
Double play: A. Wilson, Legnem, and Donovan.
Left on base: Vermont 12, B. U. 10.
Hits: Off Gordon, 5 in 2⅓ innings; off Corson, 5 in 4⅔ innings; off Petroskey, 1 in 2 innings.
Struck out: By Swartz 2, Gordon, 3, Petroskey 2.
Bases on balls: Off Swartz 2, off Corson, 6; off Petroskey 3.
Hit by pitcher: By Petroskey (Bowers, Swartz).
Wild pitch: Swartz.
Losing pitcher: Gordon.
Umpire: Stewart.
Time of game: 2.30.

PHI DELTS ENCOUNTER PHI MU DELTS FRAT LEAGUE OPENING GAME

Yesterday's Contest Starts Off Annual Spring Competition Sponsored by P. T. Dept.

Yesterday was the opening date of the interfraternity baseball competition. The Physical Education Department has again paired off the entering teams and grouped them into two leagues. The teams will continue to play until May 22, the date scheduled for the championship game.

Until the last few days the teams have had little opportunity to get into shape which makes it difficult to predict the results of the games.

The first game in League A was held yesterday with Phi Delta Theta and Phi Mu Delta batting it out. On April 25 the Independents play Tau Epsilon Phis, and on May 1 Sigma Phi will meet Sigma Nu. The winners in the first two contests will play on May 4. The winner of the Sigma Phi-Sigma Nu game will bat with Lambda Iota, the bye in League A on May 8. The game on May 11 will determine the team from League A which will play in the finals.

The second game in League B will be held on April 28 between the A. T. O.'s and Delta Pst. Kappa Sigma will encounter Zeta Chi on May 2 and the winner will play the S. A. E.'s, the bye in League B, on May 9. The semi-finals in League B fall on May 12.

It is difficult to make predictions as to the final results as several fraternities have a good number of excellent baseball men. The A. T. O.'s won the championship last year from Sigma Nu by a score

(Continued on page 6)

[illegible] members of the [illegible] team [illegible] Tom Morton, [illegible] [illegible] Thomas Sherman [illegible] Dana Thomas [illegible] [illegible] and Louis Bassett [illegible]

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTS EDITOR

[illegible] Congratulations to Coach Gardner and [illegible] his team for their wonderful showing on the Boston trip.

[illegible] Returning with the scalps of Tufts and Boston University, the Catamount team certainly came through in a big way, and it's too bad they didn't get a coach at B. U.

[illegible] Ed Lavelle pitched a great game against Tufts and we hope that he's not a big source pain, the Green and Gold.

[illegible] Let let the Jumbos chew with only two hits.

[illegible] Taft, Bowers has given us the low-down on that light tap he gave the apple in the B. U. game. His official statement for the press was: "Me and the Babe." "Who? Babe."

[illegible] Tom and the Bandmen got together and headed south the open air in Boston. The Babe packed the left field wall at Fenway Park while Larry took the longest route to deep center at Nickerson Field.

[illegible] Cap Lott deserves a great deal of credit for both of the Boston victories. He won the first game with a timely single in the ninth batting for Burns and McKay and contributed some bingles and runs in the B. U. game.

[illegible] We stopped over to see the Yankees play and saw that they're a mighty good club, too.

[illegible] Anyway, we picked some hits in our [illegible] two B. U. games. All counted, too!

BASEBALL TEAM DOWNS TUFTS IN HARD BATTLE

Playing a brand of ball characteristic of [illegible] Green and Gold baseball teams, the varsity squad returned from Boston last Sunday night after taking three out [illegible] out [illegible] at Medford and Boston University at Boston. The game with Boston College which was to have been played on Saturday was cancelled due to the condition of the B. C. diamond and although attempts were made to obtain other games in Boston the boys had to content themselves with returning with two victories instead of a possible three.

U. V. M. 2, Tufts 1

Opening their three-game trip against Tufts at Medford, the Catamount team netted the brilliant twirling of Ed Lavelle, who [illegible] three hits in the tenth inning and [illegible] out the Jumbos 2 to 1 on the Medford oval last Tuesday. Lavelle let the Medford team down with two scant hits while U. V. M. made [illegible] against the offerings of Bill Stafford, the Tufts hurler.

The Catamount scores in the sixth inning came as a result of doubles by McKay and Burns and a single by Taft, Vermont left fielder. Besides winning the game by his bat in the sixth Ed also saved the game in the seventh by a brilliant catch of a line drive.

(Continued on page 6)

[illegible] hard drives to Mackenzie and sub [illegible] assignment putouts at first by Palmer.

[illegible] What time is it, Tom?

The teams team opens its season this week when it journeys to Boston to take on Worcester Tech, Tufts and Boston University. Led by Capt. Hugh Wilson, the Green and Gold [illegible] prospect a [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible]

FROSH BASEBALL TEAM OVERWHELMS THE MEDIC TEAM SATURDAY 11-1

Team Touched Rutkowski for Eleven Hits, Medics' Errors Costly

[illegible] A combination of [illegible] Freshman batsmen [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] on a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

VERMONT DEBATERS MEET MIDDLEBURY TONIGHT IN LAWRENCE PRIZE DEBATE

Team Upholds Affirmative of Question, "Resolved, That War Debts Should Be Cancelled"

ANNUAL COMPETITION BETWEEN THE COLLEGES

In Three Years of Competition, Vermont Has Gained Two Firsts to Middlebury's One

ATTENTION, STUDENT SENATE MEMBERS

Will the following members of Student Senate please be present at a meeting Wednesday evening, April 19, at the Alpha Tau Omega House at 7.30 p.m.

1933—L. N. Brock, W. E. Morgan, Jr., L. E. Reed, T. I. Taylor, J. E. Wood, T. F. Collin, Jr.

1934—J. L. Beckley, T. G. Cogswell, C. C. Dobson, C. B. Eaton, C. J. Libby, D. J. Tobin, W. W. Brislin.

1935—G. H. Beardsley, M. A. Patch, K. J. Whalen, G. H. Cook.

1936—H. E. Mahoney.

Signed,
WALTER SHELC '33, Pres.

COLLEGE BASEBALL SCORES

Army 1, Swarthmore 0.
Columbia 2, Cornell 1.
Cornell 3, Columbia 1.
Fordham 4, Lafayette 0.
Lowell Textile 7, Wesleyan 3.
N. Y. U. 9, Georgetown 1.
Penn 3, Yale 1.
Penn A. C. 10, Temple 5.
Penn State 12, Bucknell 2.
Princeton '36 11, James Madison 8.
Rutgers 10, Middlebury 8.
St. John's 14, C. C. N. Y. 10.
Theo. Roosevelt 5, C. C. N. Y. J. V. 4.
Villanova 8, Princeton 7.

Spring Fever!

Vitally different!

SPRING FEVER? G'wan! All you need is the right something to eat. And here it is—two Shredded Wheat biscuits. Add milk or cream. Then fruit. And go to it.

You'll soon be hitting high again, for Shredded Wheat is a born youth-preserver—a VITALLY DIFFERENT food that puts new spring in your step.

Shredded Wheat is nothing more or less than true whole wheat. Packed with body-builders, energy-makers—and just the right proportion of Nature's friendly regulator, bran.

Eat Shredded Wheat any way you like it—with milk or cream, with fresh or preserved fruit, with butter or poached eggs. Eat it every day for ten days straight (your pocketbook won't kick). And watch this VITALLY DIFFERENT food take the tempus vernum februs (spring fever, m'lad) for a long, long ride!

When you see Niagara Falls on the package, you KNOW you have Shredded Wheat.

SHREDDED WHEAT

A product of NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY "Uneeda Bakers"

ATTENDANCE REQUIRED AT MAY 1 OBSERVATION ANNUAL FOUNDER'S DAY

Lyman C. Hunt, Superintendent of Schools in Burlington, to be Principal Speaker

BIGELOW AND MC CUIN ARE CLASS SPEAKERS

R. O. T. C. Review, Boulder, Scabbard and Blade, and Chapel Exercises, Features of the Day of 5-3. The A. T. O's have lost one of their mainstays in the graduation of Baldwin but the remaining men may prove good enough to shove their team forward into the semi-finals. The Kappa Sigs and Independents will probably enter as well rounded out teams in the competition.

PHI DELTS OPEN WITH PHI MUS IN FRAT BASEBALL

(Concluded from page 3)

Any [illegible] student of the Academic Colleges and of the Medical College who has not received a degree may play except the following:

No student who has received the varsity award in baseball, either at Vermont or at any other college or university.

No member of the present varsity or freshman baseball squads.

All games shall be played on the back campus diamond and shall start at 4.10 p.m. Any fraternity whose team is not ready to play at that time shall forfeit the game to the opposing team which is ready to play. Any question concerning weather and postponment of games will be settled by the director or officials in charge of the games.

All games shall consist of five (5) innings except the championship game which shall be seven (7) innings.

BASEBALL TEAM DOWNS TUFTS IN HARD BATTLE

(Concluded from page 3)

The summary:

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
[illegible], 2b	3	0	1	1	3	0
Palmer, lb	3	0	0	7	0	0
Taft, lf	4	1	1	4	0	0
McKay, 3b	3	0	1	0	0	2
Kamon, cf	4	0	0	1	0	0
Layden, p	4	0	1	1	3	0
Macomber, ss	2	0	0	1	5	0
Bowers, c	4	1	1	9	0	0
Caswell, rf	3	0	0	1	0	0
Totals	30	2	5	27	11	2

Tufts

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Ralph, rf	3	0	1	3	0	0
Bowden, ss	3	1	0	2	3	0
Chesman, lf	3	0	0	1	0	0
Kaese, 3b	2	0	0	2	0	0
Rabidoux, lb	4	0	1	7	0	0
Gremmell, cf	4	0	0	1	0	0
Yavarrow, 2b	2	0	0	3	0	0
*Tyrrell	3	0	0	0	5	0
Ingraham, c	4	0	0	8	1	0
Staffon, p	3	0	0	8	0	0
Clark	0	0	0	0	0	0
‡Roberts	0	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	29	1	2	27	9	0

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Vermont	0	0	1	0	0	2	0	0	0	2
Tufts	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	1

Two-base hits: Bowers, Ralph, McKay, Gremmell, Chesman, Kaese.

Sacrifice hits: Macomber, Kaese.

Left on bases: Vermont 9, Tufts 9.

Base on balls: Off Layden 7, off Staffon 3.

Hit by pitcher: By Staffon (McKay).

Struck out: By Layden 8, by Staffon 7.

Wild pitches: Layden 2, Staffon 1.

Umpires: Speakman and Gardella.

Time: 2 hours 8 minutes.

*Batted for Yavarrow in ninth.

†Batted for Staffon in ninth.

‡Ran for Clark in ninth.

"TITLE ROLE"

M. T. M[illegible] '33, who takes leading role in this year's play, "March [illegible]"

VARSITY NETMEN START ON MASSACHUSETTS TRIP TAKING FOUR PLAYERS

Veteran Team Expected to Retain Championship in State

Tomorrow noon the tennis team will leave for Boston where it will play its first matches of the season. The team, without a doubt, looks very promising with four members left from the State championship team of last year. The boys will be handicapped by the almost total lack of outdoor practice but the work in the cage and on the cement courts at the fort should enable them to accustom themselves easily to the conditions in Boston.

Capt. Hugh Wilson, who will play number one position, has showed in practices, so far, a great improvement over last year and should win even more matches this year than he did last. Norm Myers, number two man, is expected to share with Wilson the important singles and doubles assignments. He is not such a steady player as Wilson but has the ability to rise to brilliant heights at times. Bernie Mulcahy and Ex-Capt. Les Woodward will fight it out for the numbers three and four positions. Woodward, an extremely steady player when he reaches the peak of his form, has been rounding into shape slowly and will undoubtedly be ready for an assignment on the trip. Mulcahy, although lacking in the experience of the other three, is a good chop stroke player and will make plenty of trouble for opponents this year. His cross-court game and peculiar cutting strokes are especially difficult to play against.

All in all, it looks like a very well-rounded team and the only fault we can find with it is that it lacks experienced reserve men. Morse, Buxton, Patch and Whalen have all shown good possibilities but have not quite enough experience to fill a regular place on the team. It is hoped that the freshman team will uncover some talent to help fill the gap next year left by the graduation of Woodward.

The first home match is with St. Michael's on May 9 and the outdoor experience the team gets on the trip should enable them to secure a win over the Michaelmen.

RULES FOR KINGSLEY PRIZE CONTEST

Contest rules state that the prizes will be awarded to "male students of the freshman and sophomore classes" for the best declamation or passages in oratorical prose." The speech does not have to be original but ordinary orations such as passages from speeches of statesmen, ancient and modern, may also be given. Winning subjects in the past have included John Hays' "Tribute to McKinley," Bryan's "Cross of Gold," and "The Perfect Tribute."

Winners of last year's contest were D. W. Banks '34, R. E. McCuin '34, and R. J. Van Dyke, formerly of the class of '34. Two years ago R. P. Donaghy '33, R. J. Van Dyke, and J. E. Bigelow '33 were successful.

All eligible men who are interested should get their names to Mr. Powers before or immediately following Easter vacation.

INTENSIVE REHEARSING FOR "MARCH HARES" NOW ORDER OF [illegible]

Members of Newly-chosen Opinionate on Play—Only [illegible] Are New to U. V. M. Dramatics

"THE TEMPERAMENTALISTS" COMEDY SUB-TI[illegible]

Production is "Halfway Bet[illegible] 'Hay Fever' and "To the La[illegible] in Character"

Rehearsals began last [illegible] noon on the newly-chosen [illegible] "March Hares," being held Monday and Tuesday of [illegible] with three weeks in which to finished production, the [illegible] looking forward to frequent rehearsing. The presentation is scheduled for Junior Week ning of Thursday, May 11. will be the first event in the pecrade in the afternoon floats and individual entries on the name of the play.

The selected cast includes experience in past college entirely, although two have previous dramatic endeavors. ance with ideas expressed members of the University matic societies at the time Plays this March, many of the those productions are making pearance in this play.

A new venture was considerable by the tryout judges in studies because of the short before actual presentation, and sequent necessity of having a substitute ready should any cast find it necesary to drop

"The Temperamentalists" is title for this three-act comedy Wagstaff Gribble's, and its characters are the temperamental provokers of the work, the others mainly as foils for the natures first two.

"Very Mad," Says Miltimore

In the regard, M. T. M[illegible] playing the leading (one might say rôle of Geoffrey Wareham, "mad, very natural"; of the last monishes: "You must never take you see us—imagine that we are thing very different."

This is Miltimore's first appearance college dramatics.

It has been said by a member and Buskin that "the part was John Barrymore—the irrespressible tirely natural temperamentalist Milt is any Barrymore, however.

In one place the directress Geoffrey to play the piano for some minutes, and Miltimore played his proficiency in this the Phi Delta Theta stunt at Expectancy of a successful is given by Mary Casey '34 part of Janet Rodney opposite as Geoffrey.

She says, "If the success Hares' depends upon the the cast, its success is already Both Geoffrey and Janet tion studios, and are engrossed whole play plot is built on this ment.

Janet's mother is played by Connell '34, a member of (Please turn to [illegible])

LETTERS AWARDED T[illegible] RIFLE TEAM AT MEET OF ATHLETIC COU[illegible]

Numerals Awarded to M[illegible] of the Junior Class Bas[illegible] ball Team

At last Monday's regular the Athletic Council the bers of the 1933 rifle team their nVT: Capt. W. Donahue, G. L. Davis, I. W. Hopkinson, A. N. H. Press, manager.

The elections of R. M. N. L. Gould as captain respectively, for 1934 were Nineteen thirty-four awarded to the following junior hoop quintet, 1933 ketball champions. The won the title twice, losing this season: B. J. Myers, H. C. Wilson, Delfausse, W. W. well and Mgr. G. W.

Milly: My aunt gave me a gondola for my I going to play it.

Millicent: You don't you throw it over your shawl.

How strange that the gas in a fish cash register right at

FLEMING MUSEUM HAS BECOME MECCA OF ART, CULTURE AND HISTORY

Since Its Opening in 1931, Its Popularity Has Grown Steadily

...s morning hour. Satur... lectures on fascinating ...ger Printing Club, travel... ...ts and the wild flower ...ew of the offerings of the ...seum.

...t museum was formally ...ed to the public on Saturday, ...3 with Prof. H. F. Perkins ... he succeeded his father, ... Perkins, the curator of the ...

...pening, the museum has re... gifts and loans of valuable ...Aztec pottery of the eleventh ...geous fans, a set of unusual ...ruments, china belonging to ..., and a stamp exhibit, one ... valued at $600.

...quake station at the museum ...ften reported recording shocks ... parts of the world, including ... quake in California. These ... registered on a two-component ... seismograph.

...recent acquisition of the mu... a radiscope, which automatically ... a series of twenty-five lantern ... which are frequently changed, so ...gular visitors can find diversity ... pictures. The exhibits, too, are ...ated, so there is always some... ...to be seen.

...t wing of the museum prob... ...ers more novelty than any other ..., through the efforts of the Flem... Museum Art Association, especially ... the enthusiasm and influence of ... Colburn and Mr. Winterbotham, ... pictures have been obtained from ... York and other art centers. At ... times there have been shown ... by Luigi Lucioni, a young ... who came to America when nine ... old, lithographs by the French ..., photographs of Greek sculp... painting from the Whitney Mu... and a portrait by Whistler, from ... Louvre, which will be on exhibit in ...erica during the World's Fair. Pic... owned by this museum, too, are ...eeding in other states. A group of ...ech facsimiles are now on exhibit in ...necticut. A most useful part of the ...seum has been the auditorium. Col... clubs, Glee Clubs, dramatic organi...ns, debating teams, the Botanical ..., University lectures—all have made ... the Fleming Museum auditorium ... Rotarians had a dinner there; 175 ... school editors met there for their ...nual conference; and every Saturday ...rnoon, many children and not a few ...lts come to hear educational lectures ... a multitude of topics, from magnets ... meteorology. A few given since the ... began on December 5, 1931, have been: ... Stars in Winter," "Migration of ...ds," "Iceland," "Dinosaurs," "The ...ial Life of the Honey Bee," "The ...ans of the Southwest," "Queer ...gs in the Sea," "Jewish Holidays ... Customs," "Fighting Fires," and ...dible Light." Last Saturday, Prof. ... F. Perkins gave an illustrated talk ... Creatures That Mimic."

...e children's morning study hour, ...ducted by volunteers under the super...n of Mrs. Allen Middlebrook, the ...gsters are taught about various ...ticulars. They then play the "Mu... Game": Each child is given a ... of twelve objects to find amongst ... exhibits. The first to complete his ... wins the game.

...ur children are also very enthusiastic ...out the Finger Printing Club. Twenty-... members have joined since it was ...anized by Mr. W. A. Newton, after ... introductory talk by Dr. H. F. Per... on "The Magic of Our Fingers."

...Not the children alone have classes; ...ults are invited to attend an art class ... meets on Wednesday evenings. It ... fifteen or twenty students from all ...

...In the near future the art wing of ... museum expects to have an exhibi... of the Carnegie art material. A ... of the pictures have already arrived, ... others are expected within a ... weeks.

You say your wife threw a ...at? Did it hit you?

Unfortunately, no.

Why on earth "unfortunately"?

Well, instead of hitting me ... at. The cat clawed the cur...

The curtains ieii in the fire ... alight. In ten minutes the ... was ablaze, and we've been ... a tent in the garden ever ...

Why are you planting your ...zag?

...mislead the snails.

...at flooded bunker): What ... now?

How about a dry fly?

...financial topics believes ... a new note in the bus...

That's great. It's been

George B. Lane Class of '83 . . . First Business Manager

My recollections of the preliminaries for the publication of a University paper are exceedingly incomplete. I remember that when a University paper was suggested and a campaign started toward the organization of a board of editors, some kind of a meeting was held and such a board of editors was elected. This action immediately resulted in a fraternity row. I do not remember exactly why but presumably because certain fraternities had monopolized the situation. On account of that row, another meeting was held and another board elected. This board consisted of eight members, two from each fraternity there being at that time only four fraternities in the University. Judge George M. Powers was one of the members of that board, and I think that he and I are the only ones on that board now living unless possibly Mr. G. H. Howard of whom I have lost track.

There was some objection to the name CYNIC especially on the part of the late Prof. J. E. Goodrich, and in the first number is an editorial written by W. P. Cantwell Jr. supporting that name. The CYNIC for several years was considerably larger than the present issues but was not published so often. My recollection is that it was published about once in three weeks. I remember that we had no financial difficulties during the first year nor I think during the first several years. Subscriptions were liberal and advertising matter generous.

Somewhere along in 1930 the numbers of the volume began to be printed in error. Such errors were once or twice corrected but finally in 1931 or 1932 settled down to a volume number which is a continuation of the error, all present issues being numbered Volume 51 when they should be Volume 50.

I am sorry that I cannot give you more details of the paper's early history. Its life during those early years as I remember it, ran rather evenly and I cannot recall any special things worthy of comment.

Very truly yours,

Geo. B. Lane

Business Managers

1. G. B. Lane '83, 309 Clifton Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.
2. C. E. Morse '85, 4112 Belmer Ave., Toledo, Ohio.
3. Wm. Reed '86, Welcome, Charles County, Md.
4. F. K. Graves '86, Methodist Home, Belmont and Edgely Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.
5. F. M. Button '87, 913 Majorca Ave., Coral Gables, Fla.
6. C. C. Stafford '88, Essex, N. Y.
7. W. H. Stone '89, deceased.
8. F. L. Moore '90, deceased.
9. J. R. Stearns '91, 1434 Jarvis Ave., Chicago, Ill.
10. G. F. Pitkin '92, deceased.
11. Lyman Allen '93, 278 Main St., Burlington.
12. I. C. Crombie '94, 551 Fifth Ave., New York City.
13. I. B. Debeville '95, deceased.
14. S. F. Weston '96, deceased.
15. F. B. Willard '97, deceased.
16. M. C. Robbins '98, 134 Club Ave., Pelham, N. Y.
17. G. J. Holden '99, 257 S. Union St., Burlington.
18. R. E. Beebe '00, 54 Auburn St., Columbus, Ohio.
19. H. R. Smalley '01, 1063 Baptist Temple Bldg., Rochester, N. Y.
20. J. M. Wheeler '02, 535 W. 124th St., New York City.
21. J. G. Mills '03, 122 State St., Albany, N. Y.
22. S. Hubbard '04, 294 State St., Hackensack, N. J.
23. L. Hulett '05, South Hadley, Mass.
24. W. Simpson '06, 361 Boyce Ave., Oakland, Pa.
25. Oscar Sadler '07, 293 Chestnut St., Nutley, N. J.
26. F. Bartholomew '08, 29 Beech Elect. Ave., Bond Bldg., Washington, D. C.
27. R. Chase '09, c/o Lansing Body Co., Lansing, Mich.
28. P. Ingle '10, 151 Montvale St., Everett, Mass.
29. G. Fox '11, deceased.
30. H. Abbott '12, Glen Rd., Wellesley Hills, Mass.
31. R. Sawtelle '13, 234 Joseph Campau, Detroit, Mich.
32. H. A. Fitch '14, 33 W. Main St., Penn Yan, N. Y.
33. P. Sabiston '14, 200 S. Broadway, Tarrytown, N. Y.
34. W. H. Smith '15, Cuttingsville, Vt.
35. C. S. Gates '16, Longfellow Ct., 1200 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, Mass.
36. M. H. Arms '17, 190 Summer St., Springfield, Vt.
37. W. Arms '19, lost.
38. L. Patten '19, 471 Shelburne St., Burlington.
39. E. Ledoux '19, 1103 Elm Ave., West Collingswood, N. J.
40. Margaret Patten '19, Shelburne St., Burlington.
41. L. Parker '20, 249 Little Plains Rd., Southampton, N. Y.
42. C. Mosher '21, 1100 Park Sq. Bldg., Boston, Mass.
43. S. Converse '21, Clifton, S. C.
44. C. Cook '22, deceased.
45. C. Case '23, 102 East Ave., Burlington.
46. C. Smith '24, 22nd and Westmoreland Sts., Philadelphia, Pa.
47. F. I. Berry '25, 5 McKenley St., Montpelier, Vt.
48. C. Gordon '26, 4437 Lake Ave., Rochester, N. Y.
49. W. Lockwood '27, 336 S. Winooski Ave., Burlington.
50. C. Stevens '28, 74 W. Cedar St., Boston, Mass.
51. E. Gustavson '29, 228 Maple St., Burlington.
52. [illegible] '30, [illegible] Court Co., Federal St., Boston, Mass.
53. [illegible] Gordon '31, 437 S. Willard St., Burlington.
54. [illegible] '31, [illegible]
55. [illegible] '32, 301 S. Mountain Ave., Montclair, N. J.
56. [illegible] '32, 327 S. Prospect St., Burlington.
57. G. Burrows, H., 38, 26 Elm St., Exeter, N. H.

FRESHMAN WOMEN WIN OVER SOPHOMORES

(Continued from page 3)

Sophomores—Bryan, Goodell, Lovett, Lutman, Parsons, Peacock, Pearl, W. Perry, Russell, Taylor.

Subs—Lamson, Sanborn, O'Brien.

The sophomore class closed the competition with two demonstration dances: "Hommingbird" and "Waltz Duet." In the opinion of the audience they performed very creditably.

Daisy Putnam '34 the president of W. S. A. presented the minor sport and basketball cups. Elizabeth Haig '36 received the cup for the championship of the meet on behalf of the freshmen. Alice Linnia '33 representing the senior championship basketball team received the basketball cup.

The entire program follows:

I Posture Marching Competition—Freshmen 5 points.

II Cage Ball Game—Freshmen 5 points.

III High Jump—Freshmen 5 points.

Basketball Goal Throw—Freshmen 3 points.

Ping pong—Freshmen 3 points—Sophomores 1 points.

Handball—Freshmen 3 points—Sophomores 1 points.

Fencing—Sophomores 3 points.

IV. Competitive Dancing—Freshmen 5 points.

Freshmen—Natural Dance—Gymnastic Gallopade.

Sophomores—Minuet—Waltz.

V Individual events of posture and coordination of various sport and natural movements.

QUESTIONNAIRE REVEALS TOBACCO INJURIOUS TO AVERAGE COLLEGE MAN

Outstanding Athletic Men of Country Denounce Its Value

[illegible] morning hour, Satur... lectures on fascinating ...ger Printing Club, travel... ...ts and the wild flower ...ew of the offerings of the ...seum.

...t museum was formally ...ed to the public on Saturday, ...3 with Prof. H. F. Perkins ... he succeeded his father, ... Perkins, the curator of the ...

...pening, the museum has re... gifts and loans of valuable ...Aztec pottery of the eleventh ...geous fans, a set of unusual ...ruments, china belonging to ..., and a stamp exhibit, one ... valued at $600.

...quake station at the museum ...ften reported recording shocks ... parts of the world, including ... quake in California. These ... registered on a two-component ... seismograph.

...recent acquisition of the mu... a radiscope, which automatically ... a series of twenty-five lantern ... which are frequently changed, so ...gular visitors can find diversity ... pictures. The exhibits, too, are ...ated, so there is always some... ...to be seen.

...t wing of the museum prob... ...ers more novelty than any other ..., through the efforts of the Flem... Museum Art Association, especially ... the enthusiasm and influence of ... Colburn and Mr. Winterbotham, ... pictures have been obtained from ... York and other art centers. At ... times there have been shown ... by Luigi Lucioni, a young ... who came to America when nine ... old, lithographs by the French ..., photographs of Greek sculp... painting from the Whitney Mu... and a portrait by Whistler, from ... Louvre, which will be on exhibit in ...erica during the World's Fair. Pic... owned by this museum, too, are ...eeding in other states. A group of ...ech facsimiles are now on exhibit in ...necticut. A most useful part of the ...seum has been the auditorium. Col... clubs, Glee Clubs, dramatic organi...ns, debating teams, the Botanical ..., University lectures—all have made ... the Fleming Museum auditorium ... Rotarians had a dinner there; 175 ... school editors met there for their ...nual conference; and every Saturday ...rnoon, many children and not a few ...lts come to hear educational lectures ... a multitude of topics, from magnets ... meteorology. A few given since the ... began on December 5, 1931, have been: ... Stars in Winter," "Migration of ...ds," "Iceland," "Dinosaurs," "The ...ial Life of the Honey Bee," "The ...ans of the Southwest," "Queer ...gs in the Sea," "Jewish Holidays ... Customs," "Fighting Fires," and ...dible Light." Last Saturday, Prof. ... F. Perkins gave an illustrated talk ... Creatures That Mimic."

...e children's morning study hour, ...ducted by volunteers under the super...n of Mrs. Allen Middlebrook, the ...gsters are taught about various ...ticulars. They then play the "Mu... Game": Each child is given a ... of twelve objects to find amongst ... exhibits. The first to complete his ... wins the game.

...ur children are also very enthusiastic ...out the Finger Printing Club. Twenty-... members have joined since it was ...anized by Mr. W. A. Newton, after ... introductory talk by Dr. H. F. Per... on "The Magic of Our Fingers."

...Not the children alone have classes; ...ults are invited to attend an art class ... meets on Wednesday evenings. It ... fifteen or twenty students from all ...

...In the near future the art wing of ... museum expects to have an exhibi... of the Carnegie art material. A ... of the pictures have already arrived, ... others are expected within a ... weeks.

QUESTIONS

NO. 1

[illegible] that smoking retards the ... development in boys and there... [illegible] permanent physical harm...

Seventy-two answered in the affirma... [illegible] parts of the negatives which ... were [illegible].

NO. 2

Does smoking in moderation, say not ... than five cigarettes a day, handicap ... boy or girl in any of the working ... activities after he was grown or ... grown?

...seventy-six [illegible] the affirmative, six... negative, and [illegible] answered.

NO. 3

Do you believe that a large [illegible] athletic ... apply equally well to [illegible] smoking ... [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] ... a regular smoker at other times?

Affirmative received eighty-seven votes, ... negative but one while seven were undecided.

NO. 4

Has it been your observation that un... [illegible] chosen by non-smoking athletes was more consistent and greater than ... that shown by athletes who are smokers?

Sixty-five [illegible] eighteen no and nine ... undecided.

NO. 5

Are athletes who are non-smokers more ... [illegible] and therefore better ... workers than athletes who smoke?

Sixty-one affirmative, seventeen negative ... and twenty-one didn't know.

NO. 6

Is a general proposition have you ... found the non-smoking athlete a more ... valuable member of a team than athletes ... who smoke?

Ye received seventy-six votes, [illegible] four... forty votes, and eleven were indefinite.

NO. 7

Did you smoke when a college student?

Forty-four did, seventy-nine didn't and ... [illegible] answer.

Of course no scientific conclusions may ... be drawn from the results of this questionnaire. But the replies of 349 and [illegible] ... evidence that a large majority of the leading coaches and athletic directors of the country are vigorously opposed to ... the use of tobacco. If the [illegible] ... debut [illegible] and [illegible] young ... athletes [illegible] the [illegible] ... [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] ... [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] ... [illegible] [illegible]

Vermont Fraternities

ALPHA TAU OMEGA HOUSE

[illegible] figured in all the recent inter-[illegible]

[illegible] when it took a house at [illegible] Prospect Street. This house [illegible] home for nine years and [illegible] at the corner of College [illegible] Willard Streets was pur-[illegible]. The chapter remained here fif-[illegible] and in 1931 it occupied for [illegible] its present home at 21 Wil-[illegible] street.

Since its founding the local chapter [illegible] in campus activities. Sev-[illegible] members of this and other [illegible] are at present members of the [illegible] including Pres. Guy W. Bailey, [illegible] Frederick Tupper of the English [illegible], Prof. A. D. Butterfield of [illegible] mathematics department of the Engi-[illegible] College, Prof. E. C. Jacobs of the [illegible] department, Col. F. F. Black of [illegible] science department, and [illegible] Nolan and Whitney of the [illegible] College faculty. Hon. Guy M. [illegible], president of the Vermont Bar As-[illegible], who with J. Ward Carver, rep-[illegible] the University in its recent law-[illegible] concerning the Wilbur fund, is also [illegible] alumnus of the local chapter.

Vermont's Defunct Societies in Review

Half-century Pause to Look Back Finds Some Interesting Facts Concerning the Old Order

By Dorothy Kennedy '35

Once in half a century it is generally a good idea to pause and take an inventory of some of the occupations which have occupied undergraduate leisure. In the year of 1900 appears a list of various organizations and societies which had failed to withstand the test of years. This [illegible] list included Phi Sigma Nu, Phi Phi Alpha, a society for [illegible] and the University Institute, a literary organization. To quote the account of the activities of Phi Sigma Nu, we learn: "The election of officers in the institute and the Phi Sigma Nu was the occasion of a great deal of wire-pulling, and 'college politics' became an important factor in University life. There were two parties, the 'Blues' and the 'Whites' as they were named; the latter being composed of members of the Lambda Iota and their supporters and the former of the members and coadjutors of the Sigma Phi. About half the students were fraternity men."

One may wonder what was the particular cause of downfall of these dead societies—were they the victims of one of those revivals of religious ardor and belief concerning that are the natural reaction from a period of rampant campus politics?

Dead Fraternities

On this roll of quiescent institutions are several fraternities. Of these is Theta Delta Chi, branch of the national organization, Theta Delta Chi, founded at Union College in 1847. The members of the Vermont chapter ceased to function as a body in 1857 but reappeared on the rolls of Lambda Iota. Beta Theta Pi was another Greek-letter organization [illegible] the ghost at some time in the career of the University of Vermont. Alpha Delta Sigma, Alpha Phi Delta Sigma, Alpha Gamma Sigma and Theta Nu Epsilon are other Greek societies to pass out of existence in the due course of time. There appear to have been two societies called Alpha Gamma Sigma, one of which was a men's fraternity and was followed by a women's medical fraternity, which we are told has also ceased to exist within recent years.

Extinct Publications

Among extinct college publications may be mentioned the Mose, which we are informed was a publication of humorous and vaguely scandalous nature. It was established in 1866 and appeared for a few years then until the time of its death in 1877. We Gabbe, another humor publication, which was founded in 1912 and continued for some few years was a monthly publication. The Weekly Free Press was established in 1877, and went on for a rather indefinite period, the accuracy of records being perhaps made more difficult by the fact that it was "printed clandestinely and circulated among the audience at the College Street Church on the evening of the sophomore exhibition, a freshman performance forbidden by the faculty and despised of all men. Nevertheless, they all read it!" It would seem that Vermont has not been over friendly to her humor publications. The only one on this list that was not in nature humorous was the Agriculturist, a publication of the Agricultural College with an undergraduate staff.

Preparatory School Clubs

In earlier days there existed a number of preparatory school clubs. Among these were the T. C. A. circle, the Vermont Academy Club, the St. Johnsbury Academy Club, Vermont Methodist Seminary Club, the Normal School Club, the Burlington High School Club, the Woodstock High School Club, the Craftsbury Academy Club, the Brigham Academy Club, the Rutland English and Classical Institute Club, the Swanton High School Club, the Springfield High School Club, the Rutland High School Club, the Montpelier Seminary Club, the Randolph High School Club, the Montpelier High School Club, the Brandon High School Club, the Newport High School Club, the Bennington High School Club, the Burr and Burton Seminary Club, the Vermont Association of Alumni of Cushing Academy, the People's Academy Club, the Goddard Seminary Club, the Thetford Academy Club, and the Spaulding High School Club.

A Pot-pourri

Various hobbies are represented in these dead societies. There was formerly a yacht club—in fact, there have been several yacht clubs in the history of Vermont. There was a Camera Club, a Radio Club, an Outing Club (possibly an ancestor of the Women's Outing Club) for both men and women, a Mandolin Club, and the Alpha Tau Omega Banjo Club, the Converse Hall Poker Club, a debating club, or rather a number of them which may or may not have been the forerunners of the present Debating Club for men. Other clubs in this general classification were the Rudyard Kipling Club, the Delta Psi Chess Club (other fraternities may quite well have had such clubs, but they were not mentioned), the Beefsteak and Onion Club, the F Club, the Smoking Club, the Riding Club, the Amateur Photographic Association, the Cotillion Club, the Smoke Club, Drinking Society, the Pie Club which might be spelled in either English or Greek letters, the Chess Club, the Snowshoe Club, the J Club, the Rifle Club, the Out-O'-Doors Club, the Aero Club, and the Rod and Gun Club.

Politicians Also

It is evident that there was considerable student interest in politics from the number of political societies that had their day. There were the Taft and Sherman Republican Club, the Suffrage Club, the University of Vermont Republican Club, the Justin S. Morrill Republican Club, the Stephie T. Byington Prohibition Aggregation, the Freshman Prohibition Aggregation, which seemed to have for its object the gathering together of a group of able drinkers, the University Prohibition Club, having for its motto "The Future is Ours." There was also another University Republican Club, and a University Democratic Club. A Cosmopolitan Club might also be mentioned here.

The seekers after learning had a number of more or less learned societies, some of which are probably the ancestors of certain honorary organizations existing today. Some of these were the French Club, a possible predecessor of the present Cercle Lafayette; the Civil Engineering Society, the Agricultural Club, the Philosophical Club, the Economics Club, the Euthynepian Club (for students in the two-year teacher-training course), the Electrical Club, the Classical Club, the Botanical Club, the Society for Ornithological Research, the Chemical Club, the Engineering Society and the Pre-Medic Club. There was also Pi Delta Rho, honorary journalistic society, which was formed in 1924 and died about six years afterward.

Musical Clubs

Musical organizations have been numerous in the past. They number in their rolls the Young Women's Instrumental Club, the University of Vermont Concert Club, the Alpha Tau Omega Sextet, the Sigma Phi Banjo Club, the Lambda Iota Banjo Club, the University Banjo Club, the Kappa Alpha Theta quartet, the Phi Delta Theta orchestra, the Delta Psi double quartet, the Sigma Phi quartet, the Lambda Iota quartet, the Banjo and Guitar Club.

Athletic clubs included the University of Vermont Baseball Association, the University of Vermont Lawn Tennis Association, and various fraternity tennis associations. There were also the Hockey Club, the Young Ladies' Lawn Tennis Association, and an old athletic association for men.

Honorary class societies appeared quite early, there being a freshman society that appeared in 1893, a sophomore society founded in 1887, and several variations occurring on this central theme.

Diverse Others

Other organizations were the Alpha Sigma Sigma, which announced that the donkey's head was its trade-mark; Thingumbob Lodge Number 10 of I. W. T. B. T. (I want to be tough); the Converse Hall Secret Society; the "Lalas" and the "Lulus"; the Go-Bang Club; the Sine-Qua-Non Club; the Ice Cutter Club; the Society of Physical Wrecks; the "Don't Grind Me" Club; the Arachne, a junior club; the Freshman Professors' Club; the St. Paul's Society; the Catholic Club; the Ram's Head, a senior society founded in 1908; U. K. M. A., a sophomore society; and the University Press Club, which for some years was a men's organization. There were the Howard Hall Club, the Commons Hall Club, Melissedon, the Honor Scholarship Society, St. Hilda's Guild, the Silver Bay Club, and the Gold Stripe Club, which was an organization whose members had seen active service in the Great War. Men's Student Union exists today in the modified form of a Student Senate. There was a dramatic club for both men and women, a society called Koshare, and an organization of the Vermont Independents.

Phi (Greek and Latin); Kappa Kappa (education); Tau Kappa (debating); Scabbard and Blade (military); Philagon (women's debating). Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic honor society is the award of the best scholars. Press Club is a women's organization interested in furnishing campus news to high school and home town papers.

"MARCH HARES" CAST REHEARSES INTENSELY

(Continued on page 6)

Sandal, who has done some work on the costume and property side of recent U. V. M. dramatics, says she "like[s] play when [illegible] and [illegible] as it might be, but is [illegible] when acted out. It should go well with the audience, as it is extremely funny in places."

Miss McConnell has as large a part as either McDermott or Miss Casey. It is the first time she has been in a major dramatic production here.

P. M. Howe '35 plays Edgar Fuller "an ordinary young man" with nevertheless considerable flashes of real brilliancy. Howe will no doubt be remembered for his work as Leonard Beebe in the years Fall Play, In the Ladies' which was his first role in a university production. He and McDermott are fraternity brothers as well as friends in the play so that their work is a read- ble cooperative.

Miss Cahill Another Newcomer

Playing opposite him is another newcomer to major college dramatics, Rosemary Cahill '36, who will characterize Claudia Kitts, a flirtatious friend of Janet's. She and Fuller are both guests at the Rodney house. She came out for the March Group Plays, and played the role of Mrs. Paly-Paget in the skit.

Dorothea Edwards '33, who played in "Hay Fever" last spring, has a somewhat similar part as Ethel the housemaid in "March Hares." When asked her opinion of this spring's play, she remarked, "In character 'March Hares' is halfway between last year's Spring Play and this year's Fall Play, in comedy and lightness, and is the extreme of farce."

Another University player added, "It's not sophisticated, it's not too subtle, and it's not English, all of which 'Hay Fever' was, and it is delightfully natural and clever enough so that a cast will not tire of it for some weeks, and an audience, of course, will enjoy it."

Oliver the manservant, the largest minor part is taken by C. F. Derven '36, who was "Sam Baker" in "To the Ladies." Derven took a major part in the Group Plays comedy. The two other minor roles are taken by W. W. Perry '33, former president of Wig and Buskin and Ruth Wood '36, who begins her thespian career at U. V. M. with this play.

DOROTHEA EDWARDS '33, who takes important role in spring play, has been in several University productions.

FORTY SOCIETIES CONDUCT ACTIVITIES

Student government and non-athletic extra-curricular activities at the University of Vermont are organized under forty different societies according to special interests of the students.

Having a part in the student government are the Faculty-Student Council, Women's Student Union, and Student Senate. Boulder, Akraia, Key and Serpent, and Gold Key honorary societies are made up of half a dozen or more leaders of one or another of the three upper classes and represent leadership of their respective class. Pan-Hellenic society and Interfraternity Council govern women's and men's fraternity affairs, respectively.

Publications are the CYNIC, semi-weekly newspaper; Ariel, junior class year book; Freshman Handbook of instructions to new students, and Winnowings from the Mill, monthly literary magazine. Bluestockings and Grey Friars are the women's and men's literary clubs.

Dramatics are represented by Wig and Buskin (men), Masque and Sandal (women), and the Dramatic Club; music by the Men's and Women's Glee Club, University choir, University orchestra, and R. O. T. C. band; student religious activities by the Vermont Christian Association and the Y. W. C. A.; women's intramural athletics by the Women's Athletic Association Council; men's athletics by the V Club.

Honorary societies in special lines include Cap and Skull (medicine); Alpha Zeta (agricultural); Omicron Nu (home economics); John Dewey Club (philosophy); International Relations Club; Le Cercle Lafayette (French; Eta Sigma manager C. F. Bailey [illegible] ture, W. M. Stiles [illegible] Powers, personals G. H. [illegible] H. C. Royce, books [illegible] changes.

FIRST ISSUE OF CYNIC APPEARS IN APRIL, 18

(Continued from page [illegible])

In the general literature were original essays by [illegible] etary, social religious topics, and short stories [illegible] on college life, [illegible] communications on art, [illegible] est." Among the poems [illegible] "Spring," which seems [illegible] 1933 issue of the CYNIC.

"In the spring, the [illegible] smokes his cigarette
In the spring, the [illegible] o'er his annuals wons.
In the spring, the fuzz[illegible] reads his marks with [illegible]
In the spring, the wicked [illegible] to Bohn his neighbor."

Features of Paper Then

An interesting article [illegible] CYNIC discusses chapel at [illegible] notably Columbia, Brown, [illegible]sar, and the University of [illegible]. Too, there is a picture [illegible] of the new main building, [illegible] makes it hardly recognizable [illegible] "Old Mill."

The locals gave college news [illegible] Some of them are:

"The plug-hat boom among the [illegible]mores has practically died out.

"Six students room in the M[illegible] term.

"The Park Gallery of Art [illegible] with the University was recent[illegible] recipient of a handsome artist's [illegible] the celebrated painting called 'The [illegible]ers,' by Wm. M. Hunt.

"The new chapel was not ready [illegible]use at the beginning of the term[illegible] President Buckham announced it [illegible]be. . . . The frescoing and decor[illegible] however, is complete, and when the [illegible] arrive, the hall will be ready for [illegible]pancy.

"A college glee club has recently [illegible]formed.

"Immediate steps are being taken [illegible] the erection of the new library [illegible] for which Mr. Frederick Billings [illegible]cently made the magnificent appro[illegible]tion of $75,000."

In modern science, matter and [illegible] are the unchangeable realities that [illegible] neither be created nor destroyed.

Schoolboy (home from summer [illegible]day): Well, dad, I bought some [illegible] on farming for you to dig into.

Father: Yes, and I've bought [illegible] eighty acres for you to dig into.

A parishioner met the minister [illegible] complained bitterly that his shop had [illegible] bought over his head by the [illegible] sweep next door.

"Well, John," was the minister's [illegible]vice, "return to your house, go [illegible] your knees, and put the whole [illegible] before the Lord."

Returning from holiday some [illegible] the vicar met John, whose face was [illegible]ing.

"Did you do as I told you, John?" [illegible] asked.

"I did that, meenister," was [illegible]ply, "and it worked—the sweep [illegible]"

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Fleming Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
Open daily 6.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables
Home Made Mayonnaise
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2078, 2071, 2072

Fordham University
School of Law
NEW YORK
Case System—Three-Year Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required
Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases
Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.
TRY US

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

SPECIAL
SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO MASSAGE 1.00
ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY
JOE'S BARBER SHOP
JOE LANGLOIS, Proprietor
BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED COLOR at the U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

Have you thought of making DENTISTRY YOUR LIFE WORK
The Harvard University School offers a [illegible] course in this field [illegible] service, which is becoming increasingly important in [illegible] medicine and public [illegible]
A "Class A" school.
Write for catalog.
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dept. 42, 188 Longwood Ave., Boston, Mass.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1933 NUMBER 59

MIDDLEBURY WINS LAWRENCE DEBATE FROM VERMONT

Prizes Awarded to Edward Yerovitz, J. E. Bigelow, and Thomas Duffield

DEBATE HELD AT MIDDLEBURY TUESDAY

Middlebury College won the Lawrence debate on Tuesday night, April 25, the three prizes were awarded to Edward Yerovitz, J. E. Bigelow, and Thomas Duffield.

The Vermont debaters, R. E. McCuin '34, W. H. Myers '35, and J. E. Bigelow '33, had the negative of the question, "Resolved, that the United States should cancel the war debts of her former allies," while Jack Steele, Thomas Duffield and Edward Yerovitz at Middlebury upheld the affirmative.

Two of the prizes for the best debaters of the rival colleges were won by Middlebury men, first by Edward Yerovitz and third by Thomas Duffield. Jim Bigelow of Vermont won the second prize.

Bigelow has been very active in varsity debate ever since his arrival at the University of Vermont. He went on no debating trip last year, but was prevented by illness from going this year. In addition to being a member of the team, he is manager of debate. He is the president of Tau Kappa Alpha and vice-president of the International Relations Club. In his freshman and sophomore years he placed in the Kingsley prize speaking contest. Among his other activities we find him a member of Zeta Chi and of Wig and Baskin; he was the managing editor of the CYNIC.

The prizes for the Lawrence debate were given by Edwin Winship Lawrence, a Rutland lawyer of the 1901 class of U. V. M., in memory of his brother, Robert Ashton Lawrence '99, of Vermont, and of his father, George Edwin Lawrence '67, of Middlebury.

Every speaker was allowed a ten-minute speech and a five-minute rebuttal. The judges for the best debaters were T. L. Butterfield, P. J. Hincks and H. I. Slocum; the judges for the debate were W. E. Eno, J. Grandstaff and J. L. Selden.

(Continued on page 2)

1932-33 CATALOGUE IS NOW AVAILABLE

Details About Admission, Courses of Instruction, Accommodations, Expenses, etc., Are Given

The catalogue of the University of Vermont for the 1932-33 session, containing all information governing next year's enrollment, is now off the presses and is available for distribution to prospective students.

The catalogue carries information about the location, history, buildings and grounds of the University, about accommodations and expenses, student aids, prizes, regulations and activities. It furnishes details about admission and courses of instruction. Space is devoted to the summer school, and also to the different colleges of the University including the college of arts and sciences, the medical college, engineering college and agricultural college.

Spring entrance examinations for those who do not enter on certification are from Wednesday, June 14, to Friday, June 16. Fall entrance examinations are from Friday, September 8 to Monday, September 11.

NEW EXTENSION SERVICE PUBLICATION REPLACES "WEEKLY NEWS NOTES"

The first number of the Vermont Extension Service News, a mimeographed publication which will be issued monthly, has just been circulated among extension workers.

The Vermont Extension Service News is replacing the Weekly News Notes, which has been issued for several years. The News will be a monthly publication sent to all members of the Vermont Extension Service, Experiment Station and resident teaching staffs of the Agricultural College, members of the county farm bureau association executive committees and to others.

R. O. T. C. TO REPORT DAILY AT 7.30 FROM MAY2 TO 17

Lieut.-Col. Frederick F. Black has ordered the University of Vermont R. O. T. C. battalion to report daily at 7.30 for drill beginning Tuesday, May 2 and continuing through Federal inspection which will be held on May 16 and 17 instead of the dates erroneously stated in last Tuesday's CYNIC.

The fraternity squads which will compete in the annual drill contest have already begun intensive practice. Delta Psi, which has won the competition all four years since the trophy was first awarded, will face its keenest competition this spring, preparations of other groups indicate.

STUDENTS COMPETE FOR KINGSLEY PRIZE SPEAKING AWARDS NEXT MONDAY

Five Sophomores and Five Freshmen Are Entered in Annual Contest Held in Museum

The Kingsley prize speaking contest for freshmen and sophomores is to be held at the Fleming Museum Monday evening, May 1, at 8.15. Ten contestants have made arrangements to participate in the speaking, five from each of the classes. The awards consist of money prizes of $25, $15, and $10 for the three best speakers.

The members of the class of 1936 participating are: M. Jones, "Message to Garcia," by Elbert Hubbard; B. S. Musicant, "Inaugural Address," by George Washington; E. R. Greemore, "Extracts from Burke's Speech on Conciliation with the Colonies"; W. W. Workman, "Spartacus to the Gladiators"; A. J. Levin, "Extracts from Pres. Franklin D. Roosevelt's Inaugural Address."

The sophomores contesting are: C. A. Rogers, "Free Trade and Seaman's Rights," by Henry Clay; W. H. Myers, "Opportunities of the Scholar," by Henry W. Grady; F. G. Kingsley, "The Constitution," by Thomas P. Cleary; C. H. Patnode, "Toussaint l'Ouverture," by Wendell Phillips; R. S. Wright, "Mount of Laws," by Hall R. Caine.

The speaking is open to the public, with no admission charged. Musical numbers will be furnished by Miss Miriam Natilee Marston and Miss Charlotte deVolt during the evening. Prof. L. W. Dean will act as chairman.

STUDENT SENATE NAMES FLYNN CHEERLEADER

G. W. Flynn '35 of Burlington was voted the right to wear the cheerleader's sweater and was made the cheerleader for the coming season by the Student Senate, at a meeting last Thursday evening at the Alpha Tau Omega house.

In order that an election of members to Student Senate for next year may be held within the near future, all class presidents are urged to hold their class elections within two weeks from last Wednesday night. Plans for the successful regulation of the men's mass meeting to be held weekly next year were left in the hands of a committee of two junior and one sophomore members of Student Senate.

BAND, DOUBLE QUARTETS WILL GO TO PLATTSBURG

Violin Soloist, R. O. T. C. Band, and Quartets to Take Part in Music Festival Tomorrow

The University of Vermont fifty-piece R. O. T. C. band, a men's double quartet, a women's double quartet, and a violin soloist from the University will take part in a music festival at Plattsburg tomorrow, April 29, at the New York State Normal School.

It will be the first time the band has left Burlington to take part in such a festival. The quartets will each present a group of four songs at the evening program and Miss Jeannette Jerome will play a violin selection.

The double quartets will be chosen from glee club members by Prof. C. J. Leonard of the music department. Arrangements for sending the full personnel of the band under Director Joseph F. Lechnyr are in charge of Capt. M. E. Craig of the department of military science.

SCENE OF BOULDER EXERCISES

KEY AND SERPENT PLANS GALA TIME TOMORROW NIGHT

Bob Minotti Will Play for Informal Dance in Gym; Unique Program Planned

STAGS WILL BE ABLE TO DANCE FROM 10 TO 11

With Bob Minotti arranging several specialty numbers for tomorrow night's dance the Key and Serpent society is anticipating a successful spring frolic in the gymnasium. The informal affair to be held from 8.30 to 12 is the second dance sponsored by the junior honorary society of the current school.

Brislin and Libby, co-promoters of the evening's fun, have completed arrangements to give everyone an enjoyable time. Professor and Mrs. H. A. Prentice and Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Soule will act as chaperones at the dance. The program for the dance is as follows: 8.30-10, first no-break; 10-11, cutting allowed; 11-midnight, second no-break.

Tickets will be on sale at the door. The admission price per couple will be one dollar. Stags, who will be admitted at ten o'clock, will have to pay seventy-five cents. The gymnasium will be toned down by red and blue lights.

During the course of the evening several spotlight dances will be held. Bob Minotti has agreed to play special waltzes for these intervals.

William Brislin '34, on commenting on the dance, announces: "Dance your troubles away Saturday night. The orchestra will help you do that if you don't think the girl can."

Charles Libby '34 states: "Saturday evening will be a good opportunity to celebrate the defeat of the Middlebury baseball team. Why not make tomorrow's affair a victory dance?"

RESEARCH PHOTOGRAPHER TELLS HOW IT IS DONE

Jenkins Explains Work of Photographer in Agricultural Experiment Station

"The work of a photographer at an agricultural experiment station is as varied as the material used in the different types of experiments," stated E. W. Jenkins, assistant horticulturist and station photographer at the University of Vermont, in an interview today. "One day a photo-micrograph may be required of a cell chromosome measuring one twenty-five thousandth of an inch in diameter, while the next day a picture will be wanted of some forest trees 100 feet or more high."

Photographs are desired of such things as plants that will stay reasonably motionless and of animals that appear to object greatly to remaining still for any length of time at all.

Each picture is apt to present a new problem, says Jenkins. He tells of having to invent a contrivance for photographing the growth of calves during a feeding experiment. It is often necessary, too, to work out special methods of lighting. The light may need to come from one or both sides, directly in front, or even from behind the objects to be photographed. Backgrounds and points of view are highly important.

Objects can be measured for experimental work by inserting some scale of measurement in the picture or by ascertaining accurately the exact degree of enlargement or reduction obtained. Often it is desirable to take a series of pictures at regular intervals to record the growth

(Continued on page 2)

SPRING PLAY CAST NOW HAS DAILY REHEARSALS

Rehearsals are being held every day for the spring play, which will be given May 11. All lines must be learned by Monday.

Under the coaching of Mrs. C. I. Taggart, "March Hares" promises to be one of the best plays ever given at the University.

STUDENTS CONDUCT CHAPEL SERVICE FOR FIRST TIME

Sylvia Boyd '33 and R. S. Wright '35 Conduct Wednesday's Service During Week

Miss Sylvia Boyd '33 the ex-president of Student Union with Stewart Wright '35, a member of Gold Key, assisting conducted the chapel service Wednesday morning, April 26. It was an initial attempt at student leadership of the chapel services. It is Miss Boyd's hope that it will be carried on successfully in the future with varied programs.

Miss Boyd's talk, which pertained in particular to college students, was of direct importance to the student body. One was able to glean some interesting thoughts from the speech which should be of great help to the student.

"It is up to the younger generation to develop a vision and courage to save this world we have. . . . We must impress upon people the fact that we have ability and courage to go on. In proportion as we meet life here, so we will meet it outside. . . . Learn the art of friendship and the art of appreciating beauty. . . . We must gain adaptability to situations. . . . College should give us an open mind, a vision."

PROF. NULTY WILL BE NEW YEARBOOK EDITOR

Prof. Catherine Nulty, assistant professor of economics at the University of Vermont, was chosen as editor of the Yearbook at the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Eastern Commercial Teachers Association, the largest association of commercial teachers in the United States, at the Wardman Park Hotel, Washington, D. C., April 12-15. This is the first time in the history of the association that a woman has been elected to any other office than that of vice-president.

Professor Nulty served as vice-president of the association for the past year. The typewriting and commercial law section programs at the convention were under her direction.

ESTHER SMITH IS LIFE CAPTAIN OF RIFLE TEAM

Daisy Putnam Will Be Manager Next Year; Other Officers Elected

Esther Smith of Lyndonville, manager of the women's rifle team at the University of Vermont for the past year and runner-up for the national women's intercollegiate championship, has been elected honorary life captain of the University team, an honor first accorded to Edith Pritchard, national champion on the Vermont team two years ago. Daisy Putnam of Springfield, one of the best shots on the Vermont team, who shot perfect hundred nearly all the season, has been elected team manager for next year.

The Women's Rifle Club has elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: Mary Poling, Hillsboro, N. H. president; Esther Sinclair, Essex Junction, vice-president; Katherine Le Baron, Morrisville, secretary-treasurer; Helen Miller, Danvers, Mass., range official.

HUNT, BIGELOW, McCUIN TO SPEAK ON FOUNDER'S DAY

Monday's Exercises Will Begin at 8.30 A.M.; Program at 10 is Compulsory

R. O. T. C. FORMATION AT BOULDER AT 8.30

Founder's Day, with its exercises commemorative of the founding of the University of Vermont, will take place on Monday, May 1. The exercises of the day will start at 8.30 a.m. with the assembly of the band and battalion, followed by a battalion review by the president of the University and the deans of the colleges, then Boulder exercises and the exercises of the Scabbard and Blade society. Concluding the morning will be the Founder's Day program at Ira Allen Chapel at ten o'clock.

The formation of the academic procession will be at 9.45 in front of the Science Hall. All members of the teaching and administrative staffs are requested to take part, and caps and gowns will be worn if convenient. In case of rain the procession will form in the Chapel basement at the same hour.

For the first time faculty and student attendance at the exercises is required. Attendance of the students will be taken at the door on leaving by means of a card system.

The principal Founder's Day address will be made by Lyman C. Hunt, superintendent of schools in Burlington, and a graduate of the University in the class of 1912. He will speak on the topic "Qualities That Live." The speaker from the senior class will be J. E. Bigelow of Fair Haven. His topic is "A Matter of Finance." R. E. McCuin of Highgate will speak for the junior class on "Ira Allen, the Founder."

The order of exercises for the day follows:

8.30 a.m.	Assembly of band and battalion
8.55 a.m.	Adjutant's call
9.00 a.m.	Battalion review by the president of the University and the deans of the colleges
9.10 a.m.	Exercises of the Boulder society at the Boulder
9.15 a.m.	Exercises of the Scabbard and Blade society at the Boulder

(Continued on page 4)

DRAMATIC CLUB MAKES NOMINATION OF OFFICERS

Proposed Bridge Party Discussed and Nominations Made at Meeting Wednesday

At 1.30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 26, the Dramatic Club held an important meeting to discuss a proposed bridge party and to nominate officers for next year.

For the bridge party, all arrangements were left in the hands of the committee.

The Dramatic Club voted to initiate those persons who had parts in the Group Players' productions who are not already members of either the Dramatic Club or Masque and Sandal.

New officers, nominated at the Wednesday meeting, will be elected on Wednesday and Thursday following Founder's Day. All members are requested to vote in the "Y" Room; members of the club will be present to check off the names. The nominations are:

President
- Eola Goodrich '34
- Kay Shaw '34

Secretary
- Betty Beckwold '35
- Marie Horak '34

Treasurer
- Frances Rowe '35
- Irene LaFountain '35

Advertising Manager
- Mary Moore '35
- Jerry Haig '35

V. C. A. Cabinet meeting Sunday, April 30, 1933, at 29 Wilson Street at 5 p.m.

C. H. BROWN '34,
Chairman.

Vermont Fraternities

ALPHA TAU OMEGA HOUSE

Vermont's Defunct Societies in Review

Half-century Pause to Look Back Finds Some Interesting Facts Concerning the Old Order

Dead Fraternities

Extinct Publications

Preparatory School Clubs

A Pot-pourri

Politicians Also

"MARCH HARES" CAST REHEARSES INTENSELY

(Continued on page 5)

Miss Cahill Another Newcomer

Dorothea Lawless '33 who plays the part of a spring play has ... in ... plays ...

FORTY SOCIETIES CONDUCT ACTIVITIES

Musical Clubs

Diverse Others

FIRST ISSUE OF CYNIC APPEARS IN APRIL, 1

(Continued from ...)

Features of Paper Then

In modern science, matter ... are the unchangeable realities ... neither be created nor dest...

Schoolboy (home from ... day): Well, dad, I bought ... on farming for you to dig ...

Father: Yes, and I've bought ... eighty acres for you to dig ...

Phi (Greek and Latin) ... Kappa (education), Tau K... (debating); Scabbard and ... tary), Phalagon (women's debat...

Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic ... society is the award of the best ...

Press Club is a women's ... interested in furnishing ... high school and home town ...

A parishioner met the ... complained bitterly that his ... bought over his head by the ... sweep next door.

"Well, John," was the ... vice, "return to your house, ... your knees, and put the ... before the Lord."

Returning from holiday ... the vicar met John, whose ... ing.

"Did you do as I told ... asked.

"I did that, meenister," ... ply, "and it worked the ...

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Fleming Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
Open daily 6.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m.

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.
TRY US

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

SPECIAL
SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO MASSAGE 1.00
ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY
JOE'S BARBER SHOP
JOE LANGLOIS, Proprietor
BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables
Home Made Mayonnaise
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

Fordham University School of Law
NEW YORK
Case System—Three Year Course
EVENING SESSIONAL
College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required
Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases
MORNING, EARLY AFTERNOON AND EVENING CLASSES
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

Have you thought of making DENTISTRY YOUR LIFE WORK?
The Harvard University Dental School offers a four year course in this profession, which is thoroughly interesting, productive and remunerative. A Class A School.
Write for ...
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D.
Dept. 42, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1933 — NUMBER 90

MIDDLEBURY WINS LAWRENCE DEBATE FROM VERMONT

Prizes Awarded to Edward Yerovitz, J. E. Bigelow, and Thomas Duffield

DEBATE HELD AT MIDDLEBURY TUESDAY

Middlebury College won the Lawrence debate on Tuesday night, April [illegible] three prizes were awarded to Edward Yerovitz, J. E. Bigelow, and Thomas Duffield.

The Vermont debaters, R. E. McKee '34, W. H. Myers '35, and J. E. Bigelow '33, had the negative of the question, "Resolved, that the United States should cancel the war debts of the former allies," while Jack Steele, Thomas Duffield and Edward Yerovitz for Middlebury upheld the affirmative. Two of the prizes for the best debaters of the rival colleges were won by Middlebury men, first by Edward Yerovitz and third by Thomas Duffield. J. E. Bigelow of Vermont won the second prize.

Bigelow has been very active in varsity debate ever since his arrival at the University of Vermont. He went on the debating trip last year, but was prevented by illness from going this year. In addition to being a member of the team, he is manager of debating, is the president of Tau Kappa Alpha and vice-president of the International Relations Club. In his freshman and sophomore years he placed in the Kingsley prize speaking contest. Among his other activities we find him a member of Zeta Chi and of Wig and Cauldron he was the managing editor of the CYNIC.

The prizes for the Lawrence debate are given by Edwin Winship Lawrence, a Rutland lawyer of the 1901 class of U. V. M., in memory of his brother, Robert Ashton Lawrence '99, of Vermont, and of his father, George Hilton Lawrence '67, of Middlebury.

Every speaker was allowed a ten-minute speech and a five-minute rebuttal. The judges for the best debaters were T. L. Butterfield, P. J. Hinkle and H. I. Slocum; the judges of the debate were W. E. Eno, Grant Ashcraft and J. L. Selden.

(Continued on page 2)

1932-33 CATALOGUE IS NOW AVAILABLE

Details About Admission, Courses of Instruction, Accommodations, Expenses, etc., Are Given

The catalogue of the University of Vermont for the 1932-33 session, containing all information governing next year's enrollment, is now off the press and is available for distribution to prospective students.

The catalogue carries information about the location, history, buildings and grounds of the University, about accommodations and expenses, student activities, regulations and activities. It also has details about admission and courses of instruction. Space is devoted to the summer school, and also to the different colleges of the University, including the college of arts and sciences, the medical college, engineering college and agricultural college. The entrance examinations for those who do not enter on certificate are from Wednesday, June 14, to Friday, June 16. Fall entrance examinations are from Friday, September 8 to Monday, September 11.

NEW EXTENSION SERVICE PUBLICATION REPLACES "WEEKLY NEWS NOTES"

The first number of the Vermont Extension Service News, a mimeographed publication which will be issued monthly, has been circulated among extension workers.

The Vermont Extension Service News is replacing the Weekly News Notes, which have been issued for several years. The new publication will be a monthly publication for the staff members of the Vermont Extension Service, Experiment Station and resident teaching staffs of the Agricultural College, members of the county agricultural bureau association executive committees and to others.

R. O. T. C. TO REPORT DAILY AT 7.30 FROM MAY2 TO 17

[illegible] ordered by the Commandant, R. O. T. C. [illegible] to report at 7.30 for drill beginning [illegible] and continuing through [illegible] final which will be held on May 17 instead of the dates originally scheduled, last Tuesday and Friday.

The motorcycle squad will not participate in the annual field meet, already begun between companies, but four years since the trophy was awarded, will face its keenest competition this spring, preparations of other groups indicate.

STUDENTS COMPETE FOR KINGSLEY PRIZE SPEAKING AWARDS NEXT MONDAY

Five Sophomores and Five Freshmen Are Entered in Annual Contest Held in Museum

The Kingsley prize speaking contest for freshmen and sophomores is to be held at the Fleming Museum Monday evening, May 1, at 8.15. Ten contestants have made arrangements to participate in the speaking, five from each of the classes. The awards consist of money prizes of $25, $15, and $10 for the three best speakers.

The members of the class of 1936 participating are: M. Jones, "Message to Garcia," by Elbert Hubbard; B. S. Muscant, "Inaugural Address," by George Washington; E. R. Greemore, "Extracts from Burke's Speech in Conciliation with the Colonies", W. W. Workman, "Spartacus to the Gladiators"; A. J. Levin, "Extracts from Pres. Franklin D. Roosevelt's Inaugural Address."

The sophomores contesting are: C. A. Rogers, "Free Trade and Seaman's Rights," by Henry Clay; W. H. Myers "Opportunities of the Scholar," by Henry W. Grady; F. G. Kingsley, "The Constitution," by Thomas P. Cleary; C. H. Patnode, "Toussaint l'Ouverture," by Wendell Phillips; R. S. Wright, "Mount of Laws," by Hall R. Caine.

The speaking is open to the public with no admission charged. Musical numbers will be furnished by Miss Miriam Natilee Marston and Miss Charlotte deVolt during the evening. Prof. L. W. Dean will act as chairman.

STUDENT SENATE NAMES FLYNN CHEERLEADER

G. W. Flynn '35 of Burlington was voted the right to wear the cheerleader's sweater and was made the cheerleader for the coming season by the Student Senate, at a meeting last Thursday evening at the Alpha Tau Omega house.

In order that an election of members to Student Senate for next year may be held within the next week all class presidents are urged to hold their class elections within two weeks from last Wednesday night. Plans for the successful regulation of the men's mass meeting to be held weekly next year were left in the hands of a committee of two, a junior and one sophomore member of Student Senate.

BAND, DOUBLE QUARTETS WILL GO TO PLATTSBURG

Violin Soloist, R. O. T. C. Band, and Quartets to Take Part in Music Festival Tomorrow

The University of Vermont [illegible] piece R. O. T. C. band, a mixed double quartet, a women's double quartet and a violin soloist will [illegible] to Plattsburg to take part in a music festival [illegible] Plattsburg Normal School. [illegible] York state normal schools [illegible]

It will be the first time the band has been invited to take part in such a festival. The quartets will present a group of [illegible] and Miss Dorothy Jerome will play a violin selection.

The double quartets will be composed from glee club members. Prof. C. J. Leonard of the music department has arranged the program, the band under [illegible] control of the band leader [illegible] Joseph F. Lechner are in charge of Capt. M. L. Craig of the department of military science.

SCENE OF BOULDER EXERCISES

KEY AND SERPENT PLANS GALA TIME TOMORROW NIGHT

Bob Minotti Will Play for Informal Dance in Gym; Unique Program Planned

STAGS WILL BE ABLE TO DANCE FROM 10 TO 11

With Bob Minotti arranging several specialty numbers for tomorrow night's dance the Key and Serpent society is anticipating a successful spring frolic in the gymnasium. The informal affair to be held from 8.30 to 12 is the second dance sponsored by the junior honor society of the campus.

Brisin and Libby, exceptionalists of the evening's fun, have completed arrangements to give everyone an enjoyable time. Professor and Mrs. H. A. Prentice and Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Soule will act as chaperones at the dance. The program for the dance is as follows: 8.30 to 10 is the break, 10 to 11, cutting allowed; 11 midnight, second no-break.

Tickets will be on sale at the door. The admission price per person will be [illegible] Stags who will be [illegible] expected to [illegible] and have to pay [illegible] Ticket [illegible] will be [illegible] and what [illegible]

During the course of the evening several specialty dances will be held. Bob Minotti has agreed to play several [illegible] not on the program.

Wednesday Evening [illegible] on the dance, announces: "Dance your troubles away Saturday night. The orchestra will [illegible] the best of music for the [illegible] dance."

Charles Libby of [illegible] Saturday evening will be a good opportunity to [illegible] the [illegible] of the Middlebury [illegible] Wig and Cauldron [illegible] and a good [illegible]

RESEARCH PHOTOGRAPHER TELLS HOW IT IS DONE

Jenkins Explains Work of Photographer in Agricultural Experiment Station

The work of a photographer at an agricultural experiment station is as varied as the material used in the photographic process, stated F. W. Jenkins assistant horticulturist and staff photographer at the University of Vermont in an interview today. One day a plant photograph may be required of a cell discussion measuring one hundredth of an inch, or a picture depicting which the next day a picture may be wanted of some insect from the soil or some bird.

Photographs are desired at such times as plant diseases will be successfully controlled and of animal that appear to [illegible] a commercial value are [illegible] of some kind.

Each picture is sent to accompany a news letter written. He tells of how [illegible] were taken, the plants [illegible] the length of color, during a [illegible] experiment. Pictures [illegible] reading experiment [illegible] are special [illegible] pictures to clearly and [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

CHARLES I. LIBBY '34 ..... Editor-in-Chief
ANGELICA COHEN '34 ..... Women's Editor
REGGIE McCUIN '34 ..... Managing Editor
WILLIAM BRISLIN '34 ..... Sports Editor
[illegible] KOBEL '34 ..... Recording Editor
GEORGE H. BURROWS, II '34 ..... Business Manager
CHARLES I. LIBBY '34 ..... Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Doe-tho Kennedy '35 Jane Parsons '35
Howard Abbott '35 Dustin White '35
Stuart Wright '35 Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

[illegible] Gould '35
Milton Greenburg '34

COLUMNIST

Robert Weissman '34

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

[illegible]

Elma Leach '36

FACULTY ADVISER

Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge ..... Jane Parsons

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year; single copy five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at THE VERMONT CYNIC Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 440 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 April 28, 1933 No. 50

A NEW REGIME

Monday marks the beginning of a new régime in the policy of the school. Founder's Day chapel service will be compulsory to every man and woman student in the University of Vermont. Those who intended to make the week-end a three-day holiday will necessarily have to forestall their plans.

We observe George Washington's birthday, We commemorate Columbus Day, Lincoln's birthday holds a peculiar significance to each and every one of us. Christmas is universally celebrated by every college student. Fundamentally, each of these occasions is solemnized in different ways. Why should we not, as members of the University of Vermont, pay homage to the man who was instrumental in actualizing his dreams for the future when he stood on the hills by Lake Champlain? Why should we not pay respect to this man whose foresight and sound judgment supplied the means by which each of us can enjoy the benefits of the University of Vermont?

Freshmen! Do you know the exalted position Ira Allen holds in the eyes of all loyal Vermont men? Sophomores, juniors, seniors, have you been interested enough during the last three years to attend the services at the Ira Allen Chapel to commemorate the founding of the University?

When the Honorable Judge Wilbur dedicated enough funds to the University to insure a building as beautiful as the Ira Allen Chapel, he held the idea that the building itself would aid in fostering the interest of every Vermont man and woman in Ira Allen, the founder of the University. Should the late judge be able to return today to witness the usual turnout to the Founder's Day exercises, he would no doubt have the feeling that his money, outside of the architectural beauty that it contributed to the campus, was unwisely spent. With this thought in mind, the University Council ordered that every student participate in the exercises.

Vermont is perhaps the only college within our personal scope in which there is not some event significant enough for every member of the college to attend. In as active a college as Vermont, whose teams are winning daily, whose men are making names for themselves in the world of affairs and whose cultural background tends to make it a dearly loved alma mater: in such a college should a condition like this exist.

"BATTER UP"

Another long ball season rolls around tomorrow afternoon when the Catamounts stack hats against their old rivals, Middlebury. The Panthers, if it be remembered, were the last opponents to be seen in Vermont territory, and with the coming of the baseball season, they are back again to taste another defeat of it, we hope.

No one can assert frankly that he is sorry the Blue and White outfit went down to defeat last February at the gymnasium, and there will be no one having any affiliation with the University, who can say he will be resentful if the Catamounts, led by the redoubtable Larry Gardner, whip the Panthers at Centennial Field tomorrow.

The team did extremely well in Massachusetts, and it is sincerely hoped that they repeat the success at Burlington. Vermont recovered a little football prestige last fall, when the Catamounts went through the season without suffering too badly in any game. Basketball made the old-timers and also many present-day students sit up amazed, when the team, after losing three straight, started the ball rolling and won the Conference title.

Baseball is one of the sports in which the old "pepper" from the stands plays a big part, and we don't mean the kind with a razz on the end. Tomorrow especially does the team desire moral support from the crowd. In the first place the contest is the first home game of the season. In the second place, Vermont is out to regain lost laurels and since the game tomorrow is the first in the Conference series, it will mean a great deal. And finally, Vermont is playing Middlebury, a foe which, in itself, should be sufficient to attract a throng of fans large enough to back the team to the hilt.

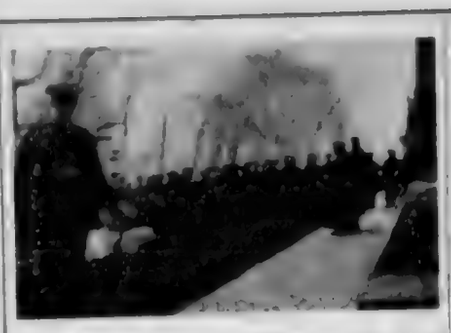
Author's Arena

The [illegible] and Arms [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] Bookstore has a [illegible] of [illegible] current stories in [illegible] department.

[illegible] is a most interesting story, one from the time he was the grandson of a serf and first took up writing to support his medical school, to a career which is usually about closed, but the "open-minded" atmosphere of the drama and letters. Socially minded and active Tchekov worked among the cholera-stricken peasants and made personal investigations of conditions in penal institutions. His Russian style is a remarkable combination and effective one, easily read and a fine model for accurate and swift narration or character portrayal.

The Shadow Lines is a fine story by Rose Macaulay, whose work is a study in period humor. Treating the age of Dryden and Sir John Suckling with a fine perception and a vivid sense of detail of a bygone day, Miss Macaulay has made the era live for modern readers in a way that no amount of browsing in histories and memoirs could do. At the University Store Library.

[illegible] Guinea Pigs, by the [illegible] Kallet and Schlink of Consumers Research, is a book which lets the reader right in the mediocre cheat. Many of the drugs, cereals, creams, pastes preserved or dried fruits which we accept so calmly as part of the routine of live and upset stomachs are shown to be fairly poisonous. While the gentlemen who wrote the book spent a great deal of time and effort in exposing the brands which are harmful, they have been severely criticized. They say a tube of Pebeco contains enough poison to kill three men, but who wants to kick off with Pebeco? They have intelligently laid the emphasis not on the possibilities of instant death from treated prunes, but on the probable shortening of life from long use of the stuff. Fine chapters on the federal legislation on pure foods and drugs. At the University Store Library.



"Design for Living," a typical Noel Coward play. Not as strong as "Private Lives" in humor, but a step ahead in the modern design, which this reviewer feels might be a bit too strenuous for a lot of us. The young lady alternates between her two men, marries a third and leaves Bohemian Paris for America and luxury. The two gentlemen pursue, the lady returns. Good humor with a bit of philosophy and a rowdy line here and there. At the University Store Library.

"American College Verse," edited by Henry Harrison, the well-known publisher of poets, contains a poem from almost every college but Vermont, but we may consider that our Walter van Tilburg (Winnowings) Clark represents us with his "Father Junipera." This is an excellent anthology for those interested in the rising group of college poets. The illustrations by Charles Cullen are worthy of framing, and the editor is to be congratulated on his choice of material. (Harrison, $2.50.)

"Flamingo," by the poet laureate of Florida, Vivian Yeiser Laramore, this slim volume of warm southern poetry moves the heart for the cypress and the swampland. The Seminole, the gator, Tamiami Trail, Kipling and the Roots of the Mangrove Tree. A distinguished poet, with a subtle fire, Miss Laramore is worthy of her post of honor. (Harrison, $1.50.)

"Connecticut Poets," foreworded by Trent and Cheyney, two critics and editors whose word is well considered in the iambic monde, is an excellent volume of state poets. Predominantly nature poems, these works show that the small state has as many prominent poets as the whole western territories. A good sampling is given from the works of about thirty-five or more men and women who have distinguished their home. (Harrison, $2.)

C. H. Drown '34 of Barton, Vt., has been appointed junior marshal for Founder's Day according to an announcement made yesterday by W. W. Brislin, president of the junior class.

The R. O. T. C. Battalion of the University of Vermont is ordered out by President Bailey to take part in the Founder's Day program.

MIDDLEBURY WINS LAWRENCE DEBATE

(Continued from page 1)

Mr. McCuin as first affirmative debater wished to limit the case to its economic aspects, arguing that cancellation would benefit all nations internationally, and have particular significance to the people of the United States. He considered the extraordinary conditions which make payments impossible, the fact that the debts were based on goods and services, and the unreasonable demand that they be collected in gold.

Mr. Steele of the negative stated the arguments of his side by recognizing that the situation presented an economic reality which could be met in three ways. First, by the reduction of the debts in accordance with the foreign nation's capacity to pay; next, by increasing the bargaining power of our country, thereby lessening the extreme nationalism of the individual debtors; last, by a reduction of our tariff.

Mr. Meyers insisted that the war debts were a serious detriment to world affairs, considering their effect on money fluctuations, international relations, and world trade.

Mr. Duffield, second speaker for the negative, established three points against cancellation of war debts. He pointed out the inability of the people of the United States to pay over a period of sixty-two years, the amount owed by America's debtors; that the suggested plan for cancellation would not bring cooperation from the nations of Europe; and that such a move would definitely tend to nullify the movement for world peace.

Mr. Bigelow agreed to trade the debts for the benefits which would be mutual, but held that cancellation must come first.

Mr. Yerovitz, third negative speaker, based his argument entirely on the economic viewpoint. He maintained that war debt settlement is economically possible and sound, and that for the United States not to cancel would benefit the entire world, showing how the credits of war debts could be used as bargaining power for an international constructive economic program.

AVOCATION DAY WILL GIVE MANY POSSIBLE HOME-TOWN ACTIVITIES

Class of 1933, what are you going to do next year? Jobs with salary are not plentiful, that is certain, but is money always a measure of success, after all? Why not live a profitable and interesting life just the same? Choose an avocation to follow until your vocation offers greater opportunities.

Women's Student Union recognizes the need of Vermont graduates who are returning to home towns with no work in view; so it is for the first time sponsoring an Avocation Day.

The program of Avocation Day is to center around Folkstown, an imaginary Vermont village whose dwellers have time to make life very much worth while and time to discover their own abilities.

What interesting avocations, hobbies, leisure time activities or especial interests have most of our college students? Or rather what portion of our college groups have found the satisfaction inherent in a worthwhile hobby or avocation?

Perhaps not many, but with the present trend in the business [illegible] more and more will turn to the [illegible]cinating field of avocations.

All women students who would [illegible] to have at least a speaking acquaintance with an avocation guarantee [illegible] be rewarding to its follower, will be on hand for both the afternoon and evening meetings to be held in the auditorium of the Museum on May [illegible]. There will be a wide range from which to choose. All of these will be [illegible] around Folkstown, Vt. The [illegible]ence will, in fact, take on the [illegible] of a town meeting of the people of Folkstown, called to discuss the most important and timely topic. "Why the people of Folkstown [illegible] they haven't comfortable [illegible]."

One feature is to be a puppet [illegible] made by Vermont young people, the maker of fun for many. The exhibitor will be good enough to explain, before or after the round table conference, the manner of making the puppets and the technique of the puppet show.

The presentation of ideas will be in an informal fashion, in a round table discussion with the audience free to ask questions whenever they desire of them. The more questions asked, the more will the discussion leaders like it. Avocation Day should become a regular custom on our campus. If [illegible] we are not mistaken, for [illegible] hear, is interested.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Eta Chapter of Delta Delta announces the pledging of [illegible] Nugent '35 of East Gloucester [illegible] and Marrion Waite '34 of [illegible].

PI BETA PHI

The Vermont Chapter is entertaining the Middlebury Chapter today to celebrate the sixty-sixth anniversary of the founding of Pi Beta Phi. [illegible] Belcher '34 is in charge.

KAPPA DELTA

Alice Crowe recently visited [illegible]. Officers for the coming year have been elected as follows: [illegible] Anna Green; vice-president, [illegible] Rock; secretary, Geneva [illegible]; treasurer, Susie Sanborn; editor, [illegible] Bean.

On April 22 Miss Emma [illegible] las, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Douglas of Essex Junction, was [illegible] in marriage to Harold G. [illegible] of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Austin [illegible] lington.

RESEARCH PHOTOGRAPH TELLS HOW IT IS DO

(Continued from page 1)

made by a plant or annual during periods.

Jenkins explains that many research photographs not only help the investigator in the prosecution of his research but are of benefit to anyone interested in the methods used and the results obtained. A photograph of a complicated apparatus, for example, describes the apparatus far better than words. A picture of a tree which is being pruned will show more to show the relative size and position of the branches than any description in words. Jenkins became interested in agricultural photography through watching his father, who was a writer on agricultural publications. When he came to the University he expanded and perfected his methods, devising new ones as exigencies arose.

"Although every effort is made to make the pictures as attractive as possible," he says, "yet in experiment station photography the ideal is not primarily to make a pretty picture but to show clearly and accurately the important things which the research worker wishes to record and describe."

COLORFUL STYLES AND PATTERNS FOR EARLY SUMMER

B. J. BOYNTON
65 Church St.

SPORTS NEWS

TENNIS TEAM GOES ON TRIP TO MASS.

Take on Tufts, Eliminate Amherst This Year—Wilson, Woodard, Mulcahy, Myers Go

...versity tennis team left Wednesday, April 26, on its annual trip to Massachusetts. This year they play on Tufts and eliminating ...

... the 27th, they play ... Poly at Worcester, Boston ... on the 28th, and Tufts at ... on Saturday the 29th. Last ... Worcester Poly and Boston ... defeated the Vermont rac...

...owing men made the trip: ... Wilson, Norm Myers, Les ... and Bernie Mulcahy. Wil... Myers, and Woodard and Mul... probably comprise the two ... teams.

...ations for the team will ... the various cities. Satur... will be spent in the Hotel ... in Boston and the team re... on Sunday.

... got outside for the first ... Monday and thus have only two ... outside practice before the trip. ... before the first home game ... St. Michael's on May ninth they ... get plenty of outside court ... weather permitting.

FROSH PRACTICE TENNIS FOR FIRST TIME WED.

Fifteen Men Report for Not Too Strenuous Indoor Workout

On Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock the first frosh tennis practice of the season was held. It had been decided to hold the workout on the indoor courts but because of the unfavorable weather it was shifted to the gym. About fifteen men reported to C. V. T. Clark, who had charge of the team, and who may continue as its active coach. The workout was not strenuous and consisted mainly of trying out various shots with emphasis on base line accuracy. Although it is too early to pick out any outstanding candidates, Bart Costello, Dick Derven, Johnny Swift and Bob Eaton looked impressive and showed marked ability with the racket. Other candidates include Walsh, LaSala, Brannan, Bristol, Montgomery, Fitch, R. S. Wright, Bellows, P. R. Stevens, Lazzone and Williamson.

The Athletic Association has made no appropriation for frosh tennis and the team will have no regular schedule. The local high school will probably furnish opposition in at least one match.

CROSBY WON LETTER

Before he learned to croon, Bing Crosby was an athlete. He played freshman football, and won a varsity football letter at Gonzaga, playing in the backfield. Crosby is working now at Paramount's "College Humor."

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

The Catamounts put the lid on from the Conference season tomorrow afternoon at Centennial Field when they take on Middlebury.

If for none other than sentimental reasons, the game should be a good one. Coach Gardener's charges haven't forgotten that humiliating 22-3 swamping which the Panthers tacked on them last spring.

Incidentally, it is rumored that Middlebury, especially Coach Ben Ballyhoo Beck, has not forgiven Vermont for capturing the Conference basketball honors.

The same team that took the field against Tufts with the anticipated exception of right field, will no doubt start tomorrow.

In attempting to fill the gap in right field Coach Gardner has decided to give Rolly Delfausse, sub first sacker, a try-out.

Coach Duke Nelson of the Blue and White invaders is blessed with a wealth of veteran material including the veteran battery of Stepinoff Stefaniak and Jimy Hartrey, with Barker another good hurler in reserve.

Not satisfied with the infield, he has switched Yoemans, far and away the best shortstop in the Conference, to the hot corner, and moved Sorenson over from third to fill the vacancy.

If you don't think this new combination is clicking, just ask the Duke about it.

If the Cats can continue to hit the ball behind those jug-handle hooks which Ed Layden will be tossing up, it will be just too bad for Middlebury.

ADVANCED MILITARY MEN COMPLETE PISTOL FIRING

Senior and Junior Class Scores Made With .22 Caliber Pistol are Announced

The classes in advanced military courses recently completed pistol firing. The scores made by the members of the senior and junior classes with caliber .22 pistol follow. Expert score is 85 or better. Sharpshooter score is from 78 to 84. Marksman score, 60 to 77. Below 60 unqualified.

J. H. Gordon 94.7, G. I. Davis 93.75, M. L. Powell, Jr., 93, R. H. Treadway 93, A. H. Cass 92.25, D. E. Bennett 92, F. H. Spear 92, H. M. Howe 91.75, R. M. Donahue 90, G. Stone 89.5, J. L. Morgan 88.7, I. F. Davis 88.1, D. W. Jenks 88, D. P. Germain 86.8, W. A. Ross 86.3, C. J. Libby 86, W. N. Coburn 85.4, C. H. Drown 85, F. O. Walter 83.75, J. J. Connelly 83.7, S. Pierce, Jr., 83.2, P. C. Eamon 82.5, A. C. Pond 78.2, W. J. Ryan 77.7.

Vermont Plays Middlebury Tomorrow In First Game Of Conference Series

Catamounts, After Successful Southern Trip and Two Victories on Boston Trip, Have High Hopes of Burying Middlebury

Tomorrow afternoon at 3:00 p.m. the Catamounts open the Intercollegiate baseball season against Middlebury. Vermont fans are high this year for after a most successful southern trip and a recent completely successful trip to Boston, the team looks to be the best aggregation turned out in recent years.

At the beginning of the year things looked bad for the baseball team, on account of the graduation of Chester Rutkowski and Ed Wesoly, Jr., Charles Gates, Ed Layden and the irrepressible Whitey Palmer became available. Layden, who has been pitching good ball all spring and recently held Amherst to two hits in the one inning of the game and showed a lot of speed and control, is expected to be on the mound for the Cats tomorrow.

Middlebury has two veteran pitchers in Barker and Stefaniak, both of whom are very good hitters, also a fine catcher in Captain Hartrey. Barker, the ace of the staff, will probably start against Vermont.

The experienced infield, all of whom are hard hitters and will make trouble for any Vermont pitcher who faces them, will consist of Boehm at first, Sorenson at second, Zawistawski at short and Yeomans at third. The selections for the outfield have not been settled but it is certain that Barker or Stefaniak on account of their hitting when not pitching will fill the right field position. Williams will probably be in the center garden and possibly Gould in left.

Keeping the recent showing of the team on the Boston trip in mind, we believe that Vermont with Layden on the mound should have an even chance or perhaps a slight edge on tomorrow's game.

Progress: What do you think of the League of Nations?

Cynic: I don't like the idea. I've just succeeded in learning to say "Mary Canary Cow of Thee, and I could never learn to say "My Country, Tis of Thee."

All freshmen and sophomores interested in scrubbing the editorial side of the Men's Freshman Handbook see Arnold Ross '34 as soon as possible

PHI MU DELTS DEFEAT PHI DELT NINE 13-3 IN FIRST INTERFRAT GAME

Good Weather Brings Out Fair-sized Crowd for Back-campus Game

The Phi Mu Deltas, playing the initial game of the interfraternity baseball series on the back campus Monday afternoon defeated the Phi Delta Thetas by a score of 13 to 3. Favorable weather brought out a fairly good-sized crowd whose ranks were noticeably depleted as it became apparent that the game was not to be a close fight.

The Phi Mu Delta players secured a definite lead in the scoring in the first inning when they chalked up seven runs practically deciding the game at that point. Sands Burnell and Pete Lyford, ineligible varsity battery, held the Phi Delts from scoring. Ham Carlson pitched for the Phi Delts throughout the five innings.

GUSS CLAIMS LAURELS

Morris Guss, of the University of Utah, claims to be one of the Bing Crosby championship fans of the country. Crosby, working in Paramount's "College Humor," received a letter from Guss, who admitted the possession and ownership of 104 Crosby records.

"I thought your husband objected to your taking holidays alone." "Oh, that was two years ago." "Then he's changed his mind?" "No, I've changed my husband."

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 8.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

VARSITY AND FRESHMEN HAVE TRACK MEET TODAY

Purpose of Meet is to Get Line on Prospective Performers for Initial Meets of Season

There will be a varsity-freshman track meet today and tomorrow at Centennial Field, according to Archie Post, coach of track. The purpose of the meet is to get a line on prospective performers for the initial meets of the season, the varsity May 6 at St. Lawrence and the Kittens May 5 with Lyndon Institute here.

Although the freshmen are an unknown quantity, it is to be expected that the varsity will repeat their performance of last year, when they won easily.

The events to be run off Friday afternoon will include the hurdles, two-mile run, and probably the weights.

There are a multitude of performers on the varsity squad. In the 100 and 220 are Smith, Meligonis, Young, Rogers, Grant, Cass. In the 440 are Barber, Delfausse, Howe, Utley, Willis, Wesoly. In the half-mile are Captain Brooks, Collins, Howe, Ranslow, Utley, Wesoly, Willis. For the endurance runs, the mile and two-mile, there are Captain Brooks, Caracciolo, Harwood, Hadley, White, Woodruff. In the jumps there are Bus Adams, Delfausse, Smith, Meligonis, Willis. Sowka and Beckley are the only pole vault aspirants out to date.

For the weight tossing one finds Red Cook, Nevulis, and Abe Gardner.

In the hurdle events are Walter, Adams and Young.

The outstanding Kitten performers will probably be Suitor in the middle and long distance runs, Connor and Jones in the hurdles, Andress in the sprints and Davis in the high jump. The other men have not yet been seen in action as yet.

All men will be used whether eligible scholastically or not, as this only counts as a practice meet.

ARLEN SWIMMING COACH

Richard Arlen, featured in Paramount's College Humor, once coached the swimming team at the U. of Pa. A. C. and also played on the club ice hockey team.

LONE JURY MOVIE

Howard [illegible] whose Democratic southern California district attorneys have won twenty consecutive murder convictions, is a retired actor. He starred the role of the sheriff in Paramount's "College Humor."

Team in Fine Form

[illegible] a sophomore who has been playing [illegible] ball in big time semi-pro circles at [illegible] Bob Macomber's veterans, which includes all record gets on the Boston trip, have won five, the shortstop position and veteran Dutch McEvoy at third will complete a fast hard-hitting infield.

Coach Gardner after much [illegible] has decided on Chet Catt, Enos Bacon and Rollie Delfausse for the outfield. Delfausse, a fairly hard hitter is expected to strengthen the one weak spot in the outfield, right field.

Ed Layden is expected to pitch tomorrow and will have Larry Bowers on the receiving end.

Not much is known about the strength of the Middlebury team because they have been outdoors only about a week and have played only the games arranged for their New York trip last week-end. Their strength may be estimated however, from the fact that West Point barely beat them 6-4. Pratt won from them 8-5, and Rutgers waxed them out 10-8. However, the Panthers won from Upsala 4-1.

SENIORS
The University Store
NOW HAS FOR SALE
a limited number of INVITATIONS
but plenty of
ANNOUNCEMENTS
CAPS AND GOWNS
are being rented from the
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

SPRING
SUITS
$18.50
To $35
TOPCOATS
$16.50
To $35
SPORT WEAR
FLANNEL SLACKS
LEATHER JACKETS
SPORT COATS
SWEATERS
Miles & Perry Co.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1909

A Special Offer
TOPCOATS at $14.95
We have a new selection of higher priced coats now placed on sale at this price
HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

MYRICK GUEST SPEAKER CITIZENSHIP PROGRAM

Urges Every Member of the Intelligentia to Take Active Part in Politics of Day

PHI SIGMA DELTA HOLDS BANQUET FOR PRESIDENT

FOUNDER'S DAY PROGRAM NEXT MONDAY MORNING

(Continued from page 1)

WOMEN STUDENTS ARE ASSIGNED DORM ROOMS

CO-ED SPORTS MANAGERS FOR W. A. A. ANNOUNCED

Grace Harris '34 has been announced as manager of the spring field day to be held May 24. The campus managers of the various co-ed sports have been chosen as follows: Baseball, Irene LaMountain '35 archery Grace Spellman '35 tennis, Susan France '35 indoor ball and horseshoe, Eunice Mann '35.

Esther Smith '33, captain of the 1932-1933 woman's rifle team, was chosen as an honorary captain for life.

The manager of the rifle team for the year 1933-1934 is Daisy Putnam '34. The newly elected officers for that year are: President, Mary Poling '34; vice-president, Esther Sinclair '35; secretary-treasurer, Katherine LeBaron '35; range official, Helen Miller '35.

Wombat—Why do you call your house a bungalow?

Well, it is not a bungalow, what is it? The builder made a bungle of it and I still owe for it.

WOMEN WILL HAVE LA... HOME DEBATE TOMOR...

"Resolved, That Democ... ure" will be the ques... annual tilt between V... bury women tomorrow ... in the Fleming Museum ... is the last encounter ... bating team which will ...

The Vermont team will ... affirmative of the propositi... Goodenough '33 of Jeffe... Laura Johnson '33 of W... Sophie Levin '33 of Bu... be the speakers.

The team will appear ... men in a radio presentat... rence early in May.

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHOP
102A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES

Fordham University School of Law
NEW YORK
Case System Three-Year Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required
Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases
Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

STUDENTS
SUPPLIES
ART MATERIALS
FAVORS & DECORATIONS
FOR DANCES
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts. Phone 629

DIAMOND ENGAGEMENT RIN...
If you appreciate real fine ... and wish to know and see ... what you are purchasing you ... interested in our large display ... Diamonds.
As an engagement ring is a ... long gift and one that is most ... ished it is well to select a ... Diamond and to have a stylish ... ing of Platinum of Gold.
It will be a pleasure to sh... you our Diamonds
F. J. Preston & ...
INCORPORATED
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church S...

A flavor that neither possesses alone

Early in the 17th century, tobacco seed from America was taken to Turkey. Different soil, different climate, different temperatures night and day, and different farming methods produced an entirely new tobacco—small in size, but very rich and aromatic.

Four certain spots are famous for the quality of their Turkish tobacco — Xanthi and Cavalla in Greece; Samsoun and Smyrna in Turkey. And it is principally from these places that our buyers get the Turkish for Chesterfield.

These Turkish tobaccos are blended, in just the right amount, with Domestic tobaccos. It is this blending and cross-blending of just the right amount of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos which gives Chesterfield a flavor that neither possesses alone.

Chesterfield

—the cigarette that's Milder
—the cigarette that Tastes Better

© 1933, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME BURLINGTON, VERMONT, MONDAY, MAY 1, 1933 NUMBER 61

Operetta Given Thursday Night By Glee Clubs

Audience of 500 Sees Presentation in Gymnasium by Well-trained Cast

PUTNAM STARS

Furies Are Good

TWO MEN HONORED BY ELECTION TO ALPHA ZETA

IRA ALLEN'S STATUE

MC CUIN, JUNIOR SPEAKER LAUDS FOUNDER OF THE UNIVERSITY, IRA ALLEN

Gives Story of the History of the University and its Founder, to Whom it Owes So Much

Ira Allen, the Founder

An Extraordinary Man

Founder's Day Exercises Held; President Reads Honorary Lists

56 STUDENTS MAKE HONORARY SOCIETIES

BOULDER

MORTAR BOARD

OMICRON NU

KEY AND SERPENT

GOLD KEY

EIGHT MEN SELECTED BY BOULDER SOCIETY FROM JUNIOR CLASS

Men's Senior Honorary Was Organized in 1905; Boulder on Campus Since 1848

Boulder Discovered

SCABBARD AND BLADE

Society Is Formed

ALPHA ZETA

TAU KAPPA ALPHA

R. O. T. C. FORMATION AT ANNUAL CEREMONY

Academic Procession

Principal Speaker of Day

TAU KAPPA ALPHA TAKES IN TWO CO-EDS, SIX MEN

National Debating Chapter Functions Merely as an Honorary

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Business Manager
Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

White '35
Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

COLUMNIST

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS
Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS
Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

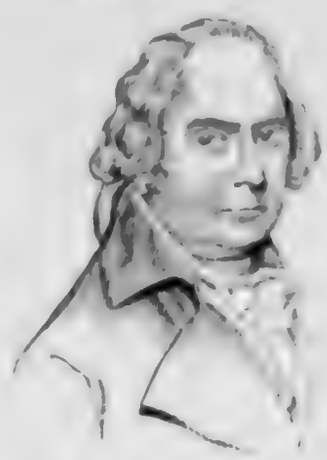
FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

Published weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year.

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Burlington, Vt.

Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. XL Mar. 1 1933 No. 13



Editorials

TYPICAL VERMONT MEN

THEY HAVE UPS AND DOWNS TOO

ON A SOAP BOX

Ira Allen

Ira Allen and his brother Ethan Allen were pioneers in the Green River Company, were the first persons to take possession of Colchester, being on an exploring expedition up the Onion River (Winooski) in the fall of 1772. After exploring the country around they built a fort. This stood some six or eight rods east of the bridge at Winooski on the left bank of the river close to the falls.

It was two stories high, had thirty-two loopholes on the upper story was built of hewn logs and named Fort Frederick. The same winter they cut a road through to Castleton, a distance of seventy miles. In 1774 the work of clearing the land began in earnest. From 1775 to 1780 the Revolution being in progress and most of the settlers returned. Allen upon his return built the "upper dam," two saw mills, a grist mill, two forges and a furnace. Bar iron, mill irons, forge hammers and anchors were manufactured and the place began to grow rapidly.

Ira Allen, who did more for Colchester than any other man, was born at Cornwall, Conn., May 1, 1751 and received a good English education, including surveying. Before he was but twenty-one years old Allen became prominent as a leader of men. He managed the affairs of Vermont in her darkest days standing by the people of the State and the Continental Congress. He wrote a history of the State which was printed in London in 1798; projected a canal from Lake Champlain to the St. Lawrence River; resisted at all times the New York patentees; and effected the establishment of the University of Vermont.

Ira Allen married Jerusha Enos, daughter of General Enos. He resided in Philadelphia during the later years of his life in Philadelphia, Pa. He died there January 7, 1814. His widow resided in Winooski village.

Bits of Bunk

English P: Now, gentlemen, what's the meaning of this poem?

Yearling: It's too late, sir.

P: What do you mean, too late?

Yearling: Browning is dead, sir, and no one else knows.—West Point Pointer.

Hush Muckymuck: Let's get our wives together tonight and have a big evening.

Brother Lion-tamer: O.K., but where shall we leave them?—Annapolis Log.

Wedding Guest: Isn't this your fourth daughter getting married?

Aging Sire: Yes, and our rice is getting a wee bit dirty.—Ohio State Sun Dial.

"Mother, I advertised under an assumed name that I would like to make the acquaintance of a refined young gentleman with an eye for romance."

"Marjorie! How awful! Did you get any answers?"

"Only one, from father."—Annapolis Log.

Lady reading sign in kangaroo cage, Natives of Australia: And my sister just wrote and said she married one of them!—Annapolis Log.

1st Kangaroo: Annabelle, where's the baby?

2nd Kangaroo: My goodness, I've had my pockets picked.—Syracuse Orange Peel.

"Now," said the super salesman, "this instrument turns green if the liquor is good—red if it is bad."

"Sorry, but I'm color blind," apologized the prospect. "Got anything with a gong on it?"—Notre Dame Juggler.

First Indian: Where's that settler I just shot?

Second American: Right over there. Just follow the arrow.—Annapolis Log.

Doctor: Is the night nurse giving you proper attention?

Patient: Not exactly, but I'm perfectly satisfied.

Mother: Quiet, dear, the sand man is coming.

Modern Child: O.K. A dollar and I won't tell Pop.—Carnegie Tech. Puppet.

When the beer bill passed, it was broadcast over a national hiccup.—Annapolis Log.

Lady: I want a wart removed.

Hardware Clerk: But, lady, I'm not a doctor.

Lady: I know it. I want to buy a revolver!

"Eliza," said a friend of the family to the old colored washwoman, "have you seen Miss Edith's fiance?"

"No, ma'am. It ain't been in the wash yet."—Annapolis Log.

Vermont Fraternities

THE KAPPA SIGMA HOUSE

Alpha Lambda Chapter of Kappa Sigma was founded on February 16, 1893, [illegible] charter members. It was the [illegible] New England chapter of the largest college fraternity in existence, having at the present time 108 chapters in the United States and Canada.

The fraternity was introduced into this country on December 10, 1869, at the University of Virginia, being one of the most prominent fraternities of southern origin.

Alpha Lambda Chapter held its first [illegible] in the old two-department building on Church Street, moving shortly thereafter into the old Y. M. C. A. Block. In the fall of 1914 the chapter moved into the house at 380 Pearl Street, where it remained for seventeen years, its present house on Summit Street being acquired in 1931.

The chapter has always been well represented in campus affairs. Present members of the [illegible] I. L. Hills, Prof. E. [illegible] G. V. Kidder, and Pr[illegible] Prominent local [illegible] States Senator W. R. [illegible] Judge A. H. Grout, C[illegible] Hopkins, and State [illegible] Hughes. Members [illegible] tance, besides Senator [illegible] Sen. W. G. McAdoo, [illegible] Christian Gauss, dean [illegible] Charles S. Pearce, pres[illegible] Palmolive-Peet Co.; [illegible] McLean, Dewitt Cuttle[illegible] Grayson; Dr. Fred T[illegible] surgeon; Lowell Thom[illegible] Jean Nathan.

The chapter shares w[illegible] ternities on the hill [illegible] being formed directly [illegible] a local. It celebrated [illegible] niversary this year. All [illegible] founders were alive at [illegible]

Early Part of University History Reveals Many Interesting F[illegible]

The early part of the history of the University of Vermont is quite interesting according to the old records. In 1779, the State began to grant charters for townships on its own authority, it reserved in each one right of land, about 320 acres, "for use of a seminary or college." For a time when Dartmouth obtained its charter in 1779, and was situated at Hanover, it was feared that it would claim Vermont as her reserve.

The citizens of Vermont refused to consider the finding of a branch college to Dartmouth in Vermont and began an agitation for a college of their own. In 1789, Ira Allen broached the subject before the Legislature, presenting various reasons why such an institute might be founded and suggesting the logical spot for a situation to be Burlington. However, because of uncertainty in regard to location, the Legislature could not decide.

In 1791, however, the Legislature again took up the matter. When the bill was finally passed, Burlington had received the greatest number of votes for situation. Thus the University of Vermont was officially given a charter. The present site for location was chosen on a plot of sixty acres, then covered with stately pines, which was a part of Gen. Ira Allen's land. The president's house was begun in 1794, but was not completed until 1799.

The Rev. Daniel Sanders, who the next year became president of the college, was invited from Vergennes to Burlington, took up his residence in the new building and received pupils in preparatory study. The tuition was twelve dollars a year.

The college officers were not officially appointed until 1800. The college proper began its course in 1801 with a class of four. Expansion came gradually and hopefully until the War [illegible] conditions made it impo[illegible] to run a college in [illegible] building was leased to [illegible] Government.

In 1815, the college [illegible] a new faculty, but finan[illegible] was on a bad footi[illegible] smoothly for a while [illegible] crashed in 1824, when t[illegible] ing was reduced to ashe[illegible] to the efforts of the pe[illegible] ton, enough money was [illegible] build a new edifice. [illegible] of reconstruction, recita[illegible] in an unoccupied dry g[illegible] north end of the colle[illegible] cornerstone of the north [illegible] in 1825 by Governor V[illegible] same year Lafayette l[illegible] stone of the south colleg[illegible]

Events ran along wit[illegible] cult problems encountered [illegible] tration, until the Civil W[illegible] majority of the student[illegible] studies for the tented p[illegible] period of reconstructio[illegible] one. In 1862 courses [illegible] been added, while in 18[illegible] Agricultural College [illegible] with the University of V[illegible]

In 1883 was dedica[illegible] statue of Lafayette, whi[illegible] college green. It was [illegible] most successful work o[illegible] at that time America[illegible] sculptor. In 1883, the [illegible] Billings presented the lib[illegible] P. Marsh and a sum[illegible] which to erect a new li[illegible]

Several new buildings [illegible] to the already picturesq[illegible] Ira Allen Chapel was [illegible] while the Robert Hull [illegible] was opened two years [illegible]

MC CUIN, JUNIOR, LAUDS IRA ALLEN IN ADDRESS

(Continued from page 1)

educational institution of the State. The early history of the New Hampshire grants presents few events which can be paralleled in other American colonies.

The founding of the University of Vermont was of utmost importance to Ira Allen and may be considered his chief contribution to the development of the State he had created. It was his offer, in 1789, of 4,000 pounds which determined its location on the heights of Burlington, overlooking Lake Champlain. The reasons which Allen advanced for its location here, were the distance from Dartmouth College, and proximity of northern New York and the Province of Quebec. Early history tells us that before the founding of McGill and Cornell Universities a good proportion of the students were drawn to these territories.

The charter of the University of Vermont was granted by the Legislature of the State on the third of November, 1791. The Legislature, in granting the charter, did give it the lands which had been reserved in the various township grants for the use and benefit of a college, but these grants were of little avail for the expenses of beginning. The University was, however, put in motion with the funds contributed by individual citizens, and the subscriptions of Ira Allen may well be considered its corner stone.

We find Allen at the [illegible] wealthy man and with [illegible] of a happy man. The [illegible] University had received [illegible] offered an additional [illegible] of land. At a later date [illegible] bestow another 1,000 [illegible] specified conditions, [illegible] pounds in books and [illegible] the University should [illegible] name. Harvard Colle[illegible] original appropriation [illegible] but 400 pounds and [illegible] nificent monument to [illegible] will it received only 8[illegible] small library.

Although the Univer[illegible] does not bear the name [illegible] was none the less its [illegible] the land, he gave the [illegible] of money and its [illegible] is fitting and proper that [illegible] occupy the most pro[illegible] our campus, that each [illegible] of May, the birthday [illegible] should gather here to [illegible] homage to Ira Allen.

A waffle supper will be [illegible] the Methodist Church room[illegible] day night, May 4, by the [illegible] of Sigma Gamma. Admi[illegible] cents.

"You damn' fool [illegible] Governor instead of [illegible]

"O. K.; that's [illegible]—Syracuse Orange Peel.

Retiring Members of Boulder Society

LIONEL REED

JUNIOR SOCIETY NAMES EIGHT SUCCESSORS TO FILL PLACES VACATED

Outgoing Key and Serpent Group Singularly Active in Campus Affairs

Culminating a year of activity, the Key and Serpent elected eight new members to serve during the coming year as the junior honorary society. The newly elected men are George H. Cook, Jr., of Leominster, Mass., Frederick J. Lanahan of Rutland, Raymond E. Palmer of Burlington, Marshall A. Patch of Windsor, Carl A. Rogers of South Wallingford, Thomas R. Reeves of Burlington, Ellis R. Simonds of Gardner, Mass., and Dustin White, Jr., of Ryegate.

The outgoing society served, with one exception, in the Gold Key Society. During the course of the year many informal meetings have been held to discuss various problems in the class. The group has sponsored two successful dances during the school year. One was held last fall after the Norwich football game, with Ernie Andrews playing specially for the society. The second dance was held last Saturday evening, when Bob Minotti and his orchestra furnished the music.

In February, the Key and Serpent Society invited Boulder to attend their annual banquet at the Hotel Vermont. Professor Tupper was the guest speaker of the evening. Following the banquet, the second semester election of officers was held. Professor Tupper invited the members to an informal spring supper at his house last Friday evening.

Before going out of office the society will meet to determine the method of election of Ariel officers. It has been contended by many that the present system of election is not the fairest means. During the year the society has awarded cups to the championship teams in the various phases of intramural competition.

The outgoing men are John Beckley of Great Neck, L. I., N. Y., William [illegible] of Rutland, Thomas Cogswell of [illegible], N. H., Clarence Dobson of East [illegible], Mass., Chester Eaton of [illegible], Mass., Charles Libby of Richmond Hill, L. I., N. Y., and Donald [illegible] of Fairhaven, Mass.

The newly elected members of Key and Serpent have distinguished themselves on the campus already. George [illegible] the star tackle of the varsity football team, and was named for all-star tackle. He will be one of the mainstays on the varsity track team this year after having been elected co-captain of the freshman track team. He was president of his class and was a member of Gold Key. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Frederick J. Lanahan is a member of Delta Psi. He earned his letter at football after playing freshman football last year. He also played freshman basketball and baseball.

Raymond E. Palmer, known to his friends as "Ray," starred on the varsity basketball team which won the State title. He is playing varsity baseball this year, holding down the initial sack. He played freshman basketball and baseball. He is now treasurer of Gold Key. He is a member of Delta Psi.

Marshall A. Patch is an assistant manager of varsity basketball. He is an assistant manager of the Cynic. He played freshman basketball and played baseball in his freshman year. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon. He has made the dean's list. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Carl A. Rogers is a member of Gold Key. He is assistant manager of varsity football. He has served on the Junior Prom committee and on the Key and Serpent dance committee. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Thomas R. Reeves has recently been elected to Phi Alpha after an initiation. He won his letter in freshman football. He is a member of Gold Key and has served on the Junior Prom committee.

Ellis R. Simonds has won his spurs as a star on the Vermont Cynic after one semester. He won his letter in freshman football and is out for track this spring. He is a member of Lambda Iota.

CARROLL REED

SCABBARD AND BLADE FOUNDED TO PROMOTE INTEREST IN MILITARY

Vermont Chapter Founded in 1922—Senior Officers Then Charter Members

Founded in 1904 at the University of Wisconsin, Scabbard and Blade, student officers' military society, now has over eighty chapters in various parts of the country. The founders, C. A. Taylor, L. M. Cook, V. R. Griggs, H. K. Weld, and Capt. C. A. Curtis, U. S. A. retired commandant, formed a society "for the purpose of removing the attitude that military drill was something to be ridiculed rather than taken seriously." It was their idea that an organization properly functioning in the school would change that attitude and make military drill something to be sought after and bring respect to the cadet corps.

Others besides the cadet officers who are eligible to membership in the society are associate and honorary members. The president of the University at which the company is stationed, the commandant of the cadets and his commissioned staff, and Federal inspecting officers all may be elected to associate membership. With the unanimous consent of the general staff, a desirable candidate may be elected to honorary membership.

The official medium of intercourse between chapters is The Scabbard and Blade Journal, a quarterly publication under the supervision of the executive officer. The contents are contributed by the various branches which are stimulated to do this through a contest sponsored by the magazine. In this contest each page of news sent in by a chapter counts 100 points and to that chapter accumulating the most points each year The Scabbard and Blade Journal trophy cup is awarded. The winner of the last two years was H Company, Fifth Regiment, at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo.

Any college or university giving the R. O. T. C. course may obtain a charter for the founding of a branch of the fraternity upon the application of eight active commissioned cadet officers of that school. The University of Vermont chapter was founded on March 25, 1922. All the senior cadet officers at that time were the charter members. A ball is sponsored by Scabbard and Blade annually at Vermont.

SCABBARD AND BLADE NAMES FIFTEEN MEN

Junior Officers Are Elected to Serve in Vermont Company of National Order

[illegible] Junction; John Connolly of Burlington; Richard [illegible]

FRASER DREW

Boulder Society Honor Lists

JOHN L. BECKLEY

Johnny has served in the Gold Key and Key and Serpent Societies. He was class treasurer during his freshman year. In athletics, he holds the distinction of being a three-letter man, earning his insignia in baseball, football and basketball. He played on the freshman baseball team. He is a member of Student Senate and the Interfraternity Council. He has made the dean's list every semester, and won the Howard entrance prize in Latin. He was an R. O. T. C. corporal. John served as the Gold Key dance committee chairman. He is a member of Delta Psi.

WILLIAM W. BRISLIN

William was a member of Gold Key and Key and Serpent. This year he is president of the junior class. He has played on the junior class basketball team, which has won the championship twice. He was on the freshman basketball team. He has served on the [illegible] staff as reporter and news editor, and is now sports editor. On the 1934 Ariel business board, Bill is circulation manager. He is one of the co-directors [illegible]. He has served on the [illegible] committee and the Key and Serpent dance committee. He is a member of Delta Psi.

GEORGE H. BURROWS II

[illegible] ball and was manager of the fencing team [illegible]. He has been in the cast of the Footlight Club. He is affiliated with Sigma Phi.

CHESTER B. EATON

[illegible] assistant manager of freshman football, and [illegible] manager of varsity football, and

CLARENCE F. DOBSON

DONALD J. TOBIN

TENNIS TEAM TROUNCES WORCESTER TECH 6-0 IN MASSACHUSETTS DEBUT

Clean Slate Maintained by Cats Who Are Vermont Titleholders

The University of Vermont tennis team upset all dopesters when they made the first match of their Massachusetts trip to extend their already lengthy string of victories. The count was 6-0 in favor of the powerful Catamount aggregation over Worcester Tech. The Vermont netmen braved cold winds and adverse weather conditions to exhibit some fine form.

Capt. Hugh Wilson, continuing undefeated from 1932, defeated Corsini 6-2, 6-1. Norman Myers, slightly extended to win, repulsed Palmer in deuce sets [illegible] Mulcahy trounced Flanagan 6-2, 7-5, while Woodward easily beat Borden 6-2, 6-2.

The doubles combinations were equally as effective when Myers and Wilson defeated Corsini and Palmer 6-2, 6-2. Mulcahy and Woodward took the measure of Prentice and Norton 6-0, 6-2.

BOULDER SOCIETY SELECTS EIGHT MEN

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Lambda Iota; [illegible] Woodward Delta Psi and D. W. Watkins of Burlington, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The system of choosing Boulder officers is unique. The only office which lasts throughout the year is that of [illegible] distributed among the members of [illegible].

The Boulder staff is a close-knit [illegible] Members also have positions [illegible] the 1934 [illegible].

Activities of Boulder are rather varied [illegible] backs Boulder Week, and has advisory [illegible].

CHARLES LIBBY

[illegible] its freshman year he was class president. In his sophomore year he was [illegible].

ARNOLD ROSS

KEY AND SERPENT HAS TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF SERVICE TO STUDENTS

Purpose to Promote College Spirit, Further Interfrat Relations, Develops Fellowships

[illegible] and Serpent [illegible] society, was founded twenty-five years ago this spring. It has existed for the purpose of promoting college spirit, to further interfraternity relations and to develop good citizenship among the undergraduates. Each year it assists as an honorary committee at athletic contests and at smokers. A smoker is given each year and also an informal dance. The society manages the interfraternity basketball and baseball series, awarding a cup to the winner of each. It is the custom, each [illegible] Key and Serpent [illegible] football letterman, and football managers [illegible] the interfraternity drill [illegible].

[illegible] the winner of the interfraternity drill [illegible].

[illegible] Key and Serpent [illegible] Delta Psi. The membership [illegible] Monday [illegible] the [illegible] and on Sunday [illegible] to [illegible] physically and mentally. Elections are made irrespective of [illegible] and on the basis of the candidates' [illegible].

The Key and Serpent society was founded at an informal supper [illegible] in the spring of 1908. It was [illegible] 1910, then sophomores, before Commencement, 1908. Its first meeting was held at the Sigma Phi Place on October 14, 1908. Elections were held and resulted in [illegible].

COLLEGE HUMOR

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Ivan Gowen

GIRLS' HONORARY SOCIETY SPONSORS A TUTORIAL BOARD DURING THE YEAR

Society Has Charge of Freshman Orientation, Conducts Lilac Day Ceremonies and Dances

[illegible] Mortar Board will long be remembered by the many students who gained aid from it. The board under the direction of Caroline Tate '35 [illegible] Scott '35 [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Dr. Lyman Hunt Addresses Students at Chapel Service

...ence of those qualities ...ant in the life of Ira ...erated and persist, and ... said Dr. Lyman Hunt ... at the Founder's Day ...morning. He exhorted ...der's Day, in times when ...ened by their losses, dis... and reverses, and losing ... may we cherish and ...alities of human charac... enable us to render our ... to ourselves, our Uni... State."

...s address.

...EN THAT LIVE

...rst of May, 160 years ago, ...ert of stature, well built, ... and browned by the win... ...ago, left Castleton, Vt., for ... marking a road through ... New Haven to the Onion ... Winooski Falls. Ira Allen, ...ty-two years old, was born ... Conn., May 1, 1751.

... the date of his birth, for ... it may seem, one who at... University and graduated ... ago, would not have been ... we celebrated Founder's ... date of Ira Allen's birth or ... the laying of the corner ... had not in a careless moment ... President Bailey's invitation to ...under's Day address. I will ... aside behind the fact that many ... equally ignorant of Vermont's ..., or make the excuse that ... Ira Allen was obscure until ... But I would point out ... alone gives proper prominence ... to the deeds of men.

... know what he was doing ... ked that road from Castle... ...gton. It furnishes one of ... examples of that foresight, en... keen judgment that caused ... out during the next twenty ... of the dominant figures in ... this State a free and inde... commonwealth.

... come into the grants, three ..., in 1770, at Bennington, ...dest brother, Ethan, that year ... became the well-beloved ... Green Mountain Boys. In ...tervening years, 1770-73, Ira ... good progress upon a most ... and political career. By ... 1771 he had become owner ... more than 10,000 acres of land in Poultney, Hubbardton and Castleton.

...pt. Remember Baker he had surveyed much of the lands in those ... With this experience and seven ...s study, he completed his professional study of the art of surveying. In the ...ars he surveyed for himself ... vast areas of the State, and later served for many years as surveyer ... Vermont.

While ill in the winter of 1772, he ...tually maps of the New ...grants and came to the con... the best prospects for growth ...ment in the grants were in ... the northern section border... Champlain.

... these conclusions, confident ... judgment, as he seemed ... he determined to purchase ... of land along the banks of ...ski River through Williston ... His brothers, Ethan and ...ed him in this project but ... into partnership with him, ... Baker and others helped se... for these purchases.

... of 1772 was spent in sur... ...lderness along the Winooski. ...convinced him that the falls ... offered opportunities for ...elopment and that the fertile ... the river would become rich ... determined to devote his ... development of this area. ... marking of this road from ... Burlington, 160 years ago, ...out. Ira Allen was coming ... his lot and make his home.

The ... and ... his credit in the lands of ... his industrial enterprise at ... a point that brought him ... at the age of fifty. But ... that his faith was justified. ... more, it should be added that ... he died in such complete ... his family could not raise ... seventy dollars to mark ... place, yet the township of ... taining about 24,000 acres ... the landgrabbers. After ... Allen went there to live ... Ira H., and when she ... which went to this son was ... to five hundred thousand dollars. ... was a wealthy man and all of ... because his father had faith in ... of Vermont.

Energy and industry. ... almost impossible to believe ... could engage at one and the ... in so many personal ... so many political and ... managed and operated ... forges at Winooski ... and labor in an attempt to ... in Canada. Struggled ... mote the building of a canal ... Champlain to the St. ... Served the State almost ... the time he was twenty ... his exile from the State ... until his death. ... that all of his time ... in attending conventions ... for the independence ... served for many years ... as surveyer general.

EIGHTEEN MEN ELECTED TO GOLD KEY SOCIETY

Correction

Bigelow Speaks On Finance

"SPRING SPECIALTIES"

at the

University Store

COMPACTS, BRACELETS

and all forms of

JEWELRY

for

Junior Week

MESS JACKETS

for

SPRING FORMALS

White Linen Jacket, Black Band and High-waisted Black Trousers

Something Very New

$16.50 Complete

Drop In and See Them

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.

127 Church Street

"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.

Sporting Goods for All Sports

Special Prices to Schools, Clubs and Societies

The W. E. Greene Co.

In consolidation with

Patten, Irwin & White

GOLD KEY SPONSORS TWO DANCES IN YEAR

(Continued from page 4)

A gold key is the emblem of the society and the last word in the members is given and hears a good joke announced by a pep committee of the function speech.

Officers are held every [illegible] growing more excellence at the meetings to come. It is also planned to [illegible] which is now [illegible] and which [illegible] three years old take [illegible]

It is rumored that after Christmas and Saturday [illegible] there should [illegible] Gold Key dances given and when [illegible] three years old take [illegible]

Mother: What did your father say when you announced the new car?

Son: Shall I leave out the sweat words?

Mother: Yes, of course.

Son: He didn't say a word—[illegible]

"Are you the educator dance?"
"What's that?"
"Come on the corner with the steps."

ALEX VERRET
113 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables
Home Made Mayonnaise
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 3870, 3871, 3872

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

SPECIAL
SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO MASSAGE $1.00
ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY
JOE'S BARBER SHOP
JOE LANGLOIS Proprietor
BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

BIGELOW SPEAKS ON FINANCE

(Concluded from page 5)

[illegible] wise and orderly though as powerful as the kick of a mule.

Most important of all the problems of finance a situation should be [illegible] avoid. The entrance of state finance and education through a system of competitive examinations might be a very desirable thing. If you and I could have been assured that by passing a required examination we might have secured a college education unhampered by finance [illegible] our efforts might have been materially increased. This problem is up to us, the younger generation, like so many others but we can stoutly contemplate whether or our descendants are able to speak of education in our days as we do of [illegible] support in Ira Allen's day as just a matter of finance.

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 8.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

DO YOU NEED A JOB
Selling a small household appliance [illegible] immediate profits and an income next [illegible] if you want it! Write—THE RARESEE COMPANY, General P. O. Box 61, New York City

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.
TRY US

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Fleming Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES HOME COOKING
Open daily 6.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m.

BROOKLYN LAW SCHOOL
ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY
375 Pearl St., Brooklyn, New York
SUMMER SESSION—June 19—Sept. 1
Courses carry full credit
Forenoon and Evening Classes
Regular Fall Session Begins September 25
For information address the Registrar

Fordham University School of Law
NEW YORK
Case System—Three-Year Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required
Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases
Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY
YOUR LIFE WORK?
The Harvard University Dental School offers a comprehensive course in this field of [illegible] service, which is becoming [illegible] increasingly important in relation to medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school.
Write for catalog
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 42, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

Something to Say
—not just saying something

A friend of CHESTERFIELD writes us of a salesman who had "something to say":

"I dropped into a little tobacco shop, and when I asked for a pack of Chesterfields the man smiled and told me I was the seventh customer without a break to ask for Chesterfields. 'Smoker after smoker,' he said, 'tells me that Chesterfields click . . . I sell five times as many Chesterfields as I did a while back.'"

Yes, there's something to say about Chesterfields and it takes just six words to say it—"They're mild and yet they satisfy."

they Satisfy

Wherever you buy Chesterfields, you get them just as fresh as if you came by our factory door

© 1933, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1933 — NUMBER 52

Cats Defeat Middlebury Saturday, 4-0

Vermont Wins First Conference Game In First Inning Played

A successful season is on! The baseball team, behind the pitching of Ed Layden and the brilliance of the rest of the team, trounced Middlebury 4-0 in a tame game last Saturday.

The first inning was the whole game. Middlebury failed to score and then the Cats let loose their big guns. When the smoke cleared away four runs had been scored. Turn to the sports page for a full account of the game.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS ANNUAL FOUNDER'S DAY CEREMONIES YESTERDAY

Largest Body in Recent History Fills Chapel to Overflowing

Vermont's campus awoke in surprise on the morning of Founder's Day to find practically every student somewhere near, awaiting the commencement of ceremonies. Compulsory attendance had caused this unprecedented happening, the responsibility of which belongs to the University Council and a few representatives of the several classes.

The band and battalion assembled at 8.30 to the accompaniment of many and varied yawns from the partakers. At 9.00 the president of the University and the deans of the colleges appeared in front of the Old Mill to review the companies.

Exercises of the Boulder Society and Scabbard and Blade were attended by the ambitious, those otherwise inclined arriving later for the academic procession which had been scheduled to start at 9.45.

The principal Founder's Day address was made by Lyman C. Hunt, superintendent of Burlington schools, and a graduate of the University in the class of 1912. J. E. Bigelow '33 and R. E. McCuin '34 also spoke, representing the two upper classes. The chapel service ended with the singing of "Champlain" by choir and audience.

As the students passed through the doors they handed in the small cards which testified as to their participation in the exercises of the one hundred and forty-second anniversary of the founding of the University of Vermont.

BAND AND BOTH DOUBLE QUARTETS GIVE CONCERT AT PLATTSBURG, SAT.

Captain M. E. Craig and Professor Leonard in Charge of Trip Across Lake

The men's double quartet and a quartet picked from the Women's Glee Club took a trip across the lake to Plattsburg to help in a music festival held there Saturday, April 29. Joe Lechnyr took the R. O. T. C. band to participate in the celebration.

Mr. Leonard chose the best singers, both men and women, to represent the University at Plattsburg. Miss Jerome also added to the beauty of the concert by her performance with her violin.

Captain Craig of the military science department was in charge of the trip.

DISAPPOINTMENT CONCERNING A FAMOUS ARTIST

By Howard Kenneth Preston

James
Montgomery Flagg,
Is an artist,
Is a wag,
Draws pretty ladies
Svelte and tall,
Smart and charming
One and all.
But I've searched in vain
On boat and train,
And now my interest will lag,
There are no living models for
James
Montgomery Flagg.

AVOCATION DAY UNDER WOMEN'S STUDENT UNION

On May 4 Women's Student Union of the University of Vermont will sponsor two conferences for the purpose of aiding those who are to graduate this year in finding an occupation worthy of their interest and of some benefit to themselves and others.

This day is to be called Avocation Day. There will be conferences at three o'clock and eight o'clock p.m in the Fleming Museum auditorium.

One of the features of this affair will be a miniature village which will be typical of Vermont. Students in classes have been working to make this little village attractive and interesting to those who will see it on the stage of the Museum.

REVISED SCHEDULE OF FINAL EXAMINATIONS ISSUED BY REGISTRAR

Schedule Replaces One Previously Issued and is the Final Schedule

All examinations will begin at 9 a.m and 2 p.m. and will be held in the gymnasium unless otherwise announced.

Monday a.m., May 29—Dairying 1, Dairy Mfg. 11 (Butter Making), German 1, German 2, German 4, Mechanics 2 and 3. Monday p.m., May 29—Economics 114, Geography (T. Tr.), Geology 2, Greek 109, History 6, Psychology 2 (Applied), Psychology 5 (Abnormal), Sociology, Zoology 10.

Wednesday a.m., May 31—Engineer Construction, Home Ec 12, Math. 1 (Arts and Ag., Anal. Geom.), Math. 1 (Arts, Math. of Finance), Math. 1 (Engineer., Anal. Geom.), Math. 2 (Arts, Calculus), Math. 2 (Engineer., Calculus). Wednesday p.m., May 31—Chemistry 111, Farm Mechanics, French 8, General E. E., Genetics (Ag.), History of Art, History 5, History 10, Home Ec. 11 (A and B), Pol Sci. 109.

Thursday a.m., June 1—Care of Child. (H. Ec.), Contracts, Geology 4, Home Ec 8, Indust. Engineer., Latin 14 (Methods), Math. 4 (Proj. Geom.), Pol. Sci. 3, Public School Music 2 (T. Tr.), Soils and Soils Management, Zoology 3 (Home Ec.). Thursday p.m., June 1—Economics 12, Economics 13, Elect. Commun., History 2, Music 8 (Solfeggio), Zoology 2.

Friday a.m., June 2—English 2. Friday p.m., June 2—Botany 115, Engineer Drawing, Forestry (Gen. and 2), History 12, Mech. Drawing, Senior E. E Lab., Zoology 4 (Ag.).

Saturday a.m., June 3—French 1, French 3, French 4.

Monday a.m., June 5—Botany 2 and 3 (All sections), Education 6, Elect. Design, English 3, Geology 1, History 8, Latin 2, Music 1, Physics 105, Psychology 7 (Æsthetics). Monday p.m., June 5—Psychology 1, Psychology 106 (Experiment), Thermodynamics.

Tuesday a.m., June 6—Greek 107, Machine Drawing (Mechanism), Spanish 1, Spanish 2, Spanish 3. Tuesday p.m., June 6—Chemistry 9, Chemistry 15 (Ag.) Chemistry 20 (H. Ec.), Music 3, Philos. 3 (Social Ethics), Public School Music (T. Tr.).

Wednesday a.m., June 7—Economics 2, Economics 7, Education 10, English 7, Greek 1, History 11, Philos. 5 (History), Pol. Sci. 6. Wednesday p.m., June 7—Alt. Currents (Juniors), Alt Currents (Seniors), Bridge Design, Economics 9, Economics 11, English Methods (T. Tr.) Farm Management, Geology 5, Home Ec 9, Internal combustion Engines, Philos. 2 (Ethics), Stock Feeding.

Thursday a.m., June 8—Chemistry 1, Chemistry 21., Chemistry 22, Chemistry 23, Education 4, Greek 6, Math. 7 (Advanced Algebra), Reading Methods

(Continued on page 4)

TORREY '32 RECEIVES COLUMBIA FELLOWSHIP

Henry C. Torrey, a graduate of the University of Vermont in the class of 1932, has been awarded one of the George W. Ellis fellowships for graduate work at Columbia University next year. The fellowships, which are for $1,000, are granted annually to selected graduates of Vermont colleges. The appointment of Fred W. Householder to one of the fellowships was recently announced. Householder is also a member of last year's graduating class at the University of Vermont and is the son of F. W. Householder, assistant professor of mathematics at the University.

Torrey has been doing graduate work in physics at Columbia during the past year. He is the son of John C. Torrey, a graduate of the University of Vermont in the class of 1898, now professor of preventive medicine and hygiene at Cornell Medical College.

"IOLANTHE" PRESENTED LAST THURSDAY IN GYM BY WELL-TRAINED CAST

Large Audience Saw Successful Presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's Opera

Gilbert and Sullivan's "Iolanthe" was presented at the gymnasium Thursday night, April 27, to a large audience. The annual operatic production of the Glee Clubs this year was typically Gilbert and Sullivan with its light, catchy tunes, fanciful though delightful plot, and witty dialogue.

The singers, without exception, fitted their parts admirably, both in personal qualifications and in interpretation. Iolanthe, the title rôle, was acted and sung most pleasingly by Mailla Putnam. Iolanthe was banished by the fairies because of her marriage to a mortal, the Lord Chancellor. D. F. Campbell '34, in playing the part of the Lord Chancellor, excellently displayed his histrionic talents.

Phyllis, the chancellor's ward and the heroine of the action, was carried most admirably by Charlotte Odell '33. Strephon, played with much assurance by R. S. Jenks '35, medic, was the half immortal and half-mortal son of Iolanthe and was loved by the shepherdess, Phyllis.

Priscilla Perry '33 perfectly displayed the art of being a queen, in playing the rôle of the queen of fairies, who was instrumental in having Iolanthe pardoned. The attractive fairy band was led by Elizabeth Johnson '36, Janet Thompson '36 and Marjorie Jenks '35, who should be praised for their splendid acting and singing.

The Earl of Mountararat, D. W. Jenks '34, and the Earl of Tolloller, A. R. Wilcox '35, who found themselves engaged to Phyllis at the same time, afforded much humor in their dilemma. The part of Private Willis, another member of the chancellor's retinue, was played well by W. E. Morgan '33.

The ensembles of the fairies and the peers were very attractive and well executed. The varied colors of the fairies' gowns and the splendor of the red velvet coats of the peers added much to the dances.

The singing and ensemble training was in the competent hands of Prof. Clair Leonard. Mme Elizabeth Bradish was the dramatic coach and Mrs. Isabel Mills the director of properties. Much of the credit for the splendid performance was due to the efforts of these three.

That the results of the operetta were most gratifying is evidenced by the repeated certain appearances demanded by the audience after each act.

The program:

CAST OF CHARACTERS

The Lord Chancellor.....D. F. Campbell
Earl of Mountararat.....D. W. Jenks
Earl of Tolloller.....A. R. Wilcox
Private Willis.....W. E. Morgan
Strephon (an Arcadian shepherd) R. S. Jenks
Queen of the Fairies.....Priscilla Perry
Iolanthe (a fairy, Strephon's mother) Mailla Putnam

Fairies:
Celia .....Elizabeth Johnson
Leila .....Janet Thompson
Fleta .....Marjorie Jenks
Phyllis (an Arcadian shepherdess and ward in chancery) ... Charlotte Odell

(Continued on page 4)

Junior Prom Tickets to Cost $5.00 Says Chairman Dobson

PROM IN GYM, MAY 12

A new low price of $5.00 is announced for the junior prom by C. B. Dobson '34 chairman of the annual function. This price of $5.00 will include the tax and also corsages which normally sell for $1.50. The corsages will be varied to suit individual taste and costume.

In this price also are included tables and refreshments. Tables may be reserved for $1.00 from either C. B. Dobson '34 at the Phi Mu Delta house or T. G. Cogswell '34 at the Sigma Nu house or D. J. Tobin '34 at the Kappa Sigma house.

Mal Hallett and his incomparable orchestra will play at this frolic as previously announced. Mal Hallett plays at the Rhode Island State prom on Thursday, May 11, at the junior prom at the University of Vermont on Friday, May 12, and at Dartmouth Saturday, May 13.

The date of the peerade has been changed from Thursday until Tuesday at 3.00 p.m. The peerade as now planned will be a colorful affair.

The chaperons, as announced by Chairman Dobson, are Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Braun and Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Van Note.

To quote Chairman Dobson, "The gym is to be decorated in an unusual manner. We think everyone should come to see if they will recognize it. We absolutely guarantee a good time for all."

DATE OF JUNIOR WEEK PLAY IS CHANGED FROM THURSDAY TO TUESDAY

"March Hares" to be Given at City Hall Auditorium on Tuesday Night at 8.15

The date for the Junior Week play, "March Hares," originally scheduled for Thursday, May 11, has been changed to Tuesday, May 9, and will be presented at the City Hall auditorium at 8.15 p.m. The change came as the result of a lack of a hall suitable to put the production on that evening.

Under the direction of Mrs. Taggart, the cast is making a forced march through the three acts and working night and day in order to give a finished presentation at that time.

With a well-balanced cast, "Gribble's "March Hares" promises to be one of the most entertaining dramatic productions in recent years. The play will be preceded by the Junior Week peerade to come in the afternoon. The winners of the peerade will be announced between the acts of the play, and the two first places will be awarded permanent cups by the Masque and Sandal and Wig and Buskin, dramatic societies, as has been customary in past years.

Tickets will be on sale by the middle of the week at two prices, 50 and 75 cents. They may be purchased at the book store, Hayes and Carney's, Miles and Perry's, and McAuliffe's. They will be also on sale at a table in the Old Mill corridor on Monday and Tuesday.

EXTENSION SERVICE ON APPLE OUTLOOK

The Extension Service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College makes the following announcement in regard to the apple outlook.

Since there is little likelihood of much improvement in the purchasing power of consumers during the coming year, higher apple prices in 1933 are not to be expected unless there is a crop shortage in some important part of the apple-growing region of the country. During the last three years there has been a steady decline in apple prices corresponding to the general decline in farm products. This trend is due largely to the decline in the general price level, also in part to some reduction in the foreign demand and to a rather rapid shrinkage of the purchasing power of the consumer.

The apple outlook is essentially one of long-time consideration. In the eastern Atlantic states the number of apple trees declined 24 percent from 1910 to 1930. At the same time the total apple production fell off about 17 percent. The tree survey in 1928 showed that approximately 64 percent of the apple trees in the commercial orchards in the East were under nineteen years of age. There has been a shift to the more popular varieties in planting since the World War.

An important feature in the apple outlook is the general fruit situation. Many other kinds of fruit are becoming more abundant and less expensive which may perhaps to some extent have decreased the demand for apples. Nevertheless, it is true that the apple is the major fruit of the country and is consumed in larger quantities and over a longer period than any other fruit. Despite this fact the abundance of other fruits have somewhat increased the difficulty in marketing the large apple crops of the country. However, the long-time outlook for apples in New England is relatively favorable. The protracted depression is beginning to have some effect on the physical conditions of orchards outside of New England and to some extent within New England and unless there is improvement in the near future, there will be abandonment of certain fruit acres, thus somewhat reducing the probable supply. This abandonment is not likely to be serious in New England.

MANY EXHIBITS BEING PREPARED FOR AVOCATION DAY WHICH IS MAY 4

Exhibits Include Weaving, Marionettes, Flower Gardens, Home Decorating and Others

Among the interesting exhibits which will be open for inspection before and after the discussion meetings on Avocation Day, May 4, will be fine weaving, demonstrated by Mrs. Eugene Rhodes of Burlington, one of the most expert weavers in Vermont. Mrs. Mary McAdoo of Bennington is in charge of an exhibition of puppets from the Bennington Marionette Theater. The making and manipulation of puppets, the selection of plays for the marionette theater, costuming, etc., will be demonstrated.

One group of students under the direction of Harriet Platt '33 will make an exhibit of wild flower gardens, such as anyone could duplicate at home. Another group with Elizabeth Crockett '35 as leader will present a comparative exhibit of a poor and good home atmosphere through the arrangement of furniture and the use of pleasing colors.

Book binding and the making of decorative papers will be featured by Miss Florence Maddock of Burlington. Mrs. Brooks of the extension department will give a practical demonstration of the ways in which to improve shabby furniture. Mrs. Edward Benedict of Burlington will show various ways in which to arrange cut flowers, an art which few people know. Students from the art department of the University will present an exhibition of stencil work. Mrs. Jacobs of Burlington in emphasizing the knowledge of birds and insects in one's own immediate environment will put forth an idea of avocational interest. Miss Fisher of the Burlington schools will feature the art of story-telling to children. Also there will be found an exhibit of toys which have an educational value and which may be made by anyone interested to do so.

These are some of the offerings of the Avocational Day exhibit which will be open for inspection before the meetings, at the hours of 1.30-3.00 in the afternoon and from 7.00-8.00 in the evening. All women students are urged to not only attend the conference but to take an active part in the discussion.

The secret of polite conversation, from what we've observed, is never to open your mouth unless you have nothing to say.—Syracuse Orange Peel.

GOLD KEY SPONSORS TWO DANCES IN YEAR

ALEX VERRET
[illegible] CHURCH ST
[illegible]
Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables
Home Made Mayonnaise
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones 2070, 2071, 2072

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
[illegible]
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
[illegible]

SPECIAL
SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO
MASSAGE $1.00
ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY
JOE'S BARBER SHOP
BASEMENT NEW SHERWOOD

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
• • •
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

BROOKLYN LAW SCHOOL
ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY
375 Pearl St., Brooklyn, New York
SUMMER SESSION—June 19—Sept. 1
Courses carry full credit
Forenoon and Evening Classes
Regular Fall Session Begins September 25
For information address the Registrar

BIGELOW SPEAKS ON FINANCE

[illegible] been assured that by passing a required examination we might have secured a [illegible] unhampered by finance [illegible] also to speak of [illegible] as we do of economical support [illegible] let's day as just a matter of finance

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

Fordham University
School of Law
NEW YORK
[illegible]
College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required
[illegible]
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

DO YOU NEED A JO[illegible]
Selling a small household app[illegible] diate profits and an income [illegible] want it! Write—THE RARITET [illegible] General P. O. Box 61, New York

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of [illegible] students and wish to please [illegible] with clean, wholesome f[illegible] at popular prices
TRY US

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY
YOUR LIFE WORK?
[illegible]
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D. [illegible]
Dept. 42, 188 Longwood A[illegible]
Boston, Mass.

Something to Say
——not just saying something

A friend of CHESTERFIELD writes us of a salesman who had "something to say":

"I dropped into a little tobacco shop, and when I asked for a pack of Chesterfields the man smiled and told me I was the seventh customer without a break to ask for Chesterfields. 'Smoker after smoker,' he said, 'tells me that Chesterfields click . . . I sell five times as many Chesterfields as I did a while back.'"

Yes, there's something to say about Chesterfields and it takes just six words to say it—"They're mild and yet they satisfy."

they Satisfy

Wherever you buy Chesterfields, you get them just as fresh as if you came by our factory door

© 1932 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1933 — NUMBER 52

Cats Defeat Middlebury Saturday, 4-0

Vermont Wins First Conference Game In First Inning Played

A successful season is on! The baseball team behind the pitching of Ed Layden and the brilliance of the rest of the team trounced Middlebury 4-0 in a tame game last Saturday.

The first inning was the whole game. Middlebury batted in order and then the Cats let loose their big guns. When the smoke cleared four runs had been scored. Turn to the sports page for a full account of the game.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS ANNUAL FOUNDER'S DAY CEREMONIES YESTERDAY

Largest Body in Recent History Fills Chapel to Overflowing

Vermont's campus awoke in surprise on the morning of Founder's Day to find practically every student somewhere near, awaiting the commencement of ceremonies. Compulsory attendance had caused this unprecedented happening, the responsibility of which belongs to the University Council and a few representatives of the several classes.

The band and battalion assembled at 9:45 to the accompaniment of many and varied yawns from the partakers. At 9:00 the president of the University and the deans of the colleges appeared in front of the Old Mill to review the companies.

Exercises of the Boulder Society and Skeptic and Blade were attended by the ambitious, those otherwise inclined arriving later for the academic procession which had been scheduled to start at 9.45.

The principal Founder's Day address was made by Lyman C. Hunt, superintendent of Burlington schools, and a graduate of the University in the class of 1912. J. E. Bigelow '33 and R. J. McCuin '34 also spoke, representing the two upper classes. The chapel service ended with the singing of "Champlain" by choir and audience.

As the students passed through the doors they handed in the small cards which testified as to their participation in the exercises of the one hundred and forty-second anniversary of the founding of the University of Vermont.

BAND AND BOTH DOUBLE QUARTETS GIVE CONCERT AT PLATTSBURG, SAT.

Captain M. E. Craig and Professor Leonard in Charge of Trip Across Lake

The men's double quartet and a quartet picked from the Women's Glee Club took a trip across the lake to Plattsburg to help in a music festival held there Saturday, April 29. Joe Lechnyr took the R. O. T. C. band to participate in the celebration.

Mr. Leonard chose the best singers, men and women, to represent the university at Plattsburg. Miss Jerome added to the beauty of the concert by her performance with her violin.

Captain Craig of the military science department was in charge of the trip.

DISAPPOINTMENT CONCERNING A FAMOUS ARTIST

By Howard Kenneth Preston

James
Montgomery Flagg,
Is an artist,
He's a wag,
He likes pretty ladies
Petite and tall,
Sweet and charming
One and all.
But I've searched in vain
For beat and train,
And now my interest will lag,
There are no living models for
James
Montgomery Flagg.

AVOCATION DAY UNDER WOMEN'S STUDENT UNION

On May 4 Women's Student Union of the University of Vermont will conduct open conferences for the purpose of asking Vermonters who to advise with this year in looking at occupations worthy of their interest and of some benefit to themselves and others.

This day is to be called Avocation Days. There will be conferences at three o'clock and eight o'clock p.m. in the Fleming Museum auditorium.

One of the features of the affair will be a miniature village which will be typical of Vermont. Students in classes have been working to make this little village attractive and interesting to those who will see it on the stage of the Museum.

REVISED SCHEDULE OF FINAL EXAMINATIONS ISSUED BY REGISTRAR

Schedule Replaces One Previously Issued and is the Final Schedule

All examinations will begin at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. and will be held in the gymnasium unless otherwise announced.

Monday a.m., May 29: Dairying 1, Dairy Mfg. 11 (Butter Making), German 1, German 2, German 4, Mechanics 2 and 3. Monday p.m., May 29: Economics 114, Geography 61, Ec. Geology 2, Greek 109, History 6, Psychology 2 (Applied), Psychology 5 (Abnormal), Sociology, Zoology 10.

Wednesday a.m., May 31: Engineer Construction, Home Ec 12, Math 1 (Arts and Ag., Anal Geom.), Math 1 (Arts, Math of Finance), Math 1 (Engineer, Anal Geom.), Math 2 (Arts, Calculus), Math 2 (Engineer Calculus). Wednesday p.m., May 31: Chemistry 111, Farm Mechanics, French 8, General E. E., Genetics (Ag.), History of Art, History 5, History 10, Home Ec 11 (A and B), Pol. Sci. 109.

Thursday a.m., June 1—Care of Child (H. Ec.), Contracts, Geology 4, Home Ec 8, Indust. Engineer, Farm 14 (Methods), Math 4 (Proj. Geom.), Pol. Sci. 3, Public School Music (T. Tr.), Soils and Soils Management, Zoology 3 (Home Ec.). Thursday p.m., June 1—Economics 12, Economics 13, Fleet Command, History 2, Music 8 (Solfeggios), Zoology 2.

Friday a.m., June 2—English 2 (Friday p.m., June 2—Botany 115, Engineer Drawing, Forestry (Gen. and 2), History 12, Mech. Drawing, Senior E. E. Lab., Zoology 4 (Ag.).

Saturday a.m., June 3—French 1, French 3, French 4.

Monday a.m., June 5—Botany 2 and 3 (All sections), Education 5, Elect. Design, English 3, Geology 1, History 8, Latin 2, Music 1, Physics 105, Psychology 7 (Laboratory). Monday p.m., June 5—Psychology 1, Psychology 109 (Experimental Thermodynamics).

Tuesday a.m., June 6—Greek 107, Machine Drawing (Mechanics), Spanish 1, Spanish 2, Spanish 6. Tuesday p.m., June 6—Chemistry 9, Chemistry 15 (Ag.), Chemistry 20 (H. Ec.), Money, Physics 3 (General Edition), Public School Music (T. Tr.).

Wednesday a.m., June 7—Economics 2, Economics 7, Education 10, English 7, Greek 1, History 11, Physics 5, Surveys, Pol. Sci. 6. Wednesday p.m., June 7—Ab. Currents, Chemist., Ab. Currents, Descript. Geometry, Bridge Design, Economics 9, Economics 11, English, Economics 9, Economics 11, English, Economics 9, Farm Management, Methods (T. Tr.), Farm Management, Geology 5, Home Ec. 9, Internal combustion Engines, Physics 2 (General), Stock Feeding.

Thursday a.m., June 8—Chemistry 1, Chemistry 21, Chemistry 22, Geometry, Geometry 23, Economics 4, Greek 6, Math. 7 (Advanced Algebra), Reading Methods

(Continued on page 4)

TORREY '32 RECEIVES COLUMBIA FELLOWSHIP

"IOLANTHE" PRESENTED LAST THURSDAY IN GYM BY WELL-TRAINED CAST

Large Audience Saw Successful Presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's Opera

Gilbert and Sullivan's Iolanthe was presented at the gymnasium Thursday night April 27 to a large audience. The annual operetta production of the Glee Clubs this year was typically Gilbert and Sullivan with its light catchy tunes, unusual though delightful plot and well-balance.

The singers without exception fitted their parts admirably both in personal qualifications and in interpretation. Iolanthe, the title role, was acted and sung most pleasingly by Martha Putnam. Iolanthe was banished by the fairies because of her marriage to a mortal the Lord Chancellor. D. F. Campbell '34 in playing the part of the Lord Chancellor excellently, displayed his histrionic talent.

Phyllis, the chancellor's ward and the betrothed of the actress was carried most admirably by Charlotte Odell '34. Strephon, played with much assurance by R. S. Jenks '35 made was the half-mortal and half-mortal son of Iolanthe and was loved by the shepherdess Phyllis.

Priscilla Perry '33 perfectly displayed the art of being a queen in playing the role of the queen of fairies who was instrumental in having Iolanthe pardoned. The attractive fairy band was led by Elizabeth Johnson '36, Janet Thompson '36 and Marjorie Jenks '35 who should be praised for their splendid acting and singing.

The Earl of Mountararat, D. W. Jenks '34 and the Earl of Tolloller, A. R. Wilcox '35 who found themselves engaged to Phyllis at the same time afforded much humor in their dilemma. The part of Private Willis, another member of the chancellor's retinue, was played well by W. E. Morgan '33.

The ensembles of the fairies and the peers were very attractive and well executed. The varied colors of the fairy gowns and the splendor of the red velvet coats of the peers added much to the dance.

The singing and ensemble training was in the competent hands of Prof. Clarence Leonard. Miss Elizabeth Bradley was the dramatic coach and Mrs. Isabel Mills the director of properties. Much of the credit for the splendid performance was due to the efforts of these three.

That the results of the operetta were most gratifying is evidenced by the repeated curtain appearances demanded by the audience after each act.

The program:

Cast of Characters

The Lord Chancellor	D. F. Campbell
Earl of Mountararat	D. W. Jenks
Earl of Tolloller	A. R. Wilcox
Private Willis	W. E. Morgan
Strephon (an Arcadian shepherd)	R. S. Jenks
Queen of the Fairies	Priscilla Perry
Iolanthe (a fairy, Strephon's mother)	Martha Putnam
Fairies:
Celia	Elizabeth Johnson
Leila	Janet Thompson
Fleta	Marjorie Jenks
Phyllis (an Arcadian shepherdess and ward in Chancery)	Charlotte Odell

(Continued on page 4)

Junior Prom Tickets to Cost $5.00 Says Chairman Dobson

DATE OF JUNIOR WEEK PLAY IS CHANGED FROM THURSDAY TO TUESDAY

"March Hares" to be Given at City Hall Auditorium on Tuesday Night at 8.15

[illegible] Mummers' Play, "March Hares," originally scheduled for Thursday, May 11 has been changed to Tuesday, May 9, and will be presented at the City Hall auditorium at 8:15 p.m. The change came as the result of the fact that City Hall was unable to put the production on that evening.

Under the direction of Mrs. Leggett the cast is working a harried hours throughout the three acts and working night and day in order to give a finished performance at that time.

With a well balanced cast, capably [illegible] Mummers' promises to be one of the most entertaining dramatic productions of the season. The play will be preceded by the Junior Week parade to [illegible] the audience. The winning [illegible] parade will be announced between the acts of the play and the loving cup award will be awarded permanent [illegible] by the Mummers and Skeptic and Blade dramatic societies as has been customary in past years.

Tickets will be on sale by the middle of the week at the price of 50 and 75 cents. They may be purchased at the book store, Hayes and Carmody's, Myles and Perry's, and McAuliffe's. They will be also on sale at a table in the Old Mill corridor on Monday and Tuesday.

EXTENSION SERVICE ON APPLE OUTLOOK

The Extension service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College makes the following pertinent statement in regard to the apple outlook:

Since there is little likelihood of much improvement in the purchasing power of consumers during the coming year higher apple prices on [illegible] are not to be expected unless there is a crop shortage of more importance part of the apple growing regions of the country. During the last three years there has been a steady decline in apple prices corresponding to the general decline in farm products. The speed is one largely to the decline in the general price level of all or part to some reduction in the acreage devoted and to a rather rapid shrinkage in the purchasing power of the consumer.

The apple outlook is essentially one of long time consideration. In the eastern Atlantic states the number of apple trees declined 24 percent from 1910 to 1930. At the same time the total apple production fell off about 17 percent. The trees remain, in fairly [illegible] but approximately 64 percent of the apple area in the commercial orchards in the East were under [illegible] years of age. There has been a [illegible] to the more popular varieties [illegible] since the World War.

An important feature in the apple outlook is the general trend toward [illegible] Many other foods at least are becoming more abundant and less expensive relatively, and perhaps in some cases [illegible] decrease in the demand for apples. Nevertheless, it is true that the apple is the major fruit of the country, and is consumed in larger quantities and over a longer period than any other fruit. Despite this fact the abundance of other foods have contributed to reduce the difficulty in marketing the large apple crops of the country. However the long time outlook for apples in New England is relatively favorable. The pronounced depression is beginning to have some effect on the planting intentions of orchardists outside of New England and in some outside sections New England and other sections in the production in the near future there will be abandonment of orchards [illegible] commercial [illegible] the product supply. The abandonment of [illegible] is becoming in New England.

PROM IN GYM, MAY 12

[illegible] has given a $5.00 is announced by the junior prom chairman C. B. Dobson '34 yesterday. The price [illegible] will include the tax and [illegible] which normally will be $6.50. The committee will be limited to [illegible] and alumni.

[illegible] will [illegible] be available [illegible] Lindsley pays [illegible] $1.00 from either C. B. Dobson '34 at the Phi Mu Delta house or E. G. Caldwell '34 at the Sigma Nu house or [illegible] '34 at the Kappa Sigma house.

Mal Hallett and his incomparable orchestra will play at this frolic as previously announced. Mal Hallett played at the Rhode Island State prom on [illegible] May 11 at the second prom at [illegible] University of Vermont on Friday, May 12 and on Wednesday, Saturday, May 13.

The date of the prom[illegible] has been changed from Thursday until Tuesday at 8:00 p.m. The parade as now planned will be a colorful affair.

The chaperons as announced by Chairman Dobson are Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Dobson and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Van Scoy.

In regards Chairman Dobson [illegible] "The gym is to be decorated in an unusual manner. We think everyone should come to see it as they will recognize it. We absolutely guarantee a good time for all."

MANY EXHIBITS BEING PREPARED FOR AVOCATION DAY WHICH IS MAY 4

Exhibits Include Weaving, Marionettes, Flower Gardens, Home Decorating and Others

Among the interesting exhibits which will be open for inspection to the public after the discussion meetings on Avocation Day, May 4, will be the weaving demonstrated by Mrs. Eugenia Russell of Burlington, one of the most expert weavers in Vermont. Mrs. Mary McAdam of Burlington is in charge of an exhibition of puppets from the Barnstormers Marionette Theater. The making and manipulation of puppets, the selection of plays for the marionette theater, costuming, etc., will be demonstrated.

One group of students under the direction of Harriet Dyer '33 will make an exhibit of what flower gardens, even at present would look like in June. Another group work, Elizabeth Crockett '33 as leader will present a complete [illegible] exhibit of a quiet and good home atmosphere through the arrangement of furniture and the use of pleasing colors.

Book binding and the making of decorative papers will be featured by Miss Florence Maddock of Burlington. Mrs. Brooks of the extension department will give a personal demonstration of the ways in which to improve [illegible] Mrs. Edward Hosmer of Burlington will show pictures and articles to arrange and [illegible] and where they should belong. Pictures, [illegible] from the art department of the University will present an interesting [illegible] of many years. Mrs. Lynds will [illegible] in emphasizing the knowledge of [illegible] and correct [illegible] many [illegible] mistakes [illegible] will put forth as [illegible] of unnecessary [illegible]. Miss Foster of the Burlington schools will [illegible] the art of [illegible] to children. Also there will be [illegible] of [illegible] which have [illegible] [illegible] and which may be made [illegible] interesting to the [illegible].

There are [illegible] of the [illegible] of the Avocational Day [illegible] public will be urged [illegible] from [illegible] The meetings at the [illegible] at 1:30 [illegible] in the afternoon and from 7:00 [illegible] in the evening. All persons [illegible] are urged to pay early attention [illegible] to take an active part in the discussion.

The secret of polite conversation from what we observed is never to open your mouth unless you have nothing to say.—Syracuse Orange Peel.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

[illegible] Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

[illegible] Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] Managing Editor
[illegible] Sports Editor
[illegible] Recording Editor
[illegible] Business Manager
[illegible] Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

[illegible] Assistant
[illegible] Wright '35

[illegible] White '35
Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

[illegible] Greenberg '34

COLUMNIST

[illegible] Weissman '34

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

[illegible]

Edna Leach '36

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge DUSTIN WHITE

Founded in 1882. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year; single copy five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at The Vermont Cynic office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 1103, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication: Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 May 2, 1933 No. 52

Editorials

ONE AGAINST THE WORLD

Another semester will soon draw to a close and another group of seniors will graduate from four years of relative ease into an extremely cold and complex world. The seniors who appeared yesterday for the first time in cap and gown are about to step off into that gulf of chaos which signifies the termination of the college years and the beginning of life's real work.

From the standpoint of anyone of the graduating seniors, the situation is clouded in a robe of tragedy. If the student represents a typical college gentleman, he has squandered his time and energies for eight hectic semesters, enjoyed a bit of comparative leisure, and tried hard not to spend too much time over the drudgery of studies. His psychology has been that of any normal human being who perceives an opportunity to evade responsibility as long as possible.

The graduating senior may even justify his stand by pointing out that most of the subjects he has taken in college will do him very little good while he is out in the world. His sincerity in this declaration, however, probably has lessened considerably with the troublesome doubts that have oppressed his mind during these days of depression. He has a feeling that perhaps it would have been wiser to prepare himself a little more earnestly for the battle with life.

He may recall the times when he studied business English—and never learned the primary fundamentals of punctuation. He may write a letter of application to some large business firm, and then realize with regret that he has to turn even such a slight matter over to the inspection of a friendly Phi Beta Kappa.

Indeed, he begins to realize that while no one knows quite how to end the economic dilemma, and therefore, is no real authority as a teacher of economics, he himself would be better fitted for the tremendous task before him if he only knew the trials and errors of those who have gone before.

All these—and many more—vague thoughts surge through his mind. The graduating student wonders what to do. Where can he go to look for a job? How can he hope to get himself started towards earning his own living? Can it be true that the quota of ten million idle men has increased to a number much larger? What are these rumblings about a revolution? Where is the faith in that government "of, by and for the people" which has been praised to him these many years?

The questions arise by the dozens, but the responses are not so easily found—and if they are answered at all, he is assailed by a feeling of utter helplessness.

One against the world—a starving, dazed world—a world of war, revolution and suffering—a world that realizes the international character of its distress, and yet refuses to concede to any sort of international cooperation.

The graduating senior pauses. Surely, there must be some solution to the troublesome situation—or even a way to evade it. He prays briefly, yet earnestly, and looks furtively for relief. But there is none. College days are over; it is truly a matter of one against the world.

"Greetings, your Lordship, and how have things been going with you?"

"Not splendid your Majesty. Did not the Englishmen tell Your Majesty that I have just returned from Ravenswood Manor where I vacationed for the grouse season?"

"Indeed, no. But tell me, did your Lordship find the shooting quite fascinating? No doubt you brought back a splendid bag. By the by, did your Lordship indulge in the chase any while you were away?"

Ah, yes dear old Lady Whifflesniffle invited me over to Brothwothlingham Castle for a merry fox hunt, and—"

"Listen, you two mugs," interrupted the movie director, "if you can't put any more feeling into your lines than that I'll fire the both of you, savvy?"—Wisconsin Octopus.

She: Hello, rolling your own cigarettes?

He: Yeah, the doctor said I ought to get more exercise.—Amherst Lord Jeff.

Where is Education Leading Us?

[illegible]

The Scribe

By Fod Trimp

[illegible]

[illegible] Ray Long, Butcher met [illegible] and Arnold in Syracuse a couple of weeks ago.

[illegible] spring has the [illegible] at 12 at the Indo Club [illegible] ing the Agonizing Anvil [illegible] the home of the Old [illegible] has been discontinued since Easter [illegible].

[illegible] Minotti unit should be awarded [illegible] shoes. Undoubtedly the best [illegible] pattern in the gem all [illegible] that song go for Blue Jazz." Incidentally the boys had their innings Saturday night. We overheard one admirer coed chirp the following endearing twaddle: "I'm just cwazy 'bout boys that raise the dickens." Don't you love it, mates?

G. W. Squarhead Patterson shot the works Saturday night, garbed his alabaster body in Sowka's clean shirt and crossed the Delts on a late dance date. Remember the "Caliph of Colchester" and the factory throwout in the late demented Kake Walk? Yea! That's George.

Blondes, Karl Marx and Columbia

The effrontery of college students to imagine that they have a right to read, think or write about questions that are before the public today!

Columbia does just right in expelling its radical newspaper editors, the University of North Carolina is perfectly right in forbidding certain radical speakers to appear on the campus, and what could be more fitting than a padlock for an Ann Arbor bookstore that would offer for sale books by Karl Marx, Norman Thomas, and Upton Sinclair?

We must not encourage the idea of gaining information on all sides of a subject, and, furthermore, students' heads should not be bothered with such things. Their thoughts should be confined to the prospects for the football team or the blonde that sits in the front row of the English class.—The Oklahoma Daily.

I [illegible] a one I should send him to a university and say to him: He very special about getting them just an artificial mind of you. As regards the books they would want you to read, don't read them.

A school textbook is, by definition, an unreadable book. The fact that I am an educated, uneducated man is due to the fact that I never could read school books of any kind. The time I was supposed to devote to reading school books I was reading real books—books written by people who could really write, which is never the case with the authors of textbooks.

Be careful, as I say, to read the real books and just do enough of your textbooks to prevent your being ignominiously kicked out of the university. Read the good books, the real books, and steep yourself in all the revolutionary books. Go up to your neck in communism and everything of the kind. If you don't begin to be a revolutionist at the age of twenty, then at fifty you will be a most impossible old fossil. If you are a red revolutionary at the age of twenty, you have some chance of being up to date when you are forty.

"I can only say to all of you: go ahead in the direction I have indicated. Always argue with your teacher. If possible, if you have a professor of history who gives you his view on history, what you have got to say is, 'Now, look here, we have heard your views, but what we are going to do is to find another professor of history who disagrees with you. Now let us hear you two argue it out.'

"Always learn things controversially. You will find there is a continual plot to teach you one side of a thing dogmatically. A great many young men come to the university who are entirely incapable of probing, and yet you have to give them degrees, consequently you teach them something by which they can answer questions. If you taught them that there are two sides to a question, they would be hopelessly confused. This is what you have to do. When your professors and tutors put some facts before you, occasionally you have to say, 'Nothing doing, that is not worth remembering.' Like a rag picker going over the dust heaps of history, you have to evaluate what you find, keep the sound things and forget the rest as completely as possible. Then you will go about like an educated man, you will go about with a few things worth remembering. The man who keeps everything not worth remembering often attains the highest university degree, but the only thing to do with such a man is to bury him."

Mr. Shaw has spoken most entertainingly as usual. However, in one of his statements, at least he has got been entirely correct. The civilization of Greece and Rome was not, at the time of their collapse, the same as ours. They were not suffering from excess of education but from a sameness of mental outlook. For about a thousand years before the collapse of these two nations the Greeks had a system of government so self sufficient that they felt and would countenance no belief in the superiority of any other country in any matter whatsoever. The Romans, on the other hand, believed themselves superior in government and in the use of arms but admitted themselves inferior to the Greeks in the matter of art. In literature they agreed that the Greeks were supreme. During that period not a single thing which required thought was produced by either of these two nations, not a single writing that is read today by any but the curious.

But after the invasions of the Barbarians from the north of Europe a new civilization was born. The world is now a great federated community. Every nation is individual but they are all bound together by an almost universal religion and by international law. The one thing to be preserved now is that individuality of nations. When the time comes, and if the time comes when all the people in the world look up to one literature as THE literature; to one art as THE art; then the world will soon come into the same state as the Greeks and Romans before their collapse.

Is there a danger of this mental stagnation? That is where Mr. Shaw's words have a foundation of good sense. In the education of the present day, students are too prone to accept the teachings of the older generation as absolutely correct. This mental stagnation on the part of many students at our universities and colleges is extremely detrimental to the best interests of human welfare. Of course, there is research at all times, but do the many question the results of this research? Anything can be proved by mathematics.

The part of Mr. Shaw's address which should be carefully weighed by the modern educators is that which pertains to education by controversy. The value of debate has never been entirely understood nor sufficiently highly estimated.

At the present time in Des Moines, Iowa, there is being inaugurated a system for the education of adults which promises great results in securing a more democratic and skeptical outlook on the parts of those participating. The classes are conducted in the manner of a forum and the subjects discussed are proposed by the class members. The leader speaks for half the time, giving an outline of the subject at hand and a brief synopsis of the views of modern leaders at that time. The other half of the time is taken up by the class members.

In conclusion, it may be said that individual thinking should be fostered to a much greater extent in our schools and colleges. This original thinking does not mean that applied in the solution of the problems in the textbook, but that applied by the students to the subject matter in the book. There is too much memorization of material required memorization of material which is forgotten soon afterwards and need never have been learned. Unless this original thinking is applied to a greater extent the world will soon find itself in the same condition as the Greeks and Romans before their collapse, i.e., in a state of mental stagnation. When the time comes and the world finds that the older generation is sufficiently strong to dominate the younger, then the human race will have started on its decline and will continue to decline until a violent cure is administered.—Daily News.

THEATRE

Flynn

[illegible]

State

(M. T.) The Mask [illegible] ground of strange [illegible] chasing [illegible]. Karl [illegible] the match king climbs [illegible] of matchwood from [illegible] Yankee Stadium to [illegible] match king, always [illegible] ahead of his financial [illegible] is ruthless in his lust for [illegible] not hesitate to kill—but [illegible] woman, who refuses [illegible] destruction. Warren [illegible] Farrell, etc. Good cast, [illegible]

(W. T.) Scarlet Dawn [illegible] and close clip, Doug, Jr. [illegible] story of a young Russian [illegible] forced to flee in the revolution. [illegible] Carroll and Lilyan Tashman [illegible] head clash.

(F. S.) Hard to Handle [illegible] show. Full of promotion stunts [illegible] gets into trouble, dough, love [illegible] thing. One wisecrack treads [illegible] heels. That naughty Mizner [illegible] wrote the story. Ruth Donnelly, [illegible] comer, almost steals his show. [illegible] Jenkins, Claire Dodd, etc. Good.

Strong

(M. T. W.) Oliver Twist [illegible] young Dickie Moore. Good.

News Flashes From Columbia Studios

With the coming of daylight [illegible] the usual spring revision of [illegible] schedules is in process, and several [illegible] lumbia's broadcasts move to new [illegible] "The Friendly Philosopher," Pedro Cordoba, with Will Osborne's Orchestra, is now heard over CBS stations [illegible] ton, Buffalo, New York, and Providence at 10.45 a.m., E. D. S. T. It is broadcast over the other stations of the [illegible] work at 11.45 a.m., E. D. S. T.

Howard Barlow's Columbia Symphony Orchestra programs are now heard from 10.45 to 11.15 p.m., E. D. S. T., Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays, while Nino Martini's recitals are presented on Mondays from 8.15 to 8.30 p.m., E. D. S. T., and on Fridays from 8.00 to 8.30 p.m. E. D. S. T.

Elder Solomon Lightfoot Michaux and his Saturday morning Church of the Congregation are now heard from 10.00 to 10.30 a.m., E. D. S. T.

Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson, whose musical comedy melodies have been heard over Columbia every Friday morning for the past three years, and Don Voorhees and his orchestra, now from May 7 to Sunday afternoons from 5.30 to 6.00 p.m., E. D. S. T.

The Sunday programs of classical organ music from the Salt Lake Tabernacle are now heard from 12.00 Noon to 12.30 p.m., E. D. S. T.

The Sunday Matinee of the Ambassador, Jack Osterman and Victor Arden's orchestra, has reduced its time to 30 minutes, at 2.30 p.m., E. D. S. T. [illegible] days, making way for a new program at 2.45 p.m., E. D. S. T., featuring [illegible] Mexican stage and screen star, who is a Gus Edwards protegee.

COLLEGE HUMOR

Panhandler: Say, buddy, could you spare a buck for coffee?

Gent: A dollar for coffee? [illegible] terous!!

Panhandler: Just tell me yes or no, but don't try to tell me how to run my business!—Carnegie Puppet.

WORDS, WORDS

By Dorothy Ann Blank

I think that I shall never see
A word that so entrances me
As "pipsqueak".

Although I sometimes lean to "gobbledygook"
A word that knocks me for a loop
Is "nincompoop".

But then I think I'm very fickle
Today the word that seems to tickle
Is "pumpernickel".

Visitor: Your son is making progress with his violin. He is beginning to play quite nicely.

Host: Do you really think so? We were afraid we'd merely gotten used to it.—Annapolis Log.

"According to latest reports there are more women under arms in Russia than in any other country in the world."

"Except the United States—at night."—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

SPORTS NEWS

TENNIS TEAM TROUNCES WORCESTER TECH, B. U., TUFTS IN MASS. INVASION

Team Creates History in Opening Matches of 1933 Season

The University tennis team rode on to victory all through the recent trip. Capt. Hugh Wilson added his usual undefeated record with Smith and Myers close behind. Mulcahy lost the only match of the trip to Smith of Boston University. For the first time in about six years the team has defeated these three teams. Professor Carpenter of the German department who coaches the team deserves much credit.

Worcester Tech 0—Vermont 6

In the first match of the season at Worcester, the Vermont netmen flashed through a sweeping victory over the Tech racketers in cold, raw playing weather. Wilson easily defeated Corsini, 6-1, 6-1. Myers had to battle to win over Palmer, 6-4, 7-5. Mulcahy defeated Flanagan, 6-2, 7-5. Woodard trounced Borden, 6-1, 6-2.

The Green and Gold netmen met with equal success in the doubles matches. Wilson and Myers took Corsini and Palmer 6-3, 6-2, while Mulcahy and Woodard trounced Prentice and Norton, 6-0, 6-2.

Vermont 5—B. U. 1

The University of Vermont's tennis team defeated Boston 5-1. Smith, the Terriers' No. 3 player, outplayed Mulcahy, for a 3-6, 6-1, 6-2 victory to the B. U. from a shut-out. Carl Clem, B. U.'s five-sports star, was moved up to No. 1 position in place of Russell Wight, whose bruised heel kept him out of the singles competition.

The summary:

SINGLES

Wilson (V) defeated Clem, 6-3, 6-3.
Myers (V) defeated Woodbury, 6-1, 6-2.
Smith (BU) defeated Mulcahy, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2.
Woodward (V) defeated Asbury, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4.

DOUBLES

Wilson and Myers (V) defeated Wight and Woodbury, 6-3, 6-1.
Mulcahy and Woodward (V) defeated O'Keefe and Scammell, 2-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Vermont 6—Tufts 0

In their third straight victory of the season the Catamounts swept through the Tufts netmen with a 6 to 0 score.

Wilson defeated Walker, 6-4, 6-1. Myers took Whittaker, 6-2, 7-5. Mulcahy had to work with Cavanaugh to win, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1. Woodard fought through two long sets with Hathaway to win, 8-6, 10-8.

Wilson and Myers defeated Walker and Whittaker in doubles, 6-4, 6-0. Mulcahy and Woodard won from Sheinberg and Claus, 6-3, 6-2.

A T O WINS CLOSE GAME OVER DELTA PSI 7-6

By the close score of 7-6, the A. T. O.'s won the first game in League B of the fraternity schedule from Delta Psi on Friday afternoon. Lanahan, pitching for ATO, struck out four and walked five, going the full game. Collins of Delta Psi struck out five and walked three. Morgan, replacing Collins in the final frame with three men on and no outs, struck out the first three to face him.

ATO: Joly, ss; Hart, lf; Williams, 2b; Lanahan, p; Brislin, 2b; Macomber, cf; McCrea, c; Columbo, rf; Gordon, 3b.

Delta Psi: Gay, 2b; Marks, ss; Collins, p, cf; Squires, 1b; Morgan, p; Simons, 3b; Pierce, lf, Powell, rf.

Batteries: Gay, Marks, Morgan, Simons, Powell.

ATO 7, Delta Psi 8.

Landlady: A professor formerly occupied this room, sir. He invented an explosive.

Boomer: Ah! I suppose those are the ceiling are the explosive.

Landlady: No. They're the professor's Lion

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTS EDITOR—

Layden the Catamounts copped their first home game of the season last Saturday [illegible]

[illegible] all that they could get.

Bobby Rapp started the Green and Gold [illegible] knew it was over at a [illegible] advantage.

McKay's long triple to right and Hall's triple to left gave color to the first inning fireworks.

Buster Garrett and Enos Ramon certainly did some fine work in the outfield. They traveled in all directions and gave an exhibition of fielding which drew praise and cheers from all corners of the lot.

Tuffy Bowers, despite the "loud support" he got from the Middlebury fans, caught a great game and his bare-hand spear of one of Elmer's jug-handle throws was a beauty.

The tennis players followed the example of the baseball team and did a fine job of cleaning up on the Boston trip.

Trouncing Worcester Tech 6-0, Tufts 6-0, and Boston University 5-1, the boys and their coach are in line for the highest praise and congratulations we can give them.

Capt. Hugo Wilson, Norm Myers, Bernie Mulcahy, and Pretzel Woodward acted as masters of ceremony at the recent Boston festivities.

It seems too bad that of all the baseball officials in the State we should have to watch and pay for the officiating of one who was so strongly in favor of fraternity taxation a short time ago. Mr. Burns, to our mind, was one of the staunchest supporters of a bill which was against our interests and still he is hired and paid to work at our athletic contests. We can't see why he should be thanked for working against us and we would be very pleased to find him absent at our remaining baseball games.

Will all men desiring to scrub the business side of the 1937 Freshman Handbook please meet me at the Sigma Delta House Wednesday at 7.30 p.m.

W. R. HAUKE,
Business Manager.

Looking Ahead to the 1933-34 Philharmonic Season

The Columbia Broadcasting System announce that it will carry the full schedule of thirty Sunday afternoon concerts by the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra for the 1933-34 season. Bruno Walter, distinguished German maestro, will direct the first part of the season, and Arturo Toscanini, General Musical Director, will return for his ninth consecutive year to conduct the second part, with Hans Lange on the podium for the intervening concerts. The series of six concerts for children and young people, directed by Ernest Schelling, will be broadcast on Saturday mornings.

Despite present financial conditions, the coming season has been increased from twenty-nine to thirty weeks, the same personnel will be retained, and there will be no reduction in the orchestra's size. The concerts will be broadcast from Carnegie Hall, New York, over the coast-to-coast WABC-Columbia network on Sundays from October 22 to April 29.

During the season just concluded 105 compositions were broadcast on twenty-nine Sunday afternoons, with [illegible] twenty soloists heard included such artists as Hermann Hemsley, Zinaida Gabel, [illegible] Prokofieff, Milstein, and Peter Dawson. Beethoven and Wagner were the favorite composers with twenty and nineteen performances respectively. Par[illegible] world air premieres given were the Wagnerian Symphony No. 2 by Joseph Passacaglia, the Vivaldi-Bach Concerto, Tansman's Toccata, and the [illegible] Bach-Schoenberg Prelude and Fugue in E flat major.

Cats Win First Conference Game Defeating Middlebury 4-0, Team Plays Brilliant Ball

INTERFRAT BASEBALL SCHEDULE GAME TODAY

[illegible]

NINE BASEBALL PLAYERS RECEIVE TWELVE PRIZES

Twelve prizes were donated by Burlington merchants as awards for baseball merits won by members of the University of Vermont baseball team on its southern trip. Fourteen players were carried on the trip and nine of them took at least one of the prizes, Captain McKay annexing three. McKay rated as best hitter, scored the most doubles and the most stolen bases. Burns captured the home run award and the award for most scores. Most valuable player, Layden; most triples, Palmer; most walks, Bowers; most singles, Taft; most spirit, Ramon; best fielding average, Bent; best pitching average, Swartz.

KITTENS ENCOUNTER G. M. JUNIOR COLLEGE WEDNESDAY, MAY 3, AT 4

Start the Season With a Fairly Strong Team That Should Win

The frosh baseball season opens officially Wednesday afternoon when the Kittens encounter the team from Green Mountain Junior College on Centennial Field. Two or three practice games have been played with the varsity and one with the nodies and the first-year men are all primed up to turn in an impressive victory.

Although Doc Newton has not definitely decided on the starting lineup it is almost certain that Stretch Kirley will do the tossing with Dick Billings on the receiving end. Kirley has been very impressive in the early season workouts and much is expected of him.

Coach Newton seems well satisfied with the infield. Brian Young is a fixture at first, while over at third Andy Werner has been showing the fans how the dizzy corner really should be played. Williams will cover the keystone bag with, either Funk or Degree at short.

The outfield has caused Doc no little worry. He is undecided as yet who will roam the outer garden and probably won't pick his men until game time. The several promising candidates include Lasker, Hunt, Workman, and Dodd.

Nothing definite is known of the opponents' strength, but both coach and team are confident of turning in a victory regardless of what it may be.

Cavalry Spirit

Not since the days of Mazzuchi and Weston has the word to the wise been invoked as sufficient, but now is the season for prophet hards to again walk the earth. It is the overwhelming opinion on the Green that, for seasons too evident in every bull session to need repeating here—"the military has gone to hell." The outstanding marks belong to an alumnus [illegible] manufacturing [illegible] a progressively indifferent attitude on the part of the Corps generally which seems [illegible] to gathering momentum as it goes along. However, all things come to an end somewhere, and this is intended as a [illegible] to the effect that indications [illegible] a lightening up of [illegible] Just [illegible] Lent [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Vermont Fraternities

BETA SIGMA OF SIGMA NU

[illegible] was founded at [illegible] Middlebury, Dartmouth, [illegible] January 1, 1901. Besides the [illegible] of the United States at the time [illegible] there are many [illegible] colleges represented. [illegible] controlled by a national grand [illegible] There are also [illegible] of the Alpha Chapter of a [illegible] and several [illegible] Associated with the University of Vermont chapter is the [illegible] Beta Sigma Chapter was [illegible] Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Massachusetts [illegible] Pi chapter.

Among prominent members of the [illegible] are Zane Grey, author of several western novels; [illegible] Lloyd, a famous young Boston [illegible] who successfully took other [illegible] to the Boston Opera Company; [illegible] Hendrickson, an [illegible] Manager Henderson, an [illegible] who is known [illegible] and the [illegible] of a biography of George [illegible] Among the [illegible] Sigma Nu [illegible] Alexander [illegible] and Charles [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

el picador

VOLUME 1 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MAY 5, [illegible] — NUMBER 3

TERRESA FLOGBOTTOM CHOSEN CARNIVAL QUEEN—IT'S A LIE

WHY WE NEED A NAVY

Hangover Queen Not Half as Pretty as Ours—Buy American Goods

Terresa Flogbottom, popular Barnyard girl was elected Carnival Queen at the annual Carnival Sprawl held in the new Barn until it got away early this morning.

At Barnyard, Miss Flogbottom is acting captain of the Fire Company, president of the Safety First Club, and also star catcher on the intra-rural sofa-scratching team, a three-letter sport in itself. While passing through her junior year she was halted three times for ineligibility by President J. Carp Fishsmeller but each time was given the presidential approval after a short session in his private office.

Jessie, as she is affectionately called by the Barnyard cowlets, was soused in a suit of snowshoes daintily trimmed in red and mauve, her lavatory school colors (Bath-wahborn, situated in Manchester-by-the-Sewer). On her head she wore two expectoration curls and she was greased in geese greese from head to foot. From thence to there she was clothed in pigs flesh gently tinted with dust colored dust while on her chest three snow white snowflakes melted in the heat of the carnival spirit. Moving below we find that she had a bag of peanuts and popcorn dangling front and rear, while around her plump but candid hips the latest stock market quotations were tattooed. This was offered as an explanation for the group which continually asked to be allowed to look closer. She carried an exquisite back scratcher although she admitted to many observers that she preferred to have some one else do the scratching anyway.

Her escort had not been located at the time the paper went to press although reports were circulating that he was last seen headed in the general direction of Europe.

When she led her tiny sister into the hall ten men whose identity could not be ascertained, shouted in unison "Tessie," and upon seeing her sister rushed out of the festive hall. She was chosen after a short but fierce campaign after which every other girl there left.

When interviewed by our correspondent she shyly picked her nose and said, "Ay tank ay ban go home now. Hello momma, hello poppa, I lofe your bootiful countree—your tall buildings—your beautiful men—your excrutiating buildings—ah Mark Antony—Aristotle—Mussolini—and Ahhh Joe Toolin." When asked what she meant by this last statement she would only say "Ahhhhhhhhhh" and then grunting bashfully as though she had bared her soule beyond mere realms of feeling, quickly turned three somersaults and the next corner.

—ep—

J. COBBS EXPLAINS QUAKE TRICKS

Dr. J. Cobbs, University geological authority, has announced that he has at last discovered the true nature of the earthquake that recently shook New Wowoski to its foundations and caused damage to six empty beer bottles and killed two cows which were grazing in the main street of the metropolis at the time of the accident.

Dr. J. Cobbs declares that after long and thorough investigation he has come to the conclusion that the shock was "a shaking or trembling of the earth's surface due chiefly to a faulting of the rocks but also to volcanic explosion." He says that his discovery will startle the scientific world and will insure a place in history for him.

The question has long puzzled leading scientific minds and he himself has made a lifelong study. He had an opportunity to make first hand observations during the recent quake and has since completed his study. He says that the key to his search was reached when he decided to consult a dictionary. He reasoned that such an action would be ridiculed by his associates but felt that he was willing to sacrifice all in the name of learning.

This is not the first time that Dr. Cobbs has tasted fame. Previously he was highly honored for discovering a method by which engineering students could find the product of four and four without the help of a slide-rule.

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

Just a few of the boys snapped after taking a flyer to Mont Real. Thatch Hubbard on the Left, A.A., Pete, Ross in the Middle. The guy on the right is Chain gang Hubbard, but if you're sober you'll see a fourth man, Psyche Mulcahy hiding in the stripes of them windblown slacks.

Review of "The Winnowings"

PROF. P. D. CARLETON.

Among the recent acquisitions for review which have come to our desk, by far the most pretentiously edited is the spring and summer number of the Montgomery Ward & Company's catalogue. This work, which is one of the most scholarly publications in America, is compiled from the overwhelmingly erudite researches of countless corset designers and thermos bottle statisticians who represent a tradition of respectable and scholarly intellectuality. This semi annual publication has for long given Europe, Alaska and the Canary Islands a hint of the superb cultural superfluities which have in the aggregate continued to contribute to the growing development of the American consciousness.

The current issue of the Catalogue contains on its format a copy of Paen Inconnu's poignant painting of American home life done in a sepia reproduction. No selection of the editors could have been more wise nor more fitting, for certainly American home life is the backbone of American character, and the laws of supply and demand could not be more connotatively symbolized than in this touching reproduction of Inconnu's. It inspires morality, mother love and suicide.

The first article in this tremendous commentary on American civilization is a masterly piece of expository writing on the potentialities and the innate characteristics of the installment plan which has done more to encourage the distribution of the free thinking, mission furniture and the Five Foot Shelf than all the philosophical stimulus of the American college. Rousseau anticipated by a century and a half, in his frequently unread "Confessions", the dignity and the necessity of freely expressed desire, but that philosophy has reached the flowering culmination of its vitality in the contemporary installment plan ethics. The conclusion which the authors of this exegesis quite naturally arrive at is one of assertive affirmation. I no need no longer be crushed under by a wizened lack of the necessities of existence, if your ego is wasting away from deprivation or if three piece velour tapestry suite all that you need to acquire is five dollars down and the best intentions, and a full life becomes yours again.

The first piece of original research in this compendious anthology is on gowns a subject on which Lanvin and Worth are said to have come to blows in the presence of six unarrayed mannequins. But here is a versality of representation that is amazing, with the commentaries translated from the original Greek and Latin into an easier cognizance of American dialect written for the masses, not the whole body of running comment have we been able to discover the erudits of even a lone split infinitive. The section devoted to gowns is followed by one on hats, hose and hip suspenders. One forgets the multitude of detail that comprises feminine costume until he is confronted by such a frank revelation as the chapter on lingerie, but we were inclined to pass over this a bit hurriedly for fear of detection. We do not advise letting the too young peruse this chapter for it has the capability of developing undesirable attitudes. We are not sure whether we entirely advocate such frankness, even in a survey so authentic and scholarly; the illustration might have more wisely been tempered with let us say—petticoats, perhaps.

The contributions on feminity are followed by various others on men's apparel, bath towels, occasional chairs and bath tubs, and these in turn are followed by various others on harnesses, camp stools and kitchen ranges, until there is left untouched no phase of American development, forming a comprehensive survey that would make an Eskimo shudder at the thought of being an American.

Our chief objection to a publication of this sort lies in the field of personal reaction to such brazen disregard for restraint. It is not always wise for a publication to be too conscientiously frank, and stout gentlemen are not always handsome when arrayed to full view in long woolen drawers. It is depressing to be reminded of such things, and very often this have been the cause of revolutions. We wonder if Montgomery Ward might not perhaps profit by a greater assumption of the reticent, with less tendency towards an emphasis on the pornographic.

—ep—

THE FIGHT—A Descriptive Narrative

By WALTER VAN TILBURG CLARK

One fighter
Lies
In a corner
The crowd
Leaves
The arena
A man
Stands up
Suddenly . . .
He cheers
For
The guy
Who remains
Lying
In the corner

—ep—

"Don't worry about me boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

Co-ed's Obtain New Parlor Equipment For Their Dates

DEADLINE FOR QUESTIONNAIRE IS SATURDAY NOON

Unlimited Cuts Penalty for Failure to Fail Out Says Queen

In keeping with the spirit of the times the Dean proposes [illegible] the interest of [illegible] Presented herewith is a questionnaire covering practically every phase of college life. The results will be devoted to the edification of educators and the stupefaction of the dumb witnesses possible. It is hoped that the questions will be taken in the proper spirit [illegible] and that the result will show true care and thought.

Please do not comment on [illegible] questionnaire to friend and [illegible] can [illegible]

R. I. STATE COLLEGE

SENIOR QUESTIONNAIRE

Are you engaged? Yes 27 No 63
Do you intend to marry? Yes 75 No 12
Favorite sport? Basketball 34 Football 31 Ping-pong 1, Co-edding 1
Do you drink? Yes 42 No 46
Do you believe in co-education? Yes 86, No 9
Have you ever gone co-edding? Yes 70, No 22 Think I'm crazy? 1
Most common subject of bull sessions: Sex 42, Women 18, What do you think? 1
Approximate cost of "date": $2.00 17 Nothing 5 $10 5, $.05 1
Greatest thing acquired in college education: Friendship 15, Room-mates clothes, appetites, debts 1.
Which do you prefer? Brunettes 46, Blondes 33, Reds 7, No imination 4
What living figures do you admire most? Jean Harlow 20, Gandhi 7, Ann Corio 3, Female 2, My girl's 2
What figure in history do you admire most? Lincoln 20, Cleopatra 10, Washington 9, Casanova, Lady Godiva 1
Favorite novelist? Sinclair Lewis 9 Vicki Baum 5, Wayne King, Chic Sale 1
Quite versatile these Little Rhods men?

The following questionnaire is to be filled out and returned to the pale green box in the bookstore before noon, next week.

Age
Sex
Living
Father
Great grandmother's maiden name
Average length of right toe nails
Favorite indoor sport?
Favorite outdoor sport?
Color of hair
What do you think of Freud
Does your mouth taste funny
What do you do Wednesdays from nine thirty to ten p.m.?
Have you got a sister?
Can you converse in Bronx
What is the capital of Croatia?
In what position do you study play cards?
Has your any friends in Yonkers
Why wear a truss
Has your rug been [illegible]mentazed
Do you believe in fairies?
Who is that dark man in the corner
How do you know
Who was Mahatma Gandhi here Was
Who's your little hoosier
Can you keep a secret?
Is there any cocoa leaf
Why were the war
Lemon or cream
Have you tried Ethyl
Does ammonia bother you?
Who got me?

—ep—

Baba Cali Mooma dear mooma dear have you anything I eat
Mooma Cow You said a mouthful
(Hoover book sales)

—ep—

MORAL

Early to bed
Early to rise
And you'll never have satchels
Under your eyes

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

ALL APPROVE NEW PLAN

Big Break in Store for Campus Lads; "Wotta Life" Say Town Gals

The student activity fee cards were drawn [illegible] at a recent meetings of the [illegible] council [illegible] were passed [illegible] from the [illegible] of all [illegible] that were [illegible] to provide for the construction of a [illegible] [illegible] and the [illegible] parlors in the women's [illegible] Each [illegible] deals with special [illegible] [illegible] at the present.

It is the planned to assign each date the use of [illegible] two cars in order to [illegible] [illegible] A trip can will be [illegible] to [illegible] of the [illegible]

At the same time it was decided that the social fees [illegible] will be increased [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Vermont Fraternities

BETA SIGMA OF SIGMA NU

"If I Had a Million"

On Taking Things for Granted

AT COLUMBIA

WAKING TO A FAIR HAIRED BOY

By Dorothy Ann Blank

You're very pleasing to the eye.
Your manners are unmistakable
Your face that certain something lend—
You are distinctly neckable

But as a rock to lean upon
You're purely ornamental
For all the sober facts of life
Are only incidental

There's just one way to punish you—
(The Greek gals found it dandy)
Like Lysistrata, I'll be firm
And take away your candy

SCHEDULE ISSUED FOR FINAL EXAMINATIONS

(Continued from page 1)

ON THE AIR - - -

THEATRE CLUB PRESENTS "MEET THE WIFE"

Melodrama of Confused Relations Climaxes Eleventh Season

OPERA PRESENTED IN GYM LAST THURSDAY

(Continued from page 1)

Bits of Bunk

MODERN

According to the returns—

Awoke at eleven with a headache. Took aspirin. Slept through two classes. Slept for an hour. Went to cocktail party. Went to dance. Went to joint. Went to crap game after date. Went after dawn to roadhouse. Went to bed.

As it really is—

Up at seven and put on suit. Went to library. Studied from eight to twelve. Went to class. Went to library. Studied. Went to dinner. Went to library.

—Ohio State Sun Dial

A young sailor was cast away on a desert island. After he had been there for nine years, he espied a sail on a neighboring island. Braving the waves he swam there to find a beautiful young woman awaiting him. Approaching her he said:

"How long have you been here?"

"Why, I've been here only six years," she said.

"Six years! Why I've been on this island for nine long years."

"Why, you poor man, all alone for nine years! Well, I'm going to tell you something you've been waiting for a long time."

Said the sailor: "Lady you don't mean to tell me you've got beer!"—Annapolis Log.

PREFERENCE

By Coe Kiser Smith

I'd rather have pneumonia,
I'd rather have a tumor,
I'd rather have most anything
Than have no sense of humor.

1st Chaperon: Young Herbie is a model youth.

2nd Chaperon: Yes. I admire the manly way he got up and left the room when the subject of babies was brought up.—Orphan.

Sleeping at the police station right in a pinch.—Illinois Siren.

"I thought that you had died."

"Of course not. Why?"

"I heard someone speak well of you this morning."—V. P. I. Skipper.

"I've been trying to think of a word for two weeks."

"How about 'fortnight'?"—Western Purple Parrot.

She was so dumb she thought soup was a kind of shampoo.—Frivol.

The only modernistic furniture really practical is a cork screw.—Syracuse Orange Peel.

He: We came for the Democratic convention.

She: Oh, yes. Where are they?—Kansas Sour Owl.

Bearded Lady: Help! There's a flea under my beard.—Colorado Kicker.

Operator: Number, please?

Sultan's Wife: Oh, what a line!—Lafayette Lyre.

"How tall is that native here?"

"About six feet two—or three feet."—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

He: Do you think a girl ought to love before eighteen?

Him: Hell, no; too late then.

"The way that leading man kissed last night set me to thinking."

"Ah! The Miracle Man."—Ohio Sun Dial.

THE LAST WORD IN TECHNOCRACY

We suppose the future model robot gets is the bird.—Lord Jeff.

Curious Old Lady: Where's your leg, haven't you?

Cripple: Well, damme!—Kitty Kat.

Lucy: Are you a real Scotchman, Sandy?"

"Sure, but I was born over here to save the price of a passage over."—Carnegie Puppet.

Wife (at 2 a. m.): Is that you, Henry?

Late Henry: Jush' minute, honey, 'til I look at m'ol' snapshot 'n' fin' out!—M. I. T. Voo Doo.

The India Rubber Man: Hey, Sadie! Tie a knot in my finger so I won't forget the groceries, will ya?—Northwestern Purple Parrot.

Her: Have you heard the story about the nasty military officer?

She: No. What about him?

He: He was rotten to the corps.—U. S. C. Wampus.

1st: Is Bruno a good watch dog?

2nd: Is he? Why, our house was robbed three times and Bruno watched intently.

And there they were—the ice all around them was cracking—they couldn't do anything—they were desperate—would nobody bring the liquor?—Nevada Desert Wolf.

Joe says: "A bachelor is a man who doesn't make the same mistake once."—Ohio Green Goat.

JUST ANOTHER SAD CASE

The girl who became a bigamist because her father was a two-gun man.—Syracuse Orange Peel.

Stude: I was all set to propose to you last night, but I lost my courage.

Co-ed: How did that happen?

Stude: I think it must have fallen out of my hip pocket on the way over to your apartment.—Annapolis Log.

2 c. Every time I kiss you it makes me a better man.

O.A.O. Well, you don't have to try to get to Heaven in one night.—Annapolis Log.

"I've lost my job."

"Don't worry, dear. We have our budget to fall back on!"

el picador

VOLUME I — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1933 — NUMBER 3

TERRESA FLOGBOTTOM CHOSEN CARNIVAL QUEEN—IT'S A LIE

WHY WE NEED A NAVY

Hangover Queen Not Half as Pretty as Ours—Buy American Goods

...resa Flogbottom, popular Barnyard ... was elected Carnival Queen at the ... Carnival Sprawl held in the new ...rn until it got away early this ...

...Barnyard, Miss Flogbottom is act... ...ptain of the Fire Company, presi... ... the Safety First Club, and also ... catcher on the intra-rural sofa... ...ing team, a three-letter sport in it... While passing through her junior ... ... was halted three times for in... ... by President J. Carp Fishsmeller ... ...ch time was given the presidential ... ...al after a short session in his pri... ...ffice.

...ssie, as she is affectionately called ... Barnyard cowlets, was soused in ... ... of snowshoes daintily trimmed in ... and mauve, her lavatory school col... (Bath wahborn, situated in Manches...-the-Sewer). On her head she wore ... expectoration curls and she was ... in geese greese from head to foot. ... thence to there she was clothed in ... flesh gently tinted with dust col... dust while on her chest three snow ... snowflakes melted in the heat of ...rnival spirit. Moving below we find ... she had a bag of peanuts and pop... dangling front and rear, while ... her plump but candid hips the ... stock market quotations were ...ted. This was offered as an ex... ...n for the group which continually ... to be allowed to look closer. She ...ered an exquisite back scratcher al... ...ugh she admitted to many observers ... she preferred to have some one else ... the scratching anyway.

Her escort had not been located at ... time the paper went to press although ...orts were circulating that he was ... seen headed in the general direction ... Europe.

When she led her tiny sister into the ...all ten men whose identity could not be ...ascertained, shouted in unison "Tessie," ... upon seeing her sister rushed out ... the festive hall. She was chosen after ... short but fierce campaign after which ...very other girl there left.

When interviewed by our correspon... ...ent she shyly picked her nose and said, ...A tank ay ban go home now. Hello ...amma, hello poppa, I lofe your bootiful ...ountree—your tall buildings—your ...beautiful men—your excrutiating build...ngs—ah Mark Antony—Aristotle—Mus...olini—and Ahhh Joe Toolin." When ...sked what she meant by this last state...ment she would only say "Ahhhhhhhhhh" ...and then grunting bashfully as though ...she had bared her soule beyond mere ...codes of feeling, quickly turned three ...somersaults and the next corner.

—op—

J. COBBS EXPLAINS QUAKE TRICKS

...r. J. Cobbs, University geological ...ority, has announced that he has at ... discovered the true nature of the ...rthquake that recently shook New ...rk to its foundations and caused ...mage to six empty beer bottles and ...ed two cows which were grazing in ...e main street of the metropolis at the ...e of the accident.

...r. J. Cobbs declares that after long ...d thorough investigation he has come ...o the conclusion that the shock was "a ...aking or trembling of the earth's sur...ce due chiefly to a faulting of the ...ust but also to volcanic explosion." He ...ims that his discovery will startle the ...ntific world and will insure a place ...history for him.

...e question has long puzzled leading ...entific minds and he himself has made ... a prolong study. He had an oppor...nity to make first hand observations ...ring the recent quake and has since ...evoted his study. He says that the ...ue to his search was reached when ...e decided to consult a dictionary. He ...ded that such an action would be ...ndemned by his associates but felt that ...e was willing to sacrifice all in the ...me of learning.

...is is not the first time that Dr. ...obbs has tasted fame. Previously ...e was highly honored for discovering a ...ethod by which engineering students ...uld find the product of four and four ...ithout the help of a slide-rule.

—op—

...t worry about me, boys, I'm an ...d billiards drinker."

Just a few of the boys snapped after taking a flyer to Mont Real. Thatch Hubbard on the Left, A.A., Pete, Ross in the Middle. The guy on the right is Chain gang Hubbard, but if you're sober you'll see a fourth man, Psycho Mulcahy hiding in the stripes of them windblown slacks.

Review of "The Winnowings"

PROF. P. D. CARLETON.

Among the recent acquisitions for review which have come to our desk, by far the most pretentiously edited is the spring and summer number of the Montgomery Ward & Company's catalogue. This work, which is one of the most scholarly publications in America, is compiled from the overwhelmingly erudite researches of countless corset designers and thermos bottle statisticians who represent a tradition of respectable and scholarly intellectuality. This semi annual publication has for long given Europe, Alaska and the Canary Islands a hint of the superb cultural superfluities which have in the aggregate continued to contribute to the growing development of the American consciousness.

The current issue of the Catalogue contains on its format a copy of Bien Inconnu's poignant painting of American home life done in a sepia reproduction. No selection of the editors could have been more wise nor more fitting, for certainly American home life is the backbone of American character, and the laws of supply and demand could not be more connotatively symbolized than in this touching reproduction of Inconnu's. It inspires morality, mother love and suicide.

The next article in this tremendous commentary of American civilization is a masterly piece of expository writing on the petechiaities and the neuate characteristics of the installment plan which has done more to encourage the distribution of the true thinking moment our future and the Five Foot Shelf than all the philosophical stumbles of the American college. Reasoning unexcelled by a scalpel and a knife is he responsible for the read "confession" the degree and the necessity of fraud, exercised decent, has that philosophy has reached the flowering culmination of its vitality in the contemporary installment plan ethics. The conclusion which the authors of this exegesis quite naturally arrive at is one of positive affirmation. The weak are to be crushed under by a wizened luck of the necessities of existence; if your ego is wasting away from deprivation of a three-piece velour tapestry suite, all that you need to acquire is the desire therefor and the best percentage and a girl friend becomes yours again.

The first piece of original research in this compendious anthology is on gowns, a subject on which Lanvin and Worth are said to have come to blows in the presence of six unarrased mannequins. But here is a scientific representation that is amazing, with the commentaries translated from the original Greek and Latin into an easier acquisance of American dialect written for the masses, nor in the whole body of running comment have we been able to discover the crudity of even a lone split infinitive. The section devoted to gowns is followed by one on hats, hose and hip suspenders. One forgets the multitude of detail that comprises feminine costume until he is confronted by such a frank revelation as the chapter on lingerie, but we were inclined to pass over this a bit hurriedly for fear of detection. We do not advise letting the too young peruse this chapter for it has the capability of developing undesirable attitudes. We are not sure whether we entirely advocate such frankness, even in a survey so authentic and scholarly; the illustration might have more wisely been tempered with—let us say—petticoats, perhaps.

The contributions of feminity are followed by various others on men's apparel both formal occasional shirts and hats ties and shoes in turn are followed by tactful others on harmonious camp stools and kitchen ranges until there is but untouched the phase of American development featuring a contraceptive surface that would make an Eskimo shudder at the thought of being an American.

One short chapter to a publication of this sort has in the void of personal reaction to such brazen disregard for restraint. It is not always wise for a publication to be too conservative in its tastes and some gentlemen may not always have handsome white arrayed in fine new in long wooden drawers. It is depressing to be reminded of such things and most stores have their place in the scheme of things. We wonder if Montgomery Ward might not perhaps profit by a greater appreciation of the necessity of less freedom towards an explanation of the photographs.

—op—

THE FIGHT—A Descriptive Narrative

By WALTER VAN TILLISON CLARK

One fighter
Lies
In a corner . . .
The crowd
Leaves
The arena
A man
Stands up
Suddenly . . .
He cheers
For
The guy
Who remains
Lying
In the corner . . .

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

Co-ed's Obtain New Parlor Equipment For Their Dates

DEADLINE FOR QUESTIONNAIRE IS SATURDAY NOON

Unlimited Cuts Penalty for Failure to Fail Out Says Queen

In keeping with the spirit of the times the CVSAC prepares to do its bit for the [illegible] by [illegible]

R. I. STATE COLLEGE SENIOR QUESTIONNAIRE

Are you engaged? Yes 27, No 63.
Do you intend to marry? Yes 73, No 17.
Favorite sport? Basketball 34, Football 31, Ping-pong 1, Co-edding 1.
Do you drink? Yes 42, No 49.
Do you believe in co-education? Yes 86, No 9.
Have you ever gone co-edding? Yes 70, No 22, Think I'm crazy? 1.
Most common subject of bull sessions? Sex 42, Women 18, What do you think? 1.
Approximate cost of "date"? $2.00 17, Nothing 5, $10 5, $.05 1.
Greatest thing acquired in college education? Friendship 15, Room mate clothes, appetites, debts 1.
Which do you prefer? Brunettes 46, Blondes 33, Reds 7, No imination 4.
What living figures do you admire most? Jean Harlow 20, Gandhi 7, Ann Corio 3, Female 2, My girl's 2.
What figure in history do you admire most? Lincoln 20, Cleopatra 10, Washington 9, Casanova, Lady Godiva 1.
Favorite novelist? Sinclair Lewis 9, Vicki Baum 5, Wayne King, Chic Sale 1.
Quite versatile these Little Rhody men!

The following questionnaire is to be filled out and returned to the pale green box in the bookstore before noon, next week:

Age? .....
Sex? .....
Living? .....
Father? .....
Great grandmother's maiden name? .....
Average length of right toenails? .....
Favorite indoor sport?
Favorite outdoor sport?
Color of hair
What do you think of Freud
Does your mouth water when What do you do With those arm chairs in the parlor
Have you got a sister?
Can you converse in French
What is the capital of
[illegible]
In what position do you prefer
[illegible]
Have you ever kissed a Negress?
Are you a Yankee
Are you a Red
Have you ever been interested in psychology or Spiritism
What is that dark place on the ceiling
How do you know
Have you Mahatma Gandhi
Have
Where were you born
Can you keep a secret
Do you like the sea
[illegible]
Have you read Ulysses
Does amnesia bother you? .....
Why go on? .....

Baby Calf: Mommy dear, mommy dear, have you anything t' eat?
Mommy Cow: You said a mouthful, dear. Now shut up!

MORAL

[illegible]
Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

ALL APPROVE NEW PLAN

Big Break in Store for Campus Lads; "Wotta Life" Say Town Gals

[illegible]

THE MUSE CONVERSES

Guest Conductor: Arthur Brisbane
H. G. Wells and Albert Einstein on a [illegible]

Wells: I tell you Albert that space is emptiness. If you would bother to read my "Outline" in fact, if you think it over you might find that emptiness is space. In terms of that [illegible] like Mrs. Eddy's "Mind is All and All is Mind."

Einstein: Bosh curves, my eye! Space is space, but as for the whole I think you should have skipped space your self and out of it followed your self out in two dimensions ahead of you.

Wells: Sorry I always bow to Science. But I can't get over your recent statement that the earth is ten billion years old, not three billion, as the smaller fry scientists have been saying. I'm glad to hear it though, even if it does make my original "Outline" look anachronistic. You may recall I gave the oldest rocks at that time only 1,000,000,000 years. Next time I'll know better; I'll play safe and call it fifty billions.

Einstein: If you hear of anybody outbidding me let me know. I guess I have a little pride left.

Wells: What the man in the street needs is a world view. It will make him see that he is [illegible] that he is a mere atom on the past. Personally I feel a bit cramped in that mental cell. I guess I was born for bigger things.

Einstein: You probably heard that I'm going to stay in America six or seven months a year beginning next autumn. The lights are coming out along. I am [illegible] in their latest estimate of the Cosmos. Let's see, Wonderful, big figures.

Wells: I suppose the [illegible] are not [illegible] in America will appreciate [illegible] to [illegible] at [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

el picador

EDDY TAURIAL

What a laugh! El Picador is here again. Again everything. Any one honored by personal mention should blease not worry about it. Worry-spontible for everything. Use el picador for wadding you musket. You musket el picador. Use it instead of the mailorder catalog. Use it instead of the dogalog. What a laugh!

—ep—

Feel like starting this thing off with a few words about those persons one usually meets in class. They are known by various titles—instructors, professors, doctors, and some that are quite unprintable. We'll call them all profs (no discrimination allowed, and that goes for dogs, wives and kid brothers). In case some of you stewdents haven't heard about them we'll give a few pointers on the genus profus.

The Prof! The prof is an odd sort of a critter who spends most of his time telling tells calling hogs or just calling. At one time most profs were educated animals, but now some of them aren't.

Their Purpose in Life. This is another favorite point with these birds. Most of them would rather be cowboys, Indians, lumber camp bandits or anything else except another prof. But they are compelled by the Fates to attempt to instill learning into that greatest group of ungrateful morons in history: the American college student.

Types Met of the Prof. As far as we know there are two. They are always entering classrooms with harassed expressions or leaving classrooms with that same harassed expression. In between times they discuss texts—relics found in their cave prior to just from the current days of the Inquisition. In Liberal Arts the texts are called pogroms.

—ep—

OH HELL—

[illegible] by this word "hell"? [illegible] It's used in hell [illegible] there are. It's how to hell [illegible] Worse of course. It's hell, this over [illegible] that's hell where it's dirt [illegible] like hell, to see it snow [illegible] a "hell" of a wind" when it starts [illegible]

[illegible] is hell" and anyone will [illegible] What in hell" does mean by this word [illegible]

[illegible] expression like to "hell" there are. Where in comes in, into there's "hell to [illegible]

When starts to roll, it's a "hell of a [illegible]

It's "hell" when the kid you have to [illegible]

It's "hell" when the doctor sends his [illegible]

For a "hell of a lot of trips and pills. When you get this you know real well [illegible] what it meant by this word "hell."

[illegible] "hell" and "Oh hell" [illegible]

"To hell with that" and "the hell it is" [illegible] "the hell with it" and "the hell with [illegible]

Now, what in hell" and "oh hell" [illegible]

And what the hell do you think I [illegible]

[illegible] "to hell" [illegible]

—ep—

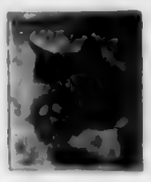
A professor at Detroit College suggests that students be given live pigs instead of sheepskins at graduation, because they may at least eat the former.

Engineering courses instead of sheepskin [illegible]

—ep—

[illegible] Never let studies interfere with your college education.

[illegible] Never let examinations penetrate with your college education.



[illegible] Never let [illegible] your college education.

[illegible] Never let your college education [illegible] your having a good time.

—ep—

[illegible] must be all the temperament you [illegible] to find with his mother and father.

The Catty Co-ed says

"Isn't Sylvia Boyd good-natured, though. I always hear her singing the first thing in the morning while she dresses."

"Hell, it isn't because she's good-natured; the bathroom door won't lock."

—ep—

Goody!

Galvin: Today's Saturday, isn't it?
Thatch: Yeah.
Galvin: Hot dog! Funny papers tomorrow.

—ep—

Mulcahy: I was out with a nurse last night.
Ray: Cheer up. Maybe your mother will let you go out without one some time.

—ep—

"Hey!" cried Satan to the new arrival, "you act as if you owned this dump."
Greenan: I do. My wife gave it to me.

—ep—

Slant

These correspondence love courses are hot stuff—but what girl doesn't learn wooing through the male?

—ep—

Slant

Nudist colony enthusiast gets frozen ears.

—ep—

George the Jannie says:

"Figures show that there are twice as many boys in the library now than girls,—which makes petting odds 2 to 1."

—ep—

George the Jannie Says:

It's not the corn on those tired feet that need removing on a Saturday nite date, but the corn in the stomach.

—ep—

THE WORLD'S TEN MOST INTERESTING FIGURES

(1) Jean Harlow
(2) Mahatma Gandhi
(3) Kate Smith
(4) Primo Carnera
(5) Groucho Marx
(6) Venus de Milo
(7) Mae West
(8) Mickey Mouse
(9) Paul Whiteman
(10) Jimmy Durante.

—ep—

Wellesley girls have decided not to speak to each other when they meet on the campus.

And we don't blame them. .. ..

—ep—

END OF CHILD LABOR IS URGED BY HOOVER

N. Y. Times.

How do you manage it, Herbert, zippers?

—ep—

BEWARE!

Wedding leads to wedding!

—ep—

WANT AD—

WANTED—Small apartment by couple with no children until May 1.
Can we count on that?

—ep—

George the Janie Says:

I can't stand for you guys throwin' cans around the hall, but you'll find the garbage can

—ep—

So we call our dog "Yours Truly" because he's the last of the Litter.

—ep—

Depression Song

"I-O Everybody, I-O."

—ep—

Slant

[illegible] wants to get married those days is a mystery, and why they get married today is a Hypocrisy.

—ep—

Nudist Colony establishes traffic [illegible] system.

—ep—

Professor: Can anyone give the derivation of the word [illegible]
Freshman: Yes, from Arabic bear and Taurus, bull. A place where you—Professor: That will do

—ep—

[illegible] home, drop me home. I'm an old billiards drinker."

Author's Arena

White Zombie

BY SPARKLING KRAMER

[illegible] I was born in Saint [illegible] I don't know. I don't know [illegible] I don't even know [illegible] Mr. Mother was a Mongolian, Mr. Mongolian daughter of Mongolian and Irishman, the Nazi [illegible] I am the only son of a widow who [illegible] and all me love me ernings [illegible] to [illegible] my good father and [illegible] because since his support I am. [illegible] I am a good supporter. A [illegible] I ate animal crackers; when [illegible] I cried dog biscuits, [illegible] those. I swallowed small [illegible] of [illegible] to counteract, my [illegible] the [illegible] I ate [illegible] digests [illegible] to this [illegible] Once when only ten, I stood on the [illegible] edge of Niagara Falls pondering the drop of water in the [illegible] and must [illegible] hours, the fifth hour, my mother, recognizing my nurse, found me. "Save my cicrl!" I cried. I finished grammar scool in nine years, high scool in six, and college in twelv, with honors in the dummy. I would hav been graduated in eleven years but I lackt special methods in roadmarking. Grant's tomb is a concrete case. After sum harrowing experiences on a farm and a boring year producing oil, I entered the lumber business, concentrating on plank steaks, college boards, and Virgil's Elk Logs. About this time I attempted to raise a house on jacks, but the dealer had three treys, so I dropt into a restaurant and got a new hat. In this way I contracted smallpox, thus at last being abl to giv my creditors sumthing.

"The Doctor's at the door. Will yu see the sturgeon?" my widow winsumly witticized.

"No. Tel him I'm sick."

"You're in bad shape, Tiberius," averd Dr. Tyfoon-Monsoon, (K. S. B., K. K. K. and K. K.) "Shall I call a priest?"

"What did yu say I had?"

"Smallpox. And a demb bad case, b'ged," gingerly jested the gigolo.

"Then call a rabbi! Do yu think I want to giv a priest smallpox? What makes me breathe so fast?"

"Your lungs, yu monolith! What yu need is a post-mortem examination," Monsoon murderously menaced.

"It all began with talking in my sleep when I was at college."

"Oh, did yu talk in your sleep?"

"No," I replied, peeling an orange with an old razor blade, "but the professors did." (Not bad, eh?)

I improved from that moment. Soon improvement was noted, altho the nurses noticed an improvement, but the doctor cald it improvement. "Tomorrow," he said, "there may be a slight improvement." Despite these predictions, however, the next day broght forth sum improvement.

The following night, I took my litl boy to hear Salha Patica sing the title part in "The Twelfth Night."

"Vater," said he, designating the conductor and Patica, "cet homme, pourquoi essaie-t-il a le frapper avec cette canne?"

"Hush, Umbilicus, he's not hitting at her!"

"Well, then, what's she hollering for?" logically countered the sion. "Wil yu sing for me tomorrow?"

"No. Sarcofagus. I sing only in my bath."

"So sorry yu're out of practis, old timer. Why don't yu take a shot at playwrighting?"

"I did onse, mon brave, but the work was too long for the stage."

"Couldn't they lengthen the stage?"

The next day I shipt him off to the Yale scool of Human Relations with a cupl of aunts of mine that are the same way. I was waching Howard Thurston turn his Lincoln into a driveway when I notised an 'out-to-lunch' sign on a restaurant door. A inscription on the cornerstone red:

Overheard in a Restaurant—Soup

The Bank Servs no Soup; We Cash no Checks
In God We Trust; All Others Pay Cash
There is No God But Allah, And Denny Is His Profit
We Keep Prince Albert In A Humidor

"Let Him Out!! Fire!! I roared. Hectically breaking open a telefone booth, I struck a much on a cake of soap, stript the gears to cool the motor, and turnd the hose on my feet.

"Central, giv me Adam 812 .... Western Union! Knock-Knee Rockne speaking. Hold that line! Take a miligram to Infant Brothers, North Handlebars, Arizona. Say: "RUSH ENLARGED FOTOGRAPH OF GRAND CANYON STOP CAN BEAT CASES OF TRAVELING SAMARITAN WHO GAVE BIRTH TO OLD WOMAN COMMA ZOO KEEPER WHO WAITED UP ALL NIGHT FOR STORK COMMA AND HEN THAT LAID GOLDEN Eg (good yolk, eh?) COMMA SINCE NIGHT-MAYOR WALKER JUST LAID CORNERSTONE STOP STOP UNLISTED STOCKS LISTLESS COLON SINKING FUND SUNK COLON WAGE OF SIN REPORTED AS LAST EARNER STOP WILL ARRIVE BY

Here is a late portrait of the playboy of the Western World. Ard cheered on to political victory by every nation in the civilized world, gentleman has established a rule of wise conservatism which will take him (Catch on?).

HERE IS A PICTURE OF A DORG. THIS NAUGHTY DORG LIKES TO STEAL BONES. WHEN HE STEALS ONE HE HIDES IT WHERE NO OTHER DORG CAN FIND IT. THIS SHOWS THAT HE IS A CAPITALIST DORG, NOT A GOOD COMMUNIST DORG. HE HAS JUST STOLEN TWO BONES. (NERTS. TO YOU), AND YOU MUST TAKE YOUR PENCIL AND MAKE TWO SHORT, STRAIGHT LINES TO SHOW WHERE THEY ARE LYING ON THE GROUND NEAR THE DORG. OF COURSE IF YOU ARE NOT QUITE SOBER THE LINES WILL NOT BE VERY STRAIGHT. DRAW THEM AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE AND THEN GO ON. DON'T BE ASKIN' WHY. ALL THE TIME.

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

PARACHUTE IN TIME FOR S P C A BUL FIGHT STOP HAVING FRIED AND EATEN EG COMMA CAN LAY EG IS NOW OUT OF FRYING PAN AND IN FRIER STOP."

This done, I ran out in time to see the firemen arrive and the Jew hung out a sign, 'FIRE SALE: SMOKING JACKETS".

"The electrin lights on the third floor!" said Fireman I.

"The gas lights on the second floor!" parried Fireman II.

"The Israelites on the first floor!" triumphed Fireman III.

"Would yu mind watering the bird bath before you go?" I askt.

"My clothing store! My clothing store!" announced another Semitic.

"Is this your clothing store?" I consoled.

"No! No! I sat on a nail. My clothing's tore! My clothing's tore!"

He had a luvly funeral; six men wer required to carry the beer. They arrested me in an invisibl hairnet as I was drinking a glass of vanishing cream.

It was a trying situation for the judg. "The jury finds yu gilty," he suggested.

"That's all right. I know yu're too intelligent to be affected by what they say," I rejoined, lighting a cheroot.

"Hav yu even been in trubl before?"

"Well, I was fined onse for overtime on a library book," I said brightly.

"I'll teach yu to back-talk to me, yu unspeakabl corruption! Keep your mouth shut and tell me what actually happened when yu went to this woman's apartment."

"I merely remarkt that I did not like the wallpaper."

"Ah, ha! Mural turpitude! Ten years for knocking her flat!"

"Have yu a cigaret lighter, warden?" I askt the following August.

"No," said August, "they're all the same weight. Yu have ter minutes of grace."

[illegible] for me. I [illegible] promise!

We have a class in U. V. M.
In which I'm very shy,
At the head of which there is a
Who knows his Poly Sci.

The bell rings, the class begins
The students all a flutter.
Each enters quickly with a bing
Rah! Rah! Peanut butter.

Besides me sits a fair young lass
Who crams and crams and crams
And at the end of each six weeks
Oh boy how she hits exams.

Now I have always been a Phi B
With nothing but all A's;
But he shortened spring vacation
By one lovely, long, long day

But now I'm going to graduate
And teach in some old High
I'll leave this class to educate
More brats in Poly Sci.

A Sen

—ep—

CARICATURE

Her hair was black—
Like a good night's sleep—
But it curled 'round the edges—
Like strange dreams, deep

But her eyes!—Ah, me—
Were always agog,
But that's not strange,
When one thinks of a frog

And then, her ears—
Such lovely, pink shells,
Remind me of sea food—
Oysters? or clams?
(I really can't tell).

And next her nose—
An exquisite projection.
(Shaped like a boat-hook)
And of unknown complexion

And finally her mouth.
O beautiful proportion!
But when it is open
A delirious contortion

—ep—

FIRST SELECTION IN OUR [illegible] LINE OF FRESH SPRING POETRY

Co-eds love for many reasons
Auto rides and football seasons
Good techniques, fraternity pins
Thick black brows and nice square

And men like girls for things like
Bright golden hair and dimples
Stylish clothes and ankles slim.
Kissable lips and figures trim

Oh, Love, so quaint and out of date
With Modern Youth you [illegible]
WE crave all that's thrilling and
To h— with love—we'll take [illegible]
Now [illegible]

—ep—

A chambermaid in a small [illegible] tipped $2 not to give away [illegible] guests that a couple who had [illegible] were newly married.

Going along the corridor [illegible] guest stopped her and said [illegible] couple in the end suite [illegible] Mary?"

Loyal to the $2, Mary [illegible] madam, you're wrong [illegible] friends."

SPORTS NEWS

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

—ep—

THE FALL AND AGAIN THE FALL OF SUSAN LENOX

or

FROM WHITE HOUSE TO LOG CABIN

(DRAMA IN SEVERAL ACTS)

CHARACTERS: Oh, why bother to list them?

ACT I

SITUATION:

Chester Bigelow's courtship of Helen Highwater had been irresistible and brusque. He literally brusqued all opposition aside. But there had been another man in Helen's life, one Walter Brown. In fact, when Chester came along, Helen was on the point of saying, "Walter, whichell we get married?" But when Helen met Chester, Brown was just about dun. (Came the dun. . . .)

SCENE:

Country Club Dance

Chester: (to Helen) You look dense. Would you care to dence with me? (He grasps her tightly)

Helen: I notice you have the grip.

C: I wouldn't be too sure. Perhaps it's merely a brief case.

H: Oh!

C: I'm sorry. I'm contrite.

H: You contrite? Well, neither can W. E. Cass, but he does his best.

C: By the way, you're the belle of the ball, but you have no ring.

H. You'll have to ask father first.

C: I would go even father than that for you!

ACT II

SITUATION:

Mr. Highwater was a tailor and as Helen said, "We all was so happy till father drunk rum!"

SCENE:

The Highwater Pants Shoppe

Chester: Mr. Highwater, what do you think of the depression and I want to marry your daughter.

Highwater: Sir, I'm not usually a thinking man, but I'm afraid I cant charge you less than 75 cents for depression of that suit. And, concerning your second statement, are you sure you have the right data?

C: Yes, I love her. You're the right dada, all right!

Helen: (Just entering) Is that all you can say?

C: Lord, I've said too much already!

High: Would you love her if she were penniless?

C: Of course.

High: Then away!! I cant give my daughter to a dummy.

C: Oh, dummy!

(Chester left the room muttering. He climbed into his Picket and muttered on up to his country place where he pocked his picket.)

H: But poppa, you could use a dummy in your business.

High: Zounds, that's right. Tell him to dum back.

ACT III

SITUATION:

And so they were married.

SCENE:

Their own happy home. Chester is hanging up a motto. "God bless our happy home," read the sign. Chester listened intently as the sign read on. Then he veered off on a new tack and smashed his thumb with a hammer.

Chester: (Returning to Helen) That was thumb smash. But at last the sign is up. (Kisses her on the threshold, accidentally knocking over the box of tacks.)

Helen: (Weeping) Oh, ah'm so 'appy! But Chester, you should be more careful of your tacks. What about your income tacks.

C: Tack it away! You know I cant go on.

H: But why cant you go on?

C: Last night there was no applesauce.

H: I'm sorry, dear. I realize I got you in a jam at supper.

Her lower lip quivers. Drawing an arrow from this quiver, Cupid shot Chester under the motto.)

C: (Sighing) Darling, some one shot me under the motto.

Suddenly the motto itself slumped.)

C: (Reassuringly) It's all right. I'll work it up in a higher court. I never did court you in exactly the right way.

(Climbs step ladder and leans over towards his wife. An inner voice warned him to ladder alone, but he continued.) Come higher, Helen. Come in. I want to be close. You know I love you so. I think I'll give you that fur neckpiece we were speaking about. (But he had gone too fur. The ladder slips and he comes to the floor, where he laid insensate.)

H: (Going through his pockets) As I suspected—insensate. Not a cent. Well he never had no sense anyhow. Didn't he marry me? I tank I go home.

C: (Regaining consciousness) Did you say you tank you go home?

H: Yes.

C: Then, tank you very much.

H: Nuts. Let's turn on the gas an go to sleep.

ACT VI (Your were asleep through IV and V)

SITUATION:

Chester Jr. arrived in family circle. Cold winter day.

SCENE:

Cheerless, unheated room. On one side sits Helen, shivering. On the other side, Chester incessantly paces up and down. Chester Jr. whimpers softly. Chester bends over his son.)

Chester: It's whimper again. (Resumes his pacing.)

Helen: Stop that pacing or I'll paced you one. Why did I marry you anyway? I was putty in your hands.

C: Just an old putty of mine.

Chester Jr.: I am hungry.

H: There was some beer in the icebox.

C: (Beering in the refrigerator) So it a-beers. Only some celery. What I want is my celery raised. I artichoke you for this.

H: You must have your little choke.

(Turns to carry out his base threat. But he is foiled. His wife is dead. All is ended. He was down in the gutter.)

C: (To Junior) Come on, son, if we gutter go, we gutter go. I'm beginning to hate it.

C. Jr.: I hate puns too, Daddy, for breakfast, dinner, and supper—until you ran out.

C: (As he leaves room he notices that the motto had fallen to the floor. Shrugs.) I might known it.

And that boys and girls is the END

TALBERT IS SHIPPED WHEN PEN CLIP SLIPS

Razor Talbert of Vermont was shipped from the University yesterday afternoon for violation of a history department rule. Professor Yourrick made the following statement:

Mr. Talbert was a good student and had been doing excellent work but he broke history department rule no. 42a section III, part 6, code 8D6 Vol. XIV. This rule is as follows: "A student's pen clip shall, at all times, point to the true north."

"The pen clip on Mr. Talbert," continued Yourrick, "pointed to the magnetic north, not the true north."

LOVE'S LABOR LOST

If you write the girl of your dreams a letter, it's too long. If you send her a postal card, it's too short and too conspicuous. If your letter is sentimental, you're too bold, but if it isn't, she gets angry and ditches you. If you call her up too often, you're a pest, if you don't call her often enough, the affair is over. If you talk too long, she is bored, if you don't talk long enough, she is offended. If you send her flowers every day, you're a spendthrift. If you don't send her enough flowers, you're a cheap skate. If you try to kiss her you're insulting; if you don't she thinks you're crude. If you act naturally, she doesn't like it; if you don't then you're affected. God help the stronger sex in an affair like this!

—ep—

FRAGMENT; FROM AN OLD MANUSCRIPT

So, my breath of lotus blossom,
Not forever will the springtime
Vanish from K'an Leesung Valley.
Ever dream that I am with you,
When the scent of josses round you
Stirs, within, a silver memory.
If a lover whom the springtime
Could not waken from his slumber
Know I wrote these verses to you,
Fairest bud that ever blossomed—
Mine to taste your flowered fragrance,
Mine to crush your petalled beauty,
Hold it in my heart forever,
Till its splendor overcome me.
As the springs on O mei's mountain
Wash athwart the polished pebbles.

McGill

—ep—

She: Now, before we start this ride, I want to tell you that I don't smoke, drink or flirt. I visit no wayside inns, and I expect to be back home by 9:00 o'clock.

Hubbard: You're mistaken.

She: You mean that I do any of those things?

Hubbard: No, I mean about starting for this ride.

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

HI! SHPORRT!!

The plumber's face flushed but being a good plumber, there was no mush.

—ep—

And so
She passes by Every day
Without
A smile—
Just like
A trolley car

—ep—

SONNETS TO A DORM GIRL

The sun was hot
The sky was blue
She loves me not
And so am I

Violets are red
Pansies are blue
She told me she loved me
My girl has a horse

—ep—

Modern Rhyme

Mary had a little lamb
Given by a friend to keep
It followed her around until
It died from loss of sleep

—ep—

Frenchman: You have to fill in the nationality blank also, sir. You are a Spaniard, n'est ce pas?

Bill: No, sir. I'm English. My mother was English and so was my father.

Frenchman: But, you were born in Spain.

Bill: That's nothing. If your dog had pups in the china closet would you call them soup plates?

—ep—

The following advice on "How to Study in the Library" was found in the Rochester Campus.

The points are five:

1. Do not sit with the brothers.
2. Lay out paper, pens etc., within easy reach of anyone who wishes to borrow.
3. Refuse to go get a drink.
4. Do not look at anyone coming in or going out. This will save an hour at least.
5. Go home to study.

—ep—

Curly: An awful lot of girls are stuck on me.

Pal: Yes, they must be an awful lot.

—ep—

We can understand why a fool and his money are soon parted, but where he gets it is what gets us.

—ep—

Sophomore: How do you like my new shirt now that you've worn it all day?

Other Chem. Student: Oh, it's all right, but the cuffs don't take ink very well.

—ep—

I beg your pardon, Miss, but would you care to take a ride?

Co-ed: Sir! I'll have you know I'm a lady.

I know that. If I wanted a man, I'd go home and get my father.

—ep—

They tell it on Lou Cook, who was unhappy over a very small rôle in the freshman pageant. He sulked when the director came over.

Where's your part? thundered the director.

A flea ate it! barked Cook.

—ep—

Smirks: A man who is lucky in love is a bachelor.

—ep—

Collegians who ply their coeds with liquor know there's a neck to every bottle.

—ep—

A woman's private opinion is that her husband is worth about a thin dime. But if some other dame steals him she wants a half million dollars.

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

—ep—

Confidence is the only prescription for the cure of hard times, declares a business doctor. Yes, and it must be about right for taking. It's been well shaken.

—ep—

Hostess: I'm so glad you came, Bishop. I was going to send you an invitation, but then I thought, "Oh, what th' hell."

—ep—

THEY SHOULD HAVE SAID

"They laughed when I sat down on the piano."—Helen Morgan.

"I tank I go home."—Babe Ruth.

"Nature in the raw is seldom mild".—Earl Carroll.

"Is my face red?"—Lady Godiva.

"It's not the sheet, it's the humility."—Gandhi.

"I want to turn over a new leaf."—Adam.

"You can't shake it."—Gilda Grey.

—ep—

Doctor, after my broken finger heals will I be able to play the piano?

Certainly, certainly.

Funny—I couldn't play it before.

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

Manana

By Gladys The Flame

TO HEPHZIBAH

I

Ah
Hephzibah
How I yearn for Yeuse
Most keenly at Hours Matchless

II

On dreary days
On dismal nights
Why should I
Feel dizzy
When I
Can think of
You
Hephzibah

—ep—

Bad Time Story

A jolly old wop was Columbus,
Said the world was flat, caused a rumpus
Cris went over so big
He was thrown in the brig,
Where wondern', he sat on a stumpus.

To Isabel Cris went a wooing,
Her bondon was this Queen's undoing
I was here that he got
All the jewels the King bought,
To get three boats for exploooing.

Sail on sail on saloon,"
"We'll discover America soon,"
There our voices will ring,"
To hell with the King!"
But Isabel that's a hot tune."

The land was filled with stikky-ups,
Who with pistols lived in wikky ups
So they traded there abouts,
For piles of beech clouts
And rode their nags home without stirrups.

—ep—

DANCE OF THE SPIROCHAETES

Bent upon themselves and spinning swift
Pretending stealthy blood debauching death
In those who spent wracked and mind distraught.
Within their lightning sickles' compass fall
They course
The oblique hummed stage
Askance wise darts its sharp accusing beams
At these unwelcome demons making sport
Within the portals of its peaceful dark
And yet the small god peering from above
Entranced, forgets the lurking tragedy
In the crystalled grotesque dancing of the gnomes.
In the ominous silent death dance of the gnomes
That flash like meteors through an endless night
To crash disrupting into th' ordered spheres
Of his own kind
They, twisting on themselves,
And reeling in amazed leprous death,
Sustain a counter-spin and leave forth with
Th' ethereal harmony of their symphoned poise.
Plunge like drunken stars into the void
Beyond the bank of silence and are lost.

—ep—

RESTLESS CARAVAN

Long have I sought you down a thousand ways
Restless at even when the paling light
Casts back but half your loveliness till night
Bathes all my longing and the dust of days
Lulls me to dreaming when the wind that plays
Some near forgotten song of eyes once bright
Your carmine lips then sang, returns the sight
A phantom dancing in the evening haze.

No rest unto my lonely caravan.

I fought with bitterness an endless brief
A twilight dream then sleep a moment brief.
A memory at dawn each day began
A timid gust now stirs the fallen leaf—
No rest unto my lonely caravan.

—ep—

TO JIMMY DURANTE:

His exuberance
Is exceeded only by
His prevaricance.

(Don't know what to call it but it's "mighty lak" a nose!)

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

—ep—

DE DAME FRUM GRASS-MOUNT

BY RAMSBOTTOM HORSELEY

Log [illegible] with the log blonde [illegible] for the [illegible] or her coat pocket.

I [illegible] at Chez Bolognaise. We [illegible] I would [illegible] her hand in her bank roll. Then I realized I was only a lot of [illegible] anyway. Still it felt like a bank roll.

"What a coincidence," I said.

"What's a coincidence?" she said.

"I mean," I said.

"I mean what does it mean?" she said.

"Oh," I said. "A coincidence is when two parallels once meet before infinity."

"What's a finity?" she said.

"My God!" I said. "Infinity is the place where the kind of pain you are beginning to give me would stretch to it land end to end."

I telephoned her the next day.

"Is Chalchihuitlicue there?" I said.

"Who there?" mews the cow at the switchboard.

"Chalchihuitlicue there?" I said.

"No, but the man who christened her probably is," she says.

"What number is that?" I said.

"Good morning, this is the Verdun Protestant Hospital," she says.

I telephoned her the next day.

"Is Chalchihuitlicue there?" I said.

"You mean Miss Canamega jaraga vansavah."

"Who cares," I said.

I telephoned her the next day.

"Is Moe there," I said.

"There's no Moe here."

"What the hell kind of a clothing manufacturing company is that anyway?" I said. "Who's speaking?"

"Esq. Lyndmer," he says.

"The hell with Lyndmer," I said. "I'll ring I'll phone some other time."

I telephoned her the next day.

"I want to speak to Chalchihuitlicue," I said.

"The wires are blown down south of New York," he says.

"No me," I said. "It's a dame. Miss Canamega jaragavansavah."

"No, he says," I don't even miss Eddie Cantor.

We went for a walk in the dunes. There was a flower growing between two moss-covered stones.

"Look," I said. "There's an aster."

"Yeah," I said. "It's a shame."

"I said aster," I said.

"Sure she is," But the first letter is silent like [illegible] in Canamega jaragavansavah.

"But—"

"Well, want a minute. We just left the house, didn't we?"

"Well, what's about it?" I said.

"A fence, of course," she said.

"But I didn't mean that," I said. "I didn't mean a fence."

"Oh no, of course not, and I didn't take any," she said.

"Do you take yourself too serious?" I said. "Is life just a bowl of cherries?"

"No, it's two wistarias," she said.

"Oh," I said. "Is that all?" And then I started to laugh and laugh and laugh and laugh and I shrieked with laughter and Chalchihuitlicue Canamega jaragavansavah. But I still think Chalchihuitlicue Canamega jargavansavah is a hell of a name to give heroine when you have to type your own manuscripts.

Missing Relatives

The G. Grossspoon who was angry because his name was not mentioned in this column last year is the G. Grossspoon who is going to be angry because his name is not going to be mentioned in this column this year. (It's all right, Jerry. Don't worry. I'm just horsing you.)

—ep—

Alex: So you are taking Jane to the Junior Prom. I thought you were going to take her to your house dance the next night instead.

Archer: Well I decided she deserved a better rate. (Ohio State Lantern.)

—ep—

He: I'm groping for words.

She: Well, you don't expect to find them around my knees, do you?

—ep—

AND DON'T BE BACHELOR.

A pretty girl fell overboard, and her lover with her on the excursion, leaned over the side of the boat as she rose to the surface, and cried, "Give me your hand!"

"Please ask Father," she answered, as she sank for the second time.

—ep—

He: Do you like dancing at Kay and Lyle dances?

She: No.

He: Why not?

She: Oh, it's mere necking set to music.

He: Well, what don't you like about it?

She: The music.

el picador

EDDY TAURIAL

What a laugh! El Picador is here again. Again everything. Any one honored by personal mention should blease not worry about it. Worry-sponsible for everything. Use el picador for wedding you musket. You musket el picador. Use it instead of the mailorder catalog. Use it instead of the dogalog. What a laugh!

—ep—

I feel like starting this thing off with a few words about those persons one usually meets in class. They are known by various titles—instructors, professors, doctors and some that are quite unprintable. We'll call them all profs (no discriminations allowed, and that goes for dogs, wives and kid brothers). In case some of you stewdents haven't heard about them we'll give a few pointers on the genus profus.

The Prof! The prof is an odd sort of a critter who spends most of his time reading rolls, calling hogs or just calling. At one time most profs were educated animals, but now some of them aren't.

Their Purpose in Life: This is another debatable point with these birds. Most of them would rather be cowboys, Indians, Mexican rope bandits or anything else except another prof. But they are commissioned by the Fates to attempt to instill learning into that greatest group of organized morons in history: the American college student.

Typical Line of the Prof: As far as we know they have none. They are always seen entering classrooms with harassed expressions or leaving classrooms with still more harassed expressions. In between times they dissect tests—relics handed down from prof to prof from the earliest days of the Inquisition. In Libre Arts the tests are called pogroms.

—ep—

OH HELL—

But what is meant by this word "hell"? Sometimes it's called an hell. Sometimes they say, "It's hot as hell." What it means: It's hell" they cry.

[illegible] like hell" to see it snow.

[illegible] like hell" when it starts to blow.

Now, how in hell can anyone tell

What in hell" they mean by this word "hell"

When excited [illegible] is "hell" they say

When he comes in late, there's "hell to pay."

When starts to spill, it's a "hell of a mess."

It's "hell" when the kid you have to bless

It's "hell" when the doctor sends his bills.

For a "hell of a lot" of trips and pills.

When you get this you know real well

But what is meant by this word "hell"

Hell, and "hell no," and "Oh hell!"

"The hell" you don't" and "the hell you do."

And "what in hell" and "the hell it is"

"The hell with worry" and "the hell with biz."

Now "who in hell" and "Oh hell!" where?

And "what the hell" do you think I care.

But "the hell of it is" it's sure as hell

We don't know "what in hell" to tell.

—James H. Emerson, Time.

—ep—

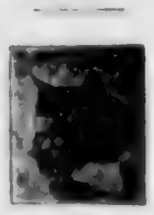
A professor at Detroit College suggests that students be given hot dogs instead of doctorates at graduation, because they can at least eat the former.

Preferring canines instead of sheepskins, [illegible]

—ep—

(1) Never let studying interfere with your college education.

(2) Never let instructors interfere with your college education.



(3) Never let himself gets interfere with your college education.

(4) Never let your college education interfere with your having a good time.

—ep—

Well, that's it, all for now—see you the same bat time, same bat station.

The Catty Co-ed says

"Isn't Sylvia Boyd good-natured, though. I always hear her singing the first thing in the morning while she dresses."

"Hell, it isn't because she's good-natured; the bathroom door won't lock."

—ep—

Goody!

Galvin: Today's Saturday, isn't it?

Thatch: Yeah.

Galvin: Hot dog! Funny papers tomorrow.

—ep—

Mulcahy: I was out with a nurse last night.

Ray: Cheer up. Maybe your mother will let you go out without one some time.

—ep—

"Hey!" cried Satan to the new arrival, "you act as if you owned this dump."

Greenan: I do. My wife gave it to me.

—ep—

Slant

These correspondence love courses are hot stuff—but what girl doesn't learn wooing through the male?

—ep—

Slant

Nudist colony enthusiast gets frozen ears.

—ep—

George the Jannie says:

"Figures show that there are twice as many boys in the library now than girls,—which makes petting odds 2 to 1."

—ep—

George the Jannie Says:

It's not the corn on those tired feet that need removing on a Saturday nite date, but the corn in the stomach.

—ep—

THE WORLD'S TEN MOST INTERESTING FIGURES

(1) Jean Harlow
(2) Mahatma Gandhi
(3) Kate Smith
(4) Primo Carnera
(5) Groucho Marx
(6) Venus de Milo
(7) Mae West
(8) Mickey Mouse
(9) Paul Whiteman
(10) Jimmy Durante.

—ep—

Wellesley girls have decided not to speak to each other when they meet on the campus.

—And we don't blame them. . . . . .

—ep—

END OF CHILD LABOR IS URGED BY HOOVER

—N. Y. Times.

How do you manage it, Herbert, zippers?

—ep—

BEWARE!

Wedding leads to unwedding!

—ep—

WANT AD—

WANTED—Small apartment by couple with no children until May 1.

—Can we count on that?

—ep—

George the Janie Says:

I can't stand for you guys throwin' stuff around the hall, but you'll find the big garbage can.

—ep—

So we call our dog "Yours Truly" because he's the last of the Litter.

—ep—

Depression Song

"I-O Everybody, I-O."

—ep—

Slant

Why anyone wants to get married these days is a mystery and why they get married twice is a Hearst story.

—ep—

—Nudist Colony establishes public undress system.

—ep—

Professor: Can anyone give the derivation of the word auditorium?

Freshman: Yes, Please. Audio, hear and torium, hell. A place where one hears hell.

Professor: That will do.

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

Author's Arena

White Zombie

BY SPARKLING KRAMER

Well, here we're all here [illegible] 10 or so my readers left. I can hear a groan of relief. Yes, I have been a author. My father was a [illegible] Mr. Hopkins and Kathleen. My mother was Marguerite the Magazine designer of Macy's and Pennsylvania the Nail-eastern. I was the only son of a widow who [illegible], and all my life my ernings [illegible] to maintain my good father and [illegible] wife-side support I am [illegible] I am a[illegible] supporter. A [illegible] I ate animal crackers when [illegible] I tried dog biscuits [illegible] these. I swallowed small [illegible] to counteract my parents [illegible] I practiced [illegible] on the [illegible] Once when only ten, I stood on the [illegible] Falls pondering the drop of water in the bad and mist for hours: the nith hour, my mother, recognizing my nurse, found me. "Save my cierl!" I cried. I finished grammar scool in nine years, high scool in six, and college in twelv, with honors in the dummy. I would hav been graduated in eleven years but I lackt special methods in roadmarking. Grant's tomb is a concrete case. After sum harrowing experiences on a farm and a boring year producing oil, I entered the lumber business, concentrating on plank steaks, college boards, and Virgil's Elk Logs. About this time I attempted to raise a house on jacks, but the dealer had three treys, so I dropt into a restaurant and got a new hat. In this way I contracted smallpox, thus at last being abl to giv my creditors sumthing.

"The Doctor's at the door. Will yu see the sturgeon?" my widow winsumly witticized.

"No. Tel him I'm sick."

"You're in bad shape, Tiberius," averd Dr. Tyfoon-Monsoon, (K. S. B., K. K. K. and K. K.) "Shall I call a priest?"

"What did yu say I had?"

"Smallpox. And a demb bad case, b'ged," gingerly jested the gigolo.

"Then call a rabbi! Do yu think I want to giv a priest smallpox? What makes me breathe so fast?"

"Your lungs, yu monolith! What yu need is a post-mortem examination," Monsoon murderously menaced.

"It all began with talking in my sleep when I was at college."

"Oh, did yu talk in your sleep?"

"No," I replied, peeling an orange with an old razor blade, "but the professors did." (Not bad, eh?)

I improved from that moment. Soon improvement was noted, altho the nurses noticed an improvement, but the doctor cald it improvement. "Tomorrow," he said, "there may be a slight improvement." Despite these predictions, however, the next day broght forth sum improvement.

The following night, I took my litl boy to hear Salha Patica sing the title part in "The Twelfth Night."

"Vater," said he, designating the conductor and Patica, "cet homme, pourquoi essaie-t-il a le frapper avec cette canne?"

"Hush, Umbilicus, he's not hitting at her!"

"Well, then, what's she hollering for?" logically countered the sion. "Wil yu sing for me tomorrow?"

"No, Sarcofagus, I sing only in my bath."

"So sorry yu're out of practis, old timer. Why don't yu take a shot at playwrighting?"

"I did onse, mon brave, but the work was too long for the stage."

"Couldn't they lengthen the stage?"

The next day I shipt him off to the Yale scool of Human Relations with a cupl of aunts of mine that are the same way. I was waching Howard Thurston turn his Lincoln into a driveway when I notised an 'out-to-lunch' sign on a restaurant door. A inscription on the cornerstone red:

Overheard in a Restaurant—Soup

The Bank Serva no Soup; We Cash no Checks
In God We Trust; All Others Pay Cash
There is No God But Allah, And Denny Is His Profit
We Keep Prince Albert In A Humidor

"Let Him Out!! Fire!! I roared. Hectically breaking open a telefone booth, I struck a mach on a cake of soap, stript the gears to cool the motor, and turnd the hose on my feet.

"Central, giv me Adam 812 . . . . Western Union! Knock-Knee Rockne speaking. Hold that line! Take a miligram to Infant Brothers, North Handlebars, Arizona. Stop. "RUSH ENLARGED FOTOGRAPH OF GRAND CANYON STOP CAN BEAT CASES OF TRAVELING SAMARITAN WHO GAVE BERTH TO OLD WOMAN COMMA ZOO KEEPER WHO WAITED UP ALL NIGHT FOR STORK COMMA AND HEN THAT LAID GOLDEN EG (good yolk, eh?) COMMA SINSE NIGHT-MAYOR WALKER IUST LAID CORNERSTONE STOP STOP UNLISTED STOCKS LISTLESS COLON SINKING FUND SUNK COLON WAGE OF SIN REDUCED AS LAST RESORT STOP WILL ARRIVE BY PARACHUTE IN TIME FOR S P C A BUL FIGHT STOP HAVING FRIED AND EATEN EG COMMA CAN LAY EG IS NOW OUT OF FRYING PAN AND IN FRIER STOP."

This done, I ran out in time to see the firemen arrive and the Jew hung out a sign, 'FIRE SALE: SMOKING JACKETS".

"The electrin lights on the third floor!" said Fireman I.

"The gas lights on the second floor!" parried Fireman II.

"The Israelites on the first floor!" triumphed Fireman III.

"Would yu mind watering the bird bath before you go?" I askt.

"My clothing store! My clothing store!" announced another Semitic.

"Is this your clothing store?" I consoled.

"No! No! I sat on a nail. My clothing's tore! My clothing's tore!"

He had a luvly funeral; six men wer required to carry the beer. They arrested me in an invisibl hairnet as I was drinking a glass of vanishing cream.

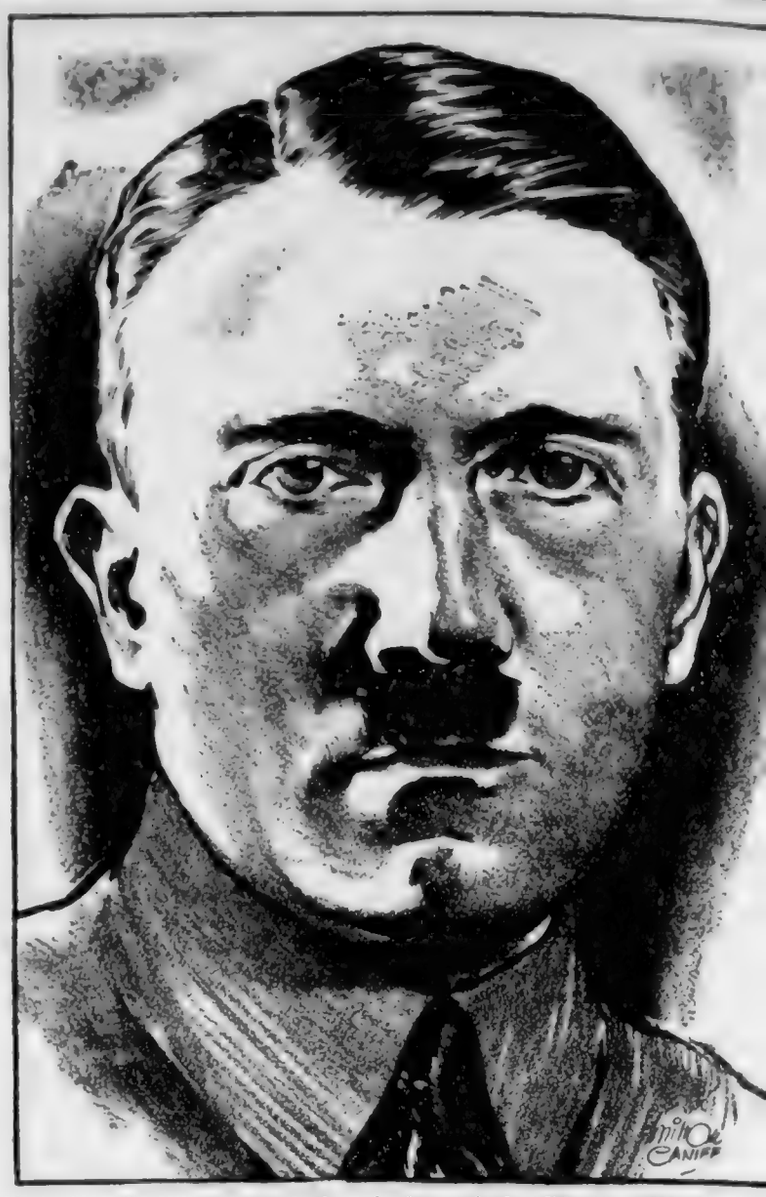
It was a trying situation for the judg. "The jury finds yu gilty," he suggested.

"That's all right. I know yu're too intelligent to be affected by what they say," I rejoined, lighting a cheroot.

"Hav yu even been in trubl before?"

"Well, I was fined onse for overtime on a library book," I said brightly.

"I'll teach yu to back-talk to me, yu unspeakabl corruption! Keep your mouth shut and tell me what actually happened when yu went to this woman's apartment."



"I merely remarkt that I did not like the wallpaper."

"Ah, ha! Mural turpitude! Ten years for knocking her flat!"

"Have yu a cigaret lighter, warden?" I askt the following August.

"No," said August, "they're all the same weight. Yu have ten minutes of grace."

"Bring her in," I [illegible]

Here is a late portrait of the playboy of the Western World. As cheered on to political victory by every nation in the civilized world gentleman has established a rule of wise conservatism which will take hi (Catch on?).

HERE IS A PICTURE OF A DORG. THIS NAUGHTY DORG LIKES TO STEAL BONES. WHEN HE STEALS ONE HE HIDES IT WHERE NO OTHER DORG CAN FIND IT. THIS SHOWS THAT HE IS A CAPITALIST DORG, NOT A GOOD COMMUNIST DORG. HE HAS JUST STOLEN TWO BONES, (NERTS, TO YOU), AND YOU MUST TAKE YOUR PENCIL AND MAKE TWO SHORT, STRAIGHT LINES TO SHOW WHERE THEY ARE LYING ON THE GROUND NEAR THE DORG. OF COURSE IF YOU ARE NOT QUITE SOBER THE LINES WILL NOT BE VERY STRAIGHT. DRAW THEM AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE AND THEN GO ON. DON'T BE ASKIN' WHY. ALL THE TIME.

—ep—

We have a class in U. V. M.
In which I'm very shy,
At the head of which there is
Who knows his Poly Sci.

The bell rings, the class begins
The students all a flutter.
Each enters quickly with a bing
Rah! Rah! Peanut butter.

Besides me sits a fair young las
Who crams and crams and cra
And at the end of each six weeks
Oh boy how she hits exams.

Now I have always been a Phi
With nothing but all A's;
But he shortened spring vacation
By one lovely, long, long day

But now I'm going to graduate
And teach in some old High
I'll leave this class to educate
More brats in Poly Sci.

A S

—ep—

CARICATURE

Her hair was black—
Like a good night's sleep—
But it curled 'round the edge
Like strange dreams, deep

But her eyes!—Ah, me—
Were always agog,
But that's not strange,
When one thinks of a frog

And then, her ears—
Such lovely, pink shells.
Remind me of sea food—
Oysters? or clams?
(I really can't tell).

And next her nose—
An exquisite projection.
(Shaped like a boat-hook)
And of unknown complexi

And finally her mouth,
O beautiful proportion!
But when it is open
A delirious contortion

—ep—

FIRST SELECTION IN OUR LINE OF FRESH SPRIN

POETRY

Co-eds love for many reasons
Auto rides and football seasons
Good techniques, fraternity pi
Thick black brows and nice squa

And men like girls for things li
Bright golden hair and dimple
Stylish clothes and ankles slim.
Kissable lips and figures trim

Oh, Love, so quaint and out
With Modern Youth you d
WE crave all that's thrilling
To h— with love—we'll take

Ann

—ep—

A chambermaid in a small h tipped $2 not to give away guests that a couple who had were newly married.

Going along the corridor a guest stopped her and said, couple in the end suite Mary?"

Loyal to the $2. Mar madam, you're wrong friends."

SPORTS NEWS

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

THE FALL AND AGAIN THE FALL OF SUSAN LENOX

or

FROM WHITE HOUSE TO LOG CABIN

(DRAMA IN SEVERAL ACTS)

CHARACTERS: Oh, why bother to list them?

ACT I

SITUATION:

Chester Bigelow's courtship of Helen Highwater had been irresistible and brusque. He literally brusqued all opposition aside. But there had been another man in Helen's life, one Walter Brown. In fact, when Chester came along, Helen was on the point of saying, "Walter, whichell we get married?" But when Helen met Chester, Brown was just about dun. (Came the dun. . . .)

SCENE:

Country Club Dance

Chester: (to Helen) You look dense. Would you care to dence with me? (He grasps her tightly)

Helen: I notice you have the grip.

C: I wouldn't be too sure. Perhaps it's merely a brief case.

H: Oh!

C: I'm sorry. I'm contrite.

H: You contrite? Well, neither can W. E. Cass, but he does his best.

C: By the way, you're the belle of the ball, but you have no ring.

H. You'll have to ask father first.

C: I would go even father than that for you!

ACT II

SITUATION:

Mr. Highwater was a tailor and as Helen said, "We all was so happy till father drunk rum!"

SCENE:

The Highwater Pants Shoppe

Chester: Mr. Highwater, what do you think of the depression and I want to marry your daughter.

Highwater: Sir, I'm not usually a thinking man, but I'm afraid I cant charge you less than 75 cents for depression of that suit. And, concerning your second statement, are you sure you have the right data?

C: Yes, I love her. You're the right dada, all right!

Helen: (Just entering) Is that all you can say?

C: Lord, I've said too much already!

High: Would you love her if she were penniless?

C: Of course.

High: Then away!! I cant give my daughter to a dummy.

C: Oh, dummy!

(Chester left the room muttering. He climbed into his Picket and muttered on up to his country place where he pocked his picket.)

H: But poppa, you could use a dummy in your business.

High: Zounds, that's right. Tell him to dum back.

ACT III

SITUATION:

And so they were married.

SCENE:

Their own happy home. Chester is hanging up a motto. "God bless our happy home," read the sign. Chester listened intently as the sign read on. Then he veered off on a new tack and smashed his thumb with a hammer.

Chester: (Returning to Helen) That was thumb smash. But at last the sign is up. (Kisses her on the threshold, accidentally knocking over the box of tacks.)

Helen: (Weeping) Oh, ah'm so 'appy! But, Chester, you should be more careful of your tacks. What about your income tacks.

C: Tack it away! You know I cant go on.

H: But why cant you go on?

C: Last night there was no applesauce.

H: I'm sorry, dear. I realize I got you in a jam at supper.

(Her lower lip quivers. Drawing an arrow from this quiver, Cupid shot Chester under the motto.)

C: (Sighing) Darling, some one shot me under the motto.

(Suddenly the motto itself slumped.)

C: (Reassuringly) It's all right. I'll tack it up in a higher court. I never did court you in exactly the right way.

(Climbs step ladder and leans over towards his wife. An inner voice warned him to ladder alone, but he continued.) Come higher, Helen. Come in. I want to be alone. You know I love you so. I think I'll give you that fur neckpiece we were speaking about. (But he had given too fur. The ladder slips and he comes to the floor, where he laid insensate.)

H: (Going through his pockets) As I suspected—insensate. Not a cent. Well he never had no sense anyhow. Didn't he marry me? I tank I go home.

C: (Regaining consciousness) Did you say you tank you go home?

H: Yes.

C: Then, tank you very much.

H: Nuts. Let's turn on the gas an go to sleep.

ACT VI (Your were asleep through IV and V)

SITUATION:

Chester Jr. arrived in family circle. Cold winter day.

SCENE:

Cheerless, unheated room. On one side sits Helen, shivering. On the other side, Chester incessantly paces up and down. Chester Jr. whimpers softly. Chester bends over his son.)

Chester: It's whimper again. (Resumes his pacing.)

Helen: Stop that pacing or I'll paced you one. Why did I marry you anyway? I was putty in your hands.

C: Just an old putty of mine

Chester Jr: I am hungry.

H: There was some beer in the icebox.

C: (Beering in the refrigerator) So it a beers. Only some celery. What I want is my celery raised. I artichoke you for this.

H. You must have your little choke. (Turns to carry out his base threat. But he is foiled. His wife is dead. All is ended. He was down in the gutter.)

C: (To Junior) Come on, son, if we gutter go, we gutter go. I'm beginning to hate it.

C. Jr: I hate puns too, Daddy, for breakfast, dinner, and supper—until you ran out.

C: (As he leaves room he notices that the motto had falen to the floor. Shrieks.) I motto known it!

And that, boys and girls, is the END

TALBERT IS SHIPPED WHEN PEN CLIP SLIPS

Razor Talbert of Vermont was shipped from the University yesterday afternoon for violation of a history department rule. Professor Yourrick made the following statement:

Mr. Talbert was a good student, and had been doing excellent work but he broke history department rule no. 42b, section III, part 6, code 8Dc, Vol. XIV. This rule is as follows: "A student's pen clip shall, at all times, point to the true north."

"The pen clip of Mr. Talbert," continued Yourrick "pointed to the magnetic north, not the true north."

LOVE'S LABOR LOST

If you write the girl of your dreams a letter, it's too long. If you send her a postal card, it's too short and too conspicuous. If your letter is sentimental, you're too bold, but if it isn't, she gets angry and ditches you. If you call her up too often, you're a pest, if you don't call her often enough, the affair is over. If you talk too long, she is bored; if you don't talk long enough, she is offended. If you send her flowers every day, you're a spendthrift, if you don't send her enough flowers, you're a cheapskate. If you try to kiss her you're insulting; if you don't she thinks you're crude. If you act naturally, she doesn't like it; if you don't then you're affected. God help the stronger sex in an affair like this!

FRAGMENT; FROM AN OLD MANUSCRIPT

So, my breath of lotus blossom,
Not forever will the springtime
Vanish from K'ai Lo-sung Valley.
Ever dream that I am with you,
When the scent of josses round you
Stirs, within, a silver mem'ry
If a lover whom the springtime
Could not waken from his slumber.
Know I wrote these verses to you,
Fairest bud that ever blossomed—
Mine to taste your flowered fragrance,
Mine to crush your petalled beauty.
Hold it in my heart forever.
Till its splendor overcome me.
As the springs on O-mei's mountain
Wash athwart the polished pebbles.

McGill

She: Now, before we start this ride, I want to tell you that I don't smoke, drink or flirt, I visit no wayside inns, and I expect to be back home by 9.00 o'clock.

Hubbard: You're mistaken.

She: You mean that I do any of those things?

Hubbard: No, I mean about starting for this ride.

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

HI! SHPORRT!!

The plumber's face flushed, but being a good plumber, there was no noise.

. . . And so
She passes by Every day
Without
A smile—
Just like
A trolley car.

SONNETS TO A DORM GIRL

The sun was hot
The sky was blue
She loves me not
And so am I

Violets are red
Pansies are blue
She told me she loved me
My girl has a horse

Modern Rhyme

Mary had a little lamb
Given by a friend to keep—
It followed her around until
It died from loss of sleep

Frenchman: You have to fill in the nationality blank also, sir. You are a Spaniard, n'est-ce pas?

Bill: No, sir, I'm English. My mother was English and so was my father.

Frenchman: But, you were born in Spain.

Bill: That's nothing. If your dog had pups in the china closet, would you call them soup plates?

The following advice on "How to Study in the Library" was found in the Rochester Campus.

The points are five:

1. Do not sit with the brothers.
2. Lay out paper, pens etc., within easy reach of anyone who wishes to borrow.
3. Refuse to go get a drink.
4. Do not look at anyone coming in or going out. This will save an hour at least.
5. Go home to study.

Curly: An awful lot of girls are stuck on me.

Pal: Yes, they must be an awful lot.

We can understand why a fool and his money are soon parted, but where he gets it is what gets us.

Sophomore: How do you like my new shirt now that you've worn it all day?

Other Chem Student: Oh, it's all right, but the cuffs don't take ink very well.

I beg your pardon, Miss, but would you care to take a ride?

Co-ed: Sir! I'll have you know I'm a lady.

I know that. If I wanted a man, I'd go home and get my father.

They tell it on Lou Cook, who was unhappy over a very small rôle in the freshman pageant. He sulked when the director came over.

Where's your part? thundered the director.

A flea ate it! barked Cook.

Smirks: A man who is lucky in love is a bachelor.

Collegians who ply their co-eds with liquor know there's a neck to every bottle.

A woman's private opinion is that her husband is worth about a thin dime. But if some other dame steals him she wants a half million dollars.

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

Confidence is the only prescription for the cure of hard times, declares a business doctor. Yes, and it must be about right for taking. It's been well shaken.

Hostess: I'm so glad you came, Bishop. I was going to send you an invitation, but then I thought, "Oh, what th' hell."

THEY SHOULD HAVE SAID

"They laughed when I sat down on the piano."—Helen Morgan

"I tank I go home."—Babe Ruth

"Nature in the raw is seldom mild."—Earl Carroll

"Is my face red?"—Lady Godiva

"It's not the sheet; it's the humility."—Gandhi

"I want to turn over a new leaf."—Adam

"You can't shake it."—Gilda Grey

Doctor, after my broken finger heals will I be able to play the piano?

Certainly, certainly.

Strange—I couldn't play it before.

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

Manana

By Gladys The Flame

TO HEPHZIBAH

I

Ah
Hephzibah
How I yoon for Youse
Most goofy of Skeets (Ventcha)

II

On dreary days
On dismal nights
Why should I
Feel dizzy
When I
Can think of
You
Hephzibah

Bad Time Story

A jolly old wop was Columbus,
Said the world was flat—caused a rumpus.
Cris went over so big
He was thrown in the brig,
Where wondern', he sat on a stumpus.

To Isabel Cris went a wooing,
Her boudoir was this Queen's undoing
I was here that he got
All the jewels the King bought,
To get three boats for explooing.

"Sail on sail on saloon,"
"We'll discover America soon,"
"There our voices will ring,"
"To hell with the King!"
But Isabel that's a hot tune."

The land was filled with stikky-ups,
Who with pistols lived in wikky-ups
So they traded there abouts,
For piles of beech-clouts
And rode their nags home without stirryups

DANCE OF THE SPIROCHAETES

Bent upon themselves and spinning swift—
Portending stealth—blood debauching death
To those who, spirit wracked and mind distraught,
Within their lightning sickles' compass fall—
They course
The oblique lumined stage
Askance wise darts its sharp accusing beams
At those unwelcome demons making sport
Within the portals of its peaceful dark
And yet the small god, peering from above
Entranced, forgets the lurking tragedy
In the crystalled grotesque dancing of the gnomes,
In the ominous silent death dance of the gnomes
That flash like meteors through an endless night
To crash disrupting into th' ordered spheres
Of his own kind
They twisting on themselves,
And reeling in amazed leprous death,
Sustain a counter spin, and leave forth with
Th' ethereal harmony of their symphoned poise,
Plunge like drunken stars into the void
Beyond the brink of silence and are lost

RESTLESS CARAVAN

Long have I sought you down a thousand ways
Restless at even when the paling light
Casts back but half your loveliness still night
Bathes all my longing and the dust of days
Lulls me to dreaming when the wind that plays
Some near forgotten song of eves once bright
Your carmine lips then sang returns the sight
A phantom dancing in the evening haze.

No rest until my lonely caravan,
Fraught with bitterness, an endless brief
A twilight dream, then sleep, a moment brief
A memory at dawn each day began.
A timid gust now stirs the fallen leaf
No rest until my lonely caravan

TO JIMMY DURANTE:

His exuberance
Is exceeded only by
His proboscis
(I don't know what to call it but it's "mighty fah" a nose.)

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

DE DAME FRUM GRASSMOUNT

BY RAMSBOTTOM HORSELEY

Big blonde Chalchibuntheue with the big blonde mustache apologized for the bologna in her coat pocket.

I met her dancing at Chez Bologna's. We played change bankroll game. I waited till I could lay hands on her bank roll. Then I found it was only a lot of bologna, anyway. Still, it felt like a bank roll.

"What a coincidence," I said.

"What's a coincidence?" she said.

"Bologna," I said.

"I mean what does it mean?" she said.

"Oh," I said. "A coincidence is when two parallel lines meet before infinity."

"What's infinity?" she said.

"My God!" I said. "Infinity is the place where the kind of pain you are beginning to give me would stretch to it last end to end."

I telephoned her the next day.

"Is Chalchibuntheue there?" I said.

"Is who there?" asks the cow at the switchboard.

"Is Chalchibuntheue there?" I said.

"No, but the man who christened her probably is," she says.

"What number is that?" I said.

"Good morning, this is the Verdun Protestant Hospital," she says.

I telephoned her the next day.

"Is Chalchibuntheue there?" I said.

"You mean Miss Canamega jaragavansavah?"

"Who cares?" I said.

I telephoned her the next day.

"Is Moe there?" I said.

"There's no Moe here."

"What the hell kind of a clothing manufacturing company is that anyway?" I said. "Who's speaking?"

"Emy Lardner," he says.

"The hell with Lardner," I said. "I'll ring Lardner some other time."

I telephoned her the next day.

"I want to speak to Chalchibuntheue," I said.

"The wires are blown down south of New York," he says.

"Now me," I said. "It's a dame. Miss Canamega jaragavansavah."

"No," he says. "I don't even miss Eddie Cantor."

We went for a walk in the dunes. There was a flower growing between two moss covered slums.

"Look," I said. "There's an aster."

"Yeah," I said. "It's a shame."

I said after. I said.

"Here she is." But the first letter is silent like the p in Canamega jaragavansavah.

"But

"Well, wait a minute. We just left the house, didn't we?"

"Well, what's about it?" I said.

"A fence, of course," she said.

"But I didn't mean that," I said. "I didn't mean a fence."

"Oh me, of course not and I didn't take any," she said.

"Do you take yourself too serious?" I said. "Is life just a bowl of cherries?"

"No, it's two wistarias," she said.

"Oh," I said. "Is that all?" And then I started to laugh and laugh and laugh and laugh and I shrieked with laughter and Chalchibuntheue Canamega jaragavansavah. But I still think Chalchibuntheue Canamega jargavansavah is a hell of a name to give heroine when you have to type your own manuscripts.

Missing Relatives

The G. Coopspoon who was angry because his name was not mentioned in this column last year is the G. Coopspoon who is going to be angry because his name is not going to be mentioned in this column this year. (It's all right, Jerry. Don't worry. I'm just horsing you.)

Alex: So you are taking Jane to the Junior Prom. I thought you were going to take her to your house dance the next night instead.

Andy: Well, I decided she deserved a better fate. Odi profanum vulgus et arceo.

He: I'm groping for words.

She: Well, you don't expect to find them around my knees, do you?

AND DON'T BE BASHFUL.

A pretty girl fell overboard, and her lover, with her on the excursion, leaned over the side of the boat as she rose to the surface, and cried, "Give me your hand!"

"Please ask Father," she answered, as she sank for the second time.

He: Do you like dancing at Key and Cooke dances?

She: No.

He: Why not?

She: Oh, it's mere necking set to music.

He: Well, what don't you like about it?

She: The music.

Warming up for the final swing of activity in preparation for federal review, U. V. M. Huskies drill every morning but Wednesday at 7.30 a.m., Aha, but on Wednesdays it's 7 a.m. Telephonto wired to Picador shows, left to left, Commissar Keynote, of the OGPU in disguise. Comrade Col. Black is right up front there, with a new strainer. You didn't recognize him, did you? In the file closers are Craig & Campbell, just out of a drashky. Some Boss, hey joke? Czechka and double Cheka!

A Student-at-Large

by Ramshottom Horsley

Is There a Santa Claus?

A Christmas murder mystery in the grand old Horsley style of years gone by.

Here we are," roared Major Pinkford to the milling throngs which bore him to his grave. "Here is the grand old man who brings joy each year to thousands of young hearts on Xmas eve. He beats as he sweeps as he cleans, the favorite of young and old, the joy of the fireside the delight of the other side, the comforter of both sides, the stitch in nobody's side. Ladies and gentlemen, I wish to introduce to you one whom we all know, a gentleman we all hold dear because he costs us plenty, one whom we can never adequately repay for all he has done for us, one who takes the cash and lets the credit go. Let's fill our stockings and drink to the delight of our hearts, the envy of our rabbits, the comforter of our old gray hares, the caresser of our doe, the favorite of our deers, the man who has us buffaloed, the man who cows our bank accounts, bulldozes our budgets, hogs the works, dogs our footsteps. Gentlemen, I give you Father Christmas, and am I glad to get rid of him!"

"He's just showing his Claus," snickered the chief mourner.

"Will you give me something out of your bag?" asked Mrs. Pinkford. "When you see the whites of my eyes."

"Know all by these presents that I am Santa Claus," boomed the bluff old man in red.

"Because I love you" boomed the orchestra.

"Love Santa little gift of hoses," flashed Mme. Goldfarb, as she hung her stockings up by the chimney.

"Chimney Christmas," swore Merle Snodgrass.

"He should change his name from St. Nicholas to St. Pennias on account of the depression," said Pinkford, getting up on one elbow. "Like I changed my name from Pinkrollsroyce to Pinkford after the crash."

"They took the crash and let the credit go on that fatal day," expounded Snodgrass.

"Fatal prosperity comes, she's just around the corner," encouraged the Goldfarb.

I buttoned my overcoat closer around my chin, for the night was cold in the old churchyard where the Major lay. The earth fell on his coffin with a dull thud. After a while he stopped coffin.

"Why do you wear your overcoat around your chin?" giggled the corpse.

"Why do you wear your pants around your waist?" I fenced.

"To keep my suspenders from falling down," he replied. "Why does a baker wear a rubber hat?"

"To keep his hair from the dough," I responded.

"Who started this, anyway?" asked Santa.

"Little drops of whiskey.
Little grains of Santa,
Make the fireside potion
And the Christmas banta" I recited. "You seem to be the Santa of attraction tonight."

"Remember you get a five Santa piece back on every bottle of hootchie-pap," murmured Snodgrass.

"Hootchie get that crack from, Pap?" I queried.

Pap scratched his head reflectively, and I could see all his thoughts mirrored in his liquid orbs.

Well, folks, mirror my God to Thee. Liquid Groucho Marx gets away with. Merry Xmas.

. . . It is with the greatest sympathy that we announce the predicament of the student who, due to the depression, is forced to take true-false quizzes without the aid of a coin. . .

—ep—

The other sun-up old Mystic was gassing with that beautiful, but dumb seck of his, Miss Take, and during the general flow of important conversation he made the non-offensive deduction that her kisses were a utility.

"Why, Mystic, what do you mean?" she why-whyed in that innocent, but guilty, manner of hers.

"According to noted economists," he explained while trying to conceal my Communist complexion, "a utility is anything that is an object of desire."

But then he dismissed her with the curt remark, "I wont need utilities dark."

—ep—

Musings of a Sleepy and Absent-Minded Young Man (in Bed!)

Tonight I bet I had a date
I wonder who I promised?
There's Nat and Bell and
You and Kate
(Tonight I bet I had a date!)
It's now a little after eight
And I'm in bed, pajamased,
Tonight I bet I had a date,
I wonder who I promised?

—ep—

Smirk. When a college man grows a moustache it tickles his vanity—and sometimes she doesn't like it.

—ep—

Rat: What is he trying to do, play dead?

Fooey: I wouldn't put it possum.

—ep—

He was only a garden rake, and he sure dragged them in the dirt.

—ep—

The husband who knows where his wife keeps her nickels has nothing on the husband who knows where the maid's quarters are.

—ep—

"Just another proposition at the end of a sentence," said Mamie as she tilted her nose at the paroled convict.

—ep—

Alpha X: Resist that temptation.

K. A. T.: I would, but it may never come again.

—ep—

She: Does the moon affect the tide?

He: No, only the untied.

—ep—

The latest dirty trick we've heard, is when one of the boys got tight and put the "Curb Service" hot-dog stand sign on a sorority house lawn.

—ep—

When I married John, I didn't know whether it was passion or if he merely had asthma.

Well, have you found out?

Yeah, he still has the asthma.

—ep—

One of our four scribes says that when his girl eats cabbage she has a Rhumba all her own.

—ep—

Voices in the dead of night in the dorm:

Wake up quick, wake up!

Can't.

Why not?

Ain't sleeping.

—ep—

According to the Bowdoin Orient oil has been installed as a college fuel for next winter. Probably because of the abundance of this substance around the institution.

—ep—

You! Sittin' around all day; and look at the holes in these socks!

Well, what do they make spats for.

. . . Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

By Wallace Nutting Dickinson Clark

HINT:

There's a certain subject
Whose edges I must touch
I really wish you wouldn't
Date me up so much.

I haven't too much money.
So my clothes are very few—
I haven't enough changes
To quite keep up with you.

So I wish you'd really try
To date me less and less—
(Have time to forget that last time
I wore this same red dress!)

—ep—

ODE TO A QUIZ

Quizzes are coming; they're almost here,
On faculty's face there's a nasty leer.
We sigh for the days of the loin-cloth and apple,
But all we can do is to pray in the Chapel

—ep—

SPRING SONNET ON WORDS

Words—
Though they May be
A medium
Of expression—
Can Never Never Express
What I think
Of you—

You Lughead.

—ep—

TO ANNETTE

i hail you in the stadium, the street, i hail you with a shout
i hail u (sic) now and ever sweet—est sauerkraut

sweet as limburger st—
you are, annette: my dear, my bach, my brahms, my food, my drink,
my lager beer.

—ep—

THESE I HAVE NOT LOVED . . .

(With apologies to The Great Lover)

These I have not loved;
The gnawing bite of a lecture-bench
Upon my flannel pants; the stench
Of a glutton's garlic in the evening crowd
On a tramway-car; the blatant, loud
Bell of a jabbering alarm-clock;
The bawling, vociferated talk
Of raucous radio advertisements; the rack
Composed of Hatchways creeping up my back;
Those preachy English people with the accent
Critics; the slam of doors; the dent
In the front mud-guard; protuding nails
In shoe; cups without handles and holes in pails;
Loud freshmen in the library; the rage
Of librarians on scribbing in a page;
Two superfluous cheer-leaders; tripe;
No matches, or a blocked tobacco pipe;
Wet blankets both human and inanimate;
Cures proposed for our non-inflated state
Of affairs financial; the dismal science
Of economics; mathematics; English 2, whence
Come such scorners as this; the claim
That college spirit turn to apathy; the aim
Of pornographic trivialiterature
That tastes like sugar-coated muck; the lure
Of subterranean beaneries; fountains: the touch
For a cuppa coffee; would-be columnists and such;
Anti-C.O.T.C. letters, and patriotism, too;
Poetry, and what else good on earth have you?
All these have not been my loves . . . .

—ep—

One of our "back-to-the land" enthusiasts at Transylvania College makes the following consignments:

Suitors should go to Miss
Miners should go to Ore.
Singers should go to La.
Laundresses should go to Wash.
Prayers should go to Mass.
Doctors should go to Md.
Writers should go to Penn.
Babies should go to Ga.
Drinkers should go to Ill.
Farmers should go to Mo.
Debtors should come to Me.
And colyumists, we suppose, should go to Col.

INITIATES WEAR WOMEN'S DRESS

One of Earliest Regulations Provided That Males Should Not Appear in Women's Apparel

If one of the first trustees of South Carolina College could glance over the lofty parapets of Heaven he would probably fall through to earth, his eyes popping with astonishment, on seeing a German club initiation. For among the first rules and regulations of the college was one to the effect that it was unlawful for a student to appear in woman's apparel.

And if any student did appear in woman's dress, or was guilty of "Other gross immoralities," he was liable to expulsion. In addition, music in the dormitories was forbidden during the hours of study, or on Sundays, according to Dr. E. L. Green, in his "A History of the University of South Carolina." The following regulations, the subject of which was "Misdemeanors and Criminal Offenses" appear. The year is 1807.

"1. If any student shall be guilty of any blasphemy, robbery, duelling, fornication, forgery, or any such atrocious crime, he shall be expelled.

"2. All the students are strictly forbidden to play at cards, or any unlawful game; to use profane or obscene language; to strike or insult any person; to associate with persons of known bad character; to visit taverns without liberty; to appear in indecent dress or in woman's apparel; to lie, steal, get drunk, or be guilty of other gross immoralities. If any student shall transgress in any of these respects, he shall be admonished, suspended, degraded or expelled, as the case may require.

"3. No student may keep in his room any kind of firearms or gun powder; nor fire any in or near the college, in any manner whatever; and any student who shall violate this law, shall be liable to admonition, suspension, or expulsion.

"4. If any student shall wilfully insult or strike any of the officers of the college, he shall be suspended or expelled.

"5. All the students are strictly forbidden to play on any instrument of music in the hours of study, and also on Sundays; and shall abstain from their usual diversions and exercises on these days.

6. If any student shall refuse to open the door of his room, when required to do so by one of the Faculty, he shall be liable to public admonition; and the Faculty, when they shall think it necessary, may break open any room in the college at the expense of those by whom they are refused admittance.

"7. If any student shall refuse to give evidence respecting the violation of any of the laws of the college, when required by the Faculty, he shall be admonished or suspended.

"8. No student is permitted to make a practice of entertaining company in his room, especially in the hours of study.

"9. All students are strictly forbidden, without previous liberty obtained of a member of the Faculty, to bring any spirituous liquor into the college; and if any student, by bringing spirituous liquor into the college, shall be the occasion of riotous conduct or tumult, he shall be liable to admonition or suspension.

"10. No student shall make any festival entertainment in the college, or in the town of Columbia, or take part in anything of the kind, without liberty previously obtained of the President.

"11. All the students are required to be particularly careful respecting fire, especially when they are obliged to go from their rooms; or in carrying it through entries; and they are strictly forbidden to smoke cigars or pipes in any part of the college, except in their own rooms.

"12. If any students shall enter into a combination to oppose the authority of the Faculty, or to impede the operation of the laws, they shall be punished by admonition, suspension or expulsion; and if any student shall express a determination not to submit to the laws, he shall be immediately suspended from the college; and be reported to the trustees."

—ep—

As Who Wouldn't?

The Atchison Globe deals with art: "There is a statue of a naked man sitting on a stump or something. He has one of his fists in his mouth. His hair needs combing, and his toenails need trimming. And he is labeled "The Thinker." We can't accept the label. We insist that the man who takes off his clothes and then goes outdoors and sits on a stump is not a thinker, but a moron."

On the other hand, if the Globe found itself out in front of a museum without any clothes on, it would do some thinking, too.

—ep—

Advocate: You want to divorce these women? Can you name any co-respondents?

King Solomon: Not offhand, of course, but I strongly suspect the 97th Regiment of the Royal Light Infantry.

—ep—

Evolution

Said the monk as she hung by her tail,
To her offsprings, both female and male,
From your children, my dears,
In a few million years,
May evolve a professor at Yale.

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

EL PICADOR'S OWN MAGAZINE RACK(ET

Cosmopolitan	Jack Lib
American	Jim W
American Boy	G. H. Burrows
Scientific American	Mal Bent
Judge	Jim Bige
Bunk	Mike Benw
Woman's Home Companion,	Jack Greena
Country Gentleman	Ten Bro
Boy's Life	Norm Mye
Youth's Companion,	Name it and you can have
Ladies' Aid	Ed Sou
Dew Drops	Iolanthe's Fam
Western.	Professor Household
Aces	Professor Aik
New Yorker	Skip Bed
Vogue	Fritz Wegn
Amazing	Don Tob
Hooey	Mike Benw
Popular Mechanics,	Whalen and Reev
Babies, Just Babies,	Derven and Derv
College Life	The Phi Dood
Whinneyings	an
Snappy Stories	Spider Cl
Athletic Journal	Jerry Far-w
Literary Digest	Dot Kenne
American Girls	Lex Schaef
Sat Eve Post,	In front of the Five & T
Ladies' Home Journal	The Cy
College Humor	The O
Time	Gramp Ry
Smokehouse	Benway
Police Gazette	Thatch Hubba
Pathfinder	Fraser Dr
Socony Flashes,	Thetas in the Koffee Kor
Outlook	Dean Patter
Gentlewoman	Try and Fin
Farm and Home	Bones Hau
Breezy Stories	Chet T
Artists and Models,	Campus House Ensem
10 Story Book	Betty Butc
Boston Herald	Crosby H
Vermont Athletic Review,	J. Horner Bu
How To Be An Athlete,	John the Beck
Atlantic Monthly	Redst
Ballyhoo	Jim Nay
Whiz Bang	Benway A
Rutland Herald	Sonny Wilk
True Confessions	Sylvie B
Review of Reviews	Colonel Bl
National Sportsman	Featuring Hubb
Real Love	Loudon-Mars
True Romance	Stevens-Ran
Life	Ginny H
Amateur Detective	Satch McGov
Montpelier Argus	Chub Au
Trees and Shrubs	The Sig-Theta Comb
How To Be A Pitcher,	Jim Ozro Cr

—ep—

Active (to new pledge): Congratulations!

Snoot: Thanks, same to you.

—ep—

Smirk: Many a gal's passing grade merely a mark of affection.

—ep—

King Solomon, to stenographer: "I'm having a conference this evening. Mimeograph 3,000 excuses, and send 14 a dozen of roses to my wives."

—ep—

"No—it's my uncle, Bill Sokol."

"I want some pills."

"Anti-Bilious?"

—ep—

Prof.: Which would you rather have—three bags with two cherries in each bag or two bags with three cherries in each bag?

Stude: Three bags with two cherries in each.

Prof.: How come?

Stude: There'd be one more bag to bust.

—ep—

As the meanest man in the world on one cold, below zero, blizzardy January night—"I wish I had a fallen daughter to put out on a night like this."

—ep—

Co-ed: What happens to little boys who don't drink?

Agguye: Nothing.

—ep—

She: I think dancing makes a girl's feet too big, don't you?

He: Yeah.

(Pause)

She: I think swimming gives a girl awfully large shoulders, don't you?

He: Yeah.

(Pause)

He: You do a lot of riding, don't you?

—ep—

Did you have a good time on your date last night?

Rotten!

What was the trouble?

Did you ever see one of these movie thrillers that say "continued next week" in the most exciting part?

—ep—

A collegian is he who knows what he wants when she wants it.

—ep—

Experts say that a man can live on $5.00 for a long period of time, but they don't say where the five bucks can be found.

—ep—

In case of a wreck, should the gentleman precede the lady through the windshield?

—ep—

Frat: I can't se ehow that beauty got into that bathing suit?

Bro.: You aren't supposed to.

Your Picadorish fotographer was right on the spot at the last Bounder's day. Here is a snap taken of two young freshman women, all unsuspecting, so rapt are they in Veteran Debater Littleboy's griping for closer understanding between man and woman'. Go to it girls. See big Rock Ross.

Football as played today is just too much for the officials, a sports writer typed recently.

And judging by the recent changes in the coaching staffs of most of America's colleges, football is too much for the coaches, too!

—ep—

"Your Honor," expostulated the barber, "I am a married man with six children. Why should I kiss this girl? Manicurists come and go in my place, and I haven't got the time to kiss them."

(From a story in the N. Y. Sun)

Maybe that's why they come—and go!

—ep—

One co-ed blamed her beautiful physique and complexion on the fact that she takes sitting up exercises. She sits up with a different boy every night.

—ep—

Husband Cuts Wife Into 14 Pieces" —Newspaper headline.

This jig-saw puzzle business has gone far enough

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an occasional billiards drinker."

Prof. Dean: Use the word "satiate" in a sentence.

Finks: I took out Al Robbins' girl and I'll satiate a lot.

—ep—

While men must have heard by this time that women are pretty much alike, it's only human nature that they should want to find out for themselves.

—ep—

Just to show how culture and knowledge of the classics is coming to the campus we cite the case of Babe McGowan who entered the Baron's sartorial establishment on Church Street with a pair of torn trousers.

"Euripides?" asked the Baron. "Yes sir," said Babe, "Eumenides."

—ep—

Patterson: Did you see the wreck Saturday night?

Ross: Which one, the blonde?

—ep—

Youth is stranger than fiction.

—ep—

Few college men stick as long as their fraternity pins.

Drink Sparkling Weissmann

"The Brew That Changed Burping to Beerping"

ON TAP AT THE KOFFEE KORNER—Don't Tap It Too Hard

Heartily Endorsed by the Billiards Drinkers of the Old Regime

Tupper — "Moustache" Ladd — Pete the Pitman — "Carp Carpenter" — Gladys the Flame — Katty the Co-ed

COLLEGE HUMOR

ODDS AND ENDS

—ep—

Prof. Adams: Let your mind [illegible] and look at [illegible] beauty and get the spiritual.

—ep—

Miss [illegible]: [illegible] asked Adams [illegible] if I kiss her dress.

—ep—

[illegible] engaged
I'm just dying, whereas
Why [illegible] was?
You would, you [illegible]

—ep—

Lady: None Pretense, I suppose that [illegible] portraits [illegible] and art

Prof.: No, Madam that is a mirror

—ep—

Gee, I'm glad I wasn't born in Germany

Why

I can't speak German

—ep—

Famous Last Words: I bet you thought we were doing something

—ep—

She: Will you vote to abolish capital punishment?

He: No! Capital punishment was good enough for my father and it's good enough for me

—ep—

And then, there's the basketball player whose wife got dribblets

—ep—

How Does He Do It?

The News wishes to congratulate Prof. G. H. Meserve on the birth of his second son, Harry Austin Meserve. The youngest Mr. Meserve, weighing nine pounds, arrived on October 3, 1935.

—From N. H. News

—ep—

Mary had a little lamb. The lamb and Mary are doing as well as can be expected.

—ep—

One suggestion for relieving the economic stress the University is now in is to remove the economics department

—ep—

Assistant to the Sword Swallower: Will you be using the Saber?

Sword Swallower (hunsch): No. I'll take mine straight tonight

—ep—

Is this a postoffice?

No, this is just the stamping ground for a lot of mails.

—ep—

What could be worse than a pup with fleas

I don't know

Supposin' they chirped?

—ep—

Lad: Lassie: Did you know that the Pope gave us our present calendar?

Kennedy: Pope! Good Heavens! I thought it came from the grocer in Wauseka!

—ep—

Pat Campbell: How much is that cutaway?

Shopkeeper: Ten dollars.

Pat: Very well. I'll take it. Send me the bill.

Shopkeeper: Sorry, Sir, but we can't send the bill without the coat at the bird.

—ep—

John: My sugar always goes to bed in her working clothes.

Lee: How's that.

John: She's an artist model.

—ep—

Patrisse: Honestly! I've never been kissed in my life.

Vince: Well, I'm no prep school.

—ep—

Some students are such social hogs they have club feet. A place where they shuffle them around after dark is called a night club.

—ep—

Edna: What's the color in the library?

Bigelow: That's the dead silence they keep there.

—ep—

What department of the Coyote responds when a girl: Right, Oscar—the Make-up Staff. Kiss and make-up sure sure!

—ep—

Judge: "Were you ever arrested before?"

Hubbard: No, jester, judge, do I look like a bud just makin' me dabuts?

—ep—

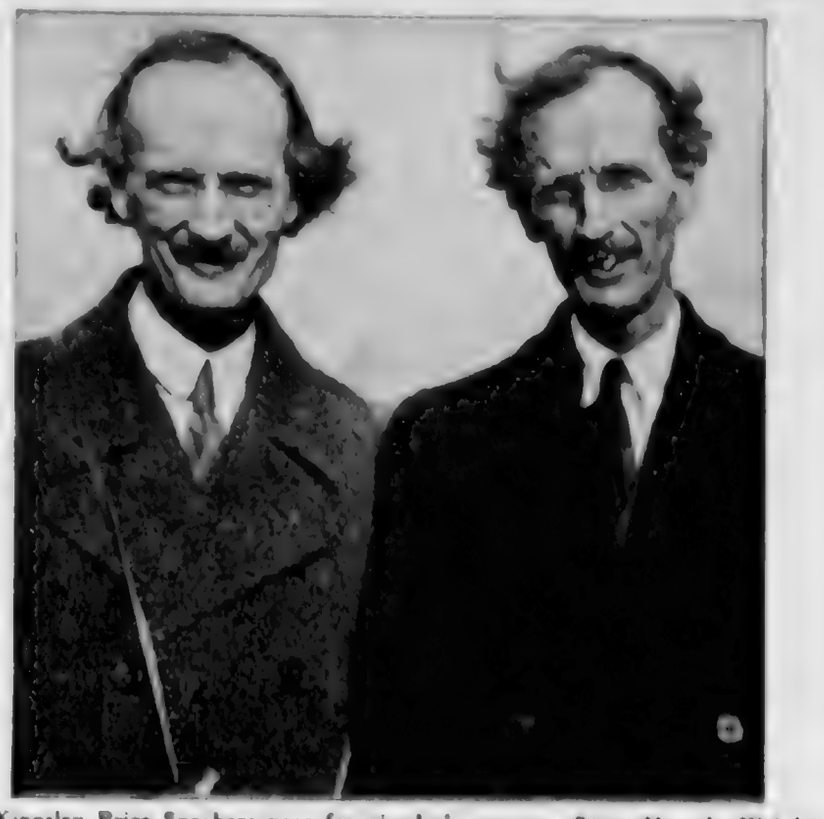
She was such a healthy girl that her parents couldn't have named her Isadore, their conscience would not help her bad for an "Hygeine"

—ep—

(Speaking of Christmas, you probably know that Santa Claus delivers packages because it's a days night sooner than sending them.)

—ep—

Encouraged, asked by his mother what she was in the spelling test was for, the child replied, "I'm not sure, but I think it was perspiration."



—ep—

The accounting office is complaining [illegible] although [illegible] to be getting any [illegible] some one had been.

—ep—

The teacher of a Bible [illegible] was telling [illegible] to remember parts of them and [illegible] gave the text. She said [illegible] as much smaller more [illegible]

"Jonah Swallow" said one.

Kingsley Prize Speakers pose for picador's camera. Stew, Hersely Wright is on the wright. On the left ah, on the left! Free trade, free silver and free lunch. Listen to the Grey Friars broadcast, from XLAX

The uncontrollable Mallethe Hammer takes well deserved bow for that Lance Promenade.

DITTY

Adam to Arabs
Look to pack
At the Chinese wedding
The bride smelled punk

—ep—

Prof.: Why can't you translate this Caesar into better English?

Stud: I've been reading too much Eaton lately.

—ep—

Customer: Package of Mounds please.
Clerk: Nothing wrong, I hope, sir.

—ep—

"A penny for your thoughts."
"This is not a slot machine."

—ep—

"I just think Dan tried to put his arm around me four times last night."
"Wasn't an arm."

—ep—

The auctioneer's son walked into the sumptuous fraternity house and looked about.

"Do I hear any bids?" he murmured.

—ep—

The fellow who has the faculty of grasping things quickly often suffers from shock.

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an occasional drinker."

—ep—

He who college head just a four hour loafer.

—ep—

Ditty

I much rule of dominoes
Me to rule and economics
In grand but improvement our doors

I had to late at night
I can give you'll get right
And as it all be dead to a hundred car

—ep—

"Boys, please attend our house. I'm an occasional drinker."

—ep—

"Don't worry about me boys, I'm an occasional drinker."

LIFE, DEATH AND BOOTBLACKS

Prices are down in everything except tuition so here are a few cheerful facts.

While alive you pay two bits (25 cents to the barber for a shave, and yet you bother. When you're dead and gone, they charge your estate five iron men to chisel and sandpaper your face free of its whiskers. And you can't say a word.

A trip to the theatre costs a dollar and if that you may enjoy the show. A large cab to the cemetery is worth—well, it depends whether your remains are carried in a rolls limousine or on a Ford on the fritz. The price be what it may, wouldn't it be cheaper if both take to your retirement.

A class laborer working weekly gets a quarter an hour for digging ditches. For excavating a six foot hole which will soon fill in, he gets four times that much money.

For 50 cents you can fill your body to overflowing with Lydia Pinkham. Or you can buy Bull Durham for 5 cents and have enough left over for a package of Bromo Seltzer.

Good watches cannot now be had for a hundred dollars, a dozen would soon be worth $1000 at the least. Prices in most lines are sharply higher.

Land used to sell at a dollar an acre but a city lot here and there now brings a thousand dollars. Even [illegible]

Moral: It's cheaper to live.

—ep—

FLASH

Extra! [illegible] Under the Arches —written in two flats.

—ep—

USES WOODEN LEG TO FIGHT OFFICER

—Boston Transcript

And that's quite a feat, sub quite a feat.

—ep—

When President Ernest M. Hopkins of Dartmouth came to Boston recently to speak over the Columbia Chain WNAC, he had to cut his lecture short. It was an adaptation of a famous [illegible] to twenty-five minutes.

We feel certain that there is something in Radio, after all.

—ep—

Two students at Vallajun, Spain, found a way to escape their exams by the simple expedient of locking two professors in a room until they promised to pass the whole class without examination.

Just an old Spanish custom!

—ep—

I suggested questions for entrance examinations with their answers for the benefit of the incoming class.

1. Who was the greatest Prince Ann Hamlet?

2. Were there any prehistoric inhabitants of Rhode Island? Ans. Because they were in Providence, we are not sure.

3. Where was the home of the Great Bear? Ans. I believe in summer it was somewhere near Maine. Henry, you [illegible]

4. Where would you be if you were [illegible] a [illegible] Ans. [illegible] on the [illegible] Henry, you [illegible]

5. Where was the cause of the Great Fire? Ans. I believe it started in someone's cow barn and [illegible] to [illegible] the Union.

—ep—

"Don't worry about me boys, I'm an occasional drinker."

—ep—

Si vous ne voulez pas passer un mauvais quart-d'heure, qu'est-ce que j'ai?

[illegible]
[illegible]
Des hurlements
[illegible]

—ep—

A [illegible] had assigned as a theme [illegible] of the Confederate [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible]

The Scribe

By Pvt. Trimp

[illegible] will see this issue [illegible] traditional [illegible] [illegible] back to the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1933 — NUMBER 54

FANTASTIC MODERNISM THEME OF DECORATION FOR 28TH ANNUAL PROM

Black, White, and Silver the Colors—Crepe Paper, Paintings, and Lights the Materials

MAL HALLETT'S BATON STARTS REVEL AT 8.30

And Ends It at One, Saturday A.M.—But Mirth and Melody Are Kings Till Then

Chairman Dobson and his committee have worked hard to get a popular and peppy orchestra and unusual decorations. We ask the cooperation of the junior class and the students please to make the prom an unprecedented success."—CHAIRMAN W. W. COBB, of the Publicity Committee.

Black, white, silver! Zigzag lines! Presto chango! With crepe paper and oil paintings Vermont's gymnasium changes from the commonplace to a creature of lights and shades and grotesque shapes. Fantastic to the nth degree will be the modernistic setting of that greatest of events, the junior prom.

Promptly at 8.30 Friday evening Mal Hallett, presiding genius of jazz, will wield his magic baton and the twenty-eighth annual prom with its swirling mazy pattern of color and laughter will be on! While the bewitching cadences of the "incomparable Orchestra" fill the amorous atmosphere with melody the youth of the University will hold high revel. Colored lights will twinkle and crouch—spotlights fling their glowing rays across the polished floor, catching sudden gleams of brilliance from the bright evening gowns and glittering studs.

Behind the orchestra will rise the silver spire of the Empire State Building, a fashion spectator, while the tinkle of glassware at the buffet tables placed on the sides adds a final bit to the memory of midnight crowds at Parisian cafés. The foot-weary and otherwise may pause at this mecca of refreshment for "jazzing" revelers.

The total cost of whiling away an evening in this new and strange land has been placed at five dollars. A one-dollar deposit is made in advance, for which the depositor receives a ticket. To this ticket a stub is attached, which may be taken to the florist whose name is printed thereon and exchanged for a corsage. The regular price of these is $2.50, but the committee in charge has obtained a discount, there being a wide variety of corsages offered to fit individual taste and dress. The remaining amount of four dollars is to be paid at the door.

Mal Hallett's orchestra, et cetera, is featured elsewhere in this issue, also the ballot for the Junior Week queen.

ARIEL BILLS SENT OUT MUST BE PAID BEFORE BOOK CAN BE OBTAINED

Junior Academic Students and Medic, Also Sophomore Teachers Must Pay Tax

Bills were mailed out to all the academic and medical students and junior teacher training pupils yesterday by the business manager of the Ariel book. Remittance should be made to Charles J. Libby, business manager, Alpha Epsilon House, as soon as possible.

When the book appears on the campus those who received bills may exchange publication from the University store, after they have paid the bill. Payment may be made at the store at the time the book appears on the campus. Those students who subscribed earlier in the college year for copies of the 1934 Ariel, may obtain them after the balance of their subscription has been paid at the bookstore.

According to a statement by the business manager, all fraternity space has been sold, but there are still three fraternities which have not submitted copy for their space. The advertisement has been appropriately filled with cuts and bylines on each page, given the interest in the advertisements appearing in that section.

MAL HALLETT, whose ensemble will syncopate for Friday's Prom

Peerade Starts At 4 p.m. Today

Twelve Floats Scheduled to Participate in Gala Procession Through City This Afternoon

This afternoon, at four o'clock, Burlington will pause a few minutes in its commercial pursuits to stare at the gaudy spectacle of the annual Junior Week peerade. Mounted on slow-moving trucks and led by the R. O. T. C. band, the procession will wind its way from the gym through the business section of the city, halt all traffic, and congregate thousands of spectators along its colorful way.

Down Main Street to Church, taking the right up Church Street, turning right on Pearl and winding down Winooski to College and thence back to its starting point, the slow, writhing procession will trace its snake-like path. The judging for the most appropriate floats advertising "March Hares," the Junior Week play, will be made by the judges at the Hotel Sherwood. Those secured to judge are Col. F. F. Black, Prof. D. B. Carroll and Dean Eckhard, all instructors in the University.

The Peerade is an annual Junior Week event held to advertise the Junior Week play, to be given at the City Hall tonight. Participation is open to all fraternities, sororities, and dormitories on the hill, to the number of twenty-eight. Two engraved silver cups are presented each year to the best fraternity and best sorority exhibit. The fraternity cup is furnished by Wig and Buskin, men's dramatic society, and Mask and Sandal provides the one for sororities. They are now on display at Hayes and Carter's.

Chairman Muller reports to date six sororities and dormitories entered in the Peerade, and five or six fraternities competing. Muller voices the hope and expectation that this year's Junior Week Peerade will in every way measure up to the high standard of previous years.

[illegible] and floats demonstrating [illegible] will be entered in the Peerade. [illegible] Hall Dorm, Phi Kappa Phi, Pi Beta Phi, Delta Zeta, Alpha Epsilon Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Chi Omega, Alpha Xi Delta, Phi Mu, Alpha Epsilon House, Delta Phi, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Theta Chi, Sigma Nu, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Sigma Kappa, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Chi Sigma, Chi Phi, Phi Mu Delta, Alpha Sigma Phi, Delta Tau Delta, Lambda Chi Alpha, Theta Kappa Nu, Kappa Phi Kappa, Commons Club, Chairman Muller, C. W. Patterson, C. H. [illegible], and S. W. Eastwood.

INITIATION GIVEN BY KAPPA PHI KAPPA

Kappa Phi Kappa, professional educational club, held a meeting last Tuesday evening at seven o'clock at the Education Office, and initiated the following members:

I. E. Irons '33, A. L. Sadler '34, W. V. Osborn '33, L. W. Hall '33.

Representatives for various fraternities on campus are being [illegible] to complete their national rosters. The present officers of the club are:

I. H. Leopold '33, president; A. L. Young '33, vice-president; M. A. Valente '34, treasurer; T. D. Sargent '34, secretary.

University Players To Present "March Hares" At City Hall Auditorium This Evening Before Junior Week Crowd

Annual Junior Week Production Goes on the Boards Two Days Early This Year—Unusual Interior Effect Achieved—"I Attended a Rehearsal the Other Evening, and Enjoyed It Thoroughly," States a Veteran Prima-donna

Bright lights will flash over the stage and entrance doors of the City Hall Auditorium tonight at 8.15, as Vermont's 1933 spring play, the much heralded "March Hares," goes on the boards and when the first curtain is rung up the collegiate spectators will be gazing into a room the fourth wall of which has been removed for the audience's sake. Since in the original room the wall contained a fireplace, the players warm their hands over the footlights, and, strange to say, much of the action of the comedy takes place on the seats facing this ghostly fireplace.

Only by changing the date of presentation to tonight could the University Players put this performance on during Junior Week, for not an auditorium was available for the regular evening of Thursday, state the business managers. Prices are 50 and 75 cents.

Before reviewing the plot and cast here's a statement from a veteran member of the University Players who has followed rehearsals:

Remarks Miss Murphy

"I attended a rehearsal of 'March Hares' the other evening," remarks Dorothy Murphy '33, leading lady of almost every Vermont varsity production save this one, "and enjoyed it thoroughly. The players have accomplished a great deal in so short a time.

"In speaking of the characters," she states, "we can think of no one more admirably suited to play the part of Geoffrey Wareham than Marshall Maltomore. The part fits him and he fits the part remarkably well. And incidentally, this opinion is given without any apologies to John Barrymore.

"Prentiss Howe, as Edgar Fuller has a role much different from that in the fall play, 'To the Ladies.' It is often difficult to forget certain mannerisms of a previous role, but Mr. Howe seems to be accomplishing that very well.

"Rosemary Cahill is delightfully humorous as Claudia Kitts, and Mary Casey in the leading feminine role is doing splendidly.

"The play on the whole, is cast splendidly. The players have had but three weeks in which to prepare 'March Hares' and as a result have had to work very hard. There is bound to be a finished production, ready for everyone's amusement tonight."

The Plot in Brief

Harry Wagstaff Gribble's whimsical comedy is another of those plays dealing with the temperamental personality, "contagious with laughter and continuous with hilarious situations" as it is, however, to the highest degree a farce.

It is the [illegible] of Geoffrey Wareham, [illegible] (M. T. Maltomore, '33) and his fiancée, Lucy Rodney (Mary Casey, '35), to elope. Their [illegible] and tattered raiment make [illegible] this amusing [illegible] of the play.

[illegible] upon the Lodge [illegible] Miss Murphy) [illegible] late afternoon [illegible] Rodney [illegible] young lover [illegible] Wareham [illegible] another [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Scribe

By Poo Tamp

[illegible]

NEWS IN BRIEF

[illegible]

A short time ago, a dashing young reporter that has all the earmarks of [illegible] on the News, but happens to be working on the Press, dashed dashingly into the staid and hallowed office of the Fremont Alumni Weekly office. There hewed over his desk was the proprietor of the establishment. Some of our readers may have before this coupled the proprietor with a coonskin cap on a cold winter day. Our young reporter launched into a hurried conversation with the old coonter, but 'twas in vain. "The king had been at least asleep."

It is further reported that the oracle of the Kappa Sigma House (there is only one) turned the night of Saturday last quite unexpectedly to himself from "Cotton's Saturday Night" into a "Tam O' Shanter." Our oracle was ambling along the main thoroughfare of the [illegible]

[illegible] accosted another [illegible] a stranger. The subjective [illegible] of the individual thus accosted resented the remark—but his subjective state was such that he was unable to distinguish between the accoster and the accostee, with certain devastating results to the latter. In spite of a strategic retreat, [illegible] to the head of the Crescent and the Star in the speedy administration of the arm of the law.

Latest reports from the theatre of the [illegible] Majestic Laundry have not been fully verified as yet. It is rumored that a great hostility is existing between the two factions. The Order of the Crescent and Star (there are two—take your choice), the leader is the Hip Hung Low Tong has brought about a schism in Chinese solidarity and taken a definite stand with the latter in the Sino-Japanese situation. The other three heads of the Law Tong have expressed themselves in accord with their action. Once again the arm of the law executed annihilation of the Tongs.

With legalized 3.2 Bachanalian.

Clang!
Two clangs!!
Three clangs!!!
A crash
Another crash—
A white cloud
Running
Rising rearward
Falling nostrils—
The cash man
Sneezes
Whew!!!

[illegible] developed at Rockhurst College, has brought that college into the business field. A company to manufacture the insecticide is being incorporated with Rockhurst holding ten per cent of the stock.

For ten per cent of the stock, we'd learn how to pronounce it!

—ep—

Submitting a thesis on "Four Ways to Wash Dishes" a woman was granted a Master's Degree at the University of [illegible]. A Doctorate of Philosophy was given by Columbia to the author of "The Duties of School Janitors". A University of Kansas student received his degree of Doctor of Philosophy after having lived in an automobile for a year, and subsisting on 13½ cents a day.

How about a B. S. in J. for Soda Jerking?

Fordham University School of Law
NEW YORK

Case System—Three-Year Course

CO-EDUCATIONAL

College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required

Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases

Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE

CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

HAVE YOU "RAIDED"
THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

FLANNEL SLACKS
$3.50

SPRING SUITS
$18.50 TO $30.

SPORT COATS
SWEATERS
NEW NECKWEAR

TOPCOATS
$16.50

Miles & Perry Co.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1890

Editorial

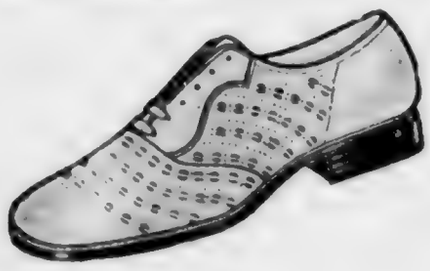
STUDENTS! DENOUNCE BEER

"BEER TO BE SOLD IN COFFEE CORNER AND ALL OTHER UNIVERSITY STORES", screams a streamer head from last Sunday's Vermont Cynic. Quick, Henry, the Flit, barflies will soon be here.

Rouse yourselves, students of Vermont, your Alma Mater, shake the clinkers from your dormant optics. Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party—and don't forget the steins and pretzels. Call your long-suffering imagination into play. Realize if you can the abominable, atrocious, results of such a foolhardy policy—that of permitting the sale of this execrable beverage on our fair campus.

When the interests of over one thousand students are sacrificed on the blood-stained altar of the Great God Mammon, you as fervent disciples of our great Liberator Carrie Nation, armed not indeed with a hatchet but with that much more effective exterminator, one known in the vernacular of the idiomatic collegian as the Flit Gun, can have but one course to pursue—SQUIRT, and SQUIRT HARD!!

—ep—



The Aggaye Department has decided not to raise any more pigs at the Xperimental Station. "Too many of 'em clutterin' up the campus now!" asseverated G. P. Heat, big boy in the farmer's section.

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

STUDENTS
SUPPLIES
ART MATERIALS
FAVORS & DECORATIONS
FOR DANCES
•
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts. Phone 629

"ON YOUR TOES"

B. J. BOYNTON
65 Church St.

The Junior Week
FRATERNITY AND SORORITY
REDUCTION SALE
on BANNERS, PILLOWS
and STATIONERY
at the
University Store

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $ year; single copy, five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the department head at The Vermont Cynic Office, North College. Brief notices must be in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they appear. Office telephone 1644.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for [illegible] 406 P. I. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 May 5, 1933

Rev: His name?

Mother: Gerald VonSkofsky VanLandingham.

Rev: Let us pray.

—ep—

"What are you standing over there throwing rocks at that little boy for?"

"I dasn't go no closer, ma'am. He's got the whooping cough."

—ep—

Our friends across the river, at M. I. T., are working on a dramatic production in which boys take all the parts. It is reported that the boys are doing such a good job at taking the female parts, that it is hard to tell the difference.

—It's Fun To Be Fooled—

—ep—

1st Drunk: Shay, ya seen my dog, Rover?

2nd Ditto: Naw, whash his name?

1st Drunk: Spot.

—ep—

SENIOR LIT SCORES SUCCESS

—Headline in University of Saskatchewan "Sheaf."

—And who wouldn't?

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHOP
102A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES

AT NORTHWESTERN

One of the questions in the [illegible] exam was "What is adolescence?" [illegible] one bright boy wrote, "Adolescence is the period between puberty and adulthood."

—ep—

"How are you gettnig along in your surgery course?"

"Oh, I flunked it because I had too many cuts."

—ep—

—M'sieur, donnez-moi vingt sous que je puisse aller retrouver mes [illegible]
—Ou sont-ils donc? —Au cinéma.

—ep—

Neighbor: I hear you have a new [illegible] in your house. Is he going to [illegible]?

Child: Well, it looks that way. He's got all his things off.

—ep—

"Don't worry about me, boys, I'm an old billiards drinker."

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHOOL
Founded 1900

Dentistry has developed into an important branch of health service. In order to meet its obligation to humanity, it needs men and women of the highest intellect, trained by superior training.

College men and women who are interested in a career in this field of work may obtain a prospectus of the educational requirements by addressing

Howard M. Marjerison, D.M.D.,
Tufts College Dental School
416 Huntington Ave. Boston, [illegible]

THE WHITE LINEN DINNER JACKET
COOL—GOOD LOOKING—COMFORTABLE.
WEAR IT TO THE PROM
COST—JACKET AND SASH
$10.00
SEE THEM ON DISPLAY
HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

If—you're hunting entertainme

Take a shot at-

"MARCH HARES"
Junior Week Play
City Hall Auditorium
TUESDAY, MAY 9 8:15 P.
Tickets 50 and 75 cents
No Reserves

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MAY 9, 1933 — NUMBER 54

FANTASTIC MODERNISM THEME OF DECORATION FOR 28TH ANNUAL PROM

Black, White, and Silver the Colors—Crepe Paper, Paintings, and Lights the Materials

MAL HALLETT'S BATON STARTS REVEL AT 8.30

And Ends It at One, Saturday A.M.—But Mirth and Melody Are Kings Till Then

"Chairman Dobson and his committee have worked hard to get a popular and peppy orchestra and unusual decorations. We ask the cooperation of the junior class and the students at large to make the prom an unprecedented success."—CHAIRMAN W. W. COHEN, of the Publicity Committee.

Black, white, silver! Zigzag lines! Presto chango! With crepe paper and oil paintings Vermont's gymnasium changes from the commonplace to a creature of lights and shades and grotesque shapes. Fantastic to the nth degree will be the modernistic setting of that greatest of events, the junior prom.

Promptly at 8.30 Friday evening Mal Hallett, presiding genius of jazz, will wet his magic baton and the twenty-eighth annual prom with its swirling mazy pattern of color and laughter will be on! While the bewitching cadences of the "Incomparable Orchestra" fill the amorous atmosphere with melody the youth of the University will hold high revel. Colored lights will twinkle and crouch, spotlights fling their glowing rays against the polished floor, catching sudden gleams of brilliance from the bright evening gowns and glittering studs.

Behind the orchestra will rise the silver spire of the Empire State Building, a custom spectator, while the tinkle of glassware at the buffet tables placed on the sides adds a final bit to the memory of midnight crowds at Parisian cafés. The foot-weary and otherwise may pause at this mecca of refreshment for "jazzing" revelers.

The total cost of whiling away an evening in this new and strange land has been placed at five dollars. A one-dollar deposit is made in advance, for which the depositor receives a ticket. To this ticket a stub is attached, which may be taken to the florist whose name is printed thereon and exchanged for a corsage. The regular price of these is $3.50, but the committee in charge has secured a discount, there being a wide variety of corsages offered to fit individual taste and dress. The remaining amount of four dollars is to be paid at the door.

Mal Hallett's orchestra, et cetera, is featured elsewhere in this issue, also the news of the Junior Week queen.

ARIEL BILLS SENT OUT MUST BE PAID BEFORE BOOK CAN BE OBTAINED

Junior Academic Students and Medic, Also Sophomore Teachers Must Pay Tax

Bills were mailed out to all the academic and medical students and junior teacher training pupils yesterday morning by the business manager of the yearbook. Remittance should be made to Charles J. Libby, business manager, Alpha Epsilon House, as soon as possible.

Before the book appears on the campus those who received bills may obtain publication from the University store, after they have paid the tax. Payment may be made at the University store at the time the book appears on the campus. Those students who subscribed earlier in the college year by means of the 1934 Ariel, may obtain their books after the balance of their subscription fee has been paid at the bookstore.

According to a statement by the business manager, all fraternity space has been paid for, but there are still three organizations which have not submitted payment for their space. The advertising department has been appropriately decorated with cuts and bylines on each page which have given the interest in the advertisements appearing in that section.

MAL HALLETT, whose ensemble will syncopate for Friday's Prom

Peerade Starts At 4 p.m. Today

Twelve Floats Scheduled to Participate in Gala Procession Through City This Afternoon

This afternoon, at four o'clock, Burlington will pause a few minutes in its commercial pursuits to stare at the gaudy spectacle of the annual Junior Week peerade. Mounted on slow-moving trucks and led by the R. O. T. C. band, the procession will wind its way from the gym through the business section of the city, halt all traffic, and congregate thousands of spectators along its colorful way.

Down Main Street to Church, taking the right up Church Street, turning right on Pearl and winding down Winooski to College and thence back to its starting point, the slow, writhing procession will trace its snake-like path. The judging for the most appropriate floats advertising "March Hares," the Junior Week play, will be made by the judges at the Hotel Sherwood. Those secured to judge are Col. F. F. Black, Prof. D. B. Carroll, and Dean Eckhard, all instructors in the University.

The Peerade is an annual Junior Week event held to advertise the Junior Week play, to be given at the City Hall tonight. Participation is open to all fraternities, sororities, and dormitories on the hill, to the number of twenty-eight. Two engraved silver cups are presented each year to the best fraternity and best sorority exhibit. The fraternity cup is furnished by Wig and Buskin, men's dramatic society, and Mask and Sandal provides the one for sororities. They are now on display at Haves and Carney.

Chairman Miller reports to date six sororities and dormitories entered in the Peerade, and five or six fraternities competing. Miller voices the hope and expectation that this year's Junior Week Peerade will in every way measure up to the high standards of previous years.

Last year four fraternities, five sororities and three dormitories were entered in the event. Sigma Nu won the permanent cup for the Best Fraternity Exhibit, Pi Beta Phi won the cup for the sorority exhibit, Delta Upsilon, Mansfield Dormitories, Alpha Chi Sigma, Delta Tau Delta, Phi Kappa Phi, and Delta Chi Delta [illegible] planned and [illegible] on a [illegible] basis. Dr. Mansfield Hayes, [illegible] Junior Week [illegible] Prof. [illegible] Dr. Carroll, [illegible] Dean Eckhard, [illegible] Miller, [illegible] W. [illegible] C. W. Patterson, C. H. Jones, and S. W. Eccleston.

INITIATION GIVEN BY KAPPA PHI KAPPA

Kappa Phi Kappa professional educational club held a meeting last Tuesday evening at which time the following were initiated: the following members:

J. B. Dorey '33, A. L. Sawyer '34, W. F. Osborn '35, L. W. Hall '35.

Representatives for coming year were appointed as follows: [illegible] the present officers of national [illegible] the club for [illegible].

J. H. Farwell '33, president; A. L. Young '33, vice-president; M. A. Vickery '34, treasurer; J. D. Sargent '34, secretary.

University Players To Present "March Hares" At City Hall Auditorium This Evening Before Junior Week Crowd

Annual Junior Week Production Goes on the Boards Two Days Early This Year—Unusual Interior Effect Achieved—"I Attended a Rehearsal the Other Evening, and Enjoyed It Thoroughly," States a Veteran Prima-donna

Bright lights will flash over the stage and entrance doors of the City Hall Auditorium tonight at 8:15 as Vermont's 1933 spring play, the much heralded "March Hares," goes on the boards and when the first curtain is rung up the collegiate spectators will be gazing into a room, the fourth wall of which has been removed for the audience's sake. Since in the original room the wall contained a fireplace, the players warm their hands over the footlights—and, strange to say, much of the action of the comedy takes place on the sofa facing this ghostly fireplace.

Only by changing the date of presentation to tonight could the University Players put this performance on during Junior Week, for not an auditorium was feasible for the regular evening of Thursday, state the business managers. Prices are 50 and 75 cents.

Before reviewing the plot and cast, here's a statement from a veteran member of the University Players who has followed rehearsals:

Remarks Miss Murphy

"I attended a rehearsal of 'March Hares' the other evening," remarks Dorothy Murphy '33, leading lady of almost every Vermont varsity production save this one, "and enjoyed it thoroughly. The players have accomplished a great deal in so short a time.

"In speaking of the characters," she states, "we can think of no one more admirably suited to play the part of Geoffrey Wareham than Marshall Miltimore. The part fits him, and he fits the part remarkably well. And incidentally this opinion is given without any apologies to John Barrymore.

"Prentiss Howe, as Edgar Fuller has a role much different from that in the last play, 'To the Ladies.' It is often difficult to forget certain mannerisms of a previous role, but Mr. Howe seems to be accomplishing that very well.

"Rosemary Cahill is delightfully humorous as Claudia Kitts, and Mary Casey, in the leading feminine role, is doing splendidly.

"The play on the whole, is cast splendidly. The players have had but three weeks in which to prepare 'March Hares' and as a result have had to work very hard. There is bound to be a finished production ready for everyone's amusement tonight."

The Plot in Brief

Harry Wagstaff Gribble's whimsical comedy is another of those plays dealing with the temperamental personalities "combining with laughter and continuous with ludicrous situations"—it is not, however, to the slightest degree a farce.

It is the story of Geoffrey Wareham, an eligible bachelor (M. T. Miltimore '33) and his friends James Bodney (Mary Casey '35 who plays leading feminine role) to her delight. The scene at the close of act one, between Fuller and Wareham, who have both had a few cocktails, is howlingly funny.

MARY CASEY '35 who plays leading feminine role

Act II

The strained atmosphere continues. Claudia recites poetry to the assembled group and Fuller relates experiences of his early life. It seems that at one time he was a glass blower in a circus much to the disappointment of Claudia who would much have preferred a daring trapeze performer. Geoffrey tells in the most [illegible] manner of Claudia's financial [illegible] determined to [illegible] on the [illegible] hand. [illegible] to [illegible] and the [illegible] Geoffrey [illegible] and [illegible] Claudia [illegible] [illegible] Fuller, and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

CHARLES J. LIBBY '34 ..... Editor-in-Chief
AUGUSTA COHEN '34 ..... Women's Editor
REA L. G. McLEIN '34 ..... Managing Editor
WILLIAM BRISLIN '34 ..... Sports Editor
B. TH KOBEL '34 ..... Recording Editor
GEORGE H. BURROWS, II '34 ..... Business Manager
CHARLES J. LIBBY '34 ..... Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Jane Parsons '35
Dorothy Kennedy '35 — Dustin White '35
Howard Abbott '35 — Arlington Wilcox '35
Stuart Wright '35

FEATURE EDITORS

Nathaniel Conrad '35
Milton Greenburg '34

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

COLUMNIST

Robert Weissman '34

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

Richmond Muzzey '36 — Estelle Costello '36
Orrin Lawson '36 — Elizabeth Haig '36
Raymond Greenmore '36 — Ruth Hammer '36
Norma Piper '36 — Allan Forrest '36
Ruth Ives '36 — Frances Rowe '36
Edward Isaac '36 — William Sokol '36
Ann Dorcas '36 — Stephen O'Brien '36
Edna Leach '36

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge ..... R. STUART WRIGHT

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year, single copy, five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at THE VERMONT CYNIC Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644.

Acceptance for mailing at points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 — May 9, 1933 — No. 54

Editorials

Serving as supplement to Vermont's annual Kake Walk is the picturesque Junior Week sponsored each year by the junior class. This year a storm of events will be inaugurated by the Junior Week peerade, featuring floats constructed and paraded on Church Street by the various fraternities and sororities on the campus. These will advertise the play, "March Hares," which will be presented this evening.

Peerade, play, prom, fraternity dances, tennis match, baseball game and the selection of the prom queen will furnish every eager participant a week of unlimited gaiety. Nothing has been overlooked in the preparation of events for the annual spree. In the hands of capable management the week should be run off with a smoothness that is the result of careful preparation and planning.

Following the custom of several years, a prom queen will be chosen. This year the method of selection will differ in order to eliminate any possible miscount or mistake in the number of votes. Mal Hallett's orchestra has graciously consented to render a decision to the girl who is considered by the band to be the most fitting prom queen among ten, who will have been selected by college students as representative beauties of the University.

Contrary to the practice used in the past, the Junior Week dramatic presentation will be presented Tuesday evening, preceded by the peerade in the afternoon. A well-trained and experienced cast, filled by players most suited to their roles, will tread the stage before the footlights this evening when they present "March Hares," a whimsical comedy involving the peculiar antics of the "temperamentalists." The cast has worked very hard every day on the production, and has been forced to return in the evenings in order to more perfectly polish the play for the critical eye of the student onlooker.

Junior Week is one of the most gala festivals of the college year. It should be thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Society Notes

SIGMA GAMMA

Sigma Gamma announces the pledging of Mildred Baldwin '35 Tuesday, May 2.

The pledges entertained the active chapter at their Pomposette home Tuesday night, May 2.

A waffle supper was held at the Methodist Church Thursday, May 4, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

LOST

A Chilton fountain pen, green, black and gold.
MARGARET KANE.

Including Roosevelt twenty-two of our Presidents were lawyers.

NOTICE

Phi Mu Delta announces the pledging of W. S. Farrell '34 of Shelburne, C. D. H. Thibault '36 of Waterbury, and J. A. Dodds, Jr., '36 of Waitsfield.

An organ recital will be given Sunday afternoon, May 14, at four o'clock in the Ira Allen Chapel by Miss Natilee Marston of the music department. Her program will appear in the next issue of the Cynic.

All those who wish to be considered members of German Club are requested to pay their dues—twenty-five cents. Augusta Cohen, treasurer.

The men of the University are still a race of pirates. They are always attracted by a pretty nurse.

THEATRE

Flynn

(M. T. W.) A Successful Love. Delightful "Maurine Dallas" has done it again in a whimsical story of the boulevard but with generally the chance of the picture depending for a success on good getting over. The cast is the most accidentic of a unique sale with musical chaser. Hedda Hopper, Lew Ayres, Everett Horton, Adrienne Ames, Stuart Erwin & a good cast.

(T. F.) Ex-Lady. I'm a Born Liar is back. Musical dialogue and operetta technique never before tried in the Empress comes to debut here. Hedda Hopper, Lee Tracy. Without black face Lahr plays a new role in the cast of eccentrics from the lower reaches of the west. Widow. An assorting cast of old troupers makes this an interesting show.

State

(M. T. W.) One Way Passage. — Kay Francis and Bill Powell star in a melodrama that is made as real and poignant as today's breakfast. A woman whose days are numbered, a charming convict chased to the ends of the earth. Kay is at her best emotionally. Aline MacMahon, Frank McHugh and a dumb detective whose name we forgot, help out good show.

(W. T.) As the Devil Commands. — Alan Dinehart, of the round face and suave manner, plays a fiendish role with Neil Hamilton and the interesting Mae Clarke as antagonists in the story of love destined to frustration leading to crime.

(F. S.) I'm a Fugitive from a Chain Gang. — Paul Muni's big picture about the life of a real fugitive—good photography brings out the emotional highlights of this amazingly gripping story with an end that lingers on to you until you hit the covers.

Strong

(M. T.) Constant Woman, starring Conrad Nagel who, of course, finds her after all. Good.

(T. W.) Man vs. Woman—the battle of the centuries. Jack Holt and Vivian Noles work out the struggle in a good picture.

(F. S.) Hidden Valley—this classical theme of western civilization is brought to talkies with force and vigor by young Bob Steele.

Heard from the Tower

(Taken from Cynic of May 20, 1922)

Advance dope on the Junior Prom is now in order. Suggestions and questions have been flowing into this office for a whole week with hopes that they would be answered in this column but space, pace and race do not allow me to answer all. However I will touch the most vital points now.

A peerade will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in spite of the censor of Clarence.

House parties will come on Thursday, night and Friday morning. House parties there's charm in the word and there's also harm in the word. Don't forget that love like a blight worms us all in its might, strong men are stricken and fall over night.

And don't forget it's still spring. It's a marvelous season, men lose their reason (so do women) sane, sensible boys, men of courage and poise are playthings of Cupid and Venus's toys.

If you get a pleasant kick from taking your girl to the dance don't take her home in the wee hours of the night. There might be an unpleasant kick awaiting you there.

When you leave your girl, tell her to spend the next day in the Ballinas Library where the following books will be of interest to her. The dictionary will hold her spell bound. The Escaped Convict—get out and The Burning Fat—pretty hot.

Tell her this is God's country. We have arctic winters and Antarctic summers.

On Friday night tear six dollars off the milk check and go to the Prom in the limousine. Then remember the following. Tell the Promenade ushers to keep rushing mates and also what's going in the ballroom is right in the ballroom. The girls should remember that those who shove the most will get the most shove.

Be sure your girl is painted up dressed up and stuck up. If she gets busy during the dance you'll know she comes from good circles. If she says her shoes are tight you'll know she's a swell dancer. If she's all in you'll know she just came from the Dartmouth Prom and if she has an abundance of pep you'll know she just came from the Middlebury Prom. If she has nothing to say, she's disgusted, she's seen her best day and she's ruined.

From Ancient Cynics

SONG OF THE SCI HALL

Of all the smells upon this earth
The worst, it seems to me,
Are those that abide in the Sci Hall
Of the University.

Chorus

Sing hey! for the fragrant dogfish
Sing ho! for ethynal
When the world's worst smells get together,
In the Williams Science Hall.

We can stand the reek of a car exhaust,
Or eggs of an ancient tuge,
But the smells that abide in the Sci Hall
Would make a garbage man cringe.

Chorus

Sing hey! for sweet formaldehyde
And kittens in alcohol.
When the world's worst smells get together,
In the Williams Science Hall.

She's so polite she doesn't smoke in the presence of men.

What's your roommate like?
Darn near everything I got.

"I think that coed must be from Atlantic City."
"How come, frosh, how come?"
"She has such a bored walk."

"What did Bob do when Phyllis wouldn't kiss him while they were canoeing the other night?"
"He paddled her back."
"Why, the rough thing."

"It's the little things in life that tell," said the coed as she dragged her little brother from under the sofa.

Items from Redstone. Our idea of the regular guy is one who has you meet him at Grass Mount so it will be nearer.

Last "Winnowings" To Appear In M

Winnowings [illegible] for the last time this year [illegible] month of May. It will contain short stories, four essays, [illegible] and several editorials in the contributors' column, which has been a regular feature of the magazine introducing new authors. There will be few new contributors this issue, there being only one junior, and one author whose class is not known, who have been represented in Winnowings.

The table of contents follows: "Education," poem, by Elva-Mae [illegible]; "Communion with the Immortals," by Walter Van Tilburg Clark; "Student," poem, by Elva-Mae [illegible]; "Pigeons in the Park," poem, Walter Tilburg Clark: "The Halfpenny," short story, W. F. [illegible]; "Rain," essay, J. M. Libby '35; "Blue Teapot," short story, A. A. [illegible] '34; "For Fifteen Years," [illegible] Frances Sinon '33; "The Prodigal," short story, Virginia Goodrich; "A Man is Known," short story, [illegible] Powers '34; "Two Weather Prophets," short story, Eulalie Powers '34; "Speaks Alone," poem, Dorothy Kennedy '35; "Masefield's Mighty Line," by an unknown writer; "Alone in Depression," essay, A. M. Wentworth '35; "Upwind," essay, A. A. Ross; "A Wedding Ring," short story, Elva Gates '33; "Sonnett," F. R. Fuller; "I Might Have Sight," poem, Dorothy Kennedy '35; and "Families," by Gladys LaFlamme '33.

Exam questions: What do you think of this course?

Student Answer: I think it's a well-rounded out course. What we don't learn in class we get in examinations.

It now costs the State of New York just as much to send a man to Sing Sing as it does for a father to send his son to college.

—Celling an education?

Vocal cords made of coal!

Typical of Western Electric care and precision in manufacturing Bell Telephone apparatus, is the making of the transmitter button which transforms spoken words into electrical impulses.

This transmitter button—the telephone's vocal cords—contains coal. Only a fine grade of selected anthracite, specially treated, is suited for this delicate work. First the coal is ground into fine granular form—next it is carefully sifted and washed. Then, after being roasted in special ovens, it is put into the transmitter button. Approximately 50,000 tiny grains must go into each button—too few or too many would impair transmission.

Such infinite care with "little things" is one reason why Bell System apparatus serves so faithfully.

BELL SYSTEM

TELEPHONE HOME ONE NIGHT EACH WEEK
. . . LOWER RATES AFTER EIGHT-THIRTY

AVOCATION DAY EVENTS TAKE PLACE THURSDAY—INTERESTING EXHIBITS

Activities of Vermont's First Avocational Day Attract Large Attendance to Museum

The University of Vermont's first Avocation Day was observed Thursday of last week at the Fleming Museum. Because of the interest taken in the activities of the day by the student body attendance was limited to members of the University.

The activities of the afternoon and evening centered in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum. On the stage was a miniature village, Folkstown, set with scenery painted by students in the art courses of the University. Figures cut out of this scenery traveled about the village, the residents of Folkstown, directed by Mrs. John T. Metcalf and Wilson L. Dole. The discussions were held in the auditorium and outside in the corridor were demonstrations.

Among the exhibits was one on the making and an exhibition of puppets by Barrington Marionette Theatre. A group of students under the direction of Harriet Platt of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., a senior at the University, provided an exhibit on wild flowers for home gardening. Another group under the direction of Elizabeth Hall '35 of Burlington presented a demonstrative exhibit of a poor and a good home atmosphere through the arrangement of furniture and use of proper colors.

Bookbinding and the making of decorative papers was featured by Miss Florence Maddock of Burlington. Mrs. Bertha Terrill gave a practical demonstration of the ways in which to improve shabby furniture. Mrs. Edward Benedict of Burlington showed various ways in which to arrange cut flowers. Students in the art department of the University presented an exhibition of stencil work.

The object of the day was to furnish the women of the University, particularly those of the senior class, some of the ideas and suggestions which they could take back to their homes and work out as avocations in case vocations failed to materialize.

A more detailed story on Avocational Day is printed elsewhere in this issue.

"March Hares" To Be Presented This Evening Opens Junior Week Celebration On Vermont Campus

Reading left to right: Alice McConnell '35, who plays [illegible] '35, who takes the role of Geoffrey Wardman, and [illegible] Ward Hodgkins.

CHILD DEVELOPMENT MEETINGS ATTRACT FAVORABLE COMMENT

The series of child development meetings which are being conducted throughout the state by the Extension Service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College with Dr. Valeria Parker of the American Social Hygiene Association of New York as the principal speaker is reported to be attracting much favorable attention. The meetings which have been held in various communities during the past two weeks will continue through May and part of June. The meetings are being held in connection with home demonstration groups, the State Nurses' Association, the Parent Teachers' Association, Women's Clubs, Mothers' Clubs and other interested organizations and individuals.

THE CAST

[illegible]

Caroline Wyndham [illegible]
[illegible]
Dr. Janet Rodney [illegible]
[illegible]
Geoffrey Wardman [illegible]
[illegible]
Eric Cross Fred Wood
Mr. Brown W. W. Perry

MEETING TO BE HELD THURSDAY, TO FORM NEW SOCIAL CALENDAR

[illegible] and to arrange a social calendar for the coming year. Many [illegible] Mayo, Dean Swift and Professor [illegible] have been invited to be present and to express their opinions as to the best method of organizing the social calendar for the year and some progress is made toward the arrangement of such a calendar.

It is proposed to arrange a tentative calendar at this meeting, post it and publish it in the Cynic, making the final draft later after all those interested have had an opportunity for criticism.

[illegible] to cut down the number of open dances next year, replacing them by entertainments open to the student body. We trust those organizations concerned will cooperate.

(Signed) ELIJAH SWIFT, Dean,
MARION [illegible]
Dean of Women

KINGSLEY PRIZE CONTEST WON BY R. S. WRIGHT '35 ROGERS SECURES SECOND

Greemore '36 Takes Third—Five Sophomores and Five Freshmen Speak in Annual Competition

R. S. Wright '35 was the winner of this year's Kingsley prize speaking contest held last Monday evening in the Museum auditorium before a small audience. C. A. Rogers '35 took second place with L. E. Greenmore '36 gaining third from a total of ten contestants. Five from each of the two lower classes spoke rather than the usual [illegible].

Music at Dawn," a play by Lord Dunsany, was the opening presentation. It was followed by a list of [illegible] Rogers' [illegible] and [illegible] by Lee [illegible] with [illegible] Greenmore [illegible] from a [illegible] and [illegible] by Lee [illegible] with [illegible] and [illegible] by [illegible] with [illegible] and [illegible] by [illegible] with [illegible] and [illegible] by

Whitey Palmer Tallying First Run for Vermont in Third Inning

SCABBARD AND BLADE INITIATES NEW MEMBERS FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 5

Formal Ordeal Follows Four Days of Informal Initiation—Stone Elected New Captain

Last Friday morning, May 5, the new members of Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary society, were initiated at 5:45 a.m. The formal initiation was preceded by four days of informal initiation during which the members of the pledge class were required to shave one side of their heads and a number of personal initiation stunts were performed. Last Monday, students [illegible] were seen on campus with one trouser leg and black moustaches and in other unusual costumes. The informal initiations were held at Mallett's Bay, the details of which are not to be discussed except that the members had very little sleep during the entire night. The new members also elected officers for next year. [illegible] of Essex Junction will be captain, having the command next fall. The other officers will be C. H. Brown of Burlington, first lieutenant; C. J. Dunn of Swanton, second lieutenant; and A. H. [illegible] also of Essex Junction, first sergeant.

The other Cadet and Black members are: E. Lamson of Burlington, [illegible] Corporals; R. M. Donahue of Swanton, M. D. Howe of Adams, Mass., [illegible] of Burlington, [illegible] Mass., [illegible] A. C. Ford, Rutland; [illegible] & E. Bliss of Vergennes, W. J. Ryan, Montpelier, and J. O. Walter of Burlington.

FROSH-VARSITY TRACK TRYOUTS HELD FRIDAY

Unofficial Score Is Varsity 91, Frosh 31, With Brooks, Cook, Adams, and Jezukawicz Not Competing

[illegible] J. Walter [illegible] Time [illegible]
[illegible] V. Montgomery
V. Lesure F. Time [illegible]
[illegible] V. Jones F.
Lesure F. Time 25.2
[illegible] V. Wesely
V. Howe V. Time 54.2
[illegible] V. Sutter F.
Collins V. Time 1:13.2
Miller [illegible] Woodward V. Sutter F.
Allen F. Time 4.5"
2 mile run: Harwood V. Catacciolo F.
E. C. Rogers V. Time 11.22
Broad jump: Delfausse V. Wesely V. Bedell V. 19 feet 10 inches High jump: Not run off
Pole vault: Sowka V. no second or third. 9 feet
Hammer: Delfausse V. Brown V. Paul F. 73 feet 4 inches
Discus: Paul F. Cook V. Leekoff F. 98 feet 9 inches
Javelin: Gardner V. Sowka V. Brown V. 156 feet 6 inches
Shot: Paul F. Gardner V. Brown V. 32 feet 5 inches

The unofficial score for the meet was varsity 91—frosh 31. Several important performers did not compete in the events: Captain Brooks, Red Cook and Bus Adams for the varsity, and Jezukawicz for the frosh.

In an intramural baseball game at Colgate University recently a ball hit by the batter went straight up in the air, hit the beams over the home plate and came down again. When the pitcher threw the next pitch he noticed that he had a different ball. Upon investigation it was discovered that the original ball hit by the batter remained wedged in the beams and that it had dislodged an old type of ball that had presumably been stuck up there since the year before.

CHAPEL TOMORROW

The Rev. John Henry Hopkins of the class of 1884 will speak at the chapel service tomorrow morning. He is one of the oldest active alumni of the University. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

MIDDLEBURY TRACK TEAM TROUNCES MONTREAL A. A.

MIDDLEBURY, May 7.—Middlebury College triumphed over Montreal A. A. A. on track here Saturday, 90 to 45. Lovell broke the Middlebury record in the javelin with a toss of 181 feet. Worrall who led the Canadians' scoring with 14 points nosed out MacLean, scorer for the Panther with 10½, in a spectacular 220 low hurdle race. With a rally on the relay Cady challenged his teammate for individual honors.

JUNIOR CLASS ELECTION TO BE HELD THURSDAY

Tellers and Ballot Boxes Will Be Present All Day in Old Mill Corridors

Thursday of this week, balloting will take place for the officers of next year's junior class. Tellers and ballot boxes will be ready at that day in the Old Mill [illegible] The only names [illegible] submitted [illegible] Committee and they will be voted upon Thursday. Monday noon was the deadline for [illegible] of the Hon. W. W. Bris[illegible] other nominations [illegible] a sample ballot [illegible]

[illegible]
[illegible] Junior
[illegible] Delegate
[illegible] Secretary
[illegible] Treasurer
[illegible] Delegate
[illegible] H. Dewey withdrawn
[illegible] Assistant
[illegible] Marie Fabian
[illegible] Elliot
[illegible] Councilwoman
[illegible] Council Delegate
[illegible] Assistant Treasurer
[illegible] Assistant Secretary
[illegible] Assistant Secretary withdrawn
For Representative
1 N. H. Myers
2 G. H. Burrows, II
3 A. A. Rice
For Councilor
1 [illegible]
2 [illegible]
3 Marie Horak (withdrawn)
4 [illegible]
Secretary

LATE ARIEL NEWS

A LATE NEWS FLASH FROM CHESTER EATON, EDITOR-IN-CHIEF OF THE 1934 ARIEL REVEALED THAT THIS YEAR'S BOOK WILL APPEAR ON THE CAMPUS WITHIN A WEEK. ITS CONTENTS AND MAKE-UP ARE THE ACME OF PERFECTION ACCORDING TO THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN FORTUNATE TO VIEW THE PROOFS.

The mighty engines of the ocean liner throbbed ceaselessly. An engineer wiped a perspiring forehead as he scowled at the pale-faced young man with an oil can.

"Look here," he growled, "you ain't helping me much with these engines, yet I understood you knew something about the game."

"So I do," stammered the other, "but on a smaller scale, you know."

"What's your regular job?"

"Watch repairer."

VERMONT SORORITIES HOLD SPRING FORMALS

Kappa Alpha Theta, Tri Delt's, Pi Phi's, Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Chi Omega Entertain

The first [illegible] at the Hotel Vermont, [illegible] ceremonies of the Kappa Alpha Theta [illegible] was the passing of another spring formal for this sorority last Friday evening. May 5, one of the dates set aside for women's spring formals. Dr. and Mrs. P. K. French and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Van Note acted as chaperons. The Barbary Coast Orchestra from Dartmouth furnished the incentive for dancing.

Fires burned cheerily in every fireplace at the Country Club on April 28, the other formal date, and the evening of the Delta Delta Delta dance, for which the Black Panthers of Middlebury played. Chaperons were Prof. and Mrs. I. W. Dean and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Patrick.

Pi Beta Phi entertained at a supper dance at their chapter house last Friday. Formalities were predominant in the spring motif throughout the rooms. Miss Laura Barker, Prof. L. D. Mereness and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bohny were chaperons for this gathering, for which the Black Panthers of Middlebury were [illegible].

A [illegible] work of roses, lanterns of green and gold streamers transformed the Alpha Xi Delta rooms into a garden scene at the spring formal of that sorority. Chaperons were Prof. and Mrs. P. H. Elwell and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Vogler. Among other guests were twelve members of the Middlebury chapter of Alpha Xi Delta. Freddie Lynch's orchestra furnished music for dancing.

Alpha Chi Omega had as chaperons for the dance held at their rooms Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Braun. Whittemore's orchestra from Vergennes was secured for the occasion.

NOMINATIONS IN NEXT YEAR'S JUNIOR CLASS

(Continued from page 3)

Cook—frosh and varsity football and track, president of sophomore class, student senate, president and secretary of Gold Key, Key and Serpent. Member of Kappa Sigma.

Cass—Second prize in essays for Tri-state Contest.

Mildram—band, orchestra, debating, German Club.

Patch—class basketball (2), Student Senate, assistant manager of basketball, Dean's list. Member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Two members of the St. Mary's College debating team have been sent to San Quentin but they expect to be there only long enough to meet the prison team in a debate.

FLUNKING YOUR BEAUTY COURSE?

Let the Dean of Beauty Scientists, Helena Rubinstein, be your tutor and pass with flying colors! Helena Rubinstein's years of study and research with famous physicians and scientists all over the world, enable her to give you authentic BEAUTY FACTS!

Your Skin Needs

1. PROPER CLEANSING—Cleansing and Massage Cream is the ideal light-textured cream for thorough cleansing. 75c; 1.25

2. PERFECT FINISH—Skin Toning Lotion keeps the skin texture fine, tones and firms. Serves as a powder base, too! . . 1.25

3. BENEFICIAL COSMETICS—Choose the Helena Rubinstein cosmetics created for your type. Smart Red Coral Rouge and Lipstick and Natural Powder for Blondes; Glowing Red Raspberry Rouge and Lipstick and Rachel Powder for Medium types; Red Geranium Rouge, Lipstick, and Maureseque Powder for Brunettes. . 1.00

W. G. REYNOLDS CO.
Church Street
Burlington, Vt.

Mal Hallett To Select Beauty Queen At Friday's Prom

Vermont's Fairest To Be Picked From Among Ten Highest Tomorrow's Balloting

Vermont co-eds find themselves in the limelight as Junior Week approaches, bring with it the search for the hidden beauty of Vermont among the women students. Many and varied are the predictions concerning the outcome among the masculine section of the University, who appear to be considering the matter much more earnestly than do the co-eds themselves.

All doubts as to the identity of the comeliest must be overcome by tomorrow among those voting. Balloting will take place sometime during the day in the Old Mill. Individual ballots are being issued, a sample of which appears elsewhere in this issue. Every student at Vermont is privileged to vote for his choice.

By this balloting all but the ten receiving the highest number of votes will be eliminated. Mal Hallett, leader of the orchestra which is playing for the prom, has consented to select the most beautiful of these ten at the prom. [illegible] presents a cup to this most [illegible] maidens, whom fate in [illegible] has favored so kindly.

This year will see the selection of a beauty queen for the third time in the history of Vermont Junior Weeks. V. E. Carrier '32 of Bennington [illegible] honors in last year's poll. Ballots were attached to the prom [illegible] collected during the evening and winner announced during intermission.

A slightly different arrangement for balloting was used in 1931. Two [illegible] polls were held during Junior Week, the final outcome being decided by a [illegible] meeting of Profs. Leon Dean, [illegible] Laatsch, and Benjamin Ladd. [illegible] Davis '31 of Wallingford will be remembered as the recipient of the [illegible] Vermont's fairest for that year, with Charlotte Odell '33 and [illegible] '33 as runners-up.

DEWEY CLUB INITIATES HEAR PROF. GIFFORD

"Life and Influence of Spinoza" Topic of Lecture—Fifteen New Members Added to Rolls

"The Life and Influence of Baruch de Spinoza" was the theme of a talk given by Professor Gifford of the philosophy department at the initiation banquet of the John Dewey Club, held Wednesday evening, May 3, at the Hotel Sherwood. After dinner the president of the club, S. N. Spiller '33, welcomed the new initiates.

Spiller announced that the executive committee meets this afternoon, and that there will be an opportunity for those who were not able to become members Wednesday evening, to join the club in the near future. Last week's initiates were:

Alta Rock '35, Helen Bellows '35, Margaret Levarn '35, W. S. Farrell '34, A. I. Hardin '35, Evelyn Perry '35, Anna Lumnah '35, Ruth Wood '34, K. D. Spaulding '34, D. J. Moriarty '34, Dorothy Kennedy '35, F. J. Lanahan '35, E. P. White '34, S. F. French, P.G., and Marrion Waite '34.

Spinoza, a famous philosopher of the seventeenth century, was born at Amsterdam in 1632 of either Spanish or Portugese parents. Like many great men he was rejected and persecuted by the people in his own day. His education was obtained from a rabbi, but in 1656 he became estranged from the synagogue and was expelled four years later. He was forced by circumstances to live a migratory life and between the years of 1663 and 1670 moved from place to place. By nature desirous of peace and quiet, he greatly disliked public attention. The publication of his "Theological and Political Treatise" was followed by such a storm of criticism that he resolved to publish no more of his works. Before his death he collected his writings and sent them to friends in Amsterdam. Four of the volumes upon which his fame rests appeared shortly after his death.

The works of philosophy illustrate two factors, the spirit of the age and the personality and [illegible] philosopher himself. The [illegible] movement was developed [illegible] by Spinoza. This movement [illegible] tem of true ideas which [illegible] veloped deductively and [illegible] out experience. A true [illegible] concept of substance [illegible] which is in itself and [illegible] nothing for existence [illegible] assemblage of true ideas. [illegible] God or nature and God [illegible] man. "Deus sino natura" [illegible] by Spinoza as the [illegible]

Life did not bring to [illegible] peace and quiet which [illegible] his philosophy he formu[illegible] the dissatisfaction of [illegible] templation of divine [illegible] intellectual love of God [illegible] motive was prominent [illegible] of this he found a [illegible] the trials and vicis[illegible]

NETMEN CHALLENGE MICHAELMEN TOD

Fresh From Conquering Ma[illegible] chusetts Jaunt, Team Loo[illegible] Forward to Taking Over [illegible] Weakened St. Mikes

With a clean sweep of victori[illegible] hind them on the Massachusetts tri[illegible] tennis team looks forward to taking [illegible] St. Mike's from whom nothing has [illegible] heard thus far in the season, in [illegible] afternoon's match.

Captain Wilson, Myers, Woodward [illegible] Mulcahy will probably take on [illegible] St. Michael netmen in the [illegible] matches. If all goes well in these [illegible] some of the other men on the squad [illegible] did not make the Massachusetts trip [illegible] see action for the first time this season [illegible] the doubles matches.

It is understood that St. Mi[illegible] lost their best man last year and [illegible] the No. 2 and 3 men are on the ba[illegible] squad, only playing tennis as an amu[illegible]

A frosh at Asbury College m[illegible] the president of the institution [illegible] classmate and, slapping him on the [illegible] so that his teeth rattled, said, "[illegible] seeing you." Undoubtedly he did.

The Junior Prom

FEATURING

Mal Hallett and his Orchestra

FRIDAY, MAY 12

University Gym

Table Reservations from
CLARENCE DOBSON
Phi Mu Delta House
TOM COGSWELL
Sigma Nu Lodge
DON TOBIN
Kappa Sigma Manor
HAYES AND CARNEY
127 Church Street

SPORTS NEWS

Vermont Breaks Tie In 8th Inning, Defeats Springfield

Catamounts Win Fourth in a Row by Conquering Gymnasts 7-3 in Saturday Ball Game

RAMON, PALMER, AND BURNS STAR IN GAME

In a big eighth inning rally which netted four runs, Vermont defeated Springfield College 7-3, Saturday afternoon at Centennial Field thus evening the wins and losses on Vermont's slate. Combining two hits with a base on balls and two hit batsmen, the Green and Gold broke a 3-3 tie gaining the four runs which proved to be the margin of victory.

In this inning, Wells the Springfield pitcher who succeeded Warner, the starting hurler, made Buster Garrett fly out then John Beckley hit safely through shortstop, and advanced to second on Bobby Burns' sacrifice. Whitey Palmer was hit by a pitched ball and took first base. Squire Taft then got a base on balls advancing both runners and filling the bases. Dutch McKay completed the scoring up by singling, scoring Beckley. Then Ramon was hit by Wells forcing in Palmer. Macomber drove a hard ball through second, scoring Taft and McKay. Then Bowers ended the fireworks by flying out. The whole team batted around in this wild inning.

John Beckley, making his first start of the home season, was hit hard but tightened in the pinches and managed with the aid of beautiful support to come through with a win. Johnny allowed seven hits but kept them well scattered.

The Green and Gold as a whole played good ball but Enos Ramon, Whitey Palmer and Bobby Burns were the standouts of the contest. Ramon, in particular, was brilliant, accepting eight hard chances on the field without an error. His catches ranged from a beautiful one in deep right center to a hard running catch just back of second base. By making these daring catches he turned several hard blows into putouts.

Whitey Palmer, besides getting a hit and being hit twice by pitched balls covered his position exceptionally well. Once, in particular, he was pulled way off the bag in snaring bad throws and both times put the runner out.

Bobby Burns, too, excelled in the field making two putouts and five assists without an error. One play stood out from all the others. A ball was hit hard through the pitchers' box with the bases full. Macomber managed to knock it down but fell as he did it. Bobby, who was behind Cal, grabbed the ball and threw himself at the bag forcing out the runner from first. It was a beautiful play and he received due applause from the crowd.

Springfield scored two runs in the second when Beckley walked Wetterling and Ober singled. Beckley, fielding the ball, threw wild over Palmer's head. Before the ball could be recovered two runs had come in. They scored again in the sixth when Rapuizzi hit and was forced at second by Purrington; Brown struck out but Deane tripled to deep right center scoring Purrington. He was left on third, however, when Dutch threw out Wetterling at first.

Vermont scored their first run in the third when Whitey Palmer was hit by a pitched ball, Taft and McKay singled and Palmer scored on Ramon's sacrifice. Macomber was walked filling the bases. However Wells tightened up and retired Bowers and Garrette to the out.

In the seventh inning with the score 3-1 against them Palmer flied out, Taft walked, McKay flied out. Ramon got on on an error by the shortstop and Macomber came through with a beautiful hit over the second baseman's head to score Taft and Ramon. This put Vermont back in the running and in the next came the big blast which won the game.

For Springfield Rapuizzi and Ober led the batting with two apiece while McKay and Beckley each got two for Vermont.

The summary:

Springfield

	ab	r	h	po	a	e
Wells, 2b, p	5	0	1	0	2	0
Lewis, 3b	4	0	0	3	2	0
Rapuizzi, lf	4	0	2	6	0	0
Purrington, c	4	1	0	1	1	0
Brown, 1b	3	0	1	8	0	0
Deane, rf	3	0	0	1	0	0
Wetterling, ss	3	1	2	0	1	1
Ober, cf	3	1	0	5	0	0
Warner, p	0	0	0	0	0	0
Mason, 2b	3	0	0	0	4	2
Total	32	3	6	24	10	3

Vermont

	ab	r	h	po	a	e
Burns, 2b	2	0	0	2	5	0
Palmer, 1b	5	2	1	15	0	0
Taft, lf	2	2	1	0	0	0
McKay, 3b	5	1	2	0	6	0
Ramon, cf	4	1	0	8	0	0
Macomber, ss	3	0	1	1	6	0
Bowers, c	5	0	0	1	0	0
Garrett, rf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Beckley, p	4	1	2	0	0	1
Total	34	7	7	27	17	1

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Springfield	0	2	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	3	7	3
Vermont	0	0	1	0	0	0	2	4		7	6	1

Triples—Deane. Hits—Wells, Rapuizzi (2), Brown, Wetterling (2), Palmer, Taft, McKay (2), Macomber, Beckley (2). Base on balls—off Warner 2, Beckley 4, Wells 4. Hit by pitcher—Palmer, Ramon. Stolen bases—Wetterling. Struck out—by Beckley 1, by Wells 2. Passed ball—Purrington. Umpires—Burns and Seymour. Time of game

THOSE SUNDAY NIGHT DECEPTIONS

What's this about the accident a certain prominent campus figure, who often wears white gloves at Centennial Field, was unfortunate enough to sustain last Sunday evening? We understand the gentleman in question mistook a flight of stairs for a chute the chute, and has been limping around ever since.

If Japan really doesn't want war with China, she has a queer way of expressing herself.

SPRINGFIELD-VERMONT GAME

CAT'S MEOW

—SPORTS EDITOR—

Another game, another victory, and so Cats climb up Nos. 1 on their list of successful wins.

With a show of wonderful support and spectacular playing the Green and Gold team backed up Captain Brooks to every point of the old ball game and came through with a 7-3 win over Springfield last Saturday.

Seven runs are but one number of many that serve as a usual share of a game's score.

Bob Macomber with seven assists and Enos Ramon with six putouts starred for the field for Vermont. While Palmer had 15 putouts to his credit and two spectacular catches to add thereto, the third sacker brought cheers from all corners of the lot.

It looked bad for Springfield in the first canto when the starting pitcher filled the bases, but a retired second baseman came to the rescue and the side was retired without a run.

Johnny Beckley besides holding the Springfield team down to six hits, banged out two singles and then scored the winning run in the eighth.

Bobby Burns had one on the chest early in the game and then he and Bob Macomber had a little get-together over at second later on. Our Robert was accorded rather rough treatment last Saturday.

Vermont students should wake up to the fact that their teams are winning consistently in their program of spring sports and give the boys a little more support from the sidelines.

Baseball, five straight wins.
Track team takes first meet.
Tennis team undefeated in three games.
That's something for Vermont to feel proud of.

Mac Hicken, class Dramatic and Nose Hampshire hero, Saturday. A good example for Junior Week, but the Cat doesn't take both ways.

KITTEN NINE DEFEATED BY G. M. J. C., MONTPELIER SEMINARY DURING WEEK

Pitcher's Battle Lost in First Game 2-1, While Second is Lost 11-6

The Cadet baseball team showed to good advantage in the second home game of the season when they defeated the Montpelier Seminary nine by the score of 11 to 6. The game started out in the afternoon but because a rabid college man [illegible] the game was called off in the middle of the fifth inning because it was impossible to keep the field in playing condition.

The opponents were the same as the second inning when Burns managed the field and Phelps pitched. The game was only one of the many bad ones that the Cadets received.

In the fifth inning Williams knocked out a couple three bagger and Wetmore brought him in with a sacrifice to center field.

The batting highlight of the game was the base-bunting stop out a hit by Hughes. The instant of the ball threw him off balance and although he got passed getting his man at first he earned the applause of the spectators.

For Vermont Skipper Wetmore was outstanding in batting while Cook, catching, caught a good game making several smart throws.

For the rivals Phelps as well as pitching a superb game knocked out two hits.

G. M. J. C.

	ab	h	r	po	a	e
Livesay, ss	5	0	0	1	1	0
Hawkes, 2b	4	1	1	2	4	0
MacKenzie, lf	3	0	0	0	0	0
Phelps, p	4	1	1	0	2	0
G. Hughes, rf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Mahar, 3b	4	0	0	0	0	0
Dopke, 1b	4	0	0	2	0	0
O. Hughes, c	4	0	0	11	0	0
Cleverly, lb	4	0	0	10	0	0
*Macomber	1	1	0	0	0	0

*Batting for MacKenzie

Vermont (Frosh)

	ab	r	h	po	a	e
Cook, lf	4	1	0	1	0	0
Williams, 3b	4	1	1	1	2	0
Wetmore, ss	4	1	1	1	3	0
Bullis, c	4	0	0	7	1	1
Dupree, rf	3	0	0	1	0	1
Young, lb	3	0	0	2	0	0
Hall, 2b	3	0	0	1	2	0
Hall, p	3	0	0	0	1	0
Hall, cf	3	0	0	1	0	0
Total	31	3	2	24	9	2

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
G. M. J. C.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	2	2
Vermont	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	1	3	2	2

Two base hit—Williams. Three base hit—Wetmore. Sacrifice hits—Livesay, Hawkes, Macomber, Cook, Wetmore. Stolen bases—Hawkes, Macomber, Cook, Wetmore, Williams, Young. Struck out—by Phelps 5, by Hall 2. Base on balls—off Phelps 1, off Hall 1. Hit by pitcher—by Phelps (Cook). Passed balls—Cleverly, Bullis. Umpire—Burns. Time of game—1 hour 45 minutes.

(Continued on page 6)

CINDERMEN COP FIRST ENCOUNTER OF SEASON BEATING ST. LAWRENCE

Score 66 1-6 to 59 5-6 Win Over Cantonites—Delfausse Scores 17 Points

HEAD WIND HAMPERS RUNNERS OF BOTH TEAMS

Inability of Two Members of Catamount Team to Come Costs Two Firsts

The varsity cindermen won their first meet of the year yesterday afternoon as Lawrence University of Canton, N. Y. to the count of 66 1-6 to 59 5-6.

Track conditions were unfavorable with a strong head wind to the sprints and a new tanglefoot pit with an interior take-off.

Ed "King Kong" Delfausse was the individual star of the meet with seventeen points. He came up to expectations as a point winner by his brilliant running as he bettered by one of the home direct [illegible]. His broad jump of 20 2" appears well for future events. A second in the two-twenty is a surprise, for not having practiced the event this spring. He also got a second in the quarter and a third in the broad jump.

Ken Smith won both the short distance, larger margins making him second high man for Vermont with ten points. The wind prevented better time being made.

Red Cook and Vad. Wood, good performers, both got eight points. Cook won the discus with his best toss of the year and tossed to win the shot put by a one inch margin.

Woody won the quarter mile in the best time he has ever turned in and got a second in the broad jump.

Johnny Woodruff won the mile in the good time of 4 44 flat in a slow field and Dennis White was a close second in a record breaking [illegible]. Captain Shelton won the high for the Lawrence.

The following were [illegible]: [illegible] Cook, Wood, Woodruff, Woodruff, Worden.

[illegible] J. ANDERSON [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
1:44
440 yard Dash 1 Wood [illegible]
[illegible]

(Continued on page 6)

The Junior Week
FRATERNITY AND SORORITY
REDUCTION SALE
on BANNERS, PILLOWS
and STATIONERY
at the
University Store

Formal Wear
White Linen Mess Jacket, Sash and Trousers, $15
Tuxedo Rentals, $3
All Accessories
Shirts—Ties—Studs—Shoes—Hosiery
HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.
Sporting Goods for All Sports
Special Prices to Schools, Clubs and Societies
The W. E. Greene Co.
In consolidation with
Patten, Irwin & White

CINDERMEN COP FIRST ENCOUNTER OF SEASON

(Continued from page 1)

Dickinson	17
Smith	10
Cook	8
Woods	8
Woodruff	5
Walter	5
White	3
Harwood	3
Syme	3
Captain Brooks	2
Caracciolo	1
Landman	0
Sowka	0

Time: 10:55

MYSTERY MAN TO BE HERE COMMENCEMENT

Plans for the Garrett of Commencement at the University of Vermont this year will be the presence of the Mystery Man. It is understood that two more years must elapse before the University knows his identity. He is scheduled to arrive on the campus on June 20th and will be present at the alumni luncheon at noon. Previous notice will not accompany a visit to Burlington and the event is expected to be a big surprise.

Those of the Alma Mater that the man is already in America that he has been instrumental in securing for him that a special degree may be conferred upon him at Commencement time.

It is said that he promised at the University was made possible only through the efforts of such men as Henry B. Oatley, ex-president of the Alumni Council, George P. Auld '02 international finance expert, Morton C. Robbins '98, publisher, and Fred B. Wright '05, engineer.

The Alumni Hockey is admonishing all its alumni following that an opportunity will be irretrievably lost if they are not present this year at Commencement when the Mystery Man puts in an appearance.

The M. I. T. Tech flashes word of a recent classroom dilemma. Two professors, entering a freshman English class at the same moment, were undecided as to which one should conduct the session. Neither being over-anxious to do so, they flipped coins and the beaming winner banned from the room leaving his disconsolate rival in possession of the class.

The men making the trip Saturday to Canton were: Captain Brooks, Smith, Melugonis, Grant, S. Rogers, Delfausse, Wessely, Willis, Howe, Utley, White, Collins, Syme, Walter, Woodruff, C. A. Rogers, Harwood, Caracciolo, Sowka, Landman, Cook, Bedell, Manager Kilburn.

KITTEN NINE DEFEATED TWICE DURING WEEK

(Concluded from page 4)

Landry	1	1	0	1	0	0
Smith, rf	1	0	0	0	0	0
Farmer, ss	2	0	0	0	0	0
Cook	0	0	0	0	0	0

* Batted for Cooke in ninth.

MONTPELIER, May 7.—The Montpelier Seminary nine descended on the offerings of Reid Negus and Stretch Kirley, found pitches and took advantage of eight errors in the total to defeat the Crimson of Vermont yearlings by the score of 11 to 6 on the local diamond Saturday afternoon.

The Green and Gold Kittens outhit the Seminary 10 to 9 but four errors by Billings, the catcher, coupled with some abysmal ball handling allowed the Montpelier nine to score at will in the first and sixth innings for the margin of victory.

Andy Werner, Vermont third sacker, and Brouillette, center fielder for the locals, smashed out home runs in the first and third innings, respectively. Larson fanned ten men for Montpelier while Negus and Kirley accounted for fourteen strikeouts between them. The two nines made but eight assists in all.

MONTPELIER SEMINARY

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Tomasi, rf	6	3	1	2	0	0
Lovely, ss	5	2	1	0	2	2
Barter, 3b	5	1	1	1	0	0
Defco, lf	5	1	0	3	0	0
Callaghan, 1b	5	2	2	7	0	0
Gillis, c	5	1	2	11	0	0
Larson, p	5	0	1	0	2	1
Brouillette, cf	5	1	1	1	1	0
Emilio, 2b	5	0	0	2	0	0
Totals	46	11	9	27	5	3

VERMONT 1930

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Funk, cf	5	1	1	0	0	0
Williams, 2b	5	1	1	2	1	0
Werner, 3b	5	1	2	2	1	1
Kirley, rf, p	5	0	1	0	0	0
Degree, ss	5	2	2	2	1	0
Young, 1b	5	0	1	3	0	2
Billings, c	4	1	2	14	0	4
Smith, lf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Negus, p	3	0	0	1	0	1
Tasker, rf	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	42	6	10	24	3	8

Innings:	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9—	R
Frosh	1	0	0	2	0	1	0	0	2—	6
Mont. Sem.	3	1	2	0	0	5	0	0	x—	11

Two-base hits: Callaghan 2, Kirley, Degree, Barter, Larson.

Home runs: Werner, Brouillette.

Stolen bases: Emilio, Defco, Lovely, Smith.

First base on balls, off Negus 4, Kirley 4, Larson 2.

Left on bases: Frosh 3, Seminary 6.

Struck out, by Negus 8, Kirley 6, Larson 10.

Passed balls: Billings 3.

Wild pitches: Negus, Larson.

Hit by pitched ball: Williams by Larson, Gillis by Negus.

Umpire, Sherman.

HOLLYWOOD DASHES

The rooting section of the University of Southern California was hired by Paramount for the grandstand scenes of "College Humor" . . . . cloudy weather held up the shooting schedule one day and Bing Crosby, featured in the picture, kept everybody happy by singing . . . . the extras finally were paid off for doing nothing but listen to Crosby sing . . . . Richard Arlen acted as starter for a series of outboard championship races re- . . . . Howard Jones, Trojan football coach, making his acting début in "College Humor," admits he would rather . . . . his athletes against Notre Dame . . . . than play a scene . . . . It's a lot less nerve wracking . . . . Crosby and Jack Oakie are concerned that Stanford will . . . . the I. C. A. A. A. A. track crown . . . . year while Arlen is still supporting . . . . California . . . . All are convinced that neither Yale nor New York . . . . , two of the best in the East, will get into the first two places . . . . Jack Oakie insists the name of the picture should be changed from "College Humor" to "Stork Soup" . . . . he points out that Director Wesley Ruggles became a father just before the picture started . . . . that Richard Arlen is likely to be one any minute now . . . . and that Crosby is expecting one of those "blessed events" in June.

HAVE YOU "RAIDED"
THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 8.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

ALEX VERRET
111 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables
Home Made Mayonnaise
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

Vermont Fraternities

PHI MU DELTA HOUSE

The Phi Mu Delta chapter at Vermont is one of the charter chapters of the national fraternity of Phi Mu Delta. The fraternity was started by a combination of the commons clubs of the University of Vermont, the University of New Hampshire and Rhode Island State College. Since its organization in 1918, Phi Mu Delta has expanded slowly and steadily, never relaxing its rigid requirements. High scholarship is expected throughout the fraternity, and the Nu Gamma chapter at Vermont has consistently rated near the top [illegible] chapters of the national fraternities of the men's fraternities at U. V. M.

At first the chapter had rooms in Converse Hall and it was not until the fall of 1924 that Phi Mu Delta moved into its present home on the corner of College and South Willard Streets.

Phi Mu Delts on the faculty at U. V. M. are Professors Evan [illegible], L. M. Prindle, L. L. Woodward, M. Powers, and L. D. Meredith.

SPRING SPORTS SCHEDULE

HOME GAMES

Date	College	Sport	Time
Tues., May 9	St. Michael's	Tennis	4.00 p.m.
Thurs., " 11	Montpelier Seminary	Fr. Track	4.00 p.m.
Sat., " 13	Boston University	Tennis	1.30 p.m.
Sat., " 13	Rensselaer	Track	1.30 p.m.
Sat., " 13	New Hampshire	Baseball	3.30 p.m.
Thurs., " 18	St. Lawrence	Tennis	4.00 p.m.
Fri., " 19	Middlebury	Tennis	4.00 p.m.
Fri., " 19	Clark School	Fr. Baseball	4.00 p.m.
Sat. " 20	Norwich	Baseball	3.00 p.m.
Tues., " 23	Montpelier Seminary	Fr. Baseball	4.00 p.m.
Sat., " 27	Tufts	Baseball	3.00 p.m.
Tues., " 30	Dartmouth	Baseball	3.00 p.m.
Sat., June 3	St. Michael's	Baseball	3.00 p.m.
Fri., " 16	St. Lawrence	Baseball	3.00 p.m.
Sat., " 17	Alumni	Baseball	3.30 p.m.

FROSH TRACKMEN MEET MONTPELIER THURSDAY

Practice Meet With B. H. S. Will Terminate This Afternoon

The frosh track team will meet the Montpelier Seminary squad here on Thursday afternoon, May 11. The Kittens are a fairly strong outfit, with the most outstanding weakness in the distance runs.

The Kitten track squad is having a practice meet with B. H. S., ending this afternoon. Both teams have met and conquered Lyndon Institute, B. H. S. by 77-45, and the frosh by 84-33.

Burlington will be bolstered by Pinky Cleveland, ineligible pole vault star while Doug Suitor, star middle distance man, will be allowed to run.

The outcome of the meet will probably be in doubt up to the last minute. The high school has a well balanced team, while the Kittens have several individual standard potential point winners in all events.

The list of Vermont entries is as follows:

100-yard dash—Jezukawicz, [illegible] Levine.

220-yard dash—Jones, Everest, [illegible]bins, Ronca.

120 high hurdles—Connor, Perrin.

220 low hurdles—Connor, Dennis.

440-yard dash—Martin, Thibault.

880-yard run—Andress, Levy, O'Brien, Fraint.

Mile run—Allen, Lamoray, Levy, Twitchell.

Pole vault—Jezukawicz, Dickinson.

Broad jump—Andress, Dickinson, Bellows, Jezukawicz.

High jump—Andress, Caldwell, [illegible]lows, Davis, Dickinson.

Shot put—Fraint, Jezukawicz, Stern.

Discus—Fraint, Paul, Leekoff.

Javelin—Paul Dickinson, Jezukawicz, Leekoff, Fraint.

Relay—Jones, Levine, Jezukawicz, Twitchell, Ronca, Everest, Martin, Andress.

The disadvantage about having [illegible] for a family is that he won't live [illegible] enough to take care of you when you are old.

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.
TRY US

SPECIAL
SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO
MASSAGE $1.00
ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY
JOE'S BARBER SHOP
JOE LANGLOIS, Proprietor
BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
• • •
Elias Lyman Coal Company
286 College Street

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Fleming Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
Open daily 6.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m.

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY
YOUR LIFE WORK?
The Harvard University [illegible] School offers a complete course in this field of [illegible] service, which is becoming increasingly important in [illegible] medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school.
Write for catalog
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., D.
Dept. 42, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

Fordham University
School of Law
NEW YORK
Case System—Three-Year Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
College Degree or Two Years College Work with Good Grades Required
Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases
Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOG
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

Get going, Fella!

HERE'S HOW

DRAG your feet to the nearest campus lunch bar. Say "Shredded Wheat and half-and-half. Make it a pair."

You'll be treating yourself well. For Shredded Wheat is one food that's VITALLY DIFFERENT.

It brings you all the proteins, carbohydrates, minerals, vitamins that Nature stores in her richest cereal, whole wheat. For it is whole wheat—nothing added, nothing taken away—whole wheat, crisp-baked for easy digestion. All the bran is there, as Nature intended.

Try it with milk or cream and the fresh or canned fruit you like best. It's delicious; it's easy on your allowance. And it helps you keep in trim to lick the world.

Where you see Niagara Falls on the package, you KNOW you have Shredded Wheat.

SHREDDED WHEAT

A product of NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY "Uneeda Bakers"

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1933 — NUMBER 55

Mal Hallett To Select Queen At Junior Prom Tonight

OPEN HOUSE DANCES TO BE HELD SATURDAY NITE AT MEN'S FRATERNITIES

Annual Junior Week Celebrations to Terminate Fraternity Social Season

Saturday night the men's fraternities will hold their annual open house dances. Sigma Phi will have the Black Panther orchestra from Middlebury to play for their informal dance. G. H. Burnham, '34, of Exeter, N. H., has engaged Prof. and Mrs. H. L. Briggs to act as chaperones.

J. H. Gay, '35, of Bethel has secured Mauretti's orchestra for the Delta Kappa formal, which will be chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. P. K. French and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Van Note.

Frank Lynch's orchestra will play for the Phi Delta Theta dance. Dr. and Mrs. [illegible] will chaperon. M. T. Miltimore '33 of St. Johnsbury is directing arrangements which will be from 8:30 to 12.

Kappa Alpha Tau Omega's will hold an informal at the Chapter House from 8:30 to 12. Marshall Morrill and his orchestra from St. Johnsbury will play. W. J. [illegible] '33, of Rutland, R. A. Martin '34 of Rutland, J. P. Mahoney '35, of Burlington and W. B. Ferriter '36 of Brattleboro will have charge of the dance. Prof. and Mrs. R. F. Doane and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Stimson will chaperon.

M. J. Cardone '35 of Bridgeport, Conn., P. H. White '35 of Lyndon Center, K. F. Whalen '35 of Burlington, and J. M. Reeves '35 of Burlington are directing the Sigma Nu dance. Don Perkins and his orchestra will play.

Zeta Chi will have a formal dinner dance at 7:15 at the Hotel Vermont Roof Garden. Prof. and Mrs. P. H. Ewert and Prof. and Mrs. H. G. Millington will chaperon, and the Yankee Land Aces will furnish music for the dancing. N. H. Myers '34 of Burlington heads the committee in charge.

W. P. Stetson '34 of New Haven, Conn., has charge of the Sigma Delta informal. Prof. and Mrs. L. B. Putnam will act as chaperones.

Lindner's Vermonters will play for the Sigma Alpha Epsilon dance. C. W. Janke '34 of Burlington, N. O. Wells '34 of Malden, Mass., and G. M. MacKenzie '34 of Williamstown comprise the committee in charge.

MISS MARSTON TO GIVE ORGAN RECITAL SUNDAY

Miss Miriam Nichols Marston organist, will give a recital Sunday afternoon, May 14 at 4 p. m. in the Ira Allen Chapel. Miss Marston will feature the Bach compositions in her concert. The program is as follows:

Prelude and Fugue in C Minor ..... Bach
Chorale Preludes: Bach
"In Dulci Jubilo"
"Herzlich Tut Mich Verlangen"
"Herr Jesu Christ, Dich zu Uns Wend" Toccata in D Minor ..... Bach
Pastoral Recitative and Chorale ..... Lemmens
Distant Chimes ..... Dana
Rhapsodie Catalane ..... Clokey

PEERADE FLOATS WON BY SIGMA PHI AND REDSTONE

Phi Delta Theta and Kappa Alpha Theta Win Honorable Mention

Sigma Phi with a circus, the Gods and Redstone with their Mad Hatters won the annual Junior Week Peerade Tuesday afternoon. Phi Delta Theta and Kappa Alpha Theta received honorable mention. The winners were announced at the Junior Week rally in Memorial House held that evening. Sigma Phi received the cup presented by Wig and Pinfeather and Redstone the one presented by Masque and Sandal.

The prize-winning float of Sigma Phi with Eddie Austin, the King of "March Hares" presiding, presented a very spring like appearance. Snow white Persian rat on a garden of red and yellow flowers at whose head the King, with large ears, waited and Grandma in an easy chair. The rest of the float was very prettily decorated with pink and white streamers. The general opinion seems to be that Sigma Phi had the most decorative float, and in the opinion of the judges, Col. F. E. Black, Prof. D. B. Carroll and Dean Eckhard, the best.

Five little bunnies, impersonated by Ruth Barron '36, Marion Piper '36, Mary Fleming '36, Elizabeth Johnson '36 and Agnes Keating '36, ran wild over Redstone's float. Their hopping was quite artistic and strangely cute as the participants have complained of other effects.

(Continued on page 2)

JUNIOR YEAR BOOK WILL APPEAR TOMORROW SAYS EDITOR-IN-CHIEF EATON

Balance Owed on Ariel Must be Paid Before Obtaining Copies Says Business Manager

[illegible] the staff and attended the [illegible] of the year Ariel by getting [illegible] to the campus during [illegible] Junior Prom. Editor-in-chief Eaton announced yesterday afternoon that the [illegible] will appear tomorrow. The [illegible] the Ariel [illegible] Eaton [illegible] the Ariel [illegible] the class has subscribed [illegible] the amount taken from the class treasury must be paid back to the class treasury. This has been a custom [illegible] Eaton [illegible] of the Ariel [illegible] the graduation [illegible] the [illegible] of the year.

At the time of the interview Editor Eaton announced the appointments of the new staff members to fill vacancies left by graduation.

The appointments for the editorship of the Ariel were Wilbur Eaton and Marjorie [illegible] and Theodore Arrington. Mary [illegible] and W. E. Cass and M. A. Patch [illegible] business managers. Miss [illegible] will be appointed until September 15 when [illegible] will be appointed. A new ruling made by President Bailey at the suggestion of the outgoing editor and manager provides that the managing staff be named until September 15 to distribute special following the election of staff members, this period to be determined by the staff with the approval of Dean [illegible]. This rule was passed to prevent [illegible] of contracts for books and to enable next editor and manager to [illegible] according all contracts [illegible] ready for distributing.

EIGHT REPRESENTATIVES TO ATTEND MEETING OF A. S. N. E. AT WORCESTER

Prizes to be Awarded for Best Treatments on Engineering Projects

Eight members of the [illegible] Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will represent the University at the annual meeting of the section of the Eight States and Province of Quebec at Worcester, Mass. This meeting will be [illegible] by the student branch of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Professor M. L. [illegible] and other members of the staff will accompany the group.

Papers on the subject [illegible] will be presented at the meeting. Prizes ranging from $50 to $10 will be awarded for the best papers. C. O. Stockbridge '33 will speak on the Treatment of the Effluent of Sulfite Cel in Activated Sludge.

Touring the meeting, a part of each day will be set aside for the inspection of nearby plants. On Friday evening prominent members of the A. S. M. E. and Worcester Polytechnic Institute will be speakers.

The members representing Vermont are as follows: E. F. Williams '33, W. [illegible] Shelo '33, L. A. [illegible] '33, C. O. [illegible] derland '33, R. C. Newton '33, W. B. [illegible] '33, C. O. Buzzell '33 and E. H. [illegible] '34. They will be accompanied by Prof. E. L. [illegible] faculty member of Vermont Chapter.

FRESHMEN NOTICE

There will be a meeting of the Freshman Class at 4.00 p.m., Friday, in Room 27 of the Williams Science Hall.

H. E. MAHONEY,
President

28th Annual Prom Special Attraction Of Junior Week

University Gymnasium to be Decorated in Latest of Modern Designs; Replica of Empire State Building Will Add Final Touches to Metropolitan Atmosphere

Miss Mary Lee Hayes, Junior Week Queen

WHITEY PALMER ELECTED PRESIDENT 1935 CLASS

W. E. Cass to be New Ariel Editor-in-Chief; M. A. Patch, Business Manager

E. E. Palmer '35 of Burlington is the new junior class president as a result of the election held by the Sophomore Class on Tuesday, May 9th. Palmer succeeded the class elected Mary [illegible] of Burlington. Mary Cass of Burlington was elected [illegible] and W. E. Cass of Burlington as president and E. E. Palmer [illegible] Football as Treasurer. W. E. Cass of Burlington is the editor-in-chief of the Ariel [illegible] and M. A. Patch of Wood [illegible] Burlington, business manager.

All officers are well known on the campus and are prominent in athletic and social activities. E. E. Palmer was [illegible] and varsity basketball and baseball teams, is treasurer of Gold Key and has been elected to Key and Spade. He is a member of the Delta Phi fraternity.

Miss Cass has been on the Cynic Board and Spring Play this year and is [illegible] the Dramatic Club. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta.

E. E. Donahue is a member of Gold Key, has been elected to Key and Spade, was a member of the track and cross [illegible] football teams, member of the varsity track team, was on the varsity basketball team, member of the Lake Champlain Club and made the Dean's List. He belongs to the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

W. E. Cass won second prize in essay in the Debate Contest and is a Delta Phi man.

M. A. Patch is on the Student Senate, was basketball [illegible] assistant manager of basketball team, made the Dean's List and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

GOLD KEY TO HOLD ITS INITIATION BANQUET TUES.

The Gold Key Honor [illegible] annual initiation will [illegible] banquet for new members [illegible] meeting May 16 at the Hotel [illegible]. The banquet will be held in the main dining room and the [illegible] will [illegible] of the most [illegible]

PRICES REDUCED IN VIEW OF LARGE CROWD

[illegible] the Junior Prom [illegible] additional [illegible] and [illegible] that [illegible] the [illegible] placed around the [illegible] of Burlington [illegible] on a reduced [illegible] to the hall. Mal Hallett [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE VERMONT CYNIC

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Recording Editor
Business Manager
Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Justin White '35
Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

COLUMNIST
Robert Weiseman '34

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS
Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS
Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

Edna Leach '36

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge.....HOWARD ABBOTT

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year, single copy five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at THE VERMONT CYNIC Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed at the office not later than 5 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 57 May 12, 1933 No. 55

Tonight a large portion of the University students will forget worries, work and studies to spend an evening at the annual junior prom. Each year the college students regard this night as one of great events and highest social rank. Accordingly an orchestra of wide repute is hired for the occasion. The decorations are carefully and attractively arranged. Refreshments are served to quell the ever present appetites and to provide a menu that will be quite satisfactory to all.

For the first time in the history of the promenade, the affair will be held on the University golf course. There is no doubt that it will then be truly a promenade for what better place is there to amble about these ever lovely surroundings.

Every committee has made an earnest endeavor to combine quality and economy in a way which will enable everyone to attend the prom. There is no doubt that if it were done cheaper, the year's frolic would lose much of its charm.

Tonight is the student's time for enjoyment of the most magnificent event of the year. Nothing else should interfere with the carrying out of the purpose. It is an item hereof that every student should, if it is in his power, lend in making the prom the gala success it usually is.

At the prom this evening, Mal Hallett and his orchestra will entertain the dancing for a few minutes to judge Vermont's beauties. The one girl whose charm, personality, and beauty are such that she is judged as the Junior Prom Queen, will be named at this time.

Preliminary voting which was held during the week, indicated those young ladies who were to be presented at the prom. In the eyes of some the judgment was fair, in the eyes of others, it was terrible. It may be said, however that every man has his secret flame whether she is or is not the most beautiful in the eyes of his college mates.

From the count it was evident that "gentlemen preferred blondes," but the Cynic is not publishing the ten leaders, feeling that the facts may embarrass some people and also believing that some of the highest will be unable to attend the prom. In addition the Cynic feels that the results should be kept a secret in order that they may have full effect at the prom this evening.

And now who'll be the winner be she or dark, tall or short. Have blue, brown or green eyes may she reign as the throne of Prom Queen as a tribute to bring the honor.

Inside many sources it has been rumored that another dance will follow the junior prom tonight. Furthermore it is rumored that the same orchestra will furnish the music for the morning festivity.

We believe that the lower the number of college students who appear at this post prom dance the better it will be for the name of the University. We also believe that everyone should bear in mind the fact that tonight's orchestra will have played at the Rhode Island State prom and will have had very little sleep in the interim between playing in Kingston and in Burlington. And since they will be anticipating another prom at Dartmouth tomorrow night they will not be in prime form when the wee hours of the morning roll around.

The fact that certain parties are attempting to run a dance the same night at a lower price seems to point that a late dance is spite work on someone's part.

In behalf of the junior class, and of every thinking college student, we ask that everyone disregard any other affair except the 1934 junior prom, and give that one dance wholehearted support.

PROF. L. L. BRIGGS HAS ARTICLE PUBLISHED IN ACCOUNTANCY JOURNAL

L. L. Briggs, associate professor of economics at the University of Vermont, has an article entitled "Treasury Stock and General Corporation Statutes" in the May number of the Journal of Accountancy, the official organ of the American Institute of Accountants.

In this article, the writer gives a summary of the statutory law pertaining to a corporation's right to acquire its own stock and to the status and disposition of such stock after acquisition. The subject has considerable current significance because thousands of corporations throughout the country are taking advantage of the unprecedented low market value of their shares by purchasing stock which was sold at extremely high prices in the pre-depression period.

TWENTY STUDENTS ARE RECIPIENTS OF AWARDS FOR GRADUATE STUDY

[illegible] awarded fellowships are Mathematics, Harold F. Dow, Harvard; [illegible] T. F. Dow, Randolph; Psychology, Norman Cartier, Newport; [illegible] Agnes M. Hubbard, Mont[illegible]; [illegible] Harriet Mabel Farquhar, Corinth; and Henry A. Allen, Burlington; English, Marshall McClure, St. Johnsbury; Physical Chemistry, William K. [illegible], Degree of Chemical Engineering, R. V. Parker, Missoula, Montana; School of Music, Barrington, R. I.; Livingston Richford, Physics, M. L. Jessie Wentworth and Austin Howard, Burlington.

The recipients are University of Vermont graduates unless otherwise noted.

FEDERAL INSPECTION HELD MAY 16-17

(Continued from page 1)

parts in attack. The medical unit will be inspected from 3 to 5 p.m.

On Wednesday morning, battalion parade will take place at 8 o'clock. From 8.20 to 12 there will be competitive squad drill for the Reserve Officers' cup, offered annually to the fraternity whose squad of eight freshmen and sophomores, commanded by an upperclassman, is most efficient in competitive drill. Delta Psi has won this trophy for the past four years. The fraternities have devoted more time to drilling for this competition this year than in any year since the contest was started in 1929. Competitive drill in manual of arms for the Scabbard and Blade cups will also be held during this time. These cups are for individual excellence and are open to sophomores and freshmen.

Following these drill competitions, the award of the Loyal Legion sabre to the senior who is most outstanding as an officer in the battalion will be announced as will the American Legion award to the best company. The student in each of the four classes who has excelled in the year's work will be awarded a medal issued for the first time this year by the sons of the American Revolution.

PROGRAM

7:30-8:15 a.m.—Theoretical Test. Second year advanced (seniors): Military law and O. R. C. regulations; military history and policy; administration; drill and command; combat principles; field engineering. First year basic (freshmen): Military hygiene and first aid; drill and command; scouting and patrolling.

8:15 a.m.—Call on President Bailey.

8:30-8:50 a.m.—Battalion review.

8:50-9:20 a.m.—Company inspection. Close order drill by squads, platoons and companies. Extended order drill.

9:20 to 10:30 a.m.—Practical test of classes. First year basic (freshmen): First aid; rifle marksmanship; scouting and patrolling; military courtesy and discipline. Second year basic (sophomores): Musketry; automatic rifle; scouting and patrolling. First year advanced (juniors): Military sketching; machine guns .37 M.M. and 3-inch T.M. Second year advanced (seniors): Field engineering; combat principles.

11:00-11:50 a.m.—Theoretical test. First year advanced (juniors): Drill and command; map reading and military sketching; machine guns .37 M.M. gun and 3-inch T.M.; combat principles. Second year basic (sophomores): Drill and command; musketry; scouting and patrolling; combat principles.

1:30-2:45 p.m.—Practical exercise. Rifle assistance in attack.

3:00-5:00 p.m.—Inspection of Medical Unit. Inspection of records, inspection of property, storerooms, grounds, buildings and ranges.

Wednesday, May 17, 1933

8:00-8:20 a.m.—Battalion parade.

8:30-12:00 a.m.—Competitive squad drill for Reserve Officers' cup; competitive drill in manual of arms for Scabbard and Blade cups (freshmen and sophomores).

The regular weekly Chapel services will be held at 10:00 a.m.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Lucretia [illegible] Marion Mitchell '34 will [illegible] a [illegible] luncheon on Monday, May 15 at 1 o'clock.

[illegible] Kappa's [illegible] Dean Through [illegible] was honorable mention in [illegible] Week Festivals.

[illegible] sorority will meet with the Misses [illegible] Tuesday, May 16 at 7:30 o'clock at the House.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

The annual Mothers' Day luncheon will be held in the rooms at the Athena Club on Saturday, May 13 at 1 o'clock. All mothers of the active chapter are invited and those alumnae mothers who [illegible] the city.

PI BETA PHI

Pi Beta Phi announces the pledging of Elizabeth Brown '36, Monday night, May 8 at 8:30.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Margaret Levarn '35 was pledged to Alpha Chi Omega on Wednesday, May 10 at 4:30.

ALPHA XI DELTA

The active chapter was entertained by the alumnae Monday, May 8 at the Alpha Xi rooms.

KAPPA DELTA

Kappa Delta had an informal "Vic" dance Saturday, May 6 to take the place of the Spring Formal.

PEERADE FLOATS WON BY SIGMA PHI AND REDSTONE

(Continued from page 1)

Betty Johnson did an effective imitation of the band leader and led her bunnies through all sorts of gymnastics.

Phi Delta Theta presented a clever takeoff on the advertisements of a certain cigarette concern. "It is fun to be fooled," but it certainly "is better to know." The magician seems to have tried one of his tricks on his name, but evidently was unable to find it again. Perhaps, Bob Eaton, his lovely assistant, can help him? We also wonder who provided this magician with the rabbit which he so miraculously drew from his hat, time and time again.

A scene in the second act of the play received honorable mention from Kappa Alpha Theta. Two very pretty maidens, Kay Tolman '33 and Janet Dodds '34, were seen in their boudoir discreetly through a keyhole. Their gentleman friends who likewise decorated the float were Nancy Campbell '34, Flo Morris '34, Betty Eggleston '33 and Mary Poling '34.

Five other sororities and fraternities were represented. Pi Phi, with a takeoff on the madness of the March Hare; Delta Psi presented the key of the city to the March Hare; a Kappa Sig foolishly threw gold into the street, which was willingly picked up by a fellow member. Jack Montgomery '36 carried a placard which read, "This may be crazy but not as crazy as a March Hare." But I disagree. The Mad [illegible] March Hare and the Dormouse of Alice's tea in Wonderland for benefit of Zeta Chi. Wrisley does make a fine March Hare.

The blonde "femmes" of Tau [illegible] their white dresses made a very appearance.

Alpha Chi Omega started [illegible] with a float but were forced [illegible] because it, calmly and without broke up.

The peerade, led by the band [illegible] down Main Street, up Church [illegible] across Winooski Avenue, and up [illegible] Street to the University.

"MARCH HARES" GIVEN BY WELL-TRAINED CA

(Continued from [illegible]

[illegible] a very adequate [illegible] self-sufficient [illegible] plainly different to [illegible] test throughout Mr. [illegible] and's effective in [illegible] no surprises. Caution [illegible] in the highly dramatic [illegible] the second act.

One of the most [illegible] conception and execution [illegible] Mrs. Rodney, filled by [illegible] for the first time upon [illegible] play. We liked the delicacy of her characterization [illegible] spirited mother. A bevy [illegible] helped to maintain the [illegible] celled in the culminating [illegible] second act in the heart of [illegible] household.

Much of the humor [illegible] in the contrasting part [illegible] played admirably by [illegible] who suggested to her [illegible] licious combination of [illegible] worldly knowledge far beyond [illegible] and a danger in the part [illegible] Edgar Fuller, played by [illegible] with becoming gravity and [illegible] a not too acid irony, where [illegible] adventure had brought [illegible] port than glass-blowing [illegible] show. Both of these parts [illegible] out of the ordinary by their [illegible] and underlying sense of humor.

Of the lesser parts, Dorothy [illegible] in the part of the youthful [illegible] Ethel, who, even on the eve [illegible] to gallant Sergeant Brown, [illegible] a flutter before the photographer, destructive Geoffrey, was played [illegible] charming ingenuousness. [illegible] made the most of a small part, light caricature of the [illegible] imaginative and literal-minded Oliver. William Perry, to [illegible] the thankless few minutes [illegible] of Colonel Brown the appropriate nity and presence.

One could not conclude [illegible] deserved praise for the [illegible] excellence to which the [illegible] and expert direction of Mrs. [illegible] Taggart have brought her cast.

STUDENTS SUPPLIES

ART MATERIALS

FAVORS & DECORATIONS FOR DANCES

•

McAULIFFE'S

Church and College Sts. Phone 629

GRADUATION GIFTS

Watches in Reliable Makes for Men and Women

GRUEN
HAMILTON
BULOVA
ELGIN

Prices $18.50 to $75.00

F. J. Preston & Son

INCORPORATED
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

THE SPRING SEMESTE IS A
SOCIAL SEMESTE

If you haven't your quota [illegible] heavy dates lined up for th[illegible] Spring, the chances are it's n[illegible] your I. Q. but your B. Q. (Beau[illegible] Quotient) that's below norma[illegible] Helena Rubinstein outlines [illegible] beauty program that is guara[illegible] teed to cause a riot in the stag[illegible]

Before a Dance

1—Cleanse with Helena Rub[illegible] stein's Cleansing and Mass[illegible] Cream, leaves your skin smoo[illegible] clear, refreshed . 1.25, 2.

2—Tone with Skin Toning L[illegible] tion to refine texture, firm thes[illegible] —it's a powder base, too!

3—Choose Helena Rubinste[illegible] cosmetics for your type.

Blondes — Red Coral [illegible] Lipstick and Natural [illegible] Mediums — Red Ras[illegible] Rouge, Lipstick and [illegible] Powder; Brunettes Re[illegible] anium Rouge Lipstick, Mat[illegible] esque Powder.

At night, remove make-up [illegible] roughly with the scientific [illegible] —Beauty Grains (1.00) a[illegible] apply Acne Cream if there [illegible] blemishes . . . .

W. G. REYNOLDS CO
Church St.
Burlington Vermon

SPORTS NEWS

TRIPLE PLAY WINS GAME FOR CATAMOUNT TEAM YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Middlebury, Fifth Straight Victim of Vermont Nine at Porter Field, 3-1, as Layden Goes Strong

A breath-taking triple play, which left the stands agape with wonder, virtually won the baseball game for the Catamount nine in the latter half of the seventh inning yesterday afternoon at Middlebury.

The final score was 3-1, as the Green and Gold team copped their fifth consecutive game in a row, and their second straight conference game from Middlebury.

Bill Layden and Harry Barker, rival pitchers, both pitched beautiful games; the former limiting the Panthers to five scattered hits and the latter holding the Catamounts to seven blows and striking out eleven batsmen. Both nines played heads-up ball and it was one of the best games to be witnessed at Porter Field.

The first incident of the game, which was instrumental in classing the contest in the history of well-remembered ball games, was an injury to Bowers, Cat shortstop, in the third inning. Enos Ramon was called in from center field to play in the injured player's stead, while Roly Delfausse was sent out to the center garden for his first Varsity engagement. It must be admitted that Ramon played a dandy game and deserves much credit for being capable of holding the curves and bends of Jug Layden.

In his first trip to bat, Roly Delfausse smashed out a clean double and was sacrificed to third by Bus Garrett, Vermont right fielder. A hit by Bobbie Burns sent Delfausse in for the first tally of the game. The next inning was practically a repetition of the preceding frame except that Ramon connected with one of Rube Barker's shoots, while Delfausse slammed him in with a single to center field.

The latter part of the seventh looked like Middlebury's big inning when Barker received a single and was advanced by Stefaniak, who went to first on Macomber's error. Both men advanced on Ramon's passed ball, and the stage was all set for a Middlebury cleanup. Bakey hit Layden's first pitched ball far over into right field, where it looked like an impossible ball to field, but Garrett, pulling off a wonderful one hand feat, speared the ball right next to the fence and hastily relayed it to Macomber, who stepped on the keystone sack, retiring Stefaniak. Layden in return, pegged the ball to Mac-

(Continued on page 4)

Fordham University School of Law
NEW YORK

Case System—Three-Year Course

CO-EDUCATIONAL

College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required

Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases

Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE

CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

FULL SCHEDULE IN VIEW FOR U. V. M. TENNIS TEAM

On Friday, May 11, the tennis team of Middlebury College will meet Middlebury on the Catamount courts. Captain Wilson, Morse, Stewart and Maloney will represent the Cats.

On Saturday, the Vermont net team will play Norwich University on the Northfield courts. Last year Vermont defeated Norwich 7 to 2 and the Cadets defeated Middlebury 5 to 4. Vermont lost to Norwich 6 to 3 and to Middlebury 7 to 2 on their southern trip.

Preceding an undefeated season, the Cat netmen hope to continue their string of victories and as many matches should appear changes in team positions, the perfect record should be preserved.

WOMEN'S TENNIS TOURNEY UNDER WAY TO FLYING START AS PLAY BEGINS

Veterans Survive First-round Matches as Keen Competition is Offered

The preliminaries of the women's tennis tournament have been played off and the participants are preparing for their next games. Those who win these next matches will be ready for the quarter-finals.

Alice McConnell '34, who has defeated Ruth Wright '36, will play the winner of the Mount-Berry match.

Jerry Haig '36 and Barbara Wears '34 play each other this week, having defeated their opponents, Betty Washburn '36 and Augusta Cohen '34.

Shirley Bennett '36 and Edith Tedford '34 were eliminated in their matches with Dot Grover, '37, and Winifred Graham '33. Dot and Winifred will meet in the second round.

Barbara Russell '35 won her match from Christine Yule '35, and Sue France '35, from Tommy Ecklund '33. The match between Barbara and Sue promises to be very interesting, for both are excellent players. Barbara Russell was runner-up in last year's tournament. Sue France did not enter, but all concede she is one of the best players among the girls.

The Cynic will make no predictions for there are several equally good players. Dot Grover, who won the tournament last year, has a varied game and tricky placement. Barbara Russell, the runner up, is a fast player, with powerful strokes. Sue France, the hopeful of the Alpha Chi's, plays easily and consistently, and all of her strokes are of beautiful form.

Nine tracks of the freshman track men at Northeastern stepped up at the end of the winter term. The rest of the boys are wondering just what to do about it. Ei Whan Pan is the champ at the same school.

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHOP
102A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

PATTERSON ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF A. I. E. E.

At the meeting of the Vermont Center of the A. I. E. E. held in the Williams Science Hall on Monday, May 8, new officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year. Chester Gee W. Patterson was elected Chairman, Donald C. Wheeler, secretary-treasurer, John C. Arnold. After the meeting a paper on "Cosmic Rays" was presented by C. P. Osgood.

Because there was a tie in the results of the Junior Class election for President between the two leading candidates, Chester Eaton and Joseph Delfausse, a re-election will be held all day Monday. The two men in question will be the only ones balloted for.

WILLIAM BRISLIN,
President, Class of 1934

HAVE YOU "RAIDED"
THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

KITTEN TRACKSTERS WIN OVER B. H. S.; SCORE 71-50

Jezukawicz, Connor and Suitor Star for Vermont

GREY FRIARS ON THE AIR FRIDAY EVENING

TENNIS TEAM CONTINUES VICTORY MARCH BEATING ST. MICHAEL'S TEAM, 6-0

Capt. Hugh Wilson Given Stiffest Competition But Ably Defeats Opponent

KATHARINE SHAW NEW DRAMATIC CLUB HEAD

TUFTS COLLEGE
DENTAL SCHOOL
Founded 1868

Howard M. Map... D.M.D. Dean
... College Dental School
416 Huntington Ave. Boston, Mass.

NEW REDUCED RATES
on
CAPS AND GOWNS
$2.00 Deposit — 50c Refund
IF CAP AND GOWN ARE RETURNED ON COMMENCEMENT MONDAY
FOR REFUNDS ON RENTALS ALREADY PAID CALL AT THE
MEDICAL BOOK STORE
ALL CAPS AND GOWNS HANDLED BY THE
MEDICAL BOOK STORE

WHITE SHOES
BY CROSBY SQUARE
$5.00
WHITE LINEN SUITS $7.50 TO $19.50
FLANNEL TROUSERS $4 TO $7
HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

SUMMER
SUITS
Two Trousers
$22.50
FLANNEL TROUSERS
SPORT JACKETS
SWEATERS
WHITE DUCKS
Miles & Perry Co.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1827

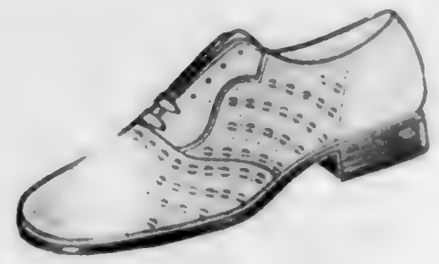
Vermont Fraternities

TAU EPSILON PHI

TRIPLE PLAY WINS GAME FOR CATS

(Continued from page 3)

	ab	r	h	a	po	e
Rogers, 2b	4	0	1	1	1	1



Palmer, 1b	4
Taft, lf	4	1
McKay, 3b	4	2
Ransom, cf, c	3
Lambert, p	4
Macomber, ss	3
Dickerson, cf	3
Bowers, c	1
Garrett, rf
Totals	32	4

There is big money in M... any one who knows how ... market, and Beethoven's ... the piano, if you happen ...

Some 10,000 Americans live in China

There will be a meeting of Gold Key, Sunday afternoon, May 14, at 2.00 p.m. at the Zeta Chi House. Only present members are asked to be present.

"ON YOUR TOES"

B. J. BOYNTON
65 Church St.

"As long as We're Settling things

SUPPOSE YOU TELL ME WHY YOU SMOKE GRANGER"

"WELL, it's like this. Back in the old days, when men wore high hats and frock coats, they had plenty of time to think things out, and they had sense, too. They used to sit down on a log and take the time to whittle their tobacco from a plug, to be sure of having a cool smoke.

"In those days, a man named Wellman, right here in Quincy, Ill., made about the best tobacco you could get. He knew how to keep the flavor fine and mellow.

"Well, sir, the people who make this Granger Rough Cut acquired Mr. Wellman's method, and they must have known how the old boys used to whittle their tobacco to make it smoke cool. Yes, sir, this Granger is the real stuff. The same mellowness and fine flavor that Wellman used to hand out to his friends. And it's whittled into big shaggy flakes all ready for the pipe. 'Rough Cut' they call it—'cut rough to smoke cool' is the best way I can describe it.

"Regardless of price, Granger is about the best pipe tobacco I ever smoked. That's why I smoke it, and that's why they call it America's Pipe Tobacco, sir."

• • •

Now we wanted to sell Granger for 10¢. It was just a question of how to do it for the price. So we pack Granger in a sensible foil pouch instead of an expensive package, knowing that a man can't smoke the package. We give smokers this good GRANGER tobacco in a common-sense pouch for 10¢.

GRANGER has not been on sale very long, but it has grown to be a popular smoke. And there is this much about it—we have yet to know of a man who started to smoke it, who didn't keep on. Folks seem to like it.

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

TEN CENTS

The Granger pouch keeps the tobacco fresh

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1933 — NUMBER 56

R. O. T. C. BATTALION GOES ON REVIEW ON BACK CAMPUS THIS MORNING

Theory Tests, Call on President Bailey, Company Inspection, Features of Inspection

FRATERNITIES DRILL FOR RESERVE OFFICERS' CUP

[illegible] morning the battalion assembled [illegible] campus at 7.15 and attendance [illegible] At 7.30 the seniors and [illegible] went to their respective exam[illegible]ms, where a test on the year's [illegible]l work was given to members of [illegible]s. The seniors were quizzed on [illegible] law and O. R. C. regulations, [illegible] history and policy, administra[illegible]C and command, combat prin[illegible] and field engineering. The fresh[illegible] were quizzed on military hygiene [illegible] aid, drill and command and [illegible] and patrolling.

[illegible]15 Col. Daniel G. Berry, in[illegible] who is the officer in charge of [illegible] reserve activities at headquar[illegible] First Corps Area, Boston, and [illegible] Alfred T. Knight, infantry, execu[illegible] officer of the 97th Division Organ[illegible] Reserves in Burlington, officially [illegible] Guy W. Bailey, president of [illegible]versity, and returned to the back [illegible] at 8.30 to review the battalion.

Company inspection on close order drill by squads, platoons and companies and extended order drill took place at 8.50. The part of the program lasted until 10 when all four classes were tested in [illegible] work. The examinations included First-year basic (freshmen); [illegible] and rifle marksmanship, scouting and [illegible], military courtesy and dis[illegible]. Second-year basic (sophomores); [illegible]ketry, automatic rifle, scouting and [illegible]. First-year advanced (jun[illegible]) military sketching, machine guns, [illegible] and trench mortars. Second-year ad[illegible]ced (seniors); field engineering and [illegible]bat principles.

At 11.00 a.m. the juniors and sopho[illegible]res were tested on theoretical work: [illegible]s in drill and command, map read[illegible]g and military sketching, machine guns, [illegible] gun and three-inch trench mor[illegible] and combat principles; sophomores in [illegible] and command, musketry, scouting [illegible] patroling and combat principles.

The period from 1.30 to 2.45 was de[illegible]ed to a practical exercise of the rifle [illegible]s in attack.

The medical unit will be tested this [illegible]noon from 3.00 to 5.00 p.m on in[illegible]ection of records, inspection of prop[illegible], storerooms, grounds, buildings and [illegible]s.

On Wednesday morning, battalion [illegible] will take place at eight o'clock. [illegible] 8.20 to 12.00 there will be com[illegible] squad drill for the reserve [illegible] cup, offered annually to the fra[illegible] whose squad of eight freshmen [illegible]-mores, commanded by an up

(Continued on page 2)

ARIEL EDITOR

CHESTER B. EATON, editor of the 1934 Ariel, under whose direction the book which it appears.

1934 ARIEL APPEARS IN BLACK AND GOLD

Novel Photography and Complete Reorganization of Contents Makes Year Book Noteworthy

Comes again to the Vermont campus the Ariel of the junior class, published and presented last Saturday for the year 1934. Comes again the "digging down," the careful carrying home of the treasured volume, and the focused searching for "my picture," or "my name." However, this year's Ariel is well worth the "digging down" necessary to possess one. By virtue of its completeness of college life and arrangement and the recency of its subject matter, this year book will be proclaimed one of the best ever to make its appearance.

The 1934 Ariel is dedicated "To the memory of a thorough Vermonter, James Edward Donahue—President of the class of nineteen hundred and two, popular professor, able chairman of the Athletic Council." The aims of the editors in publishing the book are seen in the foreword: "Simplicity in keeping with the tradition of our State. Progress in keeping with the spirit of the times. Accuracy in keeping with the editorial trust committed to us." In harmony with this is the simplicity of all decorations and the quiet but effective coloring of inside and out. The cover is black and gold and has a view of the gymnasium entrance from a perspective seldom seen.

In commenting on the book, Editor Eaton quoted the foreword of the 1933 Ariel: "Never retract, never explain, never apologize, get the thing done and let the crowd howl."

The book introduces extensive reorganization of material, several new features, and a great deal of last-minute news. An account of Founder's Day and Boulder

(Continued on page 4)

PLAN OF SOCIAL EVENTS FOR NEXT YEAR DRAWN UP THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Monthly Entertainments to Comprise New Venture in Vermont Society

[illegible] and Thursday afternoons [illegible] available for social engage[illegible] [illegible] were drawn up subject to [illegible] change.

[illegible] committee [illegible] has [illegible] to the course of events. Chief [illegible] is a new venture in holding [illegible] entertainments at the time [illegible] parents are coming up for the [illegible] [illegible] the intention of making [illegible] for the regular classes. Performances [illegible], to the student body. [illegible] and will be all used to [illegible] the Mountebanks Day in the [illegible] [illegible] competition of the members [illegible]. The football hop will be held earlier [illegible] the season than usual on the [illegible] the Middlebury game.

Another innovation is the intercollegiate [illegible] hop, discussed at the recent meeting of the Interfraternity Council, for which a certain percentage of tickets will be issued to each fraternity according to its membership. Anyone may purchase a ticket who wishes also.

The deans' office will still [illegible] grades November 4 a week later than usual to avoid as far as possible the conflict with hour exams and rushing. Other dates for grades are December 9 and March 17.

The following is the tentative schedule:

Tuesday, September 12, freshman enrollment.

Wednesday, September 13, opening day.

(Continued on page 2)

EATON, CLASS PRESIDENT

Sweeping aside strong opposition, after three members of the junior class had been elected to office by large majorities, Chester Eaton of Worcester, Mass., was elected president of next year's senior class at a reballot of the tie existing between Joseph Deltausse of Rockville Center, L. I., and the victorious candidate.

Other officers elected were: Alice Hunt of Salem, Mass., vice-president; Ruth Reynolds of Brattleboro, secretary; and Norman Myers of Burlington, treasurer.

OPEN-HOUSE FRATERNITY DANCES FEATURE FINAL NIGHT OF JUNIOR WEEK

Nine Fraternities Hold Informal Dances Last Saturday Evening

[illegible] night the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Week [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE VERMONT CYNIC

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Business Manager
Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

White '35
Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

COLUMNIST

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS
Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS
Arnold Enos '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

FACULTY ADVISER
Paul Lean Dean

DOROTHY KENNEDY

Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Editorials

IN RETROSPECT

HARK YE, FRESHMEN!

NO DEPRESSION IN PAINT INDUSTRY

Vermont Fraternities

ZETA CHI HOUSE

In the fall of 1929 twelve members of the sophomore class with common interest and purpose in mind founded Zeta Chi fraternity at the University of Vermont. Since that time in addition to the present members a hundred and forty-two men have been taken into the order.

Immediately upon organization, a house was leased and since that time the fraternity has had three locations until the purchase of the present home at 200 Loomis Street during the summer of 1929.

All the charter members were prominent in class and campus activities outstanding among them was Edward O'Neil now a captain in the United States Army who was in his senior year president of Boulder Society, president of Student Union and Student Mayor of the R. O. T. C.

During the twelve years of activity the fraternity has had among its members leaders in campus organizations as well as being represented on the athletic field. Chet Rutkowski M'35 who pitched Vermont to victory over Dartmouth three times in four encounters and at present three ranks high in the sophomore class at the College of Medicine at Vermont. O. J. Wood '29 captain of track, finished eleven Boston marathon.

At the present time Zeta Chi is honored by having on the Vermont faculty Professors H. G. Millington, P. H. Ewert, G. Lucarini, and Instructors K. F. Lyman, C. Lucarini, E. W. Allen.

Prominent among the Burlington members of the alumni association are Dr. E. F. Foster, public health doctor, and E. J. Lavery, assistant superintendent of public works.

Society Notes

DELTA DELTA DELTA

A Mother's Day luncheon was held Saturday afternoon, May 13, at the Athena Club.

PI BETA PHI

Betty Brown '36 was pledged Monday, May 8.

Miss Dallas Pollard of Burlington, a Pi Beta Phi patroness gave a supper for the senior members of the chapter Tuesday evening, May 9.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

A Mother's Day tea was held at the chapter house Sunday afternoon May 14 from four to six o'clock.

Misses Dorothea Bradford Parkhill and Esther Mosher of the Class of 1932 were in town over the week-end to attend the Junior Week festivities.

R. O. T. C. BATTALION GOES ON REVIEW TODAY

(Continued from page 1)

COMMENTS ON JR. WEEK

(Continued from page 1)

spelling a nice solid week-end of fun. I think the faculty ought to get in on the fun and become part of the student body for a couple of days. Let them forget their rheumatism, lumbago, fallen arches, bald heads and so forth and take somebody to the dances, waltz around and loosen up the old joints. I'm sure no one would laugh at them." And the faculty!

PLAN OF SOCIAL EVENTS FOR NEXT YEAR DRA

(Continued from page 1)

Saturday, October
Health Council dance
Monday, October
Friday, October 30
Saturday, October
Wednesday, October
Thursday, October
Friday, October
Saturday, October
Monday, October
Wednesday, October
Saturday, October
Friday, October
Saturday, October
Health Council dance
Monday, October
Friday, October 30
Saturday, October
Wednesday, October
Saturday, October
Entertainment
Thursday, November
Saturday, November
Day St. Michael's tertainment
Friday, November 17 smoker
Saturday, November 18
Key and Serpent football
Thursday, November 23
Club.
Saturday, November
mals
Wednesday, November
mals
Thursday, November
ber 2, inclusive, Thanksg
Thursday, December 7
Saturday, December 9
mals.
Friday, December 15,
January 15.
Saturday, December formals
Sunday, December 17, cert
Thursday, December 21
Friday, December 22,
January 3, inclusive, Chr
Friday, January 5, mid
December 15
Saturday, January 6
Monday, January 15, to ary 26, inclusive, mid year
Friday, January 26, sophomore
February 2.
Saturday, January 27,
nities, entertainment
Friday, February 2, sophomore
January 26.
Saturday, February 17,
February 24.
Saturday, March 3, women's Friday, March 9, band
Saturday, March 10,
mals.
Wednesday, March 14,
Saturday, March 17,
Friday, March 23, men's
Thursday, March 29,
Friday, March 30, to sive, Easter recess.
Saturday, April 14,
Friday, April 20, indoor
Saturday, April 21,
Thursday, April 26,
Saturday, April 28,
dance.
Monday, April 30,
Tuesday, May 1, Founder's
Friday, May 4, women's Thursday, May 10, to 12, Junior Week
Monday, May 28, to Thursday inclusive, final exams
Wednesday, May 30,
Monday, June 18,

YOU CANNOT BE POPULAR IF YOUR SKIN IS BLEMISHED!

You might as well admit it now—the girl whose skin is marred by unsightly blemishes loses many dates! Helena Rubinstein, world-famous Beauty Authority, has designed preparations especially to overcome blackheads, pimples, coarse pores.

FOR BLACKHEADS AND OPEN PORES—use Blackhead and Open Pore Paste—a scientific wash that refines skin texture, corrects sallowness. (Pore Paste Special for sensitive skins) . 1.00

FOR A SOOTHING LOTION—use Snow Lotion to heal and conceal blemishes, an exquisite powder base, too! 1.00

FOR BLEMISHES AND BLOTCHES—apply Acne Cream, a medicated preparation that disinfects and heals 1.00, 2.00

HELENA RUBINSTEIN'S FAMOUS COSMETICS ADD THE YOUTHFUL VIVID ACCENT THAT CHALLENGES ATTENTION AND ADMIRATION

W. G. REYNOLDS CO.

Church St. Burlington, Vt

SPORTS NEWS

TRACK TEAM TROUNCED BY RENSSELAER OUTFIT IN MEET SATURDAY 91-44

Joe Delfausse Stars for His Team With Firsts in the 220 Low Hurdles and Quarter Mile

SMITH RUNS CENTURY IN TEN SECOND FLAT

R. P. I. Captain Surpasses State Shotput Record With Heave of 45′ 3″

Catamount under squad suffered ... defeat of the season Saturday at ... succumbing to Rensselaer ... the large score of 91-44.

... superiority of the Engineers was ... in the field events. Porgy Pon... Red and White captain, garnered ... the shot, discus and hammer, ... him high man for the meet. His ... of 45 ft. 3 in. is better than ... state record in this event. He also ... an excellent performance in the ... only five feet short of the State ...

... an engineer, won the javelin, ... Collins, his teammate, won the ... jump with a leap of 21 ft. 4 ... is better than the conference ... by ¾ in. In all, the Engineers ... of the fifteen firsts, sweeping the ... discus, and broad jump events.

K. K. Delfause was the star for ... and second high man for the ... He won the quarter with a ... sec. slower than the State ... He also won the low sticks with a sprint after the last hurdle and ... for second in the high jump.

Smith turned in the most sensa... performance of the day, running ... a head wind the first ten that ... that Vermont has seen for forty ... years, breaking the college record. ... unately this cannot count as a ... record since it was not made during ... state competition.

... was all set to crack the 220 mark ... injured a leg muscle in this event ... may be out for the remainder of the ... In that event, the Vermont ... ference hopes will be considerably ... ished.

... Ray Brooks earned his letter ... a fast 4:44 in the mile and was the ... other first-place winner for Ver... .

... Wesoly placed second in the 440 ... third in the furlong and was the ... Catamount to get over those points.

FRATERNITY DANCES END JUNIOR WEEK AT VERMONT

(Continued from page 1)

... dance. Chaperones were Prof. and ... L. B. Puffer.

... Sigma Alpha Epsilon dance was ... the direction of C. W. Janke '33, ... Wells '34, and G. M. Mackenzie ... The music was furnished by ... 's Vermonters.

... Chi held a formal dinner dance ... roof garden of the Hotel Ver... Chaperones were Professor and ... P. H. Ewert and Professor and ... H. G. Millington. The music was ... ed by the Yankee Land Aces.

... the Tau Epsilon Phi house P. D. ... '34 was in charge of the dance. ... was semi-formal. Max Bergman's ... tra played, and the chaperones ... Prof. and Mrs. L. A. Woodward ... and Mrs. W. H. Behney.

VERMONT TENNIS TEAM TO MEET ST. LAWRENCE THURSDAY AFTERNOON

... New York team.

The following afternoon U. V. M. meets Middlebury in an attempt to better the 3-3 ...

... considering the recent 3-3 score one would concede neither side an advantage. The Catamounts seem to be fairly strong in the Nos. 1 and 2 positions, while Middlebury has the edge in the Nos. 3 and 4 positions.

VERMONT KITTENS SCORE WIN AGAINST MONTPELIER SEMINARY TRACK TEAM

Jezukawicz is High Scorer in All Events—Vermont is Strongest in Running Events

... The 120 yard high hurdles ... Ouellette (V) ... Time, 17 ... sec.

100 yard dash—Won by Robbins (V), Jezukawicz (V) 2nd, Lane (V) 3rd. Time, 10[illegible] sec.

One mile—Won by Lockhart (V), Lawrence (V) 2nd, Granger (M) 3rd. Time, 5 min. 11 sec.

440 yard dash—Won by Hagger (V), Hagger (V) 2nd, Hendee (M) 3rd. Time, 54⅗ sec.

220 low hurdles—Won by Connor (V), Conti (M) 2nd, Broulette (M) 3rd. Time, 27 sec.

880 yard run—Won by Andress (V), Thibault (V) 2nd, Levine (V) 3rd. Time, 2 min. 12 sec.

... the 220 and finished up with third place in the hot put scoring five (5) points.

All seven points taken in the ... of the 100 yard dash were distributed ... Sabo for Vermont, Hebard and Lawrence finishing in that order.

... Jezukawicz was high scorer of the meet, he took first places in the pole vault and broad jump, a second place in the 100-yard dash and a third in the discus for a total of fourteen points.

Levine was the first to finish in the 440, second in the broad jump, placed third in the 880 and ran in the winning mile relay.

First places were taken in the mile, half-mile, and high jump by Twitchell, Andress and Caldwell respectively, while Saint Paul took second place in the shotput and discus.

Summaries:

... (Continued on page 4)

CAT'S MEOW

... in their respective hurling attempts.

... decision went for the Indoor championship outfit two years ago and the following ... versity, and other large Eastern schools thus far this year. — Ethel Cotton.

What a game! After tying the score three times the Cats finally came through in the tenth inning Saturday and nosed out the Wildcats of New Hampshire 7-6.

Ruthe Delfausse, playing his first home ... victory. Capt. Dutch McKay scored and the contest was pushed into a extra inning.

OUTDOOR CHAPEL SERVICE TO BE HELD TOMORROW

There will be no regular Wednesday morning chapel tomorrow. Instead, Colonel Black of the military department states that, weather permitting, an outdoor chapel service will be held in connection with the Federal military inspection ... the service will be held in the gymnasium cage.

MIDDLEBURY NETMEN HOLD VERMONT TO 3-3 SCORES IN FIRST MATCH

... score in their first match of the season at Middlebury last Friday afternoon.

Wilson and Myers in true form ...

Singles—Wilson (V) defeated Allen (M) 6-0, 6-4, 6-3; Myers (V) defeated Flagg (M) 6-2, 6-4; Rudd (M) defeated Woodward (V) 6-3, 6-1; La Force (M) defeated Mulcahy (V) 6-2, 7-5.

Doubles—Wilson and Myers (V) defeated Allen and Flagg (M), 4-6, 6-4, 6-4; Rudd and LaForce (M) defeated ...

FROSH HOLD ELECTIONS ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

NOTICE

Gold Key members are notified of the annual initiation banquet to be held tonight at 6.30 at the Hotel Vermont. Both those members from last year and the newly-elected men are expected to attend.

G. H. Cook '35, President.

CATS DEFEAT WILDCATS IN FREE-FOR-ALL GAME 7-6 LAST SATURDAY P.M.

Vermont Team Outhits New Hampshire Nine, Wins in Tenth Inning

CONTEST IS SIXTH IN ROW FOR CATAMOUNTS

Delfausse's Double in Ninth With Two Out Saves Day for Vermonters

Combining ... Ed Lavden ...

... sixth inning when Scanlon ...

(Continued on page 4)

NEW REDUCED RATES

on

CAPS AND GOWNS

$2.00 Deposit — 50c Refund

IF CAP AND GOWN ARE RETURNED ON COMMENCEMENT MONDAY

FOR REFUNDS ON RENTALS ALREADY PAID CALL AT THE

MEDICAL BOOK STORE

ALL CAPS AND GOWNS HANDLED BY THE

MEDICAL BOOK STORE

WHITE SHOES

BY

CROSBY SQUARE

$5.00

WHITE LINEN SUITS $7.50 TO $19.50

FLANNEL TROUSERS $4 TO $7

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.

Sporting Goods for All Sports

Special Prices to Schools, Clubs and Societies

The W. E. Greene Co.
In consolidation with
Patten, Irwin & White

1934 ARIEL APPEARS IN BLACK AND GOLD

(Continued from page 1)

CONCERT OF VIOLIN, PIANO, AND VOCAL MUSIC TO BE GIVEN THURSDAY

VERMONT SENDS MEN TO ENGINEERS' MEETINGS HELD MAY 12 AND 13

VERMONT KITTENS SCORE WIN OVER MONTPELIER

(Continued from page 3)

Broad jump: Won by Jezukawicz (V); Lacina (V) 2nd; Cantu (M) 3rd. Distance, 20 ft. 5 in.

Discus throw: Won by Cantu (M); Lovely (M) 2nd; Larsen (M) 3rd. Distance, 153 ft. 8 in.

VERMONT NINE DEFEATS NEW HAMPSHIRE TEAM

(Continued from page)

...ceder drove a savage ... Keith Deltaussi starting ... the bat barely ... a hand and in making the ... around rolling over and ... up with the ball.

The outstanding feature ... was the relief pitching ... den. With only one day ... the Middlebury game Ed ... men in the three innings he ... got another putout on ... Whitey Palmer at first.

The game was the sixth ... tory for Vermont and the ... for Layden.

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

• • •

Elias Lyman Coal Company

206 College Street

HENRY'S DINER

BANK STREET

We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.

TRY US

Fordham University School of Law

NEW YORK

Case System—Three-Year Course

CO-EDUCATIONAL

College Degree or Two Years College Work with Good Grades Required

Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases

Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE

CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the

U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor

All Work Guaranteed

RAND'S HOME LUNCH

Opposite New Fleming Museum

MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING

Open daily 6.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m.

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY?

Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

Have you thought of making

DENTISTRY

YOUR LIFE WORK?

The Harvard University Dental School offers a comprehensive course in this field of health service, which is becoming increasingly important in relation to medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school.

Write for catalog.

Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 42, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

SPECIAL

SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO
MASSAGE $1.00

ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY

JOE'S BARBER SHOP

JOE LANGLOIS, Proprietor
BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

ALEX VERRET

112 CHURCH ST.

The Health Food Center

Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables
Home Made Mayonnaise
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2078, 2071, 2072

Some things you can Prove—

Like the Milder, Better Taste of Chesterfields

JUST trying a package or two will show you that Chesterfields are Milder and Better-Tasting. But you can't learn much about why they're that way . . . except by taking our word for it.

Wherever cigarette tobaccos are on sale, there you will find our buyers, busy picking out and purchasing ripe, mild tobaccos—almost good enough to eat.

Then they are blended and cross-blended—Domestic and Turkish both—in just the right proportion . . . so that there'll be just one good flavor and aroma.

© 1933, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Chesterfield

They Satisfy

people know it

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MAY 10, 1935 — NUMBER 57

EDITORS ANNOUNCE COMPLETE STAFF FOR 1935 ARIEL

Cass Eliminates One Assistant Sports Editor and One Assistant Grind Editor From 1934 Line-up

THIRTY-NINE JUNIORS WILL WORK ON ANNUAL

Editor-in-Chief, Women's Editor, Business Manager Release Names of Respective Board Members

A complete list of the members of next year's Ariel, just released by W. F. Cass, editor-in-chief, includes thirty nine names. The line-up of positions corresponds with that of the 1934 year book with the exception of one assistant sports editor and one assistant grind editor. The junior board has been announced by W. F. Cass, the women's board by Helen Wait, women's editor; and the business board by M. A. Patch, business manager.

Men's Board

Managing Editor.....H. H. Abbott
Associate Editor.....C. I. Keelan
Photography (Grind) Editor.A. G. Buxton
Sports Editor.....J. L. Kingsland
Assistant Sports Editor...C. J. Howe
Photographic Editor.....A. L. Williams
Assistants..P. M. Howe, J. R. Simonds
Literary Editor.....J. M. Libby
Junior Editor.....J. S. Wool

Women's Board

Associate Editor.....Peggy Nugent
Women's Business Manager
Mary Cunningham
Assistant.....Margaret Kane
Society Editor.....Sue France
Assistant.....Elizabeth Rich
Biography Editor.....Winona Oatley
Photography Editor.....Barbara Wears
Assistant.....Madeline Ainsboro

Business Board

Assistant Business Manager
J. E. Mahoney
Circulation Manager.....G. H. Cook
Advertising Manager.....T. M. Reeves

Assistant Biography Editors

For men's and women's boards: W. D. White, R. S. Brown, O. R. Eastman, F. T. Churchill, R. B. Hart, S. Rogers, W. J. Toomey, A. A. Morrissette, J. S. Wool, R. S. Wright, A. I. Hardin, W. R. Hanke, N. Gould, R. C. Mildram, R. J. Lehausse.

Assistants: Helen Heininger, Carolyn Cook, Mary Casey, Ruth Wilkins, Hilda Haag, Evelyn Perry, Dorothy Kennedy, Phyllis Peacock, Edith Spiller

The first meeting of the new board is being called by the editor-in-chief for Monday at four o'clock in the Marsh Room of the library. Work for the coming year is to be planned at that meeting.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS GO ON DUTY IN BARRE

Military Department Sends Five Men to Join National Guardsmen on Duty in Granite City

Five students from the University military department have been sent to Barre for duty with "K" Company of that city as part of the group of National Guardsmen there.

Several serious outbreaks of violence in the vicinity of the granite cutting town of Barre recently caused Governor Stanley C. Wilson to dispatch National Guardsmen to quell any further uprisings. There are about 250 men on duty there. Since their arrival there has been very little trouble.

The Vermont students who have gone are C. H. Drown '34, R. M. Lawson '34, L. E. Davis '35, T. A. Davis '36 and H. W. Davis, a graduate student. "K" Company has been stationed at Montpelier but has now been moved to Barre.

SIGMA GAMMA

At the meeting, Monday night, Theodora Johnson '34 passed chocolates, announcing her engagement to Emory Hall M. '36, who is a member of Sigma Nu.

NOTICE

The R. O. T. C. battalion, University of Vermont, will assemble and form on the back campus at 8.00 a.m. on Tuesday, May 30, to participate by marching in the annual Memorial Day parade.

Following the parade, all equipment of the military students will be turned in for the end of the season and students will be paid their commutation of uniforms.

GOLD KEY INITIATION HELD TUESDAY; COOK PRESIDES AT BANQUET

Initiates Dine à la Ghandi at Hotel Sherwood; Elect Connor President for Next Year

The annual banquet and initiation of new members into the Gold Key, sophomore honorary society, was held on Tuesday evening, May 14, at the Hotel Sherwood.

G. H. Cook, who presided at the banquet, welcomed the initiates and asked them to make themselves comfortable by removing their coats, vests and ties. During the course of the banquet those were so comfortable that some of them wanted to put on their clothes but instead were told to remove their shirts and pants. They dined a la Ghandi the new Parisian fad. By the way, one of the initiates did resemble good old Mahatma since he wore a one-piece night gown or was it just a toga. Anyhow all felt good, not only because the feast was good but because of the entertainment furnished by individual initiates. They entertained the members by singing songs, telling about the farmer and his daughter, traveling salesman, etc. By the way, two initiates were suddenly possessed by spring fever and put on a spring dance which met with general approval and acclaim.

Initiates Form Chain

After the banquet the initiates put on their clothes—backwards—and went outdoors. In a chain gang procession they were led by F. Lanahan down Church Street just like you saw in "Fugitive from a Chain Gang," only the zebra stripes were missing. The gangsters formed a circle around the dummy of Church and Main Streets and performed a Hopi snake dance. When they became dizzy—you never can tell from what—they assembled on the outside stair landing of the City Hall, where they sang Champlain. From there they marched up Church Street—backwards—until Bank Street. There they faced about and continued the procession to the J. C. Penny store where they formed a horseshoe and a duet was given before an audience of approximately 100.

Then they went up to the roof garden of the Hotel Sherwood where the initiation was continued. Imagination can supply the rest.

Following the initiation the new members elected the following officers for the first half of next year: W. H. Connor, president; A. C. Werner, vice-president; F. D. B. Kane, secretary, and F. A. Funk, treasurer.

The following will constitute the Gold Key for 1933-34: P. M. Andross, Newtonville, Mass.; R. G. Bartlett, Newport Center, Vt.; R. B. Billings, Springfield, Mass.; W. H. Connor, Burlington, Vt.; B. J. Costello, Rutland, Vt.; D. D. Davis, Morrisville, Vt.; L. A. Dickinson, New

(Continued on page 3)

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL HAVE BRIDGE PARTY

On Saturday, May 26 from 8:00 to 11:00 p.m. Dramatic Club is giving a bridge party in the Catholic Daughters' Rooms at 194 College St. Both men and women students are invited to come and the committee in charge promises a very diverting evening well worth the price of twenty-five cents. Carol Wyman '33 is in charge.

Although only four weeks of the present term have passed more than 10 percent of the students at Rutgers University owe fines on library books overdue. The largest of these is for $2.85 and the smallest is two cents.

Deputations Committee Headed By C. H. Drown, Completes Active Year

Twenty-one Places Visited in First Semester, Nine in Second —Wright is New Head

GIVE PROGRAMS OF VARIOUS FORMS

October 8 and 9 [illegible] Junior [illegible] E. F. Cromwell '34
October 28 [illegible] Industrial [illegible] E. F. Wright '35
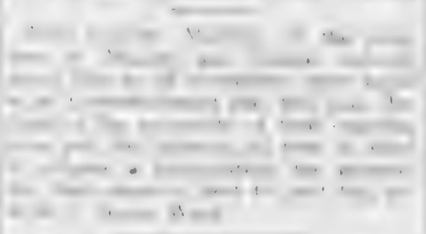
7:30 p.m. [illegible] Burlington
Salvation [illegible] C. H. Drown '34
October 29 8:00 p.m. Ladies' Home Society, Essex Junction, Memorial program. Speaker, Norman Crocker '33. Music, Marion '34, Madeline Ainsboro '37, Mae Whitney '36.
October 30 11:00 a.m. Charlotte Congregational Church, F. G. Reade '35, C. H. Drown '34, A. R. Wilcox '35.
7:30 p.m. South Kingsbury Congregational Church, C. A. Mansfield '36.
November 6 10:45 a.m. Richmond Congregational Church, C. H. Drown, A. R. Wilcox, R. S. Wright.
7:00 p.m. Cambridge Congregational Church, C. H. Drown, A. R. Wilcox.
November 12 10:40 a.m. Burlington Methodist Episcopal Church, [illegible] Reed, Doris Putnam '34, A. F. Whiting '35, C. H. Drown '34.
3:00 p.m. State Industrial School, Vergennes, W. P. Stetson '34, F. O. Walters '34.
November 27 10:45 a.m. Newport Methodist Episcopal Church, F. G. Reade, R. S. Wright, C. H. Drown, A. R. Wilcox.
7:00 p.m. Orleans Congregational Church, same as Newport group.
10:30 a.m. Grand Isle Methodist Episcopal Church, A. F. Whiting, F. N. Hill '35.

(Continued on page 2)

FARMAN WILL SUCCEED JOHNSON AS PHILAGON PRESIDENT NEXT YEAR

Philagon, Public Speaking Organization for Women, Will Furnish Future Varsity Debate Team



Philagon last week elected new officers for next year. Elena Farman '34 will succeed Laura Johnson '35 as president and Betty Brown '36 will be the new secretary-treasurer the post which Mary Wilson '36 filled during the last year.

Philagon, organized in February of this year is an organization of all women students interested in public speaking. The Greek name itself means love of the order of public speaking. Although its primary purpose is not debating, next year's varsity team will in all probability be chosen from the members of Philagon. Farman, as three of this year's debating team, Laura Johnson, Sophie Lentz and Virginia Granderson will graduate in June there will be many openings for new debaters next year.

The organization meets once every two weeks with a novel program every time. The program committee has three members for new one each time the chairmanship rotates also.

A host of ex-pupils transferred from the speaker to another interested audience at one meeting this spring. The guest of the club in turn provided entertainment for the others present. Each member was to speak for ten minutes on any long person the members the speaker and of the [illegible] the lung of [illegible] to hold good her opposite should commit such a breach of good speaking. This could talk about anything could deliver a harangue on anything, tell jokes recite poetry or recitations, tell about their most recent operation

NO COMMENCEMENT PLAY TO BE GIVEN THIS YEAR

KEY AND SERPENT AND BOULDER HAVE FORMAL INITIATIONS THIS WEEK

Junior Honorary Society Has Initiation at Delta Psi House Wed.—Boulder Today

[illegible] Key and Serpent, junior honorary society, held its annual initiation at the Delta Psi House on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Following the initiation a banquet was served at the Hotel Vermont. Members of the Key and Serpent and the following men were initiated: [illegible] Reed of Burlington, [illegible] of Gardner, Mass., and W. D. White of Burlington. After the initiation and banquet the men adjourned to the Old Mill where they were welcomed by [illegible] G. H. Cook as their presiding [illegible] F. T. Churchill in behalf of the society, and F. E. Peacock on behalf of the new members.

Informed in Afternoon

In the afternoon candidates for membership in the society were informed of the [illegible] Key and Serpent at the [illegible] Delta Psi House. Other entertaining activities [illegible] Key and Serpent [illegible] Tomorrow afternoon [illegible] Boulder [illegible] Key and Serpent [illegible] Boulder [illegible] Key and Serpent [illegible] Boulder [illegible] Key and Serpent

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The Only Student Newspaper in the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

[redacted] '34 ..... Editor-in-Chief
[redacted] '34 ..... Business Editor
[redacted] '34 ..... Managing Editor
[redacted] '34 ..... Sports Editor
[redacted] '34 ..... Recording Editor
[redacted] '34 ..... Business Manager
[redacted] '34 ..... Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Dorothy Kennedy '35 — Jane Parsons '35
Howard Abbott '35 — Dustin White '35
Stuart Wright '35 — Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

[redacted] '35
Milton Greenburg '34

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

COLUMNIST

Robert Weisman '34

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

[redacted] '36 — Bartley Costello '36
[redacted] '36 — Elizabeth Haig '36
[redacted] '36 — [redacted] Hammer '36
[redacted] '36 — [redacted] '36
[redacted] '36 — Frances Rowe '36
[redacted] Kane '36 — William Sokol '36
[redacted] '36 — Stephen O'Brien '36
Edna Leach '36

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge ..... JANE PARSONS

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year; single copy, five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at THE VERMONT CYNIC Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 — May 10, 1933 — No. 57

Editorials

It has been heard recently that the student of today is more mature than his counterpart of a decade ago. The reason given was that the student of today is more concerned with the conditions of the world about him, he feels the struggle for existence and appreciates the efforts of his parents in sending him to college. Consequently, he is far more serious minded.

It would be interesting to know what our forebears think of this statement and whether they consider that they were frivolous in their time. Some record of their doings is left to us in the various pictures in old annuals, old albums and the like, and one is struck by the sense of complexity in their amusements.

This would not necessarily imply that the said amusements were silly, useless or even childish, on the contrary, they show a strong individuality which is sadly lacking in most of our present-day amusements. As a general rule, it is true that the present-day student is facing his responsibilities more than his predecessor, and to that extent is gaining maturity. There is nothing so efficient as experience of a bitter nature for maturing a man.

Yet on taking a second look at the pictures of our scholastic ancestors the impression often is given that they were bigger men than we, they looked more imposing physically. Is it that we are more mature intellectually and that they were more mature physically? For our own sakes it is to be hoped not. Are we becoming effeminate?

The answer should be NO. The unusual is always with us, and we have all types. The average university life is a great vehicle for furthering the maturing process of any young man. Some benefit, some do not. Nevertheless, if the student takes the good with the bad, and forgets the unnecessary, he can consider that he has achieved something of what the university was planned to give him.

If the student can mature slowly and soberly he will find he has been well equipped for the world. What causes the carping criticism of the maturing process of a university, is the affectation of the embryonic youth who emulates his mental and physical superiors to his own disadvantage.

COLUMBIA TO BROADCAST WORLD'S FAIR OPENING

Two broadcasts over the WABC-Columbia network on Saturday, May 27, will mark the opening of the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago. President Roosevelt is expected to participate in the ceremonies. The broadcast from 2.00 to 2.30 p.m., EDST, will include the national Salute of the Nations, the parade of the characteristic [illegible] regional delegations from foreign countries, followed by the civic parade. For the broadcast from 9.15 to 10.30 p.m., EDST, there will be an original musical program by Lawrence Tibbett, a 2,000-voice chorus and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, directed by Frederick Stock. The addresses at the opening ceremonies will be broadcast at approximately 10:00 p.m., EDST, when the two hemispheres of the Columbia network will be wired to send greetings of Empire from the Harvard observatory at Cambridge to the fair grounds at Chicago. The music of the national hymn of the star Arcturus, 40 million miles from the earth, will go to inspire a huge searchlight atop the Administration Building, which a host will throw out, bathing the [illegible] exposition buildings.

KALTENBORN TO COVER ECONOMIC CONFERENCE FROM LONDON

Columbia's veteran news commentator, H. V. Kaltenborn, sails for England May 27, whence he will report the progress of the World Economic Conference in a series of broadcasts over the WABC-Columbia network direct from London, where representatives of the world's great nations will convene on June 12 to attempt a revival of international trade. After a broadcast of the opening of the Conference, to be presided over by King George V, reports of all important sessions will be given by Kaltenborn, the schedule to be announced at a later date. After the conference, he will travel in Germany and Russia in order to study conditions there. With a full background of journalistic experience, especially in international affairs and political economy, Kaltenborn is excellently equipped for the assignment. In annual summer broadcasts abroad year after year, he has probably interviewed more European statesmen than any other man in his profession.

"I'll be overture house before the [illegible]," said the room director.

FIFTH INTRA-VT. SPECIAL TO TOUR STATE IN JUNE

Rev. A. Ritchie Low, Who Promotes Annual Trip, Will Be in Charge

Boys, sixteen years and over, interested in seeing Vermont, are invited to accompany the fifth Intra-Vermont Special which is to tour the northern end of the State from June 19 to June 24. The trip is to be made in private cars. There are to be thirty in the party including leaders. The Rev. A. Ritchie Low of Johnson, who promoted these trips from year to year, will again be in charge. Associated with him will be Lieut.-Gov. Charles M. Smith, Supt. George Patterson of Vergennes and [illegible].

The start will be made from Burlington and the party will visit Essex Junction, St. Albans, Swanton, Enosburg Falls, Richford, Montgomery, Johnson, Morrisville, Stowe, Waterbury and other towns. The cost to each boy is but seven dollars. This also included attendance at a two-day institute to be held in the fall. While in the various towns the party will be the guests of the local people. Gov. Stanley C. Wilson, who is the Intra-Vermont Special's honorary president, will be with the group as often as his State duties permit.

The whole idea behind the movement, it has been explained, is to get the youth of Vermont familiar with its industrial and agricultural opportunities. Factories are visited, plants gone through and places of interest visited. Scattered all over the State are over 100 lads who have traveled via the "Special" in other years. Many a strong friendship has been cemented as a result of these trips.

Dwight Walker of Johnson, Vt., has charge of all applications and will gladly answer questions regarding the itinerary, dates, etc. The seven dollars, it has been pointed out, covers the entire expense. The lads going are assured of an instructive and profitable week. "The week I was with the Intra-Vermont Special," said one boy last year, "enabled me to see more of Vermont in six days than the average Vermonter sees in ten years. Moreover," he went on to say, "I went through factories and saw things I never knew even existed." Because only thirty in all may go, those interested would be well informed to get in touch with Mr. Walker at Johnson right away.

PHI DELTA THETA WINS RESERVE OFFICERS CUP

(Continued from page 1)

mand, map reading and military sketching, machine guns, 37 mm. gun and 3-in. T. M. and combat principles; and for sophomores on drill and command, musketry, scouting and patroling, combat principles.

The battalion assembled at 1.30 p.m. for the working out of a tactical problem. An "enemy" approaching Burlington from Williston Road and attacking Converse Hall provided the action. Companies were divided into sections and squads and sent out as guards to cover the reservoir and the Winooski, while the enemy, dressed in blue overalls and hats, crept up on Converse.

At 3.00 p.m. was the inspection of the medical unit including inspection of records, property, storerooms, grounds, building and ranges.

Shortly before eight o'clock Wednesday morning students in military attire were to be seen hastily approaching the scene of the first activity in the order of the second day of inspection, the parade. Led by the band, the battalion wound its way along the byroads and highroads of the University campus and vicinity.

The competitive squad drill for the reserve officers' cup took place at 8.20. This cup is offered annually to the fraternity whose squad of eight freshmen and sophomores, commanded by an upperclassman, is most efficient in competitive drill. H. M. Loudon '33 led his squad of Phi Delta Theta's successfully through the drill, to emerge as winners of the cup.

The freshman and sophomore competitive drill in the manual of arms for the Scabbard and Blade cups was held at this time. These cups were for individual excellence and any sophomore or freshman might compete. Bent received the cup from the sophomore ranks, and Smith from the freshman.

Woodward received the Loyal Legion sabre, which is yearly presented "to the senior who is most outstanding as an officer in the battalion." Loudon again took the men under him to victory in the contest for the American Legion award to the best company, "A" Company being the recipients this year.

Medals were presented by the Sons of the American Revolution to the student in each of the four classes who has excelled in the year's work. These were offered for the first time this year, Woodward, Davis, Cass, and Andress receiving them for the senior, junior, sophomore and freshman classes, respectively. Rifle team awards were based on excellence in sharpshooting.

Military activities were set aside from 10:00 to 10.30 in order that all might attend chapel. The student assembled on the back campus for this service which was conducted by Lieut. J. J. Dignan.

JOHN DEWEY CLUB PROGRAM WILL HONOR JOHN LOCKE

To Join World-wide Movement of Time, Spiller and Bingham Will Present Locke's Theories

The final meeting for the year of the John Dewey Club takes place at 8.00 p.m. tonight with the program in celebration of the tercentenary of the birth of John Locke thus joining world-wide movement at this time.

R. E. Bingham '34 will discuss the metaphysical and psychological theories of Mr. Locke and S. N. Spiller '33, president of the club, will present his political theories. Cards have been sent out to prospective members with the request that they be returned signifying acceptance or rejection of the invitation to membership, so that records for next year may be completed. Election of officers for next year will also take place at this meeting, and all present members are expected to be present.

OWED TO THE TYPEWRITER

You're a bundle of junk;
Your action is punk;
Your keys are all out of line;
Your bell doesn't ring,
Though it's tied up with string;
You've lost all your polish and shine.
Your carriage is spoiled
For it hasn't been oiled
Since in my possession you've been.
You rattle and squeak,
And your spring is weak.
For you're just about all in.
You're dirty and old
And you couldn't be sold
For more than a dollar or two;
But you've been a friend
From beginning to end,
And there's nothing I'd take for you.

Would that the CYNIC staff could sing this to more than one!

DEPUTATIONS COMMITTEE COMPLETES ACTIVE YEAR

(Continued from page 1)

December 4, 7.30 p.m.—Burlington, Methodist Episcopal Church: A. R. Wilcox, M. D. Powers.
December 11—Brandon, Congregational Church: C. H. Drown, A. F. Whiting.
3.00 p.m.—State Industrial School: Daisy Putnam, Mary Whitney, Norma Carder, Susan France '35.
December 25, 10.45 a.m.—Newport, Methodist Episcopal Church: C. H. Drown.
Evening—Newport, Methodist Episcopal Church: C. H. Drown.
January 8, 1933, 3.00 p.m.—State Industrial School: C. H. Drown.
7.30 p.m.—Proctor, Union Church: Annual students' night program, M. D. Powers.
February 12, 3.00 p.m.—State Industrial School: M. D. Powers.
March 4 and 5—Lincoln, Federated Church: R. H. Bingham '34, W. D. White '35, L. N. Hill '35, C. H. Drown.
March 12—Johnson: R. S. Wright, W. H. Myers '35, Dorothy Ball.
Evening—State Industrial School: F. G. Kinsley.
March 19—Cambridge: R. S. Wright, Daisy Putnam, Norma Carder, Mary Whitney.
March 19—Winooski: Sylvia Boyd, F. G. Kinsley.
March 26—Vergennes, Methodist Episcopal Church: R. S. Wright, W. H. Myers, Norma Carder, Muriel Magee, Dorothy Ball.
April 9—Jericho: M. D. Powers.
May 14—State Industrial School, R. S. Wright.
Charlotte: Sylvia Boyd.

The following towns have been visited at least once: Barton, State School, Burlington (two churches), Essex Junction, Charlotte, South Royalton, Richmond, Cambridge, Newport, Orleans, Grand Isle, Brandon, Proctor, Johnson, Winooski, and Jericho.

Eighteen different people have taken part at least once. They report it is well worth all the effort spent. Any who are willing to work in this line are gladly welcomed by the new deputations head, R. S. Wright '35.

COLUMBIA SIGNS MILDRED BAILEY, BLUES-SINGING STAR

Mildred Bailey, blues-singing star from the west, has been signed by the Columbia Artists Bureau and will be heard over the WABC-Columbia network Wednesdays and Fridays at 7.00 p.m., EDST, starting May 17, supported by Freddie Rich's orchestra and the Four Eton Boys. The familiar theme of "Rockin' Chair" will introduce the blues singer, who rose to radio, stage, and night-club stardom during her four years as a featured member of Paul Whiteman's musical troupe.

The French Government plans to transfer the remains of Napoleon's son to be reinterred with those of his father at the Invalides.

The Catty Co-ed sa

I wondered if [illegible] after having [illegible] that on Tuesday.

It has been said on authority that the [illegible] Thetas, but that the [illegible] to God. Why?

Is it springtime that boys call up the demure [illegible] are the results, boys? [illegible] heard.

I wonder why Sam Pierce tend Theta dances? Very [illegible]

The Catty Co-ed would [illegible] why Esther Beardsley is [illegible] interest in the Waterbury [illegible]

Some of the girls at [illegible] are authorities on method[illegible]

Are college professors supposed to observe the principles of [illegible] Education students study [illegible] or do they teach by divine [illegible]

An innocent freshman was [illegible] ask, "Who is Fraser B. Drew [illegible] does the B stand for? Tell us, [illegible]

It has been said that Fra[illegible] knows almost as many girls as Campbell.

A certain little TT girl thinks Benway is "awfully cute."

I noted a mention of the Catty in the Phi Delt magazine famous, what!

The engineers seem to like to about the girls who go by. They remind us of an old ladies' sewing circle.

DID someone say the "cute little nies" of the Redstone float suffered after effects? They say they will clude raw carrots from their meals now on. They are quite proud of cup, however.

I heard one of the girls' botany singing "Women do get Weary" they were returning from a field

These class elections take on aspects of political combines.

As we were strolling down Street the other evening, we several fraternity companies for the military review. Poor boys.

Yes, another prom has come and It was a damp night. We thought weather man would have more ation.

Did any of you happen to walk the gym and see Nat Wells work the decorations? We felt like him our jacket to prevent his sunburned under the nice protection of the gym.

The Catty Co-ed takes time compliment Editor Eaton and his the excellent edition of the has just appeared.

Bill Brislin's picture was in the Ariel so many times that we [illegible] up counting. Nice work, Bill.

THEATRE

Flynn

(T. F. S.) Secrets—Mary P being an old showman chosen [illegible] zation of the ancient story of ning its way past all obstacles return. Elopement, rustlers, etc. Mary picked the cast Leslie Howard assists nobly as Dead Pan Sparks, C. Aubrey Mona Maris the lurer and this a picture you'll talk about.

State

(F. S.) Speed Demon—[illegible] Jr., and Joan Marsh. A story of a fast man on land. Crack ups and everything.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of a committee for the purpose of nom ing class 1936 officers next Wed day afternoon, May 24, at 4 p.m. the Old Mill Chapel. Will a representative from each fraternity sorority and two representa from the independents please present.

Election of officers of the cla 1936 will take place all day Fri May 26. Balloting will be he the corridor of the Old Mill.

H. E. MAHONEY
Class Presid

SPORTS NEWS

LAST TRACK MEET BEFORE CONFERENCE TILT IS WITH MONTREAL, TOMORROW

Catamounts With One Win and One Loss Will Be Handicapped by Absence of Smith

The University of Vermont track team meets Montreal A. A. A. at Montreal tomorrow in the last meet before the conference tilt. Vermont has won and lost one meet so far this year, defeating St. Lawrence by a close score, and losing to Rensselaer Tech. Montreal lost a meet with Middlebury two weeks ago by the score of 90-45.

The Catamounts will be handicapped by the probable absence of Ken Smith, star sprinter, who was injured in the Rensselaer meet.

Montreal is not particularly impressive in any department, although Worrall is a fast man in the low sticks and a probable winner in the high jump. Doyle is a threat in the pole vault, having done 11 feet 6 inches in the Middlebury meet.

Joe Frankenstein Delfausse is Vermont's best bet. Joe will place in the low hurdles, high jump, and quarter, and will probably win the latter, if comparative times mean anything. Montreal is pretty fierce in the weights and Cook and Brown may well garner a few extra tallies in this department.

In the long distances Captain Brooks, Woodruff, White and Harwood, if coming, should have things pretty much their own way.

The outcome of the sprints, with Smith out of the running, is a matter of conjecture.

It should be a close meet, with the Catamounts having a slight edge.

FINAL MILITARY EXAMS TODAY AND TOMORROW

Tests in All Four Classes Cover Various Subjects

The final examinations in military science and tactics were held this morning and will be concluded tomorrow, May 20, at 7.30 a.m.

The following listed subjects are covered on the days specified:

Seniors:
- May 19—Close order drill and platoon and company.
- May 20—Combat principles covered in second semester.

Juniors:
- May 19—Drill and command and machine guns.
- May 20—Machine guns and 37 mm.

Sophomores:
- May 19—Combat principles of the squad.
- May 20—Close and extended order drill of the squad, action and platoon. Automatic rifle.

Freshmen:
- May 19—Hygiene and first aid. Scouting and patroling.
- May 20—Close order drill, school of soldier. Squad and platoon.

Three University of Utah co-eds were treated for frozen knees at the health service of that school this winter.

A T O'S TO MEET PHI MU DELTS IN FINAL GAME OF INTERFRAT LEAGUE

Game to Determine Championship Scheduled for Monday

By virtue of their win over the S A E's A T O will meet the Phi Mu Delts in the final game of the interfraternity championship league. If the A T O's continue to carry their batting shoes and team fast cleaves with them they will probably emerge with the championship. The Phi Mu Delts with their formidable battery of Burnell and Lucas will give plenty of stiff competition in this final game. A T O unless they can pull something out of the bag will probably use Lanahan and McCrea as a battery.

The game is scheduled for Monday afternoon the twenty-second, and Centennial Field may be the scene of the battle. If such is the case some of the boys in the infield will have to protect themselves with masks, etc., until they become acclimated to the fast surface.

FRESHMEN PLAY CLARK TODAY, MONT. SEM. TUES.

Kittens Hope for Better Luck Today, After Many Defeats

This afternoon, on Centennial Field, the Kitten baseball team will strive to snap out of a losing streak which has been following them all year, by turning in a victory over the Clark School squad. The frosh tossers have yet to win a scheduled game, but they feel confident that this is their lucky day.

The outstanding weakness seems to be in batting. As yet, no heavy hitter has been found.

The pitching assignment will be taken care of by Stretch Kirley, who has done dependable twirling all year. Dick Billings has been shifted from the catching position to left field. Maeck will probably be on the receiving end. Either Ernie Young or Red Negus will hold down the initial sack, with Skippy Williams at second. Degree will play short with Andy Werner at the dizzy corner.

The outer garden has caused Doc Newton plenty of worry and still is undecided. Funk will probably play center with either Smith or Workman in right field.

On Tuesday the frosh will meet the Montpelier Seminary team here. The Kitten line-up will be practically the same except that Red Negus will probably do the tossing for Vermont.

Unless it was a misprint in their paper, we understand that the activities of the Junior Prom at the University of Buffalo are of such duration that classes the following day are attended by students in formal attire. Will the man in the stuffed shirt please step to the board.

HAVE YOU "RAIDED"
THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTS EDITOR

Sonnyboy Beckley held the Norwich lads to one lone run last Monday, while the rest of Coach Larry's trusties wore the Sabine Field basepaths to a frazzle to the tune of fifteen runs!

The Horsemen of Coach Hunt's stable are showing their coached knowledge of horseflesh at the races. In fact they usually are horsemen at most things the Catamount nine are trying but "nuddy."

Tomorrow the Vermont nine meet M. I. T. again. V. M. I. won in their first encounter gives Vermont a decided edge. Manday Swartz will probably pitch for us as the Cadet.

Next week is invasion of the northern New York strongholds of the Larry-led Indy nines will we hope be a victorious one.

Coach Dear Manager K Beers and a squad of twenty one warriors to Montreal tomorrow where they will encounter real opposition in Montreal A. A. A. The Canadians boast that they have the pick of the Dominion's cinder stars.

Ten-second Smith will, it is hoped, be able to perform tomorrow. Ken sustained a leg injury last Saturday, but it has recovered rapidly during the week.

This afternoon the "Iron Men of the Courts" will meet stiff opposition in the form of a good Middlebury team. The Panthers' big boast is a 3-3 tie with the "Iron Men" last week at Middlebury. This afternoon should provide some fine playing between two evenly matched teams.

At Centennial Field, this p.m., the Kittens clash with the Clark School nine. Francis Stretch Kirley will probably be on the mound for the freshman nine.

Coach Prentice will take his cohorts of freshman track men down to the state Town tomorrow to attempt a repeat against Green Mountain Junior College.

GOLD KEY INITIATION BANQUET HELD TUESDAY

(Continued from page 1)

Britain Conn.; E. A. Funk, New London, Conn.; F. B. Hunt, Lawton, Okla.; J. J. Jezukiewicz, Gardner, Mass.; F. D. B. Kane, Montpelier, Vt.; R. J. Martin, Brooklyn, N. Y.; B. S. Mussinan, Burlington, Vt.; J. S. Poczabut, Hartford, Conn.; W. Sokol, New Britain, Conn.; A. C. Werner, Lexington, Conn.; F. C. Williams, West Pawlet, Vt.; E. G. Young, Craftsbury Common, Vt.

The outgoing members are: H. H. Abbott, R. S. Brown, G. H. Cook, M. H. Carlson, B. Goldberg, G. Harding, W. R. Hauke, J. L. Kingsland, F. Landman, L. M. Libby, J. P. Mahoney, R. E. Palmer, J. Emens, J. P. Simonds, E. Skodinski, and W. D. White.

A T O WINS SEMI-FINAL FROM S A E MONDAY P.M.

Next to Last of Interfrat Games is Marred by Several Errors

A T O nosed out the S A E's 3-2 in the semi-final game of the interfraternity baseball league Monday afternoon on Centennial Field. Starting the game off with a rush A T O opened up getting Morrison around the bases on a passed ball and a couple of errors after he had reached first.

Johnny Boyd Pitcher for the A T O and Lucy pitched for the S A E and Lucy proved to be a hard luck boy as Hart [illegible] the A T O the winning run.

Hart pitched

Lucy did good work on the mound for the winners with fair support. The game [illegible] the A T O's had one bad inning and nothing else. Lucy brought in the pastime with [illegible] the score gave Lucy the short end of the score.

A T O		A E
[illegible]		[illegible]

A T O 3 3 S A E 2

P. T. DEPT. SPONSORS HEALTH MOTION PICTURES

Physical Education Students Who Attend Will Get Credit

On Monday, May 16, at 4.00 p.m. will be shown three health motion pictures under the auspices of the department of physical education. All men students are urged to attend the showing which will be given in the Historic Museum [illegible].

There are three films to be shown. 1. "Working for Dear Life." An argument for annual health examinations and a true experience with [illegible]. 2. "The Magic Bullet." Shows how modern living habits have made necessary [illegible] to produce natural immunity to the [illegible] of the Dark Ages. 3. "Fighting the Plague." A [illegible] A T O and Lucy brought in the pastime with [illegible] the score gave Lucy the short end of the score.

Everyone taking physical education courses [illegible] the pictures will be accredited in three different ways:

1. One hour, making up an excused cut.
2. An extra unexcused cut for the semester.
3. A substitute for a class during the week of May 22-27.

The agreement which at the present is a hard thing to beat. Some of the fellows at Dartmouth University have developed a way to beat the substitute cut by using one of a week. This is a very practical thing and at times seems to the best that people can beat it. Several in the University did. Under a [illegible] you may have a [illegible] in the classes you use for the semester. Good [illegible]

CATAMOUNTS TO PLAY NORWICH TOMORROW IN RETURN GAME HERE

Centennial Field Will Be Scene of Another Game in State Title Series

[illegible] Conference at Centennial Field this morning. Coach Hunt's Catamounts take the measure of the visiting [illegible] by the score of 6-5.

Norwich has been rather unlucky to [illegible] on account of the inexperience of the boys. The Cadets [illegible] back of the [illegible] of their best pitcher [illegible] of the last game [illegible] Norwich [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

History Shows Junior Week Celebration Began In 1904

First Mild Beginning of Gala Week Celebrated by a Prom, a Concert, a "Cotillion Dance," and a Ball Game—One Each Year But '18 Since Then

Way Back in '04

First Real Junior Week Play

And the First Peerade

Junior Banquet and Boatride

Junior Banquet and Boatride

Junior Banquet and Boatride

Junior Banquet and Boatride

Junior Banquet and Boatride

4-H CLUB DELEGATES TO NATIONAL CAMP CHOSEN

FARM ACT TO LIGHTEN FARM MORTGAGE LOAD

Many thousands of dollars in annual interest payments on farm mortgages will be saved by farmers in Vermont through the agricultural credit provisions of the Federal Farm Relief Act, according to R. D. Aplin, extension economist at the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College. The average interest rate on Federal Land Bank mortgages is 5½ percent. On $1,085,000 is [illegible] the interest charges. With milk selling for a dollar [illegible] the country these [illegible] a heavy burden down heavily, and a lightening of the load is most welcome.

Nearly four million dollars of Vermont farm mortgages are already held by the Federal Land Bank at Springfield, Mass. [illegible] days after the act was signed by the President, the interest rate on these mortgages will be reduced [illegible] percent to 4½ percent. This rate will apply for the next five years and will make an annual saving of [illegible] to Vermont on the present Land Bank mortgages. In addition during this five-year period, borrowers who are not delinquent in the payment of interest [illegible] to reduce the principal of their loans.

It is expected that this reduction in interest rate by the Federal Land Banks will be followed by reductions by other classes of mortgage holders also. In order to finance additional loans themselves, the Federal Land Banks will issue two billion dollars in 4 percent bonds on which the interest is guaranteed by the United States Government. These bonds will be sold to the public or exchanged for farm mortgages. Loans made on farm mortgages by the Federal Land Banks cannot exceed 50 percent of the appraised normal value of the land for agricultural purposes plus 20 percent of the insured permanent improvements.

In order to exchange a farm mortgage for cash or for a 4 percent bond on which the interest is guaranteed by the government, it is anticipated that in many cases the present mortgage holder will be willing to reduce somewhat the face value of the mortgage so that it will come within the limit that can be loaned by the Federal Land Bank. Where such a reduction is made the farmer will obtain the benefit of a reduction in the principal of his mortgage as well as a lowered interest rate. The refinancing of mortgages by this process of exchange of bonds or cash by the Federal Land Bank requires the consent of the person now holding the mortgage and the application for such exchange should be made by him. In those cases where the mortgage contains a provision that it may be paid off at any time, the farmer may make application to the Federal Land Bank for a new first mortgage loan with which to pay off the existing mortgage.

Farmers may obtain detailed information about these mortgage loans from the Federal Land Bank at Springfield, Mass., from the secretary of their county farm loan association or from the county agents.

SPRING FIELD DAY TO TAKE PLACE MAY 24

The preliminary games for the spring field day tournaments, to be held May 24, are being played off this week. The tennis play-offs have advanced to the semi-finals, with the baseball games to be played off tomorrow. No archery preliminaries are to be held.

The program for the Field Day schedules: The tennis finals at 3.30 p.m., baseball and horseshoes to be played off at 4.00 p.m. with the archery dates still undecided. Supper will be served at 5.30, at which time the awards will be given out.

Peach trees on the farm of E. C. Pearson, Chula, Ga., bore two crops of peaches this year. The second crop probably will not ripen.

RADIO AUDIENCE TO CHOOSE SPECIAL STOKOWSKI PROGRAM

Leopold Stokowski, director of the Philadelphia Orchestra, will attempt to measure the musical tastes of the country in conducting a poll in which the radio audience will have the opportunity of selecting its own symphonic favorites. The resulting all-request program, to be broadcast by Stokowski and the Philadelphia Orchestra over the WABC Columbia network during the week of October 29, will be comprised of the symphonic selections which receive the most votes. For the past few years Stokowski has similarly traced the musical preferences of the audiences at his concerts in Philadelphia and he now extends this measuring rod to the entire country. Interested listeners are urged to send in their favorite selections and the Columbia Broadcasting System will announce a list of the most popular compositions and the date of their broadcast.

Married students at Fenn College are now given the opportunity to take their wives to classes in fluent speaking at a "fare and a half" for tuition.

The Dean of the college stated, "Any man who has the courage to train his wife to speak even more fluently than she now does, should be congratulated!"

—Congratulated? He should be incarcerated!

"Why was Venus always broke?"

"Because no one will give her alms."

RESEARCH CLUB HOLDS LAST MEETING TUESDAY

Program Consists of Oral Reports From Students Expecting to Receive Degrees

The last meeting of the University Research Club for the year 1932-1933 was held in Morrill Hall, Tuesday evening at [illegible].

The program will consist of oral reports from ten selected students who have completed their thesis and expect to be granted their degree at the coming Commencement. One-half of the speakers have been working for the degree of Master of Arts and the other half for that of Master of Science.

The program follows:

Program Research Club

Agronomy—Mineral Studies in Vermont Pasture Soils with Special Reference to Potash. Gilbert F. Lea.

Botany—The Morphology and Histology of Sterile Violet Species Hybrid. James W. Marvin.

Chemistry—The System: Antimony-Cadmium-Zinc. W. G. Van Note.

English—John Greenleaf Whittier—The Native Spokesman of New England. Margaret S. Rice.

The Nativism of Royal Tyler, B. W. Chapman

History—The Personal Rule of Charles I, Isaac Fleishmann.

The Port Royal Expedition, Howard W. Davis.

Latin—The Treatment of Classical Mythology, Bertha E. Knight.

Physics—The Effect of Temperature on the Photovoltaic and Other Electrical Properties of Single Crystals of Selenium, L. C. Whitman.

Zoology—Observations on Segmentation and Growth in Lumbricus Orrestris, R. B. Aiken.

COMMENCEMENT HELD ON VERMONT CAMPUS FROM JUNE 16 TO JUNE 19

Commencement at the University of Vermont will begin on Friday, June 16, and terminate in the graduation exercises, Monday, June 19. Class Day will occur Friday, Alumni Day Saturday, Sunday will be Baccalaureate Day, and Monday will be the date of the Commencement exercises.

Alumni classes which will hold reunions are the classes of 1876, 1877, 1878, 1879, 1893 (40th), 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1908 (25th), 1913 (20th), 1916, 1917. Members from other classes will also be present at the Commencement exercises, and other functions of graduation.

Class Day will be featured by the Class Day exercises, the Vermont-St. Lawrence baseball game in the afternoon, the fraternity teas, and in the evening, the President's Reception and the Senior Prom.

On Alumni Day the Alumni luncheon will be held at noon; in the afternoon will be the annual varsity-alumni baseball game, early in the evening will be the department dinners, and later on the fraternity and sorority reunions.

The features of Baccalaureate Day will be the class boat ride in the morning, and the class reunions. In the afternoon will be the Baccalaureate exercises, and in the evening the alumni sing.

CARNEGIE ART SET IS RECEIVED AT MUSEU

Three units of the [illegible] valued at about $7[illegible] to the Fleming Museum [illegible] of Vermont by the Carnegie [illegible] have been received at the [illegible] include 900 reproductions [illegible] pieces of painting, sculpture [illegible] tecture; 35 textiles repre[illegible] craft of widely different [illegible] eras; and 25 original prints [illegible] representative etchers [illegible] lithographers of various European countries and various periods.

The collection of prints [illegible] page from the Nuremberg [illegible] page from the Golden Legend [illegible] and Turner are among the [illegible] sented.

The textile collection illustrates [illegible] pal weaving and color processes [illegible] resentative European, Asiatic [illegible] and Oceanic peoples. Samoan [illegible] from mulberry bark. Peruvian [illegible] cloth made from palm fiber, [illegible] batik, Japanese crepe, Moroccan [illegible] Italian damask, Scotch plaid [illegible] cloth, various weaves of silk, [illegible] silk and fibre, silk and paper [illegible] cluded. An exhibit of this [illegible] planned at which University [illegible] perts will lecture, using the [illegible] material as illustrative.

The 900 reproductions of [illegible] works thus far received are [illegible] photographs, but also include color [illegible] of some master pieces. Numerous [illegible] hibits from selected reproductions [illegible] be held from time to time, [illegible] nection with lectures.

Further units of the set, including carefully chosen library of authentic books on fine and applied art, and [illegible] techniques and the like, will be [illegible] the museum from time to time. [illegible] John Shapley of the University of [illegible] cago is now working on a complete catalogue of the entire Carnegie [illegible] which will be forwarded in mimeographed form as it is completed, and later will be distributed in printed form to institutions having Carnegie sets.

MISS MARSTON GIVES ORGAN RECITAL SUND

Continuing the full and varied [illegible] of programs and concerts by the music department of the University, Miriam Natilee Marston gave an organ recital last Sunday afternoon at the Allen Chapel. With more than usual beauty and color of tone, Miss Marston delighted her audience. The program featured three works of [illegible]. The program included:

Prelude and Fugue in C Minor [illegible]

Chorale Preludes:

"In Dulci Jubilo"

"Herzlich Int Mich Verlangen"

"Herr Jesu Christ, Dich zu Wend" [illegible]

Toccata in D Minor (Dorian) [illegible]

Pastoral, Recitative and Chorale [illegible] Kare

Distant Chimes [illegible]

Rhapodic Catalane [illegible] P

Rutgers is sending its first intercollegiate golf team on to the greens this season. Anyway, we hope they get far enough above water to be [illegible]

GRADUATION GIFTS

Watches in Reliable Make for Men and Women

GRUEN
HAMILTON
BULOVA
ELGIN

Prices $18.50 to $75.00

F. J. Preston & So

INCORPORATED
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

STUDENTS SUPPLIES

ART MATERIALS

FAVORS & DECORATIONS

FOR DANCES

•

McAULIFFE'S

Church and College Sts. Phone 629

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHOP
182A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES

Fordham University School of Law
NEW YORK
Case System—Three-Year Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required
Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases
Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

On With the Dance

SANDALS

$1.50 and Up

•

B. J. BOYNTON
65 Church St.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MAY 23 1933 NUMBER 58

PRESIDENT EATON NAMES CANDIDATES TO STUDENT ADMINISTRATIVE GROUPS

If Other Nominees Desired, Petitions Must Be Submitted by Thursday Noon

AN ATTEMPT TO SAVE TIME, COST OF ELECTION

If Desired an Election Will Be Held Friday in Usual Manner

Nominations to Faculty-Student Council and Student Senate for the Class of 1934 were released yesterday by the class president Chester B. Eaton. There are two positions to be filled on the Council and seven in the Senate, just this number of nominations having been made, the method being followed provides that persons nominating additional candidates may be submitted to the president by any dissatisfied members of the class by noon on Thursday, May 25. Nominations must bear at least twenty signatures and the approval of the candidates named.

For some time it has been customary to give the entire nominating power for these positions in the hands of the class president, those participating in the election being only those named by the president. The slight change being made will accomplish two things: first, if the candidates named are acceptable to the class there will be no election thus eliminating an unnecessary expenditure of class funds; and second, if the candidates named are not acceptable to the class the nominating privilege is in the hands of the dissatisfied members rather than entirely in the hands of one man.

The Nominees

For Faculty-Student Council

Arnold A. Ross
College of Arts and Sciences
Walter M. Adams, Jr.
College of Engineering
Elwyn F. Miller..College of Agriculture
Grace F. Harris }
Carlotta R. Morris } ....Senior Women

For Student Senate

John L. Beckley
William W. Brislin
Thomas G. Cogswell
William Cohen
Joseph J. Delfausse
Charles J. Libby
Donald J. Tobin

In commenting on the nominations and upon the slight change in method, President Eaton said, "The nominees have been selected because they are outstanding in the class and are themselves deserving of recognition, and because they are representative of the class as a

(Continued on page 2)

MRS. FISHER IS HEAD AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF ADULT EDUCATION

The eighth annual meeting of the American Association for Adult Education is being held May 22, 23, and 24 at the Public Library in Amherst, Mass.

Dorothy Canfield Fisher, famous Vermont novelist and president of the association presides.

Among the many speakers to take part in the program are Edmund de S. Brunner, professor of education, Teachers College, Columbia University; Benson Y. Landis of the American Country Life Association; Mae C. Hawes, director of adult education, Carnegie Library of Atlanta; Alain Locke, professor of philosophy at Howard University; Stanley King, president of Amherst; Harry Lydenberg of the American Library Association; and George E. Vincent, former president of the Rockefeller Foundation.

The American Association for Adult Education was organized in 1926 to promote the idea of education as a continuous process throughout life. It aims to act as a clearing house for information in the field of adult education, to study enterprises already in operation to help organizations and groups to initiate education activities; and to aid and encourage individuals who, although occupied with some primary vocation or interest, desire to continue learning by

PRESIDENT OF BOULDER

Arnold Ross '34

BOULDER, THE SCENE OF INITIATION CEREMONY NEW MEMBERS FRIDAY

Arnold Ross Chosen Head of Senior Men's Honorary Society for Next Year

Traditional initiation of Boulder, senior men's honorary organization, took place last Friday evening at 11 o'clock around the Boulder in front of the Old Mill. In a short ceremony, new members were sworn in and were given the pins of the society.

After the initiation a banquet was held in the banquet room of the Hotel Vermont which all the old and new members attended. The guests of the occasion were Prof. Orr W. Bailey, Dean Elijah Swift and Dean J. L. Hills each of whom spoke during the evening. Each of the old and new members also spoke briefly after the banquet.

Election of officers to serve the society next year resulted in the choosing of A. A. Ross of St. Albans as president, W. W. Brislin, Rutland for vice-president; and D. J. Tobin of Fairhaven, Mass., as secretary-treasurer. The last named office is a permanent office throughout the year, but the other two change at specified intervals.

Ross is the editor of the 1935 Freshmore Handbook and sports editor of the 1934 Ivy. He is contributing editor of the Cynic, a member of Grey Friars, the International Relations Club, and is on the board of Reminiscences from the Mill.

Bill Brislin belonged to Gold Key and Key and Serpent. He is president of the present senior class. He played on the class basketball team and was assistant manager of basketball. On the Cynic staff he has been reporter and news editor, and is now sports editor. He is a contributor to Kalo Walk and circulation manager of the Ivy. In sophomore he belonged to Student Senate and Interfraternity Council. Last year he was on the Faculty-student Council. He is in the Newman Club, and a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

Don Tobin was a Key and Serpent member, assistant manager of basketball and manager this year. He was financial manager of Junior Week and assistant editor of the 1934 Ivy. He has been on a Kalo Walk committee, belongs to Student Senate. He is president of Newman Club and is a member of Kappa Sigma.

The new members of Boulder society are: J. L. Beckley, Great Neck, N. Y.; W. W. Brislin, Rutland; G. H. Bunce, Jr., Hyde Park; H. Foster, N. H.; C. E. Dobson, East Templeton, Mass.; C. B. Eaton, Woodstock; Maj. C. F. Libby, Richmond Hill, N. Y.; A. A. Ross, St. Albans; D. J. Tobin, Fairhaven, Mass.

The graduating Boulder members are: C. J. Brown of Newport; R. E. Colburn of Burlington; J. B. Dow, of Randolph; J. F. Reed of Woodstock and D. W. Webster of Burlington.

STETSON ON NORTHFIELD CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

W. P. Stetson '34 of New Haven, Conn., will serve on the program committee of conferences at the Northfield summer conferences, Northfield, Massachusetts, June 9-20 at Camp Parker in the Berkshires, Parker, Mass.

Many students in New England and representatives of the conferences

JOHN DEWEY CLUB MEETS LAST FRIDAY; SELECTS OFFICERS AND MEMBERS

Members Present Discussed Life and Philosophies of John Locke at This Last Meeting

(Continued on page 4)

PROF. CLAIR T. LEONARD TO INSTRUCT STUDENTS IN PIANO AT SUMMER SCHOOL

Has Been Selected to Take the Place of the Late Charles Lee Tracy

Prof. Clair T. Leonard, who has been acting head of the department of music at the University of Vermont during the sabbatical absence of Prof. H. C. Eastman, will be in charge of piano instruction at the University summer school session, it has been announced by Dean Guy Bailey. Prof. Leonard, who was graduated from Oberlin College, New York and Columbia universities, has been a member of the music faculty of the University of Vermont since 1919.

Professor Leonard has been in charge of piano instruction at the summer school for a number of years, succeeding the late Professor Tracy. Last year he directed the music of the Junior Week play, "Pygmalion and Galatea," under the auspices of the Dramatic Club. He is a member of the Music Teachers' National Association and the Vermont Music Teachers' Association.

Professor Leonard has been active in musical circles in Burlington and throughout the state. He has given many recitals and has appeared as soloist with the Burlington Symphony orchestra. He has also been organist and choirmaster at the Church of the Good Shepherd and at the First Congregational church.

The new members of the John Dewey club, which have been chosen by vote of the present members, are: [illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

PAN-HELLENIC HEAD

Ada Ingalls '34

MUSIC DEPARTMENT TO SPONSOR PUPIL RECITAL WEDNESDAY IN MUSEUM

Recital Is Second in Series Given This Spring by Students of University

[illegible]

ADA INGALLS '34 TO BE HEAD OF PAN-HELLENIC DURING COMING YEAR

Mary Bennett to Serve in Capacity of Organization Next Year

SORORITIES ANNOUNCE JUNIOR REPRESENTATIVE

Council Is Active on Campus Serving to Sponsor All Women's Interfraternity Relations

[illegible]

Bennett Secretary

Miss Bennett was elected secretary as a member of Y. W. C. A. and Dramatic Club. In her freshman year she took part in the Lake Day pageant and in the class play. For two years she sang in the Glee Club. She served on the house, point conference and judiciary committees.

Miss Bennett is a member of Sherpa and Sandal, W. A. A. and Phi Mu sorority. She played on the tennis team for two years. She was assistant property manager for the fall play this year and played in "March Hares."

Miss Harris is the other member of Student Senate. She belongs to W. A. A., Glee Club and Dramatic Club, and has played basketball hockey and volleyball. Miss Harris belongs to W. A. A., Y. W. C. A. and the Home Economics Club.

(Continued on page 4)

CAPT. ELBRIDGE COLBY TO REPLACE CAPTAIN CAMPBELL IN R. O. T. C.

[illegible]

BRIGGS HAS ARTICLE IN AMERICAN ACCOUNTANT

[illegible]

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official College Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Recording Editor
Business Manager
Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Dustin White '35
Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

COLUMNIST

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS
Marshall Patch '35

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS
Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

Lelia Leach '36

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge.....DUSTIN WHITE

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year; single copy five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head of The Vermont Cynic, Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 1 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1444.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Editorials

A BIG SISTER

Girls, were you fortunate enough to have a big sister when you were a freshman in college? Did she attempt to lessen the strangeness of it all for you and make you feel at home in the new world you had entered? Did she act towards you, as though she were your best friend?

Almost every freshman woman on entering the halls of higher education, in the fall has that lonesome feeling which has much to do in making her first days distasteful and which in many cases sours her outlook on college life.

May we review briefly the first few weeks of college life for many girls. The newcomer steps off the train in a strange town, meets strange people surrounded by new customs, and restricted by new rules. Within that first week or two she may perhaps make one or two friends with her equally bewildered classmates, who live in the same dormitory or who have shared the agonies and joys of those registration days together. Among the upperclass women, she may receive a carelessly flung "hello," as she meets them on campus or in the hallways. Soon afterward this period may end when the sorority girls are on the lookout for eligibles.

However it is during these first few weeks that the incoming student receives her deepest impression of college life. Her reaction to this primary impression forms the nucleus of her future outlook concerning college life. It may influence also her policy towards the development of a cooperative enthusiastic and loyal spirit.

It is at the time when assignments are rather light and the first excitement of the differences between home life and college life is being made that the girl needs a sympathetic friend, and a friend who literally knows "the ropes."

We appeal therefore to the upperclass girls. We urge unlimited cooperation in aiding on the big sister movement next fall. Remember how much you would have appreciated a helping hand in those first few weeks. Recall also how you would have enjoyed a hearty welcome during that initial period, and then offer your aid freely.

CANDIDATES NAMED FOR JUNIOR ELECTIONS

(Continued from page 1)

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of a committee for the purpose of nominating class 1936 officers Wednesday afternoon, May 24, at 4 p.m., in the Old Mill Chapel. Will a representative from each fraternity and sorority and two representatives from the independents please be present.

Election of officers of the class of 1936 will take place all day Friday, May 26. Balloting will be held in the corridor of the Old Mill.

H. E. MAHONEY,
Class President.

THEATRE

Flynn

State

PICTURE EXHIBIT NOW AT THE FLEMING MUSEUM

One hundred pictures of the "Gay Nineties," a part of the huge collection of Theresa Bernays of New York, are now on exhibit in the University museum.

Many pictures of the European royal families are in the collection. We see them traveling in coaches and early trains or automobiles; we see Gustave of Sweden with a tennis racquet in his hand; we see King George and Queen Mary at their coronation in their gorgeous capes with ermine trimming. In one picture four generations of English monarchs are shown—Queen Victoria, Edward, George, and the baby Prince of Wales. In another picture we see Prince Edward an adorable baby in his high chair.

How differently the children of monarchs are trained. Some, dressed in silks and laces, are guarded and cared for by noble nurses; they are present at state ceremonies. The pictures show us others busily studying. One young prince is at his books, with statues of Napoleon and other militarists nearby; two little princesses, clad in very severe and plain dresses, are learning to knit.

For those who like fashion shows, here is their heart's desire. What the leaders of fashion were forty years ago. We venture to state that the actresses were better dressed in better taste than the empresses. For the queens liked to dress so ornately, with silks and laces, and chains of pearls. But the hats would delight any girl; huge, broad brimmed, and decorated with feathers and flowers and ribbons. Long veils covered their faces, and must have been fastened underneath their high collars. A French actress, Rejane by name, has a most becoming high-crowned hat, with a dark veil attached. She wears a watch on a long chain around her neck. Perhaps the most stunning looking woman of the entire collection is Madame Edmond de Rothschild, "Princess Lantante." In all her pictures she was dressed simply yet rich in her black silks. Marie Christine of Spain too, was dressed charmingly, and Marie of Rumania was beautiful as always. Her dress so different from most of the others, was made of chiffon and lace.

There is a radio show for the boys, too in display of cartoon boards and miniatures. We find an attractive Van Johnson, sans dress, sans mustaches, and sans socks and shoes. Moreover we see the cute boots and pert-looking bikini pants. Pat Dean's summer outfit has engendered much talk about the arrival of the summer social season.

Also present bathing suits and scenes of beach parties are included in the collection.

With the exception of Australia, eighty miles south of it, New Guinea is the largest island in the world.

There will be a meeting of the nominating committee of the senior class at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Old Mill Chapel.

The election of permanent officers for the class of 1933 will be held Friday afternoon at four in Room 27 of the Williams Science Hall.

T. F. COLLINS, JR.,
President.

Vermont Fraternities

SIGMA DELTA

In the autumn of 1923 the Sigma Delta [illegible] was founded at the ideals of [illegible] and loyalty to the University, [illegible] and customs. There were [illegible] Charter members in the original group. For the first year the [illegible] had rooms on Church Street and in the autumn of 1924 they moved to their present location on Main Street, which they purchased in the spring of [illegible].

The fraternity has succeeded in holding the highest scholastic average of the [illegible] fraternities for thirteen of the nineteen semesters during which they have been in existence and of the remaining semesters even in the first half. Sigma Delta has had numerous Phi Beta Kappa men and has won two of the [illegible] Kent prizes awarded for [illegible] judgment, general grasp of [illegible] electrical engineering and [illegible] use of success in this [illegible].

Several national organizations offered membership to Sigma [illegible] there has always been a predominant desire of the members to remain [illegible].

The fraternity now [illegible] members among whom are [illegible] guished men as Leon D. [illegible] local attorney; W. P. Red[illegible] Manufacturing Co.; B. B. [illegible] the Bosworth Manufacturing [illegible] Stanley L. Chamberlin, Republican torney. The members on the [illegible] Profs. L. B. Puffer and K. [illegible].

Experimental Flower Show At The Greenhouse In Charge Of Gersh

A unique flower show that will continue into June is starting in a greenhouse at the Vermont Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Vermont, and the man who has spent the past twelve years collecting and breeding the plants will again plunge into his analysis of hybrid flowers produced by experimentally paralleling the pollenizing action of the bee.

In the display will be at least as many different kinds of violets as are to be found under cultivation anywhere else in the world in one collection—violets four feet high, creeping violets, violets with grass like leaves, with fan-shaped leaves, violets white, yellow, blue, lavender and all intervening shades. Not only will a large number of Northern Hemisphere species be represented, but many scores of hybrids that have been developed by crossing individuals of these species.

The flower show is a show only in fact, not in any attempt of the Experiment Station scientists to bring visitors to it, although a year ago an eminent Japanese cytologist spent several days inspecting the collection, and other visiting botanists have made use of it. Last August at the Sixth International Congress of Genetics at Ithaca, N. Y., A. Gershoy, who has been developing the collection since 1921, accepted an invitation to exhibit results of his hybridization studies, and distributed in connection with this exhibit a booklet of descriptive notes.

The work was begun at Columbia University several years before it was transferred to the Vermont Experiment Station in 1923. The collection then included chiefly New York, New Jersey and New England varieties of violets. Since that time several dozen species from Europe, Asia and western United States have been added. The entire genus have been sampled except some North African, South American and Australian species. Some hybrids have been produced experimentally which closely resemble these species except that the hybrids are sterile.

This attempt to produce synthetically distinct fertile species existing in other parts of the world and a similar attempt are some of the major problems of the study. To determine if possible what sort of common ancestors the modern violets had before evolution divided them into many species were both thwarted by the phenomenon of sterility resulting from species crossing.

Another side of the comprehensive study has been an attempt to breed the fragrant violet of commerce, viola odorata, with closely related western species in order, if possible, to produce new forms for the trade. The second generation of the results of these hybridizations is now being raised. From it may spring several hundred new types of seedlings among which something of horticultural value may be found.

Mr. Gershoy has had to simulate natural conditions in many ways during his experiments. He makes his own soil which contains a large percentage of coarse leaf-mould prepared from leaves gathered on the University of Vermont campus and allowed to rot or dry. The greenhouse is kept cool and partly shaded, and the soil moist. Some species that thrive better outside are kept in a cloth-covered shed or in an outdoor garden plot.

By standardizing the conditions under which all species are grown, whether found in nature on mountain tops, swamps or arid plains, Mr. Gershoy has had difficulty in getting some species to live even one year, while many have flourished. Violets from the west coast, in general, have not grown well under these unfamiliar conditions. Southern violets have grown well, but have wintered poorly, especially species. The preservation of the line of pedigreed stock, so necessary the study, has been made possible placement of the plants that seedlings from pedigreed plants.

Most violets are perennials, with groups of annuals and biennials. species and all fertile species bear duce seeds in great abundance year of growth. This and the ease seeds are produced from both closed flowers makes the genus ideal experimentation. The structure open flower provides for natural tion by insects. Mr. Gershoy has advantage of this structure in making own artificial pollinations. One hybrid has been produced and is tile, seeds positively free from crossings by insects may be obtained large quantities from the self-closed buds.

With a glass rod spun out into thread with tip rounded by heat, Gershoy has "spent much time the last twelve years playing bumble as he jocularly puts it. He has between 6,000 and 7,000 hand pollinations each requiring at least a minute some needing up to half an hour completion. A hand lense is the microscopic aid.

During the blossoming time the on which experiments are being have to be watched carefully to vent natural cross-pollination. The day before the blossom opens sufficiently for pollination, it is stripped its petals, to deprive the bee of ing place, and of its stamens, the possibility of self-fertilization. next day the hand pollination is Further tests are made later to certain that the crossing has been fectly controlled.

One discovery about seed germination, incidental to the experiment, is in line with experiments being carried the Boyce-Thompson Institute, Yonkers, N. Y., on the relation of light ture and stimulation by chemicals germination. Mr. Gershoy has misled into thinking that seeds will not come after the first winter's ground were incapable of germination. Later he found this was true of seeds need to weather. This is also in previous years, the seeds have been in the ground no longer germinated earlier than those wintered only one year. This can be used as an index of the of seeds of wild species by those working with wild flowers. The wild species have been found analogous behavior.

The number of individuals in collection has been limited only and labor available. The total runs into thousands.

Preservation of dry specimens in herbaria adds to the value experiment. In the Experiment herbarium is one of the most lections of violet species in the world. This herbarium contains world famous collection of Prof. Ezra Brainerd and the University of Vermont. Brainerd studied natural and definitively classified North America. Except species found in Australia and South America the Vermont herbarium is comprehensive.

Some of the scientific

(Continued on page 4)

SPORTS NEWS

FROSH TRACK TEAM EDGES GREEN MOUNTAIN JUNIOR COLLEGE SAT.

Continue String of Victories to Four and End Undefeated Season

...ing their string of ...der ... the University of Vermont ... journeyed to Poultney Satur... ...d defeated the Green Mountain ... College aggregation by the narrow ... 50¼ to 48¾. The last two ... the broad jump and the pole vault, ...ceded due to darkness.

Green Mountain Junior College ...tion won six of the eleven events ... Kittens amassed seven seconds for ...rgin of victory. Hoffman and ... were the only double winners. ... first in the weights and dashes ...ively to share premier point honors. ...rawicz accumulated nine points with three seconds but was deprived from participating in his specialties, the broad ... and pole vault.

The remainder of the Frosh individual ...naries came through with flying ... Manny Levine taking the quarter ... losing second to Phil Andress in the ... Twitchell romping home to an easy ... in the mile; Jones garnering eight ... in the low hurdles and 220 and ... Paul placing first and second in the ... Bill Connor, state high hurdle ...holder, sustained a stomach cramp and ... unable to compete in the low timbers.

Coaches Archie Post and Howard ...ence have had the most successful ... track season in years, concluding ... four meets with a record of four ... as well as developing several ...sive individual specialists to bolster ...rsity aggregation in the spring of ...

The summary:

120 high hurdles: Ryan (G), Connor ... and Densmore (V). Time, 16.3 ...onds.

100 yard dash: Hawkes (G), Jezu...wicz (V) and Keough (G). Time, ... 4 seconds.

220 yard dash: Hawkes (G), Jones ... and Keough (G). Time, 24.5 ...onds.

440 yard dash: Levine (V), Fremus ... and Thibault (V). Time, 55.9 ...onds.

880-yard run: Andress (V), Levine ... and Phelps (G). Time, 2. 17.4.

Mile run: Twitchell (V), Sidebotham ... and Levine (V). Time 5.18.

220 low hurdles: Jones (V), Tarbox ... and Keough (G). Time, 33.5 ...onds.

Shot put: Hoffman (G), Paul (V) ... Fraut (V). Distance 40.5¾ feet.

Discus: Paul (V), Jezukawicz (V) ... Fish (G). Distance 104.9 feet.

Javelin: Hoffman (G), Jezukawicz (V) and Ball (G). Distance 143.2 feet.

High jump: Tarbox and Keough (G) tied for first and Caldwell (V) and Zdovsky and Somers (G) tied for third. Height 5.5... feet.

CO-ED BASEBALL STARTS AS SOPHOMORES WIN

...Freshman second ... Bell, Brooks, Mackenzie, Donahue, ... Mae Fleming, Hooper ... Caroline Hill, Natalie Hunker, Anne ... Fleming, Hunter, Martin, Montgomery, Patterson, Prentice, Rowan, Sand, Wood.

Junior second ... Edith Rogers, Daisy Patton, Ellen Barrett, Alice Farrar, Linda Walker, Nancy Hawthorne.

KITTENS WILL PLAY MONTPELIER SEMINARY THIS AFTERNOON AT 4

Hope to Avenge Defeat Earlier in the Season

With just two games left on their schedule the Kitten baseball club will endeavor to take the Montpelier Seminary aggregation over the bumps on Centennial Field this afternoon. Montpelier wallopped the home outfit 11 to 6 and thus far, with the exception of the win over Clark, the Kittens' season has been unimpressive.

Stretch Kirley will probably do the hurling for the Kittens and with the support of the shifted infield and outfield, that worked so effectively against Clark, the frosh promise another win to bolster up their schedule.

A recent survey made at Washington showed that the average student carries more money in his pocket than the average professor and the professor's secretary carries more money than both the prof. and the student together. And who not, with pay checks and the money from home both being held up for the first two. Who said the woman always pays.

CAT'S MEOW

Sports Edition

NEW SONG POPULAR

Several western college ... announced ... seemingly for their own. Phi Delt ... college marches and songs for ... Paramount's College Humor. So Among Librarians and Sam Cohen ... Song Contest ... at on the picture.

THIRD GRID PICTURE

Richard Arlen is playing the part of ... college football hero for the third time ... Paramount's "College Humor." He ... and similar parts in "Touchdown" and "The All American."

Here are a few results which ... correct guess.

Baseball

Fordham 21	Army 2
Holy Cross 14	Harvard 5
Lowell Tech 7	Dartmouth 6
Northeastern 4	Middlebury 3
Tufts 7	Maine 6
Boston College 3	Providence 2

Tennis

Amherst 9	Boston Univ. 0
Dartmouth 9	Brown 0
Harvard 9	Yale 0
Worcester Tech 8	Clarkson 1

Track

Middlebury 68	Tufts 58
Yale 73	Harvard 53

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the
U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

Vermont vs. Norwich

TENNIS TEAM DEFEATS STRONG MIDDLEBURY TEAM 4-1 LAST FRIDAY

Wilson and Myers Continue Winning Streaks, Woodward Takes His Man Easily

W. A. A. COUNCIL PLANS BIG SPRING RALLY FOR WEDNESDAY MAY 24

Finals of Tennis Tournament and of Baseball Contest and Awards and Box Supper

TRACK TEAM LOSES TO MONTREAL A. A. A. BY A WIDE MARGIN 78-48

Joe Delfausse With 14 Points Was the Outstanding Star of the Meet

KEHOE TALKS ON "VALUES OF A COLLEGE EDUCATION"

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY
YOUR LIFE WORK?
The Harvard University Dental School offers a comprehensive course in this field of health service, which is becoming increasingly important in relation to medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school.
Write for catalog.
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 42, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
• • •
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

Have you a S-cushion?
Made specially for these outdoor classes and sidelines of tennis matches
A special adjustment for the Old Mill steps and hatchway.
Sold only at the
University Store
for 25c each

SLEEVELESS SWEATERS
$1.50 to $3.00
COTTON TROUSERS
Striped Brown and Black
$2.00
CROSBY SQUARE SHOES
$5.00
HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.
Sporting Goods for All Sports
Special Prices to Schools, Clubs and Societies
The W. E. Greene Co.
In consolidation with
Patten, Irwin & White

OLD ENGLISH FOLK DANCES TO BE TAUGHT IN SUMMER SCHOOL

ADA INGALLS '34 TO HEAD PAN-HELLENIC

(Continued from page 1)

Miss Ingalls has served as chief usher, vice president, social editor on the Cynic board, and on the entertainment committee. She was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in her junior year. She is a member of Phi Mu Alpha, Y W C A and has played basketball, baseball and hockey. Miss Ingalls has played on the basketball and hockey teams. She has served on the house and refreshment committees. She is a member of Pipsissiwa. She belongs to Delta Epsilon, W A A, Y W C A and Dana Club. She was a contributing social editor on the Red and Gold and was secretary of the junior class.

Contributing committeewomen to Pan Hellenic are Charlotte Odell of Proctor, N Y, secretary, Lois of Waitsfield, treasurer; Dorothy Perry of Springfield; Anna Bond of West Newbury, Mass.; Ruth Gowen of Concord, N H, corresponding; Edith Holden of Essex, and Dorothea Edwards of Websterville.

CATAMOUNTS PLAY FOUR BASEBALL GAMES IN WEEK

This week will be a strenuous one for the U V M baseball team with three games on the schedule. Today they meet St. Lawrence at Canton. Wednesday Clarkson at Potsdam and Saturday here at Centennial Field.

Aside from the lay off caused by the cancellation of Saturday's game with Norwich the Catamounts are taking to the field almost daily.

Although the outfield has been ruggedly pruned considerably in the last couple of weeks the infield remains intact. When the team takes the field Whitey Palmer will be at first, Bobby Burns at second, Macomber at short with Capt. Dapid McKay covering the hot corner. In the outer garden, Linster Garret will be in right and either Ramey Hatt, or Bobby Dufresne in center and Jeff Lyons Bowers is able to catch Ramey will probably go back to his old post at center. If not he will be behind the plate.

Lyons Gardner has not decided on the pitching assignments at this time, but it is probable that Johnny Beckley, Ed Swartz and Ed Hayden will all see action during the week.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Fleming Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
Open daily 6.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m.

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.
TRY US

Fordham University
School of Law
NEW YORK
Case System—Three Year Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required
Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases
Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

FLOWER SHOW HELD AT U. V. M. GREENHOUSE

(Continued from page 2)

CHESTERFIELD RETURNS WITH HOLTZ, MOORE, HAYTON AND BROKENSHIRE

JOHN DEWEY TAKES IN NEW MEMBERS FRIDAY

(Continued from page 1)

SPECIAL
SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO
MASSAGE $1.00
ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY
JOE'S BARBER SHOP
JOE LANGLOIS, Proprietor
BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

FOUNDER'S DAY CHAPEL

At a recent meeting the University Council voted that students absent from the Founder's Day exercises without adequate excuse be required to read Founder's Day addresses and pass a written examination thereon.

Failure to do this will result in the student being placed on probation until such time as this requirement is satisfied.

Signed
E. Swift,
Secretary.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST
The Health Food Center
Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables
Home Made Mayonnaise
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 3670, 3671, 3672

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 14

They Satisfy
..all you could ask for!

Just two words...

Yes, I have heard about two words; and now and then three words—but "They Satisfy" means "To gratify fully."

Why do these two words "they satisfy" fit Chesterfields? Because Chesterfield Cigarettes are milder. Because Chesterfield Cigarettes taste better.

Chesterfield's way of blending and cross-blending fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos brings out better flavor and aroma.

They Satisfy!

Chesterfield
the cigarette that's MILDER
the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

© 1933, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MAY 26 1933 — NUMBER 59

"March Hares" Will Be Presented In Senior Week

Senior Week Committee Decides to Accept Offer of University Players to Repeat Their Production of Two Weeks Ago, With Same Cast, Coach, and Prices

Hares," the college Junior . The play will again be under the direc- will be repeated by the same cast of Players on Thursday, June 15, at the City Auditorium at the same prices for the first performance, according to an announcement of the University Players. The play will come as a culmination of Senior Week, which closes Friday, the sixteenth. It is customary at many colleges to repeat the Senior Week performance during Senior Week but this is the first time that the custom has been initiated at Vermont. It is hoped that the repetition of the play at this time will give the old grads, who are in the city for Commencement Week, an opportunity to see the comedy, as well as those who missed seeing it the first time.

The play will again be under the direction of Mr. [illegible]. Tickets will be on sale at Hayes & Carney's, Sines & Perry's, McAuliffe's and the University Book Store at the two prices fifty and seventy-five cents. There is no doubt that Gribble's comedy, which was an unqualified success at the first presentation, will live up to its reputation as a mirth-provoker a second time on the boards.

March Hares' ushers in the final round of college social activities of the year and should prove a welcome addition to the Senior Week festivities. No seats are to be held as reserves and tickets will be sold at the door the same as previously.

Juniors To Elect Faculty-Student Council Members

Election of representatives to the Faculty-Student Council from the College of Arts and Sciences and the College of Engineering is being held today, Friday, May 26, until 4.00 p.m. in the corridor of the Old Mill. Petitions were submitted on behalf of Frederick E. Wegner and Donald C. Worcester to run against Walter M. Adams, Jr., and Arthur A. Ross, respectively, the original nominees.

Voting will be confined in each case to the students in the college to be represented by the candidate. That is, only the engineers may vote for Adams and Wegner and only juniors in the Arts and Science College may vote for Ross and Worcester.

CHESTER B. EATON,
Class President.

THE CANDIDATES

College of Arts and Sciences

ARTHUR A. ROSS—L. S.; St. Albans; Independent; Grey Friars, vice-president; editor 1937 Freshman Handbook; contributing editor, THE CYNIC; athletic editor, 1934 Ariel; co-manager, Junior Week play; dean's list; Boulder Society president.

DONALD C. WORCESTER—S. S.; Watertown, Mass.; Sigma Alpha Epsilon; assistant grind editor, 1934 Ariel; Interfraternity Council.

College of Engineering

WALTER M. ADAMS, JR.—C. E.; Burlington; Kappa Sigma; V Club; varsity football team; assistant manager, baseball team; dean's list.

FREDERICK E. WEGNER—C. E.; Plainville, Conn.; Sigma Alpha Epsilon; varsity football team; V Club; dean's list.

Other Nominees Assume Offices

The other nominees of the class presidents were unopposed and have assumed the various offices for the coming year. They are. For Faculty-Student Council: J. I. Miller, College of Agriculture; Miss E. Harris and Claribel R. Morrison representatives. For Student Council: John L. Beckley, William W. Thomas G. Cogswell, William Joseph J. Delfausse, Charles J. and Donald J. Tobin. Chester B. class president, is a member of Student Senate and Catherine president of Student Union, ex-officio member of Faculty Council.

INTERFRATERNITY GROUP CHOOSES NEW OFFICERS FOR ENSUING SEMESTER

New officers of the Interfraternity were chosen as follows, at a meeting held Wednesday, May 24: President, W. Brislin '34, A T O; vice-president, Preston C. Cummings '34, Lambda Iota; secretary, Leon N. Hill, Kappa Delta.

The graduating officers are: President, Fraser B. Drew, Lambda Iota; secretary, I. F. Reed, Delta Pi; G. M. MacKenzie, S A E. The purpose of the Interfraternity is to "Regulate interfraternity rushing, especially in regard to the rushing season."

DOROTHY GROVER WINS TENNIS TOURNAMENT IN WOMEN'S SPRING RALLY

Sophomore Team Gains All-Sports Cup—Winners in Ping-Pong, Archery, Horseshoe Tournaments Announced

Dorothy Grover '35 defeated Alice McConnell '34 in the finals of the women's tennis tournament and thus retained the cup which she won last year by defeating Barbara Russell '35. This tennis match was a feature of the women's spring rally held Wednesday, May 24, to bring the spring sports season to a close.

The sophomore team, headed by Helen Mount '35, defeated the freshmen, captained by Ruth Barron '36, and thus gained the necessary points to win the all-sports cup, awarded each spring to the class which has collected the largest number of points during the year in interclass competition.

Jean Lowell '36, representing the professionals, defeated Hester Martin '36, an amateur, at ping-pong by the score of 6-3, 6-2, and won an individual cup given this year for the first time.

Elizabeth Johnson '36 also won an individual cup for being high scorer in the archery tournament. She scored a total of 54 points.

Florence Brown '36, representing Redstone won the ribbon for the horseshoe tournament by defeating Winona Oatley '35, representing Robinson Hall.

A box supper was served on the lawn of Redstone during the archery and ping-pong tournaments. After the supper Daisy Putnam '34, W. A. A. president, announced the awards.

Other Awards Presented

The old English "V" was given to Lenda Walker '33, Ethelda Miller '33, Alice Lucia '33 and Marion Fox '33. This is the highest award a senior girl can obtain.

Blazers were awarded to Leah Gower '33, Mary Lobdell '33, Georgia Kinnis '34, Edith Rogers '34 and Daisy Putnam '34.

The U. V. M. golfing cup was given to Leah Gower '33, Mary Eaton '33, Elizabeth Beckwith '35, Helen McGee '34, Grace Stebbins '35 and Sarah Myers '35.

Numerals were awarded to Frances Bear '34, Eugenia Powers '34, Marion

(Continued on page 2)

PI GAMMA MU HOLDS BANQUET, ELECTION

The Pi Gamma Mu banquet was held Wednesday night at the [illegible]. New officers elected were: President, C. P. Fuess; vice-president, W. [illegible]; secretary, Miss [illegible]; treasurer, J. M. Monte; [illegible]. Miss Mary Scutaker '34 of Burlington was elected secretary. Jenny Scutaker '34 of Burlington was elected treasurer. Prof. P. D. Evans was the principal speaker.

Prof. Evans' subject was "[illegible] study. He also [illegible] of the Early Nineteenth Century." The members were welcomed by [illegible]

Black Decrees Memorial Day Parade Order

Will Form at 8 O'clock Next Tuesday Morning—Battalion Parade Afterward

Black to the CYSTC announces the order of march for the Memorial Day parade [illegible] be formed promptly at 9:00 a.m. at the intersection on Main Street and South Winooski Avenue. It will be divided into six divisions, with Lieut. Allen Fletcher as marshal.

The [illegible] group, will form on South Winooski [illegible] at the corner of Main Street, near the Strong Theatre, facing north at 8:45 a.m. The R. O. T. C. band and the R. O. T. C. battalion will com[illegible]

[illegible] to Pearl east on Pearl [illegible] to Winooski Avenue, north [illegible] Avenue to South Union Street, west [illegible] to Elmwood Avenue, north [illegible] Cemetery. After the services at the cemetery, the organizations will reform on Elmwood Avenue, facing south, and [illegible] to City Hall.

The R. O. T. C. band will [illegible] the column at the corner of Main Street and Winooski Avenue, preceding the band [illegible] of the University. There the band and battalion will form for a Battalion parade, at which time R. O. T. C. military training certificates will be awarded to members of the [illegible].

The uniform to be worn will be the same as for Federal inspection and after the dismissal of the band and battalion all equipment will be turned in, the usual [illegible] amounts due students for [illegible] matters, will be made.

First call will be at 8:00 a.m. and assembly will be at 8:15 a.m.

The six divisions of the parade will include:

1. Sergeant Field Artillery Band, [illegible] Troops from Fort Ethan Allen.
2. Burlington Band, Company K, 172nd Infantry, Grand Army [illegible] Spanish War Veterans.
3. Burlington High School Band, [illegible] War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars.
4. American Legion Bugle and Drum Corps, Burlington Post, No. 2, the American Legion, Ex-service Men.
5. Cathedral High School Band, Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts, school children.
6. R. O. T. C. Band, R. O. T. C. battalion of the University of Vermont.

REVISION OF WARNING REGULATIONS MADE

Dean Swift Announces Improvement in Old Rules, Which Has Been Adopted by Arts and Sciences

[illegible] proved by the deans of the other col[illegible] discretion in placing students under warning and removing them.

(Continued on page 2)

MORTAR BOARD WILL HOLD INITIATION TODAY

[illegible] will be four speakers. Miss Marion Patterson, dean of women, Elizabeth Eckhard '33, on behalf of the grads going members, Catherine Durick '34 for the new members, and Mrs. Florence [illegible] of the alumnae.

SENIORS, FRESHMEN NOMINATE OFFICERS FOR ELECTION TODAY

Burke and Colburn Senior Selections for Permanent Class President Nomination

Freshmen Nominate

[illegible] many nominations for next year's [illegible] offices. This was done as a [illegible] Hammond and [illegible]. The treasurer will be D. D. Davis, [illegible] Suitor.

The nominees for the two positions on the Faculty-Student Council are R. F. Martin, H. I. Gray, R. G. Warren, J. J. Jezukawicz, D. D. Davis, and A. S. [illegible].

The election will be held all day Friday in the corridor of the Old Mill.

VALERIO IS NEW HEAD OF KAPPA PHI KAPPA

[illegible] The [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE VERMONT CYNIC

[illegible] Vermont and [illegible] Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

[illegible] Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] Business Manager
[illegible] Managing Editor
[illegible] Sports Editor
[illegible] Recording Editor
[illegible] Business Manager
[illegible] Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

[illegible] Howard Allaben '35 [illegible] Wright '35 James White '35 Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

[illegible] Mabel Greenberg '34

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

COLUMNIST

[illegible] Newman '34

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Foss '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

[illegible] Edna Leach '35

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge ... STUART WRIGHT

Issued on [illegible]. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year; single copy five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at The Vermont Cynic Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 1 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section [illegible] P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 24 [illegible].

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. XL May 29 1934 No. 59

GOOD WORK, FROSH

We heartily endorse the actions of the present freshman class in its endeavor to steer its way clear from any hard feeling or spite, which was naturally the result of its first "election." Today, the class will elect officers and leaders for next year, and will wipe out any peculiarity or irregularity connected with the primary meeting held.

It is our belief that whether or not the same officers who were named a week ago today, are voted into office, the entire class will be satisfied. It may be said that it is a usual habit for sophomore classes to hold elections which fairly reek with politics, and along the same line, it may also be mentioned that anything is bound to happen in these elections.

As part of a constructive move, the Boulder Society is in the process of modeling a class constitution, which, it is intended, will be presented to all incoming classes, to be or not to be ratified. This constitution will contain approved methods of all elections, including class, student senate, Prom, Junior Week and Senior Week elections.

In the past, it has been the custom either to follow the example of preceding classes, or adopt some new system of election, which suit the means of the powers that be. During the past year, the tendency has been decidedly against open class meeting, and more for the secret, signed check list type of vote. Now that the evils of the open meeting have been cleared away, the next step is for a fair and open system of publicizing an election.

In this latter feature, the freshman class is to be congratulated in that today's election has been before the eyes of every member of the class for a week.

A MODERN NEMESIS

Outlined against a dark horizon, like a horrible specter of some shadowy world not our own, looms that bugbear of every college student, examinations. Despite the pleasant weather which has been gracing our campus during the past week, all thoughtful college students are foregoing their various diversions and are kneeling before the sacred order of the lamp and midnight oil.

No one is anticipating with any particular enjoyment the several three-hour stretches which will be in store for him during the coming finals. The thought of sweating, straining every brain nerve, and hurriedly writing on some piece of paper does not naturally appeal to any normal collegiate person. Perhaps the thought of some friend, in an extremely cool swimming hole, or in the shade of some spreading elm, will serve to further antagonize the brain-tortured pupil.

No one will enjoy listening to the sharp clicking of leather heels on the wooden gymnasium floor, when he or she is in the midst of some difficult proof or arduous problem. True, it is to be expected that certain persons are bound to direct to the three-hour stretch on the wooden seats but others will welcome the hard chairs as a means of keeping their brain alert and their body on the job. There will be those fellows who hunger for a cigarette at the half point of the exam period, and may be seen fondly sucking the end of one during the latter portion of the test.

We do not at this time feel qualified to advance any theories on the best and most practical methods of taking an examination, nor do we attempt to make any suggestions concerning the means of studying for an examination. In this respect let each and every one follow his own method. One thing we can do if it will aid anyone, and that is this. The Cynic staff extends to all its student readers its most sincere and heartfelt wishes for the best of luck. It might also be said that certain members of the staff desire the same thing during the next two weeks.

The next issue of the Cynic will be the annual Commencement number, which will be sent to all students and faculty members of the University by the business board.

Review of "The Winnowings"

[illegible] Medical [illegible] Kennedy [illegible] Medical [illegible] Medical [illegible] Medical

SPORTS NEWS

VARSITY TRACK TEAM PARTICIPATES IN STATE MEET AT NORTHFIELD

Tomorrow's Arena at Sabine Field Finds Panthers, Horsemen and Cats Present

MIDDLEBURY FAVORED TO REPEAT ITS VICTORY

Last Year's Titleholders Have Enviable Season's Record to Date

The seventh annual Green Mountain conference track meet, the big event of the Vermont track season, will be held next Saturday at Sabine Field, Northfield.

Middlebury, who has not lost the meet since the conference was organized, is again favored to win, although it is expected that the meet will be closer this year than ever before. Middlebury is the undefeated to date, winning over Williams and Montreal A. A. A. by large margins, taking the eastern meet at Worcester and nosing out Union 57 to 58. Norwich has won over B. U. by one point, lost to Connecticut Aggies by a large score, and taken third in the eastern.

Norwich has a rather poorly balanced team, exceptionally strong in the weights, and poor in all track events save the sprint. Middlebury has a strong, well-balanced aggregation, especially in the longer runs and all track events; while Vermont is weak in the weight events and good in the runs and sprints.

With Ken Smith in the running, which is still a matter of conjecture, Vermont could take second by a slight margin. In any case, the score will be close; Middlebury ought not to get over 70 points.

Several triangular meet records are expected to fall before the onslaught of the Green Mountain track warriors.

If Ken Smith is able to compete, he may well crack the century record of 10.2, set by Smith of Middlebury in 1926, and tied by Brown in 1932.

The 220 mark is going to be harder to beat, being 22.1, set by the same Smith in 1929, but Ken may break it.

Joe Delfausse is going to give the quarter-mile record a run for its money, set by Cook of Middlebury in 1923 and tied by Fallon (M) in 1932 at 52.4, Joe will have to open right up to smash it.

The half-mile record is safe from interference, being the oldest one of the lot, set at 2 01.2 by John Bixby Shepard (V) in 1921. Coach Archie Post's mile record will also stand in all probability.

Sears of Middlebury may break the two-mile mark of 10:04.6 set by Dalton (N) in 1929 if he has a good day, having done the route in less than that time this season.

McLean, defending hurdle champion, will probably win both events, but his own records of 15.8 and 25.6 will probably not be bettered.

The broad jump record is also fairly safe, although Cody (M) may approach it closely. Ed Meehan's (V) pole vault record will not be broken in all probability.

Bob McGuire of Norwich is practically certain of breaking the discus record, 126 ft. 6 in., set by Flanders (N) in 1922. McGuire has done over 130 feet this season.

McGuire also will give Peep Park's

(Continued on page 4)

A WEEK IN SPORTS

Baseball

[illegible]

Track

May 27—Green Mountain conference at Northfield

Tennis

May 26—[illegible] at Schenectady
May 27—Rensselaer at Troy.

NETMEN TO ENCOUNTER SOME WORTHY FOEMEN ON NEW YORK INVASION

Union, This Afternoon, and R. P. I. Tomorrow Have Powerful Squads Ready for Vermont

Facing the only foemen worthy of their steel during a long and victorious season on the courts, the University of Vermont racket wielders trek down to New York this week-end to engage Union and R. P. I. in the final matches of the year.

The Catamounts, with Capt. Hugo Wilson, Norman Myers, Les Woodward and Bernie Mulcahy carrying the burden, have swung through an eight-match schedule intact, winning the Green Mountain Conference championship for the second year and emblazoning the skill of their rackets on three Massachusetts teams, hitherto unconquerable.

The Garnet of Union, likewise triumphant, has recorded a smashing decision over Middlebury and holds verdicts over a number of surrounding schools while the Engineers of R. P. I. are reported of less sterner stuff.

Ex-capt. Les Woodward concludes his long tennis career against the New Yorkers while the remainder of the quartet have another active year ahead.

PLATTSBURG NORMAL GROUP VISITS CAMPUS

A group of about thirty teachers and students from Plattsburg Normal School visited the campus of the University of Vermont last Saturday, where they made a tour of the museum and the greenhouses and other points of interest. They also attended several classes and were present at some of the judging being done by Vermont high school boys in the interscholastic dairy and poultry judging contest.

After leaving the University at noon they went south, inspecting several rural schools on their way to the Champlain Bridge. The Vermont standard and superior rural schools are regarded as models of their kind, and this is the second year a representation from the Plattsburg Normal School has visited the schools of Vermont on a field trip.

Catamounts Win From St. Lawrence, Lose To Clarkson On Second New York Invasion; Will Encounter Norwich This Afternoon

Beckley Pitches Vermont to Win Over St. Lawrence 5-1, While Rohrer Shades Swartz 3-2 in Eleven Inning Masterpiece at Potsdam—Tufts and Dartmouth to Provide Stern Opposition During Next Week

LAST GRUELING STRETCH A TOUGH ONE FOR NINE

[illegible]

Norwich This Afternoon

The race is still very much open as we go into the last week and a victory over Norwich will add further luster to Vermont chances. Coach Larry Gardner, mindful of his 16 to 1 victory over the Maroon a fortnight ago plans to start Johnny Beckley against the Cadet.

Tufts succumbed to the brilliant pitching of Jug Handle Ed Layden and a smashing triple by Dutch McKay at Medford for a 2 to 1 decision and will furnish considerable competition. Felix Andruskawicz (Andy to you) will be on the mound for the Jumbomans and Ed Layden will start in the breech for the Green and Gold.

Some Fun With Dartmouth

Sagas of Vermont victories over Dartmouth come drifting down reminiscently through the years—tales of Rutkowski and strike-outs—of Frankie Pires and his fatal triple—of Charlie Cummings and his tenth inning hero [illegible] emblematic of the perennial rivalry between the two institutions. A year ago the Indians smashed out two wild hitting triumphs to atone for the defeats of previous long Centennial Field afternoons.

Once again with Big Jake Edwards smashing out home runs in the clean-up position and the crack ace, Wade Thompson, throwing a world of stuff from the mound, Dartmouth has flashed meteorically across the eastern baseball sky, hammering out a wide decision over Columbia and then trampling over John Harvard 5 to 2 on Wednesday of the local week.

The floating pennant of Green and Gold never waves more bravely than in this titanic struggle, the race never exhibits more dauntless courage and gladiators and Dartmouth never more returns to the hills of Hanover with a victory.

ADDITIONS ANNOUNCED TO WINNOWINGS STAFF

Dorothy Kennedy '35, next year's editor of the Winnowings, has announced that the exchange editor is to be Dorothy Meader '34. The position of exchange editor is an entirely new one on the Winnowings staff. N. H. Myers '34 has accepted the position of business manager.

KITTENS DONATE GAME TO MONTPELIER SEM. TEAM BY 11-0 SCORE

Sladovich Holds Vermont Batters Well in Check Throughout Contest Giving Two Hits

[illegible] baffled the Seminary batters with his [illegible]

A brief summary of Tuesday's contest.

Mont. Sem.	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	8	11	10	2
Vermont	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	5

Batteries—Sladovich and Kenworthy; Negus, Kirley and Maeck.

TENNIS TEAM WINS 13TH STRAIGHT BY OUTPLAYING MIKEMEN TUESDAY 6-0

Wilson Makes it Seventeen Wins in Row, While Myers Extends His Streak to Ten Victories

Breezing through six matches after the breach of a warm May sound the tennis team took the measure of the U. of M. court team by [illegible] Tuesday. The team rode the good ship on an even keel with the Wisconsin Lake glasses.

Hugo Wilson won his seventeenth straight match, while Norman Myers [illegible] his string made it ten straight wins.

The summary:

[illegible] defeated Rose [illegible] 6-1, 6-4. Myers (V) defeated Bennett 6-2, 6-0. Woodward (V) defeated Hebert 6-3, 6-2. Mulcahy (V) defeated Buckley 6-0, 6-0.

[illegible] Wilson and Myers (V) defeated Rose and Bennett 6-0, 6-2. [illegible] and Mulcahy (V) defeated Hebert and Buckley [illegible]

JOHNNY BECKLEY HOLDS LARRIES WELL IN HAND

[illegible]

Vermont

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
[illegible]	5	1	1	2	2	0
[illegible]	3	0	1	1	0	0
[illegible]	3	0	1	1	0	0
[illegible]	3	0	1	5	0	0
[illegible]	3	0	0	6	2	0
[illegible]	3	1	1	1	4	0
[illegible]	3	1	1	1	2	0
[illegible]	3	1	0	1	0	0
[illegible]	3	1	1	0	3	0
	33	5	9	27	13	0

St. Lawrence

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
LaBach, c.f.	4	0	0	4	0	0
[illegible]	4	0	0	1	5	1
Christie, 1b	3	0	2	11	2	0
Flanagan, 3b	4	1	1	0	3	0
Fasco, s.s.	4	0	1	2	2	0
Augustine, l.f.	4	0	1	1	0	0
Roberge, r.f.	4	0	0	1	1	0
Brown, c.	4	0	1	5	0	0
Furlong, p.	3	0	0	1	4	0
	33	1	6	27	15	1

Two-base hits—Burns, Beckley, Palmer, Flanagan. Three base hit Tate. Sacrifice hits—Beckley, Ramon. Stolen bases—Fasano, Christie. Left on bases—Vermont 8, St. Lawrence 7. Struck out—By Beckley 5, by Furlong 4. First on balls—Off Beckley 1, Furlong 4.

CLARKSON 3—VERMONT 2

[illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

Have you a S-cushion?

Made specially for these outdoor classes and sidelines of tennis matches

A special adjustment for the Old Mill steps and hatchway.

Sold only at the

University Store

for 25c each

SALE OF TUXEDOS

WE ARE CLOSING OUT ABOUT FIFTEEN SLIGHTLY USED TUXEDOS AT $15.00

(Coat—Vest—Trousers)

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
127 Church Street
"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

SUMMER SPORT CLOTHES!

LINEN SUITS $10

FLANNEL SUITS $18.50

FLANNEL SLACKS $3.50

Sport Coats	Linen Caps
Light Sox	Summer Ties
Sweaters	Sport Belts
Panamas	White Shirts

Miles & Perry Co.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1878

SENIORS MAKE PLANS FOR COMMENCEMENT

(Continued from page 1)

PROGRAM

(Eastern Standard Time)

CLASS DAY

ALUMNI DAY

BACCALAUREATE DAY

COMMENCEMENT DAY

STATE CLOTHING MATCH TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Vermont High School Domestic Science Students Will Contest for Costume Prizes value of attractive dress, and teach thrift.

Features of the contest program aside from the exhibition, will be talks by Marion B. Leighton of the agricultural extension Service of the University and Miss Bertha Terrill, head of the home economics department of the University. Luncheon will be served in the high school cafeteria, followed by a style show. There will be a tour of the high school home economics department.

NOTICE

The senior class will hold elections for permanent class officers this afternoon, Friday, May 26, at four o'clock in Room 27, Williams Science Hall.

Business Manager C. J. Libby '34 makes the following announcement concerning the 1934 Ariel: "All students who subscribed to the 1934 Ariel last September or at any time during the college year, by paying a dollar down per copy, will have until Monday, May 29, to pay the remainder of the cost, three and a half dollars. At the present time there is a large demand for copies and we would like very much to satisfy in part this demand by selling any copies uncalled for next week."

A "superb presentation for preturbed people" will be sponsored Friday evening at 7.30 p.m. on a broadcast over Station WCAX by the Grey Friars society.

R. J. WEISSMAN,
President.

CONFERENCE MEET

(Continued from page 3)

has done better than this twice this year on meets.

Lovell, defending javeline champ, may well crack the record set by Sonny ... (V) in 1927 at 177 ft. 11 in. Lovell did 181 ft. at the easterns.

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHOP
182A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES

HAVE YOU "RAIDED"
THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 8.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

GRADUATES ATTENTION!
Let us have your order for PLATE ENGRAVED
OR RELIEFAGRAF
CALLING CARDS
Quality work reasonable prices
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts. Phone 629

CAT'S MEOW

—SPORTS EDITOR—

5-1 and dropping a close one to Clarkson 3-2.

Vermont and P. P. I. are the remaining opponents on the schedule and we hope that neither will stand in the way of a clean slate for the Green and Gold.

The Phi Mu Delts copped the interfraternity baseball title last Wednesday by virtue of a close victory over A T O.

The P M D's won 5-4 after going into the last inning on the short end of a 4-2 score. Sandy Burnell and Pete Lyford presented a strong battery for the winners and much credit for the victory is due to these two.

The prize play of the game was a home run by Curly Williams of the A T O nine after striking out in the third inning. Tell that one to Ripley.

The P M D's had a fine team and their victory is well deserved.

We see in the St. Lawrence paper where the New York Giants are going to play the commencement game against the Larries as a special tribute to Hal Schumacher, a member of their team, who is going to get his degree that morning. Hal pitched two years of collegiate ball and went to the big leagues in 1931. He is probably the first major leaguer to get a degree while pitching with a major league team.

DELAWARE INITIATES FATHER AND SON DAY

"Dad's Day" has been established at the University of Delaware for the first time. Their Student Council has invited the father of every student to visit the campus and buildings, and has mapped out an interesting program starting with a ball game in the afternoon, and ending up with an organ recital and a short talk by the university president.

Fordham University
School of Law
NEW YORK
Case System—Three-Year Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
College Degree or Two Years of College Work with Good Grades Required
Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases
Morning, Early Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

GRADUATION GIFTS
Watches in Reliable Makes for Men and Women
GRUEN
HAMILTON
BULOVA
ELGIN
Prices $18.50 to $75.00
F. J. Preston & Son
INCORPORATED
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church St.

PHI MU DELTS SCORE VICTORY OVER A T O'S IN FRATERNITY FINAL

Last Inning Rally Nets Three Runs and Game for Winners in Baseball Game

Benny Rubino came to bat and slashed out a beautiful double, scoring two runs. Walt Cassagnol then drove out a single, scoring Rubino, and the ball game was on.

Farrell pitching for the Phi Mu Delts, was outstanding, fanning eleven, allowing only four hits and giving only one walk. He received fair support from his teammates, especially from Galvin and Keelan. Keelan made a very hard catch off Lanahan, running into deep center and spearing the ball over his shoulder for the put-out. Benny Rubino, ex-varsity luminary, was a big help to the Phi Mu Delts, getting two hits and driving the tying runs across the plate in the ninth.

Lanahan pitched fair ball for the A T O's, striking out six, but was inclined to be a bit wild. Mahoney led the hitting with two hits.

SENIORS IN R. O. T. C. RECEIVE APPOINTMENTS

Official appointments are now being received in the R. O. T. C. unit at the University of Vermont by those seniors who are going on in military service. The appointments will become effective upon acceptance by the seniors at graduation in June. Among the appointments received to date are the following:

Charles C. Grant, Stamford, Conn., has been appointed as second lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve Corps, 418th Infantry. Thirteen men have been assigned as second lieutenants in the 388th Infantry, Officers' Reserve Corps. They are: L. L. Bowers, Burlington; R. I. Brooks, Newfane; M. Ciardelli, Barre; R. F. Colburn, Burlington; H. M. Loudon, Burlington; R. C. Macomber, Fairfax; L. M. Preedom, Wallingford; N. H. Press, St. Albans; L. E. Reed, Wolcott; W. E. Shele, Bellows Falls; H. J. Sheldon, Fair Haven; C. W. Utley, Rutland; L. L. Woodward, Richford.

CATS WIN ONE, LOSE ONE DURING NEW YORK TR

(Continued from page 1)

the third frame the ... Garrett and Reed ... Palmer ... Garrett ... Reed ... Palmer ... Garrett ... Reed ... Palmer ... Garrett ...

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 51 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, MONDAY, JUNE 19, 1933 NUMBER 66

UNIVERSITY CONFERS 245 DEGREES; MANTON COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

DIPLOMAS GIVEN TO 182 SENIORS; 38 M.D. DEGREES

Five Graduate Magna Cum Laude, Five Medics and Nine Others Cum Laude

6 HONORARY, 19 ADVANCED DEGREES CONFERRED

The 129th Commencement of the University of Vermont on June 19, 1933, saw Constance Bishop, Sylvia Adelaide Fraser Bragg Drew, Dorothy Jackman, and Lester Lee Woodward graduated magna cum laude, and five graduated cum laude; five received special honors in individual subjects. Among the graduates this year, 182 were candidates for the baccalaureate degree, ten became Masters of Arts; eight Masters of Science; forty-eight Doctors of Medicine; one received a diploma for the completion of the two-year teacher training course, and one was made mechanical engineer. The University, moreover, conferred six honorary degrees. A number of individual prizes were awarded, and commissions in the Reserve Officers' Corps were announced.

Seniors graduating cum laude were Adam Rauland Carter, Russell Colburn, Elizabeth Eckhard, Milton Hastings, Grace Ellen Johnson, Elizabeth Ann Page, Walter Edwin Searle, Isobel Torrens, and Edward Rhys Williams.

From the medical college also five graduated cum laude. Lois Ellene Hall, B.S., was the one woman in the class who graduated cum laude. The others were Albert James Crandall, M.S.; Paul Charles Thomas Bacon, M.S.; William Peter Mavraides; and Samuel F. Mascola, Jr.

The list of graduates follows:

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Bachelors of Science in agriculture: Colin Buchanan, Derby; Henry Pierce Farmer, Sherman Station, Me.; James Osgood Hoag, Grand Isle; Lynwood Earl Hoyt, Jeffersonville; Frank Herbert Lyford, Chelsea; Harmon Jaksheldon, Fair Haven; Robert Marlowe, Milton; Cola Delmore Watson, Newport Center.

Bachelors of Science in home economics: Elizabeth Jane Aiken, Benson; Ardilla Bigelow, Bellows Falls; Constance Bishop, magna cum laude, Cornwall; Helen Melissa Crandall, Bennington; Hazel Flora Daniels, Brattleboro; *Vivian Ethelyn Hubbard, Middletown Springs; Laura Alice Johnson, Wallingford; Esther Catherine Orr, Burlington; Priscilla Ruth Perry,

(Continued on page 10)

ARTHUR E. POPE WILL BE NEW U. V. M. TRUSTEE

Succeeds Dr. Peer Prescott Johnson—Term is for Four Years

Arthur Edward Pope of Boston, whose election by the alumni was announced this morning, assuring his election as trustee of the University of Vermont by the Board of Trustees, succeeds Dr. Peer Prescott Johnson of Beverly, Mass., whose term expires. The term is for six years.

Mr. Pope as trustee is vice-president of the New England Power Association, president of the New England Power Company and vice-president of several other subsidiary production companies.

Mr. Pope was born in this city, August 12, 1883. He received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from the University of Vermont in 1904 and an honorary E.E. degree in 1931. Following graduation he was with the General Electric Company at Schenectady from 1906 to 1911 he was with Stone & Webster & Company of New York; from 1911 to date with the New England interests, occupying various positions of engineering, operating and execu-

More than 300 graduates, alumni, faculty members, [illegible] in the 129th Commencement procession Monday morning. [illegible] University of Vermont. On the left [illegible] of the procession [illegible] followed by Pres. Guy W. Bailey and Judge Martin [illegible]

ALUMNI HAVE USUAL CEREMONIES SATURDAY; LUNCHEON, REUNIONS

"Mystery Man" Features Luncheon; College, Class, and Fraternity Reunions are Held

Alumni Day ceremonies were as numerous as usual. The annual alumni luncheon took place in the gymnasium annex Saturday noon with the special features of "Mystery Man" and competitive costumes. The Varsity-Alumni game followed immediately, the traditional parade being omitted this year from the program. During the evening three colleges, medicine, engineering and agriculture, held reunion dinners; reuning classes dined; sororities had luncheons and fraternities had chapter house reunions.

Alumni activities on Sunday included a boat ride on the S.S. Chateaugay and a band concert and sing in the evening.

The following classes were included among those reuniting under the Dix plan which this year allowed no class graduated since 1917 to hold an official reunion: '16, '13, '08, '98, '97, '96, '95, '93, '79, '78, '77, '76. Each had its own tent on the campus, near the gymnasium, for registration. Maurice Kelly of Montpelier was chairman of the reunion committee.

Alumni Luncheon Saturday Noon

One of the biggest features of the day was the alumni luncheon in the gymnasium annex. At this the much-advertised "mystery man" was presented, and Pres. Guy W. Bailey, Sen. Warren R. Austin, Henry B. Oatley of the Alumni Council and representatives of the thirteen reuning classes spoke.

Following the luncheon, President Bailey welcomed the alumni back to the hill and spoke concerning the progress of the Welcher fund. Senator Austin read a resolution on the death of Darwin P. Kingsley, noted alumnus of the class of '81, lauding his character and achievements and requesting that the memorial be preserved in the records of the Alumni Council and be kept available to the public in the Billings Library.

(Continued on page 5)

SENIOR PROM IS LAST SOCIAL FUNCTION OF YEAR

In a library newly changed in look by the removal of desks and tables, seniors, faculty members, alumni, and friends of the University met again to dance to the tunes of Lu Lorenzo's orchestra. The senior prom was the last college social function of the year.

The presidents reception preceded the dance. In the receiving line were Thomas J. Collins, Jr., Junior Leader; Fraser B. Drew, Eleanor Sawin, Pres. Guy W. Bailey and Mrs. Bailey, Dean J. N. Jenne, Prof. Frederick Tupper and Mrs. Tupper, Dean George F. Lockhard and Mrs. Lockhard, Dean Marion Patterson, Dean Hiram Swett and Mrs. Swett.

Special Honors, Prizes Awarded

Five Take Honors in English, Physics, Psychology, and Zoology

THREE WIN PRIZES FOR EXCELLENCY IN MEDICINE

McCullough Cup Goes to Class of '98 With 17.2 Percent of Class Registered

At graduation on June 19 [illegible] special honors, prize [illegible] were announced. Honors [illegible] were awarded [illegible] in the various subjects.

Special prizes were won by:

Gladys M. [illegible] on English with a thesis entitled "A Study of Irony in American Poetry."

Marshall F. McKinney, English, was a thesis on Realism in Modern Drama.

L. F. Woodward, whose thesis [illegible] Experiments [illegible] was [illegible] on physics.

Norman E. Gardner, with a thesis on the psychology department, etc. "The

(Continued on page 10)

COLLINS, TAFT MOST POPULAR, SAY SENIORS

Results of Senior Questionnaire Similar to Those of Junior Poll Taken Last Year

As a result of a vote taken recently by the members of the senior class a new list of [illegible] has come to light. The announcement on the results gave complete [illegible] similar to the junior poll [illegible] last year, but a few new names appear on the list which follows:

Most popular
Men—Collins, Wood, Farwell
Women—Taft, Odell, Pope

Most all-around
Men—Collins, Pope, Taft
Women—Armstrong, Taft, Reed

Handsome and pretty
Men—Buchan, Burke, Farwell
Women—Reed, Taft, Parry

Most likely to succeed
Men—Dean, Woodward, Buchanan
Women—Boyd, Jackman, Kiel

Best dancing
Men—Collins, Molyneaux, Ludden
Women—Odell, Taft, Reed

Best dressed
Men—Molyneaux, Pope, C. Brown
Women—Odell, Reed, Sherman

Most pep
Men—Taylor, Pope, Dean
Women—Odell, Crane, Gosser

(Continued on page 10)

CHAPEL AND GYM CAGE PROVIDE SHELTER FOR CLASS DAY AUDIENCE

Keynote of Thought in Speeches Is Experiences of Job-seeking Graduates

BOULDER MEN HAVE REUNION BREAKFAST

THRONG ATTENDS GRADUATION TO HEAR MANTON

Speaker Enumerates Signposts on Life's Road to Help Men Meet Challenges of Day

PRES. GUY W. BAILEY MAKES INTRODUCTION

15 PHI BETA KAPPAS GRADUATE THIS YEAR

Seven Students Initiated in December, Eight More in June

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

CHARLES J. LIBBY '34 ..... Editor-in-Chief
ANNETTA COHEN '34 ..... Women's Editor
[illegible] '34 ..... Managing Editor
WILLIAM BRISLIN '34 ..... Sports Editor
[illegible] '34 ..... Recording Editor
GEORGE P. BURROWS, II '34 ..... Business Manager
[illegible] '34 ..... Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

[illegible] Kennedy '35 — [illegible] '35
Howard Abbott '35 — Dustin White '35
Stuart Wright '35 — Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

[illegible]
Milton Greenburg '34

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

Marshall Patch '35

COLUMNIST

[illegible] Weissman '34

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

[illegible] Morrissey '36 — Pauline Costello '36
[illegible] Lawson '36 — Elizabeth Haig '36
[illegible] Greenacre '36 — Jane Hammer '36
[illegible] Hyatt '36 — Alice Everett '36
[illegible] Ives '36 — Frances Rowe '36
[illegible] Keane '36 — William Sabel '36
[illegible] Johnson '36 — Stephen O'Brien '36
Edna Leach '36

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge ..... JANE PARSONS

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year; single copy, two cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head at THE VERMONT CYNIC Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1644.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 51 [illegible] No. 60

Editorials

The Urge to Succeed

[illegible] is the most [illegible] characteristics of the modern [illegible] a college graduate who fails to attain [illegible] to be and to [illegible] dreamed were little more than his years [illegible] be and to [illegible] childhood, another of the [illegible] that will in time the other follow but [illegible]

[illegible] the [illegible] Edison and [illegible] and others of their kind have [illegible] ambition to emulate them and con[illegible] as they did in [illegible] has always allows him, to the world's [illegible] knowledge they can be said to have studied in vain.

[illegible] on the study of [illegible] young medico sees only the [illegible] a [illegible] a wealthy wife on obtaining [illegible] he plans to allow his studies to finish with his graduation, but has not become imbued with the instinct to grope for new [illegible] to conquer, then surely his name will never brighten the University Hall of Fame, for he lacks initiation.

Now is the time to stop yourself at the fountain of ambition. On every side are men with no greater God-given intelligence who have attained a pinnacle in their respective professions through ambition. The urge to succeed has driven them on, their success is our success for we have gained by their work.

Not always does ambition lead one to wealth, position and high rung on the [illegible] of life and mind concerned, but how much greater are the chances with it than without. Not that these are the only recommendations that ambition has to offer, for how much greater is self-satisfaction to ach[illegible] the best [illegible] they in an material modern age these are the world's most prone to lead to the cultivation of what best [illegible] to offer them.

To the Class of 1933

Today You Are Before All Eyes

Today, in the impressive atmosphere of the Commencement exercises, you, the class of 1933, [illegible] the [illegible] platform, walked across its front [illegible] step alongside had made a bow, and, symbolically, you had [illegible] across the threshold of college life into the harsh unprepossessing [illegible] the outside world.

You, without cap and gown most likely rendered you hot and uncomfortable as you sat through the exercises, have undoubtedly pondered concerning the immediate necessities of a bleak future. Unconsciously you are inclined to assuming a pessimistic attitude, but at the same time it is up to you to fully appreciate some of the underlying advantages in graduating at a time like the present rather than before.

You Must Make Start From Bottom

Unlike your contemporary of a decade or less ago, who passed out into the world under more favorable circumstances, you are making your debut [illegible] in what conditions are on a saner and more practical level—we might even say at a very rock bottom. Therefore, instead of stepping forth into a life of comparative ease in finding a job, it is now expedient that you face the cold facts of realism. Your path is stony indeed, and is littered, instead of with roses, with the proverbial thorns. Life does not resolve itself into components of ease and comfort, and in this respect you, of '33, are far luckier than some of those who went before you.

When you do once establish yourself in life, you will have done it solely on your own efforts, and accordingly you will fully appreciate the difficulties you encountered and at the same time be always on your guard, to avoid the same pitfalls and dangers, which may crop up and cause a condition such as has been in progress for nearly a decade.

College Life Will Terminate For Many of You

Another life begins for you who are observing Commencement today. No more may the former college student be able to enjoy the security and irresponsibility of a well-organized college life. The fraternity, the social life, the fellowship and the activities, all of which play an integral part in most academic lives, must be put aside, and a receptive capacity for a new mode of living developed.

Those who spend their days pining for the old style of life and who are determined to retain the college atmosphere by haunting fraternity clubs in the business world, are to be pitied in that they are afraid to face the facts and make the new régime of life worth living. Let it be understood that we are not advocating a complete eradication of the modes and styles of college life, but in the business world you must undergo a complete reinvenation as to mannerisms, thoughts and habits. Your college days should be sighed over and rehashed only as the occasion demands.

College Has Been A Vantage Point During Last Years

Consider if you will just what has been taking place in the world during the years you have spent at the University of Vermont. From the pinnacle of prosperity and a nation gone mad everything has undergone a complete metamorphosis. Perhaps we may say the world has had a drastic cleansing, and like so many cleansings are apt to be, bitter in taste and somewhat stinging. While you have been absorbing the rudiments of an education, you have also from a wonderful vantage point been able to view each event as it occurred and to take time to absorb and carefully analyze the meaning of each move.

Unlike the weary business man in these trying times, you have not been forced to make snap judgments in your affairs, nor has it been necessary for you to hurriedly suit your needs to the pressing affairs of the time. Instead you could calmly reason out each situation and act accordingly, and in this you have gained much power for future exigencies.

Take a Course in University of Hard Knocks

While you may believe that the proper thing to do in times such as these is to obtain further education, until things pick up, such a thought only serves to stall off what will happen eventually. To be sure, if a young man or woman has perfect freedom from financial difficulties and his parents are willing for him to extend his education, then in no manner should we decide the value or feasibility of such a course. Nor should anyone hinder an effort on the part of the graduate student to search for intensified knowledge, if he knows just how and why he wishes to broaden his intellect.

But unfortunately many graduates return to college for further study, believing that after they have taken this advanced training, conditions will have been ameliorated. How much better would it be if these students took a course in the University of Hard Knocks.

Give Birth to New Type of American Men and Women

It now lies in your power to give birth to a new type of American. It is for you to see and attempt to remedy the staggering effects of, first, the war and, second, the period of prosperity. By no means will anyone be able to completely wipe out the traces of either of these periods, but it is plain that the depression has showed us that the mere element of success can never offset those qualities of steadfastness, faith and courage so typically exemplified by our venerable forefathers.

May you be warned by all which has happened. We cannot throw away those principles our fathers have handed down to us. One of the causes of the recent inflated bubble and its subsequent burst was the present generation's disregard of the doctrines of the past, in favor of the fantastic theories of the present.

Therefore, your first responsibility to the world and to yourselves is to literally effect the transition between college life and the world of affairs not by the mere accepting of a diploma, but becoming men and women. To adjust yourselves to the needs of the present time is the act of a man or woman. There is no doubt that the present crisis is not economic alone, but it is also moral and spiritual. Hence before the mending of the former is accomplished, the moral and spiritual adjustment must be enacted. And if, by your actions, you stabilize a small part of the monstrous mess, you deserve the title of success.

Society Notes

Kappa Alpha Theta

[illegible] alumnæ [illegible] at the Kappa [illegible] Hotel [illegible] at 2:1 [illegible] Pi Beta [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] at the [illegible].

Miss [illegible] from [illegible] of the alumnæ [illegible] and [illegible] Vermont [illegible] as [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] following [illegible] were [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] of [illegible] Miss [illegible] of [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] of [illegible] Miss [illegible] of [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Hubert [illegible] of [illegible] Miss [illegible] Hubert of [illegible] Conn. Mrs. Sara Eno [illegible] of Providence, R. I. Miss [illegible] Waters of Essex Junction; Mrs. Ruth Roberts of Shelburne, and Mrs. Marion Cleveland Conway of New London, Conn.

Delta Delta Delta

There were about forty-five guests present at the Delta Delta Delta June spread, held at the Athens Club house.

Pi Beta Phi

Miss [illegible] Webber of this city was [illegible] at the annual June [illegible] of Vermont Beta of Pi Beta Phi held at the chapter house. Those [illegible] to toasts were Esther [illegible] '34, Marjorie Jenks '35, Alice [illegible] '34, Elizabeth Aiken '35, and Florence Commeyras Arms '29. The toasts were on the general theme of Pi Phi [illegible] with Ruth Sinclair at the [illegible].

The [illegible] engagement was announced of [illegible] Sumner '32 of St Johnsbury and [illegible] W. Webster '33 of Burlington.

The Burlington Alumnæ Club presented Jane Corwin Bird a farewell gift, as she is soon to leave the city for [illegible], N. Y.

Alumnæ present from out of the city included: Emma Bean Peterson, Long Beach, Calif.; Lillian Bean Taylor, Milton; Sylvia Warren, Williston; Caroline Meigs Adams, Great Barrington, Mass.; Katherine Brodie Mitchell, New Haven, Conn.; Anne Sargent Branch, Waterbury, Mass.; Doris and Katherine Skinner, St. Johnsbury; Sylvia Farnham, Randolph; Marion Parker Marvin, Essex Junction; Julia Wright, Williston; Marion Sargent, Richford; Dorothy Hunt, Essex Junction; Myrtle Start Kelley, Flushing, L. I., N. Y.; Alma Tyler Willey, Underhill; Lois Bartlett Horsford, Charlotte.

Mrs. Phillips M. Bell and Marjorie Jenks were in charge of the arrangements for the June spread.

Alpha Chi Omega

With Louise Armstrong in charge, assisted by Ruth Reynolds '34 and Lucy Morgan '29, dinner was served by the active chapter at the alumnæ reunion and June spread.

[illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] Miss [illegible] and [illegible] Miss [illegible] Miss [illegible] Miss

Seniors Give Class Day Speeches Friday

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

by J. W. Harrod of Law

...ver that the word "Individuality" con-...th the American people a good ...ese days. We hear that Ameri... the most individualistic of all ... That started back at the time ... sailing of the Mayflower, when a ... group of people became dissatis... their treatment and came to ... to settle. This reputation of ...ality has come down the line to ...ent time, but there aren't very ... as who show it. Take the case ... at our entering a class for ... time and finding there a pro... whom we've never had. Instead ... out about him through actual ... we've gone to others who have ... classes and we have asked ... Many times we've been given ...rmation wrongly, and it has ... a long time to get things ... out. Sometime after Mon... we finally get jobs, let's do ...fferently. We won't be able to ... on someone else's word about ... of our job; we'll have to find ... ourselves. The sooner we learn ... this, the farther along we'll get. ...et us not follow so much in the ... path, one of the crowd. Those ... do will find the going bad in ... times. It's going to be hard ... find a job, but it's going to ... harder to keep it if we cannot ... and do things for ourselves. Em... have enough applicants from ... to choose that they don't have to ... on people who don't appear ... the quality of leadership so neces... today.

I've heard that the times are picking ... but I haven't heard of many of us ... have jobs. It's a bad outlook, but ... you think of it, it isn't nearly so ... as it might be. Most of us need ... bulls and soon, and it makes us ... pretty uncertain as to the outcome ... we think of all the people walking ... streets looking for work. But think ... ever: this depression hasn't killed ... of us yet, and we may be sure that ... going to. Those of us who pull ... successfully, showing those quali... leadership and nerve which are so ...essary, are going to be a whole lot ... for the experience. We won't ... had anything handed to us on a ... platter. We'll have had to work ... for everything we've gotten, and ... going to have the edge on those ... in former years, have been able to ... back and take things easy. Let's go ... there and scrap as hard as we know ... and make something of ourselves.

I'd like, at this time, to thank the members of our faculties, and hope that we've ... able to get enough out of what ... been drilling into us to make ... proud of us, and to make us proud ... ourselves.

COLLEGE TRADITION

by Eleanor Gates of Richford, Vt.

This is an essay on tradition. College ... tradition. Commencement is a tradi... and so is Class Day. We take part ... exercises because some gradu... class in the dawn of collegiate ... decided that ceremonies in cele... of Commencement were very ap...priate.

I do not know what was said in the ... best class essay. Perhaps some ... Nemo, back when the world was ... rode to school on a dinosaur ... vent to a flow of rhetoric ... mmenced the tradition. Theo... I should have an advantage over ... Nemo because I have years ... of commencement essays after ... pattern. Actually, I have no ...dvantage. For all that can be ... a truly traditional class essay has ... been said. I have two alterna... to follow tradition or not to fol...tradition. So I shall compromise ...ing this essay somewhat tradi... subject matter and not at all ...al in form.

Perhaps we should strike for bed rock ...empt to define tradition. The busi... was not so far wrong when ...ared tradition to an income tax ... a form which one has to follow ... has to follow," because only wise ... fools dare to defy tradition.

BOULDER ORATION

By F. B. Drew of Randolph, Vt.

College life is to a great extent moulded and directed by the traditions of the past and of those who have gone before. As the University of Vermont ranks among America's oldest institutions of learning, so has it accumulated a proportionate wealth of traditions.

Upon entering the University of Vermont the student is at once impressed by the dignity and importance of the traditions that cling to the memories of earlier years. The Old Mill bell, the Kake Walk and Founder's Day are all bound up with Vermont history, each in its particular tradition. In accordance with these hazy dictates of other generations the bell in the lofty tower of the Old Mill year after year clangs out its summary announcement of another victory won. From the modest beginning of a minstrel show our Kake Walk has grown to the proportions of an elaborate mid-winter carnival. Founder's Day is celebrated every year on May 6th, first to pay well deserved tribute to the memory of Ira Allen. At the allotted time succeeding classes faithfully observe these customs, to shatter a tradition entrusted to our care would be a most grievous offense.

Most striking and typical of University traditions is the U. V. M. Boulder. Unlike the antecedents of other landmarks of campus history, the haze of the past has been cleared away and we have definite knowledge of the Boulder's early history and career.

During the construction of the Central Vermont Railroad near White River Junction, in the year 1846, a blast discovered a huge pothole in which were found two boulders. At first these rocks had been lauded masses of granite, but due to the churning effect of gravel and water over a long period of time they had finally assumed the shapes of almost symmetrical spheres.

One of these boulders, the finest specimen, attracted the scientific eye of a Dartmouth teacher who would have claimed the boon for his geological treasures. But Governor Paine of Vermont, then president of the railway anticipated the motive of Professor Hitchcock, and appropriated the larger and better one of the boulders. It was forwarded by double team to Burlington and presented to the Society of Natural History of the University. Kept by that society for many years among its choicest curios, it was finally placed in front of the Old Mill on a flat stone imbedded in the earth.

For a long time the career of the boulder was an extremely peripatetic and obscure one. Propelled by the unseen hands of a precision it temporarily embarked upon several years of peregrination. Ear-

(Continued on page 4)

IVY ORATION

have for our Alma Mater, some symbol of our hopes and aspirations for the

(Continued on page 4)

CAMPUS ORATION

By [illegible] of [illegible], Vt.

Today as guests on the Hill, and as members of Commencement Week, we bring here the memories and associations which we have gathered in the years spent at the University of Vermont. We pay homage to all the traditions of our University, to the worthy men and women who have gone before, to the gargoyles, the halls of ivy, the campus, yes, to the Founder Ira Allen. Upon entering the University of Vermont the student is at once impressed by the dignity and importance of the traditions that cling to the memories of earlier years. The Old Mill bell, the Kake Walk and Founder's Day are all bound up with Vermont history, each in its particular tradition. In accordance with these hazy dictates of other generations the bell in the lofty tower of the Old Mill year after year clangs out its summary announcement of another victory won. From the modest beginning of a minstrel show our Kake Walk has grown to the proportions of an elaborate mid-winter carnival. Founder's Day is celebrated every year on May 6th, first to pay well deserved tribute to the memory of Ira Allen. At the allotted time succeeding classes faithfully observe these customs, to shatter a tradition entrusted to our care would be a most grievous offense.

Most striking and typical of University traditions is the U. V. M. Boulder. Unlike the antecedents of other landmarks of campus history, the haze of the past has been cleared away and we have definite knowledge of the Boulder's early history and career.

During the construction of the Central Vermont Railroad near White River Junction, in the year 1846, a blast discovered a huge pothole in which were found two boulders. At first these rocks had been lauded masses of granite, but due to the churning effect of gravel and water over a long period of time they had finally assumed the shapes of almost symmetrical spheres.

One of these boulders, the finest specimen, attracted the scientific eye of a Dartmouth teacher who would have claimed the boon for his geological treasures. But Governor Paine of Vermont, then president of the railway anticipated the motive of Professor Hitchcock, and appropriated the larger and better one of the boulders. It was forwarded by double team to Burlington and presented to the Society of Natural History of the University. Kept by that society for many years among its choicest curios, it was finally placed in front of the Old Mill on a flat stone imbedded in the earth.

For a long time the career of the boulder was an extremely peripatetic and obscure one. Propelled by the unseen hands of a precision it temporarily embarked upon several years of peregrination. Ear-

(Continued on page 4)

IRA ALLEN - THE OBJECT OF OUR REMEMBRANCE

His choice of this hillside, overlooking Lake Champlain in the west and the splendid dignity of the Green M...

Our thoughts may then begin to wan...

ADDRESS TO GENERAL LAFAYETTE

...devoted his life to another's cause. My...

KNOW THESE HILLS

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1933

ADDRESS TO UNDERGRADUATES

PIPE ORATION

Free Press Cut

A section of the seat throng in front of the speakers' and guests' table at the alumni luncheon Saturday June 17 Dr John H Blodgett '95 of Bellows Falls is facing the microphone

Judge Martin T. Manton Tells the "Signs Along Life's Road" to Guide Graduate to Succe

College Graduate Should Share Knowledge—"Life is a Constant Day of Teaching"

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS—"SIGNS ALONG LIFE'S ROAD"

By Judge Martin T. Manton of New York City

This is your eventful day! It marks the completion of your college life and it comes to you for your accomplishment. We extend our felicitations and good wishes! Then, too, we, in common with your dear parents, look forward to the years you have before you for service and contemplate whether you may best serve your fellowman.

So many have given expression to the correct way of making a start—at the bottom of the ladder—and then with unceasing exertion, mounting the ladder to what the world is pleased to call success. How you will do this, what will be your accomplishments we may only prophesy, but sweet truth forecast. How pleasurable it would be if one could become a guardian angel to record your faith, hope and charity in action! But no one may do that for such as ordained for the celestial ones. But the experiences of mankind have so often been repeated—human nature is much the same—and the rate of man is so truly recorded, that we are able with reasonable certainty to predict what may be expected of you in your career as you shall live it.

What interesting times are ahead of you! Entering life's service now presents more problems of interest than ever before. With the throes of depression resting heavily upon our industrial and economic life, it gives to the graduate of this year real opportunities and to the ambitious for accomplishment, exceedingly good ones. This year for you will mean no handicap in chances. Of course, no one can give you a chance! You make your own desirability.

You enter into your life work in an age not of speculation, but of action. Easy ways of quick transportation and communication have made the human family everywhere closely united. When war came between two great powers, about twenty years ago, it quickly spread and involved nearly all the nations of the world. When speculation grew into troublesome prosperity and luxurious habits were formed as a consequence, it spread to all the nations of the world; when collapse came in financial and industrial enterprises and institutions in 1929 it soon spread to all the nations of every high rank. We should be fully convinced by this time, that no nation can live alone without cooperation and coordination with others.

* * *

The golden age of peace is the iron age of governments. We have long ago learned the relative duties of protection and submission: that in the progress of society, rulers and people perceived, if power in the hands of a few is the means, the benefit of all was the object.

* * *

Have Too Long Attempted Isolation

The nations of Christendom are members of one great family. Such is the intercourse of commerce and science, and the proceedings of every government are observed, discussed and judged throughout the civilized world. When a hostile gun is fired in Europe, its echo is heard in all parts of the United States. Such has been our lesson of the last twenty years. But we have too long attempted isolation from the family of nations. We are paying the cost now in wreckage and ruination of our trade and commerce. No nation was so elevated or strong as not to fall before the universal resentment and treatment of the peoples of the world.

But now a higher and clearer standard of public and political morals has been established at Washington and our heads of government are providing a more virtuous conduct in world affairs. The public sentiment is no longer outraged by our international interest.

In the diffusion of political information, the great instrument of modern times has become frankness of expression. The hope of Woodrow Wilson is about to be realized and the United States is to regain its position of honor and national integrity in world affairs.

* * *

Willingness to Maintain Peace

We have announced to the world a willing participation to maintain the peace of the world and we have sent our representatives to the International Economic Conference and have promised to and are making our effort in London in the spirit of common understanding and cooperation so essential. Our country has entered into the intelligent effort to deal with influences which have prolonged the depression simultaneously in all parts of the world.

* * *

We have shown a willingness to let our trade be guided by our creditor position in the world, a most important and fundamental contribution which we can make to the economic stability of the world. Our policies, which we now pursue, place us in a position to make that contribution. It enables us to reorganize our domestic production so that we shall not need to enter into a daily competition with industrial countries. This will enable the economy of the world to be stabilized as it cannot be stabilized while we, as a creditor, persist in selling more than we buy.

The national authority asserted over our monetary system which has ceased to be international, by reason of going off the gold standard, avoids manipulation, speculative raids and panics. Now we have the promise of the self-government for producers by which, with the assistance of the law, they can bring competitors under collective control.

Reason to Hope for Order

If the people understand and help these policies to become effective, we have good reason to hope for a re-establishment of order in the international world. Any recovery of prices, purchasing power and confidence within the United States will benefit the whole world for we are the largest economic power in the world. Our internal equilibrium, which makes it unnecessary for us to force our exports in bitter trade rivalries, makes it easier for us to cooperate with [illegible] powers in the general plan [illegible] tion.

* * *

Your training and the exte[illegible] your intellectual studies, and y[illegible] tion at this time, with the w[illegible] interesting problems to be [illegible] it possible to align yourselves [illegible] that makes for building proud [illegible] of accomplishment. Knowledge [illegible] and science will march on, as [illegible] and you may help to redeem [illegible] and protect humanity.

The fathers of our countr[illegible] approach rather than the [illegible] oppression. It was not wh[illegible] fered that drove them to [illegible] as the apprehension of wha[illegible] suffer if the plans of the m[illegible] were matured and accomplished [illegible] day is a new call for the [illegible] about to enter service. It [illegible] the reconstruction of the w[illegible] and economic edifice. You [illegible] great number become artists [illegible] mechanics to build. Knowledge [illegible] with time, generally will [illegible] quently with suffering. You [illegible] study the rise and fall of all [illegible] deavor by it. In mankind [illegible] from it lessons of practical [illegible] fore you lay an interesting [illegible] the general history of the [illegible] How admirably you are [illegible] circumstances of this age! Y[illegible] fame in time, if you will [illegible] ample of your competency and [illegible] ice to mankind your master.

I have called your attent[illegible] the future tendency of inter[illegible] operation and co-ordination [illegible] offers to you a prospect [illegible] deavor. Our large industrial [illegible] rations and banking institu[illegible] reached international prop[illegible]

* * *

New Deal for Democrac[illegible]

A new deal for democ[illegible] the making. To you all, [illegible] will assist, are the opportuni[illegible] ward of service and, better [illegible] honors of American patriotism.

* * *

Life is a constant day [illegible] you journey on from now [illegible] must have your creed and [illegible] watch the signposts on the [illegible] justice, to long for the [illegible] the suffering, to assist the [illegible] forego the wrongs and re[illegible] fits, to love the truth, to be [illegible] utter honest words, to love [illegible] wage relentless war against [illegible] all its forms, to love your [illegible] and child or children, to [illegible] home, to love the beauti[illegible] in nature, to continue to [illegible] mind, to be familiar with [illegible] thoughts that genius has [illegible] noble deeds of all the world [illegible] courage and cheerfulness to [illegible] happy, to fill life with the [illegible] generous acts, the warmth [illegible] words; to discard error [illegible] prejudice; to receive new [illegible] gladness; to cultivate hope [illegible] calm beyond the storm, would [illegible] ful Christian creed. But to [illegible] must also be an educator [illegible] on.

The good Lord expects [illegible] of storing her knowledge [illegible] mind, the college graduate [illegible] masterpiece of creation, share [illegible] edge with others. For this [illegible]

(Continued on [illegible])

(Continued on page 6)

Escape From Singular into Plural, Rev. Luccock's Text

Ira Allen Chapel Crowded to Hear Baccalaureate Address on Sunday

SAYS GREAT NEED OF SOCIAL WORLD IS IMAGINATION

Escape from the singular into the plural was the text of the address by Rev. H. E. Luccock at the baccalaureate service on Sunday, June 18, 1933. Ira Allen Chapel was crowded to guests at four o'clock when the and students marched in to the al by Elgar, "Pomp and Cir- ." The invocation was given by Rev. Harvey F. Connor of Hudson N. Y. After the singing of the Charge to Keep I Have," the read the scripture lesson from 22 24-32 and gave a prayer for and love, and the chance for ad- turous, fearless search for the which are that we may follow His ers, as children, but not childishly audience joined in the singing of "My Soul," and President Bailey the Rev. Halford Edward D.D., Litt.D., professor of ics at Yale Divinity School. Doc- Luccock gave a talk on "The Prac- Social Imagination" and conducted closing prayer. The recessional was Allegro, Sixth Sonata," by Wider.

Doctor Luccock Quotes Poem First

Doctor Luccock began his talk by quoting a poem by Carl Sandburg:

"I had a million lives to live a million deaths to die
a million humdrum worlds, to change my name
And have a new house number to go by
And every time I died and started all over again

I couldn't want the same name every time the same old house number always a million lives.
Would you or you
or you?"

"If I had a million lives to live," then he said, "a wish or a prayer, a description of reality. That is the message I want to tell you before you— a message which I can state in two words, 'You have.'

I like to think of life as a passage down a long corridor, with many rooms leading off. We shall try, as we pass down that corridor, to find the key to these rooms, to obtain a feeling of sympathy with those other people, to see how life appears to them. We shall thus escape from a one-cell universe, from the narrowing egotism.

"Life's greatest blunder," he said, "is living just one life. In London a few years ago there died a woman who was reputed to be the best-dressed in Europe. She left behind her a wardrobe of one thousand dresses! But with those dresses was always the same face, the same unseeing eyes, the same deaf ears. What a pity that she should have a thousand dresses and just one life!

"At about the same time also died a man who, as far as any one knew, had just one suit, an old blue one with a red collar. This man's name was William Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army, and though he possessed but one suit, he had a thousand lives."

Thus the greatest thing in life, according to Doctor Luccock, is the change from the singular to the plural, from "I" to "we." It is the attitude of mind wherein duty and pleasure come together. It is escape from our ever-increasing egotism and a method of widening the horizons of individual lives.

Literature also helps us escape from the bounds of our individual reactions. The visitor to London is shown the room where Sir Walter Raleigh escaped from the tower, but the historian knows that he remained within its walls; but in that room Raleigh wrote his "History of the World," and there he escaped into plurality by living in sympathy with the past history.

We are advised, like Sir Walter Raleigh to enter into other's experiences, to creep under another man's skin. During the last fifty years scientific advancements have added fifteen years to our life, the problem now is to add life to our years.

Doctor Luccock continued, "The man who, more than any other got out of the singular into the plural is Jesus Christ. He entirely projected Himself into the conditions of other lives. He taught salvation, but salvation in terms of life experience, not in theological dialectic. He had learned the art of dramatizing a situation and of letting its central character be someone but Himself. So many of us are like the actress who had her picture taken with Niagara Falls as an unpretentious background.

"But Christ had learned to free Himself from preoccupation with His own interests and sufferings, and to sympathize whole-heartedly with other men and women.

other lives, is open to all of us. So many globe-trotters [illegible] with anecdotes of their travels, emphasizing 'what I [illegible]

[illegible] ready to meet all difficulties. Or we [illegible]

[illegible] this perplexing world of 1933 might be [illegible]

[illegible] power of a [illegible]

[illegible] Conference, and the [illegible] might well be called the [illegible] which that conference might be established. Hunger and bankruptcy in the 'easiest chair have made painfully clear that 'we must learn to live as brothers or we cannot live at all.' Jesus' central teaching that humanity is tied together in a living tether, that men rise and fall together, and that men and nations are bound together for better or worse, richer for poorer, in sickness and in health, is not a bit of romantic sentimentalism but clear hard common and political realism.

"The world has a right to ask of this year's college graduates three things as a contribution to its desperate need: (1) a new type of understanding, from the habits to project themselves into the experiences and needs of others, instead of free themselves from the habit of thinking in rubber stamps and traditional slogans, and do their thinking in a free and unfettered manner on the basis of social experience, third, to form a critical minority in America, who will perform the indispensable function of a thoughtful scrutiny of current practices and supply the vision of a social goal which does not frustrate the American dream that has been a sustaining and propelling force through our national history."

Excerpt Sums Up Thoughts

Doctor Luccock [illegible]

"Can we be ready for [illegible]

this perplexing world of 1933 might be [illegible]

[illegible] power of a [illegible]

[illegible] Conference, and the [illegible] might well be called the [illegible] which that conference might be established. Hunger and bankruptcy in the 'easiest chair have made painfully clear that 'we must learn to live as brothers or we cannot live at all.' Jesus' central teaching that humanity is tied together in a living tether, that men rise and fall together, and that men and nations are bound together for better or worse, richer for poorer, in sickness and in health, is not a bit of romantic sentimentalism but clear hard common and political realism.

"The world has a right to ask of this year's college graduates three things as a contribution to its desperate need: (1) a new type of understanding, from the habits to project themselves into the experiences and needs of others, instead of free themselves from the habit of thinking in rubber stamps and traditional slogans, and do their thinking in a free and unfettered manner on the basis of social experience, third, to form a critical minority in America, who will perform the indispensable function of a thoughtful scrutiny of current practices and supply the vision of a social goal which does not frustrate the American dream that has been a sustaining and propelling force through our national history."

37 MEDICAL GRADUATES HAVE APPOINTMENTS TO HOSPITAL INTERNESHIPS

Most are for One Year, Some for Two; All But One in Class Will Start July 1

[illegible] ington, has appointed five new interns [illegible] Timmons, Bridgeport, Conn.; Elizabeth

BOTANICAL AND BIRD CLUBS MEET JOINTLY

Will Have Field Meetings in Lunenburg From Tuesday to Saturday

The Vermont Botanical Club will hold its thirty-eighth field meeting and the Vermont Bird Club its [illegible] meeting at the Heights House, Lunenburg from Tuesday, June 20 to Saturday, June 24, according to [illegible] are needed to [illegible] [illegible] chairman of the [illegible] [illegible] S. H. [illegible] Wells River and Miss Marjorie Lord, Saint Johnsbury.

The clubs plan to explore some of the upland bogs, Baldwin Mountain and the Connecticut River Valley in some of the less known region of Essex County. The committee is planning a series of papers for the evenings and rainy afternoons [illegible] Mr. Rand is the [illegible] Miss Muriel [illegible]

The local committee of the Vermont Botanical Club will be in charge of the [illegible] during the week. [illegible] will [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SPORTS NEWS

ST. LAWRENCE TAKES 9-1 BEATING FROM CATS IN LAST REGULAR GAME

Beckley Does Impressive Hurling for Vermont in Game Friday Afternoon

ST. MICHAEL'S WINS GREEN MT. CONF. TITLE

Vermont Drops 9-2 Decision to Tufts in Poorly-played Game Saturday, May 27

St Michael's Game

Tufts Game

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
• • •
Elias Lyman Coal Company
200 College Street

CATS' FINAL SCORE AGAINST ALUMNI

V

V

Free Press Photo

FRANKIE PIRES scoring the fourth Vermont run in the sixth inning against the alumni at Centennial Field Saturday. Pires contributed a triple and a single.

UNIVERSITY ATHLETES WIN 31, TIE 2 AND DROP 28 IN 1932-33 SEASON

State Titles in Basketball and Tennis; Baseball Runners-up

SEVENTEEN LETTERMEN ARE LOST THIS YEAR THROUGH GRADUATION

Football, Basketball, Baseball, Tennis, and Track Teams Will All Lose Dependable Men

NUMBER GRADUATING IS LESS THAN USUAL

Two Graduates Are Three-letter Athletes, Several Have Won Letters in Two Sports

P. T. DEPT. SPONSORS INTRAMURAL CONTESTS DURING PAST PERIOD

Class, Fraternity, Individual Competitions Held

ALUMNI TRY OUT FOUR PITCHERS ONLY TO BE DOWNED BY VARSI

Grade Find Pitching of Layd Behind Good Support Too Much for Them

TAKES UMPIRE FIVE MIN UTES TO ANNOUNCE SU

Larry Gardner Hits Nice One Ninth in Answer to Pleas o Crowd

U. V. M. Wins From Norwich

(Continued on page 7)

Have you a S-cushion?

Made specially for these outdoor classes and sidelines of tennis matches

A special adjustment for the Old Mill steps and hatchway.

Sold only at the

University Store

for 25c each

You May Be An Honor Student But Can You Pass This Quiz?

Question 1—What should a cleansing cream do for my skin? (The perfect answer: It should mold the tissues; cleanse thoroughly; clear the skin . . . Helena Rubinstein's Pasteurized Face Cream is the super-cleanser to use . . 1.00; 2.00)

Question 2—What shall I do for blemishes? (The perfect answer: Banish them with Acne Cream, a soothing, medicated Helena Rubinstein preparation that heals pimples, blotches and occasional skin disturbances 1.00; 2.00)

Question 3—What cosmetics shall I use? (The perfect answer: Helena Rubinstein's flattering cosmetics are beneficial, too. The smart, collegiate Red Coral Rouge and Lipstick is especially becoming to blond and medium types; the glowing, but not theatrical Red Geranium is becoming to brunettes. Natural powder for Blondes Rachel for Mediums; Mauresque for Brunettes. From 1.00

W. G. REYNOLDS CO.
Church St.
BURLINGTON, VT.

Track, Tennis, Baseball Captains Elected

TUFTS GAME LOST SATURDAY, MAY 27

(Continued from page 6)

... scored four in the fourth, two ... two in the sixth, and one ... scored in the second when ... singled and was advanced as ... was thrown out at first ... then drove a hard single to ... Cal. In the eighth they ... on successive hits by Carr ... and McKay.

VERMONT	ab	r	h	a	po	e
...	3	0	0	3	3	0
...	4	0	0	0	14	1
...	4	0	1	2	0	1
...	4	0	0	0	1	0
...	4	1	2	3	0	0
...	3	0	0	0	0	0
...	2	0	1	3	1	0
...	1	0	0	1	0	0
...	3	1	1	0	1	1
...	3	0	2	0	7	0
	31	2	7	12	27	3

* ... punch hit for Ramon in ninth.

TUFTS	ab	r	h	a	po	e
..., c ...	5	0	1	1	5	0
... ss ...	5	1	2	5	0	0
..., 1b ...	4	2	3	0	10	0
... 3b ...	4	2	1	2	0	0
...ier, lf ...	3	1	0	0	1	0
... 2b ...	5	0	0	0	4	0
...orth, cf..	5	2	4	0	4	0
...ald, rf..	5	0	0	0	3	0
..., p ...	5	1	1	0	0	0
	41	9	12	8	27	0

P. T. DEPT. SPONSORS INTRAMURAL CONTESTS

(Continued from page 6)

...mes E. Donahue trophy, with ... Wallis, Hardwick, second.

...ntramural wrestling tournament ... out two dozen contenders in ... bouts with the following champ... 115-pound class, J. C. Bellino, ...on; 125-pound class, J. B. Cran... Essex Junction; 135-pound class, ... Keelan, Montgomery; 145-pound ... W. W. Segur, Enfield, Mass.; 158-... class, E. E. Miller, Vernon; ... class, L. M. Paul, Middlebury; ... class, P. R. Caracciolo, Hart...

... H. A. Prentice is head of the ...ent with A. T. Post, H. B. Le... J. H. Burke instructors. The ... all in addition to the athletic ... representing the University in ...giate competition.

15 PHI BETA KAPPAS GRADUATE THIS YEAR

(Continued from page 1)

... Club (1, 2); W. A. A. Council; Y. W. C. A.

... Adelaide Boyd, of Wilmington, ... Alpha Xi Delta; Mortar ... Secretary (4); Eta Sigma Phi ... 3, 4); Class Baseball (2, 3); ... Club (2); Masque and Sandal ... 4), cast of "To Have the Honor," ... Stoops to Conquer," "To the ... Freshman Rules Committee; ... Union Council, Vice-President, ... President (4); Y. W. C. A., Secre... President (3); Glee Club (2); ... Vice-President (3); Pan ... Council (3, 4); Group Players, ... Gabler"; Debating (1, 2); Ariel ... 3); Dean's List; Honor Scholar...

... Bragg Drew, of Randolph, ... Lambda Iota; Boulder; Gold ... Secretary (2); Eta Sigma Phi ... 3, 4), Treasurer (2, 3), Presi... 4); Class Treasurer (3); Rifle ...SYNIC, Editor (3); Kake Walk ... Ariel (3); Assistant Editor, ...an Handbook (1), Editor (2); ...le Lafayette (1, 2, 3, 4), Social ...an (2), President (3); John ... Club (3, 4); I. R. C. (1, 2, 3), ...ernity Council, Conference Dele... 4), President (4); Chairman of ... Hop (2); Chairman of Junior ... Kake Walk, Assistant Direc... Director (4); V. C. A. Cabinet, ... of Publicity (2, 3); Corporal ... Dean's List; Howard Entrance ... Latin; Boulder Oration (4); ... Scholarship.

...beth Eckhard, of Burlington, Clas... Kappa Alpha Theta; Eta Sigma ... Mortar Board, President; Masque ...dal; Cast, "To Have the Honor"; ... Tennis Team (1, 2, 3, 4); Rifle ... (4); Judiciary Committee, Secre... 3); Orchestra (1, 2, 3, 4), Secre... (2, 3); Photographic Editor of ... W. A. A.

...by Cooke Jackman, of East ... G. S.—Sigma Gamma; Foot... Hop Committee; House Committee ...SYNIC Board (2, 3), Women's ... (3); Press Club; Ariel Board, ...graphic Editor; Dean's List (1, 2, ... Honor Scholarship.

Joe Delfausse '34
Rockville Center, L. I., N. Y.

Nate Myers '34
Burlington, Vt.

Captain Beckley '34
Cape May, N. J.

ATHLETICS DISCUSSED BY ALUMNI COUNCIL

May Provide Scholarships for Boys With Athletic Ability and Good Scholastic Standing

...

Vote to Continue Weekly

...

Spring Athletic Elections Held; Track, Tennis Letters Awarded

Delfausse and Myers, Captain Track and Tennis Teams, Respectively

J. J. Delfausse '34 of Rockville Center, L. I., N. Y., who won his letter in three track events this year, has been elected captain of the University of Vermont track team for next year. N. H. Myers '34 of Burlington will captain the tennis team, which this year dropped only one of ten matches and will lose but one man by graduation. J. L. Jezukaiwicz '36 of Gardner, Mass., was elected captain of the freshman track team at the close of the season, in which it captured all five of its meets.

G. H. Patterson, III, '34 of Vergennes has been elected manager of track, with E. E. Carlson '34 of Shrewsbury, Mass., manager of the freshman team and J. H. Twohey '35 of St. Albans assistant manager. E. C. Morse '34 of Worcester, Mass., will manage tennis, with R. D. Sussman '35 of Rutland, D. E. Behrmann '35 of Richmond Hill, N. Y., and H. H. Abbott '35 of West Roxbury, Mass., as assistant managers.

Track letters have been awarded Capt. R. I. Brooks '33, Newfane; J. J. Delfausse '34, Rockville Center, L. I., N. Y.; J. H. Woodruff, Jr., '35, Barre; A. S. Wessels '34, New Britain, Conn.; G. H. Cook '35, Leominster, Mass.; F. O. Walter '34, Burlington; K. B. Smith '35, Southington, Conn.; C. B. Harwood '34, Rupert; C. J. Kilburn, Jr., '34, Collinsville, Conn., manager.

Tennis letters go to Capt. H. C. Wilmot '34, Windsor; N. H. Myers '34, Burlington; Ex-capt. L. J. Woodward '33, Richford; B. J. Mulcahy '34, Barre; N. H. Press '33, St. Albans manager.

Freshman track numerals: Capt. J. J. Jezukaiwicz, Gardner, Mass.; J. L. Caldwell, Lynnfield Center, Mass.; W. H. Cannon, Burlington; M. C. Jones, Montpelier; A. J. Robbins, Roxbury, Mass.; P. M. Andrews, Newtonville, Mass.; H. P. Logue, Port Chester, N. Y.; W. C. Twitchell, Shattsbury; L. M. Paul, Middlebury; A. M. Stern, Burlington; R. I. Martin, Brooklyn, N. Y.

COLUMBIA ANNOUNCES SUMMER SPORTS PLANS

Outstanding event, as usual, will be the Columbia-Cornell football game. Among the events scheduled are Penn-Columbia, Navy at Harvard, and Yale-Harvard crossing the I. C. A. A. A. A. track and field meet from Boston; the National Open Golf Championship at Chicago; and the National Amateur at Garden City; the Wightman Cup tennis matches; the Men's and Mixed Doubles and the Misses and Women's Singles Championships at Forest Hills; the Women's Championships at Essex Fells; the Intercollegiate matches at Ithaca; Penn Relays; and Intercollegiate Rowing at Poughkeepsie.

J. L. Beckley to Captain 1934 Baseball Team—Powell Manager

...

Elizabeth Ann Page, of Hinesburg, Education—Kappa Delta; Baseball (2); Deutsch Verein, Glee Club (4).

Lester Lee Woodward, of Richford, L. S.—Phi Mu Delta; Scabbard and Blade; Tennis (1, 2, 3, 4), Captain (3); Class Basketball (3); Football Hop Committee (2); Junior Prom Committee (3); Y. C. A. Cabinet, Chairman of Church Relations (2); Interfraternity Council (3, 4); Kake Walk Announcer (4); Corporal (2), Sergeant (3), Second Lieutenant (3), Major (4); Dean's List, Howard Entrance Prize (1); Vermont State Candidate, Rhodes Scholarship, Honor Scholarship.

Edwin Rauland Carter, of Groton, U. S.—Phi Gamma Mu.

Russell Fitch Colburn, of Burlington, G. S.—Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Key and Serpent, Boulder, Scabbard and Blade, Track (1, 2), Cross country (2), Captain, Freshman Cross country, Assistant Manager, Basketball (3), Manager, Freshman Basketball (4), Editor, Ariel (3); Glee Club (1, 2, 4); Debating (1, 2, 4); Kingsley Prize Speaking, Lee Prize (1); John Dewey Club (3, 4), Honor Scholarship; Sergeant (3), Captain (4).

Mildred Abbey Hastings, of St. Johnsbury, L. S.—John Dewey Club; Phi Gamma Mu; Dean's List, Honor Scholarship.

James Osgood Howe, of Grand Isle, Agriculture—Alpha Zeta, Corporal (2), Honor Scholarship.

Grace Ellen Johnson, of Swanton, Classical—Pan Hellenic Council (2, 3, 4).

Walter Edward Sisk, of Bellows Falls, M. E.—Alpha Tau Omega, Football Squad, President (4), Corporal (2), Sergeant (3), First Lieutenant (4), Honor Scholarship.

Isobel Lorraine, of Lunenburg, Pa., H. E.—Pi Beta Phi; Omicron Nu; Hockey (1, 2); Home Economics Club; Dean's List.

Edward Everett Williams, of Albany, M. E.—Kappa Sigma, A. S. M. E., President (4); Kake Walk Lighting Committee (3), Corporal (2).

A senior at Wisconsin found he couldn't pass an exam. He passed a $5 bill on the blackboard and wrote: "Let your conscience be your guide." He passed the exam. We'd show that senior a few Arab Sheiks can't be sound that way.—Arab Sheik can't be sound dollars.

I don't bet anything unless my wife keeps control.—John D. Rockefeller.

GRADUATION THRONG LISTENS TO MANTON

(Continued from page 1)

... attempts at social parasitism ... ment they can make to succeed, to ... follow the signposts along life's road. Some of the signposts Judge Manton listed, especially for the women graduates ...

Promptness.
Order. A place for everything and everything in its place. A time for everything and everything on time.
Preparation helping others to prepare also.
Modesty.
Cheerfulness, combining kindness and courtesy and comfort.
Sincerity, a deeper appeal.
Courtesy in small as well as great things.
Thoroughness in work as a positive asset.
Initiative.
Loyalty.
A love of the Master, expressed not in words but in the Apostolic phrase, "Let your conversation be as becometh the gospel of Christ."

Dean Paul B. Brandon, in the absence of the president, presented the candidates for the degrees and they were presented to Dean Hills. Dean Hills conferred the degrees.

President Bailey then announced the honorary degrees and they were presented with their diplomas by President Bailey and invested with their hoods by Prof. H. F. Perkins.

Prof. E. Dupre announced the results of the honor examinations and the Algernon Sidney Sullivan medal was awarded to President Bailey.

The ceremony closed with the singing of Vermont, a benediction by Dean Hills, and the recessional.

Luncheon was served in the dining halls to the graduates and their guests after the ceremonies were over.

Grand marshal, David Mayer, M. D.
Marshal of the trustees, Marion Bell, Rutland.
Marshal of the faculty, Maynard Phelps Channon, Ph. D.
Marshal of the alumni, Charles Ford Lowe, Esq., '07.

ROBE OF INTEREST WORN AT GRADUATION

...

McCUIN WILL BE HEAD OF DEBATING SOCIETY

...

WILBUR LIBRARY TO BE PLACED IN MUSEUM

...

Summer School to Open July 5, Close August 12

Applications Coming in Steadily, Attendance Last Year 916, Says Douglass

[illegible] New England being [illegible]

ALUMNI HAVE USUAL CEREMONIES SATURDAY

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Walter [illegible] the New England [illegible] Middle Atlantic [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

4 CHARTER MEMBERS OF BOTANICAL CLUB LIVING

[illegible] members of the Vermont [illegible] founded in 1895, are living. The club has grown to include [illegible] living in all but two Ver[illegible] twelve states outside of [illegible] two foreign countries [illegible] were just tabulated by Prof [illegible] the University of Vermont. [illegible]ister.

[illegible] charter members are W. W [illegible] the United States Depart[illegible] Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; [illegible] at Newfane, world authority [illegible] M. A. Howe, assistant direc[illegible] New York Botanical Gardens, [illegible]k City; and Prof. L. R. Jones [illegible]versity of Wisconsin, formerly [illegible]versity of Vermont.

[illegible]s Carpenter of Middletown [illegible] president of the club, which [illegible] members distributed among [illegible] Vermont communities in [illegible]unities. Although Essex County, [illegible]d Isle, is not represented, the [illegible] to hold its thirty-eighth annual [illegible]eeting at Lunenburg with the Ver[illegible]d Club June 20-24.

[illegible]stribution of the other forty-[illegible]embers is as follows: New York, [illegible] Massachusetts, twelve; New [illegible]re, four; Missouri, three; Dis[illegible] Columbia, Connecticut, Pennsyl[illegible]d Wisconsin, two each; Colo[illegible]Rhode Island, Maine, South Caro[illegible]anada and South Africa, one each. [illegible]membership list includes T. F. [illegible] Burlington, formerly professor of [illegible] at Middlebury College; Prof [illegible] F. Hazen, Barnard College; Prof [illegible] F. Howe, University of Toronto; Mrs. Margaret H. Moss, teacher of bot[illegible] the University of Witwasserstrand, [illegible]burg, South Africa; Miss Alice [illegible], professor of botany at Welles[illegible]; Miss Emily D. Proctor of Proctor; [illegible]Swanson, director of the Gray Her[illegible] Harvard, and C. A. Weatherby [illegible] Gray Herbarium; Harold G. Rugg, [illegible] librarian at Dartmouth; Miss [illegible] M. Towle, Enosburg Falls, for[illegible]ny teacher; and E. J. Winslow, [illegible] Seminary, Auburndale, Mass., [illegible]rm amateur. Mason S. Stone, [illegible]dar; Prof. Will S. Monroe, Dux[illegible] Profs. G. P. Burns, E. J. Dole, [illegible] Lutman, and G. H. Perkins, and [illegible]ell and W. P. Pierce of the Uni[illegible]y of Vermont.

President Bailey Confers Six Honorary Degrees

(Concluded from page 8)

[illegible] beauty by his poetic feeling [illegible]oramic power.

Mr. Healey, Bennington born and bred [illegible]ained in the law, once associate [illegible] of the Supreme Court of Vermont [illegible] chief counsel of the Federal [illegible] Commission; fair-minded judge [illegible]arless prosecutor; keen and care[illegible] analysis, energetic in action, dis[illegible] each point and pursuing it pains[illegible], an eager seeker of the treas[illegible]dden in books; winning by his [illegible]t body and mind the regard of [illegible]n everywhere.

Mr. Harris, who learned to love na[illegible] the Vermont hills of his boy[illegible]d books at Vermont schools; a [illegible] of this University whose bache[illegible] degree he holds "for sake of [illegible], a graduate of the law school of [illegible] State, and a prominent member [illegible] Chicago bar; a traveler in many [illegible]; initiator of the Rotary movement, [illegible]as cast a girdle of good fellowship [illegible]d the world.

Mr. Manton, graduate of Columbia [illegible] School and practicing attorney in [illegible]ative city; judge of United States [illegible] as a lawyer, distinguished for [illegible]ility to winnow wheat from the [illegible] in the preparation of "classical [illegible] as a judge, esteemed for his [illegible]ness and his readiness to temper [illegible]ss with humanity; as a man, en[illegible]by his love for his church, his [illegible] sympathy with youth, and his [illegible] helpfulness in time of trouble.

EPITAPH

[illegible]s the body of Warren Slade,
[illegible]ed during one of the lectures he [illegible]ade.
[illegible]ed for the chemistry session next [illegible]ay.
[illegible]ed from his bed in sleep where [illegible]e lay.
[illegible]fortunate error cost him his life.
[illegible]ded" and "Ester" were heard by [illegible]note!

By a Sophomore.
—Springfield Student.

[illegible]an was found posted on a pub[illegible] in South Georgia:

NOTIS

[illegible]ers will be persekuted to the [illegible]ent of 2 mongral dogs which [illegible] never been overly soshibil with [illegible] and I dubble barrel shot gun [illegible]n't never loaded with no sorv[illegible] Dam if i ain't tired of this hel[illegible] my property.

[illegible]ans, as they impress me, have [illegible]l of stimulants. They really [illegible] have sedatives, I believe.—John [illegible]

STUDENT SETS CAMPUS RECORD FOR RAINBOWS

[illegible] S. Phillips '33, freshman at the University of Vermont, [illegible] Lake Champlain [illegible] national and [illegible] against most [illegible] fishing. [illegible] the attainment [illegible] English countryside and Western [illegible] many campsites [illegible] Otter Creek [illegible] Lake Champlain [illegible] justice. Sir Izaak [illegible] about baits. Young Phillips [illegible] suitable about [illegible] particular day [illegible] decorated [illegible] protestations that a [illegible] A severe [illegible] Phillips but instead Phillips [illegible] rainbow and set up a new campus record for big game hunting in the waters of the Otter and other streams of the vicinity. He has entered his catch in the Chittenden County Fish and Game Club's big fish contest and it looks as if the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow would be his.

Athletics Discussed by Alumni Council

(Continued from page 7)

debt might underwrite smaller projects, and that council representatives might also approach their classmates on the proposition of either contributing to the Loyalty Fund or subscribing to the Weekly. Thus, it was pointed out would not only increase the subscription list of the Weekly, but would make it possible to secure more advertising on the basis of the increased circulation.

Elections

Harry B. Oatley of New York was re-elected chairman of the Alumni Council for the coming year. Committee chairmen, all re-elected, are: Erastus Hollis E. Gray; publicity, [illegible] commencement, Phillips M. Bell; undergraduate activities, George C. Stanley; all of these being of Burlington.

Four members-at-large to serve for five years, Mrs. Mary Mills Dewett '85 of Shelburne; H. Morton Hill '06 of Boston; Miss Laura J. Parker '17, of Burlington; and Philip I. Ross '05, of New York, were elected.

Four members of the Athletic Council were elected as follows: Royal E. Bingham '09, of Burlington; I. Munn Boardman '22, of Burlington; Louis F. Dow '15, of Burlington; and Lawrence H. Marvin '28.

George W. Alger of New York was elected representative of the class of 1892. Dr. John H. Woodruff was elected the representative of the class of 1905 to succeed Carl H. White, deceased, whose term would have expired in 1937.

The resignation of Roy L. Patrick of Burlington as a member at large was accepted, as he is a member of the Board of Trustees. Levi P. Smith '08 was elected to succeed him.

The following committee was named to judge the class costumes at the alumni luncheon: Arthur Eaton '07, of Boston, Miss Mary Bates '94 and F. M. Thatcher '02.

Hollis E. Gray reported for the finance committee and Prof. Leon W. Dean told of the publicity work done during the year.

Class Day Held in Chapel, Gym Annex

(Continued from page 1)

Armstrong of Belmont toy oration; Priscilla Perry of Springfield class history; F. B. Drew of Randolph Boulder oration; J. E. Bigelow of East Haven address to undergraduates; and V. J. Young of Walden, pipe oration.

Seniors puffed sparingly on traditional Vermont pipes while Young delivered his oration. It is rumored that any difficulty was due to the fact that the pipes were filled with sawdust with a mere frosting of tobacco.

L. F. Reed of Woodstock presided at the afternoon exercises. Following were the Vermont-St. Lawrence baseball game on Centennial Field, fraternity receptions and teas, and finally as the grande finale the president's reception and concert given in the Billings Library.

OUR WEEKLY COLLEGE HUMOR

Chris Craft, former [illegible] American halfback, recently [illegible] meet at Royal Portable [illegible] I have in keeping up in my studies." In examination at West Point showed that in a class of 266 students [illegible] 36th in French, 36th in mathematics, 35th in [illegible] 212th in military tactics and 209th in [illegible]. We hate to imagine what would have happened to Chris at the debut [illegible] Royal Portable Typewriter.

Former Pres. Woodrow Wilson once coached football at Massachusetts Wesleyan. . . . Students at Louisiana State who were voting in the class elections had their fingers dipped in mercurochrome to guard against their voting twice. . . . Editors of the Brown Daily Herald are being held for the county Grand Jury for promoting a campaign against war in their paper.—I. D. 35 in the Fordham Ram.

SENIORS GIVE CLASS DAY SPEECHES, FRIDAY

History of the Class of 1933

[illegible] has been in the [illegible] [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

DIPLOMAS GIVEN TO 182 SENIORS

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

TEACHER TRAINING COURSE

DOCTORS OF MEDICINE

MASTERS OF ARTS

MASTERS OF SCIENCE

MECHANICAL ENGINEER

The degree of mechanical engineer was awarded to Herman Julius Kreppel, U. S. Vermont 1929 for a thesis on "The Design and Operation of Inland Water Dredges"

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY SCIENCE AND TACTICS

First lieutenants Medical Reserve, United States Army: Philip George Baker Burlington; Dwight Joseph Bernstein, Hartford, Conn.; Frederick Stanford Boyd, West Haven, Conn.; Benjamin Franklin Clark, Groton; Albert James Crandall, Essex Junction; James Elmer

HAVE YOU "RAIDED" THE COLLEGE PANTRY?
Open from 6.45 a.m. to 11.00 p.m.
Tables reserved upon request
52 Colchester Ave. Phone 1448

HENRY'S DINER
BANK STREET
We value the patronage of college students and wish to please them with clean, wholesome food at popular prices.
TRY US

Have you thought of making
DENTISTRY YOUR LIFE WORK?
The Harvard University Dental School offers a comprehensive course in this field of health service, which is becoming increasingly important in relation to medicine and public health.
A "Class A" school
Write for catalog
Leroy M. S. Miner, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 42, 188 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

SPECIAL HONORS AND PRIZES ARE AWARD

Effect of Ventilation ... ness of Different K... Claire Antoinette ... with "A Study ... of the Deer Mouse"

Prizes for Individual Mer...

Many prizes also were ... individual merit and ... George H. Walker dairy ... spicuous merit in dairy ... and for character was awarded ... Olin Buchanan and to ... Hoag. The Thomas Bra... memory of Thomas Bra... scholarship, character, and ... 4-H Club work, was won by ... stance Bishop.

Emerson Edgar Whitney ... A. Atwater Kent prize ... trical engineering for ... most development of ... promise of success, while Edg... Williams won the Edmund ... cup for excellence in mechan...

The Benedict essay prize ... the best essay on internat... tion, was won by Russell ...

Sophie Levin was presente... Alliance Française prize, and ... were awarded medals by the ... public for superior standing ... Mary Catherine Petras was ... gold medal, while bronze ... given to Sophie Levin, Esther ... Beardsley, Dorotha Margaret ... and Thelma Mae Appell. ... Boyd won the French exchange ... ship of Grenoble.

Other medals awarded were ... T. Kidder medal, for class ... leadership, won by Lester ... ward, and the Wasson athletic ... memory of Dr. Watson L. W... tor scholarship and athletic ... won by Chester Mace Lar...

Six prizes were given for ... in debate, three prizes for ... three for men. The Edward ... ler prizes were won by Sop... Laura Alice Johnson, and Vir... Goodenough; the Robert ... rence prizes were won by ... ward Bigelow, Realtus Edg... Cuin '34, and William Harold ...

Helen Frances Bellows '35 ... prepared at Richford High ... Newport High School, won ... Flower Smith junior ... Latin.

The McCullough cup, award... alumni class having the ... age of living members ... Commencement, was granted to ... of 1898, who had an enrollment ... percent of the class. Prof. H... lins received the cup in behalf ... class.

In the College of Medicine

The Carbee prize for the ... ficiency in the subject of ... awarded to Albert James ... The Woodbury prizes in ... awarded one to a senior and ... sophomore. Maurice Arthur ... ceived the award for greatest ... in clinical work in the senior ... Hewitt Irving Varney, B.S. ... prize given to the sophomore ... highest standing for two years ... cal work.

At the beginning of the great seasons the South Sea Islanders ... dancing feasts in which the ... fish is imitated.

COLLINS, TAFT MOST POPULAR, SAY SENIORS

(Continued from page 1)

Most loyal
Men—Drew, Woodward, Shele;
Women—Boyd, Jackman, Armstrong.
Best athlete
Men—Latt, Collins, Wood;
Women—Armstrong, Miller, Petras.
Class comedian
Men—Taylor, Pires, Farwell;
Women—Carder, Miller, Daniels.
Class optimist
Men—Barnet, Bigelow, Grant;
Women—Miller, Perry, Templeton.
Class pessimist
Men—Farwell, Drew, Judkins;
Women—Clausen, Carder, Jackman.
Smartest line
Men—Burke, Bigelow, Farwell;
Women—Enel, Odell, Armstrong.
Most sarcastic
Men—Colburn, Janke, Webster;
Women—Odell, Crane, Jackman.
Most sarcastic
Men—Bigelow, Farwell, Collins;
Women—Boyd, Levin, Carder.
Best dancer
Men—Burke, Collins, Janke;
Women—Odell, Leary, Armstrong.
Favorite instructor
I. I. Briggs, Tupper, Aiken.
Favorite coach
Gardner, Post, Blanchard.
Favorite fraternity
Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Nu, Kappa Sigma.
Vermont's greatest need:
A powerful alumni group.

We do not as yet know whether civilization has not been entirely destroyed by that war, but it does not matter, because one of the things that the war proved was that there was very little civilization at all.—George Bernard Shaw

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Fleming Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
Open daily 6.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7.30 a.m. to 10.30 p.m.

SPECIAL
SHAVE HAIRCUT SHAMPOO
MASSAGE $1.00
ANY DAY EXCEPT SATURDAY
JOE'S BARBER SHOP
JOE LANGLOIS, Proprietor
BASEMENT, NEW SHERWOOD

Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.
Sporting Goods for All Sports
Special Prices to Schools, Clubs and Societies
The W. E. Greene Co.
In consolidation with
Patten, Irwin & White

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
Fancy Groceries, Fruits and Vegetables
Home Made Mayonnaise
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

TUFTS COLLEGE DENTAL SCHOOL
Founded 1900
DENTISTRY has developed into an important branch of health service. In order to meet its obligation to humanity, it needs men and women of the highest intellect, trained by superior training.
College men and women who are interested in a career in this field of work may obtain a prospectus of the educational requirements by addressing
HOWARD M. MARJERISON, D.M.D., Dean
Tufts College Dental School
416 Huntington Ave. Boston, Mass.

Fordham University School of Law
NEW YORK
Case System—Three-Year Course
CO-EDUCATIONAL
College Degree or Two Years College Work with Good Grades Required
Transcript of Record Necessary in All Cases
MORNING, EARLY AFTERNOON AND EVENING CLASSES
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
233 Broadway, New York

Vols 52-53

September 19, 1933-

June 28, 1935

The Vermont Cynic

UME 52 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1933 NUMBER 1

ERAL SERVICES HELD N IRA ALLEN CHAPEL FOR DEAN PERKINS

kins Had Been in the Employ the University for Sixty-four Years

V. LADD CONDUCTS SIMPLE CEREMONY

ial Was in Green Mountain emetery on Colchester Ave.

Today at 2.30 the University paid tribute to the late Dean Perkins in a service at the Ira Allen Chapel. The service was held at his residence at 2 o'clock. The Reverend Ladd of the Main Street Congregational Church conducted the service and paid fitting tribute to the man who gave his whole life to the service of the University. Interment was in the Green Mountain Cemetery on Colchester Avenue.

Dean Henry Perkins, dean emeritus of the College of Arts and Sciences, died suddenly about 11.30 o'clock Tuesday night, September 12, at his home, 85 South Prospect Street. He was 86 years of age and had been in failing health for some years, but had continued as a member of the faculty up to the end of last year.

Dean Perkins came to the University sixty years ago, and probably no other professor in the United States has equaled his period of continuous service in one institution.

He was born in Cambridge, Mass., December 25, 1844, the son of the Rev. Brook T. and Harriet (Olmstead) Perkins. Two years he attended Knox College, Galesburg, Ill. He graduated from Yale University in 1867, and received the degree of doctor of philosophy from that institution in 1869. He came to the University of Vermont in the fall of that year, and has been a member of the faculty ever since then.

Dean Perkins first taught "animal and vegetable physiology" or what is now known as zoology and botany. In 1881 he became Howard professor of natural history. He was made dean of the newly created department of natural science in 1898, and in 1907 he became dean of the combined departments of arts and sciences, which position he held a year or so ago when ill health compelled him to give up this work.

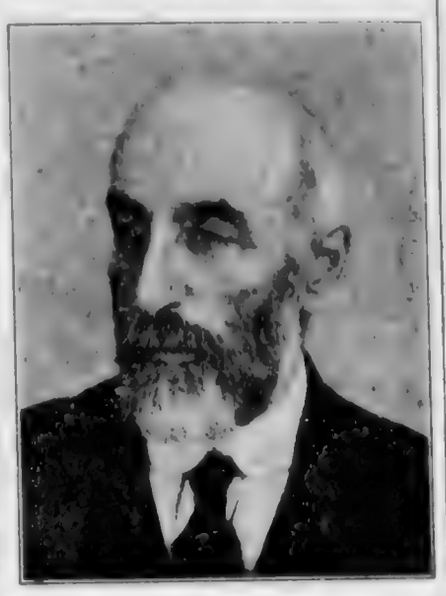
In recent years he has continued to teach his classes in anthropology, the subject going to his home for lectures. Dean Perkins served as curator of the museum for fifty-six years, even after he gave up active control of the department his keen interest in it continued. He laid the corner-stone for the new Fleming Museum in 1931.

He was vice-president of the University for forty-nine years and was acting president from 1917 to 1919 when President Buttrick Benton was in war service. Dean Perkins was State entomologist from 1880 to 1895 and State geologist from 1898 to the time of his death. He made visits to western mining districts to study geology first hand. In 1924 he journeyed to Hawaii to study volcanoes.

(Continued on page 6)

IGMA GAMMA LEADS IN SCHOLASTIC HONORS

ororities Rank Higher Than Fraternities—Tau Epsilon Phi Heads Latter



Sigma Gamma, scholastic honorary for the Greek-letter fraternities of the University of Vermont have been given to the women, with all sorority averages ranking the men's. The highest standing men's group was Tau Epsilon Phi.

The averages, which are based on the scholastic work of the fraternities for the year, give first place to Sigma Phi Beta Phi, second, Alpha Chi Omega, tied with Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Xi Delta, Delta Zeta following in order.

The fifteen men's fraternities, all ranking below the women's, stood as follows: Tau Epsilon Phi, Sigma Delta, Zeta Chi, Phi Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Sigma Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Mu Delta, Sigma Nu, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi, Phi Delta Theta.

Among all of the regular fraternities, those with uniform membership standards, E. E. L., a group of twelve members including both four-year and two-year students.

DEAN PERKINS

V. C. A. HOLDS LARGEST AND MOST SUCCESSFUL FROSH CAMP ON RECORD

Over Fifty Men Attend and Enjoy Talks and Sports at Annual Camp

This year's Freshman Camp came to a close a week ago Monday morning after the largest camp on record, and one of the most successful ever held. About fifty freshmen attended, which surpassed last year's enrollment by five men. The annual camp was held at Abnaki, the State Y. M. C. A. camp on North Hero Island, September 8 to 11, under the direction of W. P. Stetson '34. This college introduction program included talks by faculty and students, sports, entertainment, cabin discussions sponsored by the Vermont Christian Association, and lots of good food. Twenty-five student leaders and professors of the University directed daily schedules and meetings. The frosh arrived Friday afternoon and evening in time for the opening supper, and remained until Monday, when they left for Burlington by bus. Camp Abnaki is made available every year for this purpose through the kindness of the State Y. M. C. A.

Friday evening's program was presided over by Bill Stetson, successful camp director. It included short addresses of welcome from M. D. Powers, general secretary of the Vermont Christian Association, who urged that interest and co-operation be shown in the work of the Association; W. P. Stetson '34, student director of the camp; C. H. Drown '34, chairman of the V. C. A. cabinet, who repeated the invitation to membership. Dean Elijah Swift of the Arts and Sciences College mentioned the sole remaining freshman tradition of wearing hats and urged it be carried out; he stressed the necessity of doing work regularly, and advised the men not to be hasty in joining a fraternity. He also advised the participation by the freshmen in some extra-curricular activity at the University. G. R. Merriam, chairman of Vermont State Y. M. C. A. spoke of the camp rules and regulations, and offered the facilities of camp freely. Wilmer J. Kitchen, Secretary of the New England Student Y. M. C. A. was the chief speaker of the evening, and spoke of the value of a college training in periods of depression, and what the freshmen should expect from such training.

Student leaders of college organizations conducted most of the program on Saturday. J. L. Beckley '34, spoke for the Boulder Society, W. D. White '35 represented Key and Serpent and W. J. Connor '36 spoke on Gold Key Society. C. J.

(Continued on page 3)

W. A. A. PLANS TWO TENNIS TOURNAMENTS

Two tennis tournaments are to be held this fall by the Woman's Athletic Association. The first one will consist of competition between doubles teams selected from each class. The girls are to sign up for the tryouts before Wednesday, September 20. Tryouts will be played off at the end of the week with the tournament date to be announced later.

The co-eds who fail to make a class team and are interested in tournament play may enter an intermediate singles tournament which will follow the same schedule as the doubles tournament. Twink Mount '35 has been placed in charge of this tournament.

BAILEY WELCOMES FRESHMEN

FOUNTAIN FIGHT TONIGHT

FRESHMEN TO ASSEMBLE IN FRONT OF CONVERSE

Sophomores Will Meet at the Fountain to Repulse the Frosh Advance

Tonight that classic of interclass rivalry, the fountain fight, will take place. As in former years the freshmen will meet at Converse Hall about seven o'clock where they will be organized by Boulder men. Later they will form on the front campus and advance on the fountain where, it is hoped, a large number of sophomores will await them.

In all previous history the frosh have won this fight only once and that just last year when the official tabulation by Boulder showed that more sophomores went into the fountain.

The hose fight scheduled for next Thursday is the second of the three "scraps" that alone remain of the original system of hazing at the University.

The third is the cane rush held between the halves of the first home football game.

However, the fountain fight is now in everyone's mind. Boulder is making plans to have the biggest and wettest fight ever. Also Gold Key is going about organizing the sophomores to regain the prestige they lost when the frosh won the fight last year and also to keep the reputation of the class of 1936 as a fighting, scrapping class. Willard Connor '36, president of Gold Key, says he hopes his class will turn out in such numbers as to even keep all frosh out of sight of the fountain unless helped that way.

The fight lasts just seven minutes and is started and stopped by a gun. Boulder men count the number thrown in and announce the decision later. After this fight both classes join hands and parade downtown to snake dance all over the business section. Boulder is furnishing torches for this occasion.

DEAN ECKHARD NAMES 48 ENGINEERS MAKING CREDITABLE AVERAGES

Thirteen Men Obtain Marks of 90 Percent or Better—Last Year's Seniors Numerous

Thirteen men in the Engineering College of the University of Vermont made average grades of 90 percent or above the last semester according to figures released today from the office of the dean. Nineteen attained an average of 85 to 90 percent and 16 an average of 80 to 85 percent.

Of the 13 men to make a 90 percent average or above seven were seniors, three juniors, two sophomores, one freshman. The seniors in the order of their ranking were as follows: F. S. Judkins, East Rygate, W. E. Shele, Bellows Falls; O. O. Sunderland, Highgate Springs; E. E. Williams, Alburg; F. L. Whitney, Burlington; A. W. Baldwin, Bridgeport, Conn.; E. A. Dame, Champlain, N. Y. Judkins, Shele, Sund-

(Continued on page 6)

RULES FOR TONIGHT

1—The Scrap shall be Seven Minutes.
2—Sophomores assemble at fountain, Freshmen at Converse Hall. Frosh march in a body to fountain.
3—At the gun, Frosh charge.
4—There shall be as many Freshmen and Sophomores as come.
5—Rubber Shoes or Moccasins must be worn.
6—Once a man has been thrown in he is out of the fight.
7—A pistol shot will close the fight.
8—The side throwing in the largest number of opponents wins.

PRESIDENT BAILEY

52 FROSH CO-EDS ATTEND ORIENTATION CAMP RUN BY Y. W. C. A. AT S. HERO

Enrollment Exceeds That of Rival Men's Camp at Abnaki for First Time

CAMP DIRECTED BY DAISY PUTNAM '34

When fifty-two freshman women gathered on Friday, September 8, at Camp Hochelaga at South Hero to receive their introduction to college life from the faculty and upperclassmen, they had a brief period of calm before the storm of college opening. The camp, sponsored by Y. W. C. A., was under the direction of Daisy Putnam '34.

Women's freshman camp was introduced four years ago by Billie Mount '33. It has been increasingly successful each year and the number of freshman women attending has more than doubled.

Dean Patterson, Miss Florence Maddock, secretary of the State Y. W. C. A., and Mrs. S. M. Duval of South Hero gave the principal addresses. The heads of the various women's organizations on campus also gave their welcome to the incoming girls.

At the opening assembly Friday night in the Wigwam, Daisy Putnam introduced the girls and Sue France welcomed them on behalf of the Y. W. C. A. She was followed by Dean Patterson, who spoke on "College, an Adventure in Living." She stressed the importance of avoiding fads such as drinking and advised the girls to choose their activities wisely and to remember that everyone cannot be a leader.

Most of Saturday was devoted to discussion periods for which the girls were first divided into groups and later given the benefit of the other groups discussion through the resume of an upperclassman. Miss Maddock was in charge of one group, Mrs. Duval the other. Madeline Ansbacher '35 in reporting on Mrs. Duval's talk, "How Will College Prepare One for What One is Going to do in Life," emphasized the fact that

(Continued on page 6)

FIRST-YEAR MEDICS WILL NUMBER SIXTY

First year students at the College of Medicine at the University of Vermont this fall number sixty, compared with forty-three a year ago. The 60 admitted were chosen from nearly 150 candidates who appeared before the committee on admissions, and an additional fifty or more applied but were not considered because the class had already been filled.

In every case Vermonters and University of Vermont students were given preference so far as they were qualified and nearly three fourths of the class is included in this group. Twelve colleges other than Vermont are represented, most of them by one student. They include Yale, Dartmouth, Colby, Bowdoin, Tufts, Middlebury, Norwich, Alfred, Albright, Adelphi, New York University and Maine.

PRESIDENT ADDRESSES FRESHMEN WEDNESDAY

Tells of Purpose of College and What May Be Gotten From It

"Whither are you going on life's pilgrimage?" was the theme of President Bailey's address to the incoming freshman at chapel service on Wednesday, September 13. Nearly one hundred new students filed into the chapel following the upperclassmen and the faculty with caps and gowns.

After the singing of the hymn "America, the Beautiful," Professor Emeritus Evan Thomas as chaplain of the day, gave the scripture reading and led in prayer. He gave thanks for Dean Perkins' life and offered beautiful tribute to the beloved professor, whose wonderful faith, he said, "has now been transformed into sight."

President Bailey began his talk with a story of pilgrims meeting at the crossroads back in the twelfth or thirteenth century and asking one another, "Whither are you going?" Not only did they seek the direction but also the purpose of the trip, and their question was inspired by real friendly feeling.

We, today, when we ask that question, ask it not only of the individual but also of the nation and of the age in which we are living. For we cannot live unto ourselves, cooperation is necessary for every good citizen. Especially is it needed today, while our government is undertaking an experiment to combat the economic stress in the world. We may not feel that their undertaking offers the most promise of success, but we are confident that their plans are presented with sincerity of purpose and we know it is our part to cooperate.

"There is no more profitable investment for any government," said President Bailey, "than one guaranteeing education. It was in making education not only common to all, but even compulsory to all, that America was founded." While men are spending a thousand years to build a nation which may be destroyed in an hour, others are forwarding education and sponsoring learning, which will long outlive that nation.

The young man, on his pilgrimage through life, comes to a crossroad. There is no signpost, perhaps because of neglect, perhaps because the region is so well populated that a guide seemed unnecessary. Only those who have gone before can help point out the way to the young, they can tell where each of the roads goes, and the traveler must then choose for himself the road which pleases him most.

He may seek in life fame, wealth, or honor. But the primal goal of life is the opportunity to be of special service to mankind. And the chief purpose of college is as a preparation for service.

"People have faith in you, don't disappoint them. I have every confidence.

(Continued on page 6)

DAIRY PRODUCTS TEAM WINS JUDGING CONTEST

E. E. Miller, H. C. Lunna, R. R. Baldwin Bring Back Laurels for Vermont at Springfield Competition

In competition with teams from nine other eastern colleges, the University of Vermont dairy products judging team won the judging contest at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., last week for the second successive year.

Besides the $500 trophy for first on all products, the Vermont trio won first prizes in judging ice cream and cheese. It placed third on butter judging and fourth on milk judging.

In the individual ranking E. E. Miller of Vernon was first on all products. H. C. Lunna of Newport Center was sixth and R. R. Baldwin of North Ferrisburg was seventh. Baldwin was first on cheese judging and Lunna was second on ice cream judging. The three team members are seniors in the College of Agriculture of the University.

Prof. R. W. Smith Jr., and Prof. J. A. Newlander of the department of dairy husbandry are coaches of the team.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official student newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Circulation Manager
Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Lexington Wilson '35

FEATURE EDITORS

COLUMNIST

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

REPORTERS

FACULTY ADVISER

Editorials.

WELCOME FRESHMEN

to the various walks of campus life. We hope

GEORGE HENRY PERKINS

HELLO FRESHMEN

THEATRE

DR. WHEELER PRESENTS BOOKS TO MEDIC LIBRARY

Books Are All Old and of Considerable Value to the School

O SHAW!

The world has made a lot of fuss

NOTICE

Classes in physical education for men will begin on Monday, September 25, 1933. Assignments to classes will be posted on the bulletin board in the gymnasium on Saturday, September 23.

A Friend of Man

Dean Perkins came to the University

Perkins own sun room.

before the University re-ming Museum. Dean Perkins, almost wholly through his own efforts, built up a large collection of geological and housed in the old museum. Much of this sistently in his younger days in his work as State entomologist and later as State geologist for nearly forty years. No man in the State was as familiar with its geological formations as was Dean this subject with everyday life that those

For spring. Winter's feature-article campus all winter are the healthiest. They look so large and robust. The new spring influx of dogs consists of small puny ones, as if their winter refinement in their respective homes had stunted them. "Dog days are at Hand."

Society Notes

Prof. Chase J. Leonard was mar to Miss Lenda Marcus soon after mencement last June. After the c the summer session at which Leonard instructed in music, he and went abroad for a month in Fran Professor Leonard will this year a with the French departm

Another of the younger professors w was married this summer is Prof. Her mann B. Kiphuth. His wife is the former Georgina Hubert of Hartford. She is a member of Kappa Alpha and graduated from the University 1932.

On July 1 Prof. George G. Groat and family returned from their trip abroad. They had sailed from Montreal for London in August, 1932. During their year in Europe, they visited most of the European countries, especially those in which the political or economic conditions were especially interesting. Professor Groat spent three weeks in Russia, while his wife and daughter remained in Brussels. Then they all went through Germany and Switzerland to Italy, where they stayed for five months in Rome and Florence. After a month in Paris, they stayed in London for three months, there Professor Groat was able to attend the first meetings of the World Economic and Financial Conference. Mr. Groat states in the whole trip he found Russia and the Italian Fascisti of especial interest.

The marriage last winter of E. I. Austin '33 and Ruth Wheaton of Montpelier was announced early in the summer.

Helen Roberts '34, Alpha Xi Delta, was married this summer in the First Congregational Church at Burlington, to Henry McBride of South Hero. Hilda Lyon '34 was the bridesmaid.

Robert Livingstone '32, Lambda Iota, was married in Richford to Elizabeth Gould '32 Delta Delta Delta. Mr. Livingstone is an instructor in botany at the University.

Florence Parkhill '32, Alpha Chi Omega, was married recently to Henry Whitney of Morgidobar.

Miss Marjorie Perrin gave a tea on Sunday for the alumnae and the active chapter of Alpha Chi Omega.

Eleanor Koenig '30, Alpha Xi Delta, stayed in town recently.

The next meeting of Alpha Xi Delta will be held on Wednesday night in the rooms at 192 College Street.

Social Calendar

September, 1933
12. Freshman Enrollment Day.
13. Opening Day.
16. Freshman Mixer.
23. Entertainment Evening.
29. Boulder Smoker.
30. Boulder Dance.

October
7. Entertainment Evening.
12. Mountain Day.
14. Health Council Dance.
21. Gold Key.
25. University Lecture.
28. New Hampshire—here.
Entertainment Evening.

November
2. Group Plays.
4. Mortar Board.
10. Military Ball.
11. Armistice Day.
Entertainment Evening.
Men's Informals.
17. Key and Serpent Smoker.
18. Middlebury—here.
Key and Serpent Football Hop.
23. Women's Glee Club.
25. Men's Informals.
29. Entertainment Evening.
30-Dec. 3 (inclusive). Thanksgiving Recess.

December
7. College Play.
9. Women's Informals.
15. Men's Formals.
16. Women's Informals.
17. Christmas Concert.
21. Men's Formals.
22-Jan. 3 (inclusive). Christmas Recess.

January, 1934
6. Men's Informals.
15-26. Mid-year Examinations.
27. Men's Fraternity Dances.
Entertainment Evening.

February
2. Sophomore Hop.
24. Kake Walk (?).

March
3. Women's Informals.
9. Band.
10. Women's Informals.
Entertainment Evening.
14. Glee Club.
17. Basketball Hop.
23. Men's Formals.
24. Entertainment Evening.
29. Men's Formals.
30-Apr. 8. Easter Recess.

April
14. Boulder Dance.
20. Indoor Meet.
21. Key and Serpent.
26. Opera.
28. Mortar Board.
30. Women's Formals.

May
1. Founder's Day.
4. Women's Formals.
5. Entertainment Evening.
10, 11, 12. Junior Week.
26. Lilac Day.
30. Memorial Day.
28-June 14. Final Examinations.

June
18. Commencement.

In an interhall track meet at Notre Dame the following occurred. In the mile run, one fellow stayed in the rear at the start, and after one lap, ducked behind a locker near the track. When the field came around for the last lap, he tagged on and by a last-minute dash won with three feet to spare. He was a hero till the gag was exposed.

. A. HOLDS LARGEST ROSH CAMP IN RECORD

(Continued from page 1)

4 editor of the CYNIC, spoke for ...ation, and C. H. Drown '34, ... plans and activities of the ... E. Miller '34 was the stu... ...sentative of Faculty Student ... the Alpha Zeta Agricultural ... S Wright '35 and R. H. Bing... 4 ... planned the dramatic activities ...e International Relations Club. ... R Wilcox '35 and C A. ...s. 35 spoke on the band, glee club ... choir. In spite of unfavorable ...er on Saturday, sports and games ...enjoyed by several.

... the evening session, "Bunny" Pren... ...irector of physical education, ...ed the physical attention necessary to ...ain good health during the work of ...ge. The football and basketball coach, ...ey Burke, also spoke to the group. ...Kitchen spoke as an off-campus rep... ...tative on fraternities, pointing out ...and cons of membership. He sug... ...ed learning something about the group before joining it, and picking a crowd which has some interest in the educational and worthwhile sides of college. He warned against letting open houses carry the individual away. "Do try to see the crowd as they are, and not as they make themselves out to be. Take everything with a grain of salt.—Just because you aren't a fraternity man doesn't mean that you can't do anything. If you've got the goods and can deliver, you'll make good at anything, whether you're a fraternity man or not."

The Rev. Percy C. Ladd welcomed the new men on behalf of the churches of Burlington. Prof. P. D. Evans of the history department gave a little sound advice to the men on studying. After the talks, singing and entertainment were participated in.

Sunday morning church services were conducted by the Rev. Homer C. Bryant of Burlington. His theme centered around the conviction that a fellow cannot leave God at home when he comes to college. He says, "The proverbial high school graduate is far from wise in his 'Good bye, Lord, I'm going to college.' Although we may smile at the phrase, nevertheless a tragic situation develops when such a freshman forsakes the God of his boyhood at just the time he needs him most. Let me urge you to take God with you into your college life. Let Him help you with your problems and difficulties. For the only valid reason anybody has to seek a college education is to prepare to be of greatest possible service to this world in the work of his choice."

Reverend Bryant cited Oxenham's classic:

"'To every man there openeth a way
and ways, and a way.
And the high soul climbs the high way
And the low soul gropes the low
And in between, on the misty flats,
The rest drift to and fro.
But to every man there openeth a high way and a low,
And every man decideth which way his soul shall go.'

"Carried into college life, you have the choice of the high way, mental, moral and spiritual development. Or you can go shiftlessly through, just getting by, and with none too good a reputation. Or the low way of laziness, selfishness and open hostility to the ideals of C. V. M.

"Why does one man say to another 'be a man.' We do not have to tell a pig to be a pig or a dog a dog. They naturally are that. But we are not always men—the men God intended us to be. . . .

"A son was leaving New York for his first year in a New England college. At family prayers that morning, the son had been commended to the divine care of God by his parents. At the train, the father's only words of advice were 'Never forget whose son you are.' What son could disappoint a father in such a plea. Young men, never forget whose sons you are—sons of the living God. Do not disappoint him."

Sunday afternoon Bill Kitchen again spoke on sex relationships, and on desirability of a noble personal life. He stressed the necessity of respecting the personality and ideals of the opposite sex at all times.

In the evening student leaders again spoke. C. B. Eaton '34 aroused interest by his recounting of interclass rivalries. R. F. McCann '34 debate manager told of the debating activities. Entertainment and stunts by the student leaders followed, and the program was concluded by another ringing talk by Bill Kitchen, who offered a challenge to the college men of today to contribute their utmost in helping this confused world find itself.

When a West Point plebe is asked a question by an upperclassman that he cannot answer, he must rattle off the following: "Sir, my cranium contains no Vermont marble, no cavity lava, and African ivory, covered with a thick layer of case hardened steel, forms an impenetrable barrier to all that seeks to impress itself upon the ashen tissues of my brain. Hence the effulgent and ostentatiously effervescent phrases just directed and reiterated for my comprehension have failed to penetrate the sonniferous forces of my atrocious intelligence. In other words, I am very dumb and do not understand, Sir."

Teacher—Every day we breathe oxygen. What do we breathe at night, Willie?

Willie—Nitrogen.

We discard 86% OF THE TOBACCO PLANT

Because...

we use only fine center leaves, no stems, no stalks

We actually discard 86% of the tobacco plant. Because we use only the fine center leaves—no stem—no stalk. And each Lucky comes to you fully packed with ripe, mellow, choice tobaccos—round and firm—no loose ends. Is it any wonder that Luckies are always so mild—so smooth?

ALWAYS the finest tobaccos

ALWAYS the finest workmanship

ALWAYS Luckies please!

Copyright, 1933, The American Tobacco Company

"it's toasted"

FOR BETTER TASTE—FOR THROAT PROTECTION

133.514

SPORTS NEWS

VARSITY'S FINAL DRIVE FOR FIRST HOME GAME NOW IN FULL SWING

Burke and Crohan Back as Coaches; Veteran Team Lined Up For Connecticut Aggie Battle

Cross-country Schedule

Oct.	7.	Union	Here
Oct.	14.	Springfield	There
Nov.	4.	Connecticut State	There
Nov.	18.	Middlebury	Here

Football Schedule

Sept.	30.	Connecticut State	Burlington
Oct.	7.	Dartmouth	Hanover
Oct.	14.	Clarkson	Potsdam
Oct.	21	Boston University	Boston
Oct.	28.	New Hampshire	Burlington
Nov.	4.	Norwich	Northfield
Nov.	11	St. Michael's	Burlington
Nov.	18	Middlebury	Burlington

FEW CHANGES IN FACULTY OF UNIVERSITY THIS YEAR

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

Captain Harwood Cross-country Team

TWO VERMONT STUDENTS OPEN NEW LUNCH ROOM

Two Vermont students, Tom Quinn, a member of the class of 1931 and Ray Eagles, a member of the class of 1933, have opened up the New Vermont Lunch at 148 Church Street last Friday morning. Eagles graduated last June with a commission as second lieutenant in the Coast Reserve Corps.

Cupcakes, the office boy, is here with me and he sends his welcome to the freshman class, especially those with the great umbrellas.

Make yourselves at home Frosh and don't forget what you're here for. It's a great place and I know that you'd hate to leave at mid years.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNERS REPORT FOR WORKOUTS LAST MONDAY AFTERNOON

Captain Harwood to Lead Veterans in Four-meet Schedule

Cross-country again comes into sight on the athletic horizon. Coach Archie Post called his men out for yesterday too late for this issue, but several men had reported as early as Thursday last week. These included Capt. Cliff Harwood '34, Johnny Woodruff '35, Charlie Howe '35, Carl Rogers '35, and Dusty White '35.

With these men as a nucleus bolstered by others from the frosh team of last year, Coach Post hopes to mould a team which can carry through the difficult schedule arranged.

Union has not been run for some years, so is an unknown foeman, as is Springfield. Connecticut State should not prove difficult this year, their captain and star having graduated. Middlebury is as always the big question mark. The team this year, after last year's disaster, will doubtless point for Middlebury.

NOTICE

FRESHMAN DEBATERS

A meeting of all men of the freshman class interested in debating will be held Wednesday, September 20, at four o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel. Tryouts for the Bailey cup will be arranged.

R. McCUIN '34,
Debate Manager.

A man says "I shall" and a woman "I will."

Hello, Freshmen!

...

I'm an upperclassman. I've been up here a few years and I'm going to give you the benefit of my experience as it took me quite a few days to learn the ropes.

...

Hayes & Carney, Inc. is the downtown meeting place for the gang. It has been ever since they started and it is still. And why not?

"DOC" NEWTON of the Company is a Vermont Alumnus and what a pitcher HE was. He still Coaches the Freshmen up here on the Hill. He'll look after you from the point of cashing your checks up to showing you all the ropes.

"ART" HAYES and "JIM" CARNEY are a couple of regulars and you surely are made to feel at home down there. It's really a pleasure to drop in just for a social call. Ask any upperclassman.

You'll find everything you need to wear from your Hat down to your Shoes and you'll get First Class Merchandise at Reasonable Prices. I'd drop in if I were you. Here's the name and address:

Hayes & Carney, Inc.

127 CHURCH STREET

"DOC" NEWTON "ART" HAYES "JIM" CARNEY

HMAN MEN NUMBER O HUNDRED SIXTEEN HALF FROM VERMONT

Come From Nine Different tes and the Dominion of Canada

[illegible] last, half of their number [illegible] the freshman metes out [illegible] now stands at two hundred [illegible] Burlington contributes [illegible] the one hundred and fifty- [illegible] Vermont Massachusetts and [illegible] come second with sixteen [illegible] remaining number includes [illegible] New York State, seven from [illegible] four from New Hampshire, [illegible] from Montreal, Canada, [illegible] Indiana and Long Island.

[illegible] school course holds top place [illegible] curriculum with the engi- [illegible] next [illegible] Adams, Pre-med., Brattle- [illegible] Alpert, Pre-med., Lake- [illegible] Rollin Amsden, C. E., [illegible] Andersen, Classical, Peter- [illegible] Joseph Astone, Pre-med., [illegible] N. Y.; H. Lovett M. E., Newport; Wal- [illegible] Plattsburg, N. Y.; Ger- [illegible] E. L. Milton; William Bar- [illegible] Bellows Falls; Herbert [illegible] Winthrop, Mass.; John [illegible] and Ec., Fair Haven; Neil [illegible] four yrs., Underhill Cen- [illegible] Pre-med., Lexington, [illegible] Bedell, Com. and Ec., Flush- [illegible] Stephen Belcher, Jr., S. S., [illegible] N. J.; Charles Bellmare, [illegible] Burlington; Harold Bickford, [illegible] N. J.; Sanford Bloom- [illegible] Burlington; Arthur [illegible] Burlington; Don- [illegible] Charlotte; Robert [illegible] and Ec., Burlington; [illegible] Com and Ec., Burling- [illegible] G. S., Arlington; [illegible] Exeter, N. H.; [illegible] Pre-med., Stamford, [illegible] Pre-med., Burling- [illegible] Buzzell, Pre-med., Pittsford [illegible] Buxton, Pre-med., Bur- [illegible] Caldwell, Jr., E. E., West [illegible] Cannon, Ag., Burling- [illegible] Cashman, C. E., Burling- [illegible] Chase, T. T., Essex Junc- [illegible] Chester, Pre-med., Marsh- [illegible] Chapin, Com. and Ec., Flush- [illegible] Choate, Pre-med., West [illegible] Raymond Clausen, Pre-med., [illegible] N. Y.; William Collins, Pre- [illegible] Falls; Raynald Cooney, [illegible] Burlington; F. Marvin Court- [illegible] St. Albans; Alvan Covitz, [illegible] Brookline, Mass.; Alfred [illegible] Chelsea; Robert Crandall, [illegible] Junction; Paul Cullinan, [illegible] Bridgeport, Conn.

[illegible] Dagneault, T. T. four yrs., [illegible] Arza Dean, T. T., Hines- [illegible] Donahue, Jr., M. E., Essex [illegible] R. Douglas Dopp, T. T. four [illegible] Burlington; Donald Doyle, Ag., [illegible] Center; Donald Duley, Com. [illegible] Wakefield, Mass.; Richard Dun- [illegible] McIndoe Falls.

[illegible] Edd, E. E., Vineyard Haven, [illegible] Eddy, Pre-med., Hart- [illegible] N. Richard Evans, Eng., [illegible] John Evans, Pre-med., [illegible] Orange, N. J.

[illegible] Farr, Com. and Ec., St. Johns- [illegible] Fenn, E. E., Middlebury; [illegible] Fitzgerald. Pre-med., Albany, [illegible] Edward Fleming, L. S., West [illegible] Warren Flint, Com. and Ec., [illegible] Chester, N. Y.; Abram Foote, [illegible] Pawlet; Gorton Fuller, Com. and [illegible] Huntington.

[illegible] Gardiner, Jr., G. S., Lynn, [illegible] Jonathan Gates, Pre-med., Cam- [illegible] Harold Gerow, T. T. four yrs., [illegible] Ernest Gile, T. T., Jericho [illegible] James Gillespie, S. S., Meriden, [illegible] Hugh Gilmore, S. S., Bristol; [illegible] Greeley, Pre-med., Montpelier; [illegible] Gray, S. S., Lyndon; James [illegible] Jr., Pre-med., Dumont, N. J.; [illegible] Gurganig, Com. and Ec., East [illegible] Frederic Guilmette, T. T. four [illegible] Worcester.

[illegible] Hanson, Pre-med., Berlin, [illegible] Max Harris, Pre-med., St. [illegible] Carl Hathaway, T. T. four yrs., [illegible] Vt.; Luther Hawley, Pre- [illegible] Rochelle, N. Y.; Norman [illegible] Chester Depot; William [illegible] Pre-med., Burlington; Ed- [illegible] Jr., S. S., Waterbury, Conn.; [illegible] C. E., Burlington; Louis [illegible] Chem., Meriden, Conn.; Mil- [illegible] Pre-med., Bridgeport, Conn.; [illegible] Hosking, M. E., Moretown; [illegible] Eng., Bridgeport, Conn.; [illegible] Com. and Ec., Tunbridge; [illegible] Humphrey, C. E., Newburg; [illegible] Pre-med., St. Albans.

[illegible] Com. and Ec., Burling- [illegible] Jacobson. Pre-med., Re- [illegible] Sargent Jealous, S. S., [illegible] H. William Jenks, Ag., [illegible] Howard Johnson, Pre-med.,

[illegible] Com. and Ec., New York, [illegible] Edwin Keith, Com. and Ec., [illegible] N. Y.; William Kelty, [illegible] Ridgewood, N. J.; Robert [illegible] Pre-med., Waterbury; Roger [illegible] Pre-med., Middlebury; Mor- [illegible] Pre-med., Burlington; [illegible] Com. and Ec., Northfield; [illegible] G. S., Dorchester, Mass.

(Continued on page 6)

REALTUS McCUIN '34, Captain and Manager of Debating

Y. W. C. A. PLANS WORK AT BISHOP HOPKINS HALL

Co-eds Intend to Do Social Service Work at Institution for Girls

The Y. W. C. A.—that means all the women of the student body—has an adventure ahead. At Rock Point there is a school and home called Bishop Hopkins Hall. This is an institution, primarily for girls from the ages of twelve to sixteen, whose home environment has not been of superior order. The purpose of the home is to give these girls advantages which they have been unable to have in their own homes and to improve conditions so that the children can maintain stronger and finer characters.

In a place such as this, there is great opportunity for work of all sorts. Particularly, there is a chance for those interested in social service work. A set program will be carried out and at intervals of every few weeks there will be group meetings of the girls who are working on the project and the members of the Y. W. C. A. Council. These meetings will be for the purpose of ironing up personality problems and any situations that prove difficult to handle.

The program is as follows: Beginning about October 1, groups of two or three girls, who have signed on lists, which will be posted in the Y room this month, will go to the home and carry on a program of recreation once a week. Following that there will be pre-Christmas work of various types supervised by the college students who sign for the work. At the same time as this, girls who are particularly interested in music may help give lessons to the children. Further plans of program will be announced later.

Transportation will be taken care of by volunteers. If there is anyone who would be able and willing to supply transportation for any one of these trips, we wish you would give your names to the Y. W. C. A. Council.

We hope that by carrying out this project we may bring out the similarity of this to small communities in which you may find yourselves after college. We hope it will be helpful and we know it will prove to be fascinating. "Everyone come—upperclassmen as well as freshmen!" says a council member in describing the project.

DR. EDWIN H. REEDER TO ENTER THE EDUCATION DEPARTMENT AT U. V. M.

A new professor at the University of Vermont is one of national recognition, Dr. Edwin H. Reeder, for five years associate professor at Teachers College, Columbia University. Doctor Reeder will hold at the University of Vermont the rank of associate professor in the department of education.

He is the first son of a doctor of philosophy from Teachers College to have the same degree conferred upon him; his father, Dr. Rudolph R. Reeder, received the first doctor's degree conferred by the college.

After receiving his A.B. degree from Columbia in 1913, Doctor Reeder became teaching principal of a school in Stamford, Conn. In 1915-16 he was superintendent of the Sweetser Orphanage in Saco, Me., and during the following year he was acting superintendent of the New York Orphanage at Hastings-on-the-Hudson. In 1918 he became connected with the Community Motion Picture Bureau of New York as educational editor. Three years later he went to Detroit, Mich., as supervisor of visual education in the public schools, remaining there until 1923, when he joined the staff of Teachers College at Columbia University. In 1926 he received his Ph.D. degree at Columbia and was thereupon made assistant professor of education. In 1928 he became an associate professor.

Professor Reeder has written a number of articles for educational journals, and is author of the books "Simplifying Teaching" and "Geography for School Administrators." Notable contributions to the field of education have been his research works on lesson assignments, teaching children to study, and visual education.

TRYOUTS FOR CHOIR AND GLEE CLUBS TO BE HELD THIS WEEK

Prof. H. G. Bennett of the department of music has recently issued a call for tryouts for the various musical organizations.

Tryouts for the University Choir, choirs and Women's Glee Clubs and University Orchestra will be held in the Music Building 85 S. Prospect Street at the following hours. Men's Glee Club and men of choir, Wednesday and Thursday, September 20 and 21, 7.00 to 8.00 p.m. Women's Glee Club and women of choir, Wednesday and Thursday, September 20 and 21, 8.00 to 10.00 p.m. Orchestra Tuesday and Wednesday, September 19 and 20, 4.00 to 4.30 p.m. Candidates for the orchestra should bring not only their instruments but also [illegible] if possible.

The University Choir sings at the weekly chapel services Wednesday morning and the monthly Sunday afternoon services, and rehearses Tuesday and Friday evenings 7.00 to 8.00 p.m. Members are paid an honorarium of thirty-five cents for each service and rehearsal.

The Men's Glee Club rehearses Wednesday evening, 7.00 to 8.00 p.m. It competes in the New England Intercollegiate Contest about March 1, gives a local concert, and joins with the Women's Glee Club in an opera or other large work in the spring. According to the new contest regulations, graduate and medical as well as undergraduate students are now eligible, as they already have been for the choir, orchestra and other activities of the glee clubs.

The Women's Glee Club rehearses Tuesday and Thursday evenings, gives a concert in November, and joins with the Men's Glee Club in an opera or other large work in the spring.

The University Orchestra rehearses Tuesdays, 4.00 to 6.00 p.m., with special string rehearsals Thursdays, 4.00 to 6.00 p.m. It plays with the choir at the Christmas and Lenten-Easter concerts, with the glee clubs in concerts and operas.

FIRST MASS MEETING TO BE HELD SATURDAY

The first of a series of mass meetings to foster college spirit will be held Saturday during that time left from 10.00 to 10.30 by the advancing of the earlier classes. Further details will be announced later.

SUMMER SCHOOL HAS SUCCESSFUL SEASON SAYS PROF. DOUGLASS

Depression Hits Enrollment Hard as Only 618 Attend

Six hundred and eighteen students were enrolled during the summer session of the University of Vermont, 125 also being winter students of the University. Vermont teachers taking a summer course numbered 275. The remaining number of students included 56 from New York, 51 from Massachusetts, 27 from Connecticut, 25 from Pennsylvania, 22 from New Jersey, 12 from New Hampshire, 8 from Maine, 4 from Maryland, 3 from Ohio, 2 each from Nebraska, Rhode Island and the Province of Quebec, and 1 each from Georgia, Minnesota, Mississippi, Delaware and Washington, D. C.

The Summer Session calendar containing items of great import and interest to the students was issued daily. Prof. Bennett C. Douglass, the head of the Summer Session and a member of the Department of Education, was the editor of the calendar.

The social life of the University carried on during the Summer Session. Excursions on the lake, including trips to Ausable Chasm, Lake Placid and the historic forts in New York, were held in addition to a trip up Mt. Mansfield. Assemblies were held in the gym on every day except Saturdays.

Lectures, dances and plays comprised the week-end entertainments.

Sports took the form of a baseball team and a tennis tournament. Alice McConnell '34 and Professor Carpenter reached the finals in both doubles and singles play to be defeated by a close score.

According to Professor Douglass this Summer Session was one of the very best ever held at the University due to the splendid cooperation of the students.

NOTICE

Girls' physical examinations are being held at Vermonters' Club House. To reach the building, starting from the corner of Main and S. Prospect Streets, go down the hill, taking the first left turn. Then enter the drive beyond the second set of buildings, follow it behind the Practice House to the Club House which is a small red building set in from the street.

CALL FOR REPORTERS

All freshmen interested in newspaper work and willing to do reportorial work for the Vermont Cynic are asked to report any afternoon this week in the Cynic office, in the Old Mill building at 4 p.m. No previous journalistic experience is required.

THE VERMONT CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION PLANS ITS USUAL FULL SEASON

Cabinet Has Already Made Plans to Carry Out the Usual Work and Other Projects

With a very successful Freshman Camp behind it, the Vermont Christian Association looks for an equally satisfying and successful continuance of its various plans for the year. Most of the V. C. A. cabinet was present at the camp and helped it along. In praise of their aid, W. P. Stetson '34, director, said, "I received wonderful cooperation from every cabinet member, as well as from all others who contributed to the camp program."

A. A. Ross '34 edited one of the best and most complete "Freshman Handbooks" yet put out. Last Saturday night, another of its achievements was made in the freshman dance and mixer, under the direction of A. R. Wilcox '35, director of entertainment.

This year, deputations will be headed by R. S. Wright '35, who plans a busy year and extensive service to northern Vermont churches as a result of the reputation gained last year. A definite holiday is being given this year on Thursday, October 12, as Mountain Day. The annual trip to the summit of Mt. Mansfield is to be supervised by the V. C. A. No provision was made this year for a Thanksgiving dance because of the week-end vacation. However, this same week end, the V. C. A. will entertain the Vermont Youth Council convention at the University from December 1 to 3. Definite appropriation was made in the budget for delegates to the Northfield conference this winter.

Several entertainments are scheduled on the present social calendar of the University. Some of these gatherings will be for freshmen exclusively, and some for all who desire to attend, especially non-fraternity men who are barred from the fraternity dances and parties. The V. C. A. plans to sponsor some of these gatherings, which should prove beneficial in acquainting freshmen with each other and with upperclassmen. In addition, the Association hopes to hold group meetings for five or six weeks each semester, with all who are interested attending. The meetings will consist of an outside speaker or a student leader in charge, with an open forum to discuss college and student problems.

Freshmen and upperclassmen who are interested in any of these activities need only to come to the office and sign up the certificate of membership of the V. C. A., stating the branches of the work they are particularly interested in.

The cabinet membership is as follows:
Chairman—C. H. Drown '34.
Vice-chairman—W. D. White '35.
Secretary—Leon Hill '35.
Treasurer—R. F. McCuin '34.
Director of Deputations—R. S. Wright '35.
Director of Publicity—A. S. Everest '36.
Director of Student Service—C. B. Harwood '34.
Director of Church Relations—F. G. Kinsley '35.
Director of Christian World Education—R. H. Bingham '34.
Director of Entertainment—A. R. Wilcox '35.

COURSE IN LIFE DRAWING TO OPEN AT THE MUSEUM

The evening life drawing class will soon open for its annual fall and winter course in the Fleming Museum, it was announceed recently by Harold S. Knight who will again direct the school. Criticism will be given by a number of others also.

Students will be encouraged to watch others at work and to criticize their own drawings, Mr. Knight said. As before, this class is free to all persons who are anxious to improve their talent and at the same time enjoy the congenial association always apparent in this student group. There is, however, a $1.00 registration fee which will be used toward the cost of the model and the other miscellaneous expenses. Students enrolling in this course must furnish their own materials.

Registration will start soon, after which the class will meet regularly each week, probably on Wednesday evenings.

An attempt will be made this year to have the same model pose on successive weeks so that students may complete a finished drawing or painting. Advanced students will be encouraged to work in oils or pastels.

Insomnia is sometimes cured if one stops taking his conscience to bed with him.

GOLF AND TENNIS FALL TOURNAMENTS START THIS WEEK

This Year's Tennis Turnout Unusually Fine—Golf Due For a Large Entry List

The fall tennis tournament which has been increasing in popularity from year to year will be held with the opening round taking place Wednesday or Thursday of this week.

An unusually fine turnout has been made this year and under the supervision of Mr. Post and Professor Prentice of the Physical Education Department the tournament promises to be even more successful than last years. The entry list besides being long numbers most of the varsity players at school beside a number of men from last year's freshman team.

Hugh Wilson, winner of the trophy last year and also last year's varsity Captain will defend his title but will get very stiff opposition from Norm Myers, Captain-elect of the Varsity whom he defeated in the finals last year after a terrific five set battle.

Other entries who should make the tournament interesting are: Bob Eaton, Jack Swift, and Bart Costello of last year's freshman team, Whalen, Patch and Morse of former varsity material.

Golf

The golf tournament, which has attracted more interest as the number of student golfers increased, is also expected to have a large entry list.

Onnie Brown, winner of the gold golf ball last year is back hitting the ball further after a hard summer.

Other entries who have signed up for the tournament include Getow and La Riviere.

DEBATERS OPEN SEASON WITH BATES COLLEGE AT BURLINGTON OCTOBER 21

Return of Experienced Debaters Points to a Successful Season With a Full Schedule

Vermont debating societies swing into action for the first debate of the season here in Burlington on Saturday, October 21, with Bates College on the question "Resolved, That the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of radio control and operation." The debate which is an annual opening debate for both colleges will, as usual be non-decision. It will be presented either before the microphone or before some local institution.

Another pending debate is with St. Lawrence, there. It will be a radio debate, though the topic and date have not yet been decided upon. The men to speak in either debates have not yet been selected. Candidates for the team will be called out soon. A meeting for upperclassmen was held last night, Monday and a meeting for frosh will be held tomorrow, Wednesday. All students interested are urged to attend.

Prospects of a successful season point to veteran debaters who have not graduated seem very good with such men as McCuin '34, Myers '35, and last year's freshmen.

Mr. Powers and Manager McCuin are arranging a wide schedule of debates for the coming school year, topped off with the annual extensive debating trip to the South and West.

I. R. CLUB ACQUIRES NEW SHELF OF BOOKS

The International Relations Club wishes to bring to the attention of the student body the fact that there are a number of new and very excellent books at their disposal now at the library. These books are to be found in the right-hand corner as one goes out of the apse. These books dealing entirely with international affairs and relations, were donated to the International Relations Club by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace for the purpose of encouraging the study of international peace. Among the books on those shelves are to be found "Humanity Uprooted," by M. Hindus, an unbiased survey of the changing conditions of the people of Russia from the time of the revolution to the present day, and "New Russia's Primer," by M. Olin a translation from the Russian, given a Russian's inside view of the five-year plan. These are only two of the many interesting books to be found there. There are books on relations between China and Japan, on Cuba, on the League of Nations and the World Court and many others. All these books are at the disposal of anyone who is interested in worldly affairs.

Fiction is history, human history or it is nothing.—Joseph Conrad.

RECORD ENROLLMENT AT WOMEN'S FROSH CAMP

(continued from page 1)

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR LATE DEAN PERKINS

(continued from page 1)

48 ENGINEERS NAMED ON DEAN'S HONOR LIST

(continued from page 1)

PRESIDENT ADDRESSES FRESHMEN WEDNESDAY

(continued from page 1)

FRESHMAN MEN NUMBER TWO HUNDRED SIXTEEN

(continued from page 5)

(Continued)

Marriage, in the case of an old bachelor, is the triumph of hope over boarding-house rotten.

Compliments of

ALEX VERRET

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

* * *

Elias Lyman Coal Company

206 College Street

Treat Yourself to the Best!

Sherwood Hotel Barber Shop

In Lower Lobby

WE TRIM THE HAIR, BUT NOT THE MAN

JOE. LANGLOIS, Prop.—Phone 2911

"It's a Bully good Cigarette"

SO FAR as I can tell . . . and I've smoked a lot of them . . . CHESTERFIELDS are always the same. They have a pleasing taste and aroma.

I smoke 'em before breakfast and after dinner. I smoke 'em when I'm working. I smoke 'em when I'm resting. And always they satisfy. They suit me right down to the ground.

the cigarette that's MILDER
the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

Chesterfield

© 1933, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

ME 52 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1933 NUMBER 2

thletic Council Meets to Discuss Managerial System wing Lack of Interest on Part of Sophomore Class in Producing Candidates for Managerial Positions Chief Reason for Meeting

DENT BODY ASKED O DISCUSS PRESENT EPLORABLE CONDITIONS

... C. Nash, Graduate Manager

... time there has been a growing interest on the part of the ... class in producing candidates ... positions of the various ... With the idea of improving the present managerial system ... more interest in the position ... was issued to representatives ... every fraternity, the Independents, the varsity sports managers, and ... society last Wednesday afternoon ... with a committee from the ... Council at the Graduate Manager's ...

... meeting several constructive ... were made and it was the ... opinion that the best method ... conditions was to take the ... within the various organizations ... report back at a future meeting ... in the Graduate Manager's ... Wednesday, September 27, at ...

... order that all students may understand the present managerial system, it ... suggested that a brief outline be ... in the columns of the CYNIC. ... is the present system: At ... beginning of each sport season, a ... issued to all sophomores interested ... in trying for assistant manager of a ... sport. From the group that ... throughout the season, three assistant managers are elected who act in ... capacity during their junior year. ... the close of the particular sport ... during which they are assistant ... one of the three is elected ... manager. The assistant receiving ... second largest number of votes ... the freshman manager of that ... while the third assistant does not ... manager unless a vacancy occurs in the varsity or freshman position, ... case he is promoted according ... number of votes he received at the ... election.

With the curtailed athletic program ... past year, some of the freshman managerships have been non-existent as ... were no freshman teams in certain sports. Also, there have been positions created for all three assistant managers of track through the division ... cross-country and track; making ... managerships possible.

The system of election is by voting, ... being four votes, namely: the team ... as a whole constituting one full

(Continued on page 4)

WHY ATTEND CHAPEL?" TOPIC OF PROF. THOMAS AT WEDNESDAY SERVICE

Prof. Evan Thomas, professor of ... in the College of Engineering, was in charge of the first chapel ... of the year Wednesday, September 20. Professor Thomas' talk dealt ... question which students often ... themselves: "Why should I attend ...?" The answer was divided into ... parts: in the first he stated that ... chapel the student shows ... interest in the deeper issues of ... There is more to a college education ... the study for a vocation, it ... deal with man as a spiritual ... One should attend chapel in order ... the mood of those who have ... deeper spiritual feeling."

The second part was presented the ... "chapel service promotes a ... feeling, a spirit of comradeship ... fellowship. At chapel the students ... one mind, simply students of the ...."

Professor Thomas stated in the last ... his talk that the students came ... "to perpetuate the best traditions ... the University of Vermont"—the ... that the university takes a ... view of religion. In closing he ... students often complain that no ... is derived from chapel. He pointed ... that the best speakers and preachers ... Vermont are brought here to ... chapel. If no benefit was de... it was the fault of the student for ... what one gives in this world."

N.R.A. Parade

At two o'clock this afternoon the much heralded N.R.A. parade will form on Winooski Avenue, facing Main Street. This parade will include the R. O. T. C. battalion and band, in addition to groups of faculty and student marchers, and floats by various student organizations.

"Afternoon classes have been suspended by the administration in the hope that a number of students will take part in the parade, in addition to the battalion. This is a national movement and involves the interests of us all. Several of the faculty have signified their willingness to march and we should like to have a good-sized student representation," stated Dean Swift.

A legal half-holiday has been declared by Mayor Burke, all N.R.A. employees to march in the parade instead of working.

The student section, headed by the band and battalion, will form on the hill at 1.15 this afternoon and move down College Street to join the group at Winooski Avenue.

FEW FACULTY CHANGES MARK OPENING OF YEAR

Dr. Edwin H. Reeder Sole New Member to be Associate Education Department Professor

Few faculty changes mark the opening of the academic year at the University of Vermont. Only one new member, Dr. Edwin H. Reeder, has been added to the regular teaching staff. Doctor Reeder, who for five years has been associate professor of education in Teachers College, Columbia University, where his work has gained national attention, has joined the education department of the University, where he will hold the rank of associate professor. He is the author of articles and text books in the educational field and is in demand as a speaker.

Two men, Prof. G. G. Groat, head of the economics department, and Prof. H. G. Bennett, head of the music department, have returned from their sabbatical leave of last year, which they spent abroad. Prof. L. M. Prindle, head of the Latin department, is taking his sabbatical this year, spending the time in the British Isles and on the continent. Prof. George V. Kidder is acting head of the department in his absence.

J. H. Pooley, assistant professor of Greek and Latin, has returned to the faculty this year after a year of study. W. R. Adams, assistant professor of botany and forestry, is studying at Yale on leave of absence. Among those who have left are R. P. Johnson, assistant professor of Latin, and C. L. Stineford, assistant professor of economics. Prof. C. T. Leonard, who last year was acting head of the music department in the absence of Professor Bennett, is this year teaching in the French department.

COLLEGIUM TO MEET FIRST TIME SUNDAY

An invitation has been issued to all students, especially to new men, to attend the first meeting this year of the "Collegium," the student group at the College Street Congregational Church, which will be held Sunday evening, September 24, in the parish house rooms.

This is the first church student discussion group to meet this academic year. Other churches in Burlington have such groups, among them being the Baptist, Unitarian, First Congregational, and Methodist Churches.

There will be no program in especial for this first meeting, but a get together will be held, featuring stunts, games, discussion, and refreshments.

RIOTOUS SNAKE DANCE FOLLOWS SOPH TRIUMPH IN BATTLE AT FOUNTAIN

Flare-lit Procession Storms Business Section in Aftermath of Soph-Frosh Scrap

FROSH DEFEATED 38-20

New Men Overwhelmingly Submerged by Better-controlled Soph Group in Watery Tradition

Peaceful Burlington was transformed into a miniature Havana last Tuesday evening following a spirited fountain fight on the College Green. Sophomores, freshmen and town gamins formed the nucleus of what was originally an orderly snake dance through the streets of Burlington, the usual aftermath of the first scrap between the two lower classes.

This year's dance was said by many to be the most spirited affair staged by college students in the last few years, while others termed it a mere "riot act." The disturbance became so great that the Burlington police were forced to take an active part in restoring peace and order in Vermont's Queen City.

Sophomores Conquer Freshmen

Exhibiting a better controlled group, the sophomores had no trouble in overwhelming the freshmen in an exciting fountain fight by the score of 38-20. Flood lights illuminated the fountain for the first time in the history of the scrap and gave both the audience and the contestants a better opportunity to witness and participate in the fight.

Both groups had a large organization, although the frosh outnumbered the sophs by a great number. Many enthusiasts entered the drink several times, and several duckings were masterfully administered until the underdog willingly entered the water in toto.

Snake Dance Follows

Both classes united in a snake dance through the streets of Burlington accompanied by red flares, several hundred spectators, cheers, and an occasional shot from a blank gun. Once on Church Street, traffic was inevitably snarled and spectators were afforded a sight such as Burlington has not seen for several years.

Signs, flower pots, beer kegs, and cars were all treated to a dose of removalitis. Tarzan (in sign form, of course) resided for a brief interval on the City Hall steps. Emboldened by their success the paraders stormed the Flynn Theatre, but were satisfied with several signs before retreating. At the Majestic Theatre several of the bolder men climbed the balcony, emulating Machardists and others.

At the City Hall, park benches were strewn in the fountain and on the band concert stand. The misplaced articles were immediately replaced, however, when the police held as hostage one of the town entrants in the riot. After the agitators turned to nobler efforts, there were many peculiar sights to be seen in the business section. An old model "T" Ford, innocently parked, received decorations of several rubbish cans and "No Parking" signs.

On the hill, dormitories were serenaded and cheers roared forth. Unfortunate among the occurrences of the evening was the turning in of a false alarm by several of the students.

Next week Thursday all members of the lower classes will participate in a water fight, and on the afternoon of Saturday of the same week they will hold the annual cane rush.

W. A. A. ANNOUNCES NEW LEADERSHIP PLANS

New plans for leadership in W. A. A. work have been made this year by those in charge. The W. A. A. Council meets Monday to appoint a girl in each dormitory and sorority house to take charge of W. A. A. activities. These girls will post all notices of hikes, take charge of the health score cards, and endeavor to interest the girls in their respective dormitories in participation in sports.

"The hike held last Sunday afternoon was a great success," states Miss Putnam. "We are planning another soon, and wish all women students to watch the bulletin boards for further notices."

A candidate is a man who thinks you should consider him important because he wants a job working for you.

ARIEL PHOTOGRAPHS TO START MONDAY

Juniors are requested to make appointments for their Ariel pictures today, September 22, with the Photographic Editor A. L. Williams or his assistants P. M. Howe, J. R. Simonds, and Women's Photographic Editor Barbara Wears. Photographic work begins Monday in the Fleming Museum Auditorium.

Editor-in-Chief W. E. Cass further reports that the last part of this week and the first part of next week will be devoted to the distribution of data sheets, to supply personal material for the grind editors.

G. E. Ranslow has been appointed biographical editor to take the place of A. G. Buxton who has failed to return to the University this year. R. S. Jenks M '35 has been appointed medic editor.

EIGHT FROSH ANSWER FIRST DEBATING CALL

At Meeting Wednesday Varsity Coach and Captain Speak and Try Out Topic Presented

At the first call for freshmen interested in freshman debating eight men answered and met on Wednesday afternoon, September 20, in the Old Mill Chapel. From these the Bailey cup debate team will be picked.

Prof. M. D. Powers, the varsity coach, pointed out to them the advantages derived by being on a debating team. He informed them that the University team takes long trips as far west as Mississippi, and last two weeks at a time. No other team, whether athletic or social, takes such extensive trips. R. F. McCuin '34, captain of the varsity team, informed them that debating helps one in improving one's self-expression and thus in convincing others in one's beliefs.

The Bailey cup debate topic chosen for the trials, held next Friday, September 29 at 4.00 p.m. in the Old Mill Chapel, is "Resolved, That prohibition has been detrimental to the American public."

Four two-man teams have been chosen. They are as follows: Affirmative, J. J. Borsalow, Fair Haven High School, Fair Haven, and C. W. Hathaway, Chelsea High School, Chelsea; negative, H. R. Gilmore, Bristol High School, Bristol, and I. A. Lehrer, William Hall High School, West Hartford. Affirmative, A. H. Ross, Middlebury High School, Middlebury, and F. M. Shaine, Cambridge High School, Cambridge, Mass.; negative, F. Timmierman, Peoples Academy, Morrisville; H. Stanley, Essex Junction High.

Any other freshmen who are interested in debating should see Mr. Powers in the V. C. A. office.

The call for sophomores for the Bailey cup debate, the annual frosh-soph debating contest, has just been issued. All men interested in trying out for this debate are asked to meet in the V. C. A. office tomorrow morning at ten o'clock.

First Mass Meeting For All Tomorrow

Frosh Attendance Required at First of Tentative Weekly Meetings of Entire Student Body

When asked for details on tomorrow's mass meeting, the chairman in charge A. A. Ross '34, president of Boulder issued the following statement:

The first student mass meeting for men and women of all classes and all the various colleges in the University will be held in the gymnasium tomorrow (Saturday) the twenty-third at 10:00 in the morning. At this time, President Bailey and Assistant Professor and Director of Physical Education Howard Prentice will address the student body. Freshman attendance is required and the presence of upperclassmen solicited.

This is the first year that student mass meetings have been attempted for some time. The matter is only in experimental form, the sponsors endeavoring to feel out the temper of the student body on the subject. It is hoped that mass meetings will become a permanent institution at Vermont, as they are at so many other colleges and universities. If they prove in any measure successful they will be held regularly throughout the year at the same time on Saturday mornings and classes on that day will be run off on the Wednesday schedule.

It is strictly a student affair, the faculty playing no part in it only insofar as various members may be called upon to address the student body. A committee of five has been appointed to draw up a program for the first semester of the college year. This committee consists of one member elected from each of the following organizations: Boulder Society, Mortar Board, Student Senate, and Student Union, with a permanent chairman from Boulder.

The program of activities at this time has not been fully arranged as yet. The program will be completed as various possibilities which prove of mass meeting interest come up for attention. It is planned that announcements pertaining to various college activities be made at this time. Each weekly mass meeting will be taken over by some campus organization which will present its own twenty-minute program and conduct the entire meeting. Short skits and acts, debates and other features of interest will be staged. Infractions of freshman rules will be taken up at this time. The mass meetings before an athletic contest will be in the nature of a smoker with songs and cheers, talks by the coaches and players, pep talks by sports fans and maybe a little inside dope on the coming fray by some of the campus sports writers.

Informality is the keynote of success in the enterprise and it is this for which the committee is striving. Students may gather in small groups during the period, as their particular gregariousness dictates. Smoking will be permitted only on occasion of the men meeting alone. Responses and opinions on questions of current campus interest are fervently solicited.

Majority of Interviewed Faculty Find Fraternities Really Beneficial

By A. S. Everest '36

In securing information for this article the reporter had in mind a sort of refutation of advantages and disadvantages of fraternities as a whole by faculty members willing to do so. However, he was unable to find sufficient out-and-out opposition to fraternities to warrant this procedure.

Out of eight professors interviewed on the subject, heads of departments and prominent faculty members, six were for pleasure, enjoyment and helpful contacts, and that they bring out many fine characteristics and develop self expression and initiative. He says, "Of course they definitely aid some fellows and do definite harm to others, but in the long run they just about average up. I don't think any serious charge can be made against them, for example the charge that a man must belong to stand a chance of campus office. This is naturally so because the majority of campus leaders are frat men, but there is plenty of chance for a good man outside to make a place for himself. In fact, joining a frat may militate against such a chance if only one or two from a fraternity are chosen."

Another time-frayed argument he spoke of was the points in fraternities. He says, "Someone will control politics anyway, and perhaps it isn't any worse than some other organized groups doing it. After all, in the last analysis students are pretty human and decent in seeing justice done. Things can't get too bad without their being corrected by someone of the group."

V. C. A. Head Objects

Mr. Powers of the Vermont Christian Association makes the statement that no freshmen should be pledged to fraternities, that they should be left free and unhampered their first year to orient themselves to college and make the best possible scholastic standing. Mr. Powers says, "I think ideally frats are a good thing with their many aids and aims but practically they are not. They over-tap themselves and take powers and functions that don't and shouldn't belong to them."

Professor Myrick, head of the French department, calls a fraternity a little world which is very useful in teaching men the faculties of getting on in the bigger world. "It develops friendships sometimes lifelong; it makes the individual strive to attain his best, it develops a spirit of loyalty of men with men. There are two great dangers we have to admit—that of the danger of one

(Continued on page 2)

THE VERMONT CYNIC

[illegible]

NEWS EDITORS

[illegible]

FEATURE EDITORS

[illegible]

COLUMNIST

[illegible]

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

[illegible]

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

[illegible]

REPORTERS

[illegible]

FACULTY ADVISER

[illegible]

AN EXPERIMENT

[illegible]

ADVICE FOR FRESHMEN PRESENTED IN INTERVIEWS

[illegible]

Ross Comments

[illegible]

Bits of Bunk

[illegible]

UPPERCLASSWOMEN PRESCRIBE FROSH RULES

Fresh-women Now Must Obey Card of Ten Rules in Renewal of Tradition

[illegible]

MAJORITY OF FACULTY FAVORS FRATERNITIES

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] self-contained into a [illegible] and that of the vast amount of wasted time. But I believe the benefits considerably outweigh the disadvantages.

Prentice in Favor

Professor Prentice, head of the physical education department states his opinion, based on experience, that fraternities fill a decided place, particularly at Vermont. He states that they provide background, opportunity for men to live well, men and stimulus to go into all activities. "Especially do they provide desirable living quarters for men. A hodge-podge of fellows in rooming houses would be entirely lacking in spirit, while on the other hand the college might have to expend a large amount in dormitories."

To offset the wasted time idea, Mr. Prentice declares that time spent in talking and sitting around is not wasted and that education in its real sense is furthered by everything done in a fraternity.

F. W. Kelsey, registrar of the College in a brief statement voiced his faith in fraternities. "They do a lot of good for the College in promoting interest, better spirit and activities of all kinds. As long as the University is put first, the class second and fraternities third, I am convinced they are beneficial." A very important phase he advanced is that "fraternity members have higher marks than non fraternity men."

Figures available on this point showed for the first semester of last year the grades of

Fraternity members	77.04
Non-Fraternity members	72.41

and for the second semester

Fraternity members	78.19
Non-Fraternity members	75.80

and that this proportion has been maintained consistently for several years.

Professor Wainwright of the English department calls fraternities a necessary evil and one that is inevitable in one guise or another. He says it is desirable not to have them but that if they were abolished something else would replace them, some fellows will get together. Frats are greatly overrated, but if they are restricted by regulations from getting too much power or too much corporate spirit, perhaps they can do a considerable amount of good."

Professor Douglass of the education department gives his opinion on the subject, too. There is a tendency for boys and girls of college age to be in certain congenial groups and fraternities have this tendency. If they were abolished clubs would be formed to fill the need which at first might be more democratic, but would later tend to lose it. Fraternities are a desirable environment even tho the meetings are primarily social. They bring out the individual, discuss common problems, crystallize new ideas and develop a spirit of cooperation. As to the argument that marks must are lowered, Professor Douglass believes that if they didn't pass a requirement they would be lowered in order that no one would pass.

Professor Carroll, head of the political science department, agrees to their continuing a very vital service to college through more intimate contacts, opportunity for organized control otherwise impossible, and chance for a student to handle the economic problem of room and board.

Two definite suggestions were made to help cure some alleged ills of fraternities. Professor Myrick advanced the idea of the extension of the functions of a council of fraternities which might iron out some of the difficulties in the political side or in the studies and sports of members. He believed it would create a good court of conciliation.

Professor Douglass suggested a tutor or honors member live at each house and be of advice and in maintaining order and helping and encouraging the members in their studies. The objective would be good scholastic work.

FRESHMAN MEN NUMBER TWO HUNDRED SIXTEEN

[illegible]

Albert Reed, C. E., Chatham, N. J.; Wilmot Reed, T. T. four yrs., Essex Junction; Bernard Reilly, Chem., Island Pond; Everett Rice, Ag., Randolph; Edmund Ricker, C. E., Groton; Gilbert Rist, Pre-med., Burlington; Ira Robertson, Cl., Waitsfield; Lester Rowe, S. S., Fitchburg, Mass.; Creste Rosa, T. T. four yrs., South Ryegate; Itzel Rosenblatt, S. S., New Britain, Conn.; Austin Ross, C. E., Middlebury; Burnett Rawson, G. S., Williston; Charles Rust, Pre-med., Burlington; Kimball Rutledge, Eng., Barnet; Richmond Ryder, Pre-med., Fall River, Mass.

Horatio Sabins, Pre-med., Burlington; Moses Sanger, T. T. four yrs., Burlington; Harold Schoff, E. E., Essex Junction; Lawrence Shaw, Com. and Ec., Burlington; Darwin Somers, C. E., Passumpsic; Gordon Somers, E. E., Barnet; Frederick Shaine, S. S., Cambridge, Mass.; H. Wakefield Lisco, E. E., Bradford; Roy Sherman, ——, Limple City, Calif.; Donald Stafford, Ag., Waitsfield; Howard Stanley, Pre-med., Colchester; Lu Storms, Chem., Evansville, Ind.; Henry Swift, L. S., Burlington; David Sternbergh, Chem., Montreal, Canada; Alexis Svigoon, Chem., Springfield.

George Taft, C. E., Essex Junction; Kenneth Tangley, Com. and Ec., North Adams, Mass.; Donald Tetzlaff, Com. and Ec., Burlington; Nelson Thibault, C. E., Waterbury; Angus Thorne, Jr., S. S., Bridgeport, Conn.; Alfred Tomassetti, S. S., Meriden, Conn.; Wright Towers, T. T. four yrs., Essex Center; John Treadway, M. E., Burlington; Everett Trombly, Pre-med., Indian Orchard, Mass.; Weston Trottier, T. T. Wilder; Feno Troax, E. E., Franklin; Rodney Tucker, C. E., Tunbridge; Meredith Turner, Com. and Ec., Hamden, Conn.; Wayne Twombly, Ag., Derby.

William Vilando, Pre-med., Garfield, N. J.

Roger Waite, Mech. Eng., Bennington; Wendell Wakefield, Pre-med., Hardwick; Stoddard Narden, S. S., West Barnet; Clarence Walters, Jr., E. E., West Pawlet; Jonathan Webster, Com. and Ec., Burlington; Morton Wheeler, Pre-med., Plymouth, N. H.; Richard Williamson, Pre-med., Peekskill, N. Y.; Paul Willson, Ag., Lunenburg; Edward Whipple, M. E., Montpelier; Philip White, C. E., Groton; Dana Whitman, Ag., Colchester; Robert Wilbur, Ag., Wallingford; Eugene Willard, Pre-med., ——; Alfred Wimett, Jr., L. S., Pittsford; Isadore Wolfe, Pre-med., Burlington; Gordon Wood, Chem., Wolcott; James Woodhull, Ag., Pittsfield; Walter Van Wyck, T. T. four yrs., Wilmington.

Describing the crowded cell conditions of the Northampton police department, "The cells for women have blankets on their cots," writes B. W., feature writer of the Smith Weekly. "Those for men have none. What do the unhappy male victims of the law do about that?" "Why they have to bring their own," says the Chief. "Yale, Dartmouth, Williams—take heed." Nary a word of warning for Amherst. Must have been a printer's error.

Funny world. The reward for being so sweet nobody can live with you is the right to marry again.

SPORTS NEWS

etailed Gridiron Lineup For Varsity Squad Announced

of Men With Their Positions, Weight, Height and Age Released by Head Coach John H. Burke—Gridsters Veteran Players in the Main

SABA INCLUDED

... Burke, head coach.
... Lanahan, line coach.
... L. Eaton, manager.
... J. Morgan, captain.

...ad is as follows, with name, ...ion, age, height, weight, ...-school and home address ...n given:

... D. E., '35, guard, 20 yrs., ... 165 lbs., Richmond Hill H. S., ... Hill, N. Y.

... J. J., '34, fullback, 19 yrs., ... 175 lbs., Great Neck H. S., ... Neck, N. Y.

... R. B., '36, end, 20 yrs., 5 ft. ... lbs., Springfield H. S., Spring-...

... A. B., '34, tackle, 21 yrs., ... 176 lbs., Great Neck H. S., ... Neck, N. Y.

... L. L., '34, center, 25 yrs., ... 162 lbs., Allentown Prep., ... Conn.

... O. L., '34, left halfback, 22 ... 11 in., 166 lbs., Vergennes ... Vergennes.

... P. R., '35, tackle, 20 yrs., ... in., 172 lbs., Hartford H. S., ... Conn.

... A. H., '34, quarterback, 20 yrs., ... in., 158 lbs., Essex Junction ... Essex Junction.

... G. H., '35, tackle, 22 yrs., 5 ft. ... lbs., Cushing Acad., Leomin-...

...ertson, W. E., '34, center, 22 ... 11 in., 156 lbs., Milton H. S., ... Mass.

... P., '36, end, 18 yrs., 5 ft. 8 in., ... Newport H. S., Newport.

...hausse, J. J., '34, end, 21 yrs., 6 ft., ... South Side H. S., Rockville ... N. Y.

...hausse, R. J., '35, end, 20 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 175 lbs., South Side H. S., Rock-... Center, N. Y.

...hoff, E., '35, guard, 22 yrs., 5 ft. ... 188 lbs., Taunton H. S., Taunton, ...

...ran P., '36, end, 23 yrs., 5 ft. 9 in., ... Rutland H. S., Rutland.

...rt, S., '36, tackle, 20 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 182, Burlington H. S., Burlington.

...nk, F. A., '36, fullback, 20 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 165 lbs., Chapman Tech., Balti-..., Md.

...rber, M. P., '36, guard, 20 yrs., ... 10 in., 158 lbs., Burlington H. S., ...ngton.

...rdi, L. A., '36, halfback, 20 yrs., ... 10 in., 177 lbs., Hartford Public ... Hartford, Conn.

...., M., '36, fullback, 20 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 148 lbs., Montpelier H. S., Mont-...r

...nahan, F. J., '35, quarterback, 21 ... 5 ft. 6 in., 153 Worcester Acad., ...ntal

...ne, H. P., '36, guard, 20 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 157 lbs., Port Chester H. S., Port ...er, N. Y.

...r..., R. J., '36, tackle, 23 yrs., 6 ft. ..., 189 lbs., Brooklyn H. S., Brook-... N. Y.

...Gowan, W. C., '34, tackle, 23 yrs., ..., 188 lbs., Cathedral H. S., Burling-...

...ccomis, C. W., '35, halfback, 23 ... 5 in., 149 lbs., Vermont Acad., ...ham, Conn.

...gan, J. L., '34, tackle, 23 yrs., ..., 190 lbs., Burlington H. S., ...ington.

...rs, R. A., '36, end, 21 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 180 lbs., Exeter Acad., Peabody, ...

... I. M., '36, center, 21 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 170 lbs., Tilton Acad., Middlebury.

...ent, J. S., '36, fullback, 20 yrs., ... in., 151 lbs., Florence H. S., ...

...r, J. '35, guard, 21 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 195 lbs., West Pawlet H. S., West ...

... E., '35, halfback, 23 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 160 lbs., Spaulding H. S., Barre.

... G. J., '34, quarterback, 24 ... 9 in., 173 lbs., Sheffield Prep., ...ton, Conn.

... O., '34, guard, 21 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 155 lbs., Burlington H. S., Bur-...

... G., '35, halfback, 24 yrs., 6 ft., ... Vermont Acad., Willimantic, ...

... R., '35, guard, 20 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 165 lbs., Chapman Tech., New ...Conn.

... J., '34, end, 21 yrs., 5 ft. ..., 162 lbs., Boston English H. S., ...Plains, Mass.

... C., '34, fullback, 24 yrs., ..., 175 lbs., Vermont Acad., New ...Conn.

WOMEN HOLD FIRST MASS MEETING

Catherine Durick, as President, Welcomes New Women; Heads of Co-ed Activities Speak

The first women's mass meeting of the year was held by Student Union last night in the gymnasium. Attendance of all women students was required, each upperclassman bringing a freshman.

The meeting was opened by Catherine Durick '34, the president of the Women's Student Union. She spoke a few words of welcome and led the assembly in singing. In order to introduce the freshman women to the various co-ed activities on campus the heads of the women's organizations each spoke a few minutes on the character of her organization. Susan France '35 spoke for Y. W. C. A.; Daisy Putnam '34 for the Women's Athletic Association; Elvira Farman '34 spoke for Philagon and the women's debating team; Press Club was represented by its president, Helen Mount '35; the Dramatic Club by Katherine Shaw '34; Masque and Sandal, the honorary dramatic society, was represented by Alice McConnell '34; the campus literary magazine, Winnowings From the Mill, was introduced by its editor, Dorothy Kennedy '35; Bluestockings, the women's literary club, was represented by Alice Hoyt '34; the CYNIC staff had as its representative Jane Parsons '35.

Following these speeches dancing was held to the accompaniment of a small orchestra. The main part of the meeting was the dancing, which served as a medium for acquaintance between the upperclass women and the freshman women.

"WINNOWINGS" STAFF HOLDS FIRST MEETING

On Wednesday evening, September 20, the staff of Winnowings from the Mill held their first meeting of the year. They decided that the first issue of the season will appear in the second week of November. Moreover, the magazine this year will be a larger size, so Dorothy Kennedy '35, the editor-in-chief, urges all who ever tried to write a short story, essay, poem, or book review to hand in some of their attempts. The magazine this year, she says, is going to be better than ever, so the undergraduates are urged to buy their subscriptions immediately. Elizabeth Rich '35 is in charge of the circulation, but any member of the staff would be glad to take your subscription.

The staff of Winnowings includes: Eugenia Powers '34, Elizabeth Rich '35, N. H. Myers '34, J. M. Libby '35, R. J. Weissman M. '33, W. E. Cass '35, A. A. Ross '34, Elva Mae Jenkins '36, Dorothea Meader '34, and Elizabeth Haig '36.

During the recent fire which destroyed a ninety-year-old building at Bethany College, the students formed a circle and prevented firemen from saving the building, singing, "Keep the Home Fires Burning." Better watch the Old Dorm. It may catch fire some day if somebody doesn't push it off into the lake before then.

While on the above theme, you may be interested to learn that at Oregon University there is a class in pottery and sculpture which has seven blind students as members. The prof finds that they accomplish some remarkable work, despite their handicap, due to their highly developed sense of touch.

Vervoort, E. L., '36, guard, 20 yrs., 5 ft. 9 in., 165 lbs., South Side H. S., Rockville Center, N. Y.

Wegner, F. E., '34, tackle, 21 yrs., 6 ft. 3 in., 190 lbs., Plainfield H. S., Plainville, Conn.

Werner, A. C., '36, fullback, 23 yrs., 5 ft. 8 in., 173 lbs., Terryville H. S., Torrington, Conn.

Woodard, R., '35, halfback, 20 yrs., 5 ft. 9 in., 158 lbs., Hyde Park H. S., Hyde Park.

Gold Key Inspects

Gold Key Society made an inspection at last Wednesday morning's military drill to discover the men who have not been wearing their frosh hats. The sophomores took the names of many guilty members of the class of 1937. The check-up proved that many of the frosh were proud enough of their class to wear their caps, while others apparently have not yet acquired any of the true Vermont spirit.

Hazing and strict enforcement of freshman rules are things of the past at Vermont, and although the form of punishment has not yet been decided upon by the sophomores, a plan will be adopted soon to assist the frosh to conform to the ancient Vermont tradition.

MERGER OF DRAMATIC CLUBS PLANNED TO TAKE PLACE IN CURRENT YEAR

Admission Requirements to Honorary Groups are Also to be Made Harder

A merger of all college dramatic societies is proposed by officials of the various groups. Heretofore, plays have been given by four different groups, Wig and Buskin, men's honorary society, Masque and Sandal, women's honorary society, Dramatic Club, and the Group Players. Inasmuch as the University's allotment of financial support has been given entirely to Wig and Buskin, the other societies have had to present plays with no assurance as to their financial success.

With the new organization, the honorary societies will be purely honorary and their membership will be restricted to those who have done outstanding work in dramatics, who have held more than just a speaking part. A suggestion has been made that the requirements for membership be either a very good principal or a speaking part in at least five plays; moreover, the officers of the larger group will be made members of the honorary society.

In former years Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal have combined to give two college plays a year; Dramatic Club has sponsored three one-act plays, in which the three lower classes compete for first place; and all other plays have been given by the Group Players, an independent organization of students. Although Wig and Buskin has sponsored the Group Players, both they and the Dramatic Club have found it necessary either to charge admission or to pass the hat in the hope of meeting expenses.

Woman was analyzed chemically by the senior chemical engineers at Tufts recently. The analysis:

An element: Woman.

Symbol: W—Member of the human family.

Occurrence: Can be found wherever man exists. Seldom occurs in free native state. Quality depends on state in which found.

Physical properties: All sizes and colors. Always appears in disguised condition. Usually covered with a coat of paint or a film of powder. Boils at nothing and may freeze at any moment.

Chemical properties: Extremely active. Posses great affinity for gold, silver, platinum, and precious stones of all kinds. Violent reaction when left alone by men. Great ability to absorb all kinds of expensive foods at any time. Sometimes yields to pressure. Some turn green (with envy) when placed next to better appearing samples. Ages very rapidly. Fresh variety has magnetic properties. Highly explosive and likely to be dangerous in inexperienced hands.

If enough interest is evinced by Baylor University students a full day holiday will be given them on May 3, when the college celebrates its annual all-university day. Last year only a half holiday was given the student body. A freshman-sophomore tug of war, obstacle races, faculty-senior baseball game and an intramural track meet will make up the program of entertainment on that day.

In honor of the graduating class, we recommend that the prom play of this year bear a title somewhat similar to that given by Mills College. It was called, very appropriately, "We Want a Career."

40 NETMEN, 8 GOLFERS ENTER TOURNAMENT

First Round Tennis Matches Show Myers, Stevens, Williamson Winners

About forty have signed up to play in the fall tennis tournament, while eight golfers have signified their intentions to compete in the golf matches.

In the first round tennis matches already played Myers defeated Powers, 6-0, 6-1, and Stevens defeated E. Levine, 6-2, 6-4, 3-6. H. Williamson defeated Hart, 7-5, 6-4, in the preliminaries. The preliminary and first-round matches must be played by Saturday, September 23. The golf matches will be eighteen holes and must also be played by Saturday.

ONE SOPH, TWO FROSH ATTAIN ALL-A GRADE

Three students, one sophomore and two freshmen, made the all-A grade at the University of Vermont last semester according to the high standing list just released from the office of the registrar. The figures cover the two lower classes as of last year. The only sophomore to receive all A's was Constance Calkins of Westford. The two freshmen were Kathleen Kieslich of Burlington and Mary Whitney of Northfield. Fifteen sophomores and twenty-one freshmen made no grade below B.

The sophomores with no grade below B were: Helen Bellows, Newport; W. E. Cass, Burlington; Carolyn Cook, Boston, Mass.; D. C. Gregg, Westminster West; H. Klavan, Burlington; Margaret Levarn, Burlington; Evelyn Perry, Brattleboro; K. L. Raymond, Burlington; Elizabeth Rich, South Manchester, Conn.; Alta Rock, Barre; Thelma Rosenberg, Burlington; Dorothy Strobridge, Barnet; Mary Tupper, Burlington; A. R. Wilcox, Derby; R. Woodard, Hyde Park.

The freshmen to attain no mark below B were: P. M. Andress, Newtonville, Mass.; Madeline Archambault, Richford; Ruth Barron, Barton; R. G. Bartlett, Newport Center; Elizabeth Beach, Burlington; W. H. Connor, Burlington; Helen DeBrune, Greensboro; K. W. Dike, Bristol; A. S. Everest, New Haven; Gertrude Fishman, Vergennes; Carolyn Hill, Shrewsbury; Edna Leach, Enosburg Falls; L. J. Leavens, St. Albans; F. Levine, West Rutland; H. P. Levine, Port Chester, N. Y.; Wilma Nelson, Ryegate; F. J. Nuissl, Montpelier; Norma Piper, Windsor; Esther Sinclair, Essex Junction; E. L. Vervoort, Rockville Center, N. Y.; B. Weiss, Brooklyn, N. Y.

FIRST "ENTERTAINMENT" TOMORROW EVENING

There is a real treat in store for you, Freshmen! Tomorrow evening is the date for the first entertainment evening, and none but the committee in charge knows what the program is to be. In answer to a curious reporter's inquiries, the committee revealed the news that this newly conceived entertainment can be enjoyed for only ten cents, and that during the course of the evening, refreshments will be served—real Vermont refreshments.

The committee members have been planning all summer for unusual programs for Saturday evenings, and this is only the first of a series of altogether unique "nights of fun." This one is especially planned for those who missed the freshman mixer, for here will be another opportunity of meeting your classmates, as well as members of the other classes. And you upperclassmen will probably meet some of those freshman girls you've seen around campus.

Whatever your interests, the sponsors of the program assuredly advise you to come. The program, say they, is one of infinite variety, and even the most blasé of upperclassmen will find entertainment.

Showing something of what it costs to be an educated nation, the United States office of education reports that in 1931 we spent on American schools $3,200,000,000, with a teaching force in all institutions of learning, public and private, of 1,029,000. It is interesting to note the number enrolled in various classes as reported by the office. The report shows 21,211,325 in the public elementary schools, 4,354,815 in high schools, 1,099,468 in institutions of higher learning, with 2,700,000 in private and parochial schools.

VETERAN LINE-UP OF GRIDIRON MEN RAISES VERMONTERS HOPES

With Two Weeks' Practice, Team Bids Fair to Develop Into Powerful Combination

The fighting Catamounts who for the past few years, with the exception of last, have been fighting in name only after almost two weeks of steady drill are becoming molded into a powerful unit which promises to arouse hope for a successful season even among the most pessimistic of their followers.

Last year this same team with the exception of two or three standouts who will be missing, became aroused and fought through a fairly successful season. The high spots of the season came during the Norwich, Boston University and Middlebury games.

In the Norwich game, flashing a versatile attack featuring Saba, Lanahan and Sowka, Vermont rolled up three touchdowns before easing up as all the subs were rushed in for experience. In the Boston game, against a very much improved and formidable opponent, the Cats displayed lots of fight in holding the Terriers to a scoreless tie. In the Middlebury game plenty of power and ability was shown and a victory only was lost by poor generalship.

Veteran Line-up

A line-up boasting a veteran for every position and plenty of reserve material, with the addition of two valuable men who have stayed out of school for a year makes prospects look promising. Itch Giardi and Don Rock, who starred on the 1931 freshman team, have swelled the backfield squad to a point of greatness. Giardi is a stocky, well-built fullback who is tough enough and well versed in blocking so that he can clean out for such backs as Lanahan and Sowka. Rock, a fast-running back, should team up well with Lanahan on the carrying end.

For a tentative eleven, Coach Burke has been trying Joe and Rollie Delfausse, alternating at the ends with Red Negus and Moe Gardner. Red Cook and Capt. Jack Morgan are at the tackles. McGowan and Scratch Caracciolo at the guards, with Susie Paul, outstanding freshman center last year, handling the pivot position.

The first team backfield lined up with John Beckley at quarter, Lanahan and Sowka at the halves with Eddie Ramon at full. The second string, or "B" backfield, lined up with Funk at quarter, Werner and Onnie Brown at the halves and Giardi filling in at the fullback position.

And the Enemies?

Middlebury, of course, will have its usual strong, tricky team. Ben Beck, who has built up the reputation of turning out fast, clever teams, has plenty of material for another fine eleven. Captain Riccio, who played such a great game last year against Vermont, has been hailed as All-American material by Asst. Coach Forrest Branch and around him Coach Beck has hopes of building another successful team.

St. Michael's, who startled the conference with their powerful team last year, have lost a number of their huge linemen and will not be quite such a threat as last year. However, Coach Bob Carr has a wealth of fine backfield stars who, with some help from the line, should give the other coaches of the conference plenty of worry before the season is ended.

Not much is known of the early talent at Norwich but Coach Laird again has the old worry of material and will try with the few out for the team to better the last year's record of eight straight losses. Laird usually has three or four outstanding men, but the rest of the eleven is so weak that no successful unit can be formed.

CROSBY GRID FAN

During the winter, when he is in New York broadcasting, Bing Crosby, featured in Paramount's "College Humor" never misses an important football game, either collegiate or professional.

Another professor of Philosophy made his debut on the front page this week. Far out in the land of the Mormons, Dr. E. E. Erickson of the U. of U. has proposed the introduction of courses in courtship and love in all the senior high schools of Utah. "It is unfair," he says, "to permit adolescent youth to encounter social situations with which he is entirely unable to cope"—? ? ?

The Pan-American Union in Washington links together the twenty-one American republics.

147 FRESHMAN WOMEN ENROLLED THUS FAR

121 of Total Number Are Vermonters: the Rest Hail From Nearby States But for One

Recent Books
in the Billings Library

ATHLETIC COUNCIL DISCUSSES PROBLEMS

(Continued from page 1)

NOTICE

History 2

In case it rains Friday afternoon and University classes are consequently held, all sections of History 2 will meet in the large lecture room on the second floor of the Science Hall at two o'clock. No section meetings Saturday of this week.

Sophomore Debating

All sophomores interested in trying out for the Bailey cup debate meet in the V. C. A. office at ten o'clock tomorrow morning, Saturday, September 23.

Cross-country, Track

Sophomores wishing to scrub cross-country and track report to Asst. Mgr. John Twohey any afternoon in equipment room or P. T. office.

E. E. CARLSON,
Manager Cross-country

Freshmen wishing to scrub freshman cross-country report to Asst. Mgr. John Twohey any afternoon in equipment room or P. T. office.

E. E. CARLSON,
Manager.

MORALS IN DORMITORIES

Columbia University's Spectator, student publication, has launched a campaign to permit girls to visit college men in their dormitories. The editorial sagely attacks "stringent restrictions which American colleges apply to the relations of men and women students." It continues: "The practice of forbidding girls to visit boys in their rooms harks back to the tradition of 'when mother was a girl.'"

This sounds suspiciously like true sayings commonly uttered by The New Youth. The editor of the Spectator probably has long hair and a penchant for sitting on the floor.

The Crimson-White opposes the privilege for esthetic, not moral, reasons. The average college boy's room usually looks like the seamen's fo'c'sle on a bluenose clipper.—The Crimson White.

Much has been printed about tobacco

"cool" "burns slowly"
"doesn't smoke hot" "don't bite"

And all of these things can be said about Granger—the tobacco that's made to smoke in a pipe.

Granger is made of White Burley Tobacco—it's made by Wellman's Method, the right process—it's packed right. Folks seem to like it—just try it.

a sensible package
10 cents

Granger Rough Cut

—the tobacco that's MADE FOR PIPES

© 1923 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

LUME 52 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1933 | NUMBER 3

PEN HOUSE SEASON TO BEGIN THURSDAY NIGHT

UNCIL DECREES RULES BE FOLLOWED DURING 33 FRATERNITY RUSHING

olishes Division of Freshman roups—Only Three Rushing Dates This Year evening of this week spells pening of the 1933 men's eason, decrees Interfraternity verning body over all men's societies on the hill. A new rules has been drawn up by under the direction of W. W. 34, president. As before, the are divided into groups which fraternity house for a stated There will be two open-house when freshmen may visit any desire.

Revised Rushing Rules are the rushing rules the Council for the college 1933-1934 with the first day of Camp, no fraternity man shall discuss fraternity matters with, invitation to membership to freshman or new student, until the ...ic neutral period after regular ...time, except at open house nights parties as explained below. word "entertain" is interpreted as ...ompanying at movies or ...conducted entertainments, ...rangements, out-of-town ath... or any other function which ...uncil may interpret as being simi... above. No fraternity man may ...to freshmen or new students.) No freshman or new student shall ...ed in any fraternity house be... aforesaid dates, excepting open ...nights and rushing parties.

The Interfraternity Council has des... the following five evenings when ...ernities may welcome freshmen and ...students to their houses: Thursday, ...ember 28; Tuesday, October 3; ...day, October 5; Monday, October ...Wednesday, October 11. There shall ...refreshments or formal entertain... "smokes" are permitted. Per... invitations may supplement the ...invitation to all students.

The freshmen and new students ...be divided alphabetically into ten ...which shall visit the fraternities ...last three open house nights ac... to the schedule below. Each ...shall designate a member to ...in conducting each group ...students to the fraternity house ...on the schedule. (The divi... groups and the schedule shall ...by the president and the secre... of the Council, and ap... by the faculty advisor before pub...

...freshmen and new students may ...fraternities they desire to

(Continued on page 3)

WATER FIGHT BETWEEN LOWER CLASSES THUR.

nnual Battle Comes After Brief Lull in Lower Class Hostilities

...a brief lull in hostilities ...two lower classes, the annual ... will be held next Thursday ...at 4.15 p.m. on the south side ...nasium. Both classes will ...ted by three teams of ten ...their respective efforts to ...and dispel their opponents.

Method of Scoring

...team which succeeds in dis...ponent will be credited one ...total point score will deter...winner of the second of the ...between the two lower classes. ...ed from a blank gun each ...ng to bear its hose on the ... There will be no time limit. ...and power are being supplied ...ton Fire Department. The ...takes the place of the inevit... war at many colleges.

...desiring to serve on either ...ss teams should sign their ...the sheets on the bulletin ...the various buildings.

MEMBERS OF PHILAGON TO MEET FRIDAY P.M.

Philagon, women's debating society, will hold its first meeting of the year Friday afternoon, September 29, at four o'clock in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum. All members are asked to be present.

"Next week there will be a call for freshmen interested in debating," states Elvira Farman '34, president of Philagan. "The Greek word 'Philagon' means a 'love for and interest in debate.' The club was formed for all women students interested in public speaking and is a training school for varsity debating. The women's varsity debating team is chosen from this society. This year we are requiring all incoming members to meet certain requirements before receiving full membership. These will not be hard, but will reveal the true degree of interest of prospective members. We hope that a large number of freshmen will work with us in promoting debating."

COMMUNITY CONCERTS SPONSORS DRIVE FOR NEW ASSOCIATION MEMBERS

Stresses Fact That Members May Attend Any Community Concerts

The Burlington Community Concert Association opened its week's annual campaign for membership last night with a reception on the Hotel Vermont Roof Garden. An association speaker from New York gave an outline of the plans and a short musical program was given under the direction of Miss Charlotte deVolt, music instructor at the University.

This campaign is of especial interest to college students with any taste for music. Miss Mailla Putnam '32, instructor in music on upper Pearl Street, has charge of the college campaign; tickets are also obtainable at Bailey's Music Rooms, headquarters of the campaign. Membership for college students is obtainable at the special student rate of three dollars, which entitles them to attend three programs of the finest music obtainable in the country. The programs are held in the City Hall Audtorium during the winter and early spring. This week up to Saturday night is the only chance to join. After that date the membership is closed and no one can join. Nor are single tickets on sale.

The Community Concert Association is a plan whereby an audience is first made sure of by means of a membership drive, and then the concerts chosen according to the success of the drive. In this way concerts are made possible on a basis which eliminates all financial risk on the part of any person, group or organization. This is Burlington's third season, the two preceding having been very successful.

Membership in the association is international. One hundred and twenty-five cities and towns throughout the country and several in Canada have adopted the association plan and membership is good in any of these places. Thus an important point to remember is that Middlebury will have the concerts also, an entirely different series from those in Burlington, and that any Burlington members can attend these without any extra cost.

In its advance information sheet, the association calls attention to the following fact:

"In every critical period of civilization music has been a great constructive force. Out of the readjustments now taking place in our economic structure a new vision has asserted itself. This vision emphasizes the spiritual welfare and happiness of the individual, so generally submerged in the mechanical routine and "mass production," characteristic of the past. In this rediscovery of significant ideals the stabilizing inspiration of great music is playing its accustomed part."

Many students found the concerts most worthwhile last year, and Harlie E. Wilson, city director, hopes many more will avail themselves of this wonderful opportunity for hearing fine music.

Last season brought Selma Lout famous young violinist and a great favorite in Burlington, Madame Kurenko, Russian soprano of fame, and the Barrere-Salzedo-Britt ensemble of the world-famed flutist, harpist and 'cellist, respectively.

BENNETT ANNOUNCES MEMBERS OF CHOIR, GLEE CLUBS AND ORCHESTRA

More Members are Requested for the Men's Glee Club—Try-outs Wednesday P.M.

MORE PLAYERS ALSO DESIRED FOR ORCHESTRA

Women's Glee Club of Four Organizations Had More Candidates Than Were Taken

As a result of try-outs held in the Music Building Wednesday and Thursday of last week, the following members of the University Choir and of the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs have been chosen. In choosing from the large number of women who tried out for the Glee Club, many good voices could not be included.

Members of the University Choir are:
First sopranos: Elizabeth Johnson '36, Letha MacLaughlin '37, Eleanore McMahon '37, Janet Thompson '36.
Second sopranos: Marjorie Jenks '35, Edith Petrie '36, Velma Purinton '34.
First altos: Madeline Ainsboro '35, Helen Bellows '35, Margaret Kane '35, Marion Parker '35, Ruth Woodward '36.
Second altos: Stella Brown '34, Norma Carder '33, Elizabeth Mandigo '36.
First tenors: R. Colburn, M '37, A. S. Everest '36, R. House '37, R. S. Jenks, M '35.
Second tenors: R. R. Baldwin '34, E. Berry '36, R. Bingham '34, J. H. Millington '36, F. J. Nuissl '36, H. I. Varney, Med., A. R. Wilcox '35.
First basses: P. M. Andress '36, G. L. Davis '34, D. W. Jenks '34, H. M. Rowe '36, A. Svigoon '37.
Second basses: H. H. Allen '36, H. Bickford '37, R. D. Dopp '37, C. B. Harwood '34, A. Williams '35, S. Wright '35.

The first rehearsal of the choir will be held in the chapel Tuesday, September 26, at 7 p.m. sharp. All members should borrow from the Medical Book Store on Monday afternoon or Tuesday gowns which will be worn in chapel Wednesday morning. Women should provide themselves with white collars.

The Men's Glee Club includes:
First tenors: R. Colburn, M '37, A. S. Everest '36, J. Gillespie '37, R. S. Jenks, M '35, A. R. Wilcox '35.
Second tenors: R. R. Baldwin '34, E. Berry '35, R. Bingham '34, J. H.

(Continued on page 2)

BAND ROSTER INCLUDES FORTY-SEVEN MEMBERS SAYS DIRECTOR LECHNYR

Twenty-two of New Band Members are Freshmen

The R. O. T. C. band has again started making campus ring with its lively martial music. The band was formed last week under Mr. J. F. "Joe" Lechnyr, director, and has been holding daily rehearsals at Converse Hall. Try-outs were necessary because of the large number of applicants for certain parts. The roster of the present band shows forty-seven members, twenty-two being freshmen.

Director Lechnyr made the following statement: "I believe the R. O. T. C. band this season will be the best in years, certainly in several past years. This is due to the large number of old members staying in and the high grade of new members, and I am looking for a great year."

The same officers will serve again this year as last. N. O. Wells '34 is the first assistant director, J. C. Bellino '36 is second assistant director, and J. J. Millett '36 is the drum major.

The following is the personnel of the band:

I. H. Ainsworth '36, G. W. Baker '37, W. J. Baker '37, R. R. Bartlett '36, J. C. Bellino '36, D. R. Bouchard '37, N. A. Briggs '37, C. R. Congdon '34, J. D. Croker '36, D. D. Davis '36, R. C. Densmore '36, J. J. F. Derven '36, C. F. Derven '36, F. C. Dresser '36, A. R. Evans '37, J. Failla '36, C. W. Flint '37, G. W. Gray '37, M. J. Greenberg, Med., N. P. Heard '37, W. H. Hemmer '37, F. E. Hunt '36, J. C. Irish '37, W. L. Jenks '37, W. G. Kidd '37, F. Lancto '37, I. R. Levin '36, J. H. Maeck '36, H. L. Martin '36, J. J. Millett '36, R. C. Mildram

(Continued on page 2)

THOUSANDS TAKE PART IN NRA DEMONSTRATION

SIX AGGIE STUDENTS RECEIVE ⅛ A AVERAGE

Six students in the College of Agriculture at the University of Vermont are cited on the dean's list as having all A's or B's for the last semester. The freshmen led with four and the sophomores and juniors placed one each. Nine of the students received at least a B average.

Those who received all A's or B's were Velma A. Purinton '34, Bristol; Dorothy Strobridge '35, Barnet; Kenneth W. Dike '36, Bristol; Edna M. Leach '36, Enosburg Falls; Frederick J. Nuissl '36, Montpelier; Esther L. Sinclair '36, Essex Junction.

Those who received at least a B average were Madeline W. Ainsboro '35, Derby; Robert P. Davison '35, Wallingford; Carl A. Rogers '35, South Wallingford; Barbara N. Wears '35, Burlington; Sara L. Benware '36, Suncook, N. H.; Marion E. Kieslich '36, Burlington; William A. Peters '36, Bradford; Doris R. Wehrle '36, Schenectady, N. Y.; and Norman Wright '36, Alma, Mich.

ROSS CONDUCTS FIRST STUDENT MASS MEETING AT THE GYM SATURDAY

Such Meetings to be Regular Saturday Feature—Campus Organizations in Charge

The first student mass meeting for men and women of all classes and all the various colleges in the University, and the first such meeting for the past seven years, was held in the gymnasium, last Saturday, the twenty-third, at ten o'clock in the morning.

A. A. Ross '34, president of Boulder, presided over and opened the assembly by discussing the aim of the meeting. The purpose, he stated, was to get all groups, societies, organizations and individuals of the college together to discuss student problems, to interest them in different college activities, to run off skits, short debates, little acts, have pep talks, have athletic meetings with songs and cheers, and other forms of entertainment. The success or failure of the mass meetings is directly dependent upon the attitude of the student body in the way they respond in attendance.

The plan, at present, is to have different organizations take charge of the mass meetings in the future. This is strictly a student affair and the only part the faculty will play is to help out at the request of the students.

The first speaker of the meeting was President Bailey, who congratulated the student body on a fine turnout and expressed his sincere hopes that their interest would never lag. In his address, the president stressed what a fine thing it means to be "a man or woman of Vermont." He took for an example a certain man, who was the father of the State of Minnesota. On his monument are the three simple but meaningful words "Born in Vermont."

The second speaker, Howard A. Prentice, director of men's physical education, gave his viewpoint of the mass meetings. He told of the downfall of the Student Union in 1925, which year marked the beginning of the Student Senate, which was successful for about three years but lately has also been quite dormant. Mr. Prentice was pleased to learn that the mass meetings were starting once more. He urged everyone to attend for, he said, here is the place where all student problems will be hashed over—here is the place where everyone has the right to express his opinion.

The third speaker, Helen Jenkins '34, brought a new activity before the student body. On Saturday nights there will be an entertainment in which dancing, cards, pingpong, badminton, and other games will be held for the students for a small admission price of ten cents. It will be very informal and will last from 8 to 12 p.m.

The fourth and last of the speakers was C. B. Eaton '34, who had two matters to disclose. The first was that about the freshman caps. All freshmen who do not comply with this old Vermont custom will be justly punished. The second had to do with fraternity rushing. There has been a new set of rushing rules drawn up by the Interfraternity Council and everybody is urged to read them through thoroughly.

(Continued on page 4)

VERMONT R. O. T. C. UNIT JOINS IN RECORD PARADE UNDER NRA STANDARDS

Favorable Comment is Received on Fine Showing of U. V. M. Battalion and Band

Favorable comment has reached not only the military department but also the University in regard to the fine showing which the R. O. T. C. unit made when it participated in the NRA parade on Friday afternoon, September 22. The unit, consisting of both the sophomore and freshman classes, organized on the back campus and, headed by the University Band, it proceeded down College Street as far as South Winooski Avenue under the leadership of Cadet Major G. L. Davis. When it finally joined the parade, the battalion swung up Church Street in a truly military manner which met with the admiration of the onlookers.

The members of the band, clad in white trousers and green sweaters, with their brightly lined capes flung over their shoulders, marched up the street under the leadership of J. Millet '36 swinging the baton in a masterly manner. The band number forty-eight members, twenty-two being freshmen. Spectators were surprised to learn that the band had had only five hours of training.

Immediately following the band, Cadet Major G. L. Davis '34 and Cadet Adjutant S. Pierce '34 led the battalion, which consisted of two sophomore and three freshman companies. Company Commander A. Pond '34 and Platoon Leaders W. A. Ross '34 and W. Ryan '34 were the officers of the first sophomore company. The second sophomore company was headed by Company Commander O. W. Walter '34 and had for its platoon leaders G. H. Stone '34 and Treadway '34. D. G. Bennett '34 was the company commander of the first freshman company with A. L. Cass '35 and J. H. Connelly '34 as the platoon leaders. The officers of the second freshman company were C. H. Drown '34, company commander, and L. E. Davis '34 and D. Germann '34, platoon leaders. D. W. Jenks '34 was the company commander of the third freshman company and J. L. Morgan '34 and C. J. Libby '34 were the platoon leaders. According to Colonel Black these officers were temporarily assigned for the parade.

The sophomores wore their snappy parade uniforms, which greatly enhanced the military bearing of the men. Since the uniforms for the freshmen are not ready yet, they wore civilian clothes and the famous frosh caps.

Colonel Black marched with the members of the faculty of the University of Vermont and Captains Craig and Colby were aides to Colonel Hopkins, who acted as grand marshal of the parade.

PRESS CLUB MEMBERS TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Meeting to be Held at 1.30 P.M. in 3 North College

There will be a meeting of all members of Press Club Wednesday, September 27, at 1.30 p.m. in Room 3, North College. This meeting is very important and all members should attend.

Helen Mount '35, president of the club states:

"There will also be a meeting of scrubs Friday afternoon at the same place and time of day as Wednesday's meeting. Not only freshman women, but all underclassmen interested are invited. Details of the nature of the work will be given at this time. Press Club was formed as a medium through which the home towns might keep track of the activities and accomplishments of the students. We work in the Medical Building in the publicity department, under the direction of Professor Dean. A minimum time of one hour a week is required of all members. The active members will at any time show scrubs just what to do there. We shall have tryouts for new members all this semester. One of the requirements for admission to membership is the submission of a theme, the subject of which will be announced later. All should meet these requirements before Christmas vacation, and the new staff should be in good working order."

THE VERMONT CYNIC

[illegible] Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

[illegible] Business Manager

NEWS EDITORS

[illegible] Arlington Wilcox '35

FEATURE EDITORS

[illegible]

COLUMNIST

[illegible]

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

[illegible]

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

[illegible]

REPORTERS

[illegible]

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge DOROTHY KENNEDY

[illegible] Subscription $3.00 a [illegible] must be handed [illegible] which they are to [illegible] The Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Editorials

VERMONT SOLDIERS

[illegible] will attend the opening [illegible] State College eleven and in [illegible]

AS IN DAYS OF OLD

[illegible]

COLLEGE FRATERNITIES

[illegible] fraternities and corrupting in campus politics. This is the [illegible] have been censured often and attacked from the [illegible]

According to statistics from F. W. Kehoe, Registrar of the University [illegible] fraternity establishes and maintains a close relationship between the undergraduate and the alumni and provides for associations and parties during the following months [illegible] encounters of a cordial reception in many college towns throughout the [illegible]

Officially the fraternity guides the freshman in adapting himself to [illegible] and sees him off to a good start. It furnishes the moulding [illegible]

EWERT SUBMITS PAPER AT MEETING IN CHICAGO

[illegible] suggests in its original form.

"This investigation endeavors to determine [illegible] which takes [illegible] variability. For an adequate comparison of the relative improvement of persons in a group it is necessary [illegible] to weigh the unit scores of a chosen task in terms of their difficulty and [illegible] a score common to [illegible] two requirements further necessitate practice in order to obtain a wide [illegible] on the work scale over which [illegible] the experiment and, secondly, to motivate the subjects sufficiently to [illegible] holds that practice causes a group to [illegible] variability increases. Another group reports data which appear to support the opposite view, namely, that practice makes for greater homogeneity. A number of experimenters have suggested that whether abilities diverge or converge as [illegible] depends upon such factors as (1) the criteria set for [illegible] (2) the method of computing [illegible] (3) the [illegible] (4) [illegible] (5) the type of activity under consideration, etc. It should here be noted that [illegible] the opinion [illegible] cially to the length of the practice period and to another factor which I should like to add, namely, intense and constant motivation.

"In the matter of methodology there is no more agreement than in the conclusions reached. A host of methods for the computation of data have been employed with perplexing results. Some appear to show a divergence of [illegible] others a convergence, and still others that practice does not change variability [illegible] investigators, notably, [illegible] and Israeli, have surveyed the [illegible] in treating the [illegible] by the amount of [illegible] the data at hand [illegible] a survey brings clarity [illegible] according results it furnishes [illegible] of [illegible] point upon the subject of a [illegible]

"The [illegible] of results obtainable [illegible] different methods of computation may be illustrated by a preliminary study [illegible] which ninety-four college students [illegible] correct substitution, each [illegible] twenty consecutive trials. The much greater spread or range in the final [illegible] trial obviously suggests [illegible] as a result of practice.

"[illegible] where coefficients of variability are computed seem to tend to give [illegible] results, some of which are indicated [illegible]

"The [illegible] is apparent when [illegible] are drawn. Initial and final scores give a correlation of +.75—.031; final scores and intelligence +.84—.068; initial scores and intelligence +.67—.067. On the other hand initial scores and percent of improvement give a negative correlation of −.50—.054; and percent of improvement and intelligence [illegible] with a higher score. Furthermore, subjects with low intelligence scores approaching values of conventionally accepted [illegible] as a result of an approach [illegible] measurements upon the averages for the various levels of difficulty derived from these levels.

"In order to carry out this plan I [illegible] a hundred trials on a modified Snoddy mirror-tracing device. The essentials [illegible] groove in a copper plate which is traced [illegible] by means of a stylus while it is observed [illegible] additional gross improvement for every two points [illegible] improvement until he reached a score [illegible] making 40 or a worse score by two after reaching 25 he would lose a penny for each such recession. It appears from the results that this type of motivation tends to keep more constant the rank of individuals [illegible] previously been reported. This is evidenced by the unusually high correlation of .92 [illegible] between initial scores and gross improvement.

"In a further discussion of variability [illegible] drawn a distinction between the [illegible] of practice upon achievement [illegible] improvability. Improvability [illegible] by the amount of work [illegible] to reach a certain point on the work scale, whereas improvability refers to the point reached. In other words the objective work scale constitutes achievement whereas the amount of work necessary to attain such an objective constitutes improvability. When we compare the variability of initial and final scores we are dealing with variability in achievement whereas when we refer to the amount of work necessary to progress from one level on the work [illegible] to another we are characterizing improvability. These definitions are based upon the concept that improvement consists of elimination of errors or excess movements and of reduction in [illegible]

"I shall next present data concerning the dispersion of improvability and later compare it with variability in achievement. The work scale consists of the total range of performance for forty subjects each taking 100 trials. For example, the poorest score in time is 245 seconds and the best final score is four seconds. This constitutes the work scale [illegible] such a work scale naturally divides itself into three intervals. The middle interval consists of the range over which all subjects progress in the course of the experiment. The end intervals consist of the range up to the point where the best subject starts the performance and at the other end the range between the points where the poorest and the best subject drops out. For [illegible] this study these intervals are: 245 seconds to 45, 45 to 10 and from 10 to 4. For errors they are from 200 to 25, 25 to 10 and from 10 to 0."

It is of importance that the curves which were derived from the numerical data obtained are of a nature which one would expect in a motor task. Increasing difficulty is correlated with decreasing achievement. In other words a difficult curve gives us an inverted learning curve.

Experimenter's note:

It is quite certain that we have here an explanation for the generally observed negative correlation between initial performance and percent of improvement in achievement. Subjects starting with a low score make a greater ratio of their progress on the relatively easy range of the work scale than subjects who start on a higher level. Consequently in terms of difficulty the poor beginners progress no farther if indeed as far as those starting with a higher score. This conclusion is substantiated by the obtained positive correlation of .32—.14 between initial performance and amount of improvement when raw scores are converted into levels of difficulty. How these scores were converted will be explained later.

"The use of coefficients of variability has been questioned by Franz and Thurstone where the common zero is not present. However, where a rational zero is used coefficients are probably still the best measure of variability. Pearson's coefficients of variability are shown for the [illegible] plus error records in the figure. They show the variability in work necessary to progress from 409 to 59 and [illegible] intervals of 10 to 19 and finally [illegible] to the best score. It will be noted that the variability fluctuates as [illegible] from interval to interval as from initial to final performance. The same [illegible] holds for the number of trials required to progress from level to level [illegible] the [illegible] plus error scale. These coefficients [illegible] given in the figure) are: from initial score to 59, 44.05; from 59 to 19, 47.87; from 19 to best score, 44.53.

"Having obtained averages indicating the difficulty at the various levels on the work scale it becomes possible to convert achievement into terms of difficulty at the respective stages of progress. This is done by looking up the levels of difficulty into which the raw scores fall. Individual raw scores were thus [illegible] into difficulty scores for each trial including the first and the last. This results in twenty-one distributions for which averages [illegible] Pearson coefficients were computed. It should be noticed that the greatest variability does not come until the tenth trial. This and a considerable fluctuation from trial to trial makes the common practice of comparing the initial and the final trials for the solution of this problem somewhat dubious. It should further be noticed that although variability rises in the fifth and tenth trials and then drops heavily it remains slightly higher at the end than at the beginning of practice. However, the most important condition here is the relative constancy of variability between the fifteenth and the [illegible] trials. This is approximately the range where all the subjects progress over common levels of difficulty and thus makes it appear that variability remains constant with practice. In the time plus error scores, it appears that changes in variability from the tenth to the fifteenth trial are very small.

"No conclusive deductions can be made concerning the initial and final stages of learning where the poorest and the best subjects progress over unknown levels of difficulty. However, [illegible] levels of difficulty for a given group are relative to previous practice what occurs in the overlapping range of progress may be taken as indicative [illegible] variability for improvement at large."

MEMBERS OF CHOIR, GLEE CLUBS AND ORCHESTRA

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] P. M. Andrews '36, [illegible] K. Locke '37, D. W. Locke '[illegible] W. I. Meloat [illegible] A. Sargeson '36, [illegible] H. H. Allen, [illegible] E. D. Depp '37, W. [illegible] D. Scarbrough '37.

[illegible] of the Men's Glee Club will be held in the Music Building [illegible] September 27 at 7 p.m. [illegible] several more good singers in the club. Candidates should apply at the Music Building Wednesday [illegible]

The [illegible] Glee Club includes:

Sopranos: Katherine Babbitt '37, Pauline Bristol '37, Gene Clark '37, Elizabeth Davis '35, Ruth Eno '37, Gertrude Hallock '37, Elizabeth Johnson [illegible] Thelma Leach '36, Alice Lechner [illegible] Margaret Lockwood '37, Eleanore Mahon '37, Virginia Pelsue '37, Eleanor [illegible] Thompson '36, Nancy Townsend, Mary Whitney '36.

Second sopranos: Elizabeth Beach '36, Elinor Bean '34, Helen Bellows [illegible] Charlotte Davis '36, Janet Dodds '34, Marjorie Jenks '35, Ruby Jennes [illegible] Margaret Kane '35, Viola Long [illegible] Louise McIver '37, Helen Miller [illegible] Alice Palmer '37, Velma Purinton '34, Florence Schoff '37, Ruth Wilkins '35, Dorothy Willey '36.

First altos: Madeline Ainsboro '35, Mildred Baldwin '35, Betty Boright '35, Elizabeth Burn '37, Augusta Caravatti '37, Helen Carpenter '36, Hilda Davis '34, Marion Giddings '36, Sylvia Jarvis '36, Alice McConnell '34, Elizabeth Rudy '35, Laura Sherman '37, Helen Taylor '37, Ruth Woodward '36.

Second altos: Margaret Blodgett '37, Lena Bussey '37, Norma Carder, P.G., Jean Fuller '37, Thelma Gardner '37, Betti Gray '36, Evelyn Holden '36, Ellen Jenkins '36, Marion Parker '35, Joan Rapper '37.

The first rehearsal of the Women's Glee Club will be held in the Music Building Tuesday, September 26, at 8 p.m.

The following candidates were accepted as members of the University orchestra:

Violins: Mary Whitney '36, Madeline Ainsboro '35, Alice Palmer '37, Mary Fresn, T. T., Thelma Gardner '37, Ethelyn Dike '37.

Clarinets: Roy Sherman '37, A. C. Svigoon '37.

Viola: C. Rogers '35.

More good players are desired, especially 'cellists and flutists. The first rehearsal of the orchestra will be held in the Music Building Wednesday, September 27, from 4 to 5.30 p.m.

BAND ROSTER INCLUDES FORTY-SEVEN MEMBERS

(Continued from page 1)

'36, A. A. Morrissette '35, B. Mullen '37, A. T. Reed '37, E. R. Ricker '37, H. M. Rowe '36, R. Sherman '37, H. W. Sisco '37, D. C. Stafford '37, H. W. Stanley '37, A. C. Svigoon '37, P. E. Taft '36, C. Thibault '36, W. G. Twombley '37, M. J. Walsh '36, R. G. Warren '36, N. O. Wells '34.

Last year's activities of the band included a trip to Dartmouth, where it made a very good showing, to Middlebury, and to Plattsburg, where it was the main attraction at the music festival of northern New York. It gave a concert and played at most home games.

This year's expectation is for an even fuller schedule. Various activities and several trips are being planned with the ball team. Last Friday, September 22, the band led the University battalion in the city NRA parade.

Watch for developments in the band activities.

There will be a meeting of the Gold Key Society at the Sigma Phi Place next Wednesday, September 27, at 7.00 p.m. Attendance of all members is required.

WILLARD CONNOR,
President.

SPORTS NEWS

RRIERS BEGIN FINAL IVE FOR UNION MEET HELD HERE OCTOBER 7

Has Been Doing Condition- g Work to Date—Works for Speed Now

At the Post sends his cross- team into its final two weeks of to the first meet with Union at Burlington, October 7.

...ctices have done only condi- ... work before this week consist- ... of from three to four miles ... rushed on Saturday by a mile ...der track. The workouts ... were overshadowed by the ... half miles on Wednesday. ... some speed work is expected ... stamina and increase the team

... twelve good men are trying ... the seven places on the team. ... the list is Capt. Cliff Harwood ... a veteran of two years varsity ... There is also Johnny Woodruff ... Barre star, Doug Suitor '36 ace ... year's frosh team, Dusty White ... Rogers '35 and Charles Howe ... members of last year's varsity. ... one sophomore class there are ... Twitchell and Phil Andress who ... frosh strong competition.

... are being made to change the ... this year but are not definitely ... as yet and if carried through the ... will be described more fully later issue.

FIRST ENTERTAINMENT HELD SATURDAY NIGHT

Good Crowd of Students Attend Novel Feature of U. V. M.'s Social Life

A total of 390 students enjoyed an evening of entertainment last Saturday evening in the gymnasium. The "fun night," as it was termed on posters, was a new experiment attempted in the expectation that it might provide amusement and entertainment for those students who have nothing to do on Saturday evenings.

A nominal fee of ten cents was charged at Saturday's festivities to cover slight costs. Cider and doughnuts were furnished for refreshments in the middle of the evening. During the later part of the evening music was furnished for dancing by a small orchestra. Dancing continued until midnight.

In the early part of the evening several games were played to mix the crowd. Volleyball played with balloons, while childish in appearance, seemed to engage the hilarious attention of many dignified college students. Ping pong and cards were among the recreation possibilities available at the time. Four enthusiastic co-eds gave an exhibition of the former game.

The next entertainment evening will be held two weeks from last Saturday night, October 7, 1933.

Princeton's president says America needs a superman. Daughter, page that halfback you were telling us about.

WINANT TO COACH U. V. M. FROSH FOOTBALL TEAM

Eddie Winant, football halfback and three-letter man of two seasons ago at the University of Vermont, has been appointed coach of freshman football, and put twenty-seven yearling candidates through preliminary conditioning drill at the first practice last week. More candidates are expected this week. Winant is now a second-year man in the College of Medicine.

Although no regular freshman schedule has been drawn up, it is expected that three or four games will be played with nearby secondary school or college freshman teams.

The two chief purposes of the yearling eleven this year will be to get the material into shape for varsity work next year, and to scrimmage against the varsity this fall.

Coaches Burke and Crehan of the varsity will have general supervision of Coach Winant's charges at the start, and will furnish helpful suggestions to each individual player during scrimmages. Coach Winant, however, will have the responsibility of whipping the team into shape, formulating its strategy and picking the men.

BROWN '34 COMPLETES REQUIREMENTS OF SIGMA DELTA PSI FRATERNITY

O. I. Brown '34 of Vergennes has recently completed the requirements for membership in Sigma Delta Psi athletic honorary fraternity.

Only four other students thus far have passed the rigid tests since the Vermont chapter was instituted here in 1931. They are Fred Tupper, Jr., '31 of Burlington; J. S. Wright '32 of Plattsburg, N. Y.; J. J. Delfausse '34 of Rockville Center, L. I., N. Y., star end on the football team; and J. L. Beckley '34 of Great Neck, L. I., N. Y., captain-elect of baseball and basketball and football '34.

Those who have just completed the swimming requirement of 100 yards in one minute and forty-five seconds are R. M. Bent '35 of Gardner, Mass.; J. E. Crane '36 of Stamford, Conn.; S. H. Ross '37 of Middlebury; I. B. Naylor '35 of Hartford, Conn.; and A. H. Cass '34 of Essex Junction.

About twenty-five University of Vermont undergraduates are working to pass the twelve tests which admit them into Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity, and eight have passed the swimming requirement, which makes it possible for them to work out the other events in the gymnasium this winter.

The tests include 100-yard dash, low hurdles, high jump, broad jump, shot put, baseball or javelin throw, punting football, mile run, handspring, hand stand and fence vault. A varsity major sport letter may be substituted for one event other than swimming.

SIGNAL CORPS SYSTEMS, TELEVISION EXPLAINED AT A. I. E. E. MEETING

D. W. Jenks '34 and C. J. Libby '34 gave talks at the A. I. E. E. meeting held last Friday morning in the Williams Science. Jenks explained the system used in army Signal Corps communication, while Libby spoke on the rudiments of television. Both illustrated their talks by diagrams. Anyone interested in electricity may attend the meetings held every Friday morning at 11.30.

CATAMOUNTS SCRIMMAGE IN PREPARATION FOR INITIAL GAME SATURDAY

Team Opens Season Against Connecticut State in Burlington Saturday

The 1933 football season of the University of Vermont will get into full swing next Saturday, when the squad will meet the Connecticut State eleven. Coach Burke has been giving his charges plenty of hard work in preparation for the game. Although the encounter Saturday is nothing out of the ordinary for the Vermont team, the Connecticut State eleven has already won a game, having defeated Cooper Union 19-6. The visiting eleven will probably be considerably improved this season, due to the abolition of probation rules at Connecticut State. However, the Catamounts will have the advantage of playing their first game on their own field.

Much spirit and fight has been shown by the squad in the scrimmages held during the past week between the three complete teams. Everyone was especially pleased with last Saturday's scrimmage.

Joe Delfausse and Captain Morgan have been out of scrimmage practice with minor injuries, but they are expected to be in shape for the initial game. With a line-up including several of last year's veterans the squad feels optimistic as to the outcome of Saturday's game.

Quoting the Illustrated Football Annual we find that the Vermont team is "Better than last year anyway. The Green Mountain boys are showing keener cooperation this semester."

Probable line-up: R. Delfausse, le.; Cook, lt.; Paul, Caracciolo, lg.; Bowers, c.; McGowan, rg.; Morgan (Captain), rt.; J. Delfausse, re.; Beckley, Saba, Werner, qb.; Ramon, Lanahan, Brown, rh.; Rapuano, Sowka, fb.; Giardi, Funk, lh.

JOHN DEWEY CLUB TO ASSEMBLE THURSDAY AT VERMONTERS' CLUB HOUSE

John Dewey Club, honorary philosophical and psychological society, will hold its first meeting of the year Thursday evening in the Vermonters' Club House. Professor Gifford, head of the department of philosophy, will address the members of the club. Everyone is urged to attend.

According to an announcement issued by Norma Carder, graduate student in psychology and president of the club, there will be a greater number of regular meetings this year than has been the case for some years. Approximately one meeting every two weeks is to be scheduled, and members who cut more than a nominal number of meetings will be dropped from the membership rolls of the club. It is, however, hoped that members will not cut the meetings, which are being planned with a view to their interest and value on psychological subjects.

Cards will be sent out very soon to those students who obtained a sufficiently high standing in psychology or philosophy courses last year to be invited to membership in the club, and it is requested that those receiving such cards will return them promptly stating whether or not they wish to become members of John Dewey Club. If anyone who did not wish to join last year and is still in college would like to become a member this year, he is requested to speak to Norma Carder or to Dorothy Kennedy '35, secretary of the organization.

OPEN HOUSE SEASON TO BEGIN THURSDAY NIGHT

(Continued from page 1)

	1st night, Sept. 28				2nd night, Oct. 3			3rd night, Oct. 5
	A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	I	J
	7-8	8-9	9-10	10-11	7-8	8-9	9-10	7-8	8-9	9-10
...ght ...ship ...ance
...ppa Sigma	A	J	I	H	G	F	E	D	C	B
...ma Alpha Epsilon ...	B	A	J	I	H	G	F	E	D	C
...ta Psi	C	B	A	J	I	H	G	F	E	D
...ma Delta	D	C	B	A	J	I	H	G	F	E
... Mu Delta.....	E	D	C	B	A	J	I	H	G	F
... Delta Theta.....	F	E	D	C	B	A	J	I	H	G
...ma Phi	G	F	E	D	C	B	A	J	I	H
...ma Nu	H	G	F	E	D	C	B	A	J	I
...ha Tau Omega.....	I	H	G	F	E	D	C	B	A	J
...nbda Iota (The Owls)	J	I	H	G	F	E	D	C	B	A

... on the fourth and fifth open house ... from 7 to 10 p.m. On these two ... only may fraternities ask for ... night preferences.

On Friday, October 13, at 4 p.m., ...men and new students shall assemble ... the chapel in the Old Mill to ... rushing date cards from representatives of different fraternities, filling ... the same as has been customary. A ...ber of the faculty who is a disinterested party and yet competent shall ... designated by the Council to meet ...freshmen and new students as a body ... make such explanations to them ... necessary before they go through ...line.

Rushing dates, three in number, will ... held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 16, 17 and 18. These ... will last from 6 to 12 p.m. No ... shall make more than one date ... any freshman or new student.

From 12 p.m., Wednesday, October ... after the last rushing date until 6 ... Thursday, October 19, shall be a ... central period during which time ... or associate member of a fra... belonging to the Council shall ... communication whatsoever with ... new students.

At 4 p.m. on Thursday, October 19, ...bers of the Council shall meet ... all their invitations in sealed ...ressed envelopes, said meeting to ... in the room in the Old Mill ... by the president of the Coun... each envelope shall be only ... form of the invitation prop... out and an unsealed envelope ... name of the inviting fraternity ... invitations shall then be ... by the respective representa... different fraternities in con... assembled to the freshmen and ... presenting themselves be... Council. In a room adjoining ... room each freshman or new ... shall fill out the blanks "I accept" ... not accept your invitation to ..." or "Undecided" and shall ... each invitation in the envelope ... to the inviting fraternity and ... to the council room.

... date of pledging, when the in... are being given out, fraternity ... remain in their houses.

... invitation shall be in writing, ... printed forms furnished by the ... treasurer of the Council; invi... accepted shall be returned.

9. Bids for any freshman or new student who fails to be present to receive his bids in the above manner shall be delivered to the faculty advisor, who, accompanied by an officer of the Council, shall deliver said bids personally to the absentees. The neutral periods for said absentees shall be extended until such time as the bids are delivered to the absentee and returned to the faculty advisor. In no case shall this neutral period end before 6 p.m. of pledging day.

10. No fraternity may pledge a man who has previously been pledged to another fraternity until seven months have elapsed from the date of the previous pledging unless the pledge is rescinded by the pledging fraternity prior to the expiration of the seven-month interval.

Any fraternity directly concerned with a person who is pledged at another college, but before being initiated transfers to Vermont, must ratify or disclaim such pledge within ten days after the arrival of said pledgee. The fraternity may ratify or disclaim such pledge by reporting same to the Council's faculty advisor.

11. All pledges shall wear buttons, unless pledging shall be declared irregular by the Faculty Council; they shall be strictly honored by all fraternities. It is herewith expressly ruled that the Faculty Council alone shall have the power to declare a pledge irregular or unlawful.

12. Penalties for the infraction of the rushing rules will be administered by a Faculty Council, composed of five members of the faculty who are members of fraternities which do not have chapters here.

In dealing with a violation the Faculty Council shall sit as a court with the offending fraternity as the defendant and the president of the Faculty Council as a presiding judge. All the evidence shall be presented to the court by both defending and prosecuting fraternities, and then a decision will be made by the court alone in secret session. A majority vote of the court will convict.

13. The punishment for infraction of these rushing rules shall be the denial of the right to pledge men during the remainder of the school year and prohibition from all interfraternity contests. These shall include all interfraternity athletics and kake walks. In cases of minor infraction the length of the sentence will be determined by the Faculty Council. Subsequent infraction of these rules or evasion of the penalty during the period in which the fraternity is being penalized for infraction of the rules shall be subject for punishment by the University Council. If a fraternity is found guilty by the Faculty Council of infraction of these rules the knowledge of such and the reasons shall be distributed to the freshmen of the next year through the "Freshman Handbook" and it shall be published in the CYNIC. Any freshman or new student involved in an infraction of the rules may be suspended, prohibited from accepting a bid from any fraternity even in the conference for a period of not less than half a year or greater than one year from time infraction was committed.

Freshman Groups

A

C. P. Adams, S. Alper, R. M. Amsden, C. W. Anderson, J. A. Astone, G. W. Baker, L. H. Baker, W. J. Baker, H. B. T. Barber, W. Barbieri, H. L. Barton, N. R. Bartlett, L. W. Barton, J. J. Barsalow, B. P. Beattie, S. P. Belcher, Jr., C. E. Bellmare, H. T. Bickford, A. A. Bloomberg, S. R. Bloomenthal, B. I. Booska, D. R. Bouchard, N. A. Briggs.

B

L. B. Brush, T. D. Budzyna, R. W. Burghart, W. M. Burrows, E. O. Butler, R. Buttles, G. H. Buxton, P. W. Buzzell, C. H. Caldwell, Jr., H. J. Cannon, B. D. Cashman, R. Chase, P. M. Chapin, C. L. Chester, P. M. Choate, R. G. Clausten, W. M. Collins, R. T. Cooney, F. M. Cooney, A. L. Covitz, A. B. Cram, R. A. Crandall, H. C. Daigneault.

C

A. L. Dean, L. H. Donohue, R. D. Dopp, D. J. Doyle, D. K. Duley, R. J. Duncan, D. W. Eddy, N. Eddy, A. R. Evans, J. R. Evans, C. J. Farrm, R. Fenn, T. G. Fitzgerald, E. J. Fleming, A. W. Foote, C. W. Flinte, G. J. Fuller, J. E. Gates, G. B. Gardner, Jr., H. J. Gerow, E. G. Gile, J. W. Gillespie.

D

H. R. Gilmore, J. F. Gowdey, G. W. Gray, J. G. Grimes, H. J. Guganig, F. J. Guilmette, C. A. Hanson, L. D. Holey, W. C. Haug, M. Harris, C. W. Hathaway, N. R. Heald, W. H. Heininger, E. A. Herr, C. E. Hoag, L. Hoberman, M. Horne, R. Hosking, W. A. Humphrey, H. H. Hunt, R. C. Irish, F. H. Jacobson, S. Jealous.

E

W. L. Jenks, H. L. Johnson, J. Katagiri, E. H. Keith, W. J. Kelty, R. F. Kennedy, R. A. Kennworthy, M. I. Kershner, W. G. Kidd, M. N. King, A. E. Kopetschny, R. J. LaBelle, E. K. Lanctot, C. R. Langer, R. F. Lanthier, O. E. LaRiviere, O. J. LaPierre, F. S. Lavalley, R. P. Lawton, I. A. Lehrer, B. R. Levin, F. L. Ligori, F. E. Little.

F

E. A. Lundberg, W. D. MacDonald, H. A. MacMillan, C. A. McCum, A. S. McDonough, F. P. McIntyre, G. I. McPhee, T. B. Magner, W. B. Magner, R. G. Mainer, R. T. Manley, D. I. Marlow, D. W. Marshall, G. Marvin, L. P. Massucco, E. B. Meservy, G. N. Millett, W. S. Moore, F. H. Mudgett, B. W. Mullen.

G

R. P. Munger, J. G. Murphy, F. Neagle, G. Nekos, R. V. Newcomb, H. P. Niles, W. P. Nooman, H. A. Noyes, Jr., P. W. Noyes, W. F. O'Neil, H. L. Page, L. N. Paquette, D. S. Parker, H. W. Pierce, J. F. Pisano, M. C. Pollard, P. F. Pond, E. M. Poulin, W. J. Powers, C. F. Picard, L. A. Prescott, J. H. Press.

H

R. S. Quimby, B. S. Rawson, W. L. Reed, B. C. Riley, E. C. Rice, G. M. Rice, E. R. Riclor, G. W. Rist, L. H. Rome, O. R. Rosa, I. M. Rosenblatt, A. H. Ross, C. B. Rust, K. C. Rutledge, R. B. Ryder, M. I. Saiger, H. A. Schoff, F. M. Shaine, G. C. Shaw, R. Sherman, W. F. Shuttleworth, H. W. Sisco.

I

W. A. Smith, D. E. Somers, G. E. Somers, D. C. Stafford, H. W. Stanley, D. D. Sternberg, L. B. Storms, A. C. Svigoon, H. R. Swift, G. W. Taft, J. K. Tangley, D. H. Tetzlaff, N. L. Thibault, A. P. Thorne, Jr., A. R. Tomassetti, W. L. Towers, F. Timmerman, J. P. Treadway, E. L. Trombly, N. Trottier, F. H. Truax, B. R. Tucker.

J

M. T. Turner, W. G. Twombly, W. H. Van Wyck, W. Vilardo, R. K. Waite, W. F. Wakefield, S. R. Warden, C. J. Watters, Jr., J. T. Websterm, M. Wheeler, E. R. Whipple, P. T. White, D. W. Whitman, R. C. Wilbur, E. L. Willard, R. T. Williamson, P. W. Wilson, A. J. Wimett, Jr., F. K. Wisman, G. M. Wood, I. I. Wolfe, J. E. Woodhull, S. F. Zukowski.

If any freshman whose name does not appear on this list will call K. D. Spaulding at the Kappa Sigma House, phone 430, correction will be made at once.

Portable Typewriters

NEW AND USED FIRST-GRADE TYPEWRITERS RENTED

SPECIAL RATES TO STUDENTS

BUCHER OFFICE EQUIPMENT CO.

18 Church St. BURLINGTON, VT.

NOTICE

Meeting of representatives of each fraternity, independents, Dorsites and varsity sports managers will be held in the graduate manager's office Wednesday, September 27, at 4 p.m. to discuss managerial system.

A. C. Atkell,
Graduate Manager.

Tryouts for accompanist for the glee clubs and orchestra will be held in the Music Building Thursday, September 28, at 4 p.m. Candidates unable to come at that time should make an appointment with H. G. Bennett as soon as possible.

H. G. BENNETT,
Music Director.

FRESHMAN DEBATERS

A meeting of freshmen men debaters will be held tomorrow, Wednesday, at four o'clock in Old Mill Chapel. The purpose of the meeting is to arrange for the tryouts to be held Friday, September 29.

B. McCUIN,
Manager.

BRIEF SCRUBS

All sophomores who want to scrub 1936 Aerial report to Room 3, North College, Tuesday (today) at 1:30.

HELEN MOUNT,
Women's Editor.

Wig and Buskin will meet Wednesday, September 27, at 4:00 p.m. in the Old Mill Chapel. Attendance required.

SAMUEL PIERCE, JR.

PLANS FOR STUDENT ORCHESTRA DRAWN UP

[illegible] Turnbull '34 held a [illegible] to [illegible] to organize an all [illegible] orchestra which will be good enough [illegible] the music good out for music [illegible]

[illegible] Turnbull to get together a student band something like [illegible] the eight [illegible] pieces [illegible] to [illegible] although changes may [illegible] each year the band will still be [illegible] college functions, except perhaps the [illegible]

All those entered in the women's tennis tournament are requested to make arrangements for class tryouts this week.

A meeting of Masque and Sandal, women's honorary dramatic society, will be held at the Kappa Alpha Theta House, Wednesday, September 27, at 5:30 p.m. Attendance is imperative.

ALICE McCONNELL,
President.

There will be an important meeting of the members of Philagon in the Auditorium of the Museum at 4:00 p.m. on Friday, September 29. Everyone come, please.

ELVIRA FARMAN.

BLUESTOCKINGS OFFERS MEMBERSHIP ON BASIS OF WORK SUBMITTED

Alice Host '34 president of Bluestockings, women's literary society, has announced that manuscripts may be submitted for approval any time from now [illegible] Miss Host expresses the wish that a large number of freshmen will try out. In the years past it has been the upperclass women who have [illegible] talent among the freshmen girls [illegible] among the upperclassmen.

MORTOR BOARD PICNIC

The annual Mortar Board picnic will be held this evening at 5:30 p.m. at North Beach. All co-eds are urged to attend. Transportation for getting back into Burlington will be provided for. In case of rain the picnic will be held in the gymnasium.

CROSS-COUNTRY, TRACK

Sophomores wishing to scrub cross-country and track report to Asst. Mgr. John Twohey any afternoon in equipment room or P. T. office.

E. E. CARLSON,
Manager Cross-country.

Freshmen wishing to scrub freshman cross-country report to Asst. Mgr. John Twohey any afternoon in equipment room or P. T. office.

E. E. CARLSON,
Manager.

DEUTSCHE VEREIN MEETS AT ALPHA CHI HOUSE

Ruth Clark, formerly a student at the University of Vermont and now working for her doctor's degree in Germany addressed the members of the Deutsche Verein Thursday afternoon at four o'clock at the Alpha Chi Omega House on the subject of her experiences with [illegible] closely in touch with the political life of his country than is the typical American col- [illegible] cent she gained from her studies at the University of Freiburg and [illegible] trips of hers through parts of Germany [illegible]

Members of the club and Professors [illegible] discussion, asking Miss Clark questions on various questions that interested them. Miss Clark stated that she is to return to Germany in two weeks to resume her studies at the University of Freiburg.

Mother: Why didn't you call me when those bad boys started to throw stones?
Son: Hell, Ma! What would 'a' been the use? You can't hit the side of a barn.—S. C. Wampus.

Treat Yourself to the Best!
Sherwood Hotel Barber Shop
In Lower Lobby
WE TRIM THE HAIR,
BUT NOT THE MAN
JOE. LANGLOIS, Prop.—Phone 2011

ROSS CONDUCTS FIRST STUDENT MASS MEETING

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] last year-house night instead [illegible] Tuesday, October 3 [illegible] it was originally scheduled, will be [illegible] September 28.

In conclusion, Ross stated that [illegible] should get the impression that this [illegible] a start [illegible] of all the future [illegible] meetings. These will be varied as [illegible] possible.

Classes during Saturdays will be [illegible] the Wednesday schedule, with [illegible] from 8:00 to 8:50; [illegible] classes 9:00 to 9:50; mass meeting [illegible] to 10:20, and the rest as every day.

Many spectators weren't overjoyed [illegible] Friday afternoon when they found [illegible] a street cleaning outfit followed [illegible] cavalry patrol in the parade.

Compliments of
ALEX VERRET

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
* * *
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

Why—

Tobaccos grown in this country are "seasoned" with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece

THE ANSWER IS VERY SIMPLE:

TOBACCOS to taste right in a cigarette need to be flavored or seasoned just the same as you might season a steak or a pudding.

No tobaccos have ever been found that equal the spicy aromatic tobaccos of Turkey and Greece for this purpose. That's why we send 4000 miles for aromatic tobaccos from Samsoun and Smyrna, Xanthi and Cavalla.

When blended and cross-blended in just the right amounts with Chesterfield's mild ripe Domestic tobaccos, the result is a rich flavor and a fine fragrance.

Chesterfields are seasoned right—they taste right. May we suggest you try them.

Turkish tobacco is packed thousands of tiny leaves to the bale. It averages one leaves a pound

Chesterfield

the cigarette that's MILDER . . . the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

© 1933 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

ME 52 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1933 NUMBER 4

osh Deluge Sophomores In Annual Hose Fight, 2-1

ngton Fire Department Generously Furnishes Hoses and Water Power for Second of Annual Interclass Scraps—Boulder Men Render Decision

HS MUST WIN CANE H TOMORROW AT GAME

freshmen stole a march on mores yesterday afternoon, evened up the count in the scraps by winning a hard fought tugging hose fight on the side of the gymnasium before a crowd of spectators. According to from Boulder Society, the official was 2-1. Burlington's Fire De- generously supplied the hoses wer for the annual event.

o different rounds were fought as ams lined up on the hoses. The ers exhibiting better position de- the advancing freshmen in the contest in short order. In the t fight, both teams kept close to and it was some time before could be rendered. It was decided in favor of the freshmen, were steadily but surely drowning phomores by a well directed stream ter.

third and final bout comprised the e of the afternoon's excitement, both teams stayed on their feet. sophomores advanced until they were e feet of the defending fresh- team. For several minutes both held their ground, and it was not the force of the water forced a large the trousers of one of the sopho- leaders afforded a pocket in which water could catch and forced him ld the freshmen begin to demoral- e sophomores.

commenting on the fight, A. A. 34, praised both teams on the cour- and spirit shown in their effort to restige for their respective classes. rday afternoon furnishes an oppor- for the sophomores to regain the tage they gained during the Frosh- fight.

NCE TOMORROW NIGHT PENS SOCIAL CALENDAR ND ENDS BOULDER WEEK are Dances Will Be Feature of Informal Affair in Gym

the best big dance of the season, and last affair of Boulder Week, the der Dance, is scheduled for tomor- evening in the gym at 8 o'clock.

he affair will be quite informal and shake some of the stiffness out of the as has been quite noticeable in years it has been decided to in- ce a few square dances into the eve- program.

W. Brislin '34, chairman of the has secured Bob Minotti's orchestra furnish the syncopation. The chap- for the affair are Dr. and Mrs. Bowen and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. The receiving line will include Superiores, W. W. Brislin '34 and A. Foss '34, president of Boulder.

Members of the Connecticut State team will be present as guests fraternity society.

The dance is to last until 12 o'clock. Admission will be $1.00 a couple.

OLD KEY NOT TO HOLD FALL DANCE THIS YEAR

terfraternity Conference Will Sponsor Pledge Dance on That Date

This year Gold Key, sophomore men's honorary society, will not give its usual dance. Instead, the dance scheduled for October 21 will be sponsored by the Interfraternity Conference.

In recent years Gold Key has lost money on the dance and, therefore, this year is willing to give it up to the Interfraternity Conference. The dance will be run actually as a pledge dance, the individual fraternities guaranteeing a certain number of tickets and inviting their guests. The number will not, however, be limited to fraternity members and their lodges, but will be open to all the college.

ANNUAL MORTAR BOARD PICNIC AT NORTH BEACH

Swimming and Stunts Feature Women's Outing Tuesday Evening

Swimming, stunts, and a huge bonfire furnished some of the highlights of the Mortar Board picnic, Tuesday evening, September 26.

At 5.30, the scheduled time, a large group of girls, big sisters and little sisters, had gathered at the municipal beach for Mortar Board's big function of the year. Girls arrived in busses and in private cars, in woolen dresses and in tennis outfits. Some brought their bathing suits, and they found the water not too cold for swimming; the others, envious of the swimmers, took off shoes and stockings, and a big crowd went a-wading.

The picnic supper was then served on the beach by Miss Nichols. After supper, a huge bonfire was built and by its light the four classes presented their stunts.

First, the Juniors appeared. A mother and her child were found roaming through a cemetery. In the cemetery were white gravestones (girls whose head and arms were covered with pillow cases), on which were written epitaphs—epitaphs about members of the Junior class. Susan France was in charge of the stunt.

The Seniors, Elvira Farman in charge, showed a student meeting in 1934. The students had convened to pass new ordinances for the government of women students. Smoking was required. Women were required to be in the dormitories at 2.00 o'clock; of course, the time was extended after a 3.00 o'clock dance. Then, one representative gave a speech advocating shorts for tennis.

The Sophomores gave a skit with three characters. In it a bashful man desired to ask an elderly gentleman for his daughter's hand; to help him in his suit, he took with him a friend of his. The friend, while being a great help in exaggerating the young man's virtues and financial condition, produced a very embarrassing situation when the father inquired whether the suitor had a cold; for the friend immediately answered the question, "Oh, no, he has tuberculosis." Harriet Gray was in charge of the skit.

Jerry Kipp was in charge of the Freshman stunt. They represented a group of children putting on a show under the supervision of their mother. They spoke poems, sang songs, and in many ways entertained the audience.

The prize for the best stunt was awarded to the Sophomore class, and the picnic ended by the giving of cheers, led by Frances Rowe '36, and the singing of "Champlain."

FRATERNITIES HAVE FIRST OPEN HOUSE LAST NIGHT; FOUR MORE NEXT WEEK

Group Plan Again Used; About 200 Frosh Visit Various Houses

The 1933 men's rushing season opened last night with a crowd of freshmen storming the venerable Vermont fraternity house. About two hundred green yearlings, divided into ten groups, were herded into the respective fraternity houses. Each fraternity designated a member to act as guide in conducting each group to the fraternity house following it on the schedule.

The next open house gatherings are Tuesday, October 3, Thursday, October 5, Monday, October 9, and Wednesday, October 11. Freshmen and new students may visit whatever fraternities they desire on the fourth and fifth open house nights from 7 to 10 p.m.

Rushing date cards are to be given out in the Old Mill Friday, October 13. Rushing dates are scheduled for October 16, 17 and 18 from 6 to 12 p.m.

Boulder Has Traditional Smoker Tonight; Also Directs Cane Rush, Third Frosh-Soph Tilt Between Halves of Game Tomorrow

CANE RUSH RULES

1. The cane rush is open to as many freshmen and sophomores as wish to take part.

2. No man shall wear other than rubber-soled shoes or moccasins.

3. The freshmen will line up along the 30-yard line at the north end of the football field; the sophomores along the 30-yard line at the south end of the field. The canes will be placed along the 50-yard line.

4. On a signal, both classes will rush for the canes and struggle for possession of them.

5. The purpose of the rush is to get as many canes as possible. Each whole cane shall count two points. The crook of a cane with a foot or more of stub shall count one point.

6. The scrap shall last seven minutes.

7. A warning whistle will be given one minute before the end of the rush. A pistol shot will close the contest.

8. Canes still in the hands of men of both classes will be awarded by the judges to the class having the greatest number of hands on the crook end of the cane.

9. At the close of the rush each class will file past a designated Boulder man for the determination of the score.

GEO. H. BURROWS,
Chairman Cane Rush.

REV. LOWE OF JOHNSON IS SPEAKER IN CHAPEL

Rev. A. Richie Lowe of Johnson was the speaker at the chapel service, Wednesday, September 27. Reverend Lowe took as his theme, "Everyone Shall Bear His Own Burden." He pointed out that there are two distinct groups in the world, the observers and the participants. The former group sits on the sidelines and watches life go by, while the latter put their shoulders to the wheel and thereby derive many benefits. Reverend Lowe also stressed the inadvisability of "scattering one's energy over many things," but stated that one would best succeed if he were willing to assume his own responsibilities in the classroom, on the campus and in the various activities.

In closing, Reverend Lowe urged the students to think which of the two groups they belonged to, and to decide whether they were "carrying their own burdens."

ARIEL PROGRESSES WITH PHOTOGRAPHY AND QUESTIONNAIRES

Work is Now Three Weeks Ahead of Regular Schedule

Progress on the 1935 Ariel is being made in several important aspects. George Eberneck, photographer from White's Studio, is doing portrait work in the Fleming Museum this week and most of next. Since every junior has to buy a copy of the book anyway he might as well have his picture made. W. E. Cass, editor, urges everyone to make appointments as early as possible so as to avoid a last minute rush. He especially says not to wait to be called up. Appointments may be made at the Museum auditorium.

Questionnaires are being distributed. The members of the class are encouraged to consider them in the spirit they were intended. "Not all the data in the questionnaires will be used," says Bill Cass, "only that most significant and interesting and certainly none that might prove embarrassing to the writer."

The work on the book is three weeks ahead of the regular schedule. The engraver is working on an art theme for the book, and has started the engravings.

If any sophomore men wish to scrub the Ariel they should see Bill Cass or some of the Ariel staff.

American industry and commerce today find themselves helpless and financially ruined by reason of their technical efficiency, progress and daring, coupled with an unpardonable lack of vision, indifference and a selfish neglect of the social and economic conditions.
—Representative Philip La Guardia.

FROSH WILL MEET SOPHS IN CANE RUSH TOMORROW

Football Fans Will Audience Traditional Battle Between Halves of Game

Tomorrow is the day for the traditional annual cane rush. Superintended by Boulder Society, the second of the great sophomore-freshman battles is held between the halves of the season's first football tussle.

Briefly, the procedure is as follows: The freshmen and band gather before the gymnasium at 1.30 Saturday afternoon. Marching to music, this gathering will betake itself to Hayes & Carney's, where the freshmen will be given (with the compliments of Hayes & Carney's) the canes. From downtown the band will escort the frosh up College Street, across the campus, and past Converse Hall to Centennial Field where the game is to begin at 2.30. Freshmen will surrender their canes at the gate on entering the field.

The rush itself proceeds under the direction of Boulder men, the two rival classes being started from the opposite 30-yard lines by the firing of a shot. Thereupon the two groups will converge at the center of the field and see which class can come out with the greater number of canes at the end of the seven-minute scramble. Boulder men will then determine the score, according to the official rules set forth on posters about the campus. May the best team raise the most cane!

MILITARY DEPARTMENT SAYS APPOINTMENTS ARE ONLY TEMPORARY ONES

Last Year's Seniors Have All Had Active Duty Since Graduation in June

Seniors enrolled for the advanced course in the military department are beginning to wonder what promotions will bring them during the coming year. Temporary assignments to command for the NRA parade last Friday have proven to be exactly what they were announced, temporary only. G. I. Davis, who commanded the entire R. O. T. C. battalion down Main Street and up Church, was a major for the day only. Since that time he has been a captain, a lieutenant and a sergeant. His assignments, like those of his other classmates, have been rotated from day to day.

Last year's seniors have gone on into the reserve of the Army of the United States. Major Woodward is now a "second lossey" in the 388th infantry, as are also all of last year's company commanders, Colburn, Loudon, Reed, and Powell, and most of the lieutenants. With two exceptions, last year's seniors have all had active duty training. Their new gold bars had not had a chance to lose their shine when they went to Fort Allen or Fort Devens for service with the regular army.

Following are the names of those enrolled for the senior year of military training, or the second year advanced course of the R. O. C. T., as it is called in regulations: Bennett, D. E., Cass, A. H., Coburn, W. N., Connelly, J. J., Davis, G. L., Davis, L. E., Donahue, R. M., Drown, C. H., Germann, D. P., Howe, M. D., Jenks, D. W., Lanou, P. E., Libby, C. J., Morgan, J. F., Pierce, S., Pond, A. C., Ross, W. A., Ryan, W. J., Spear, F. H., Stone, G., Treadway, R. H., Walter, F. O. The last seven of these are at present showing their abilities with the two sophomore companies; the others are instructing freshmen in the intricacies of squads right and right shoulder arms.

This last task is to be a more difficult one than usual, for the number of hours assigned for drill instruction this year has been reduced from the previous allotment of sixty-five (65) to a small thirty-six (36). By their energy and the rapid progress they make in the shorter period of time allowed, seniors will shine and secure insignia of lieutenant, first lieutenant, captain or major in accordance with their performance.

Smoker in Form of Pep Rally, Prepares for First Game of Season

CANE RUSH WILL BE BETWEEN HALVES OF GAME

Students Will March to Hayes and Carney's to Receive Canes, Then on to Field

Tonight marks the first major evening event of the year in the form of the Boulder smoker which will be held in the gymnasium at 7.30.

C. B. Eaton '34 is the chairman of the affair and also the principal speaker. The affair is really a sort of pep rally, in which Boulder society will furnish the orchestra in the size and shape of the R. O. T. C. Band, the eats in the form of doughnuts and cider, the speakers in the images of C. B. Eaton '34 manager of football, J. J. Morgan '34 captain of football and Coaches J. H. Burke and P. J. Crehan, and smokes (nuff said). The admission for the smoker is the exhibition of a pair of good, healthy, leathery lungs to be used for the main purpose of songs and cheers. It is to be the first pep rally of the year coming before the first game, and Boulder is out to make it a great success. Everyone is urged to come and help Boulder make it just that.

KNIGHT EXPLAINS PLANS OF AMATEUR ART CLASS

In a meeting in the Fleming Museum auditorium last Wednesday night Mr. Harold Knight explained the plans of an amateur class in drawing and painting from life. Meetings are planned for every Wednesday evening until December, when there will be a break over the holidays. Anyone interested in pencil, charcoal, or other drawing, or painting, may enroll in this group. The fee for the entire course is but one dollar, to cover the expense of models. For further information get in touch with Mr. Knight at McAuliffe's.

Next Wednesday at 7.00 p.m. the actual work will begin. Each member will bring his own materials. As twenty-six enrollments were signed at the preliminary talk, a group much larger than last year's fifteen, or so, students is anticipated.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT PLANS FOR ANOTHER BUSY SEASON

Usual Choir and Glee Club Concerts and Opera to be Presented

The music department of the University says Prof. H. G. Bennett is getting under way for a busy musical season. Plans are not yet complete, but include the usual choir and glee club concerts and an opera in the spring.

Several faculty recitals will be given during the year, beginning in October. Among the first ones will be a sonata recital by Miss Charlotte deVolt and Professor Bennett.

November 23 is the date set for the women's glee club concert. The choir will give its annual Christmas concert on December 17, the Sunday before Christmas recess. The program will consist of oratoria and carols.

The New England intercollegiate contest will take place about March 1. The Vermont glee club plans to enter, and a new provision this year allows both medical and graduate students to participate.

On March 14 the men's glee club will give its home concert. The choir Lenten Easter concert will be given sometime near the spring vacation, and the opera or a large choral work will be given April 26.

Too late came the suggestion for the Boulder Society float in the NRA parade. Many thought it was fitting the senior honorary group give an exhibition of cleaning off the Boulder and have the inevitable "We Do Our Part" sign nearby.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

Published at the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Recording Editor
Business Manager
Advertising Manager

TWO ASSISTANT MANAGERS

JOHN DEWEY CLUB

Anyone who has received an A or B in a psychology or philosophy course and has not also received an invitation to membership in John Dewey Club should communicate with Norma Carder, PG, president, or Dorothy Kennedy '35, secretary, if he desires to become a member of the club.

SCRUBS FOR 1935 ARIEL

Those men and women desiring to scrub the business side of the 1935 Ariel meet in Old Mill Chapel, Tuesday, October 3.

MARY CUNNINGHAM,
Woman's Bus. Mgr.
M. A. PATCH,
Business Manager.

Even love cannot survive nagging.

Society Notes

ALPHA XI DELTA

Alpha Xi Delta announces the ... Helen Bellows '35, of New ... Helen Ledgerwood '32 visited friends ... over last week.

Kappa Alpha Theta announces the pledging of Virginia Herr '34, Elizabeth Lockwood '35 and Norma Piper ... Monday, September 25.

Delta Psi announces the initiation ... Arnold Ross '34, St. Albans; Robert Noyes '36, Edgartown, Mass.; Edward Vervoort '36, Rockville Center, Long Island; and Harold Williamson ... Bristol. Prof. S. I. Bassett and Dr. ... Powell were present.

Kappa Sigma announces the initiation of Norman Myers and Douglas ... '34 on Monday, September 25.

Harry Oatley '00 of New York ... president of the Vermont Alumni A... Council, leaves this week for a ... through Europe. He will visit Germany with especial interest.

MOUNTAIN DAY TO BE PERMANENT HOLIDAY

Hear ye, men and women of Vermont, a new holiday has been established. Mountain Day, which falls this year on October 12, has been declared a permanent holiday for the benefit of those who wish to become better acquainted with U. V. M.'s back campus. Upperclassmen will recall that last year there was some indecision whether or not to continue this tradition. However, participation in it was so great that its permanence is now assured.

This expedition is sponsored by the V. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., and is really an all-day hike up one of the trails of Mt. Mansfield. Definite plans for the time of departure and the trail to be followed have not yet been made, but as usual everyone will bring his lunch and hot coffee will be served at the summit.

It's really a lot of fun and we're sure that everyone will show his interest by planning to be among these doughty scalers of old Mansfield's profile.

Granger smokes right in a pipe

. . . because it is made to smoke in a pipe. It is the right cut. It has the right flavor and aroma.

Granger is what it says it is—pipe tobacco—made to smoke in a pipe. And folks seem to like it.

a sensible package
10 cents

Granger Rough Cut

—the tobacco that's MADE FOR PIPES

© 1934 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

SPORTS NEWS

T WEATHER DRIVES ROSS-COUNTRY SQUAD TO SURFACED ROADS

n Ran Yesterday Over New Course for the First Time

...ather kept the varsity harriers ... first scheduled time trial on ... The workout Wednesday ... jaunt of about three miles, ... a hard surfaced road. The ... through the University one- ... k of Redstone and down to ... to the country club house, then ... k to South Prospect Street ... south down to Shelburne Road, ... at South Willard, Maple and ... Prospect Streets and across the ... campus to the gym. The run ... a sprint with Dusty White ... last, swearing he had dug up ... streets with the long spikes he ... wearing.

... jaunt was followed by a sprint ... the triangle on the back campus. ... yesterday the squad went over the ... course, through the Country Club ... for the first time. To quote ... Harwood, "It's alright. The ... thing is that so much of it is on ... which makes it a lot easier for ... men."

... squad numbers about twelve men ... and is looking forward to a success- ... Only competition will tell ... how they really are, and that ... a week from Saturday in the ... with Union.

ALL TENNIS TOURNAMENT HAS SURPRISING RESULTS

tch Succumbs to Ross, of Freshman Class; Stevens Defeats Swift in Two Sets

...ts upsets and more upsets are ... from the courts as seeded players ... favorites become the victims of ... outcomes. The most unexpected ... when M. A. Patch '35 succumbed ... Ross, a freshman. Patch was re- ... as one of the better players and ... expected that he would go to the ... finals. However, Ross showed ... stuff in overcoming him. An- ... upset came when Paul Stevens '36 ... over John Swift '36 in two sets. ... displayed marked ability on the ... last year while Stevens played ... little.

All the favorites advanced without any ... of trouble. Perhaps the out- ... exhibition has been shown by ... Myers, captain elect of this coming ... varsity. Norm has been playing ... tennis all summer and has ... a 100 percent improvement over ... season's form. His serve and back- ... especially have been improved to ... where they are now as steady as ... forehand which has developed, ... into a tremendous drive and offen- ... weapon. Last Sunday, at Montreal, ... due notice on Hugh Wilson, ... champ by beating Vesey, the ... ranked player in the Dominion, ... sets. The particular brilliance ... feat, perhaps, as related to Bur- ... is that two weeks ago the same ... ran through Fred Tupper, former ... at Vermont, in two sets.

Advance to Third Round

... who have advanced to the ... are: Stevens beat Swift 6-2, ... Myers beat Morse 6-0, 6-2.

... who have advanced to the second ... are: Tomasetti d. R. Hart 6-2, ... Gray d. Williamson 8-6, 6-4; Wilson ... 6-2, 6-2; Kent d. H. Swift 7-5, ... Steven defaulted to Maeck; Cos- ... d. Wells 6-1, 6-2; Libby d, ... 6-0, 6-1; Ross d. Patch 6-2, ... Sala d, Johnson 6-4, 10-8; Bob ... O. Brown 7-5, 6-0; Treadway ... 6-2, 8-6; Brush defaulted to ... Thorne did to Eastman.

...se we live in is full of vestiges ... past. The narrow skirting board ... the room is all that is left us of ... panelling of the Tudors; the ... tail" moulding of the sash bars ... windows is a degenerate descendant ... medieval stone mullion; the wall ... a modern substitute for figured ... or wall painting.

...rding to latest reports, there ... women under arms in Russia ... any other country in the world." ... the United States on Satur- ...."—Penn Punch Bowl.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

Here we are up in zoo. lab. and the old Cat's rarin' to go. Believe you me old kid, old pal, old sock (how' yo' duchess?) the Cats are sure rarin' to go this Saturday.

Conn. State comes up here tomorrow with a 19-6 victory over Cooper Union but it's our bet that Vermont takes them by two touchdowns.

This won't be much but it ought to set the season off with a bang.

"Tuffy" Bowers barged into town last week on the last freight and gave the following statement to the crowd of reporters and news reel men who greeted him as he climbed out from under the car: "This is only a breather before the Dartmouth game but we're all set to grind up these nutmeg boys." (Tsk, tsk) "Just a stopover on our trip to the State championship," says Tuffy.

The loss of Enos Ramon, due to a shoulder injury, will be felt greatly in the first game of the season and we sincerely hope that he will be back in there soon. His sterling play last year marked him as one of the best backs in the State and his many admirers are waiting for his quick recovery.

Capt. Jack Morgan and Joe Delfausse have been out of scrimmage practice with minor injuries but they have recovered now and will surely be in the starting line-up tomorrow.

George Henry Alexander Cook, Jr., has his auburn locks all trimmed down and is in the pink of condition for his season's début Saturday. A slight kink in the thyroid which Alex found in psych. last Thursday has been ironed out and our left tackle has written President Roosevelt that he'll do his part for a Vermont victory tomorrow.

By the way, the Conn. State team is to be our guest at the Boulder dance tomorrow night so let's give them a good time. Unlimited cut-in privilege will be extended to the visiting boys and we hope that you all will act accordingly.

The case of Herb Holley who had to leave the squad due to an attack of appendicitis is indeed a tough one and everyone should join in helping to make his convalescence as pleasant as possible. Let's all send Herb best wishes for a quick recovery and return to U. V. M.

STATISTICS ON FOOTBALL CANDIDATES COMPILED

Statistics of the University of Vermont football squad compiled by Graduate Manager S. C. Abell show that the 41 men out for the team weigh 6,900 pounds, averaging 170 pounds to the man, and that the line that will probably face Connecticut State here Saturday will average 181 pounds to the man.

The average height of the squad is 5 feet, 10 inches, but the first-string line averages 6 feet, with Captain Morgan at tackle, towering 6 feet 3, and Ex-captain Larry Bowers at center only an inch shy of his height.

The first-string backfield will probably weigh in at 175 pounds per man, and 5 feet 10 will be the average height, although the personnel of the ball-carrying department is more problematical than that of the line. Ed Saba is the giant of the backs, with his 190 pounds well distributed over his 6 feet 1 of height. Enos Ramon of Barre, who is a likely halfback candidate, is the midget, with only 5 feet 6 of frame to carry 160 pounds.

Five seniors, four juniors and two sophomores will probably start with the first line-up, with four Vermonters, three each from New York and Connecticut and one Massachusetts man.

The second-string team which will also undoubtedly see action either as a unit or part of it at a time, averages 171 pounds in the line and 166 pounds in the backfield, with an average height just over 5 feet 8. It is composed of six juniors, three sophomores and two seniors.

It is indeed a great mark of honor for the Jews that this little admixture of them in foreign blood can so arouse a whole people (the Germans).—Emil Ludwig.

When a man shares another man's troubles he's generally satisfied with just a nominal interest.

Vermont Opens 1933 Season

L. Morgan '34, captain of football, playing his third and last season at Vermont, starts at his old post, tackle.

VERMONT		CONNECTICUT
R. Delfausse	Right end	Gold
Cook	Right tackle	Rufleth
Caracciolo	Right guard	Mroz
Paul	Center	Sayers
McGowan	Left guard	Sladkow
Morgan	Left tackle	Grimala
J. Delfausse	Left end	Pinsky
Saba	Quarterback	Coss
Sowka	Right halfback	Echart
Lanahan	Left halfback	Kelly
Giardi	Fullback	Cronin

PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT FOR OPENING GAME WITH CONNECTICUT AGGIES

Advance Reports Arouse Enthusiasm; Ramon Will Be Unable to Play

At 2.30 tomorrow afternoon, the referee's whistle will blow at Centennial field and the 1933 football season will be underway. The advance reports coming from the lair of the Catamounts have been most optimistic and tomorrow's game with Connecticut State will give the fans an opportunity to judge for themselves whether or not the reports are likely to be justified during the coming season. A great deal of enthusiasm has been aroused, probably more on account of the bright prospects than on anything else.

A severe blow was dealt the hopes of the team, however, when Enos Ramon, reliable reserve back, tore a ligament in his shoulder in the scrimmage with the Freshmen early in the week. He will be out until the middle of the season, but will probably be available for the state series.

No reports as to the lineup of the Aggies have been received but the Cats will line up with Joe Delfausse at one end and Rollie and Red Negus alternating at the other. Red Cook and Jack Morgan will be on the tackles, Caracciolo and McGowan at the guards with either Paul and Bowers alternating at center. The backfield will line up with Beckley at quarter, Lanahan and Sowka at the halves with Giardi at full.

WINNOWINGS TO BE LARGER THIS YEAR

Winnowings From the Mill is to be more complete and bigger than ever this year, promises Dorothy Kennedy, editor-in-chief of Vermont's literary magazine. Literary contributions of any type from members of any class and particularly the freshman class will be considered. The first issue will appear either the last week of October or the first week of November. Three other issues will be published at intervals during the year.

It is hoped that many will not only show interest by literary contributions alone, but also by subscriptions.

Any contributor will be considered as a possible member of the staff at the end of the year. To anyone interested in this type of work Winnowings offers much opportunity.

FROSH ATHLETIC ABILITY IS REVEALED IN SURVEY

Swimming Has Most Followers; Tennis and Skating Tie for Second Place

The department of physical education has made a survey of the athletic ability of the entering freshman class. The survey reveals some rather interesting figures on the sports in which the freshmen claim to have ability. The following activities are listed: Football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, swimming, skating, wrestling, boxing, hockey, golf, skiing and riflery.

Of the 216 freshman men, 205 are swimmers, 122 skate, 59 play golf and 122 wield the tennis racket. The three major sports, football, baseball and basketball, have 75, 115 and 111 adherents, respectively.

Riflery is represented by only two men, while 40 are would-be pugilists. An interest has been signified in wrestling by 52, 68 have had experience in various track activities, while 75 ski, and 26 play hockey.

This somewhat statistical survey will enable the department of physical education to gauge the athletic possibilities of each entering freshman class in future years. Some of the figures are interesting inasmuch as comparisons are concerned, taking, for instance, the golf figure of 59. A mere handful of undergraduates are entered in the annual golf tournament, while the freshman class alone boasts 59 golfers.

W. A. A. APPOINTS NEW DORMITORY CHAIRMEN

New Women's Athletic Association chairmen of the various dormitories and sororities have recently been appointed. There is to be a meeting of them in connection with the first meeting of the regular council on October 9. The names of the newly chosen chairmen follow: Rand House, Elizabeth Woodward '34; Allen House, Shirley Bennett '36; Grassmount, Margaret Millet '35; Campus House, Carolyn Cabot '36; Redstone, Elizabeth Brown '36; Robinson Hall, Elizabeth Downer '36; Slade, Vivian Donaldson '36; Kappa Alpha Theta, Frances Rowe '36; Delta Delta Delta, Ruth Johnstone '34; Pi Beta Phi, Carolyn Cook '35; Alpha Chi Omega, Sue France '35; Alpha Xi Delta, Daisy Putnam '34; Kappa Delta, Marie Horak '34. Sigma Gamma, Velma Purinton '34.

PHI MU DELTA INITIATES

Phi Mu Delta announces the initiating of the following former members of Zeta Chi: A. Pond '34, E. Morse '34, R. McCuin '34, G. Ricker '34, J. Pogar '35, S. Dutton '34; and of the alumni: Mr. C. Lucarini of the chemistry department, Mr. J. Vander of the agricultural department, Mr. A. Piche '29 and E. A. Allen.

It seems that many of the students of the University have taken a sudden interest in court procedure as witnessed by the fact that many visitors have spent much of their time in the County Court House during the past week.

Portable Typewriters

NEW AND USED FIRST-GRADE TYPEWRITERS RENTED

SPECIAL RATES TO STUDENTS

BRUHN OFFICE EQUIPMENT CO.

18 Church St. BURLINGTON, VT.

FRESHMEN!

Come on down Saturday and get your cane for the rush. These are donated by us and we look for a pretty scrap.

▲

FOOTBALL SCORES

Drop down after the game and look over our football board. All of the games are listed. C'mon down.

▼

When You Need Anything To Wear Think of Us

Hayes & Carney, Inc.

"DOC" NEWTON, U. V. M. '24
"ART" HAYES
"JIM" CARNEY

Y. W. C. A. BEGINS ACTIVE SOCIAL SERVICE WORK

Members Direct Recreational Hour in Girls' School at Rock Point

PRESS CLUB MAKES PROGRAM FOR SCRUBS

CENTURY-OLD NEWS PAPER FILES GIVEN TO U. V. M.

25 FRESHMEN REPORT FOR CROSS-COUNTRY

Unusual Amount of Interest Shown; Squad Includes Experienced Men

HANDCRAFT EXHIBIT TO BE IN FLEMING MUSEUM

state exhibit to be passed upon and either accepted or rejected by the Committee on Standards and Awards

Among the articles to be exhibited although the list is only suggestive are rugs, cotton mats, wall hangings, pottery, wooden articles, samplers, articles of woodcuts, original block prints, handwoven cottons and silver, raw baskets made of native materials, knitted bed spreads, dark articles, rabbit-lined slippers and other knitted articles, tooled leather articles and hand-made furniture.

A diploma of merit will be given to each individual exhibiting in any group at least three articles of which the quality and workmanship is deemed worthy. These diplomas will be awarded for expert workmanship, good color and design.

The shorts aren't the only ones who sell something they haven't got. There's the movie gal who gets paid for acting.

Portable Typewriters

For Sale or Rent

These can be purchased on an installment arrangement or rented by the day, week, or month.

Call at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

for details as to the prices, rates, and makes.

The long white ash . . .

Luckies' sign of fine tobacco Quality

Everyone knows that a long, firm, white ash results from perfect burning of fine tobaccos. Notice the ash on Lucky Strike. See how even, how firm, how white. That long, white ash is the unmistakable sign of Lucky Strike's fine tobacco quality, fully packed—and no loose ends

ALWAYS the finest tobaccos

ALWAYS the finest workmanship

ALWAYS Luckies please!

"it's toasted"

FOR THROAT PROTECTION—FOR BETTER TASTE

The Vermont Cynic

VOL. MF 52 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1933 — NUMBER 5

...en Fraternities Open Doors To Prospective Members For Inspection Of Houses Tonight

...shmen to Go the Rounds Between Seven and Ten O'clock; First Night Successful

...IS SECOND OCCASION

...Thursday night ten large dwelling... all were brilliantly lighted, ... music and talking and ... coming out. They were Ver... fraternity houses starting off ... rushing season with the ... dance for the freshman men ... to continue their activities ... second of the five open house ... Freshmen were alphabetically ... into ten groups, and visited the ... men, according to schedule ... light and noise within to notify ... lowerclassmen of its loca... reputation of members without ... the freshmen, some approaching ... and trembling and wondering ... the ordeal before them was ... Each was quickly led in and ... to all the members present, ... wherewithal to smoke numer... and taken on a sight-seeing ... the house, all leaving them ... bewildered. Faces and names ... jumble, fraternity history and ... were mixed with those of some of ... mighty seniors of the house. ... however, fairly full numbers of the ... turned out for these "ordeals." And ... the whole the system, as in past ... seems the most suitable for fresh... to look over the fraternities and ... for the latter to look at pros... customers who present themselves, ... for both frat and frosh to ... where he shall cast his lot.

...Thursday night is the completion of ...alphabetical schedule of fraternity ... Next week Monday and Wed... nights, October 9 and 11, fresh... may visit whatever fraternities they ... On those nights only will rush... preferences be asked for.

... Friday, October 13, freshmen and ... students will meet in the Old Mill ... to receive rushing date cards from ... different societies. These rushing ... will be held for three nights, Mon... Tuesday and Wednesday, October ... and 18. Following these, on Thurs... afternoon, invitations to membership ... issued, and freshmen will sign ... rejecting or being unde... their choice.

...NNETT ATTENDS 70 ...ERMAN OPERAS DURING YEAR SPENT ABROAD

...ars Summer Operas at Munich, ...alzburg and Bayreuth—Also Berlin Presentations

...operas in one year sounds ... a record, and that is the ap... number that Prof. Howard ... Bennett, of the department of ... spend during his sabbatical year ... Many he attended in Ber... Munich while he was studying at ... respective universities; still more ... during the summer opera festi... Munich, Salzburg, and Bayreuth. ... festival confined itself to ... of two composers, Wagner ... while the Salzburg presented ... Mozart, Wagner, Richard ... as well as Gluck's "Orpheus." ..."Orpheus" offered by a German ... group was especially inter... Mr. Bennett, for, a few years ... watched a presentation of the ... by students of the Univer... Vermont. "Cosi fan Tutti," an... which Vermont students ... he saw several times on the ...

... probably the most interest... summer festivals, according ... Bennett, is the one given in Bay... there it is that Wagner had ... opera house, a building in ... only Wagner operas are ... has a special orchestra box ... was the accompaniment on to ... and not only hides the orches... the audience but also decreases ... that the orchestra will drown ... singers.

... teamwork and dramatic ability ... stars in Germany especially ... Mr. Bennett; and he thought ... not inferior to Americans.

(Continued on page 4)

WILLIAM W. BRISLIN '34, Boulder Man
Chairman of Saturday's Dance

BOULDER DANCE WELL ATTENDED AS WEEK'S ACTIVITIES TERMINATE

Boulder Week Ends Successfully With Gay Dance and Football Victory

A large crowd attended the Boulder dance, the last festivity of Boulder Week, in the gym last Saturday night. Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Braun and Prof. and Mrs. H. B. Kiphuth were the chaperones for the affair; also in the receiving line were W. W. Brislin and Miss Cornelia Gale.

Either because the crowd was too large or because the committee decided not to try something new, the much-advertised square dance did not take place. Music was furnished by Bob Minotti's Orchestra.

The committee comprised all the Boulder members: J. L. Beckley, W. W. Brislin, G. H. Burrows, C. F. Dobson, C. B. Eaton, C. J. Libby, A. A. Ross and D. J. Tobin. W. W. Brislin was in charge.

The next college dance of this season will be held October 14, the Health Council dance. Next Saturday there will be another entertainment evening.

STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN SUNDAY SERVICES

Several University students are actively participating in the Sunday services in the local churches each week. A few of the students are being rewarded financially for their efforts, while a somewhat larger group are volunteering their services.

At the Unitarian Church, a double quartet composed of University students sing each Sunday under the direction of Clair T. Leonard, professor of French and last year professor of music at the University. The University members of the choir are: A. R. Wilcox '35, R. S. Jenks, Med. '35, D. W. Jenks '34, C. B. Harwood '34, G. H. Burrows, II '34, G. L. Davis '34, R. H. Bingham '34, E. C. Berry '36.

U. V. M. MEN TO SPEAK AT TAX CONFERENCE

A. G. Buehler, associate professor of economics at the University of Vermont is scheduled as one of the speakers at the twenty-first annual conference on taxation which will hold a two-day session in Greenfield, Mass., October 5 and 6. The conference will be under the auspices of the New England State Tax Officials' Association. Professor Buehler's subject is the sales tax.

Prof. Thomas Reed Powell of Harvard Law School, a graduate of the University in the class of 1900, will also be one of the speakers on the program. Professor Powell received his law degree at Harvard in 1904, was admitted to the Vermont bar and practiced in Burlington for two years.

CASS URGES JUNIORS TO HAVE ARIEL PICTURES TAKEN AT EARLY DATE

Questionnaires Should be Filled Out Immediately to Keep Ahead of Schedule

Bill Cass, editor-in-chief of the 1934 Ariel, has received a letter from Howard-Wesson and Company stating that the engravings, including advance art work, for the first portion of the junior class annual are shaping up well. This work will soon be completed, making it necessary to press the work on the remaining portions of the book, if needless delays are to be avoided. Most needed of the material for engraving at the present time are the individual photographs, especially those of men. Other material is well along, except for the questionnaires and snapshots.

Thus far, more than half the juniors have been photographed; but, as the photographer will soon leave the city, the remaining members of the class of '35 will be obliged to look alive, if they wish to have their portraits emblazoned on the pages of their forthcoming annual. Bill Cass warns the neglectful ones that only prompt action can prevent the inevitable pangs of regret which would accompany each and every glance at that space in the Ariel where the picture might have been. Appointments for having photos taken will not be necessary this last week, the schedule having been revised. Be sure, O belated ones, that you get over to the studio in the museum auditorium immediately! If it is necessary to miss a class, be sure the cut is excused, but, no matter what happens, get that photo!

Promptness in filling out questionnaires has not been up to par. Those juniors who have forgotten this important little individual job are asked to please hurry. The purpose of the questionnaire is to eliminate the ancient and highly unsatisfactory method of "grinding" out personal writeups. As everyone, who has been, at one time or another, written up by the latter method, knows "ground-out" paragraphs about one's self are very seldom satisfactory and, less often, fully complimentary. The new method not only makes better, more truthful writeups, but it places any complaints right at the victim's own doorstep. Hence, those who desire to help those who prepare the personal sketches, and themselves are requested, if they have not already done so, to submit their data sheets to the Ariel as soon as conveniently possible.

As for snapshots, the Ariel staff cannot get too many of them, for amateur camera shots add zest to any college annual. Pictures of fellow classmates—snaps of dignified friends in undignified poses—shots of scenes about the campus—surprise attacks of the camera on unsuspecting victims—scenes in Vermont's Green Mountains—the lake—or any view of any of the countless subjects 'round and about us—all are acceptable, all are needed; bring a print or two around, each one adds so much more to the attractiveness of the Ariel. This invitation is extended not only to juniors, but everybody!

DRAMATIC SOCIETIES TO CONTINUE TO RUN UNDER PRESENT NAMES

Rumor of Merger Nullified at Meeting of Dramatic Organizations

At a meeting last week of the dramatic organizations of the University it was tentatively decided that each organization would continue under its own name, but that the finances of all three would be put into one fund. This decision came about as a result of rumors that the dramatic organizations of the college were to merge.

In creating a single account for financial matters it was felt that such procedure would allow a surplus of funds in one organization to be used to meet a deficit in another. This would also simplify accounting matters.

Another suggestion which arose was that the unofficial organization known as the Group Players would no longer function under that name, but rather as the University Players, as it was formerly.

Thus dramatics at the University will continue under the three dramatic societies, Wig and Buskin, Masque and Sandal, and the Dramatic Club.

Freshmen Score One-Sided Victory Over Sophomores In Saturday's Cane Rush

Annual Battle Between Lower Classes Held at Centennial Field During Halves of Football Game—Sophs Outnumbered 4-1

GEORGE H. BURROWS II '34, Boulder Man in Charge of Cane Rush

SCORE IS 92-31

Overwhelming numbers brought victory to the freshman class in the annual Cane Rush, the third and last of the freshman-sophomore scraps held Saturday afternoon at Centennial Field between the halves of the Vermont-Conn. State football game. The score was ninety-two points for the first-year men, the upper-classmen gaining only thirty-one. The results of this battle leave the freshmen victorious over the sophomores in two of the three contests.

When the referee's whistle blew for the half in the Connecticut game, the freshmen poured out over the rails of the grandstand and formed a solid rank on the eastern thirty-yard line. A pitifully small group of sophomores formed on the western thirty-yard line, facing their opponents. Meanwhile, the Boulder men walked along the fifty-yard line, sprinkling canes as they went. When they had finished, a gun was fired and both classes went to it pell-mell. In a moment there was a battle royal in center field, every one trying to obtain a cane and rush for his respective goal.

The battle quickly resolved itself into a number of smaller tussles scattered at random over the field. As soon as any one got his hands on a cane or a piece of one, he got out of the battle area as quickly as his legs would carry him. But before he could go very far half-a-dozen or more men would pounce on him without bothering to find out whether he were friend or foe, and would try to wrest his prize from him. Whether or not they were successful, the result was that very few whole canes were left at the end of the fight.

At the end of seven minutes of fighting the gun was fired to end the struggle. Boulder took the freshman count at the east end of the field, and the sophomore count at the west end. The result was then announced, giving the class of 1937 the supremacy for the year of 1933-34.

MOUNTAIN DAY PLANS DEFINITELY ARRANGED FOR INTERESTING TRIP

C. B. Harwood '34 to Manage Outing on Mt. Mansfield on October 12

Mountain Day, a definite holiday this year, is scheduled for next week Thursday, October 12. Details are being arranged, and the affair is being run by C. B. Harwood '34. He states that everything indicates a finer trip than ever, especially the weather conditions, which have never failed the climbers since Mountain Day has been held.

Tickets will go on sale tomorrow at the Book Store. One dollar is the transportation charge in the Burlington buses being obtained for the day, is for the round trip and includes coffee at the summit. As soon as possible, students should order their lunches at the Book Store or the Coffee Corner. The charge will be twenty cents, and the lunch will include several sandwiches, an orange and a cupcake. Or lunches may be carried from the boarding houses, according to the individual.

The first bus will leave the Old Mill at eight o'clock Thursday morning and the last around nine. Hikers will go to the Half Way House by motor, and from there will be conducted up Mount Mansfield by guides familiar with the trails. The main route to be followed is from the Half Way House up the Old Hotel Trail, along past the hotel and up the Nose, back again and along the profile over the Upper and Lower Lips, and down Profanity Trail to Taft Lodge, where coffee and light lunch will be served, as far as is now known. Hikers may include the Chin, Cave of the Winds on their itinerary and descend by the Sunset Trail. R. S. Wright '35 has volunteered to conduct any desirous of the trip down to Smugglers' Notch. The first bus will leave the Half Way House for Burlington about 4:00 p.m. and the

(Continued on page 2)

GREY FRIARS EXPECT ACTIVE YEAR AHEAD

According to R. J. Weissman '34, president of Grey Friars, that organization anticipates a large and active membership in the forthcoming year. Because of the large turnout of CYNIC scrubs, many freshmen are expected to join this literary society.

Male members of any class are invited to make literary contributions to be considered as material for entrance into the association. Any short stories, essays or poems received will be graded for literary merit at a meeting of the judges and officers to be held in the near future. A large number of entries from each applicant will aid in the judging. Although in previous years two papers, one in each of two of the three fields covered by the society, were required, this year there are no definite restrictions.

PROFESSOR GIFFORD IS SPEAKER AT JOHN DEWEY CLUB'S FIRST MEETING

Vermonters' Club House Scene of Discussion of John Locke's Philosophy and Principles of Government

Candlelight and chairs drawn companionably into a circle formed the setting of the first John Dewey Club meeting of the year, which occurred at the Vermonters' Club House last Thursday night from eight until ten in the evening. About twenty-five people were in attendance, including all of the members in the department of psychology and philosophy, Professors Gifford, Metcalf, Ewert and D'Amours.

Professor Gifford gave a discussion of John Locke's relation to the modern era both in the field of philosophy and of politics. One of Locke's greatest works—in fact, probably his greatest single work—was his Essay on Human Understanding. In this discussion of the capacities of the human mind to know and be certain of facts, his theories are surprisingly modern in character, Professor Gifford said.

He also stated that Locke's views on government were in many respects strikingly in advance of those of his contemporaries. His treatment of the conception of the rights and powers of government and how they are derived, and of the principle of representative government which he strongly upheld, were essentially modern.

After the conclusion of Professor Gifford's discussion, Norma Carder, president of the club, brought up a few matters of interest to the members of the club. She requested that all members pay the dues of fifty cents a semester as soon as possible, and informed the new members who were attending for the first time that they would be expected to pay the dues at initiation or as soon as possible afterward.

(Continued on page 4)

THE VERMONT CYNIC

Published three times a week by the Students of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Editor-in-Chief

Managing Editor

Sports Editor

Associate Editor

Business Manager

Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

FEATURE EDITORS

COLUMNIST

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

REPORTERS

FACULTY ADVISER

Entered at the Burlington, Vt. Postoffice as Second Class Matter

Editorials

TO THE FRESHMEN

CHEER LEADING

DRIVE FOR ACTIVE MEMBERS

THEATRE

Flynn

Majestic

State

NO VERMONTERS IN HEAVEN

I dreamed that I went to the City of Gold
A Heaven resplendent and fair
And over I entered that beautiful gold
Its streets to authority there I was told
That not a Vermonter was there

Impossible sir, for from my own town
Many aspirations delectable place.
And each must be there with a harp or a crown
And a prosperous palm and a clean linen gown
Received through a merited grace"

The Angel replied "All Vermonters come here

When first they depart from the earth
Just after a day or a month, or a year
Full restless and homesick and lonesome and scared
And sigh for the land of their birth

They call it ravines wild, secluded and grand
And it flower-decked landscapes so fair
Of towering mountains imposing and grand
Whose wild recesses exultingly heard
Through forests perennially green

Of the rivers and beautiful hills
Where breezes musically appear
Of its rivers as lakes, streams and rills
Whose banks are proud of water clear
And who guess the best the Kingdom grows

Then from everything here like this
And not a Vermonter in heaven above
But would rather be spoken
Than gain the way back to Vermont

UPSILON TAU ALPHA

All students are requested to please remain in the football stands, at all football games, until the final whistle is blown, unless directly connected with the team

Thank you.

S. C. ABELL,
Graduate Manager.

Education pays. Very few educated people are unwise enough to become educators.

Hanging Rain-Gauges Prove to be Japanese Beetle Traps

(Continued from page 3) 37

For the United States Department of Agriculture has been invited by officials of the establishment of a study of that genus in the Japanese beetle research work in Vermont. The purpose of this work is to determine whether or not the state is infested with the Japanese beetle. Were the beetles found in any numbers in any portion of the state a strict quarantine would have to be established; this would mean that all produce and nursery stock coming from that area would have to be submitted to thorough examination before shipping.

In previous years inspection was carried on by experts who carefully examined all foliage in the area under suspicion. A less expensive method is now being tried out, the new procedure being to distribute special traps over a portion of the state and then having an inspector make periodic rounds of the traps, reporting to headquarters in Boston the presence of any of the pests.

The Japanese beetle itself is an inoffensive looking, in fact a somewhat beautiful creature resembling the famed Egyptian scarab in shape. Its wing shields are of an irridescent red and the rest of the beetle is apparently dark jade. In size, this destructive little villain is slightly larger than the lady-bird of the nursery rhyme. It is when the beetle works in hordes that the greatest damage is done. The speed with which these insects strip foliage and destroy fruit is amazing. No wholly effective methods of control have yet been discovered, so it is easily seen why the Federal Government is so anxious to limit its field of action.

The traps, resembling paint cans with vanes above and a cream bottle protruding below, have caused many to wonder what "those green and white things hanging over the bushes" could be. A closer inspection will reveal that within the cylindrical portion of this device is a funnel the drain of which enters the mouth of the bottle. (Ahah! That looks like a rain gauge!) Theoretically, the unwary beetle is attracted to the vicinity of the trap by the aroma from a supply of geraniol therein. Flying closer, the insect will probably hit one of the vanes above the funnel, causing him to founder into the waiting jar below. Because the luckless beetle has not sufficient reasoning power to enable him to effect an escape there he stays until the caretaker comes around. (This description may savor of Rube Goldberg, but nonetheless the traps are very effective.

Last year beetles were found in the southern part of the state, near Bennington and practice leaving that district was subjected to inspection; but, this year so far none have been found. At no time has any portion of the state been under full quarantine. It is the belief of some people and it is to be hoped that their belief is correct, that the heavy frosts this fall will kill the larvae of the beetle. At any rate the state, thus far, has been practically untouched by the ravages of this serious menace to foliage and crops.

"One is apt to think when people are prone to carry on magic as a substitute for praying." —Rev. Ralph Sockman

The Catty Co-ed says

Greetings from a Catty Coed who has the usual Negligible in her head.

* * *

A thing that puzzles me is the ingenuity of Mount-guard girls
Just all the ways get their ties changed and hair seen such as late
What's on?
Let me put you wise
Mud pies, more pies!

* * *

One kitten to another winks
That widow certainly has a jinx
P. M. Andress
Eats 1st issue
Will the English prof let that pass?
Yes, yes.

* * *

The lone night
I awoke made me natter
Why need the sophomores have wasted that water
But then
I must overlook
That Era
The gym windows
they made more clean than man before had ever seen

* * *

The kitty-cat doth now exclaim
Tennis (?) is a corking game tho it often leaves one very lame
(A reliable witness is Gladys Sussdorff.)

* * *

The cane rush too last Saturday went down in history.
The cats all meowed
in delight.
We think the frosh are just right.

* * *

Catty Coed doth now relate that she would like a double date with that most innocent frosh girl who, I recall is said to live
at Robinson Hall.

MOUNTAIN DAY PLANS DEFINITELY ARRANGED

(Continued from page 1)

last about 4.30. This will enable all to reach home in time to get supper at their usual place and time.

The Green Mountains are the principal feature of the State of Vermont. The State owes its name to the old French for green mountains, as does the University, for U. V. M. stands for University of the Verdant Mountains. Perhaps this fact will make students more interested in climbing them. Especially is Mount Mansfield, the highest, most rugged, and most interesting peak in Vermont, attractive to students of Vermont, because of its beauty, and the fact that its summit is owned by the University. It is actually a part of its super-campus, and in seeing and attending the University a trip to this back campus should be included, which usually leads to repeated trips after that, as some who have made the trip will testify.

It is hoped that as many students as possible will take advantage of this holiday and great opportunity in order to insure continuance of Mountain Day in the future. In case of rain, money will be refunded to those who have bought bus tickets.

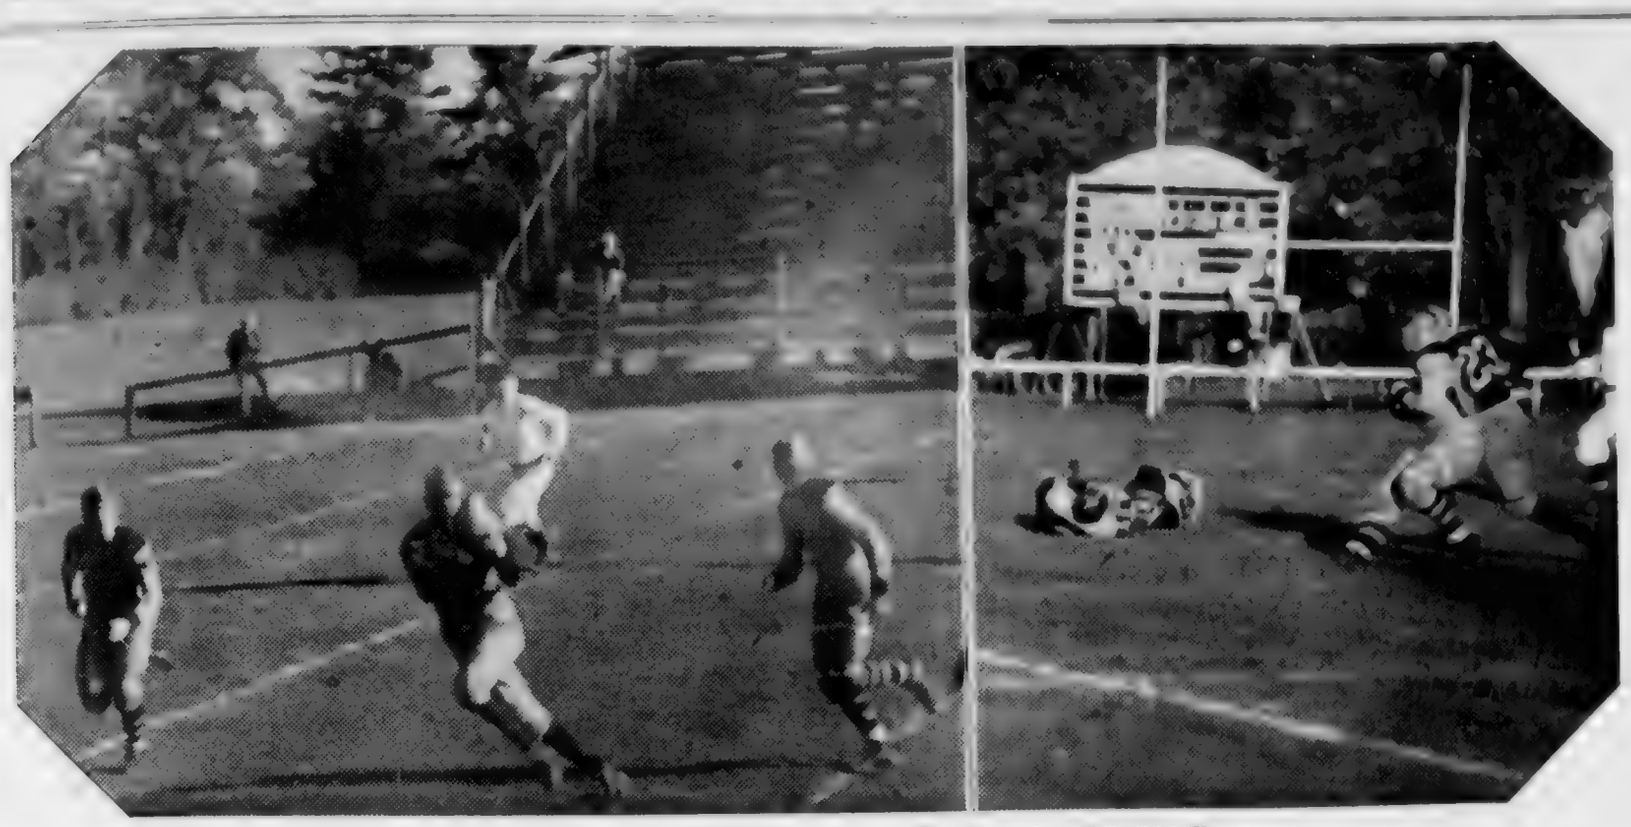
UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal will hold a joint meeting tomorrow morning (Wednesday) at ten o'clock in Room 3, North College. It is extremely important that every member possible attend.

PRESIDENTS AND DEPARTMENT HEADS OF THE LEADING UNIVERSITIES RECOMMEND

WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE

"The best American dictionary that has yet appeared for a college student to keep within arm's reach. What he does not find between its covers in relation to the general use of words in speech or on printed pages will not be necessary to a liberal arts degree."—Orton Lowe, Director, Winter Institute of Literature, University of Miami.



The best abridged dictionary because it is based on the Supreme Authority—Webster's New International Dictionary. 106,000 entries including hundreds of new words, with definitions; ... a dictionary of Biography; a Gazetteer; ... of punctuation; use of capitals, abbreviations, etc.; a dictionary of foreign words and phrases. Many other features of practical value. 1,268 pages. 1,700 illustrations.

See It At Your College Bookstore or Write for Information to the Publishers

G. & C. MERRIAM CO. SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

SPORTS NEWS

CATAMOUNTS OPEN WITH VICTORY

ACTION SCENES IN VERMONT—CONNECTICUT STATE GAME

CAT'S MEOW

—SPORTS EDITOR—

ermont 36, Connecticut State 6, the stle blows and the Green and Gold started off on what appears to be successful season.

behind a powerful line, working as a . Vermont backs piled up yards upon ds and gave a large crowd plenty of son for cheering last Saturday on tennial Field.

he students were well represented the corresponding noise was lacking. r support but not what it should be.

Eddie Sowka's perfect punt in the first od had as much if not more to do h the final outcome of the game than other single play of the day.

t put the visiting team decidedly on defensive and it was not until the rd quarter that they crossed over into rmont territory.

Fred Lanahan gave a wonderful ex- tion of broken field running and his y five-yard run for the first touch- n was as beautiful a play as has n seen here in years. Brothers Bob, rry, and Joe were in attendance and "kid brother" made their trip from marble city worth while.

Eddie Saba, to our mind, played the game of his career on the home field. work at New Hampshire last year maybe stand out as his masterpiece in Saturday's game he certainly ran o fights in all football games bring thrills to the fans but we must not forget the boys who make the way for these same ball-carriers. McGowan, Cook, Morgan, and the brother act of Delfausse and Delfausse stood out in the Connecticut State game.

The blocking and tackling of the team is much improved over former years and the success or failure of each runner is largely due to the interference of his blocking backs and a line working as a unit.

Eddie Funk disregarded the presence of five Connecticut players and made a beautiful catch of a long pass in the final period. Completely surrounded, our Eddie rose from out of nowhere and performed gallantly in his début as a varsity player.

Mr. McGowan and one of the visiting boys got a bit peeved late in the game so they decided not to play any more. (The referee agreed with them.)

Chummie the office boy's dog put in his appearance now and then and seemed to enjoy the game immensely.

Did you meet Mrs. Cow at the mass meeting?

MEETING TOMORROW

There will be a meeting of all touch football team captains in the auxiliary gym tomorrow evening at 7.30 p.m. for the purpose of interpreting, amending or altering any of the rules to be used in the touch football competition to be started next Monday afternoon. Bunny Prentice and Bumps Levine, of the physical education department and supervisors of this year's tournament, met last Monday to consider changes in the rules which would be recommended tomorrow. Any others who are interested may attend.

Vermont Opens Season With Win Over Aggies

Lanahan With Three Touchdowns Leads Team to Auspicious Victory Over Connecticut State Eleven by 36-6 Score

Saturday afternoon at Centennial Field a Vermont team completely rejuvenated in spirit and determined to start this winning season off with a bang, swamped the Connecticut State football team by the score of 36 to 6. The Vermont team, perfectly clicking in every department of the game, completely outplayed, outfought, and surpassed the visitors in every phase.

Combining a brilliant running attack led by Lanahan, Sowka, Saba and Funk, with a wonderful passing and kicking game in both of which Sowka and Beckley as well as Funk starred, the Catamounts startled the opponents and the large crowd of fans with their beautiful attack. Not in a long time have we seen such offensive spirit and fight as was exhibited in Saturday's game. Prevented at the outset from scoring after marching to the 5-yard line on two occasions, the team never gave up their driving tactics and scored a few minutes later for the first time.

From that moment in the first quarter when Freddie Lanahan made his beautiful 65-yard run for a touchdown, the issue was never in doubt. That run seemed to break down whatever resistant spirit the Connecticut staters had and from then on they were mostly on the defensive. It was only late in the third quarter that they had any success on the offensive and it might be said the only time they had any offensive for the Cats retained possession of the ball a greater part of the afternoon. However, in the third quarter with the score 36 to 0, the Aggies combined a fine passing attack with one long run to the 3-yard line and then with a series of line plays pushed the ball over for a touchdown. This offensive seemed to demoralize the Cats for a short time but they quickly pulled together and prevented any further scoring.

It is in the improved manner of carrying out assignments that the team might particularly be complimented. Last year the plays often were in a pitiful state rendered thus by the lack of ability to carry out the assignments such as blocking and checking. Saturday's game showed that these phases, while they can be improved a great deal, are far ahead of the condition they were in last year. In this game the ends and backs were blocking hard and actually hitting the opponent so as to knock him out of the play instead of merely falling in front of him and allowing him just to hit his legs and get by as was the case in several games last year. The rest of the line checked in fine fashion and on the play in which Giardi scored did a particularly good job.

One of the bright aspects brought out by the game was the way in which the sophomores showed up. Last year's freshman team was pretty poor and both the quality and the quantity of the material coming up from it were big questions. Susie Paul, captain of the frosh team, starting his first varsity game, was outstanding. His passing was flawless and he played a fine defensive game before he was relieved by Bowers. Another welcome surprise was Eddie Funk. He, too, in his first varsity game, gave a beautiful exhibition. He made one run back of about 30 yards and later caught a pass from John Beckley for a 35-yard gain. These are only the outstanding points of his work but he showed up very well the rest of the time he was in. Red Negus, Andy Werner, Ted George and Milt Jones were other sophomores who showed that they will be ready to take the graduating seniors' places next year.

Vermont's first score came about the middle of the first quarter. After marching down the field twice and losing the ball on the 5-yard line, Sowka got off a beautiful kick from near his own 35 yard line which rolled to the Connecticut 5-yard line. Connecticut kicked out and on the first play a penalty brought the ball to their 22-yard line. Once more Saba and Lanahan took it to the 6-yard line but could not score. Connecticut again kicked out and Lanahan taking the ball on his own 45-yard line raced 65 yards, assisted by perfect interference, to score. The second score came as a result of a 25-yard pass, Beckley to Sowka, which brought the ball to the 5-yard line. Lanahan again carried it over on an end run.

In the second quarter Beckley and Lanahan reeled off runs of 10 and 20 yards to place the ball on the Connecticut 3-yard line. Giardi carried it over. Then Eddie Saba got into action and dashed off tackle time and time again almost unassisted to carry the ball about two-thirds of the length of the field for a score. Not letting up a bit, Funk took a punt soon after and ran it back 25 yards. Then Saba again completely fooled the Connecticut secondary to dash 35 yards for his second score of the day.

In the second half the regulars back in combined Saba, Lanahan and Sowka to manufacture another 6 points, Lanahan doing the actual work of carrying the ball over. It was then that Connecticut started their drive for a score, most of the Vermont regulars having given way to subs. The only other high spot after that was the Beckley to Funk pass which netted 30 yards. For the rest of the game the ball stayed in mid-field.

We cannot discourse any further on the fine team play and execution of plays by the club but can here laud some of the individual stars. Red Cook and Jack Morgan again held up those tackle posts in great fashion while Lanahan, Saba, Sowka, Beckley, Funk, Rapuano, Giardi and Werner showed us what a wealth of fine backfield talent we have. We can only say that if the team plays something like they did Saturday against Dartmouth, the Big Green had better look out.

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN MANAGERIAL SYSTEM SUGGESTED AT MEETING

Two Assistant Managers is Universal Recommendation in Confab Wednesday

At a recent meeting held last Wednesday afternoon in the graduate manager's office for the purpose of further discussing the managerial system, several constructive suggestions were offered for consideration.

Some of the more important changes suggested were: Two assistant managers instead of three (unless there are three positions to be filled as in track), limiting the candidates for assistant managers to the sophomore class for both varsity and freshman sports, these candidates to work alternately under the varsity and freshman managers, during the season; the awarding of numerals to the unsuccessful candidates for assistant manager; and further recognition for the work rendered by the men working for manager.

Several of the representatives present expressed the feeling that there was not sufficient reward to the men, for the time which they contributed while working for manager.

With this in mind it was suggested that the graduate manager draw up a managerial plan incorporating as many of the suggestions for improvement as possible, this plan to be submitted at a near future meeting of the representatives present and to the Athletic Council for their consideration.

PROF. ADAMS TO STUDY AT YALE FOR DEGREE

William R. Adams, assistant professor of forestry and botany, has been granted a year's leave of absence to study toward a Ph.D. degree at Yale.

Yale has granted Professor Adams a forestry fellowship for his year's work in the Graduate School. He has gone to New Haven to begin his studies and is living in the new Graduate School dormitory.

Professor Adams is a graduate of Syracuse University and received the Master of Science degree from the University of Vermont.

It is announced by the stylists that blue will be the predominant color this winter. As if we didn't know!

Oh For The Life Of A Vermont Cow

One lonesome and well-nigh desperate ruminant of the genus cow furnished awe, amusement and other things when it was sedately led forward from the girls' locker room last Saturday morning at the termination of the mass meeting in the gymnasium. Graciously obtained from the Agricultural College for the purpose of more spectacularly advertising the Boulder dance in the evening, the cow caused no little disturbance.

● Isn't it exasperating to have to miss a wonderful party because of "recurring" pains? Embarrassing, too, when you can't tell friends the reason. But now, no need to flunk an exam or miss a party. When you are below par, take Kalms, quick-acting tablets developed by Johnson & Johnson especially to relieve "recurring" pains, such as headache, backache and neuralgia. One tablet is enough for most cases. Kalms are safe, do not affect digestion or heart action, and are not habit-forming. Your druggist has them in purse-size boxes of 12 tablets.

KALMS FOR RELIEF OF "RECURRING" PAINS

FREE SAMPLE—SEND COUPON

Johnson & Johnson
NEW BRUNSWICK NEW JERSEY

Send me a FREE sample of Kalms.

Name_____

Address_____

Now's the time to buy THOSE AIDS which change the nightmare of midyears into ten days of satisfaction at real accomplishment in this business of being educated.

THOSE AIDS are the books on HOW TO STUDY, the COLLEGE OUTLINE SERIES and VISUAL OUTLINE SERIES on such subjects as English History, American History, Ancient, Medieval and Modern History, Chemistry, Economics, History of Education, Educational Psychology, and English Literature.

Sold exclusively at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

BENNETT ATTENDS 70 GERMAN OPERAS ABROAD

(Continued from page 1)

FALL TOURNAMENTS ARE PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Both Tennis and Golf Crowns Will Probably Be Awarded Within a Week

GIFFORD SPEAKS AT JOHN DEWEY CLUB

(Continued from page 1)

Meetings are to be held approximately every two weeks. Miss Carder announced. No attempt will be made to have speakers who will treat subjects of interest to students in history and philosophy

NOTICE

PHILAGON

To all former members of Philagon let this be a warning, that attendance will be taken for the first time next Friday, October 6, at 4.00 p.m. in the Children's Room at the Museum. Three absences will drop anyone from membership, and there will be some penalty for tardiness. I want a better showing of members this Friday. If you cannot be there please notify Betty Brown at Redstone or myself at Grassmount

ELVIRA FARMAN,
President.

FRESHMAN WOMEN

All those interested in coming out for debate please come to the Museum in the Children's Room on Friday, October 6 at 4.00 p.m.

If you are interested, but find that you cannot make this time, please give me you name some time during the week

ELVIRA FARMAN, Grassmount.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB MEETS AT BREAKFAST

Members of the Home Economics Club breakfasted together Sunday, September 24. Senior members of the club were hostesses at the breakfast, which was well attended, according to Ruth [illegible] who presided. She added that the breakfast was successful in its purpose [illegible] and the members acquainted at the early date at the beginning of the school year.

Home Economics Club is an organization open to girls taking the home economics course and might be considered a sort of girls' sister to Omicron Nu for seniors, being a women's society, which takes in two or three girls from each class who have done outstanding work in their study of home economics. The girls usually act as ushers at Home Economics Club affairs.

Compliments of

ALEX VERRET

Treat Yourself to the Best!
Sherwood Hotel Barber Shop
In Lower Lobby
WE TRIM THE HAIR,
BUT NOT THE MAN
JOE. LANGLOIS, Prop.—Phone 2011

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

♠ ♠ ♠

Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

The _about Cigarettes

Of all the ways in which tobacco is used the cigarette is the mildest form

YOU know, ever since the Indians found out the pleasure of smoking tobacco, there have been many ways of enjoying it.

But of all the ways in which tobacco is used, the cigarette is the mildest form.

Another thing—cigarettes are about the most convenient smoke. All you have to do is strike a match.

Everything that money can buy and everything that science knows about is used to make Chesterfields.

The right home-grown tobaccos—seasoned with just enough aromatic Turkish—are blended and cross-blended the Chesterfield way.

Then the cigarettes are made right—firm, well-filled. Chesterfield uses the right kind of pure cigarette paper.

There are other good cigarettes, of course, but Chesterfield is the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better. Chesterfields satisfy—we ask you to try them.

Chesterfield

the cigarette that's MILDER
the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

© 1931, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

ME 52 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1933 | NUMBER 6

UNTAIN DAY COMES XT THURSDAY," SAYS RECTOR C. B. HARWOOD ctor Expects Large Crowd Hoping for Favorable Weather Then is the long looked-for Mountain Day, when students the time and facilities to to the summit of Mt. The outing is under the B. Harwood '34, and is the Vermont Christian Last year a very successwas made in spite of an early and 125 hikers went to the This year weather conditions and a much larger group turned on.

are on sale now at the Book Store only. The one transportation charge in the Bus is for the round trip, and the latter at the summit. Lunches cents are obtainable from the Corner at the Book Store. If they should be ordered at the the purchase of tickets. Lunches be ready for the individual at the Mill on Thursday morning, or they obtained from other sources.

first bus will leave campus at o'clock, Eastern Standard Time, last around nine. The buses take the hikers to the Half Way where all get out and embark the climb, conducted by guides ar with the trails. From the Half House the route will go up the Hotel Trail, past the hotel and up Nose, back and along the profile to Upper and Lower Lips, and down unity Trail to Taft Lodge. Climbers also visit the Chin, Cave of the ls, and descend by Sunset Trail to Half Way House again. R. S. ght '35 has offered to conduct any us of the trip down to Smugglers' h. Coffee will be served at both Lodge and the hotel. The first will leave for Burlington at 4.00 and the last about 4.30, getting ome in time for supper at their ing houses.

ch person at Vermont may have a se of possession and love for this guardian to the east. As sentinel it s serenely still, the first place to ct the winter snows, and the last to quish. It is the highest point in the n Mountain range and throws it- up 4,364 feet. The man's face silted looks up, with the chin, the st part, to the north.

e better name for the mountain is ersity "back campus," which is lly true since the University owns In 1859 it received a deed to a strip and extending two and a half miles the summit of the mountain. It ded all but the small plot where the Hotel, or Summit House, s, with the provision that the land be commercialized.

ssid's skyline is like a huge, ill- ntured face, looking up to the sky. ntral peaks are called, from south the Forehead, Nose, Lips, Chin, Adam's Apple. Of these the Chin, highest above sea level. From its may be seen, far below, the Lake Clouds.

UESTOCKINGS MAKES LANS FOR COMING YEAR

executive committee of Bluehad a meeting Wednesday, 27, in the Old Chapel in the to decide on the program coming semester. The first the society is to be held week in October. Margaret Whitcomb are the comthe entertainment that eve-bers of Bluestockings and at Grey Friars, the men's erary society, will meet time this year.

is the honorary literary ety. It is composed of interested in literature, for the appreciation poems and short stories. write articles and the are given to Winnow-Will. This year there is classes on creative writ- weekly.

members of Bluestock- Hoyt '34, president; '35, vice-president; Lois secretary; Margaret treasurer; Alice McConnell Meader '34, Eugenia Cook '35, Margery Kennedy '35, Elva Elva Mae Jenkins '36.

NEW BOOK SHELVES IN THE VERMONT ROOM

A forty-shelf bookcase has been added to the Vermont Room of the Billings Library for the accommodation of numerous books and pamphlets which because of overcrowded conditions had not in the past few years had the best of shelving. According to the librarian, the additional shelving space will furnish a new lease of life to the collections which belong to the Vermont Room, but previously have not been given sufficient room to be properly displayed.

The Vermont Room is on the southwestern corner of the second floor of the library and is equipped with study table and chairs for those who desire quiet and solitude. Those who use the Vermont Room are asked to refrain from handling any books, pamphlets or volumes of any sort which they do not need. The privilege of using the room may be suspended if students are not more careful with the books this year than they have been in the past, according to a statement recently made by the librarians.

VERMONT STUDENTS AT R. O. T. C. CAMPS MAKE EXCEPTIONAL RECORDS

Win Two Team Cups at Devens and First in Pistol Shooting All Men Good

Vermont students have reason to be justly proud of the work done by the military students at their respective summer encampments.

At Camp Devens, Vermont won both of the cups offered for intra-college competition. This speaks well for Vermont men as they were competing with the leading New England colleges and universities. This year was not a sudden change of position because Vermont has for some time been near the head of the list.

Besides the two silver cups Dayton Bennett '34 by his excellent pistol shooting, was awarded the gold medal for high score. Addison C. Pond '34 led the Vermont group and received a silver medal for second score in rifle competition. John G. Gordon and Max Leon Powell, Jr., having completed the prescribed course, received commissions as second lieutenants, Infantry Reserve Corps.

The infantry camp, held at Camp Devens, Mass., from July 5 to August 1, was attended by fifteen Vermont students. The following students head the list by their marksmanship: Expert pistol, Dayton E. Bennett, Burlington; sharpshooter pistol, Albert H. Cass, Essex Junction, Richard M. Donahue, Jericho, Clarence H. Drown, Burlington, John G. Gordon, Williamstown, Frederick H. Spear, Burlington, and Henry G. Stone, Essex Junction; sharpshooter rifle, Addison C. Pond, Richford. Nearly all the other men obtained a ranking of marksman in both pistol and rifle.

Gordon L. Davis qualified as an expert pistol shot during his attendance at the chemical warfare service camp at Edgewood Arsenal, Md.

At the signal corps camp at Fort Monmouth, N. J., Winston N. Coburn led the Vermont group of four men by qualifying as a pistol marksman.

Edward L. Austin attended Fort Ethan Allen, where he received the grade of pistol marksman. At the conclusion of camp he received his commission as second lieutenant, Field Artillery Reserves.

The last and largest group of Vermont men, composed of future doctors, attended the medical camp at Carlisle Barracks, Pa. Of this group of twenty-four, Paul C. T. Bacon and Waldemar C. A. Sternbergh were commissioned as first lieutenants, Medical Corps Reserves, at the conclusion of camp.

MASQUE AND SANDAL

The Masque and Sandal announce the election of Lois Whitcomb '35 and Winona Oatley '35 to their society.

The influence of the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition on architecture is to be reflected at New York University this year by the establishment of a course in Form and Color in the department of architecture.

Prof. Max Alsberg, until Hitler came into power a leading member of the Berlin bar and once highly popular in German literary circles, a member of the faculty of the Berlin University law school, committed suicide this month in Switzerland.

TICKET PRICES

Ticket prices for the Dartmouth game tomorrow are $1.10. There are no reserved seats and no special rates for Vermont students.

HARRY HENEAGE,
Director of Athletics,
Dartmouth College

BOULDER AND MORTAR BOARD TO SPONSOR NEXT ENTERTAINMENT SAT.

Starts at Nine O'clock to Allow Time for Return From the Dartmouth Game

Boulder Society and Mortar Board held a joint meeting at Campus House Tuesday afternoon, October 2. The program for the entertaining evening tomorrow night was discussed and planned. The entertainment will start at nine with dancing from nine to twelve. Card tables will be set up for those who wish to play. Contrary to the program of two weeks ago, there will be no games, but it is hoped that a large number will participate in the dancing. "Everyone has to learn to dance at some time, so don't be bashful even though you can't dance like that junior about whom all the co-eds rave," says one of the committee.

A small orchestra will furnish the music and the admission price of ten cents will be asked.

CAMPUS MYSTERY IS SUCCESSFULLY SOLVED

Did you see that man working on some instruments under an umbrella last Monday noon? Well, he was Professor Butterfield of the mathematics department setting up his alt-azimuth instruments for the junior astronomy class. The encyclopædia defines it as "a vertical circle with a telescope capable of being turned horizontally to any point of the compass."

FRATERNITIES ANNOUNCE NEW OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE COMING YEAR

Results of fraternity elections held either this year or the latter part of last year have been announced by the following fraternities:

Lambda Iota: President, P. C. Cummings '34; secretary, A. R. Wilcox '35; treasurer, H. H. Abbott '35.

Sigma Phi: Treasurer, R. M. Bent '35.

Delta Psi: President, M. L. Powell '34; vice-president, S. Pierce, Jr. '34, secretary, D. D. Davis '36; treasurer, R. Woodard '35.

Phi Delta Theta: President, M. D Howe '34; secretary, M. H. Carlson '35; treasurer, J. F. Syme, Jr. '35.

Alpha Tau Omega: President, W. J Ryan '34; vice-president, W. W. Brislin '34; secretary, F. B. Hunt '36; treasurer, P. B. Williams '34.

Kappa Sigma: President, G. W. Patterson, III '34; vice-president, O. I. Brown '34; secretary, C. J. Howe '35; treasurer, K. D. Spaulding '34.

Sigma Nu: President, T. G. Cogswell '34; vice-president, E. E. Carlson '34; secretary, K. J. Whalen '35; treasurer, C. J. Kilburn '34.

Tau Epsilon Phi: President, P. D Gould '34; vice-president, H. J. Selib '34; secretary, A. J. Levin '36; treasurer, W. Sokol '36.

Sigma Delta: Chancellor, E. E. Miller '34; secretary, W. P. Stetson '34, treasurer, R. R. Baldwin '34.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon: President D. C. Worcester '34; vice-president F. E. Wegner '34; secretary, D. F. Behringer '35; treasurer, C. J. Libby '34

CHANGE IN SCHEDULE

There will be no student mass meeting on Saturday, October 7, nor on November 4. The Council has taken this action for the convenience of students wishing to attend the Dartmouth and the Norwich games, and will advance classes the usual half hour and shorten each ten minutes, with the following schedule:

First hour	8.00- 8.40
Second hour	8.50- 9.30
Third hour	9.40-10.20
Fourth hour	10.30-11.10

GOOD GARDENING BOOKS TO BE DISCONTINUED

With most vegetables harvested, canning and storing practically completed and the feel of fall in the air, the committee in charge of preparation and publication of the Good Gardening leaflets which have been issued weekly for several months by the Extension Service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College have brought the series to a close for the year.

The leaflets, which have had a circulation of six thousand, have been issued every week since early March, making thirty issues in all, each week some timely phase of gardening being discussed. Many favorable and helpful suggestions have been received by the committee during the months of publication.

The committee consisted of the following members of the Extension Service staff: Lillian Anderson, extension nutritionist; Charlotte Brooks, extension specialist in home management; M. B. Cummings, extension horticulturist; and P. R Miller, extension agronomist.

HONORARY DRAMATIC SOCIETIES TO MAKE A FINANCIAL MERGER

Requirements and Organizations Will Otherwise Be as Before the Merger

Climaxing recent rumors concerning the possible merger of the two honorary dramatic societies, it was decided at a joint meeting held Wednesday, October 3 that the dramatic fraction of the Student Activity Fund should be made available to student organizations wishing to put on plays through the administration of an executive committee. After the adjournment, the following statement was issued signed by the presidents of both societies.

"A proposal is hereby submitted for the uniting of the honorary dramatic societies, Masque and Sandal, and Wig and Buskin in the management of plays at the University.

Membership requirements, and the honorary status of the societies will continue as they exist at present. The two societies will elect officers according to the usual method. The president and business manager of Wig and Buskin, and the president and one junior member of Masque and Sandal will form an executive committee, representing the two societies. Financial management of all plays will rest in this group.

Group Players and other organizations desirous of obtaining financial backing in the production of plays will be able to secure it by applying to this committee and submitting full proposal.

Approved at joint meeting of the two honorary societies above named, October 4, 1933.

The members composing the executive committee are: Alice McConnell '34, president of Masque and Sandal; Mary Casey '35; president Sam Pierce '34 of Wig and Buskin, and D. J. Tobin '34, business manager.

It was also decided that three one act plays will be presented November 2, on the same stage where previous group plays have taken place, in the Fleming Museum. Any person interested in this will have the opportunity to try out Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, in room three, north college, at four o'clock.

W. A. A. PLANS BOAT RIDE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Trip Across Lake Includes Mountain Climb in New York State

The Woman's Athletic Association is planning a boat trip across Lake Champlain, Sunday afternoon, October 8. The boat leaves at 3.00, and everyone going will meet at the foot of King Street in time to get the boat.

The regular price of the trip is fifty cents but if fifty girls sign up, it will cost be thirty-five cents. The girls are asked to bring a lunch, or money for one.

There is a small mountain on the other side of the lake with a fine view of the Green Mountains from the summit, and there will be an opportunity for climbing this in the afternoon.

The W A A guarantees a good time for all who go, and urges as many as can to sign up for the trip.

FRESHMEN REACH END OF FIRST PERIOD OF RUSHING LAST NIGHT

Next Week Two Optional Visiting Nights Will Be Held, Then Rushing Dates Issued

The first rushing season got off to a full swing this week as the eligible freshmen finished their touring of the various fraternity houses. By this time each of the ten groups has paid one hour's visit to each of the houses and has completed the get-acquainted period.

The next open house gatherings on Monday, October 9, and Wednesday, October 11 the freshmen and new students may visit whatever fraternities they like from 7 till 10 p.m.

The freshmen will all gather in the Old Mill Chapel, Friday, October 13, to receive their rushing date cards on which they will indicate which of their dates they will accept. These rushing dates are scheduled for October 16, 17 and 18 from 6 to 12 p.m.

On Thursday, October 19, the bids will be given out at four o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel.

R. O. T. C. BAND WILL ACCOMPANY FOOTBALL TEAM TO DARTMOUTH

Starts at Eight O'clock Tomorrow Morning, Joe Lechnyr To Go

The department of military science has announced through Captain Craig that the R. O. T. C. band will meet Saturday morning at 8.00 a.m. for the trip to Hanover. The band will be furnished two buses, and all members, a total of forty-seven, will be taken to the Vermont-Dartmouth football game.

Director Lechnyr will be in official charge of the band, and will be assisted by N. O. Wells '34, first assistant director, and J. C. Bellino '36, second assistant director. Drum Major J. J. Millett '36 will command the band at the Dartmouth game, and it is expected that the martial airs of Vermont songs and cheers will help spur the Catamounts on towards victory.

Captain Craig has made the further announcement that the band will accompany the football team to Norwich, and that plans are now being made to send the band to Boston for the B. U. game. The plans for the latter game are as yet tentative, but it is sincerely hoped by the department of military science that the University will be able to provide transportation for the entire roster of band members.

"I am hoping," says Captain Craig, "to present within a few days a real surprise to the R. O. T. C. corps of cadets. The new feature will be in the band and I am at present working on the change." The CYNIC will inform its readers of the latest developments in the personnel of the band at the earliest opportunity.

AFTER-THE-GAME DANCE AT HANOVER TOMORROW

On this coming Saturday night, October 7, after the Vermont-Dartmouth game, the Hanover Inn will inaugurate a series of "After the Game" supper dances.

The dance will start at nine o'clock and run until midnight and will be held in the dining room of the Inn. Music will be by the celebrated "Barbary Coast" band. The price will be $2.50 a couple including the supper. Dress will be optional. It would be advisable for those anticipating attending this dance to forward reservations to the Inn.

New York University recently came into possession of its first diploma issued 100 years ago to James Josephum Acheson.

The faded parchment was obtained from Russel A. Chapin of Santa Monica, Calif., a grandson of the first graduate.

When Acheson was a student at the University the professor of painting and sculpture was Samuel F. B. Morse, later the inventor of telegraphy.

Acheson later became a prominent doctor in New York and Brooklyn.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

[illegible] Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

[illegible] Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] Managing Editor
[illegible] Business Manager
[illegible] Circulation Manager
[illegible] Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

[illegible]

FEATURE EDITORS

[illegible]

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

[illegible]

COLUMNIST

[illegible]

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

[illegible]

REPORTERS

[illegible]

FACULTY ADVISER

[illegible]

Editorials

PROFESSORS DOUGLASS, WALLACE AND REEDER ATTEND CONFERENCE

Dr. Reeder Conducted Study Group on the "Curriculum"

YALE COLLEGE OPENED MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18

THE FORUM

A FRESHMAN WONDERS

TWENTY-SEVEN JUNIORS SELECTED FOR ADVANCE COURSE IN MILITARY

NOTICE

All freshmen and sophomore girls are required to attend lectures in the museum auditorium at 4 p.m. on Thursday and Friday. Attendance at gym classes is not required.

1935 ARIEL SCRUBS

Sophomores, men and women, desiring to scrub the 1935 Ariel, meet in the Old Mill Chapel at 4 p.m. on Monday, October 9.

MARY CUNNINGHAM,
Women's Bus. Mgr.
M. A. PATCH,
Business Manager

All junior women's questionnaires must be in by Saturday, October 7.

WINONA M. OATLEY,
Grind Editor

Tryouts for the Group Plays will be held at four o'clock in Room 1, North College, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 10 and 11.

Any student not under warning is eligible for casting, whether having previously participated in college plays or not.

Three one-act plays will be presented on November 2.

"Are you fond of fiction?"

"I used to be, but my husband has put me up to it."

Freshmen will continue until the [illegible] at the third week of this month, to meet by companies and as a class as a whole. The topics they will cover will be concerned with military courtesy, combined with a certain amount of drill to smooth out irregularities the recent drill periods have not yet left in the condition desired. Commencing on the 20th of this month they will take up rifle marksmanship and will begin shooting on the indoor range to discover what crack bull's eye artists there are among the newcomers to take the places of last year's shooters lost by graduation.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

SIGMA GAMMA

ALPHA XI DELTA

KAPPA SIGMA

"To a Scientist Turned Novelist"

Fit as a fiddle . . .

Telephone service must be kept fit as a fiddle 365 days a year.

Thanks to a continuous program of maintenance and replacement, Bell System plant is today more efficient than ever. Constantly improved operating methods provide the swiftest, surest service on record. Plans devised by telephone men fit the service more and more exactly to subscribers' needs.

The result of all this is: the telephone gives you a lot for a little money.

BELL SYSTEM

SAY "HELLO" TO MOTHER AND DAD —RATES ARE LOWER AFTER 8.30 P. M.

SPORTS NEWS

INTERFRATERNITY TOUCH FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

LEAGUE A

Kappa Sigma, Sigma Nu — Oct. 9
Phi Mu Delta, Alpha Tau Omega — Oct. 12
Phi Delta Theta, Faculty — Oct. 16
Sigma Phi, bye — Oct. 19
Oct. 23
Oct. 27

LEAGUE B

Delta Psi, Phi Sigma Delta — Oct. 10
Independents, Tau Epsilon Phi — Oct. 13
Sigma Delta, Lambda Iota — Oct. 17
Sigma Alpha Epsilon, bye — Oct. 20
Oct. 24
Oct. 30

Saturday, Nov. 11

Catamounts Tackle Indians At Three O'clock Tomorrow

This Year U. V. M. Has the Best Chance of Winning This Annual Game for Several Years—Saba and Lanahan Star in Backfield

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE VARIOUS FRATERNITIES PLAN NEW "TOUCH" RULES

New Rules Are Made to Aid the Offensive Team Primarily, Special Ball in Use This Year

Wednesday night a meeting of fraternity representatives was held in the little gym to interpret and discuss rules of the Interfraternal Touch Football League. The rules have been changed and new ones made to aid the offensive team. One rule which will make the game more spectacular and exciting is that the ball carrier must be tagged by both of his opponents' hands at the same time before he is considered tackled. The "personal pass," that trick of throwing the ball into the air just as the ball carrier is about to be tagged and then catching it again has been done away with. Personal contact has been almost entirely eliminated. Regular games are to consist of four periods of fifteen plays each. Championship games have four periods of twenty plays each. Regular games formerly were as long as the championship games, but darkness stopped so many that it was deemed advisable to lessen them.

A special ball will be tried this year. It is slimmer and tapered at the seams to facilitate passing and eliminate fumbles. If this ball does not prove satisfactory the use of the regular football will be resumed.

The game of touch football had its beginning at U. V. M. three years ago. It is now one of the most popular intermural sports of American colleges.

BOWERS TO START IN MORGAN'S TACKLE POST

Tomorrow afternoon the Catamounts will be over at Hanover to engage those highly rated Indians from Dartmouth. The Dartmouth team, from which much is expected this year looked rather ragged last week against Norwich. During the first half the Indians could not get started at all and it was only by the insertion of Normie Rand into the game that any of the latent brilliance was aroused. Rand has made a big impression and the whole team will want to help him keep up to it this week end. Together with that wealth of other backs, Fishman, Morton, Hill, Stangle and Powers the Wha-Who-Wha's have a strong line which should give the Cats a tough workout.

However, if Dartmouth finds as much difficulty getting started tomorrow as it did Saturday they may find themselves plenty surprised. In Lanahan and Saba Vermont has two of the most dangerous scoring backs in eastern small colleges. Sowka has been averaging sixty yards on his kicks and Beckley's passing is very much improved over last year's. If these four threats can combine to get the jump on the Indians before superior manpower swamps them the Cats might make the game very interesting.

Dartmouth will probably line up with Embey, l.e., Hagerman, l.t., Michalet, l.g., Stearns, c., Silverman, r.g., Glaser, r.t., Camp, r.e., Fishman, q.b., Clark, l.h., Morton, r.h., Brockut, f.b.

Vermont, Joe Delfausse, l.t., Bowers, l.t., Caracciolo, l.g., Paul, c., McGowan, r.g., Cook, r.t., Roly Delfausse, r.e., Saba, q.b., Sowka, r.t., Lanahan, l.h. and Guardi, f.b.

PRINCETON OPENS WITH CAPACITY ENROLMENT

Princeton University opened on its 187th year Tuesday, September 19, with an address to the undergraduates by its new president, Harold W. Dodds. It starts on the administration of its thirteenth president, who, at forty four is its youngest president since 1759. Doctor Dodds is an authority on municipal government and the conduct of elections, and has been a faculty member since 1925.

Although lacking exact figures, Princeton's enrolment is expected to be 2,200 the size it has been since the adoption of limitation of enrolment policy in 1923. The freshman class numbers about 600 members. Classes started for the entire college on Wednesday.

VITAL STATISTICS OF 1937 FRESHMAN CLASS

Prentice Releases Figures Showing Average and Total Weights, Heights, etc., of Men

The average age of freshmen at the University of Vermont this year is 18.669 years according to figures released today from the office of Prof. H. A. Prentice, director of the department of physical education for men. The average weight is 155.6 pounds, the average height 5 feet 8.2 inches.

The man in the class giving to date the greatest indication of longevity is Roy Sherman, 26 years old, of Limple City, Calif. The youngest gentleman is Benjamin R. Levin, age 16, of Burlington.

Sargent Jealous is the tallest man, with 6 feet 3½ inches to his stature. Lebanon, N. H. produced him. On the other end of the measure is W. H. Heininger of Burlington, a midget who spots the Giant Jealous over a foot, stretching up to only 5 feet 2½ inches.

A. L. Covitz, Brookline, Mass., runs to the greatest weight, bulking 247 pounds, or one-eighth of a ton. The lightest man, on the other hand, weighs in at only 105 pounds, or 1,730 ounces. He is L. H. Rome, Fitchburg, Mass.

The total weight of the class is 34,020 pounds or approximately 17 tons. Its combined age is 4,070 years, which is the equivalent of 40 centuries. The total height is over 14,000 inches—14,868 to be exact—or 1,239 feet.

ARSITY CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM OPENS SEASON IN UNION MEET TOMORROW

aptain Harwood Leads Strong Team Against Opponents Tomorrow

The U. V. M. harriers finished their week of practice and take on their tomorrow when they run the College team here at Burlington. race is scheduled for 12:30 but run earlier due to the advance for that morning. The start from the lawn north of Morrill and the finish at the north door of the two time trials held thus far has hung together fairly well. night, Capt. Cliff Harwood White finished in a dead heat with Doug Suitor third and Twitchell, Carl Rogers, Manny Phil Andress, Charlie Howe, and Hebb following in the order named. team will be without the services Woodruff, letterman of two who has had an attack of the but is coming along well and be in trim for Middlebury course goes around Morrill Hall Williston Road, through the Uniard, back of Redstone and caddy path to and across the to the Country Club road. left and follow last year's Spear Street, Williston Road, by Converse Hall to the

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

The boys travel over to Hanover tonight to take on the Big Green team from Dartmouth tomorrow afternoon.

Vermont put up a great fight last year and we can all be sure that this season's team will give Coach Cannell and his men plenty of trouble before the final whistle blows.

The loss of Capt. Jack Morgan and Eddie Funk is a tough break for the Green and Gold, but it's just the same old Vermont jinx which has followed the squad for years.

Tuffy Bowers, the Colonel's pride, will most likely be in there in Morgan's place at tackle, while Susie Paul is slated to play center.

Middlebury came through in fine fashion last week with a victory over Boston University. The Blue and White from all reports has another good football team and at present seems to be the chief stumbling block in our path to the conference title.

Archie Post's cross-country team starts its season tomorrow with a meet here against Union.

The Green and Gold had a successful season in this field of sport last year and we look for a decisive victory for our squad tomorrow.

FOUR MEN REACH SEMI-FINAL ROUND IN ANNUAL FALL TENNIS COMPETITION

New Rules Tend to Aid Offensive Team—To Use New Type of Ball this Year

Play in the annual fall tennis tournament has advanced rapidly until it has reached the quarter-finals. All of the favorites have come through which places Hugh Wilson at the top of the upper bracket and Norm Myers at the bottom of the lower bracket.

In the lower half of the upper bracket is Bart Costello, a sophomore, while in the upper half of the lower bracket is Paul Stevens another sophomore.

Yesterday afternoon several of the third round matches were finished up. Normie Myers, continuing his sensational play of the tournament took over Treadway without dropping a game. Norm's next match appears, with the form he has been showing, to be merely a warm-up for the finals. In another match of the afternoon Bart Costello defeated Jack Libby in three sets 6-1, 2-6, 6-2. Jack who has been showing great form lately played good tennis and forced it into one of the few three set matches of the tourney. Hugh Wilson should have little difficulty in winning his final match before the final round, however, leaving him and Myers to battle it out on the finals sometime during the first of next week.

White, Woodruff, Harwood and Suitor form the nucleus of a strong squad which has shown up very well in recent time trials.

Touch football starts Monday and with changes in the rules we are anxious to get going in this year's series.

A. T. O., last year's champs, have a good chance to repeat, but you never can tell, so we'll just have to wait for the old game to get going next week.

Because he said he believed the film would reflect on the national college game, Ernie Nevers, assistant football coach at Stanford University and former all-American fullback, last week quit his job as technical director of a football movie being filmed here.

Nevers had been employed to direct a movie designed to show a college badly in need of money hiring a great football coach and a squad of stars to pull the institution out of the red.

"I don't want to be identified with such a picture" Nevers said after ten days on the job. "Such a thing is the exception rather than the rule. It would reflect on the college game."

Modern guards are the key men of offensive.—Harry Kipke, University of Michigan football coach.

FRESHMEN!

You know by this time that the fellows trade here. Drop in any time and make yourselves at home.

NEW SUITS AND TOPCOATS
$20 to $40

CROSBY SQUARE SHOES $5 and $6
STETSON HATS $5
McGREGOR SPORTWEAR
ARROW SHIRTS

(Get the Football Scores Here)

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.

"Where Vermont Men Meet"

Now's the time to buy THOSE AIDS which change the nightmare of midyears into ten days of satisfaction at real accomplishment in this business of being educated.

THOSE AIDS are the books on HOW TO STUDY, the COLLEGE OUTLINE SERIES and VISUAL OUTLINE SERIES on such subjects as English History, American History, Ancient, Medieval and Modern History, Chemistry, Economics, History of Education, Educational Psychology, and English Literature.

Sold exclusively at the
UNIVERSITY STORE

DEAN PATTERSON GIVES LECTURE IN MUSEUM

Spoke on "Loyalty" to Freshman Girls Last Tuesday

GERMAN PROFS. IN U. S.

VERMONT HISTORICAL SOCIETY PUBLISHES PAPER BY PROF. CARROLL

Monograph on "The Unicameral Legislature of Vermont"

Bits of Bunk

TIP FOR SCRUBS

A freshman who had just joined the staff of a newspaper and had been assigned by the editor to cover [illegible] was sent to report a [illegible].

On [illegible] the story was spotted [illegible] Mrs. Brown alleged [illegible] the wife of Councilor Brown [illegible] had been a matter of [illegible] discussed at the town [illegible] heated at times [illegible] the councilor's attack, and was [illegible] the platform by the [illegible] and never regained [illegible] and composure.

Clever headlines on items like these [illegible] Mr. perhaps [illegible] the one called [illegible] head.

Two thousand [illegible] can be worked [illegible] in a cash payment can take [illegible] place.

There's a difference between [illegible] and [illegible]. You can't swallow [illegible] without chewing it.

I like mathematics when it's not over my head.

Yeah. That's exactly the way I feel about [illegible].

PROFESSOR REEDER OF EDUCATION DEPARTMENT HAS EXTENSION COURSES

Course is Open to All Teachers of Social Studies Below High School

Professor Reeder professor of education at U. V. M. has announced the [illegible] for an extension course in [illegible] geography and civics. The [illegible] began September 26 and [illegible] for seven sessions. The [illegible] for this course will not exceed $4 [illegible].

The course is for all teachers and will deal in the [illegible] of [illegible] below the high school. It will [illegible] the basic materials in geography and history in the upper grades. It will include subject matter and [illegible] teaching.

The first meeting was held at the Burlington Junior High School and approximately fifty attended. All teachers who care to take this course may do so by seeing Professor Reeder. College credit will be given for the course.

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHOP
168A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES

THE NEW
Vermont Lunch
[illegible]
"The freshest food I've tasted in town."—A. G. Walker '34.
OWNED AND OPERATED BY U. V. M. MEN
OPPOSITE CITY HALL
Fine Food Best Beer
Perfect Prices

Portable Typewriters
NEW AND USED FIRST-GRADE TYPEWRITERS RENTED
SPECIAL RATES TO STUDENTS
BRUHN OFFICE EQUIPMENT CO.
18 Church St. BURLINGTON, VT.

When you happen across a friend

. . . and he offers you a pipe-load of tobacco, he doesn't make any speeches about it. He just says . . .

"It's made to smoke in a pipe . . . and folks seem to like Granger."

a sensible package
10 cents

Granger Rough Cut
—the tobacco that's MADE FOR PIPES

© 1934 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOL. 57 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1933 NUMBER 7

Students To Scale Mt. Mansfield On Columbus Day, This Thursday

RMONT FANS AND BAND TO HANOVER IN GREAT SURGE OF ENTHUSIASM

t Number of Students ravel to Dartmouth Accom- anied by R. O. T. C. Band

PI CRAIG'S SON ACTS AS MASCOT FOR LATTER

Lehnyr's Lads Give Color- Exhibition Between Halves

VESPER SERVICE HELD

GROUP PLAY TRYOUTS THIS AFTERNOON AT 4

Casts to Be Picked for Three Single-act Dramas; Tryouts Open to Entire Student Body

DR. LADD TO SPEAK

BAILEY CUP DEBATE FRIDAY OCTOBER 13

Two Lower Classes Disregard Jinx to Hold Annual Forensic Affray in Fleming Museum

PROF. BRIGGS WRITES FOR RECENT PERIODICALS

84 HONOR SCHOLARS ENROLL AT VERMONT

High-ranking Group of 47 Men and 37 Women Largest Ever to Enroll at the University

MOUNTAIN DAY DETAILS COMPLETE HARWOOD REPORTS

Lunches Obtainable With Tickets —One Dollar Includes Bus Fare and Coffee at Summit

NINETY-FIVE ATTEND W. A. A. EXCURSION

Co-eds Make Trip Across Lake Champlain to Climb Air Castle, in the Adirondacks

HONORARY SOCIETIES SPONSOR EVENING

News Hound Goes Slumming In Wide Search For Material

Disguised as "Down-and-outer," Reporter Talks the Situation Over With Unemployed on Burlington Park Benches—No One Pessimistic

DEAN PATTERSON GIVES LECTURE IN MUSEUM

Spoke on "Loyalty" to Freshman Girls Last Tuesday

[illegible] Patterson gave the second of a series of informal talks to the freshman girls in the Fleming Museum Tuesday afternoon [illegible] at the suggestion of the Student Council. [illegible] will serve to awaken a greater interest in our customs, duties and obligations [illegible] The speaker [illegible] was usually on the Commons. Because [illegible] attendance during which it was impossible [illegible] the audience to assemble [illegible] a convenience to take an active part [illegible] and Dean Patterson [illegible] was glad to do so. [illegible] Council [illegible] the freshmen [illegible] A committee will [illegible] each freshman [illegible] [illegible] Each girl [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 52 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1933 — NUMBER 7

Students To Scale Mt. Mansfield On Columbus Day, This Thursday

...RMONT FANS AND BAND ... TO HANOVER IN GREAT ... SURGE OF ENTHUSIASM

...l Number of Students ...avel to Dartmouth Accom... ...anied by R. O. T. C. Band

...T. CRAIG'S SON ACTS ...S MASCOT FOR LATTER

... Lechnyr's Lads Give Color... Exhibition Between Halves

... enthusiasm and ... was aroused by the ... Vermont State in the ... the season was evidently ... shown by the great sup... ... event edition of the foot... ... game last week with ... wonderful school spirit ... sadly lacking for the past ... renascent of the days ... back when teams were sup... ... through defeat and vic... ... interest could be aroused ... pertaining to college ...

... morning however, this Ver... ... was buzzing with sup... ... Almost everyone was ... game and if some weren't, ... a very good reason for staying ... Scarcely as seven o'clock, then ... sophomore military classes ... and those unfortunates arrived ... "Sunday go to meeting" ... the best overcoat or topcoat on ... At eight thirty, the R. O. ... which had been hurrying ... seven thirty, was ready to ...

... the classes were only forty ... they seemed interminable ... the suspense of waiting was ... keeping track of the new ... hoped for the day. The final ... came about ten thirty ... the loyal followers took ... whether some minor ... a cut class had to be taken ...

... the southern side of ... been reserved for Vermont's ... the huge bleachers were al... filled with our fans. ... contest the whole crowd ... and joined in on the ... better fashion than they did ... field. In the last quarter, ... team made the great scoring ... crowd simply went wild and ... the team how much they ... and how well their ef... appreciated.

... supporters were not all ... undergraduate body for large ... from Rutland, Barre ... town, all parts of the state ... from out of state were ...

VESPER SERVICE HELD

... service was held at Redstone ... at 7.30. Miss Maddock, ... of the Y. W. C. A., spoke ... pledge. Hymns were ... Carder, P.-G., sang a ... group. About thirty girls ... service.

GROUP PLAY TRYOUTS THIS AFTERNOON AT 4

Casts to Be Picked for Three Single-act Dramas; Tryouts Open to Entire Student Body

Tryouts for the first group plays of the current year take place this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock in Room 1, North College. Casts for three one-act plays, to be produced November 2, must be picked from the candidates. If it is impossible for a candidate to attend today's tryouts, tomorrow will not be too late.

Sponsored and coached by members of Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal, honorary dramatic societies, these group plays are staged for the purpose of enabling new material to take part in minor dramatic productions. Any student not under warning or a short-card student is eligible for selection to one of these casts, whether or not he has taken part in any previous dramatic production, at U. V. M. or elsewhere.

It is hoped that a goodly number of men and women will come out for the tryouts, not only to give the casting committee a large amount of material, but also in order that the committee may gain some knowledge concerning the available ability in college for future productions.

(Continued on page 5)

DR. LADD TO SPEAK

Professor Jacobs has announced that the chapel speaker for Wednesday, October 11, will be the Rev. Percy Chandler Ladd, pastor of the College Street Congregational Church. The subject of his address is not known. Mr. Ladd has often before spoken to Vermont students as a part of the weekly chapel service.

BAILEY CUP DEBATE FRIDAY OCTOBER 13

Two Lower Classes Disregard Jinx to Hold Annual Forensic Affray in Fleming Museum

Both the freshman and sophomore debaters are hoping that the traditional jinx will be lacking when they battle for the Bailey cup on Friday, October 13 in the Fleming Museum. Their topic will be "Resolved, that the United States should adopt a system of radio regulation and control similar to that of Great Britain."

The freshmen, J. J. Barsalow, H. Stanley, and A. H. Ross with F. Timerman as alternate, will uphold the affirmative side while the sophomore debaters, E. R. Greemore, W. W. Workman, and F. W. Hale will argue for the negative. A. J. Levin will be the alternate for them.

Prof. L. S. Dean will act as chairman, while Prof. G. G. Groat, Prof. J. T. Metcalf, and Prof. H. I. Williams will be the judges.

The Bailey cup is given every year to the one of the two lower classes which, in the estimation of the judges does the best work in debating on any chosen topic. Mr. H. A. Bailey, the donor of the cup, graduated in the class of 1914. He was for several years district senator and is now practicing law here in Burlington.

This same topic will be debated by the varsity team on Saturday, October 21, against Bates College.

PROF. BRIGGS WRITES FOR RECENT PERIODICALS

Recent issues of several accounting periodicals contain articles by L. L. Briggs, associate professor of economics at the University of Vermont. The August number of The Certified Public Accountant has an article entitled "Valuation in Bankruptcy." The Journal of Accountancy published "Treasury Stock and the Courts" in the September issue and the Accounting Review for September contains "Dividends on Non-cumulative Preferred Stock." Professor Briggs has accepted an invitation to read a paper on "Valuation of Assets in Dividend Disputes" before the American Association of University Instructors in Accounting at the annual meeting of that organization to be held in Philadelphia in the latter part of December.

84 HONOR SCHOLARS ENROLL AT VERMONT

High-ranking Group of 47 Men and 37 Women Largest Ever to Enroll at the University

Eighty-four honor scholars from Vermont high schools, the highest ranking boys and girls in their graduating classes, are enrolled as freshmen at the University of Vermont this year. Of this number forty-seven are men and thirty-seven are women. It is the largest group of honor students ever to enroll at the University. The names, with the high school represented by them, follow:

Men: R. Ansden, Whitcomb High School, Randolph; L. H. Baker, Newport; N. Bartlett, Jericho; C. J. Chester, Cabot; P. Choate, Vermont Academy; D. Doyle, Thetford Academy; R. J. Duncan, McIndoes Academy; J. Gates, Cambridge; H. R. Gilmore, Bristol; J. F. Gowdey, St. Michael's High, Montpelier; M. Harris, Bellows Free Academy; C. W. Hathaway, Chelsea; R. Hosking, Waitsfield; Wendell A. Humphrey, Newbury; William G. Kidd, Northfield; E. K. Lanctot, Enosburg Falls; R. F. Lanthier, West Rutland; V. P. Lapierre, Greensboro; F. E. Little, Vergennes; E. A. Lundberg, Proctor; T. B. Magner, Mt. St. Joseph's Academy, Rutland; D. W. Marshall, Waterbury; A. C. McCuin, Highgate; G. McPhee, Peacham Academy; E. B. Meservey, Montpelier Seminary; F. H. Mudgett, Johnson; R. Munger, Peacham Academy; L. J. Paquette, Craftsbury Academy; P. Pond, Burlington; F. Poulin, New Haven; B. C. Reilly, Brighton; E. R. Ricker, Groton; A. H. Ross, Middlebury; K. Rutledge, Barnet; H. A. Schell, Brigham Academy; W. H. Sisco, Bradford Academy; D. I. Somers, Danville; H. W. Stanley, Essex Junction; A. C. Svigoon, Springfield; G. Taft, Brigham Academy; F. Truax, Franklin; R. D. Tucker, East Royalton; W. G. Twombly, Derby Academy; W. H. Van Wyck, Wilmington; E. R. Whipple, Montpelier; R. Wilbur, Middletown Springs.

Women: Shirley Barau, Lyndon Institute; Bertha Bapp, Underhill; Mary Bourget, Vergennes; Marion Briggs, Newport Center; Elizabeth Burn, Cambridge; Helen Converse, Middlebury; Ruth Cooley, Peacham Academy; Esther Eaton, Wantsfield; Jean Fuller, Chester; Anna Hennessey, Pittsford; Selma Hill, Shelburne; Barbara Howd, Northfield; Abbie Howe, South Royalton; Dorothy Lesley, Milton; Reba Longsley, Montpelier Seminary; Anna Lusk, Rutland; Maxine Lockwood, Barr and Burton Seminary; Olga Lorenzini, Plainfield; Jean Mann, Groton; Gertrude Martin, Craftsbury Academy; Elsie McKee, Morrisville; Dorothy Moran, Isabelle; Cynthia Moser, Middletown Springs; Clara Pearl, Essex Junction; Arline Perkins, Hartford High; White River Junction; Hazel Roberts, East Hardwick.

(Continued on page 3)

MOUNTAIN DAY DETAILS COMPLETE HARWOOD REPORTS

Lunches Obtainable With Tickets —One Dollar Includes Bus Fare and Coffee at Summit

... Mountain Day ... at the Base ... lunches may be procured at ... time.

... Burlington ... the round trip ... ticket at the amount ... will be issued at both East Lodge ... Hotel. Lunches for ... may be procured from the Coffee Corner ... Book Store. If possible they ... be ordered at the time of the purchase of tickets. Lunches will be ready ... the mid-point at the Old Mill on ... morning so the hikers may eat ... from where they please.

... will leave campus at ... and the last around nine. ... will take the climbers to the Half ... House by the route through ... and Underhill approaching the ... side of the mountain. The climb ... at the Half Way House where ... route will be up the Old Hotel Road, ... the hotel and up the Nose back ... along the pinnacle to the Upper and ... Lipet and down Prospect Road ... East Lodge. Climbers may also visit ... Chin Cave of the Wind and the ... and descend by Sunset Trail ... Half Way House again for the ... trip. Buses will leave for Burlington at 4:00 p.m., and the last about ... getting all home for supper at their ... houses.

... C. B. Harwood '34 gives the ... that at least as many climbers ... last year must take the trip in order ... have a Mountain Day for another year. ... one hundred students went to the summit. ... entire schedule is under the ... of Harwood and sponsored by ... Vermont Christian Association.

... for further interesting details on the interesting features of the trip.

NINETY-FIVE ATTEND W. A. A. EXCURSION

Co-eds Make Trip Across Lake Champlain to Climb Air Castle, in the Adirondacks

... the description on the ... bulletin board of a new adventure ... ninety coeds boarded the three ... ferry at the foot of King Street ... an excursion sponsored by W. A. A. ... destination was Mt. Air Castle in ... Adirondacks.

... steamed across Lake Champlain. ... the boat at Port Kent ... climbed the mountain. Below them ... the expanse of the lake, and before ... a view of a large part of the Green ... Mountains.

... lunching on top they descended ... trail to the shore. From there they ... the return back to Burlington.

... threatening weather spoiled ... anticipated sunset, but not the jolly, good ... commented the crowd in charge ... Daisy Putnam, president of W. A. A.

HONORARY SOCIETIES SPONSOR EVENING

... Saturday night's entertainment ... evening sponsored by Boulder and Mortar Board was attended by a large number ... college students. Although there were no games played there were cards ... and most popular of all dancing. ... was furnished by a college ... Because of the thunderstorm ... the entertainment did not begin ... nine o'clock. An admission ... ten cents was charged and refreshments ... served. President and Mrs. Lowell ... chaperones.

... Boyd Thurgood Copley, Elk ... celebrated ... a recent storm on his farm which weighed ... than two pounds.

News Hound Goes Slumming In Wide Search For Material

Disguised as "Down-and-outer," Reporter Talks the Situation Over With Unemployed on Burlington Park Benches—No One Pessimistic

By A. S. E. '36

... the attitude of mind and ... unemployed man? How ... who doesn't know where he ... coming from? These and ... had been lurking in the ... as reporter for a long ... one day last week he ... up some of the Burling... and get first-hand ... He was not successful in the ... startling ideas that he ex... learned several interesting ... as well as some ... new and fascinating ex... At the outset he would say ... observation, that he did ... the few he talked to ... seemed unusually dark ...

... were made, the news ... himself up in the most ... suitable outfit he could find. His trousers were formerly blue corduroy and were used first four seasons ago. The sweater was a magnificent relic of pre-war days. His shoes were the old discarded pair ... poem is written about, and an ... vizor cap topped off this display of ... togs. A little shoe blacking ... mud applied to conspicuous places ... wonders with his picturesque ... Forthwith he sallied forth to Battery ... and posted south. The first afternoon ... shuffling gait and stooped ... to be adopted together with ... appearance brought expressions ... from disgust to extreme sympathy ... the pleasure seekers strolling ...

... wondered aimlessly about for some ... until he at last spied his first victim.

(Continued on page 5)

THE VERMONT CYNIC

NEWS EDITORS

FEATURE EDITORS

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

COLUMNIST

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

REPORTERS

FACULTY ADVISER

Editorials

MIGHTY MANSFIELD

RUSHING AT ITS PRIME

LAKE MANSFIELD

THEATRE

Flynn

Majestic

State

MANPOWER REIGNS

BLIND IN ONE EYE

THE FORUM

K. E. L.

LOST—Green Sheaffer fountain pen. Finder please telephone Rebecca Camp, 2369.

Mt. Mansfield And Its Various Attractions

Rock of Terror

[illegible] the Climb Hours [illegible] the Half Way House. [illegible] The trail is plain [illegible] the top, with guides [illegible] was where needed.

[illegible] to be followed from [illegible] runs north to the Chin, [illegible] with face around the [illegible] meet the Sunset Ridge [illegible] at the very top of the [illegible] the Sunset Ridge Trail [illegible] May House and the buses [illegible] Leaving the hotel, the [illegible] will be followed the [illegible] Trail to leads along the [illegible] Mansfield skyline. For the [illegible] passes over bare rock, with [illegible] grass and root-thick soil [illegible] Last year, the entire [illegible] paved with a six-inch coating [illegible] went off during the [illegible] is indicated by a marker [illegible] Mansfield a white circle sur[illegible] red center. This sign is found [illegible] at the rock at about [illegible] intervals on the average, and [illegible] to the Chin and down its [illegible] In addition are signs at dif[illegible] points along the ridge which mark [illegible] which mere description will [illegible]

The Chin

[illegible] following along the rocky path [illegible] the trail over the two Lips the [illegible] a trail short climb to the [illegible] top on the Chin, marked by a [illegible] disk of the United States [illegible] Survey which states the height [illegible] spot to be 4,393 feet above sea [illegible] Standing on this rocky eminence [illegible] as far as his eye will reach [illegible] sections on a clear day north [illegible] Mount Royal and Quebec, east [illegible] the Worcester Range, the Con[illegible] Valley, and the Presidential [illegible] and the rolling ranges of [illegible] Mountains as far as Killing[illegible] Peak seventy-seven miles away, and [illegible] the entire Champlain Valley, and [illegible] shooting sheet of metal called [illegible] to the serrated peaks [illegible] New York Adirondacks. Si[illegible] against the blue sky on a clear [illegible] the hazy haze of the Ira Allen [illegible]

[illegible] down the north face of the [illegible] the same trail to its junction [illegible] the Cut-Off Trail, which leads left [illegible] the Chin and across the upper [illegible] its northern slope to join Sunset [illegible] Trail. From the Chin's top to [illegible] Cut-Off the trail marker is the white [illegible] surrounding the red center, but as [illegible] has turned left off the Long [illegible] along the Cut-Off the marker [illegible] gateless on the rocks and [illegible] trees. This short trail is very [illegible] being a pathway between [illegible] and dwarf trees carpeted to [illegible] by moss. Its only danger [illegible] quality of the ground un[illegible] the last third, where a [illegible] is quite easy to acquire.

[illegible] Over the ridge of windswept [illegible] sunset. It is probable that [illegible] to make their way down [illegible] the sunset from it, and a [illegible] Sunset Ridge is worth climb[illegible] to witness that odd [illegible] Raider, the Indians' Moose[illegible]. After descending to the [illegible] trail" strikes off down the [illegible] of the "pawbeau" of [illegible] rising 2,200 feet in two [illegible] record by the State [illegible] small water courses which [illegible] every now and then [illegible] the formation of [illegible] the hours will be [illegible] descend, he will need a flashlight. Ice is always found in the cave, even in summer time. One visitor had sugar on snow from there this last fourth of July. Down the west side of the trail is another path leading to the Subway, another fascinating fissure in the ground of a different nature.

Cliff Trail

The picturesque and interesting Cliff trail continues on down the ridge's east side from the Cave of the Winds, branching some little distance down, one branch returning to the hotel and the other going on along the side of Mansfield to Taft Lodge. At one point, a short wire cable is anchored to aid the climber in rounding a shoulder, with a ladder further down to help him over a sheer drop. The right branch to the hotel leads through Wall Street, more appropriately named than New York's famous thoroughfare, since it is formed by the crack left between an immense rock chip which has separated from the main ridge to leave a narrow space wide enough for one person to pass through. This one travels for some sixty feet between parallel perpendicular walls of stone on a level pathway.

The left branch leads to Taft Lodge passing through the Garden of Eden on the way. The Garden is a terse, cool quiet place of shade and breeze. As the hiker walks along suddenly he is brought to a stop by a huge boulder directly in his path. It would appear that in order to continue upon his pathway one must clamber over it but just as he comes to the conclusion he notices a cave which says "Taft Lodge." Five points about eight degrees and when he is [illegible] a hole open up at his feet and when he bends down to look a

Taft Lodge

Largest of all the Green Mountain Club lodges is Taft Lodge, a big stone cabin built in 1930. The Club, which celebrated its 25th anniversary in 1930, decided to construct a real mountain lodge up the mountain in connection with its Long Trail system. Under Carroll S. Dunham, who still lives on a little gabled house on the top of Lodge Road Hill and makes summers true among all the mountains of New England and especially over and along Mansfield. He holds a world's record of having made more trips up Mount Mansfield than any other man. He is a great lover of the mountain and draws attention to the immensity of the mountain facing three miles of forest with not a cabin or human habitation in sight.

The Lodge is a typical and ideal building of its kind. It is a large night log cabin containing a stove, large mattress-filled bunks, all the cooking utensils any one could want, and plenty of blankets, making it a paradise for cold hikers in winter.

Inside the lodge stands a large wood range with an oven and back of it hang numerous saucepans, frying pans, coffee pots and cups which have been left there by travelers as they passed through. There are also several dozen metal plates and almost every requirement for a well-stocked kitchen, particularly bread knives, egg beaters and rolling pins. Over a large number of other sets for visitors hang among the collection. For visitors a large cupboard and bunks where will accommodate twenty-eight in a pinch. One side of the lodge is [illegible] and on the other [illegible] [illegible] A curious relic which dangles from a nail in the back wall is a tin plate and a companion cup. That is, they were once a tin plate and cup. Now all that there is left of either is a very jagged-edged segment of the original utensil. To get [illegible] the answer come immediately.

"Porkies!" What means all other than the humble porcupine has shown the usual rate of what happens to anything carnivorous left outside by doing his best to make a taste memory to it. Porkies are the greatest nuisance the trail has, chewing up almost anything a visitor is going to the extreme of mastticating glass bottles. The backer for this statement is Prof. R. O. Brockway of the engineering department who is also an authority, on all things Mansfieldian. He told the reporter that he had in his office a piece of bottle the edges chewed as smooth as if they had been ground down and the curious on the glass scored and [illegible] again on the many trails of the [illegible] region. Whatever the animals had gathered from the chest of the unfortunate hiker he [illegible] possession [illegible] Professor Brockway could not tell.

[illegible] water [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] through a stream, cut the

EIGHT WOMEN CHOSEN FOR DOUBLE QUARTET; SPECIAL CHORUS PICKED

Professor Bennett Announces New Members of Women's Special Voice Ensembles—Selected From Tryouts

[illegible] Professor Bennett [illegible] Mansfield [illegible] Women's Glee Club [illegible] Double Quartet [illegible] Ruth [illegible] Mansfield [illegible] Violet Lange [illegible] Eggert '35 [illegible] Mary Dodge [illegible] Mansfield [illegible] Women's Glee Club [illegible] Double Quartet [illegible] Jenness '34, Margaret Page '35, [illegible] Mansfield, Marjorie Newhouse '35, Helen Carpenter '35, Nelson Barnes '36, Elizabeth Bunce '36, Betty Wentworth '36, and Stella Grace '34, Jane Dodge, Evelyn Hubber '36, Mary Barker '35.

84 HONOR SCHOLARS ENROLL AT VERMONT

(Continued from page 1)

Morgan Robie, Enosburg Falls; Ruth Sanborn, Thetford Academy; Florence Sargent, Brigham Academy; Dolores Smith, Wilmington; Mary Dodge, West Fairlee; Lois Warner, Milton; Lulu Watts, Brattleboro; Lydia Webster, Danville; Elizabeth Wright, Waterbury; Helen Young, Wallingford.

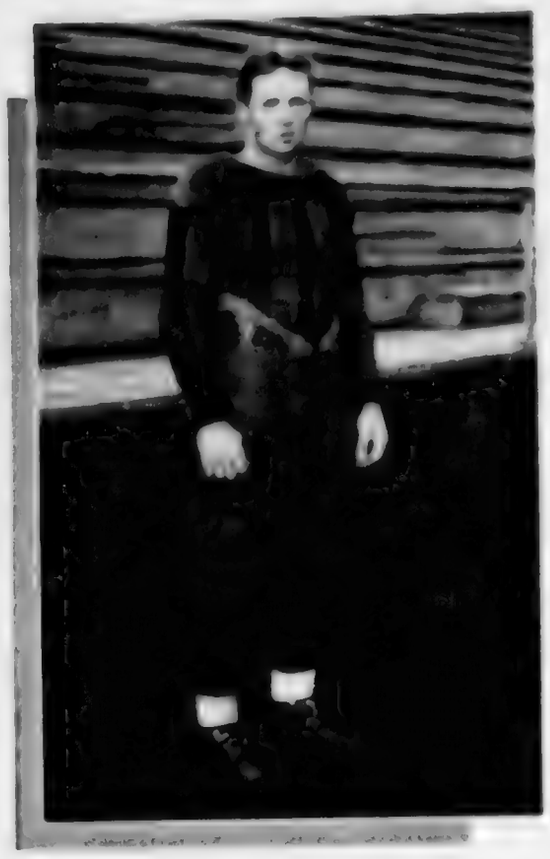
"I hope there will never be any hard times," said Mrs. Cumrow.

"That is a very unselfish wish."

"Not entirely. When times are hard everybody is so busy working or worrying that nobody has time to envy the way we spend money."

length of a large log to adapt into the small pool near the lodge. The water is about eight degrees Fahrenheit.

Stowe Valley and Beyond



As one looks from the lodge take in the beautiful Stowe Valley with Waterbury at one end and Morrisville at the other. Stowe proper, itself out of the center of a plate glazed valley, shaded and tinted upon range on range of mountains extending back into the blue haze distance. Two miles down the slope south from the lodge the dirt road can be seen which passes through Smugglers' Notch to the east and on to connect with main highways by way of Stowe.

A well-known trail leads down to Taft Lodge from between the Lower Lip and the Chin which is called, very naturally, Pratt's Trail. It is the steepest half mile on trail on the Long Trail and all its subsidiary trails.

From the Chin can be seen the tiny Lake of the Clouds half a mile away as the hiker goes, a diminutive mirror framed by trees, half a foot deep with a mud bottom. A trail leads down to it which can be reached from the Chin or from Taft Lodge, starting at Eagle Pit, the depression between the Chin and the high ridge named in the Adams's Apple. The trail from the Chin branches to the right to Taft Lodge just to the East of the Chin and straight on over the Adams's Apple and this latter is the best to follow. In connection it may be said a new cabin is to be built at the Lake of the Clouds for the Second Lieutenant with the view of shooting those bad hours the Chin and the cloud landings in the Lake of the Clouds a seemingly unbeatable spot. The Lake is a paradise for turbulent gulls, ducks and loons while the forest about it is a place with the assurance of hundreds of feathered warblers.

Fall is the best time of the year for a Mount Mansfield trip. The temperature is neither too cold nor too hot the air is clear and bracing and the foliage of all the miles of forest stretching away from the mountain on all sides is a most exciting blend of reds, gold, yellow, amber and burning reds brightest with a shading to green, and the prevalent note of brown everywhere. In the spring there is the fresh greenness of budding leaves but the trails are wet and muddy. In the winter a coat of white covers everything and ice and snow combine upon the tree branches to make delicate patterns that a gem [illegible] [illegible] and the [illegible] [illegible] hidden by a thick [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SPORTS NEWS

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM LOSES FIRST MEET OF SEASON TO UNION 19-36

Captain Harwood Finishes Second to Brighten an Otherwise Poor Showing

VERMONT VS. B. U.

If enough students are interested in traveling to Boston next week end to attend the Boston University game buses will be hired specially for the occasion. The price will average ten dollars or proportionately less, depending on the number going. Those interested please get in touch with Art Hayes at Hayes & Carney Inc. Buses leave Friday noon returning Sunday night.

1933 TOUCH FOOTBALL RULES REVISION MADE KNOWN BY DIRECTORS

Personal Pass Elimination, Two-hand Tag Are the Major Changes

Cats Score On The Big Green

BY QUARTERS

First Quarter

Second Quarter

Third Quarter

Fourth Quarter

CAT'S MEOW

LANAHAN STARS

Exhibiting a machine like brush ... unstable powerful eleven ran roughshod over the outclassed Vermont team ... Saturday afternoon at Memorial ... However ... scoring three touchdowns during the last quarter the Indians ... the procedure displayed the ... ago week in the game with Norwich ... topped the game 39-6.

Vermont's defense against the ... the offense ... the speedy and ... backs and line of the Dartmouth ... presenting perceptible stiffened as ... contest advanced but the damage ... had been wrought and practicably ... during the opening minutes of the ... game. During the entire contest ... Big Green used numerous substitutes ... the contest after the first quarter ... set to straight football and give ... team on the squad a chance to play ... game competition.

The Vermont team as a whole was ... until the last quarter, outclassed. However there are a few who showed ... class in spite of the score ... Lanahan, Paul and Berry ... Saba, Paul and Berry ... and Paul dominated the play of ... Vermont line. Time after time ... broke through the Dartmouth line ... made tackles back of the line. Lanahan ... besides playing a good defensive game ... made several fine runbacks of kicks. He was not given the ball from scrimmage very much but when he carried it, ... and ... interference allowed him to ... accumulate ... two or three Dartmouth men each time. Saba carried as well as he could with little interference but Paul ... Berry ... did he show brilliance in ... pass receiving. Several times he made ... seemingly impossible catches ... snatching the ball when surrounded by ... Dartmouth defensive men or scooping it ... up just as it was about to hit the ground. Eddie also looked good on the few times ... he attempted but anxiousness on the part ... of the receivers prevented their being ... caught.

John Beckley, however, must be given a large share of the credit for his showing. His field generalship, for the most part, was excellent and especially in the ... opening minutes did he mix up his ... plays ... unconscious fashion. Where last year Lay threw only long passes, Saturday most of the passes completed were ... the short, bullet type which he has ... developed this year.

The one bright spot in the whole game was the aerial attack which functioned ... so well. If this phase of the game ... should be so successful against an opponent such as that of last Saturday it should be a powerful weapon against our Conference rivals.

CASS APPOINTS BROWN TO ARIEL EDITORSHIP

R. S. Brown '35 has been appointed assistant sports editor of the 1935 Dartmouth reports Editor-in-Chief Cass '35. Practically all the classes have been photographed except the medics, and a White representative is expected with the proofs in about two weeks. Sitting fees will be deducted from all orders.

"I am very grateful to the class," said Cass, "for their cooperation in photographs and in the questionnaires."

KALMS FOR RELIEF OF "RECURRING" PAINS

THE SPECIAL ATTENTION of

FRESHMEN and SOPHOMORES is called to the

POSTAL CARD VIEWS

taken of the

HOSE FIGHT and CANE RUSH

NOW ON DISPLAY

at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

Leaders of Campus Organizations

Aggie Club

membership open t agricultural course
nually by plurality vote.
Miller '34; vice-presi-
'35; treasurer, H. M
S. V. Dutton '34

Alpha Zeta

cultural society; mem-upper two-fifths of at end of first semester
J. Miller '34; chronicler,
'35; scribe, A. M. Web-
R. R. Baldwin '34;
Davison '35

A. I. E. E.

Institute of Electrical Engi-Membership open to electrical students. Officers selected chairman, G. W. Patterson, vice-chairman, D. C. Whitney treasurer, J. C. Arnold

A. S. M. E.

Society of Mechanical En-
Membership open to mechanistudents; officers elected plurality vote of society.
H. Spear '34; vice-chair-
Howe '34; secretary-treas-
Saxton '35.

1935 Ariel year book; editor and business elected annually by plurality junior class; women's editor board appointed by editor and manager, women's board ap-

women's editor.
Chief, W. E. Cass '34; busiager, M. A. Patch '35; manag-
H. H. Abbott '35; photo-editor, A. L. Williams '35; photographic editor, Barbara medic editor, R. S. Jenks graphical editor, G. E. Ranslow

R. O. T. C. Band

ers selected at beginning of each ear by director, Joe Lechnyr.
assistant director, N. O. Wells and assistant director, J. C.
'34 drum major, J. J. Millett '36.

Baseball

J. L. Beckley '34; manager,
Powell, Jr., '34; coach, Larry

Basketball

J. L. Beckley '34; manager,
'34; coach, John Burke.

Bluestockings

honorary literary society;
by invitation; officers elected
plurality vote of society.
Alice Hoyt '34; vice-president,
Fuller '35; secretary-treasurer,
Woodcomb '35.

Boulder

junior honor society; president president elected each month by vote of society; treasurer for Members elected by outgoing Secretary-treasurer, Donald members: J. L. Beckley,
Beckley, G. H. Burrows, II, C. F.
B. Eaton, C. J. Libby, A. A.

Class Officers

President, C. B. Eaton; vice-Alice Hoyt; secretary, Ruth treasurer, N. H. Myers.
President, R. E. Palmer; vice-Mary Tupper; secretary, Mary treasurer, F. J. Lanahan.
President, H. E. Mahoney;
Helen Welch; treasurer,
secretary, to be elected.

Cross-country

C. B. Harwood '34; manager,
'34; coach, Archie Post

Cap and Skull

medical fraternity. Officers

Cynic

student newspaper. All memon credit basis. Editor-in-Libby, '34; women's editor
'34; managing editor,
'34, sports editor, W. W. reading editor, Ruth Kobel
editor, G. H. Burrows, II, manager, C. J. Libby '34

Debate (Men)

Varsity, with lower dropped to junior var-captains are elected but are regarded as stat-ected by coach.
M. D. Powers, manager,
'34

Debate (Women)

Anna Farmar, '34
P. D. Carleton.

Deutcher Verein

group of men and women
Prof. F. D. Carpenter department, membership and German students pre-

Dramatic Club

Organization of women students to the club. Officers by election, at the Marie Horak '34; treasurer, Doris Lunderville; publicity manager, Dorothy Haig '36.

Epsilon Sigma

Classical society; membership by election from two-year humanistic curriculum. President, Elizabeth Web-burn T. T.; vice-president, Pearl Savage
T. T.; treasurer, Marjorie McGrath
L. L.; recording secretary, Rita Dan-negger T. T.; corresponding secretary,
Ethel Perrotta L. L.

Eta Sigma Phi

National honorary classical fraternity; members selected from honor students of classical course. Election by invitation.
Officers to be elected.

Football

Captain, J. L. Morgan '34; manager,
C. B. Eaton '34; coach, John Burke.

1933 Freshman Camp (Men)

Director elected annually as part of
Y. C. A. Cabinet. Appoints own assistants. Director, W. P. Stetson '34.

1933 Freshman Camp (Women)

Director elected annually as part of
Y. W. C. A. Council. Appoints own assistants. Director, Daisy Putnam '34.

Freshman Handbook (Men)

Editor and manager elected annually by V. C. A. Cabinet. They appoint their own assistants. Editor-in-chief, A. A.
Ross '34; business manager, W. Q.
Hauke '35; assistant editors, B. S. Musicant '36, G. E. Webster '36.

Freshman Handbook (Women)

Editor and manager elected annually
by W. C. A. Council. They appoint their own assistants. Editor, Elizabeth Rich '35; business manager, Carolyn Cabot '36.

Glee Club (Men)

Membership by tryout; officers elected annually by plurality vote of club. Officers to be elected.

Glee Club (Women)

Membership by tryout; officers elected annually by plurality vote of club. Officers to be elected.

Gold Key

Sophomore honorary society; officers elected semi-annually by plurality vote of society; members nominated by fraternities and elected by outgoing society.
President, W. H. Connor '36; vice-president, A. C. Werner '36; secretary, E. D.
B. Kane '36; treasurer, E. A. Funk '36.

Grey Friars

Honorary men's literary society; membership based on manuscripts submitted to society; officers elected by annual vote of members. President, R. J. Weissman
'34; vice-president, A. A. Ross '34; secretary, W. E. Cass '35; treasurer, N. H.
Myers '34

Interfraternity Council

Officerships rotate among the eleven fraternities who hold membership, according to the constitution of the council. Officers are elected annually by plurality vote of the club. President, W.
W. Brislin '34; secretary, L. N. Hill '33

John Dewey Club

Student honorary organization of philosophy and psychology departments.
Officers elected annually by plurality vote of club. Membership by invitation.
President, Norma Carder '33; vice-president, G. W. Patterson '34; secretary, Dorothy Kennedy '35; treasurer, R. H.
Bingham '34.

Kake Walk

Annual student carnival, directors appointed by outgoing directors, who in turn appoint assistant directors and committees. Directors: G. H. Burrows '34, and W. W. Brislin '34

Kappa Phi Kappa

National professional educational society; officers elected annually by plurality vote of society. President, M. A.
Valerio '34; vice-president, J. D. Sargent '34; corresponding secretary, W. F.
Calvert '35; treasurer, A. L. Spicer '34; recording secretary, L. N. Hill '35

Key and Serpent

Junior honorary society. Officers elected semi-annually by society; membership varies with Fabbi. After completion of requirements. Members elected by outgoing members. President, G. H. Connor '35; vice-president, F. J. Lanahan '35; secretary, J. E. Simonds '35; treasurer, R. L.
Palmer '35

Masque and Sandal

Women's honorary dramatic society.
Members elected upon completion of requirements, one speaking part in one major dramatic production. Officers elected annually by plurality vote of club. President, Alice Metcalf '34; secretary, Mary Casey '35

Mortar Board

National senior honorary society.
Membership by election from Members: Mary Ba
Dorothy Grace Hay
Marshall Myers, Do

Newman Club

Catholic organization. Mem-Catholic students the college.

Omicron Nu

Home economics society, by invitation, junior class on faculty vote of merit.

Orchestra

Campus orchestra. Membership by tryout for men and women in the division. Prof. H. G. Bennett of music department. President, C. A. Rogers '34; librarian, R. C. Muldrum '35; secretary-treasurer, Helen Hemmeter '35.

Pi Gamma Mu

National honorary social science society. Membership by election from senior and junior classes. Requirements high scholastic ranking, average of B in at least twenty hours of social sciences.
President, C. B. Eaton '34; vice-president, J. M. Monte '34, secretary, J. Sen-takes '35; treasurer, G. L. Davis '34

Phi Beta Kappa

National honorary scholastic society.
Members chosen annually from honor senior men and women. Requires average of 89 percent in grades at end of college course. President, Prof. Wellington Aiken; vice-president, Prof. George Kalder; registrar, Prof. Henry Perkins; treasurer, Prof. Forrest Kelsoe

Pan-Hellenic

Controlling organization of sororities, one senior and one junior from each of the seven sororities. Officerships rotate annually among sororities. President, Ada Ingalls '34; secretary-treasurer, Mary Bennett '34

Philagon

Women's debating society. Membership open to women students fulfilling certain requirements. President, Elvira
Farman '34; secretary, Elizabeth
Brown '36

Press Club

Women's publicity organization.
Membership by tryout. President,
Helen Mount '35; secretary-treasurer,
Muriel Conant '35; social chairman,
Shirley Tripp '34

Public Affairs Club

Membership open to all students interested in national or international relations. Organization not complete when this issue went to press. Elections for student officers to be held
October 27. Faculty advisory committee:
Chairman, A. S. Stimson of political science department, Prof. P. D.
Evans of history department, Prof.
G. G. Groat of economics department

Student Senate

Men's controlling body. Membership by plurality of men students; limited to four seniors, three juniors, two sophomores, one freshman. Officers to be elected

Scabbard and Blade

National senior military society; officers elected by plurality vote of society.
Captain, H. G. Stone '34, first lieutenant, C. H. Drown '34, second lieutenant,
G. L. Davis '34; sergeant, A. H. Ca-
'34

Upsilon Tau Alpha

Education club. Membership open to student taking either two or four year teacher training curricula. President, Laura Fleming T. T.; vice-president, Kathryn Desplante T. L.; treasurer, Vivian Cota T. L.; secretary, Vel-ma Sourdiff T. T.

Vermont Christian Association

Men's student service organization.
Membership open to all male students interested in its work. Cabinet officers elected in autumn, subject to advisory board approval.
General secretary, Prof. M. D.
Powers, chairman, C. H. Drown '34; vice-chairman, W. D. Wells '35; secretary, J. N. Hill '35; treasurer, R. L.
McCann '34; director of deputation,
R. S. Wright '35; secretary of publicity, A. S. Everett '34; director of student service, C. B. Harwood '34; director of church relations, P. G. Kelsey '35; director of Christian social education,
P. D. Bingham '34

Wig and Buskin

Men's honorary dramatic society.
Members elected upon completion of requirements, one speaking part in major dramatic production. Officers elected by plurality vote of club.

President, S. Pierce '34; secretary-treasurer, C. H. Ingalls '34; business manager, A. A. Ross '34, D. L. Jones
'34, stage and property manager, D. S.
Foster '34

Winnowings From the Mill

Literary honorary organization. Membership open to students interested in literary work. Officers elected annually by plurality vote of society. President,
Eleanor Hall; Director, Professor
; editor, A. A. Ross '34

Student Union

Tau Kappa Alpha

National honorary forensic society.
Membership by election from those men and women debating teams to intercollegiate debates. Officers elected annually by plurality vote of society. President,
E. F. McCann '34; vice-president, W. H.
Myers '34; secretary-treasurer, Elvira
Farman '34

Tennis

Captain, N. H. Myers '34, manager,
F. C. Morse, Jr., '34; coach, Prof.
Frederick Carpenter

Track

Captain, J. J. Delrausse '34, manager,
G. W. Patterson '34; coach, Archie
Post

Women's Athletic Association

Controlling organization of women's athletics, officers elected annually by plurality vote of women students, except that representatives are chosen by class.
President, Daisy Putnam '34; vice-president, Ruth Reynolds '34; recording secretary, Helen Hubbard '34; corresponding secretary, Carolyn Hill
'36; treasurer, Helen Mount '35; publicity manager, Gladys Sussdorff '36;
senior representative, Grace Harris '34;
junior representative, Irene LaFoun-tain '35; sophomore representative,
Ruth Barron '36; freshman representative (to be elected); W. A. A. editor of Handbook, Elizabeth Rich '35; hiking chairman, Helen Miller '35; chairman of health council, Helen Jenkins
'34

Y. W. C. A.

University branch of intercollegiate Women's Christian Association. Officers elected annually by plurality vote of outgoing council.
President, Susan French '35; vice-president, Madeline Ainsboro '35; secretary, Mary Whitney '36; treasurer,
Marie Horak '34; chairman of conference, Claribel Morris '34; chairman of publicity, Margaret Nugent '35

A. S. M. E. MEETS TO HEAR STANLEY TALK

George Stanley, city engineer of Burlington, was the speaker at the first meeting on Friday morning, October 6, of the Vermont branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.
Twenty-four of U. V. M.'s electrical engineers attended this gathering, the first of such meetings this year, to hear Mr. Stanley talk on "Municipal Economics."
The next meeting is scheduled for two weeks from last Friday and meetings will be held every two weeks for the remainder of the school year. Membership in the society is open to all mechanical engineers who wish to join.

PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS
NEW AND USED FIRST-GRADE TYPEWRITERS RENTED
Special Rates to Students
BRUHN OFFICE EQUIPMENT
18 Church St. Burlington, Vt.

Compliments of
ALEX VERRET

NEWS HOUND DIGS INTO SLUMS FOR MATERIAL

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] old man plies on one of the streets [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

1933 TOUCH FOOTBALL RULES REVISION MADE

Continued from page 4

NEWS HOUND DIGS INTO SLUMS FOR MATERIAL

Continued from page 1

Sr. Expected Bellevues

Newspapermen Move

FOOTBALL RESUME

CAT'S MEOW

Tell me something..

what makes a cigarette taste better

WHAT makes anything taste better? It's what is in it that makes a thing taste better.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because we buy ripe tobaccos. These ripe tobaccos are aged two and a half years—thirty months. During this time the tobaccos improve—just like wine improves by ageing.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because they have the right kind of home-grown tobaccos and Turkish Tobaccos "welded together."

We hope this answers your question.

Chesterfield

the cigarette that's MILDER
the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

The Vermont Cynic

LUME 52 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1933 | NUMBER 8

blic Affairs Club, ormed By Students Of Social Subjects

partments of Political Science, conomics, and History Are ponsoring the Organization

W CLUB IS ACTUAL REORGANIZATION OF I.R.C.

Public Affairs Club has been organ- this fall by the departments of His- Political Science, and Economics the purpose of providing a forum which the students may study and dis- problems of contemporary affairs. club is the successor of the Inter- onal Relations Club, and is to con- e the activities of that club, using name when continuing those activi- Each department has designated faculty advisor for the club: Profes- Evans, Mr. Stimson, and Professor at, assisted by Professor Meredith. Membership in the club is open to any lent or faculty member of the Uni- sity upon the payment of the annual s The first reorganization meeting take place two weeks from this Fri- October 27, at 8.00 p.m. in Room 3, rth College. If the meeting is too ge for this room, the Old Mill Chapel be used.

At this time there will be a report of nominating committee consisting of J Kilburn, chairman; C. B. Eaton, Laura A. Johnson, and also the tion of officers will take place. A visional program committee has been ected by the Advisory Council con- ing of A. C. Pond '34, chairman; ira Farman '34 and H. W. Schroeder

The meetings will be held approxi- tely every two weeks and the pro- ams are to consist of ten-minute pre- ed talks by four students, followed by ited discussions from the floor. Lists ve been circulated in the classes on uch interested students and those will- to attend the first meeting have signed ir names.

An International Relations Committee also to be formed, open to any mem- of the club interested in interna- nal problems and this committee will sist in the preparation of programs re- ing to international affairs at the blic Affairs meetings. A paper will circulated at the first meeting of the blic Affairs Club for the names of ose desiring to join this committee.

There has been a meeting of the lvisory Council in the Billings Library preparation for the first reorganiza- n meeting on October 27.

Several of the suggested programs of e Public Affairs Club are: The oosevelt Revolution, The NRA Pro- am, The Agricultural Problem, The itler Revolution in Germany, Fascism, cialism, Pan-Americanism and The lonroe Doctrine, Liquor Regulation and panese Imperialism.

933 DIRECTORY WILL APPEAR NOVEMBER 1

fficial List of Telephone Num- bers Soon to Go on the Press

The Vermont Directory, that annual ster prepared by the Registrar, Mr. W. Kehoe, and his office staff, is due come off the press on or about the rst day of November. This useful, and xtremely popular, little volume is dis- ributed, gratis, to all persons attending he University. The book is devoted in s entirety to information of interest to tudents.

The first pages of the Directory con- ain a list of the trustees of the Univer- ty, the addresses and 'phone numbers fraternities, sororities, and dormitories, he academic and social calendars, and a mplete tabulation of the names of Uni- rsity employees, faculty members, and hers with their positions and various ddresses. These sections are followed y the roster of students, complete with arious and sundry items such as: home nd college addresses, class, course, and elephone number. The rest of the book devoted to campus organizations and heir officers, and the distribution of stu- lents—by colleges, courses and states.

This worthy little manual is, in size, bout three and one-half by six inches. The color and design of the cover for his edition have not yet been decided pon. Proofs of the inner pages, how- ver, have been practically completed.

A. C. Pond

Chairman of Program Committee of Public Affairs Club

PROF. RAOUL BLANCHARD WILL SPEAK IN FRENCH MONDAY AT MUSEUM

His Discussion of French-Canadians to Open Alliance Française Lecture Series

Prof. Raoul Blanchard of the University of Grenoble will deliver a lecture in French, Monday night, the sixteenth of October, on the subject, "Les Canadiens Francais au Canada, tels que je les ai vus." The lecture will take place at the Robert Hull Fleming Museum.

The Alliance Française, in cooperation with the University of Vermont, is bringing once more to the city of Burlington and to the student body, a group of well-known French lecturers. Professor Blanchard's lecture Monday night will open the series for the 1933-34 season.

This information concerning the activities of the Alliance Française was released to the CYNIC by Mrs. P. D. Evans, president of the local chapter. She also states, "This is Monsieur Blanchard's third appearance in Burlington, where he has made many friends. Professor Blanchard is a professor of humane geography at the University of Grenoble, France, and has made himself a world-wide reputation. He comes every year to Harvard University for three months, to lecture there."

This lecture is free and open to the public. It will begin promptly at 8.00 p.m. in the museum auditorium. For the last two years the Alliance Française has offered at Commencement a prize of $25 to a student at the University of Vermont who should pass the best examination on the series of lectures. The number of students attending the lectures will decide whether or not a similar prize will be offered this year.

THESE LUCKY PEOPLE KNOW THEIR ARITHMETIC

The following five lucky people have been excused from arithmetic methods for one semester. After taking an examination, Grace Bushey '36, Lucia Chapman '36, Wilma Nelson '36, Marion Towers '36 and Carolyn Hill '36 found that they would not have to attend any more classes in that course for the remainder of the semester. Evidently some people learned their multiplication tables when they were young, and probably some people wished they had, now.

V. C. A. WILL SPONSOR FOURTH ANNUAL YOUTH CONFERENCE AT VT.

The V. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. will sponsor the fourth annual assembly of the Vermont State Youth Conference, which is to be held on the University campus, December 1, 2, and 3. They are responsible for finding rooms for the delegates and arranging for the meeting places for the discussions.

The Vermont Youth Council is "of, by, and for" the Christian youth of the State, meeting to think through some of the major problems and to face frankly the issues before youth today. It is sponsored by the committee on Young People's Work of the Vermont Council of Religious Education, the State Youth Cabinet, and twenty-five cooperating agencies. Each of these twenty-five agencies is allowed five youth delegates and one adult delegate. The youth delegates should be Christian young people of older high school and college age (none over twenty-four years) carefully selected to represent the agency that chooses them.

Two Vermont Faculty Members Will Speak Today At Convention

Professor Tupper and Dr. Campbell to Be Speakers From Vermont at Convention

WASHBURNE SPEAKS ON EDUCATIONAL OUTLOOK

Prof. Frederick Tupper and Dr. M. H. Campbell will speak today at the eighty fourth annual convention of the Vermont State Teachers' Association, which is being held in Rutland. "Latin and English Literature" is the subject of Professor Tupper's address, part of which will be delivered this morning, and the balance during the afternoon session. Dr Campbell has for his theme, "The Preparation of Students for Dairy Cattle Judging Contests."

Others attending the convention from the University are: Prof. G. V. Kudder, Prof. B. C. Douglass, Prof. B. H. Wallace, Prof. Sara M. Holbrook, Prof J B Wheeler, Prof. Nelle Adams, Prof. Eleanor Cummings, who will preside at the group conference of Women Directors of Physical Education in Colleges and Normal Schools Section, Prof. Catherine F. Nulty, chairman of the Conference on Secondary Schools, and Dean Swift.

"World Educational Outlook" was the idea which Dr. Carleton Washburne presented to the convention Thursday night. Doctor Washburne, Superintendent of Schools, Winnetka, Ill., has traveled extensively over the world, and has studied the educational problems in the different countries. His interest centers in Winnetka, and in his thought of education, he bases it on the progress shown in the schools of his city.

Impersonations of several famous actresses will be presented Friday night by Miss Dorothy Sands, called "Styles in Acting." The famous writer Dorothy Canfield Fisher will speak on "Cooperation," Saturday morning with Gwendolyn B. Carpenter, State President of the Parent Teachers' Associations.

The purpose of the Vermont State Teachers' Association is "to promote the cause of education," and they pledge themselves anew to serve the youth of Vermont.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Today, October 13
- Bailey Cup Debate.
- Philagon.
- Informal Poetry Group.
- Rushing Dates.

Saturday, October 14
- Health Council Dance.
- Clarkson at Potsdam (football).
- Springfield there (cross-country).

Tuesday, October 17
- Freshman Lecture.
- Rushing.

Wednesday, October 18
- Rushing.

Thursday, October 19
- Bids.

Friday, October 20
- Philagon.
- Informal Poetry Group.

Saturday, October 21
- Boston University there (football).
- Bates College here (debate).
- Alliance Française.

Monday, October 23
- Women's Rifle Team.

Tuesday, October 24.
- Freshman Lecture.

Wednesday, October 25.
- University Lecture.

Friday, October 27
- Philagon.
- Informal Poetry Group.

Saturday, October 28
- New Hampshire here (football).
- Entertainment Evening.

BLUESTOCKINGS MEMBERS TO MEET THIS MONTH

"Bluestockings," women's honorary literary society, will meet during the last week in October at the Pi Beta Phi house to spend an evening in the consideration of literature. The program is being planned by Lois Whitcomb and Margaret Kane, co-chairmen of the social committee, and will probably consist of reports and discussions of the poetry and prose of one country.

A contribution box will be placed in the Y. room soon, where material for tryouts may be left. Poetry, short stories, essays, and book reviews are acceptable, and it is hoped that many women will try their talent at reaching the high standards of the "Bluestockings."

Casts Chosen For Three One-Act Plays To Be Presented November 2

Number of Freshmen Make the Plays, Which Will Be Under the Direction of the Group Players

STUDENTS WHO WILL APPEAR IN THE PLAYS

Try-outs for the first dramatic activity of the year were held Tuesday and Wednesday under the auspices of the Group Players, and casts for three one-act plays were chosen from those who presented themselves before the judges, who were members of the English department, and some of those students who have helped to put on plays in past years, under the name of the Group Players.

The aspirants to Thespian fame waited in 1 North College, while in 4 North College, the actual trying out went on. On Tuesday all who wished to exhibit their histrionic skill were given opportunities to try out together with one or two others. The judges asked all who showed up favorably to return Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, for the final casting. From four until six o'clock Wednesday the process of elimination went on. Approximately fifteen students were finally chosen to fill the casts of the three plays.

This group of one-act plays will probably be given in the auditorium of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum on the evening of November 2. The coaches will be students who are members of Masque and Sandal, and Wig and Buskin. Most of them have also been associated with the Group Players, that group of students which for the past two years, under the direction of students and entirely without faculty supervision, has produced several plays, the earliest of which was "Hedda Gabler," Ibsen's masterpiece.

Among the judges and assistants were Professor Lindsay, Professor Tupper, and Professor Dean of the English department, Professor Myrick of the department of Romance Languages, S Pierce '34, Rosemary Cahill '36, Mary Casey '35, R S Wright '35, P M Howe '35, and C. M. Derven '36.

There will be try-outs for the annual class plays and probably for a fall play in the near future. Members of Masque and Sandal, and Wig and Buskin request that all who are interested in dramatics

(Continued on page 3)

ANNUAL RHODES CONTEST WILL BEGIN IN AMERICAN COLLEGES THIS WEEK

Thirty-two American Men to Receive Oxford Scholarships for Next College Year

Annual competition for thirty-two Rhodes Scholarships to University of Oxford in England to be awarded to college students in the United States will begin in state colleges and universities within the next week or two, according to announcement sent out by Frank Aydelottle, American Secretary to the Rhodes Trustees, and president of Swarthmore College.

The announcement stated further that applications from the states, which are limited to two chosen by a state committee, are due not later than November 18, 1933. All students are advised to submit their applications for candidate from their respective states as soon as possible, and colleges are requested to select outstanding applicants not later than November 11.

Dean C. H. Barnwell has charge of the competition in the University. Application blanks and further information may be obtained from him or from President O C Carmichael, Montevallo, Alabama.

The elections will be held on January 2, 4, and 6, 1934. The two representatives chosen at this time will enter Oxford in October the following fall.

The stipened of a Rhodes Scholarship is fixed at 400 pounds. No restriction is placed upon a Rhodes Scholar's choice of studies.

To be eligible for the competition, the candidate must:

(a) Be a male citizen of the United States and unmarried.

(b) Be between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five.

(c) Have completed at least his sophomore year at college.

A candidate may apply either in the State in which he resides or in the one in which he has received at least two years of his college education.

The qualities which will be considered in making the selection are:

(1) Literary and scholastic ability and attainments.

(2) Qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindliness, unselfishness and fellowship.

(3) Exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his schoolmates.

(4) Physical vigor as shown by interest in outdoor sports or in other ways.

PHILAGON STATES PLANS FOR THE COMING YEAR

Philagon has drawn up its plans for the coming year and has established a list of requirements for eligibility and a formal initiation procedure. A meeting is to be held each Friday afternoon at four o'clock in the museum for those women interested in debating. It is hoped that a large number of freshman women will become actively participators in club activities.

The weekly meetings of Philagon have been put on the college calendar.

VERMONT FORENSICISTS TO MEET BATES COLLEGE

Vermont will meet Bates here next Saturday evening, October 21, in its first debating contest of the current season. The Bates forensicists will meet Middlebury College the previous evening, October 20, and will uphold the affirmative side of the subject, "Resolved: That the United States should adopt a system of radio control and regulation similar to that of Great Britain." Middlebury and the University of Vermont will both defend the negative side.

The Oregon style of debate will be followed. In this form of debating court-room procedure is followed; the affirmative side presents their witnesses, while the negative side presents lawyers who cross-examine the witnesses. This form is closely followed, with each team interchanging witnesses and lawyers.

METCALF DISCUSSES THE "MAGIC MOUNTAIN"

Presents Philosophical Problems of Thomas Mann's Book at Dewey Club Meeting Wed.

The "Magic Mountain" by Thomas Mann and the philosophical problems it presents was the subject of an informal discussion by Prof. J. T. Metcalf of the psychology department on Wednesday evening at the John Dewey Club meeting. The gathering was held at the Vermonters' Club House, with an attendance of twenty-five members and people eligible for membership.

Professor Metcalf introduced the audience to the social and political problems of the "Magic Mountain" by reading several speeches and discussions of the various characters of the book.

Professor Metcalf said of the book, "It is an allegory in the form of a sociological novel, and its treatment is realistic." He agrees with Dorothy Thompson, who in a lecture here last summer made the statement "The 'Magic Mountain' is the greatest work of fiction written by anybody in the last twenty-five years."

Magic Mountain is the site of a tuberculosis sanatorium where a group of people, afflicted with the illness, are being treated. In this way Mann has shown a group of characters, detached from normal society, who illustrate the conflict between practical life and non practical life. These individuals work to improve the social conditions of the world by the pursuit of art. The characters are so diverse that they present all sorts of points of view.

The interest of the book, according to Professor Metcalf, is not centered so much in Hans Kristoff, the hero, as in the forces which sway him. "There is little physical action in the book," said the lecturer; "the action is in people's minds rather than in the outside world."

Professor Metcalf opened his talk with a short biographical sketch of Thomas Mann, who in his personal life illustrates the development of a family from an in-

(Continued on page 4)

1933 TOUCH FOOTBALL RULES REVISION MADE

NEWS HOUND DIGS INTO SLUMS FOR MATERIAL

FOOTBALL RESUME

CAT'S MEOW

Tell me something..

what makes a cigarette taste better

WHAT makes anything taste better? It's what is in it that makes a thing taste better.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because we buy ripe tobaccos. These ripe tobaccos are aged two and a half years—thirty months. During this time the tobaccos improve—just like wine improves by ageing.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because they have the right kind of home-grown tobaccos and Turkish Tobaccos "welded together."

We hope this answers your question.

Chesterfield

the cigarette that's MILDER
the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

The Vermont Cynic

UME 52 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1933 | NUMBER 6

blic Affairs Club, ormed By Students Of Social Subjects

artments of Political Science, conomics, and History Are ponsoring the Organization

W CLUB IS ACTUAL EORGANIZATION OF I.R.C.

Public Affairs Club has been organ- pus fall by the departments of His- Political Science, and Economics the purpose of providing a forum ch the students may study and dis- problems of contemporary affairs club is the successor of the Inter- nal Relations Club, and is to con- the activities of that club, using name when continuing those activi- Each department has designated culty advisor for the club: Profes- Evans, Mr. Stimson, and Professor t assisted by Professor Meredith. mbership in the club is open to any ent or faculty member of the Uni- ty upon the payment of the annual The first reorganization meeting take place two weeks from this Fri- October 27, at 8.00 p.m. in Room 3, th College. If the meeting is too for this room, the Old Mill Chapel be used.

t this time there will be a report of nominating committee consisting of Kilburn, chairman; C. B. Eaton, Laura A. Johnson, and also the tion of officers will take place. A ssional program committee has been ted by the Advisory Council con- ng of A. C. Pond '34, chairman; ra Farman '34 and H. W. Schroeder The meetings will be held approxi- ly every two weeks and the pro- ms are to consist of ten-minute pre- d talks by four students, followed by ted discussions from the floor. Lists been circulated in the classes on h interested students and those will- to attend the first meeting have signed r names.

n International Relations Committee lso to be formed, open to any mem- of the club interested in interna- al problems and this committee will st in the preparation of programs re- g to international affairs at the 's Affairs meetings. A paper will circulated at the first meeting of the Affairs Club for the names of desiring to join this committee

There has been a meeting of the sory Council in the Billings Library preparation for the first reorganiza- meeting on October 27.

Several of the suggested programs of Public Affairs Club are: The sevelt Revolution, The NRA Pro- m, The Agricultural Problem, The ber Revolution in Germany, Fascism, ism Pan-Americanism and The Doctrine, Liquor Regulation and ese Imperialism.

933 DIRECTORY WILL APPEAR NOVEMBER 1

fficial List of Telephone Num- bers Soon to Go on the Press

Vermont Directory, that annual prepared by the Registrar, Mr. W. Kehoe, and his office staff, is due off the press on or about the of November. This useful, and popular, little volume is dis- gratis, to all persons attending University. The book is devoted in entirety to information of interest to first pages of the Directory con- a list of the trustees of the Univer- the addresses and 'phone numbers rities, sororities, and dormitories, demic and social calendars, and a tabulation of the names of Uni- employees, faculty members, and with their positions and various ses. These sections are followed the roster of students, complete with and sundry items such as: home lege addresses, class, course, and number. The rest of the book to campus organizations and ors, and the distribution of stu- by colleges, courses and states.

worthy little manual is, in size, three and one-half by six inches. r and design of the cover for dition have not yet been decided Proofs of the inner pages, how- have been practically completed.

A. C. Pond

Chairman of Program Committee of Public Affairs Club

PROF. RAOUL BLANCHARD WILL SPEAK IN FRENCH MONDAY AT MUSEUM

His Discussion of French-Canadians to Open Alliance Française Lecture Series

Prof. Raoul Blanchard of the University of Grenoble will deliver a lecture in French, Monday night, the sixteenth of October, on the subject, "Les Canadiens Francais au Canada, tels que je les ai vus." The lecture will take place at the Robert Hull Fleming Museum.

The Alliance Française, in cooperation with the University of Vermont, is bringing once more to the city of Burlington and to the student body, a group of well-known French lecturers. Professor Blanchard's lecture Monday night will open the series for the 1933-34 season.

This information concerning the activities of the Alliance Française was released to the CYNIC by Mrs. P. D. Evans, president of the local chapter. She also states, "This is Monsieur Blanchard's third appearance in Burlington, where he has made many friends. Professor Blanchard is a professor of humane geography at the University of Grenoble, France, and has made himself a world-wide reputation. He comes every year to Harvard University for three months, to lecture there."

This lecture is free and open to the public. It will begin promptly at 8.00 p.m. in the museum auditorium. For the last two years the Alliance Française has offered at Commencement a prize of $25 to a student at the University of Vermont who should pass the best examination on the series of lectures. The number of students attending the lectures will decide whether or not a similar prize will be offered this year.

THESE LUCKY PEOPLE KNOW THEIR ARITHMETIC

The following five lucky people have been excused from arithmetic methods for one semester. After taking an examination, Grace Bushey '36, Lucia Chapman '36, Wilma Nelson '36, Marion Towers '36 and Carolyn Hill '36 found that they would not have to attend any more classes in that course for the remainder of the semester. Evidently some people learned their multiplication tables when they were young, and probably some people wished they had, now.

V. C. A. WILL SPONSOR FOURTH ANNUAL YOUTH CONFERENCE AT VT.

The V. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. will sponsor the fourth annual assembly of the Vermont State Youth Conference, which is to be held on the University campus, December 1, 2, and 3. They are responsible for finding rooms for the delegates and arranging for the meeting places for the discussions.

The Vermont Youth Council is "of, by, and for" the Christian youth of the State, meeting to think through some of the major problems and to face frankly the issues before youth today. It is sponsored by the committee on Young People's Work of the Vermont Council of Religious Education, the State Youth Cabinet, and twenty-five cooperating agencies. Each of these twenty-five agencies is allowed five youth delegates and one adult delegate. The youth delegates should be Christian young people of older high school and college age (none over twenty-four years) carefully selected to represent the agency that chooses them.

Two Vermont Faculty Members Will Speak Today At Convention

Professor Tupper and Dr. Campbell to Be Speakers From Vermont at Convention

WASHBURNE SPEAKS ON EDUCATIONAL OUTLOOK

Prof. Frederick Tupper and Dr. M. H. Campbell will speak today at the eighty fourth annual convention of the Vermont State Teachers' Association, which is being held in Rutland. "Latin and English Literature" is the subject of Professor Tupper's address, part of which will be delivered this morning, and the balance during the afternoon session. Dr. Campbell has for his theme, "The Preparation of Students for Dairy Cattle Judging Contests."

Others attending the convention from the University are: Prof. G. V. Kidder, Prof. B. C. Douglass, Prof. B. H. Wallace, Prof. Sara M. Holbrook, Prof. J. B. Wheeler, Prof. Nelle Adams, Prof. Eleanor Cummings, who will preside at the group conference of Women Directors of Physical Education in Colleges and Normal Schools Section, Prof. Catherine F. Nulty, chairman of the Conference on Secondary Schools, and Dean Swift.

"World Educational Outlook" was the idea which Dr. Carleton Washburne presented to the convention Thursday night. Doctor Washburne, Superintendent of Schools, Winnetka, Ill., has traveled extensively over the world, and has studied the educational problems in the different countries. His interest centers in Winnetka, and in his thought of education, he bases it on the progress shown in the schools of his city.

Impersonations of several famous actresses will be presented Friday night by Miss Dorothy Sands, called "Styles in Acting." The famous writer Dorothy Canfield Fisher will speak on "Cooperation," Saturday morning with Gwendolyn B. Carpenter, State President of the Parent Teachers' Associations.

The purpose of the Vermont State Teachers' Association is "to promote the cause of education," and they pledge themselves anew to serve the youth of Vermont.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Today, October 13
- Bailey Cup Debate.
- Philagon.
- Informal Poetry Group.
- Rushing Dates.

Saturday, October 14
- Health Council Dance.
- Clarkson at Potsdam (football).
- Springfield there (cross-country).

Tuesday, October 17
- Freshman Lecture.
- Rushing.

Wednesday, October 18
- Rushing.

Thursday, October 19
- Bids.

Friday, October 20
- Philagon.
- Informal Poetry Group.

Saturday, October 21
- Boston University there (football).
- Bates College here (debate).
- Alliance Française.

Monday, October 23
- Women's Rifle Team.

Tuesday, October 24.
- Freshman Lecture.

Wednesday, October 25.
- University Lecture.

Friday, October 27
- Philagon.
- Informal Poetry Group.

Saturday, October 28
- New Hampshire here (football).
- Entertainment Evening.

BLUESTOCKINGS MEMBERS TO MEET THIS MONTH

"Bluestockings," women's honorary literary society, will meet during the last week in October at the Pi Beta Phi house to spend an evening in the consideration of literature. The program is being planned by Lois Whitcomb and Margaret Kane, co-chairmen of the social committee, and will probably consist of reports and discussions of the poetry and prose of one country.

A contribution box will be placed in the Y. room soon, where material for tryouts may be left. Poetry, short stories, essays, and book reviews are acceptable, and it is hoped that many women will try their talent at reaching the high standards of the "Bluestockings."

Casts Chosen For Three One-Act Plays To Be Presented November 2

Number of Freshmen Make the Plays, Which Will Be Under the Direction of the Group Players

ANNUAL RHODES CONTEST WILL BEGIN IN AMERICAN COLLEGES THIS WEEK

Thirty-two American Men to Receive Oxford Scholarships for Next College Year

Annual competition for thirty-two Rhodes Scholarships to University of Oxford in England to be awarded to college students in the United States will begin in state colleges and universities within the next week or two, according to announcement sent out by Frank Aydelottle, American Secretary to the Rhodes Trustees, and president of Swarthmore College.

The announcement stated further that applications from the states, which are limited to two chosen by a state committee, are due not later than November 18, 1933. All students are advised to submit their applications for candidate from their respective states as soon as possible, and colleges are requested to select outstanding applicants not later than November 11.

Dean C. H. Barnwell has charge of the competition in the University. Application blanks and further information may be obtained from him or from President O. C. Carmichael, Montevallo, Alabama.

The elections will be held on January 2, 4, and 6, 1934. The two representatives chosen at this time will enter Oxford in October the following fall.

The stipened of a Rhodes Scholarship is fixed at 400 pounds. No restriction is placed upon a Rhodes Scholar's choice of studies.

To be eligible for the competition, the candidate must:

(a) Be a male citizen of the United States and unmarried.

(b) Be between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five.

(c) Have completed at least his sophomore year at college.

A candidate may apply either in the State in which he resides or in the one in which he has received at least two years of his college education.

The qualities which will be considered in making the selection are:

(1) Literary and scholastic ability and attainments.

(2) Qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindliness, unselfishness and fellowship.

(3) Exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his schoolmates.

(4) Physical vigor as shown by interest in outdoor sports or in other ways.

PHILAGON STATES PLANS FOR THE COMING YEAR

Philagon has drawn up its plans for the coming year and has established a list of requirements for eligibility and a formal initiation procedure. A meeting is to be held each Friday afternoon at four o'clock in the museum for those women interested in debating. It is hoped that a large number of freshman women will become actively participators in club activities.

The weekly meetings of Philagon have been put on the college calendar.

VERMONT FORENSICISTS TO MEET BATES COLLEGE

Vermont will meet Bates here next Saturday evening, October 21, in its first debating contest of the current season. The Bates forensicists will meet Middlebury College the previous evening, October 20, and will uphold the affirmative side of the subject, "Resolved: That the United States should adopt a system of radio control and regulation similar to that of Great Britain." Middlebury and the University of Vermont will both defend the negative side.

The Oregon style of debate will be followed. In this form of debating courtroom procedure is followed; the affirmative side presents their witnesses, while the negative side presents lawyers who cross-examine the witnesses. This form is closely followed, with each team interchanging witnesses and lawyers.

STUDENTS WHO WILL APPEAR IN THE PLAYS

Try-outs for the first dramatic activity of the year were held Tuesday and Wednesday under the auspices of the Group Players, and casts for three one-act plays were chosen from those who presented themselves before the judges, who were members of the English department, and some of those students who have helped to put on plays in past years, under the name of the Group Players.

The aspirants to Thespian fame waited in 1 North College, while in 4 North College, the actual trying out went on. On Tuesday all who wished to exhibit their histrionic skill were given opportunities to try out together with one or two others. The judges asked all who showed up favorably to return Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, for the final casting. From four until six o'clock Wednesday the process of elimination went on. Approximately fifteen students were finally chosen to fill the casts of the three plays.

This group of one-act plays will probably be given in the auditorium of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum on the evening of November 2. The coaches will be students who are members of Masque and Sandal, and Wig and Buskin. Most of them have also been associated with the Group Players, that group of students which for the past two years, under the direction of students and entirely without faculty supervision, has produced several plays, the earliest of which was "Hedda Gabler," Ibsen's masterpiece.

Among the judges and assistants were Professor Lindsay, Professor Tupper and Professor Dean of the English department; Professor Myrick of the department of Romance Languages, S. Pierce '34, Rosemary Cahill '36, Mary Casey '35, R. S. Wright '35, P. M. Howe '35, and C. M. Derven '36.

There will be try-outs for the annual class plays and probably for a fall play in the near future. Members of Masque and Sandal, and Wig and Buskin request that all who are interested in dramatics

(Continued on page 3)

METCALF DISCUSSES THE "MAGIC MOUNTAIN"

Presents Philosophical Problems of Thomas Mann's Book at Dewey Club Meeting Wed.

The "Magic Mountain" by Thomas Mann and the philosophical problems it presents was the subject of an informal discussion by Prof. J. T. Metcalf of the psychology department on Wednesday evening at the John Dewey Club meeting. The gathering was held at the Vermonters' Club House, with an attendance of twenty five members and people eligible for membership.

Professor Metcalf introduced the audience to the social and political problems of the "Magic Mountain" by reading several speeches and discussions of the various characters of the book.

Professor Metcalf said of the book, "It is an allegory in the form of a sociological novel, and its treatment is realistic." He agrees with Dorothy Thompson, who in a lecture here last summer made the statement "The 'Magic Mountain' is the greatest work of fiction written by anybody in the last twenty-five years."

Magic Mountain is the site of a tuberculosis sanatorium where a group of people, afflicted with the illness, are being treated. In this way Mann has shown a group of characters, detached from normal society, who illustrate the conflict between practical life and non-practical life. These individuals work to improve the social conditions of the world by the pursuit of art. The characters are so diverse that they present all sorts of points of view.

The interest of the book, according to Professor Metcalf, is not centered so much in Hans Kristoff, the hero, as in the forces which sway him. "There is little physical action in the book," said the lecturer; "the action is in people's minds rather than in the outside world."

Professor Metcalf opened his talk with a short biographical sketch of Thomas Mann, who in his personal life illustrates the development of a family from an in-

(Continued on page 4)

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Editor-in-Chief
Associate Editor
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Recording Editor
Business Manager
Advertising Manager

News Editor in Charge

Published ... Thursday ... during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year, single copy five cents.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department and mailed to The Vermont Cynic Office, North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. ... telephone 1560.

Arrangements for mailing to points outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

... Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

... the ... [illegible] ... the ... [illegible] ... the ... [illegible]

MONT TRAVELS TO POTSDAM FOR GAME WITH CLARKSON SAT.

Morgan and Funk Still Out, ke Resolves on New Backfield Combination meeting the football squad for the long trip to Potsdam, York for the game tomorrow with The squad with the exCaptain Morgan and Eddie in good shape and is expected to a good fight against the engineers. past week only light exercises the time of the team and been no scrimmage for fear of Coach Burke has finally re- a backfield which should be This will have John Beckquarter Lanahan and Saba at the and either Guardi and Ramon at With this backfield he will have two open field and defensive men in and Saba; a smart quarter in a good defensive man and line Guardi and a wonderful passing ction in Beckley and Saba The department which will suffer at all kicking for neither Beckley nor is said on a par with Ed Sowka forward spirals are a beauty to If Captain Morgan is not available line will form with the two Delat the ends, Cook and Bowers at Scratch Caracciolo and McGowan and Susie Paul at center.

Engineers will be plenty tough, even though they have dropped first two games this season. In their they lost to Manhatten 13-6, and Syracuse 52-0. They should not underestimated for we must remember last year they took Middlebury 26-6 without any trouble. In Hutand Gaffney they have two smart backs who may give the Cats to worry about. The rest of the will line up with Flower, l.e.; Apost.; Stolt, l.g.; Gregg, c.; Eberts, Bowhay, r.t.; Cambridge, r.e.; Hut- q.b.; McIntyre, l.t.; Scrupski, and Labarge, f.

TS ARE CHOSEN FOR THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS

(Continued from page 1)

and try out for these plays. If you to receive a part in one of these lays, don't let that fact dampen your There will be other plays, and the atic societies want you.

se people were chosen to the casts e three one-act plays being given the direction of the Group Players, result of two afternoons of try-outs. possible that some of these people given different parts from those ls assigned to them. As given, are Play Number One, B. J. ie '36, Patricia McAuliffe '37, S. T. er '37. Play Number Two, Ruth ice '37, A. L. Dean '37, C. J. Libby Play Number Three, Marion Her- '36, Thelma Rosenberg '35, Frances '36, Geraldine Kipp '37, Ellen Hall Elizabeth Haig '36, O. W. Lawson D. B. Kane '36.

CORRECTION

The Cynic wishes to correct a statement which appeared in its issue's editorial column. Fraities which asked freshmen for hing date preferences Monday open house were within regulans of the Interfraternity Council.

political candidates were discussthe coming local election. "What he audience say when you told them had never paid a dollar for a vote?" ed one.

few cheered—but the majority ed to lose interest at once."

—What wedding march do you r—Wagner's or Mendelssohn's?

—Oh, this is so sudden!

MALCOLM CRAIG, JR., TO ACT AS ASSISTANT R. O. T. C. DRUM MAJOR

Malcolm E. Craig, Jr. age three and one-half years, son of Capt. M. E. Craig, is now the official assistant drum major of the R. O. T. C. band. Master Craig officiated in his new capacity for the first time at the Dartmouth game last Saturday in Hanover.

Resplendent in a miniature band uniform with a baton tucked under his arm, he executed his duties almost perfectly. The only error he was observed to make was when he marched off the wrong track, was rescued, and received a great ovation from the crowd of spectators.

Master Craig had only one rehearsal to his credit at the time of his first performance. His next public appearance is scheduled for October 28, when New Hampshire will play Vermont here.

Photography Now On Display At Museum

More than 100 photographs in fifteen groups dealing with varied subjects and illustrative of many sides of photographic art are on exhibition in the art gallery of the Flemmg Museum. All are the work of Richard B. Hoit of New York City.

Mr. Hoit is chiefly known for his aerial photography. Three panels represent this phase of his art. One, entitled "Speed," shows various types of airplanes in flight. In "Travel" one sees the donkey cart compared with an airplane, autogiro and dirigible. "Air Views" contains an excellent aerial view of the college with one of Centennial Field. In all of Mr. Hoit's pictures the beauty of the sky stands out emphatically.

The panel labelled "Clouds" brings out this beauty particularly as does the one entitled "Trees." Several pictures of the most recent eclipse are shown with two views of the moon. Palm trees, and a solitary hemlock are expressive of this panel.

An unusual but attractive photograph is formed in the picture of the Green Mountain Power Corporation's power line, located on the road to Waterbury. Two views of lightning in this panel called "Power" are very striking.

Lovers of nature will find satisfaction in photographs of glaciers, country roads, Lake Champlain, autumn gardens and flowers. In the panel of "Gardens" the close-up of a cactus flower is of outstanding beauty.

Two other panels of "Folks" and "Homes" are descriptive. An aged Indian grandmother is placed beside an American baby, as is a Floridian mansion with its wide patio placed in contrast to a wind-swept log cabin.

The exhibition will be open every afternoon through next Sunday. The subjects treated are intensely interesting, but are those of which the beauty is often overlooked.

FROSH ATTENTION! BEWARE THESE PITFALLS

A severe infraction of a rule issuing from Dean Patterson's office relative to the wearing of full length stockings has been commented on. Several young ladies have been in the habit of strolling about the campus with almost totally nude legs displayed. Freshman girls might well heed this premature warning for this state of undress has always been considered immodest, especially after the real warm weather has passed by. English teachers have also commented on the slang expressions which are the rage at present. This is ascribed to the fact that the undergraduates had the entire summer to allow their speech to become sloven. The freshmen have brought their high school slang to college, and it will be extremely difficult for them to correct their faults for they will be given little instruction by the upperclassmen.

MYERS WINS TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP OVER WILSON IN EASY MATCH

Myers Displays Top Brand of Tennis at All Times to Win Match 6-2, 6-4, 6-1

Combining a beautiful all-around game with ability to come through in the pinches, yesterday morning Norm Myers, varsity captain-elect, completely overwhelmed Hugh Wilson in the finals of the fall tournament 6-2, 6-4, 6-1.

Not for some years has there been such a walk away for any winner in the finals of this tournament but Myers yesterday was invincible. In administering such a beating Myers completely surpassed Wilson in every department of the game and left no doubt as to who was the better man. One of the largest factors in Wilson's downfall was his second serve, for Myers consistently put it away for a point throughout the match. The time of the match which was only fifty minutes clearly indicates how one-sided was the contest.

At the beginning of the match the odds were fairly even for Myers on his march to the finals had lost only four games while Wilson, in his match Wednesday with Bart Costello alone dropped six. However as Hugh defeated Norm last year in the finals that evened things up.

A large crowd of spectators viewed the match which opened with Myers dropping the first game. He came back, however, to win it 6-2. The second was more closely contested but Myers again took that 6-4. The last set was a complete rout for Wilson was utterly unable to cope with Norm's all-round brilliance but managed to get one game to escape having it a love set. So the 1933 fall tournament is over and our varsity captain-elect the winner. Let's all congratulate the new champ!

The Catty Co-ed

1. The Catty Co-ed wonders who told Thatch Hubbard that he was a bright little boy?
2. The Catty Co-ed wonders how that poor cow feels?
3. Too bad, Fanny, you had to miss the football game.
4. It's a long walk for Merrill Cross from the SAE House to Allen House.
5. The Catty Co-ed wants to know who Ronny Bingham took to the Boulder dance.
6. The Catty Co-ed wants to know if the freshmen enjoy Professor Fraleigh's menageries and whatsis?
7. The Catty Co-ed thinks Ruth Woodward should have sold tickets for those rides in her car.
8. Some of these freshmen boys do think they are slaying the women right and left.
9. Some of Vermont's football stars are also excellent ping-pong players.
10. Johnny McGrath is too generous in offering the girls rides home—if they don't mind meeting his mother! A good line, Johnny.
11. The Catty Co-ed thinks that the boy friends back home are meeting a lot of competition.
12. The Catty Co-ed wants to know if Jim Naylor enjoyed the hose fight?
13. The Catty Co-ed overheard this description of an upperclassman idol. The nicest blond curly hair, swell blue eyes, and the grandest smile. He's about six feet tall and the most perfect figure! Someone's ears must have burned.
14. Does Augusta Cohen ever say anything that might be called sarcastic? It isn't a bit nice.
15. The Catty Co-ed would like to ask Prentiss Howe if he has a reserved seat in chapel?
16. Bones Burrows and Pete Ross divide honors as the ideal secret(?) passion of some of the freshman girls—perhaps even a few upperclassmen.
17. The Catty Co-ed never likes unpleasant subjects, but did someone say hour tests soon?
18. Muriel Magee and Marie Horak are attending night school to learn the touch system.
19. Roommates are convenient things to have around. Ask Daisy!
20. The Catty Co-ed wonders if Ruth Eno ever went on a blind.
21. Vi Farman should publish those resolutions which she read at the Mortar Board picnic.
22. Now that several bad cases of homesickness are over it's time to do something else.
23. The Catty Co-ed wonders if Johnny Swift ever considered dog catching as a vocation?
24. The Catty Co-ed wonders what would happen if Dean Patterson's car just refused to go?

NEWS STORY WRITING IS SUBJECT OF MEETING

The writing of news stories was the subject of an informal discussion at the meeting of woman Cynic scrubs held Wednesday afternoon in the Old Mill. The lead sentence, news order, and methods of going after news facts were some of the topics discussed. Augusta Cohen '34, women's editor, was in charge of the meeting.

NEW ALL-COLLEGE ORCHESTRA TO PERFORM FOR TOMORROW'S DANCE

Health Council, in its capacity of sponsor of the college dance that is being held at the gymnasium tomorrow night announces that the new all-college orchestra which was projected a few weeks ago is now a substantial fact, so much so that it will furnish the impetus for undergraduate terpsichorean endeavors. S. Carsley '34 is at the head of the new orchestra, whose personnel is almost wholly collegiate, and he states that they are a fine group of musicians.

Admission to the dance has been lowered to 75 cents per couple, 50 cents single admission to introduce the new orchestra. Members of Health Council have expended every effort to make this the best dance of the year.

Community Concert to Sponsor Programs

The three concerts featured in the series sponsored by the Burlington Community Concert Association have been booked and dated. The first program will take place on Saturday, November 4 and will present The New English Singers. The other two will come in 1934. On Friday, January 12 will come the Hart House String Quartette, followed on Monday, March 5 by Wilbur Evans, young American baritone of note.

The New English singers are the outgrowth of the former English singers, the famous vocal ensemble which sang over 500 concerts in the United States and Canada during the last seven years, reorganized as the New Singers. The members include Dorothy Silk, Joyce Sutton, Nellie Carson, Cuthbert Kelly, Steuart Wilson, and Norman Notley. Mr. Wilson was in Burlington on a concert tour a few years ago.

The singers do the finest choral singing that has yet been heard in America, and deserve the characterization of a famous New York critic who dubbed them the "choir perfect." They sing their entire program in English, and reveal the glories of our tongue. They prove English singable. The English singers gather around a table (thus reviving the customs of Queen Elizabeth's England), and without the slightest preparation or ceremony, pour from their throats the gay, light-hearted folk songs, madrigals and carols of those happy days that have created the name "Merrie England."

The personnel of the Hart House String Quartet is Geza de Kresz, first violin, Milton Blackstone, viola, Harry Adaskin, second violin, and Boris Hambourg, violoncello. De Kresz was a former teacher of Miss Charlotte deVolt, instructor in music at the University. In six years the Hart ensemble has taken its place among the leading ensembles of the world. It was founded and sponsored by the Honorable Vincent Massey and Mrs. Massey, giving music lovers a chance to hear chamber music of the highest order. Its 350 public concerts have taken it across the continent three times, into every province of Canada, and the leading cities of the United States.

The life of Wilbur Evans, twenty seven year old baritone, reads like the fascinating history of a typical American fellow. He is American by birth, background and training. He traces his family to John Evans, who came from Wales to settle in Delaware in 1696. He was born in Philadelphia, and was musical even as a small child.

He studied singing, making money to take those precious lessons in every way possible. He taught swimming to children, acted as chauffeur, clerked in a store, and instructed in athletics at summer camps. He is tall, dark, good-looking, athletic (at college he majored in physical education), and does not conform to the conventional singer pattern in type or tradition. He was outstanding in athletics, particularly soccer, basketball and swimming.

Even in high school, he had many tempting offers to go into vaudeville. He refused consistently. Dancing was his hobby, and chess another. As for music, it was to be taken seriously or not at all.

In 1927 the Atwater Kent First National radio contest, with 50,000 contestants, brought him first prize by the vote of 30,000,000 people. The verdict has been fully sustained by this rising young man in concert, radio, operetta and oratorio. Critics agree that a great future is ahead of Wilbur Evans.

VERMONT KITTENS OPEN AGAINST SPAULDING HIGH TOMORROW AT BARRE

Coaches Winant and Farmer Look Forward to Successful Season

Coaches Eddie Winant and Morris Farmer for over two weeks have been drilling some thirty aspirants for positions on the 1937 team. From an inspection of the candidates in preliminary workouts it would appear that material is available for a better yearling squad than last year.

The Kittens will have their first opportunity to show their ability in the opening game with Spaulding High School at Barre Saturday. A game has also been obtained with the Middlebury freshmen on October 27.

Thorn and Rosenblatt, 230 pound tackles from Connecticut will prove valuable in the line. Lawton and Flint guards, seem to handle themselves well. O'Neill, Baron, and Schem are products who may come through for flank berths while Beattie may function at center.

Other candidates who have shown considerable promise include Hoag, Ross, Middlebury High School back Gero and Crandall.

The squad consists largely of inexperienced men. First and Shuttleworth, Burlington High School veterans, have improved and are the leading line replacements. The first team averages 188 pounds along the line and 172 in the backfield.

RECREATION GROUPS TO OCCUR IN VERMONT

These to Be Training Meetings in Recreation Methods

Recreation institutes are to be held throughout the state under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers Association and the Extension Service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College. They are being scheduled in eleven or twelve counties for the first two weeks in November. Miss Ella Gardner, recreation specialist from the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C., has been secured to conduct the institutes.

Miss Gardner has held institutes in the state under the auspices of the Extension Service for eight or nine years. This year the Parent-Teachers Association is cooperating with the Extension Service and the meetings are being planned by the county P. T. A. chairman and the home demonstration agent. They are open to delegates from both organizations.

The meetings, which will be held one to each county, with delegates present from the various communities in the county, will be actual training meetings in recreation methods and the study of community facilities and leadership for recreation.

PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS
NEW AND USED FIRST-GRADE TYPEWRITERS RENTED
Special Rates to Students
Bruhn Office Equipment Co.
14 Church St. Burlington, Vt

McGregor Leather Jackets
Made of the Finest Hides and Tailored as a Leather Jacket should be $10 TO $12.50
CROSBY SQUARE SHOES
$5 AND $6
C'MON DOWN SATURDAY AND GET THE FOOTBALL SCORES
HAYES & CARNEY, INC.
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

Check your stock of required texts as TEXTBOOKS are being returned to the publishers
OCTOBER 20
The University Stores are always glad to order any book you desire—but since special orders take time it is much better to buy regular texts from our present stock

MISS HOLBROOK ATTENDS BENNINGTON CONFERENCE

METCALF DISCUSSES MANN'S MAGIC MOUNTAIN

POETRY CLASS HOLDS FIRST MEETING FRIDAY

Vermont Sororities

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Kappa Alpha Theta was founded in [illegible] father suggested that she form one for [illegible] she wanted to join some [illegible] organizations were [illegible] of 1870 she one of [illegible] and two [illegible] the campus at the [illegible] College held their first meeting.

[illegible] were admitted to the University of Vermont in 1871 [illegible] 1873, the fourteen young women then in college formed Alpha Rho. When, eight years later, Lambda chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta was established at this University, it absorbed the original local fraternity.

From these small beginnings has developed a strong national organization with sixty-four chapters in colleges throughout the country and in Canada, a member of National Panhellenic Council, which was established in 1891 to promote friendliness and cooperation between the [illegible]

REV. LADD STRESSES INDIVIDUAL IMPORTANCE

"Seek to be the individual who [illegible] from the group," was the message delivered by the Rev. P. C. Ladd [illegible] the College Street Church [illegible] Wednesday morning address to the [illegible] students. "There are two types of [illegible] which makes the personality of one individual a distinct entity, and not simply another to be lost in the group. One of these is the possession of some unusual quality or combination of qualities, the other is the possession of the ordinary good qualities to an unusual degree. We should strive for that quality which will make us known for our excellence either in the ordinary affairs of human life, or in the unusual ways that are given to only a few talented personalities to know.

"Human nature is fluid, yielding to the leadership of the genius. We should [illegible] that leadership which is so much needed.

Reading the college papers of the nation, we notice again and again the discouraging appearance of noblesse oblige. At Smith, the ever-interesting Weekly reports that two students, violating Hamp traffic regulations by riding bicycles on the sidewalk without lights at night, were speedily apprehended by the strong arm of the law and summoned to court the next morning. Cutting vital classes, they gave testimony, were fined five dollars apiece and departed. [illegible] formed

---

It will be interesting to know just [illegible] professors of economics in the college who have been teaching the glory of "rugged individualism" will fit the NRA into their courses this fall.—Burlington (Vt.) Free Press.

Nature's Gift to LUCKY SMOKERS

The Cream of the Crop

It's not by accident that Luckies draw so easily, burn so evenly. For each and every Lucky is fully packed—filled to the brim with sweet, ripe, mellow Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. Round, firm—no loose ends. That's why Luckies are so smooth.

"it's toasted"

FOR THROAT PROTECTION—FOR BETTER TASTE

ALWAYS the finest tobaccos
ALWAYS the finest workmanship
ALWAYS Luckies please!

The Vermont Cynic

ME 52 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1933 NUMBER 9

HOMORE DEBATERS T TWO-ONE DECISION IN BAILEY CUP BATTLE native Freshman Team Defeated on Radio Control Question

ERICAN PLAN OF DEBATE USED on Form to Be Followed in ebate With Bates Saturday night in the Fleming Muthe sophomore class succeeded its title to the H. A. cup when the affirmative was defeated by the class s. The judges, Profs. G. G. Metcalf and H. I. Williams, two-to-one decision in favor side. The question, "Re- the United States should radio control and regu- to that of Great Britain," as the one which will be first of Vermont's intercol- of this season when Bates her team here next Saturday. system of debating used in contest, however, was the style, whereas in the coming the Oregon plan will be American system of debating has three speakers and, usually, The affirmative team with one speaker and, at the six-minute time allotment, he alternately by speakers of until each has been given his presentation. The negative team a series of rebuttal speeches, four minutes' duration, in which appear alternately, as before.

Barsalow First Speaker

Barsalow opened the discussion the idea that, under our American broadcasting methods, are put on a competitive basis based on popular appeal, rather cultural or educational ideals, done under the British plan would consider the best the people. E. R. Greemore, first man, endeavored to some points given by Mr. Barsaby quoting certain authorities who our American radio system is the chaotic condition which the speaker implied. He then conthe argument that that very of programs resulted in about programs more satisfacto the American public, quoting speakers now on the ether to his point.

second affirmative speaker, tried to show certain points which the system used by Britain holds over ours, including

(Continued on page 5)

RESS CLUB MEMBERS TO HAVE PARTY FRIDAY

rof. Dean Edits Work of 26 Women Scrubbing for Membership

Halloween party for the active Press Club is to be held next at the Alpha Chi House at eight Shirley Tripp '34, social chairin charge.

Club has twenty-six scrubs from starting out "on their own," Professor Dean of the English Deediting their work. Their as follows: Norma Littlefield Dragon '35, Sylvia Margulis Goldman '37, Mary Cunning- Sue France '35, Gertrude Fish- Sanborn '35, Birdie Creagh Pearl '37, Harriet Gile '37, '37, Madeleine Davidson '36, Beach '36, Marjorie Jenks '35, Martin '36, Natalie Hilliker '36, '35, Sylvia Miner '35, Ruth '36, Molly Marshall '36, Comer '36, Celia Kremski '35, Peacock '35, Margaret Levarn Puffer '35.

DELTA PSIS HAVE MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT

w has been cast over Delta Psi with the accident of Bill '36 last week. His collison Macek '36 who was driving a resulted in serious injuries.

"MERCHANT OF VENICE" TO BE PRESENTED HERE

"The Merchant of Venice," Shakespeare's well known comedy, will be presented here in the gymnasium Thursday evening, October 26, according to a recent announcement by Professor Tupper of the English department.

The letterheads read, "The Shakespearean Players present James Hendrickson and Clair Bruce and their company in their seventh year of production." This company is the same one that presented Shakespeare here three or four years ago, including "Macbeth," in their presentations.

The department declared itself fortunate in securing this company for the stop-over in Burlington, although but one play is available for presentation. As far as is now known, student and faculty tickets will be forty cents, with reserved seats at seventy-five cents.

Members of schools surrounding Burlington, and in Burlington are being invited to attend, with emissaries proceding as far as Vergennes.

MEMBERS OF FACULTY ATTEND 84TH ANNUAL TEACHERS' CONVENTION

Prof. Nulty Made Member of Board of Directors; Two U. V. M. Professors Speak

Faculty members who attended the eighty-fourth annual convention of the Vermont State Teachers' Association held in Rutland from Thursday till Saturday, returned Saturday. Prof. Frederick Tupper and Dr. M. H. Campbell were speakers at the meeting; Prof. Catherine F. Nulty, of the secetarial department, was made a member of the board of directors.

The subject of Professor Tupper's address given Friday was "Latin and English Literature." Doctor Campbell, of the Agricultural College had for his theme, "The Preparation of Students for Dairy Cattle Judging Contests."

Dr. Carleton Washburne, Superintendent of Schools, Winnetka, Ill., was the speaker of Thursday evening. His subject was "World Educational Outlook." Friday night's feature was a program of impersonations of famous actresses by Miss Dorothy Sands. Saturday Dorothy Canfield Fisher, eminent Vermont novel-

(Continued on page 6)

5 VACANCIES FILLED ON U. V. M. EXTENSION STAFF

Have Two Home Demonstration Agents, Two 4-H Workers and One County Agent

Two new home demonstration agents, two new 4-H club agents, and one new county agent have joined the staff of the Extension Service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College. The home demonstration agents are Helen Rose, who takes Ruth Palmer's place in Franklin County, and Frances Metcalf, who takes the place of Virginia May in Washington County. The 4-H club agents are Margaret Poole, who takes over the work of Florence Whitcomb in Chittenden County, and Margaret Tower, who has the position formerly held by Marion Stone in Caledonia County. William G. Loveless goes in as county agent for H. A. Aronson in Washington County.

Miss Rose is a Kansan, a graduate of the University of Kansas, with special work at the universities of Chicago, Wisconsin and Columbia. She has taught home economics for several years in Kansas and has been supervisor of home economics. Miss Metcalf, the other home demonstration agent, is from Massachusetts, where she graduated from State Teachers College, Framingham. For the past year she has been doing volunteer work in the Worcester County Home Department.

Both of the 4-H club agents are Vermonters and graduates of the University of Vermont. Miss Poole has taught in South Burlington and in Williston High School. She has done special work in two summer sessions at the University. Miss Tower graduated from the University last June, having taken the home economics course.

William G. Loveless, who is taking over the work of H. A. Aronson in Washington County, graduated in 1931 from Ontario Agricultural College and has been doing graduate work in dairy husbandry at the University of Vermont

CASTS RECEIVE PARTS; REHEARSALS FOR GROUP PLAYS ARE UNDER WAY

Names of Student Coaches Announced at Meeting Saturday

PLAYS TO BE PRESENTED IN MUSEUM NOVEMBER 2

Each Is Representative of Different Countries' Production

Rehearsals for the Group Plays started yesterday afternoon at four o'clock as S. Pierce '34, president of Wig and Buskin, informed a reporter. The casts have received their parts and intensive rehearsing is under way with the supervision of student coaches.

The Group Players for the last two years have been sponsoring dramatic presentations to supplement the official college three-act plays and to give inexperienced actors the opportunity to demonstrate their histrionic ability.

At a meeting of the casts, held on Saturday morning, October 14, the names of the coaches were announced. Alice McConnell '34 and S. Pierce '34 will coach play number one; R. S. Wright '35, play number two; Mary Casey '35 and Rosemary Cahill, play number three

Three Distinct Types

The three one-act plays to be presented on November 2 in the Fleming Museum are of three distinct types, written by authors of three different nationalities, and according to members of the University Players the selection of plays by foreign authors such as these should prove a novel feature of this fall's presentation by the Group Players. Each play is representative of the present-day dramatic productions of a certain country. There is an English farce, with its note of delicious English straight-face humor. And there is a typical Russian comedy, subtle and darkly sparkling in its "mood of humor." Finally there sweeps to the boards a modern German drama. This particular play is renowned for its technic, and has been considered as one of the best examples of beautifully treated philosophic German comedies known.

As far as is now known there will be no admission charged for the November 2 performances, except that a hat will be passed as at last semester's plays.

Hall Has Disadvantages

The Fleming Museum auditorium will be used for the plays, as being the only available hall for use without rent. The gymnasium has been considered but was rejected because of its acoustic objections. Although a host of criticism has been raised against the former auditorium, the Players have thus far managed to surmount its difficulties and successfully so if judged by the audiences that their productions have drawn.

It was explained that the stage of the museum auditorium is very shallow, allowing but little room for scenery and properties, and none at all for passage from one side to the other behind the backdrop. Its walls are plaster and it is necessary for the stage manager to hang up drapes of his own manufacture and to somehow provide a curtain that will work not too jerkily. On one side there is but a miniature anteroom, barely

(Continued on page 3)

BLANCHARD GIVES FIRST OF ALLIANCE LECTURES

Professor From University of Grenoble Speaks on French-Canadians

Prof. Raoul Blanchard, of the University of Grenoble, delivered a lecture in French at the Robert Hull Fleming Museum last evening. Professor Blanchard, the first of the series of speakers to be sponsored by the Alliance Française, talked on the subject, "Les Canadiens Français au Canada, tels que je les ai vus."

Mrs. P. D. Evans, president of the local chapter of Alliance Française, told the Cynic that the Alliance, in cooperation with the University of Vermont, is planning to bring to Burlington many other well-known French lecturers.

Prof. Raoul Blanchard is a professor of humane geography at the University of Grenoble, France, and has made himself a world wide reputation. Each year he comes to lecture at Harvard University, and twice before he has visited Burlington, where he has made many friends.

This Week Sees Final Phase Of Season's Rushing Period

MEMBERS OF PHILAGON HAVE OREGON FORM OF DEBATE DEMONSTRATED

Decided That Eligibility Can Be Met by Attendance of Three Meetings

The members of Philagon were introduced to a new form of debate at their meeting Friday, October 13 at 4 o'clock in the Fleming Museum. The Oregon style of debate was demonstrated by four girls who used the subject "Resolved that intercollegiate sports should be abandoned in favor of intramural sports."

Ruth Barron '36 and Norma Piper '36 acted as lawyers for the affirmative and negative sides respectively and questioned the speakers, Elizabeth Brown '36 and Mary Whitney '36, on the statements they made. Frances Rowe '36 acted as chairman of the debate.

Professor Carleton welcomed the new members and would-be members and told them how much he hoped the society would thrive and grow so as to receive the dying interest in debate.

There was a business meeting led by Pres. Elvira Farman '34 at which it was decided that eligibility to Philagon could be met by attending three meetings consecutively. Ruth Barron '36 will have charge of the program of initiation; Lucy Frost '36 was elected social chairman. Attendance at all debates in which women participate is compulsory and the attendance at men's debates is urgently requested.

Meetings of Philagon are scheduled for each Friday at 4 o'clock, but these may be omitted in favor of mass attendance at some important debate. Social meetings will take place once a month.

ELECT OFFICERS OF WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

Results of Sextet Tryouts Last Friday Are Announced

Velma Purinton '34 is the newly elected president of Women's Glee Club, following elections which took place at a short business meeting of the club Friday afternoon, October 13, at 1.30 o'clock in the Old Mill. The elected manager is Dorothy Willey '36.

Try-outs among the members of Glee Club last Friday resulted in the selection of the following six women as members of the Women's Glee Club sextet: Alice Lechnyr '37, Velma Purinton '34, Marjorie Jenks '35, Viola Long '37, Helen Carpenter '36, and Elva-Mae Jenkins '36.

As previously announced, the following were chosen for the women's double quartet. Basis for choice was the best combinations of voices, not necessarily the best voices. Pauline Bristol '37, Ruth Eno '37, Marjorie Jenks '35, Augusta Caravatti '37, Joan Ripper '37, Norma Carder PG, and Elva-Mae Jenkins '36.

As a result of sextet try-outs Friday also, several changes in the personnel of the special chorus of the Women's Glee Club were made. The completed list includes: First sopranos, Pauline Bristol '37, Gene Clark '37, Ruth Eno '37, Elizabeth Johnson '36, Alice Lechnyr '37, Eleanore McMahon '37, Velma Purinton '34, Janet Thompson '36 and Dorothy Willey '36.

Second sopranos, Helen Bellows '35, Janet Dodds '34, Marjorie Jenks '35, Ruby Jenness '34, Margaret Kane '35, and Viola Long '37.

First altos: Madeline Amsbury '35, Augusta Caravatti '37, Helen Carpenter '36, Sylvia Jarvis '36, Elizabeth Rich '35, and Ruth Woodward '36.

Second altos: Stella Brown '34, Norma Carder PG, Jean Fuller '37, Elva Mae Jenkins '36, Marion Parker '35, and Joan Ripper '37.

The Women's Glee Club will present its annual concert on Thursday, November 23.

REV. WALLACE TO SPEAK

The speaker for Chapel tomorrow will be the Reverend Herbert T. Wallace of Orleans, Vt. Rev. Wallace has spoken at Vermont Chapel services before.

Interfraternity Council Will Deliver Invitations Thursday

PARTIES YESTERDAY, TODAY, AND TOMORROW

Neutral Period From 12 P.M. Wednesday to 6 P.M. Thursday

Men's fraternities at Vermont are now in the midst of the final phase of the season's rushing. This week Thursday will see the final great decision made by many freshmen and the wind-up of the last three weeks' grind.

The introduction to this week's rushing program was made last Friday afternoon, when all freshmen presented themselves to receive bids to rushing parties from the various fraternities. The bids were signed immediately according to individual choice, or in the case of frosh absentees, were signed shortly after and returned.

The rushing parties are in the process of completion. They are being Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Last night saw a small number of freshmen visit the fraternity of their choice. The majority, however, have their dates Tuesday and Wednesday, when a banquet either at the fraternity house or at a restaurant or hotel in Burlington or nearby town will be given the freshmen.

Neutral Period

From 12 p.m. Wednesday, October 18, after the last rushing date until 6 p.m. Thursday, October 19, is to be the neutral period, during which time no active or associate member of a fraternity can communicate in any way whatsoever with freshmen or new students.

At 4 p.m. Thursday in the Old Mill the Interfraternity Council will meet and bring all the invitations in sealed and addressed envelopes. In each envelope will be only the printed form of the invitation properly filled out and an unsealed envelope with the name of the inviting fraternity upon it. The invitations will be presented by the respective representatives of the different fraternities in a general conference to the freshmen and new students presenting themselves. In an adjoining room each will fill out the blanks simply with "I accept" or "I do not accept your invitation to membership," or "Undecided," and will then return the invitation in its proper envelope to the council room. Bids for any freshman who is absent from this meeting will be given to the faculty advisor, who, accompanied by an officer of the council, shall deliver them personally to the absentees.

Y. W. C. A. ACTIVITY AT ROCK POINT CONTINUES

Five Students Direct Sports and Music Each Week at School There

Recreational work is progressing successfully at Bishop Hopkins' Hall Rock Point under the direction of University members of Y. W. C. A. according to Sue France '35, president of that organization here.

Friday five women students directed sports out of doors during the afternoon. Instruction in baseball was given and a number of games were played. The hour was in charge of Margaret Nugent '35 with Helen Miller '35, Sue France '35, Barbara Howd '37, and Virginia Riley '37. Transportation was furnished by Miss Nichols.

Arrangements have been made for a member of the Y. W. C. A. Council to direct the work each week. She is assisted by three volunteers and by another council member, who takes charge of the work the following week.

Twenty four girls attend Bishop Hopkins' Hall and nearly all of these participate in these recreation hours. The time will be spent in sports and music until cold weather when handicraft work will be begun.

Next week, some time will be put upon music and the rest upon baseball, kick ball, slugball and other games.

Most children stop crabbing before the age of four years.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

Published at the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Associate Editor
Business Manager
Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

FEATURE EDITORS

COLUMNIST

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS
Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

FACULTY ADVISER

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Burlington, Vermont, under act of March 3, 1879. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized October 14, 1926.

Published by the Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Editorials

"MERCHANT OF VENICE"

PLAY BALL FAIR

M. V. Kaltenborn on New Twice-weekly Schedule

CBS Presents the Nation's "Public Ally No. 1"

The Catty Co-ed

The Catty Co-ed would like to know what Vermont students could be so cute

The Catty Co-ed thinks that Stu Wright has nerve. You try hooking a toast.

The Catty Co-ed hears of strange things but when Helen Carpenter at last decided to take up the fad of knitting

Now that the cold mountain wind sweeps down on us the Catty Co-ed is of asking Ray Closson to assist her.

He said they that were serious in ... matters would be ridiculous ... affairs.—Plutarch.

THE FETID CALF

THEATRE

Flynn

M. a W. ... to Hollywood after the disappointment of the last musical show which played here this one ... to be good. A sort of Barrymore up from the 90's picter—three generations of a vaudeville family. Alice Brady, Frank Morgan, Durante the many-sided. This with the vaudeville which the boys put the okay on last week makes a guaranteed show. College nite was not given due to the unavoidable absence of the deus ex machina, who promises to be thar nex' time.

(T. W. S.) Three Cornered Moon. I ... New York City. Maybe because I knew that my friend roomed with one of the true-life characters who went ... Laughton another one, referred to ... Gershon in the picture, is George T. ... alias Ballyhoo Bane, ostracised ... the Brownsville family, only to make a hit on Broadway. Miss Tonkonogay, ... family my dad knew in Brownsville changed the name to Rumplegar in the successful Broadway play, believing ... thing is as bad as another. Colbert, ... and others in a goofy but ... love. Also that new bridge series ... Culbertson at Lat. showing ... with which to trump ... ace.

Majestic

(T.) Voltaire—recommended in last week's Cynic.

W. ( ) Forsaking All Others—versatile Robinson working out on Kay Francis ... Edw. lives up to ... but just has money.

(T. S.) To the Last Man with Randolph Scott. Zane Grey for relaxation.

(M. T.) Tillie and Gus. W. C. Fields and Mary Boland a good combine.

State

(M. T.) When Ladies Meet—Harding, ... and Myrna Loy, again combined ... was in the old isosceles ... as entertainment background. Darn good.

W. ... Gabriel Over the White House—you'll be sorry if you miss it. Diana Wynyard, ... and a husband some ... and not too bourgeois.

F. ... Three Cornered Moon. Claudette Colbert, ... silk, nuts, ... strokes a thriller. Neil ... Gertrude Lawrence, Jerry ... The "Chapter" ... to see last week the heroine ... over the cliff in the tour ... ended on top of them a ... ought to be good this ...

Strong

(M. T. W.) Be Mine Tonight—a first ... and one of the best in a long ... Kiepura, young opera star gives ... performance in selections from La ... Rigoletta and La Traviata. Not ... the musical comedy numbers. Good music and good plot. This picture has been held over its booking dates in ... town in which it has shown.

(T.) Three Cornered Moon. John Warburton, ... should mean something ... Rosalie Hudson, Dorothy Revier ... the woman-hating Warburton all over the lot and finally gets ...

(F. ... Western.

(M. T.) My Woman—Helen Twelvetrees and Victor Jory. She sought an ideal in her husband, but . . . . the young radio star drove his wife into the arms of the other man when success ... to his head.

SO WHAT?

The University of California has ... stalled a new automatic dishwa... that cleanses dishes and plates ... rate of 7,000 per hour. It is ... three times as efficient as human ... washers yet it has not resulted in ... employment for student help.

Society Notes

KAPPA DELTA

Ruth Hanmer ex-'36 was married ... day, October 6 to Lee Steadman ... Bristol.

Helen Allen, Mary Petras and Ma... Farquhar, all of the class of '33 are ... ing graduate work here at the Univers...

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Mildred Gile '32, of Alph Chi Ome... spent a few days in Burlington last ...

The Alpha Chis celebrated Founders Day Sunday evening with a supper at ... house. Ruth Reynolds '34, was in charge.

Ruth Campbell, the new province president of Alpha Chi Omega, was in town over the weekend of October 7. A tea, to which members of the other sororities were invited, was given for her at the Alpha Chi sorority house.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Marguerite Dunsmore '33, spent Mountain Day in town.

PI BETA PHI

Mildred Mullen '33, of Pi Beta Phi visited over the weekend in town.

CBS Finds Vocal Double for General Johnson

After an exhaustive search, CBS has found a vocal double for the dynamic NRA chief, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson. His studio masquerader is Ted di Corsia veteran radio actor who last year distinguished himself as the portrayer of Herbert Hoover. Double di Corsia made his Johnsonian début when the "March of Time" news dramatizations returned to the WABC-Columbia network on Friday, October 13, at 8.30 p.m., EST. He triumphed over numerous applicants heard in auditions conducted by Arthur Pryor, Jr., director of the weekly dramatic feature. The actor mastered the General's distinctive qualities of speech by repeatedly hearing him in theater newsreels and NRA broadcasts.

Ethel Waters to Star on New Radio Revue

Ethel Waters, singing star, and Geor... Beatty, a new and promising discovery among radio comedians, will be featured personalities of a new Sunday evening radio revue, to be launched over the WABC-Columbia network from 7.00 to 7.30 p.m., EST, on October 22. The songstress, who is currently receiving ovations for her performance in the Broadway smash hit, "As The Sands Cheer," first attained stardom in the revue, "Blackbirds of 1928." She has been star of several Cotton Club revues and scored one of her greatest successes when she introduced the song, "Stormy Weather," at that popular Harlem rendezvous late last spring. Beatty, who will be master-of-ceremonies as comedian in the new series, is a newcomer to radio whose preliminary performances point to stardom among the comics of the air. Other program details, still in process of formation, will be announced at a later date. The programs will be sponsored by the American Oil Company.

Ethel Waters to Star on New Radio Revue

Ethel Waters, singing star, and Geor... Beatty, a new and promising discovery among radio comedians, will be featured personalities of a new Sunday evening radio revue, to be launched over the WABC-Columbia network from 7.00 to 7.30 p.m., EST, on October 22. The songstress, who is currently receiving ovations for her performance in the Broadway smash hit, "As The Sands Cheer," first attained stardom in the revue, "Blackbirds of 1928." She has been star of several Cotton Club revues and scored one of her greatest successes when she introduced the song, "Stormy Weather," at that popular Harlem rendezvous late last spring. Beatty, who will be master-of-ceremonies as comedian in the new series, is a newcomer to radio whose preliminary performances point to stardom among the comics of the air. Other program details, still in process of formation, will be announced at a later date. The programs will be sponsored by the American Oil Company.

EARSALS FOR GROUP PLAYS ARE UNDER WAY

(Continued from page 1)

...immediate part of ... actors who must ... from that side. Thus ... chosen such that it ... for a person tak... exit from one side ... the other before ... been drawn.

... anteroom on the ... stage communicates ... so that it has been ... dress and make ... workshop, and when the ... to leave the ... flight of stairs to ... doors, walk across ... cellarway leading ... anteroom, and gain ... in that way. Thus ... happened to be raining on ... evening.

... difficulties is the fact ... two overhead lights be... ...ters and beams of ... are perfectly visible to ... ordinary ceiling lights. ... necessary to turn out these ... footlights at opposite ... proscenium, which throw ... to ceiling, thus creating ... appearance. To ... the footlights it is ... kind soul to go out ... the audience and the ... a certain percentage ... their receptacles, which ... the stage at about chest ...

Small Capacity of Auditorium

... disadvantage lies in the small ... auditorium, since it seats ... hundred. For the performance ... Cobbler" it was necessary for ... production to be held two ... accommodate the crowds of ... the same practice will hold ... according to coaches, if there ... demand for a second perfor... those who have been unable ... the first night.

... cast of Group Play number one ... Maurice '37, A. Dean '37, C. J. ... O. W. Lawson '36, A. S. ... V. I. Levin '36, E. Meservy ... '37 and C. Maxfield '37.

... number two only has three char... ... Belcher '37, B. J. Costello '36 ... McAuliffe '37.

... number three are casted Marion ... '36, Thelma Rosenberg '35, Elizabeth Haig '36, Ellen Hall '37, Geraldine Kipp '37, A. A. Morrissette '35, Frances Rowe '36, Jane Parsons '35 and C. A. Langer '37.

Columbia University Has Devised Several Foreign Language Projects

Dr. Sammartino of New College Gives Report of Projects for Use of Foreign Language

New College, Columbia University, has devised several projects in connection with the study of foreign languages, for which the students use New York City as a laboratory. Dr. Peter Sammartina, associate in New College, in outlining some of these activities shows the most modern teaching attitude is not that out-of-class activities should encourage language study but rather that language should help the students to enjoy as completely as possible the opportunities offered by a cosmopolitan center. The instigators of this plan put the emphasis on striving to make these activities carry on into the future life of the student.

See "Cyrano de Bergerac"

The first project was the attending of an English play translated from the French. Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac" was used, since Walter Hampden was portraying the immortal character in the city at the time. The students read the play before going to the theater. They made a brief study of the authors life. They went over the events that provided the actual inspiration to the author. When they finally saw the play they possessed an apperceptive basis which enabled them to enjoy the play much more than the average theatergoer. Not only that, but they possessed ample basis for an intelligent evaluation not only of the play itself but of the interpretation and of the translation.

The value of such a project lies not only in the particular play seen but in the technique which may be easily applied to any other similar play long after the campus has been left behind. A rich experience of the sort cannot easily be forgotten and cannot fail to give to the student a sense of power which he is anxious to develop.

Visit to Foreign Ship

Another project was a visit to a ship. Before the trip, the lesson was on ship vocabulary and terms. The drawing of a ship was put on the board and an effective lesson was given on the topic. On the ship itself the students were guided around the boat and a continual conversation was kept up, pointing to the various parts of the ship and explaining their use. Inevitably the question always arises as to why Americans should use French, German, English and Italian ships to such a large extent. This leads to a discussion of the relative wage scales and difference in costs. The differences between the northern and southern route are brought out. The reasons for each nation desiring tourists' trade and desiring tourists to visit its cities before those of any other nation are usually very naturally evolved.

A third is the opera project with the presentation of so many popular-priced operas in New York City, this becomes a rather simple project to arrange for financially. Faust was recently selected for the opera night. The German in... explained the libretto ... at the libretto. The music ... a talk on the national qualities of the opera. Some of the more talented students played or sang some of the more popular arias of the opera. The French instructor then went over the libretto in French and at the end of the reading everybody sang four of the principal arias in French.

French Church Visited

A fourth project was a visit to a French church. For this purpose the Eglise de Notre Dame was chosen. A church visit can be simply a tourist's casual glance into the interior just to say he has been there or it may be an inspiring occasion from an esthetic, religious and historical point of view. First of all, the architecture of the church was observed. After the celebration of the mass its meaning was explained. The service, having been in French, offered an occasion for linguistic training.

New York, of course, offers countless opportunities for art appreciation of all sorts not only in its permanent exhibitions but even more so in the temporary exhibitions offered by private galleries. There were a number of these excursions ... and Madrid.

Supplementary Work in Classroom

The project did not end with the visit itself. In class, whenever possible, with large size reproductions before them, the students gave supplementary talks on the artists and their works. Finally, an art contest was held. Scores of color prints were exhibited and the problem was put to the students: "Suppose you had to choose ten of the most representative of the French, Italian, German or Spanish schools, which would you choose?" The students were given ballots and indicated their choice.

Opportunities to attend the cinema in foreign tongues abound in New York City. The students were asked to attend at least six of these pictures throughout the year, and were encouraged to see as many more as they could find time for.

Participate in Social Functions

Participation in a French social function is a very popular activity, but unfortunately the cost keeps many away. For those who do attend, the evening has both charm and interest. The student has an opportunity to observe at close range the French type as a social entity.

A concert of French music or by French artists is another worthwhile endeavor. In this case, the actual program may be of so many different types that it is difficult to describe a typical concert project. Sometimes this can be arranged much better if the students themselves plan and give their own concert of French music.

Attending a French play given in French is a slightly more difficult project but a highly satisfactory one if carefully arranged. In New York, such plays are being given either by semi-professional or amateur French-speaking societies or by the French clubs of the various colleges. In all cases, the story must be carefully read and gone over before seeing the play. In one case, the play was Beaumarchais's "Le Barbier de Seville." Not only the play was gone over but a short discussion took place on the opera based on the story.

Language Teas Held

Throughout the year teas also were held at which time simple conversation in French was the order of the day or perhaps some deeper or more technical subject was discussed, and in that case English was used. But throughout the students were encouraged to speak freely, just as if they were in any salon, and to perfect themselves in social conversation.

Other projects may suggest themselves later; opportunities sometimes arise when least expected. These activities must not be considered simply as extra-curricular events, but must be developed definitely and purposefully as complete units, each one with definite goals. Reading, of course, is the other major activity that should go on all the time. Sometimes, as has been shown, the reading can be integrated with the project itself as in the case of the play and opera activities. The foreign language itself becomes then simply the tool for the enjoyment of these activities, and not an end in itself as is often the case.

FRANCES FROST MARRIED. "WHIRLWIND COURTSHIP"

... Mifflin Company are ... recovering from the shock of learning of the ... and marriage of one of their favorite poets, Frances Frost. Miss Frost, who spent the summer at the MacDowell colony in Peterboro, N. H., met there Samuel Gaillard ... of Charleston, S. C., and after an acquaintance of 18 days married him. Edwin Arlington Robinson and Nancy Byrd Turner were the witnesses and only guests at the wedding. The bride and groom have sailed for the West Indies, where they expect to spend the winter. Frances Frost is a young poet from Vermont and is, incidentally, no relation whatsoever to Robert Frost. Her first book, "Hemlock Wall," was issued by the Yale University Press and was preceded by three volumes of verse, all published by Houghton Mifflin Company. "Blue Harvest," "These Acres" and, this season, "Pool in the Meadow." Mr. Stoney, one of the well known group of southern writers from Charleston, is the author of "Po Buckra" and "Black Geneses," in collaboration with Gertrude Mathews Shelby.

A Vermont columnist whose name we will not mention just to ask him, tells us about the student diner who was given a cake of ivory soap (no advt.) when he said he wanted to wash his head.

Reach for a Lucky

FOR ALWAYS LUCKIES PLEASE

Choice tobaccos rolled right—no loose ends

ALWAYS the finest tobaccos

ALWAYS the finest workmanship

ALWAYS Luckies please!

When smoking a Lucky, have you noticed the long white ash? That's the sign of fine, choice Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. And have you noticed how fully packed Luckies are with these choice tobaccos—rolled right—so round—so pure—with no loose ends. Luckies always please!

Copyright 1935 The American Tobacco Company

"it's toasted"

FOR THROAT PROTECTION—FOR BETTER TASTE

SPORTS NEWS

U. V. M. CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM BEATS SPRINGFIELD LAST SATURDAY 22-33

Harriers Take First Three Places as They Triumph Over Weak Springfield Team

LEVINE WINS, WHITE AND HARWOOD SECOND

INTERFRATERNITY SERIES UNDER WAY WITH TOUCH FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT

Sigma Nu and Alpha Tau Omega Are Victors of First Contests

ATTENTION CHEER LEADERS

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL TEAM TIES SPAULDING HIGH IN CLOSE GAME

Heavy Frosh Team Had Good Defense Against Everything Except Passes

Second Quarter

Second Half

Last Period

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTS EDITOR

Catamounts Get Bad Breaks Lose to Clarkson, 13 to 8

Catamounts Can't Beat Fourteen Men—Eleven in Football Outfits and Three With White Trousers

Clarkson (13)	Vermont (8)
Power, lb	le., J. Delfausse
Odessell, lt	lt., Bowers
Mercer, lg	lg., Saxton
Peters, c	c., Paul
Stolz, rg	rg., McGowan
Apostal, rt	rt., Cook

FALL SPORTS PROGRAM COMPLETED BY FINALS OF GOLF TOURNAMENT

Negus and Kidd Win Over Woodruff and Brown in Semi-finals

WOMEN'S FRATERNITIES TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Women's fraternities will hold open house on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week. Notices will be posted in the Y room giving the dates for each fraternity and invitations to each. The hours will be from four until six.

Imagination, and not invention, is the supreme master of art as of life.—Conrad.

Collins, re	re., R. Delfausse
Gaffney, qb	qb., Saxton
McIntyre, lhb	lhb., Lanahan
Hutteman, rhb	rhb., Beckley
Schilo, fb	fb., Giardi

PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS
NEW AND USED FIRST-GRADE TYPEWRITERS RENTED
Special Rates to Students
Bruhn Office Equipment Co.
18 Church St. Burlington, Vt.

WANTED

5 copies of

Robinson's VERMONT

Published by Houghton Mifflin Co.

Will pay $1.25 in cash or sell on a Consignment Basis

THE UNIVERSITY STORE

...n The Good Old Days

...ages ... the Cynic back ... Proctor captained the ... team. ... "Iphigenia" ... Eta Sigma Phi in an ... rock theater in the gym. ... Pictures were shown of ... local theaters. . . "The ... Abe Roller" was ... house Hall" . . . Mar... declares a new name ... the crying needs of the ... green shirts to feature ... Dean W. Dean speaks ... a Short Story Writer"... ... trots . . Heidelberg ... colors $3.00. . . Henry ... too many people go to ... spring styles include ... Pig farm affords new ... Gold Key ponders ... . . Professors in... defectives. . . Univer... declared communistic . . ... wicked thing about foot... easy victor in student ... Forty-five succumb to ... Sigma Alpha Chi joined Sigma ... fraternity. . . Robert Hull ... graduated from U. V. M. ... December. . . Registrar's ... no student atheists or ... Students generally do not ... Kake Walk gala social ... the year will offer new cup. . . ... give advice to freshmen. . . ... Texas coming to Vermont. . . ... serpent entertains sub-frosh. . . ... the lovelorn by "Ex-Converse ... professors agreeably surprised ... records. . . Eggs vs. Justice ... Campus Column. . . ... law was passed that Massa... students must register cars in ... Reports that cows are safer ... roads appeared in the Min... Genius and insanity are ... Professors seek to preserve ... Sophomores warn erring ... fraternities dance in Post... joy. . . "I'll trouble you to ... tone. . . Audrey Auschin... Geraldine. . . "Military ... frosh into red-blooded ... Colonel Black. . . There is a ... picture Saturday at the Majes... Who cares? . . . Chess popularity ... at Vermont. . . Many are ... the ghost but colleges still ... clubs. . . Students de... military training in the universi... best dressed man will be an... the twenty-eighth. . . Get ... early. . . ... elucidates on good and ... of Mussolini. . . Faint ... Cotton Babes are heard as ... Walk draws nigh. . . College night ... favorably received. . . Students ... interest in ham work. . . ... Library to have new lights soon. ... to be found in stunts and ... Convention stresses love as ... for the world's problems. . . Im... the coffee during Christ... . . All freshmen eligible ... editorships. . . Vermont stu... has too many scholars, featured ... Workman. . . To men only—she ... see him smoke a pipe. . . Kake ... holds sway with exam schedule in ... observation. . . "I was afraid ... would be shocked," says ... Harlow . . "Give me a Lucky Strike ..." says Dorothy Mackaill. . .

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

* * *

Elias Lyman Coal Company

206 College Street

...Don't let exasperat... ...to have to miss a ... social party because of "recurring" pains? ...embarrassing, too, when you can't tell friends ... reason. But now, no need to flunk an exam ... miss a party. When you are below par, take ... Kalms, quick-acting tablets developed by ... Johnson especially to relieve "re... ...ring pains, such as headache, backache and ...euralgia. One tablet is enough for most cases. ...are safe, do not affect digestion or heart ... and are not habit-forming. Your drug... ...has them in purse-size boxes of 12 tablets.

KALMS FOR RELIEF OF "RECURRING" PAINS

...EE SAMPLE—SEND COUPON

Johnson & Johnson

Send me a FREE sample of Kalms.

Name_____

Address_____ 3-1

Public Affairs Club Drafts Constitution

1. The Club shall exist for the purpose of providing a forum in which the students themselves may study and discuss problems of contemporary public affairs.
2. Membership in the club shall be open to any student or faculty member of the University upon the payment of the annual dues.
3. The club shall be reorganized annually by the faculty in the following manner:
   a. The Departments of History, Political Science, and Economics shall each designate one faculty adviser for the club. This advisory council shall fix the date for the first meeting of the club which shall be not later than November 1 in each year. The council shall make arrangements for and give publicity to this meeting.
   b. During the first three weeks of college the council shall arrange for the announctment of the first meeting (which shall be a reorganization as well as a regular meeeting) in classes in History, Political Science, and Economics. At this time, students who signify an interest in the Club and a willingness to attend the first meeting shall be asked to sign their names on lists circulated in the classes. From these names the advisory council shall appoint a nominating committee of three and a provisional program committee of three.
   c. The nominating committee shall prepare a list of nominees consisting of one candidate for each of the following offices: President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer. The nominating committee may if it wishes obtain the advice of the advisory council. It shall make its report at the first meeting of the Club. Opportunity shall be offered for additional nominations to be made from the floor by the assembled students and faculty, and the officers shall then be elected.
   d. The provisional program committee shall prepare and be in charge of the program of the first meeting. It may also recommend a program for the year in its report at the first meeting. Its chairman shall preside at the first meeting of the Club until officers have been elected. The advisory council may prepare a list of topics of current interest and a list of students suggested for the programs to be submitted to the provisional program committee.
   e. The two committees meeting together with the chairman of the provisional program committee presiding shall constitute the organizing committee for the Club.
4. The meetings of the Club shall be held approximately every two weeks. The programs shall consist ordinarily of ten-minute prepared talks by about four students followed by discussion from the floor limited to three minutes with additional remarks limited to one minute for each person desiring to speak. The prepared program may take the form of a debate.
5. The Public Affairs Club is the successor of the International Relations Club and shall continue the activities of that Club. It shall use the name International Relations Club where convenient for continuing those activities. The officers of the Public Affairs Club shall be ex-officio officers of the International Relations Club. If any five members of the Public Affairs Club agree at any time that international relations are not being given sufficient place in the program and activities of the Club, they may circulate a paper at meetings of the Club for the signatures of those members desiring to constitute a committee to promote activity in this field.

The Alpha Tau Omega fraternity announces the pledging of John E. Craps, of the German department.

Treat Yourself to the Best!

Sherwood Hotel Barber Shop

In Lower Lobby

WE TRIM THE HAIR, BUT NOT THE MAN

JOE. LANGLOIS, Prop.—Phone 2911

Compliments of

ALEX VERRET

HEALTH COUNCIL GIVES DANCE LAST SATURDAY

A dance sponsored by the Health Council was given in the gym Saturday evening, October 14. The new all-college orchestra led by Sol Cassese '34 furnished the syncopation from eight to twelve. This was the orchestra's first appearance and from whispered comments about the campus is to be much in demand in the future. Refreshments in the form of ice cream were served during intermission.

In the receiving line were: Mr. Howard Prentice, director of physical education, and Mrs. Prentice, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Powell, Mr. Donald Davis and Miss Elva Mae Jenkins.

Students Climb Mansfield, Thurs.

Again Old Man Mansfield was safely climbed by a large number of University students on the special day set aside for the purpose last week. Estimates place the hikers at about 125, the approximate number of last year. In addition, three carloads of sixteen motored to Duxbury and mounted Camel's Hump for a day's outing.

Public opinion, overheard here and there, was all for the pleasure and real enjoyment from Mountain Day. And why not? A whole college turned loose from class and responsibility to romp and tramp across the rocky brow of the Old Man.

Two buses left the Old Mill Thursday, Mansfield-bound. However, due to difficulty in making some of the grades to the Half Way House, most of their contents walked varying distances up to the House. There they were joined or preceded by an equal number of students in private cars. And from there the real climb began. As far as is known everyone eventually made it, and in time for dinner, either at the Hotel or Taft Lodge. Cliff Harwood, director of the day, served coffee at the Hotel, and Stu Wright provided it at Taft. The high altitude made boiling a slow process, but even weak coffee was palatable and lines formed to left and right, which to an onlooker might resemble, especially in regard to clothes and cups they carried, a Bowery breadline.

All lunches finally downed, sight-seeing started. No one route was followed, but all possible. The Old Man might easily have made a wry frown to add to its already exceptional physiognomy, with the groups chasing up and down Nose, over Lips, into its side through the gash of the Cave of the Wind, or over its bristly and stubbly Chin. Nothing was missed on this day's outing. Taft Lodge was popular, the Lake of the Clouds was visited, and many of the interesting trails were explored. The Cave of the Winds came in for much attention, and several visited its depths, where ice in great quantities was traversed. Visitors left their names and date in the glass jar at the extreme end, in the usual place for an explorer's post office.

Weird tales are heard of sideline activities of the day. One venturesome individual is said to have been marooned on a particularly difficult place, and to have waited for someone to help him out. Johnny Beckley made the summit by road on his recently acquired motorcycle. And the last load off the mountain misjudged lasting qualities of daylight, and descended in different degrees of darkness over Sunset Trail. However, no casualities reported beyond the usual number of bruises, torn clothes and lost articles, including gloves, handkerchiefs and scarfs.

The weather cooperated in making the day a success. The air was fairly clear and a wonderful view of the lake obtained. A strong wind persisted throughout the day, but undoubtedly made exertion easier for most.

TO BE INTERFRATERNITY PLEDGE DANCE OCT. 28

East side, West side, and from all around the town, the Greeks will gather at the gymnasium on Saturday evening, October 28. The reason for this assembly is the innovation of an Interfraternity Pledge Dance.

This dance, under the direction of K. D. Spaulding '34, is something new to Vermont students; it is being tried out for the first time this year. Great success is predicted by those on the inside for each fraternity has received the news with acclamations.

Its purpose is to further promote friendship and good-will among the various fraternities, and for this reason each fraternity is requested to take its new pledges. Dancing will start at eight o'clock.

This will not take the place of the usual fall pledge dances.

Tramp—Madam, I have seen better days—

Madam—That may be, but I have no time to discuss the weather with strangers.

Father—This thrashing I am going to give you, my son, will hurt me more than it hurts you.

Son—Then I suggest, Dad, that you be as easy as possible on yourself.

Mind Not Money is Watchword of The Russian Educational System

Economics Professor Discusses Impressions of the Great Experiments Gained While Abroad Past Year—Declares Excellence of Vocational Education Foundation—Sees Over-curtailment of Arts

NO WEEKS—NO SUNDAYS

In Russia, only those students who are fitted for an advanced education are permitted to go on to the institutes, which correspond to our high schools, and to the technical institutes, which are analogous to American colleges. An educational system where only the best students, not the wealthiest, have the advantage of further training sounded interesting to the Cynic representative who was interviewing Prof. George G. Groat, recently returned from his sabbatical.

Education is compulsory, he continued, for all citizens through the junior high school. In the lower grades, except for a study about the economic leaders—Lenin, Stalin, Karl Marx—the curriculum is much the same as in the States. After completion of this preliminary training, positions are found for all the students, so that there is no drifting about after graduation.

Opportunities for Brains

Those, however, who want to continue their education and who have proved themselves of superior ability, are permitted to go on to the institutes, mostly technical schools to train boys and girls for positions higher in salary and in technical requirements. Ordinarily they are only part-time schools; about half the working day is spent in work where the students can obtain practical experience in their individual fields.

For the most promising of these "high school" students there is the opportunity of full-time study, of more specialized training. The technical institutes are well equipped with excellent laboratories and with careful supervision; the government assigns all instructors, as it does in the lower schools. Since very few people in the nation are prepared to be instructors, now many are training to be teachers.

Engineering Most Popular

The vocation most popular among the young men and women of Russia is engineering, not only because engineers are held in such high esteem, but also because there are many openings and a real future for engineers.

In all fields, Russia is laying an excellent foundation for vocational education, declared Professor Groat. We in America might object that all their education is on a basis of socialism; that a course in communism is given in all schools; that Karl Marx's book on socialism is held in at least as high esteem as the Christian Bible. But we cannot object to the spirit of the people, where almost every individual in the entire nation is striving to improve himself individually and thus to raise the standards of a nation, for a vast number of adults are attending afternoon schools, evening schools, or sixth-day schools, to gain additional knowledge in their fields of endeavor. A steamboat captain on the Volga, who pilots his boat only in the summer, is in the winter sent to a school for navigation.

Leaders Form Communist Party

From the leaders who show their qualities in school are chosen the members of the Communist party. Boys and girls of grammar school age who show unusual ability, are energetic and have a good moral character, are eligible for the "Pioneers." Later, when between the ages of sixteen and twenty, they are eligible for the "Communist Youth" group; only those are admitted who have been especially prominent in the first group. These "Communist Youth" are trained to become members of the Communist party at twenty one. So, in reality, the Communist party is a selected group. They not only work for lower wages, but they also must serve as model employees, in case of inefficiency within a specific factory, the party organizes a group of "Storm Troops," who take charge of the plant for a short time, until they have proved that it can operate profitably.

"There are still in Russia," says Professor Groat, "a limited number of the country's very best minds, who set standards of scientific research. Only the other day a Russian ascended eleven miles in a stratosphere balloon, and Russian scientists have recently made the announcement that the ice field around the Arctic is gradually receding."

Sees Future Arts Revival

Although at the present time Russia is concerned chiefly with the industrial education of the people and the economic welfare of the nation, Professor Groat believes the time will come when the Russians will turn back to the arts. They will have enough wealth and leisure to develop poetry, the opera, painting and the ballet. Even now, there is in the country a school of ballet, one for opera singers and one for writers. Where talent is found, it is developed; but the artist must paint not for his own amusement, but for the common good of the entire nation. In literature especially is his freedom checked; for literature must be communistic in character. If a poet should write, let us say, about a hive of bees, he could not commiserate with their lack of individualty of finding for themselves; but the man who extolled their close interdependence and cooperation would be a really popular poet.

A New Architecture

A new architecture, too, is being developed, an architecture severe and unadorned. Sculpture is still somewhat limited, for sculpture in the past usually consisted of statues of the emperors or statues of saints who exactly resembled one of the Romanoffs. But with the overthrow of the Czar has also come the overthrow of the church which had so become a tool of the government. To commemorate the revolution there are several anti-religious museums; cathedrals have been transformed into museums exhibiting statues, tablets, and statistics which expose to the world how very responsible to the Czar the Russian church had been.

Churches Still Exist

Contrary to a common opinion in America that church-going is altogether abandoned in the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, Mr. Groat declares that there is at least one active church in each of the large cities, in Moscow and in Leningrad. Only the older generation is interested, it is true, and the parish must support itself, instead of looking to the state for aid.

Church services are held on any day which the congregation decides is convenient; there are no Sundays in Russia, nor any Mondays or Tuesdays, either. For the week as such has been abolished in that country. The twelve months alone are counted, and in lieu of a week-end, every sixth day is a holiday, when no one works at his regular job.

The years, too, have been changed. In Russia today this is about the year 18, after Lenin. Years are counted from the Revolution, as they are also in Italy under the Fascist régime.

SOPHOMORES WIN TITLE IN BAILEY CUP DEBATE

(Continued from page 1)

the fact that, since Britain's radio administrating committees are comprised of specialists, those officers would be in a better position to select programs than our advertisers. W. W. Workman, the second negative representative, put forth the argument that the British system, if introduced here, would have to maintain our present high standard of programs and, in order to do that, the cost would necessarily be prohibitive.

License Fees Suggested

A. H. Ross, the third freshman on the program, maintained that the government could put into effect a radio administration patterned after Great Britain's if annual license fees were required of all owners of receiving sets, if a tax for program arrangement were levied on new sets, and if a thirty-cent tax were placed on new tubes. F. W. Hale, third negative man, claimed that Mr. Ross' radio tube tax was irrelevant. He stated that American advertisers demanded expert service in the planning of their programs in order to meet the constant competition and then clinched his statement by saying that a member of the Federal Radio Commission had at one time stated that program competition was constructive. Hale finished by maintaining that, since the affirmative admitted that nobody in the United States had hitherto asked a trial of the British system, that proved that there is no immediate need for a change to the English methods.

After the delivery of the rebuttals, the judges convened for a short time and then delivered their sealed decisions to the chairman, Prof. L. W. Dean. After reading the votes of the judges, Professor Dean gave a brief talk and presented the trophy to the victorious debaters' team.

The evolution of a college man is shown as follows:

Freshman: (Embarrassed silence.)

Sophomore: I don't know.

Junior: I'm not prepared.

Senior: I don't like to venture an opinion until I know more about the subject.

MEMBERS OF FACULTY ATTEND CONVENTION

(Continued from page 1)

COUNCIL SPONSORING HEALTH WEEK NOW

Health Council is making this week

PROGRAM NOTES

NEW YORK GLEE CLUB SINGS WITH B. A. ROLFE

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Announcements have issued forth from the office of the graduate manager, Sabin C. Abell, on the requirements for numerals and letters for the various fall sports.

In the case of varsity football the Norwich game on November 4, the St. Michael's game on November 11 and the Middlebury game on November 18 are letter games. The rules for the varsity letter seem very lenient, for the playing of fifteen minutes of one quarter in any one game is all that is required.

In varsity cross-country all four meets are letter meets with the requirements for a letter being that one finish in any one of the first seven places.

Numerals for frosh cross-country and frosh football will be awarded after the Middlebury contests on the recommendation of the coach and manager of each sport.

Lost—Large blue notebook. Finder please return to Sid Wolk, 197 N. Willard Street. Telephone 2896-M. Reward offered.

Lost—Pair of glasses in blue case. Marie Black '36.

NOTICE

Tryouts for the girls' rifle team will be held Thursday afternoon at 1.30 in the gym. Daisy Putnam '34, manager, hopes that any girls who are interested will be sure to try out at that time.

COMING EVENTS

Members of the radio staff of the CBS ros[ter] in Chicago will be on hand when Fred [Waring] and his Pennsylvanians, now [celebrating] a strange anagram their [first broadcast] at 10:00 p.m., EST, Wednesday, October 18, in the Gold [Room] of the Congress Hotel there before [an audience] of 3,000. Harry Richman is also appearing in Chicago, but David [Ross] will be in the Windy City for the program while Milton Berle, kept in New York by an engagement, will do his part from the New York studios.

PREMIERE—Wednesday, October 18 at 2:30 p.m., EST. The first of the series "Crime—Its Cause and Cure," announced in this release.

Boredom is the result of a clot on the imagination.—Gerard Forrest.

JENKS TO BE TRIED BY R.O.T.C. COURT MARTIAL

[Jenks] is being tried by court-martial. The constitution says he has the privilege of trial by a jury of his peers, except in cases arising in the "land and naval forces" and, although it is a court-martial [Jenks] is to be [tried] by his peers. [The] prosecution is to be [conducted] by Major [Bowen] is to preside [as] judge, and [Jenks] is to [have] counsel. [Counsel] may call such witnesses as they will and such things as [they] can. And Howe is counsel for the defense [exerting] every effort to [keep Jenks] from the stigma of a [dishonorable] discharge or [imprisonment] at hard labor.

Jenks likely will not be shot at [sunrise] though the trial will take place [almost] immediately after an early breakfast [tomorrow]. It starts at 7:30 Thursday morning and will continue until the court [has] guilty and sentences him.

Masquerading as military court, the members of the senior military group are simply practicing what they have been studying. Classmates will play the parts of members of the court, of witnesses and of court attendants. A strange sum[mons] to names appears. There is a Maj. [John] Jones (Coburn), a Capt. John [Jones] (Germann), a Lieut. John Jones (Howe), a Corp. John Jones (will "cut" [for] chevrons), and a Pvt. John Jones (Stone) not to mention 1st Sergeant John [Jones] (Pond).

So you see, Jenks is not in so much trouble after all. It's just a mock trial although it possesses all the forms and formalities of the real thing.

Matrimonial Agent—There is one other lady I can offer you—but I will be honest with you and tell you in advance that she limps and squints and has false teeth.

Applicant—False teeth! Are they gold? Yes? I'll take her.

She: "How are we going to get home?"

He: "Oh, there must be subway."

The Vermont Cynic

BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1933 — NUMBER 10

FREDERICK WHYTE TO OPEN UNIVERSITY SERIES OF LECTURES

... Illustrated Lectures to be Included in Series of Five

... three of them illustrated ... announced to date in ... lecture series at the ... Others remain ... Among the speakers ... are Sir Frederick ... "Democracy versus ... and Communism"; ..., whose subject is ... Years in the Soviet ... Vincent Ravi-Booth of ... American Shrines"; ..., "The Development ... Landscape Painting"; Hon. ... "Through Persia from ... Caspian."

... Whyte, who lectured ... the Crisis in the Far ... the 1933-34 series the ... Wednesday, October 25. ... this occasion will be, ... versus Fascism, Hitlerism ...ism." The eloquence and ... which Sir Frederick, in ... informal manner, discussed ... last spring, evoked expres... appreciation from his audience ... by the response made ... lecturer since the series ... eight years ago.

... lecture, the evening of ... November 14, will bring to ... platform Anna Louise ..., who will speak on "My Twelve ... the Soviet Union." Miss ... well known for numerous and ... and articles on the Bol... regime and Russian people, has ... twelve years' residence in ... opportunities for extensive ... and intimate contacts. In ... she has established the Mos... News, an influencial English ... lady paper with wide circu... among thousands of Americans ... Soviet Union.

... November 21, Dr. Vincent Ravi... of the First Church, Old ... will give an illustrated lec... "Three American Shrines: ..., Valley Forge and Old ... This lecture will be ... with slides showing some ... examples of colonial architecture, ... Williamsburg, Va., being of ... interest.

... Desclos will appear the ... Wednesday, December 6, ... an illustrated lecture on ... development of French Land... Painting. M. Desclos is assistant ... the Office National des ... et Ecoles Françaises and ... ion of an earlier visit ad... Alliance Française and the ... Club. At this time he ... himself in local esteem as ... and polished lecturer. ... for the second semes... not been completed. One ..., has been arranged ... 20. On this date the ... Bradley-Birt, Lord of the ... Dartsmoreton and Berrow, ... illustrated travel lecture, ... from the Gulf to the ... Bradley-Birt's extensive ... public services in the Far ... made him an eminent ... upon the life and affairs of ... and India.

... lectures will be given in ... room of the Fleming Mu... Hall, they are open without ... to all who are interested.

REV. WALLACE SPEAKER AT CHAPEL SERVICE

... chapel service on Wednesday ... October 18, was conducted by ... J. Wallace of Orleans, Vt. ... his theme, "The Passion to ..." which he said was one of the ... of human life. "To the ... scholar it might be expressed ... and to the artist or poet, as ... to all people, a sense of ... moral and social righteous... ... of myriads all over the ... of fear for tomorrow, and ... of the wrong of our moral, ... social system." "We ask ..." he declared, "if we are on the ... Master, and seek more than ... that sense of resolution and ..."

... Reverend Wallace quoted ... by Hamlin Garland, ex... the main point of his whole ... "What shall I do to be just."

... individual implies one who con... actions.

Ninety-six Men Pledged Up By Various Greek Letter Groups In Culmination Of Hectic Drive For New Membership

Delta Psi With 16 Pledges Has Largest Number of Men Pledged; Sigma Nu Is a Close Second With 14 Men, While Phi Mu Delta Is a Close Third; Lower Number Than Last Year Accept Bids From Table; Finances Compel Freshmen to Consider Wisely Before Joining

LARGE NUMBER MEN UNDECIDED THIS YEAR

Fraternity rushing at the University of Vermont terminated last night when ten fraternities announced the pledging of ninety-six men. Delta Psi, with sixteen men, headed the list in numbers, while Sigma Nu, with fourteen neophytes was a close second. Phi Mu Delta, with twelve pledges was third. Kappa Sigma pledged up ten men, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta, nine each; Sigma Phi, eight; Alpha Tau Omega, seven; Lambda Iota, six; Sigma Delta, five.

This year's bidding was characterized by a unusually large number of undecided bid returns. In addition to the inevitable confusion experienced in the freshman's minds, many, it was found, were undecided whether to go fraternity or not. As it was less than half the class joined ranks with the Greek Letter organizations.

D. P. KINGSLEY'S VERMONT LIBRARY GIVEN TO U. V. M.

Collection Contains Over 500 Items of Great Value

The Vermont library of the late Darwin P. Kingsley, one-time president of the New York Life Insurance Company, has been presented to the University of Vermont by Mrs. Kingsley according to announcement made at the University today. The collection, which is a valuable one, contains over 500 items, including books, original manuscripts, pamphlets and other material, some of it dating from the 1700's. Mr. Kingsley, who was a graduate of the University in the class of 1881, was a student of Vermont life and history, his articles appearing in some of the leading publications, and the collection of Vermontiana which he gathered will be placed temporarily in the Wilbur room which already houses one of the choicest collections in existence.

Among the manuscript in the Kingsley collection is an original Ira Allen note, dated Philadelphia, August 12, 1809, and addressed to Rev. Samuel Williams, stating that Allen has delivered to a Mr. Wilbert of Clarendon a copy of the Olive Branch to deposit in the library of Rutland. Also a book of records kept by Ebenezer Drury from August, 1791, to the last of November, 1793, the covers of the record being made of the newspaper, Vermont Gazette, dated December 21, 1792. There is also a book or records, largely court and marriage records, kept by John Strong, with newspaper wrappings. Other items are a manuscript letter by the historian, Samuel Williams; a manuscript list of officers of Colonel Allen's regiment of Green Mountain Boys, entirely in Colonel Allen's autograph; a manuscript deed to land in Groton, deeding the land to James Whitelow and signed by Ira Allen, and the Lydius deed, dated Norwich, Conn., August 20, 1761, one of the earliest deeds granting lands in Vermont.

The books include early state and town histories, first editions, rare books, and a number of miscellaneous works, largely of historical significance. Some of the books, such as Franklin's History of the Thirteen States, containing what is supposed to be the first printed account of the History of Vermont, are representative of the 1700's and early 1800's. There is a first edition of Ethan Allen's Oracle of Reason, printed in 1784; a rare imprint of the life of Dr. Benjamin Franklin, written by himself and published in 1809 in Montpelier; and a very fine copy of the House of Wisdom in a Bustle by Geoffry Touchstone, 1798, a Mathew Lycia item.

The many pamphlets in the collection contain sundry sermons and discourses and lectures. There is a copy of the Vermont Gasette of December 25, 1783, containing Washington's Farewell Address, a copy of the Vermont Alumna, 1785, probably the first item printed in Bennington, of which there are only two copies known to be existent; two tracts as the war with America, first edition, London, 1778, and other items of interest to students and collectors.

RAZZ-DAZZ DANCE

The Entertainment Committee, consisting of Boulder and Mortar Board, are sponsoring another "Razz-Dazz" dance tomorrow night in the gym. The price is the same and light refreshments are again promised. Dr. and Mrs. Braun are the chaperones.

Kay Durick '34 in charge of the dance says, "These entertainments serve a useful purpose at the University in the eyes of Faculty members and serious upperclassmen. We think we are running a dance tomorrow that will be enjoyed as much as the one last week.

DEBATING TEAM OPENS WITH BATES COLLLEGE IN GYM TOMORROW NIGHT

Debate to Begin at 7.30—Vermont Upholds Present System of Radio Control and Operation

The University of Vermont forencists open against Bates College tomorrow evening in the annual clash with the debaters from Lewiston, Maine. The debate will be held as a part of the social entertainment for the evening and there will be no extra charge. The debate will begin at 7.30 and will be held in the gymnasium. The question which will be argued is "Resolved that the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of radio control and operation." Vermont will take the negative of the proposition.

Oregon style or court procedure type of debate will be used. The affirmative will present the case in fifteen minutes after which the affirmative witness will be cross examined by the negative lawyer for twelve minutes. Finally the third speaker will summarize the case in ten minutes. The Oregon style has not been used to any great extent in campus debates but in the annual Bates debate this procedure is always followed and will provide plenty of wit and entertainment.

The debaters for Vermont are G. H. Burrows '34, who will give the case for the negative and act as their witness. W. W. Workman '36 will act as the lawyer and cross exam the affirmative witness. R. McCuin '34 will summarize and close the case for the negative. Prof. L. W. Dean will act as chairman as usual.

The Bates debaters are, witness, Wendell B. May '34, Wollaston, Mass.; lawyer, Walter J. Norton '35, Augusta, Me.; summary, William J. Greenwood '36, Pittsfield, Mass. Mr. Brooks Quinby, Bates coach will accompany the team.

KAPPA PHI KAPPA INITIATES NEW MEMBERS

Kappa Phi Kappa, honorary education society, held its initiation Wednesday evening, October 4, in the education office. The following new members were initiated. F. A. Cummings '36, R. Greemore '36, A. Werner '36.

A short meeting will be held Monday, October 23 to decide upon a suitable open house night.

PAGE MICKEY MOUSE

A full-length portrait of Mickey Mouse, the renowned cinema star, has appeared on the wall of the CYNIC office. This work of art, composed of O's, M's, X's, and various other symbols harvested from the keys of one of the office Woodstocks, was executed by an anonymous member of the paper's staff who, perhaps, did not wish to waste a sheet of copy paper on which he had committed some error in typing, or perhaps not. It is to be hoped that the Napoleonic pose of the well-loved actor will inspire the scrubs to even greater heights of journalistic achievement.

LATEST LIST OF PLEDGES, COMPILED THIS MORNING

Delta Psi—Collins Farr, St. Johnsbury; Abram Foote, Pawlet; Jonathan Gates, Cambridge; Harold Hunt, St. Albans; Russell Irish, Burlington; William Jenks, Burlington; Harry Noyes, Hyde Park; Howard Pierce, St. Johnsbury; Edgar Pinnix, St. Johnsbury; Everett Rice, Randolph; Gilbert Rist, Burlington; Charles Rust, Burlington; Henry Swift, Burlington; Donald Sternberg, Montreal, P. Q.; Jonathan Webster, Burlington; Philip White, Groton.

Sigma Phi—Philip Barber, Montpelier; William Burrows, Exeter, N. H.; Arnold Dooley, Wakefield; Edward Keith, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; George Millet, Cranford, N. J.; William Noonan, Middlebury; Phelps Pond, Burlington; Richmond Ryder, Fall River, Mass.

Lambda Iota — Charles Bickford, Ridgewood, N. J.; John Goudy, Montpelier; Edward Paulin, New Haven; Kenneth Tangley, North Adams, Mass.; Roger Waite, Bennington; Paul Craig '36, Newport.

Phi Delta Theta—C. Philip Adams, Brattleboro; Stephen Belcher, Jr., Maplewood, N. J.; Raymond Clausen, Brooklyn, N. J.; Lawrence Deshaw, Burlington; Harry Donahue, Essex Junction; Edward Herr, Jr., Waterbury, Conn.; Robert Lawton, Port Washington, N. Y.; John Treadway, Burlington; Eugene Willard, Schenectady, N. Y.

Alpha Tau Omega—James Grimes, Nutley, N. J.; C. J. Gerow, Middlebury; Howard Johnson, Rutland; Roger Kenworthy, Middlebury; Elmer Meservey, Montpelier; Roy Munger, Peacham; Donald Tetzlaff, Burlington.

Kappa Sigma—Leon Baker, Newport; Robert Bouchard, Burlington; Newel Briggs, Burlington; Richard Duncan, MacIndoes Falls; John Evans, South Orange, N. J.; Howard Guanig, East Barnet; William Heininger, Burlington; William Kelty, Ridgewood, N. J.; A. F. Kopetschny, Ridgewood, N. J.; Harry MacMillan, Plainfield.

Sigma Nu—John Barsalow, Fairhaven; Louis Barton, Lexington, Mass.; Daniel Beattie, Guildhall; Paul Buzzell, Pittsford Mills; A. Richard Evans, Essex Junction; Gerald Gray, Lyndon; William Hoag, Bridgeport, Conn.; Donald MacDonald, Bridgeport, Conn.; William O'Neil, West Rutland; Christa Rosa, South Ryegate; Austin Ross, Middlebury; Lawrence Shaw, Burlington; Morton Wheeler, Plymouth, N. H.; Edward Whipple, Montpelier.

Phi Mu Delta—Bernard Cashman, Burlington; George Gardiner, Lynn, Mass.; Oscar LaRiviere, Burlington; Ashton McCuin, Highgate; Arthur McDonough, Burlington; Edward Starr, Brockton, Mass.; Weston Trottier, Wilder; Clarence Walters, West Pawlet; S. F. Zukowski, Bridgeport, Conn.; John Connelly '34, Cambridge; John McGrath '34, Adams, Mass.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon—William Collins, Bellows Falls; Dayton Eddy, Vineyard, Mass.; James Gillespie, Meriden, Conn.; Lawrence Massucco, Bellows Falls; Howard Noles, Burlington; William Shuttleworth, Burlington; Lee Storms, Evanston, Indiana; John Williams '36, West Pawlet; Alfred Tomassetti, Meriden, Conn.

Sigma Delta—Clarence Caldwell, West Barnet; Herbert Daigneault, Townshend; Wilmot Reed, Essex Junction; W. H. Van Wyck, Wilmington; Dana Whitman, Colchester.

BATTLE OF MUSIC AT INTERFRATERNITY DANCE

Two orchestras will play at the Interfraternity Pledge Dance, Saturday, October 28. Bob Minotti's orchestra and Sid Carsley's orchestra will alternate every half-hour during the course of the evening and there will be no intermission.

The gym, where the dance will take place, will be decorated with banners furnished by all the fraternities. The dancing begins at eight and continues until twelve, the admission probably beinb $1.10.

"MERCHANT OF VENICE" TO BE PRESENTED BY SHAKESPEAREAN CAST

Brilliant Cast Well Experienced in Playing Shakespear's Plays For Seven Years

It is announced that Lewis Hendrickson and Claire Bruce and their company of Shakespearean players will appear at the University gymnasium in the well known comedy, "Merchant of Venice" on Thursday evening, October 26. The company has been presenting the Shakespearean plays with great success for seven years in the principal school and college towns. It has been brought to Burlington through the efforts of the English department. A large attendance is expected because of the high professional standing of the company.

Entirely new settings have been designed for the season's tour. The company includes several well-known players: Frank Hawson, Mary Glover, Stanley Cobley, Webster Patterson, Ruth Prouty, Leonard Penn and others. Hendrickson and Bruce take the two leading rôles of Shylock and Portia.

Several of the active workers in college dramatics have been appointed to assist in the production. D. W. Jenks '34 of the University players is manager of property and stage. He will have as assistants four stage hands whom he will choose probably one or two freshman, as training toward the fall play.

A. A. Ross '34 and D. J. Lohn '34, co-business managers of the University players, will attend to the business and publicity side.

Several supernumeraries, to act as Venetians in the play are appointed: Mary Casey '35, Rosemary Cahill '36, Alice McConnell '34, P. M. Howe '35, M. T. Miltimore PG, and R. S. Wright '35.

Special attractive rates for faculty and students here and in any school are fixed at forty cents, with reserved seats for seventy-five cents. The Burlington and neighboring schools are being invited to attend, with cars going as far as Vergennes.

The same company three years ago presented "Macbeth" in Burlington. The English department declared itself fortunate in obtaining the players, and also in securing "The Merchant of Venice" as the Shakespearean class is just to read it. Speaking generally, the department said the former performance was adequate and competent, with all work well done. It is sure of a very pleasing performance.

WOMEN'S FRATERNITIES HOLD OPEN HOUSES TO INTERESTED PROSPECTS

Chance of Acquaintance Now Relieves Strain of Spring Rushing

Each of the women's fraternities held an open house this week to help the freshmen and eligible transfers get acquainted with the different groups and their houses. It is hoped that in this way the spring rushing will be less of a strain on the freshmen as well as the upperclassmen.

Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Delta Delta and Alpha Xi Delta held their open house on Wednesday, October 18, Sigma Gamma and Pi Beta Phi held theirs on Thursday, October 19 and Alpha Chi Omega and Kappa Delta held theirs on Friday, October 20.

As these were held mainly to help people get acquainted with one another there was no form of entertainment except dancing and conversation. The fraternity songs were also omitted.

W. N. COBURN '34 GIVES TALK ON ILLUMINATION

"Illumination" was the title of an article presented by W. N. Coburn '34 at the meeting of the A. I. E. E. Friday, October 13, in the Williams Science Hall. He stressed the importance of illumination with respect to industry and gave many illustrations.

A Home Economics Club meeting will be held Friday, October 20, at 8 p.m. in the Practice House. Andro Emery of Bennington College will speak. All girls taking Home Economics should attend.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

NEWS EDITORS

FEATURE EDITORS

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

COLUMNIST

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

REPORTERS

FACULTY ADVISER

Sir Frederick Whyte Has Experience As A Lecturer

Worldly Travels and Experiences Make Him an Able Lecturer on Foreign Relations

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

DELTA DELTA DELTA

PI BETA PHI

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Lang, Lambert and Denny on New CBS Series

A new network series of ... programs featuring Jeannie Lang ... Scrappy Lambert ... and Jack Denny's Orchestra ... will be presented over a WABC Columbia network beginning Wednesday, October 25, from 6:45 to 7:00 p.m., EST ... Monday, Wednesday and Friday ... This is a network extension of a combination which has attracted ... favorable attention on WABC's local schedule and marks the return of three favorites to the eastern network. The series is sponsored by the makers of Silver Dust and will be heard over Columbia stations in the East.

At the end of the school term prizes were awarded. When one of the pupils returned home his mother chanced to be entertaining some callers.

"Well, Charles," said Mrs. Billings, "did you get a prize?"

"I didn't exactly get a prize," replied Charles, "but I got a horrible mention."

A sensible package

We wanted to sell it for 10 cents so we put Granger in a sensible soft foil pouch—easy to carry and keeps the tobacco just exactly right—just like it was made.

Granger . . . good tobacco . . . Wellman Method . . . cut right . . . packed right. And there is this much about it:

We have yet to know of a man who started to smoke Granger who didn't keep on. Folks seem to like it.

a sensible package
10 cents

Granger Rough Cut

—the tobacco that's MADE FOR PIPES

SPORTS NEWS

SH CROSS-COUNTRY EAM OPENS AGAINST ARTMOUTH TOMORROW

n Looks Good This Year—hirty-five Men on Squad

... cross-country team ... schedule tomorrow ... outh frosh here in Bur- ... thirty.

... numbering thirty-five men ... this year. The squad ... that has been out for several ... shows well for the varsity

... time trials Kennedy, Gates ... looked especially good. ... the squad include Pinnix, ... Noyes, Briggs, Horn and

... nothing of the Dartmouth ... it will be fairly good as ... the second greatest aid to ... is the greatest.

PHI SIGS DEFEAT TEPS IN CHALLENGE CONTEST

A Phi Sigma Delta touch football defeated Tau Epsilon Phi in a challenge contest on the back campus Wednesday afternoon by the score of 12 to 6. The Teps led by Robbins tallied first late in the opening period. A spectacular midfield pass from Sussman to Fishman, the Phi Sig captain featured the third quarter. The Phi Sigs crossed the goal line again in the fourth period to take the contest.

Four twelve-play periods were used with Bunny Prentice and Archie Post of the Physical Ed. department officiating.

All students interested in belonging to a French club should meet in Room 24, South College, at 10 a.m. Saturday morning to discuss starting such a club. The invitation is not limited to students who are at present taking courses in French. Anyone interested in French—particularly in speaking it—are urged to attend.

"That fellow Puffmore is always talking about his life work."

"Yes, and I notice he gives very little thought to his day's work."

CAT'S MEOW

—SPORTS EDITOR—

The Green and Gold grid warriors will start this afternoon for Boston where they will run up against the Terriers of B. U. tomorrow afternoon at Nickerson Field.

The B. U. team has had none too successful season so far and we predict a Vermont victory.

The Terriers lost to Middlebury 7-0, to New Hampshire 32-6, and then defeated Colby 9-7.

Since 1922 Vermont has met Boston University four times on the gridiron, with the following results:

		Vt.	B.U.
1922	Here	7	0
1928	Here	0	25
1929	There	6	27
1932	Here	0	0

These scores are published through the courtesy of Miss Margaret D. Sheeran of the Graduate Manager's office, whose comforting words keep the players on their toes, the coaches on their feet, and the managers on the run.

The Kittens put in their first appearance at home with a game against Fort Ethan Allen tomorrow at Centennial Field.

The Fort team defeated a team from Fort Williams, Maine, 19-0 last week and the Frosh team will be up against a strong outfit Saturday.

Mgr. Tom Cogswell, of the Kitten squad, happened to meet the Barre chief of police last week and he says that the chief is quite a nice chap. Tom had quite a talk with our good friend and it seems that the two have struck up quite a friendship. Tom's going hunting with the chief sometime.

SMILES

Congressman Guy Hardy of Colorado has a faded old clipping in his possession about the difficulties of a pioneer newspaper out in his country which reads: "We begin the publication ov the roccay Mountain Cyclone with some phew diphiphiculties in the way. The type phounder phrom whom we bought our outphit phor this printing ohphice phaled to supply us with any ephs or cays, and it will be phour or phive weex bephore we can get any. The mistaque was not found till a day or two ago. We have ordered the missing letters and will have to get along without them till they come. We won't lique the loox ov this variety ov spelling any better than our readers, but mistax will happen in the best regulated phamilies, and iph the ph's and C's and x's hold out we shall ceep (sound the c hard) the Cyclone whirling Aphter a phasion till the sorts arrive. It is no jooue to us—It's a cerus aphair."—National Republican.

FROSH FOOTBALL TEAM PLAYS SOLDIERS SAT.

The Kitten football team enters the game tomorrow with the Post team at Laconia. The Kittens have a good strong line and a peppy but inexperienced backfield. The Post team is of gigantic build and won their game last week with a team in Maine.

In Thorne and Rosenblatt the Frosh have two big tackles who can play with anybody. Herr a star end is reported to be out for the season.

CROSS-COUNTRY SQUAD PREPARING FOR MEET WITH CONNECTICUT STATE

Harwood, Levine, White and Suitor Destined to Go Places on November 4

Swinging into the victory column with an impressive victory over Springfield last Saturday, the Green and Gold University of Vermont harriers are working conscientiously in preparation for the Connecticut State invasion here a week from Saturday. The date, originally scheduled for November 4, was moved ahead by the graduate manager and Coach Archie Post.

With Capt. Cliff Harwood, Manny Levine, Dusty White and Doug Suitor functioning smoothly over the four-mile course and the ailing Johnny Woodruff, State mile champion, rounding into shape, the Catamounts seem destined to go places this fall. Recent time trials and practices have displayed constant improvement in the entire squad with Andress and Twitchell, sophomore harriers, breaking into the limelight.

The frosh hill and dale squad, some thirty-five candidates, encounters a stiff test Saturday morning here when they match strides with the Dartmouth yearlings over the varsity course. Coach Art Tudhope has a group of veterans, led by Kennedy, former Waterbury ace, and will undoubtedly turn out a strong aggregation against the Big Green.

After a conference with a committee of educators headed by Pres. Lloyd H. Marvin of George Washington University here, Hugh Johnson, national recovery chief, issued a ruling that schools, colleges, universities, churches, hospitals and charitable institutions were to be exempt from the provisions of the National Recovery Act.

A letter going out to educational institutions affected from Doctor Marvin's committee, says in part:

"This ruling means that non-profit-making institutions under private control have the same status as have state and municipal institutions with regard to the NRA. They are exempt from the provisions of codes.

"This does not mean that they should not voluntarily meet as far as possible the specifications of the President's agreement and cooperate with the President in every way to hasten national recovery."

The committee of educators was appointed by Charles R. Mann as director of the American Council of Education.

Samuel Brenan Bossard, 21, student from Media, Pa., was beaten by four Nazi brown shirts recently because he failed to salute the German flag as it passed in a parade in Berlin.

CATAMOUNTS READY TO MEET B. U. TERRIERS TOMORROW AT BOSTON

Team to Be at Full Strength After Receiving Two Straight Defeats

Tomorrow, at Nickerson Field, Boston, the Catamounts, smarting under two successive defeats, one overwhelming at the hands of Dartmouth and the game last Saturday at Clarkson where breaks played a major part, take on the Terriers from Boston University. The boys from Vermont are out to show that the defeat at the hands of Clarkson was a fluke, by burying B. U.

All the men on the varsity came through last week's game without injury and with Captain Morgan in the line-up it will be at full strength. The return of Morgan means that Susie Paul will probably be shifted to guard, replacing the ailing Carraciola, while Larry Bowers returns to his old post at center. The all important factor of this game as well as the rest of the games will be how the quarterbacking goes. In all games so far this phase has been one of the big weak spots. Eddie Saba, who quarterbacked the team last year, is very experienced but carrying and receiving duties weigh on him rather heavily in the present policy of the squad. The other quarter is Johnnie Beckley who has been tried at the post this year for the first time. He is a bit new at the job but has a good head and this position should rest him for his passing duties. Whether Beckley or Saba will finally be selected is a matter of conjecture but the best backfield combination for the game will be Beckley at quarter, Lanahan and Saba at halves and either Giardi or Ramon at full. Rollie Delfausse, who played such a beautiful game against Clarkson will line up with brother Joe at the ends. Red Cook and Morgan will be at the tackles. Paul and McGowan will be on the guards with Bowers at center.

Conflicting reports regarding the strength of the Terriers have reached us. In their first game of the season they were overwhelmed by Middlebury 7 to 0, the defeat being much greater than indicated by the score. Last week they defeated Colby who had held Tufts to a 6-0 score the week before. Since the system of player control has been abolished at the University, the football team has steadily improved so that we believe the game tomorrow will be very close. However, the R. O. T. C. band will be at Boston to stir up spirit and if the varsity can recover some of their lost fight they could come out on top. It is doubtful whether Captain Aliberti of Boston University will be sufficiently recovered from a leg injury to play. B. U. will line up with: Hughes, r. e.; Aliberti or Vasilianskas, r. t.; Gubellini, r. g.; Abodeely, c.; Croke, l. g.; Rachetes, l. t.; Harris, l. e.; Tulis, qb.; Lucey, r. h. b.; Thompson, l. h. b.; and McNamara, fb.

UNDER THE LAW

[illegible] college rule and [illegible] Dean Addison Hibbard of Northwestern University recently [illegible] the American Association of University Professors at their convention in Washington [illegible] rules regarding student automobiles and hours of [illegible] dormitories be abolished, and proposed the [illegible] "in loco parentis" [illegible]

The suggestion [illegible] a [illegible] was [illegible] by Dean Hubbard [illegible] [illegible] at [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Vermont Sororities

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Down College Row

There will be a meeting of Key and Serpent society at the Kappa Sigma House, Wednesday, October 25, at 7 p.m.

G. H. COOK,
President

NEW CARD RATES

for the

LENDING LIBRARY

in the

UNIVERSITY STORE

A $1.00 card for reference reading and 2c per day titles

A $1.50 card covers any title in the Library

For details inquire of the clerks in the store

So round and pure and fully packed

WITH FINE TOBACCOS

that's why Luckies draw so easily

You've noticed it and you've appreciated the smooth, even-burning quality that is so much a part of Luckies' character . . . Round and pure—fully packed with the world's choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos—and no loose ends. That's why Luckies draw so easily, burn so uniformly.

ALWAYS the finest tobaccos
ALWAYS the finest workmanship
ALWAYS Luckies please!

Copyright 1931 The American Tobacco Company

"It's toasted"
FOR THROAT PROTECTION—FOR BETTER TASTE

The Vermont Cynic

ME 52 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1933 NUMBER 11

FREDERICK WHYTE LL OPEN UNIVERSITY LECTURE SERIES WED.

peak on "Receding Tide of mocracy" Which He Well Knows

Receding Tide of Democracy" is ... phrase which in recent years ... fairly common use. On ... the spread of communistic ... and the success of the Rus... experiment; on the other, the ... numerous European nations to ... and the apparent success of ..., together with the recent as... of Hitler and the Nazis in ... have caused many to wonder if ... the fathers in democracy has ... outmoded by the rise of new ... and economic conditions. Can ... assure social order and na... morale; can it secure basic condi... of economic justice and protection ... values? To these questions a ... answer will be given by Sir Fred... Whyte in his University lecture at ... of Vermont on: "Democ... Versus Fascism, Hitlerism and ...ism."

... timely lecture, which opens the ... series, will be given in the Flem... Museum Auditorium at 8 o'clock, the ... of Wednesday, October 25. The ... will be free and open to all who ...terested.

Frederick will be remembered for ...od and eloquent lecture given last ... in which he discussed "The Crisis ... Far East." The enthusiastic ap...ation voiced by large numbers who ...d both his formal lecture and the ...forum which followed influenced the ...mittee on University Lectures to se... Sir Frederick's return this season.

Frederick Whyte's official life and ...es has been divided between his ...es as a Liberal member of Parlia... in England and his official work in ...ar East. There he had the honor ...rving as first President of the Indian ...slative Assembly and later as Politi...dvisor to the Chinese Government at ...ing. The author of numerous ...ritative works relating to the Orient ...ansition, he has also had valuable ...alistic experience. One of the ...ders of the influential weekly, New ..., he was connected with this paper ... editor during the critical years ...1920.

... the discussion of his present subject ... Frederick brings the background of ... political experience and wide con..., as well as the advantages of ex...ve travels in Europe, America, Asia ... Australia.

... recognition of his eminent abilities ...vices he has been honored with ...degree of Doctor of Laws by the ...versities of Edinburgh, McGill and ...ford and by Dartmouth College. ...his important lectureships in the ...have been: The Lowell Lectures in ... The Williamstown Institute of ... and appointments on Lecture ...dations at the Universities of Vir... and Chicago.

HEARSALS FOR GROUP LAYS GOING SMOOTHLY STATE THE DIRECTORS

mbers of Cast Now Meet ithout Any Interference Due to Fraternity Rushing

... group plays to be presented ... 2 are developing very satis... according to statements by their ... directors who appear very opti... regarding the success of the ven... Fraternity rushing interfered greatly ... rehearsals during most of last ... players have now settled down ... routine and the freshman ... coming up unusually well.

... to the directors the difficul... these three comedies present ... and varied. One, an English ...ally difficult because of the ... atmosphere which must ...ughout the play; another ... of German origin depends ... clever character por... humor; a third play, a Rus... perhaps the most difficult ... because of our poor un... Russian viewpoint and ... the humor must be made ... the fact that almost every ... serious in its nature.

PHILAGON HAS MEETING IN MUSEUM LAST FRIDAY

A meeting of the Philagon Society was held Friday, October 20, at 4 o'clock in the children's room of the Fleming Museum. After a short business meeting, Laura Johnson '33 gave suggestions on possible programs for meetings. The program for the day consisted of extemporaneous talks given by members of the society. These were followed by a general discussion in which the speakers were required to uphold their ideas. Alpha Chi and Kappa Delta members were excused from the meeting.

"WINNOWINGS FROM THE OLD MILL" DUE ON HILL DURING EARLY NOVEMBER

Still Room for a Few More Good Contributions if Handed in Immediately

The first issue of Winnowings From the Old Mill is now being prepared and some material already is at the printers. The appearance of this issue is scheduled for approximately the tenth of November. However, it is not too late to accept a few more contributions, especially of prose, if the articles are handed in immediately. Good book reviews, short sketches, essays of any kind and short stories are welcome. Interviews and magazine articles also will be considered.

A feature of Winnowings is the new system of exchanges. It is hoped that exchanges from a number of representative American colleges may be obtained.

Any person who has not subscribed to Winnowings but would like to, should apply to any member of the staff. Betty Rich and Robert Weissman are circulation managers and, if possible, give subscriptions to them.

R. O. T. C. BAND REPORTS SPLENDID BOSTON TRIP AND A FIRST-RATE TIME

Forty-seven Bandsmen in Uniform Accompany Football Team to Boston

Impromptu concerts at Bellows Falls and in front of the Kenmore Hotel, entertainment by the University of Vermont Alumni Association of Boston, and a splendid performance at the game Saturday afternoon were the highlights of the trip the R. O. T. C. band made to Boston. This was the first trip the R. O. T. C. band unit has made to a B. U. football game, and credit for the trip must be given to the Department of Military Science, which was largely responsible for the traveling facilities furnished the band by the University.

"I am very pleased," commented President Bailey at the game Saturday, "by the splendid appearance and performance of the band. It is a real credit to our University." Dean Swift was also enthusiastic about the exhibition, and about the band having accompanied the Green and Gold gridsters to Boston.

The band, composed of forty-seven men in uniform, and commanded by Captain Craig and Director Lechnyr, left Friday, and gave an impromptu concert at Bellows Falls during a fifteen-minute wait at the station, and in front of the Kenmore Hotel the following morning through the courtesy of the management of the Kenmore Hotel. The management of the hotel was also instrumental in obtaining passes for a Friday evening performance at the Fenway Theatre. Several members of the band availed themselves of this invitation.

The band was met in Boston by Prof T. R. Powell of Harvard University, president of the Boston Alumni Association, and by Lieut. A. E. McKenny of the military staff of Boston University. Lieutenant McKenny made the arrangements whereby the band members were the guests of various fraternities located in Boston, and it is especially interesting to know that a committee of five men from a fraternity called at the Kenmore Hotel Friday evening, asked for eight band members whom they wished to have as guests, but were unable to find any for whom arrangements had not as yet been made. D. W. Jenks '34 was the guest of Professor Powell himself, who was a member of Delta Psi when a student at U. V. M.

Now what about that frosh bandman who went to Boston but wasn't allowed to march with the band?

PRESIDENT ANNOUNCES SUNDAY VESPER SERVICE SPEAKERS FOR THE YEAR

Many Men of International Experience and Reputation Among Those, Who Have Been Obtained

Five speakers of international experience and reputation have been obtained to address the Sunday vesper services in Ira Allen Chapel this year, President Bailey announced this week. They are Dr. Bernard I. Bell of Providence, R. I.; Rev. Lloyd C. Douglas, pastor of St. James' United Church, Montreal; the Rev. Allan P. Shatford, pastor of the Church of St. James' the Apostle, Montreal; the Rev. Robert W. McLaughlin of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Dean Emeritus Charles R. Brown of Yale Divinity School. These services come once a month through the school year until spring. A speaker for the month of March is still to be obtained.

Doctor Bell will speak at services on November 19. For the past four years he has been warden of St. Stephen's College, and professor of religion in Columbia University. He has resigned these posts, and become a preaching canon of St. John's Cathedral in Providence. His time will hereafter be devoted to writing, preaching and lecturing in the fields of religion and education. He will spend a half of his time in Rhode Island, and the other half where he may be desired, throughout the country and England. Doctor Bell is continuing and extending his service as preacher, lecturer and conference leader in universities, colleges and secondary schools by his appointment with Vermont.

Doctor Douglass, who will speak on December 17, held pastorates in Ann Arbor, Mich., Akron, Ohio, and Los Angeles, Calif., before coming to Montreal in 1929. For four years 1911 to 1915, he was director of religious work at the University of Illinois. He is the author of "Wanted, A Congregation," "Magnificent Obsession," "Those Disturbing Miracles" and other works during the past twelve years.

On January 14 Canon Shatford will conduct services. He prepared for the Episcopal ministry at King College, Windsor, Nova Scotia, and was ordained in 1896. After serving three Nova Scotian parishes, he was called to the Church of St. James' the Apostle in Montreal. He has been governor of Diocesan Theological College and Cooperated Theological College, and Fellow-Governor of McGill University. During the World War he served for four years with Canadian troops, was mentioned in despatches and awarded the Order of the British Empire.

Doctor McLaughlin will preach on February 11. He was ordained to the Congregational ministry in 1895 and has held pastorates in Brooklyn, N. Y., from 1908 to 1921 and in Worcester, Mass., from 1921 to 1929. After retiring from active services he was for a time pastor of an American church in Berlin, Germany. Doctor McLaughlin is the author of "The Overlooked Chapter in American History," "The Spiritual Element in History," and other works.

On April 22, Dean Brown will speak at vespers. Dean of Yale Divinity School from 1911 to 1928 and Dean Emeritus since 1928, he is the author of many widely read books on religion, including "The Making of a Minister," "These Twelve," "The Art of Preaching," "The Religion of a Layman."

Canon Shatford, Doctor McLaughlin and Doctor Douglass have been honored by the University of Vermont with the degree of Doctor of Divinity; and Dean Brown with the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

MISS MARY HOLMAN '24 CONDUCTS MASS MEETING

Miss Mary Holman '24 conducted the mass meeting October 21. She spoke about human welfare and the present social conditions. She mentioned the facts that from 1920 to 1924 ambition reigned and that from 1924 to 1929 there was no idea of war. No one knew what the next twenty years would bring forth. The women would hold in their power the next important decision which would be carried out. This is the time when youth is much depended upon. When conditions are in a state such as they are now, every one should have a good attitude. The young and the old should assume an optimistic and an idealistic attitude.

TAU EPSILON PHI HAS TWENTY FROSH PLEDGES

Tau Epsilon Phi has the distinction of having acquired twenty pledges, the greatest number of pledges of any fraternity on the hill. It boasts also of having the heaviest freshman, A. Covitz and the lightest freshman, L. Rome. The pledges are S. Alpert, New Jersey; A. Bloomberg, Burlington; H. Baron, Winthrop, Mass.; A. Covitz, Brookline Mass.; H. Cannon, Burlington; M. Harris, St. Albans; M. Horn, Cambridge, Mass.; F. Jacobson, Boston, Mass.; M. King, Brookline, Mass.; M. Kershner, Burlington; I. Lehrer, West Hartford, Conn.; H. Levine, Port Chester, N. Y.; S. Levin, Burlington; J. Levin, Burlington; I. Rosenblatt, New Britain, Conn.; L. Rome, Fitchburg, Mass.; A. Robbins, Roxbury, Mass.; M. Saiger, Burlington; F. Shaine, Cambridge, Mass.; and I. Wolf, Burlington.

SCABBARD AND BLADE TO BE PARTICIPANTS IN NATIONAL CELEBRATION

Friday, Theodore Roosevelt's Birthday, to Be Observed as National Scabbard and Blade Day

On October 27 the various Companies and Alumni Posts of the National Society of Scabbard and Blade located at seventy-eight Universities and Colleges and a number of our larger cities, celebrate the anniversary of the birth of former President Theodore Roosevelt as National Scabbard and Blade Day. F Company, 3rd Regiment, the local Company at the University of Vermont, is observing this event by a special meeting to be held at the Owl House at 8 p.m., Thursday, October 26, 1933. Among the speakers who will address the members of the Company, together with alumni and invited guests are: Capt. A. S. Knight, 388th Infantry, 97th Division, attached to reserves of Burlington, Vt.

In the afternoon of October 27, Scabbard and Blade will decorate the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery, Washington, D. C., in memory of the three thousand members of their organization who participated in the World War.

The National Society of Scabbard and blade was founded nearly thirty years ago at the University of Wisconsin by five cadet officers, and last year a Memorial Flagpole was erected at that institution by the National Society in honor of the Founders. It now has seventy-eight chapters in forty-five states and a total membership of approximately 20,000.

The purpose of the Society is to defend American traditions and ideals, promote the interests of R. O. T. C. training, preserve and develop the essential qualities of good and efficient officers and to spread intelligent information concerning the military requiremnts of our country.

Active membership in Scabbard and Blade is limited to outstanding cadet officers in the R. O. T. C. units. They are selected by members of the chapter based upon their proficiency in military science, academic subjects, character and other attributes. Officers of the regular army, national guard and organized reserves may be elected to associate membership. Honorary membership is conferred on civilians.

MR. MONAHAN WRITES ON "MOUNT WASHINGTON"

The year which three men have spent on the summit of Mount Washington has just come to a close. For the first time in forty-five years, Mount Washington has been successfully occupied duuring its severe winter weather, and Robert Monahan, A. A. McKenzie and Salvatore Pagliuca have operated an observatory on the summit of Mount Washington during the past twelve months. The observatory was established for the purpose of collecting meterological data with emphasis on the relation of weather to aviation and radio.

Just as their predecessors of forty-five years ago, the United States Signal Service Corps, recorded in a journal the experiences and adventures on top of the mountain, the recent expedition has told its story in the journal "Mount Washington Reoccupied," just published by the Stephen Daye Press of Brattleboro, Vt.

Mr. Monahan, who kept the daily journal, has presented the year's experience in an interesting and informal way. He has used fifty of the best photographs ever taken on Mount Washington, to make this story of wind, cold, and snow a vivid record of winter on the peak of New England's highest mountain.

"MERCHANT OF VENICE" TO BE PRESENTED AT GYM NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT

Presentation of Shakespeare's Comedy Given by Hendrickson and Bruce Company

Shakespeare's comedy, "The Merchant of Venice," will be presented Thursday evening, October 26, at the University gymnasium by the Hendrickson and Bruce Shakespearean Players. The curtain will rise at 8:15 on a performance by one of the most notable Shakespearean companies in the country. According to the press statement

"Mr. Hendrickson and Miss Bruce and company, presenting handsomely staged performances of the Shakespearean plays, are now in the seventh year and have toured with conspicuous success in forty-one states. They have played in the principal educational institutions in the country including many state universities and colleges, the most notable perhaps of such appearances being a performance, by invitation, at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

"Mr. Hendrickson and Miss Bruce have established themselves as two of the leading exponents of the classic drama on the American stage and need no introduction, although their accomplishment may be credited in part to a long and varied training, including seasons in the Shakespearean companys of Mr. Luber and Mr. Mantell."

Burlington and the University are indebted to the influence of Prof. Frederick Tupper, head of the English department, and one of the country's outstanding Shakespearean authorities, in securing this company. Professor Tupper expressed himself as being very much pleased with the former performance three years ago of the players, and was sure of a competent and pleasing presentation on Thursday. The English department declared itself fortunate in securing the company for its stop-over in Burlington.

James Hendrickson and Claire Bruce take the two leading parts of Shylock and Portia. The other members of the cast are: Stanley Cobley, Mary Glover, Webster Patterson, Frank Hawson, Ruth Prouty, Charles Posner, and Leonard Penn.

Members of the Burlington and neighboring schools have been invited to attend, with emissaries going as far as Vergennes. Special rates for faculty, college and school students are fixed at forty cents, with reserved seats for seventy-five cents. The reserved tickets are to be on sale at the Bailey Music Rooms with the student tickets sold only on the campus.

D. W. Jenks '34 of the University players, is manager of property and stage. A. A. Ross '34 and D. J. Tobin '34, co-business managers of the University players, will attend to the business and publicity side. Several of the University players will aid in the production of the play as well as in the staging of the drama. Entirely new settings have been designed for the season's tour and Mr. Hendrickson and Miss Bruce announce that they have associated with them the finest company they have had since their organization five years ago.

THE ARIEL IS GIVING ORGANIZATIONS A CHANCE TO SAVE BY PAYING

Big Discounts Given on Bills Paid Before November 5 Says Patch

"The 1935 Ariel is giving the organizations, fraternities and others, an opportunity to save a considerable amount on their Ariel space by prompt payment of their bills," states Business Manager Patch. "The plan is," he adds, "each fraternity signs a contract of $25 for two pages. If this is paid on or before November 5, 1933, it is subject to a $5 discount as stated on the contract. Other organizations sign a contract of $13 for one page. This is subject to a $3 discount, if paid on or before November 5. In order to obtain Ariel space all bills must be paid on or before December 15, 1933."

With the above savings in view, all the fraternity and organization bills will be paid and the space obtained. All checks should be made payable to the 1935 Ariel and sent to the business manager at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon House.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Recording Editor
Business Manager
Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

Leonard Aldrich '35 Dustin White '35

FEATURE EDITORS

COLUMNIST

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Ross '34
George Patterson '34

REPORTERS

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

News Editor in Charge ..... DUSTIN WHITE

Founded in 1883. Published semi-weekly during the college year. Subscription $3.00 a year; single copy 5cc each.

All editorial and business communications must be signed and addressed to the proper department head of The Vermont Cynic, Office North College. Brief notices must be handed in at the office not later than 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday for the issue in which they are to appear. Office telephone 1660.

Acceptance for mailing at postage outside Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460 P. L. and R. Act of March 3 1879 authorized October 16, 1926.

Office of Publication: Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Editorials

ROBBERY

"WE APPEAL, YOUR HONOR"

On Freshmen

It seems to be the consensus of opinion among the members of the faculty that the attitude of the present freshman class is different from that of other entering classes in several respects. "They are a ... enthusiastic about the new students, says, ... more earnest and sincere."

A few of the professors feel that the freshmen might display a little more initiative in entering wholeheartedly in university athletics and campus activities, and some also feel that they might ... to the many unsocial signs of friendship displayed by ... are industrious and sincere.

"The freshman class of this year," commented Dean Swift, "has thus far displayed more spirit than many previous classes, and this, coupled with the fact that eighty four honor students are in the class should result in a splendid record when the marks for the first marking period are turned in on November 4."

Miss Parker of the department of English also comments favorably, saying, "My classes are very much interested in their work, and I in turn find them interesting. Their preparatory work seems to have been more thorough, and I ... enjoy my classes more ...."

... Prof. P. D. Carleton remarked that it was too early to judge correctly the abilities of the freshmen, he did say, "It seems that most students entering college this year are anxious to take advantage of the many opportunities which are open to them, and reasoning logically, the entering freshman class should derive more benefit from their four year course than some previous freshman classes."

Commenting on the comparative worth of the present freshman class with that of previous freshman classes, Miss Holbrook of the department of Education had the following to say. "The new students seem to be more responsible and prompt in regard to their work. This is probably true because of the severe years of economic depression during which many families have made many sacrifices for them. The students in turn are more appreciative of the opportunity open to them and are therefore taking advantage of it."

"The new students are taking their military training in a really serious manner and this attitude pleases me a great deal." The Vermont R. O. T. C. unit has done fine work and considering the fact that we have less time than ... to attack to drill the new men, their ... attitude should be conducive of a satisfactory unit when federal inspection ... Colonel Black of the ... R. O. T. C. students.

... Bennett Cerf's comments ... on the freshman classes of ... year and the editor's advice should ... of particular interest to undergraduate ...

What a wonderful thing it ... to be a college freshman! He has ... faith in himself, both ... and world he or she lives in. The ... that no one's steals ever modern ... up and yet scared the minds of ... modern happiness. It should not ... for that truth is the world cannot ... long and learn that the naked ... that is easy looks in the ... of initiative. Freshman students ... enter a college with strong ... in the pursuit of knowledge. But as you ... on in a learned student ... comes to the pursuit of the ... and the necessities of the social whirl grow ... importance, the idea may come ... that the learning that the college ... is not of supreme importance ... that the social contacts are the more ...

When they get that idea, their ... grades are apt to take a downward ... They become satisfied and ... passing marks and then do ... figuring on how little studying will get them by. ... folks at home who are sweating ... slaving to give them this ... opportunity do not sympathize with this ... of view. Serve the knowledge ... to your high deals they say.

Curtis Symphony Returns to CBS for Fifth Season

The Curtis Symphony Orchestra, one ... the world's outstanding student ensembles, will return to a coast-to-coast WABC-Columbia network for the fifth consecutive season Thursday, October 26 ... 4:45 to 5:30 p.m., E.S.T. Under the ... of Fritz Reiner, former conductor ... the Cincinnati Symphony and frequent guest conductor of the Philadelphia and New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestras, the student orchestra of master players will be heard each week at this time. Originating in the studios of WCAU, Columbia outlet in Philadelphia, the broadcasts will include ... distinguished soloist performances and ... will feature the outstanding and in many cases ... graduate artist students. As in former series, many of the distinguished artists who are faculty members of the Curtis Institute will be heard. The programs will be under the ... of the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia. Josef Hofmann, world ... pianist, is the general director ... Efrem Zimbalist, Fritz Reiner, Sigmund Spaeth and Louis ...

"The Haunted Room"

By Raymond Walters

The Cynic has secured the right to publish a new story by that famous writer of detective stories Mr. Walters. We are running this story in serial form ... with the issue. You will remember Mr. Walters' former contribution "Mr. Heaven Hand Has," a best seller some ... ago. We think this present story is even superior to that.

When the new House Director arrived at Allen House, little did she realize the ghastly character of the room she was to occupy. The practice of eating breakfast in her room throws light upon the ... of the vapor filled bed but that does not explain how the bed became ... especially when the door is so carefully locked during her absence. It would take a Sherlock Holmes to solve the perplexing problem of the light which periodically fails to work and the frequent blowing out of fuses. But the climax was reached Sunday when in the still of the night a thunderous crash, issuing from the direction of the haunted room, roused the inmates of the house from their peaceful slumber. It has never been known to have happened in the annals of Allen House, but is it possible that the legs of the House Director's bed could have suddenly collapsed?

(To be continued)

The University of Texas and the University of Chicago jointly are building the new McDonald Observatory in the Davis Mountains in southwestern Texas to house the second largest telescope in the world. The largest telescope in the world is the 100-inch reflector at Mount Wilson, Calif.

Assisted by his dog, a blind student of St. Mary's College attends classes every day after a trip of sixteen miles from home. The canine, an intelligent, trained animal, guides his master to school on street cars and trains, and remains at his side in the classrooms.

Leonard Liebling Chosen as Philharmonic Commentator

Leonard Liebling, music critic ... New York American and editor ... of the Musical Courier, has been ... as commentator for the WABC ... bia and Canadian network broadcasts ... the New York Philharmonic ... Orchestra. He will be heard each ... day afternoon during the concert ... missions. Liebling proposes to ... a new note in music criticism and ... in his weekly talks. As he puts ... have always believed that music ... to all the people all the time; and I ... tried to write and speak about it ... human way for human beings." He will ... stress the personalities of the great ... posers, their ideals, and their ... rather than technical analyses ... music. A native of New York, Liebling is descended from a family prominent in musical circles both in America and Europe for nearly a hundred years. He was the first American piano pupil ... Leopold Godowsky, and after completing his studies in Europe went on the ... cert stage. Liebling is a musical jack-of-all-trades, prominent as a journalist, editor, critic, pianist and composer. He has even ventured into the musical comedy field, writing the book for ... sa's "The American Maid." For the past fifteen years he has been editor-in-chief of Musical Courier and since 1923 music critic of the New York American.

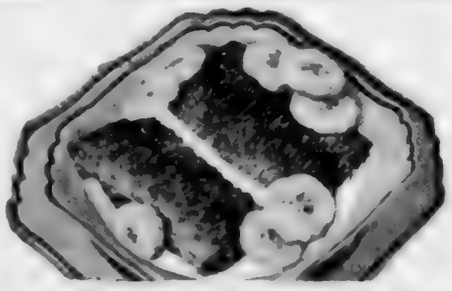
The Catty Co-ed wants to know who that Freshman Aggie is who said, "It I can't do it more than once I won't do it at all."

The Catty Co-ed wants to tell you that two freshmen had dates the other night and came back before nine o'clock. They said they went to the movies too.

Do Key and Snake men like redheads? Well I guess!

The Catty Co-ed has heard that they serve cider at church socials.



When you see Niagara Falls on the package, you KNOW you have Shredded Wheat.

HERE'S Energy FOR YOU!

FOLKS who pull a steady stroke in everything they do usually favor that natural energy food, Shredded Wheat.

Here's why. Shredded Wheat is made only of whole wheat—nothing added, nothing taken away. And whole wheat is packed with natural energy elements . . . proteins, vitamins, minerals, carbohydrates and bran. Get enough of these, and your days will be brighter. For these are the vital elements that put a snappy spring in your step.

Try it, for at least ten days. Just order "Shredded Wheat."

It's ready cooked, ready to eat. Pour on plenty of milk or cream. Top with your favorite fruit. And sail into the finest-tasting energy food a few pennies ever bought.

THE VITALLY DIFFERENT FOOD

SHREDDED WHEAT

A product of NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY "Uneeda Bakers"

SPORTS NEWS

ESTOCKINGS INVITES ONTRIBUTIONS FROM ROSPECTIVE MEMBERS

ibutions Should Be Left in he Y Room or Given to Active Members stockings, the women's honorary society is open for membership. rl interested is eligible by submitting a story, essay, poem, book review, or description. These are to be given to any Bluestockings member, or the Y room before Thanksgiving. members will be chosen on the articles submitted, and will be announced after Thanksgiving.

re will be a meeting this week for sent members.

TBALL MENTOR COMMENTS ON GIRLS

ades—and brunettes also, for that —are poison to aspiring football . Michael Pecarovitch, Gonzaga rsity football coach, told a group of chool coaches at a meeting held in ne, Wash.

e idea that girls are an inspiration ootball player to do bigger and things," said Pecarovitch, "is a Keep your players away from them would from poison.

an tell right away when a player getting interested in some girl, be- he arrives for practice at the last e and his mind is not on his work. you see the attacking team throw which sails through the air right he arms of a waiting player, to be d for a long gain, don't think the e is with the defense team. It is e someone on the defense is think- some blonde up in the stands!"

lliam Dean Howells, who wrote for than fifty years, left forty novels, plays and innumerable tales, travels, and works of criticism.

Don't let "recurring" ns ruin your day and deprive you of your mal activity. Don't take chances of flunking ms. Banish such pains with Kalms tablets. daches, neuralgia, backache, cramps, and er localized pains are promptly and effecly relieved by a small dosage. Kalms, developed by Johnson & Johnson, are safe. They not habit-forming, do not affect digestion heart action. Your druggist has Kalms in se-size boxes of 12 tablets.

KALMS FOR RELIEF OF "RECURRING" PAINS
EE SAMPLE—SEND COUPON

Johnson & Johnson
NEW BRUNSWICK NEW JERSEY

Send me a FREE sample of Kalms.

ame_____

ddress_____ 3-2

OWLS TIE SIGMA DELTA LAST FRIDAY AFTERNOON

On the coldest Friday endured at U. V. M. in a long time, the Sigma Deltas finished a 12 to 12 tie game with the Owls after two overtime periods. The ground was too slippery for any effective running plays but the spectators got some good laughs from the spills of players attempting to run.

The Owls scored first after Rumny made a long gain and Abbott caught the first pass of his career on the next play for a touchdown. Sigma Delta put one across by a long pass to Sargent to even the score then Mahoney of the Owls made six points and finished the scoring for the half. In the last half the Sigma Delts scored again to end the scoring. Neither side converted on the extra play allowed after touchdown.

WITH OUR OPPONENTS LAST SATURDAY, OCT. 21

Football results of Saturday show Clarkson, Dartmouth, Lowell Textile, Middlebury and New Hampshire in the winning column.

Clarkson displaying a brilliant passing attack easily took over Buffalo, the final score being 20-0.

The Dartmouth Indians recorded their "first major success in two seasons" when they defeated Pennsylvania 14-7. Neither Sammy Fishman nor Dave Hedges were able to play in this game.

An underrated Norwich eleven held Lowell Textile's strong team to a 6-6 score for the first half. On the second period Lowell showed greater superiority but was only able to score one touchdown. Final score 6-12 in favor of Lowell.

Playing under the flood lights of the Coast Guard's home field, Middlebury trounced the Cadets 20-0 in the only night game scheduled between New England colleges this season. Boehm and Zawistoski starred for Middlebury, Boehm scoring two out of three touchdowns.

As the result of a blocked kick in the last minute of play, New Hampshire won from the University of Maine by a 6-0 score.

Middlebury freshmen took over Green Mountain Junior College Saturday with the score 12-7.

Nurse—Come, Johnny, and see what the doctor brought your mother—a pretty little daughter, and your sister.

Johnny—Yes, and I bet she blames me. He wouldn't have known where we lived if I hadn't got the measles.

Treat Yourself to the Best!
Sherwood Hotel Barber Shop
In Lower Lobby
WE TRIM THE HAIR, BUT NOT THE MAN
JOE. LANGLOIS, Prop.—Phone 2911

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
* * *
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

NEW CARD RATES
for the
LENDING LIBRARY
in the
UNIVERSITY STORE

A $1.00 card for reference reading and 2c per day titles
A $1.50 card covers any title in the Library
For details inquire of the clerks in the store

Vermont Loses Three Times Last Saturday, Football to B. U., Frosh Cross Country to Dartmouth and Frosh Football to the Fort

FROSH CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM LOSES FIRST MEET TO DARTMOUTH TEAM

Izzy Lehrer Finishes First for Vermont, Finishing With a Broken Ankle

The frosh harriers lost their first meet to a strong well-balanced Dartmouth team by the score of 16-39. Three Dartmouth runners took the lead early and were never headed. A fourth pulled ahead after game little Izzy Lehrer hurt his ankle.

The feature of the race was the gameness of this Lehrer who in spite of a badly-sprained ankle came in fifth place first for Vermont. The other men came in very well after this making good time.

The team will be strong this year and should have a successful season.

The men in order of finish were:

1, White (D); 2, Ohlinger (D); 3, Fuller (D); 4, Russell (D); 5, Lehrer (V); 6, Porter (D); 7, Waite (V); 8, Bellmare (V); 9, Daigneault (V); 10, Squires (D); 11, Hofstuter (D); 12, Pinnix (V); 13, McIntyre (V); 14, Kennedy (V); 15, Wright (D); 16, Treadway (V); 17, Gates (V); 18, Hoyle (D); 19, Horne (V); 20, Hawley (V); 21, Evans (V); 22, Brooks (D); 23, Alpert (V); 24, Collins (V).

HELEN MOUNT '35 IS NEW PRESIDENT OF FRENCH CLUB, ELECTED SATURDAY

Other Officers Include Everest, Misses Peterson, Rock and Young

A large number of French students and those interested in the language turned out to the first meeting of the French Club last Saturday morning. About thirty attended and they proceeded to the election of officers.

Helen Mount '35 was elected president of the club. A. S. Everest '36 was made vice-president; Greta Peterson '34 will serve as secretary, Alta Rock '35 will be treasurer, and Joyce Young '34 will fill the rôle of chairman of the program committee.

The president nominated the following three members to draw up a constitution for the club: Renee Lafountain '35, Natalie Hilliker '36 and Patricia Stanley '37. They will meet together in the near future and will have the constitution ready to present at the next meeting.

Meetings of the Club will take place at frequent intervals throughout the year. Their object is not a scholarly and classroom gathering, but an informal get-together, in which French will be spoken exclusively. Varied programs are to be presented, all in French, including plays, readings, talks and games. The next meeting will be the week of October 30 and will be announced later. There is room for any others interested in talking or hearing French.

FOUND

Bathing suit at Freshman Camp at Abnaki. Owner please call at V. C. A. office.

This is a day of dawning decencies. The change is beginning to show in our personal conduct and better manners.—Rev. Ralph W. Sockman.

Compliments of
ALEX VERRET

PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS
NEW AND USED FIRST-GRADE TYPEWRITERS RENTED
Special Rates to Students
Bruhn Office Equipment Co.
18 Church St. Burlington, Vt.

FROSH FOOTBALL TEAM LOSES CLOSE GAME BY LAST MINUTE BREAK

Team Plays a Good Game But Soldiers Score Against the Second Team in Last Minute to Play

The Frosh met their first defeat Saturday, October 21, when, in a game with the Fort, they were beaten 6-0. The game was very close and the tide of battle seesawed back and forth, with neither side having a great advantage.

During the first period the Frosh had the best of it, but in the second quarter they were outclassed by the Army boys, who several times came near scoring.

The third and fourth periods were about even up to the last play of the game. In that play, Stone pulled off a startling run, eluding tackles easily and scoring the game's only touchdown for the Army.

The Frosh put up a good battle, and, although greatly outweighed in the line, made a surprising showing and exhibited good defensive strength, piling up many plays in the line. The stars of the Spaulding game, however, for the most part did not come up to standard and so the game created some new stars. Beattie played well in the line, as did Shaw, MacMillan and Rosenblatt. Rosy played a great game at tackle, while Beattie at center and the other at the end did well also.

In the backfield, Wheeler, Hoag and Ross showed their class and gained much ground, also throwing in a fine defensive play, breaking up many of the enemy attacks.

Murphy was the star back for the Army, tearing off dazzling runs and also threw quite a few passes, that gained a lot of yardage.

The game was a tough one to lose, but it is hoped that the boys have better luck next time.

ST. J. A. LOSES CROSS-COUNTRY TO WATERBURY

The St. Johnsbury Academy cross-country team was defeated by the Waterbury high school team at Waterbury, Saturday by the score of 15-40. Waterbury men to fill the first five places were Captain Haseltine, Clough, Marshall, Dolloff and H. Morse. The first four men named tied for first place. St. Johnsbury men who ran were Blair, Molam, Mathews, MacDonald, and Cahune.

REV. H. S. KENNEDY OF MIDDLEBURY TO SPEAK

The Rev. H. S. Kennedy will be the speaker at the Wednesday morning Chapel services, October 25. Reverend Kennedy, who is well acquainted to Vermont students comes from Middlebury. Services are held at ten o'clock at Ira Allen Chapel. Professor Jacobs, who heads the committee in charge, attempts to bring a wide variety of speakers to conduct the Vermont services.

CORRECTION

The Cynic wishes to correct the list of sophomore class officers which appeared in a recent issue. The corrected list is: President, H. Esmonde Mahoney; vice-president, Katherine Mahoney; secretary, Rosemary Cahill; treasurer, Douglas Suitor.

DR. REEDER TO SPEAK AT CONN. TEACHERS' MEETING

Dr. Edwin L. Reeder, newly-appointed member of the department of education at the University of Vermont, is to speak on October 27 at the annual State Teachers' Meeting in New Haven, Conn. Doctor Reeder will speak both in the morning and in the afternoon, his morning topic being, "Establishing Worthwhile Motives for Classroom Work," and his topic of the afternoon being, "Can Public Schools Be Progressive?"

The annual interest charge of our federal, state and city governments, met through some kind of taxation, totals almost $1,500,000,000.

LACK OF PUNCH MAIN REASON WHY VERMONT IS TRIPPED BY B. U.

Cats Outplay Terriers in Every Department of the Game But Lack Scoring Punch

Once more the Catamounts failed to deliver in the pinches and were defeated by an inferior opponent, this time by Boston University 13-0. We hesitate to mention the breaks for that excuse is so time worn, but last Saturday everything certainly came the way of the Boston team. In the very first part of the game Vermont took the ball and on three plays advanced it to the opponents three yard line. There the splendid opportunity for scoring was lost as Giardi fumbled. They did not give up, however, and the next time they had the ball took it down the field to the ten-yard line where a bad pass by Bowers once again lost for them a scoring chance. Two more times the ball was advanced to within the ten-yard line but the Cats didn't seem able to deliver.

Boston University scored just a few seconds before the close of the first half when a fluky lateral was picked up by a B. U. back. Later when Vermont was backed up against their own goal line, Sowka kicked out to the 20-yard line. The kick was taken by McNamara who easily carried it over for a score. It is only necessary to see the number of first downs, Vermont ten and Boston seven and the great number of Vermont yards gained in respect to Boston's to note how the Cats outplayed the Terriers but as we said before inability to capitalize on scoring chances lost the game.

The famed passing attack of the Catamounts was missing Saturday for only two out of a great many were completed. From all reports Beckley was being rushed a lot and was unable to get the ball off satisfactorily while when he did get off a good throw the receivers forgot to catch the ball. The kicking, also, was poor as compared to what could be done.

As usual, the shining light on the whole field, not alone in the Catamount squad was Freddie Lanahan. This great little back once more played a beautiful game and showed at his best when the going was toughest. He made several run backs of kicks from twenty to thirty yards and on the defensive side made innumerable tackles, one time pulling down from behind a Boston back headed for a touchdown. Enos Ramon, returning to the game after a two weeks' absence, played well while he was in the game but injured his shoulder again and had to retire from the game. Another old standby in the line, Red Cook again played his good game making tackles all over the field. The rest of the team played well but always when they came within twenty yards of the goal line or into any sort of a pinch they failed to deliver, got all nerved up and either fumbled or lost the ball for some minor reason. It was a game which was being counted as a victory by the coaches, players and everyone at all interested in the team and to lose it in such a manner is a severe blow. We cannot judge the team too severely, however, and make this game too much a criterion of what they will do the rest of the season but we will wait until the Wildcats from New Hampshire come next Saturday. They will be plenty tough and the showing we make against them will probably give a good indication of our chances against Middlebury.

B. RUSSELL '35 Y. W. C. A. CHAIRMAN OF CONFERENCE

Sue France '35, president of Y. W. C. A., has announced that Barbara Russell '35 is the newly-elected chairman of Conference.

The growth of research work by college men and women in the United States is evidenced by the fact that in the last year at least 1,000 papers on vitamins alone have been published in the United States.

A marriage code for ministers, recommending that clergymen guide couples both before and after marriage and condemning "stunt" weddings, has been issued by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Rowland Robinson's Books Published by Tuttle Company

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 52 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1933 — NUMBER 12

OVERNING PRESIDENT

J. I. COGSWELL '34

GSWELL IS CHOSEN RESIDENT OF STUDENT SENATE FOR THIS YEAR

nior Members of That Body lect Former Member of Gold Key and Key and Serpent to Supreme Position well '34, was chosen presi- Student Senate by the senior meeting last Tuesday. Cogs- a member of Gold Key and which he was presi- one out for class football, basketball. This year he is freshman football. Last year Kake Walk committee, was editor of the 1934 Ariel, in Council and Student was organized in 1926 student government. was a men's Student women's Student Union In 1927, the Senate for the baseball team annual southern trip. It silver cup for Kake Senate has charge of leader every year, and cal calendars.

EP RALLY TOMORROW TO FEATURE MASS MEETING

largaret Kane '35 of Student Union in Charge—Next Two Mass Meetings Cancelled—New Chairman and Representatives Chosen the term of the mass Saturday, October 28 pep song, "Hail Green formed as a feature and meeting this and the ers on the program, be cheer or concert selec- Cheers and cheers- by yeaser Margaret student at this meeting on November 4 cancelled because of the Committee Dr committee of the committee G. W. Barrows, representatives from the Hobey Ice Board, W. W. Student Society, and from Student Union A. A. Ross '34 chairman of the first meet- The committee will the team students" the meetings are per- the students."

REV. KENNEDY SPEAKS

NEW BOULDER HEAD

C. F. DOBSON '34

DOBSON, FROSH MEDIC, IS RECENTLY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF BOULDER

G. H. Burrows II Is Vice-President, and D. J. Tobin Continues as Secretary-treasurer

C. F. Dobson '34 became the president of Boulder Society at a meeting last Tuesday evening at the Delta Psi house G. H. Burrows, II '34 of Exeter, N. H. was selected vice-president of the society. D. J. Tobin '34 of Fairhaven, Mass. retains the position of secretary-treasurer, a permanent position. Dobson, a freshman medic, has had numerous activities.

Dobson's activities include Gold Key, Key and Serpent, freshman cross country, assistant manager freshman baseball, football (2, 3), managing editor 1934 Ariel, Kake Walk committee (2, 3), corporal (2), Student Senate (2, 3), Dean's List (2), chairman Junior Week.

DEBATING TEAM PLANS TWO TRIPS THIS FALL

Trips of Season to Include Colgate, St. Lawrence, Buffalo, B. U. and Springfield plans will probably be two trips for the varsity debating team this year, be- cides the annual spring trip according to Manager R. F. McCann. These tours will each include a number of debates and are intended to give the Green and Gold men a stiff dose of competition.

The Vermont varsity team has not been selected yet but there are will probably be several during the next few R. F. McCann '34, C. V. Rogers '35, W. H. Mayer '35, E. R. Grossman '36, G. W. Barrows, II '34, D. W. Jenks '34, F. W. Hall '36, W. W. Workman '36, and E. C. Wallace '35.

The first varsity encounter of the Ver- mont team is expected to take place during the Christmas recess and will probably be with Colgate University in Hamilton, New York. St. Lawrence University, in Canton, New York, and University of Buffalo, in Buffalo, New York.

Vermont's varsity debating with Buffalo or Colgate for some time so that the contests in these towns is not known, but a no decision debate was the verdict of the audience at the St. Lawrence and Vermont contest last year.

EUROPE AND ITS "ISMS" EXPLAINED IN TALK TO ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE

Sir Frederick Whyte Discusses Communism, Facism, Hitlerism Wednesday Evening

COMPARES THEM WITH PRESENT-DAY DEMOCRACY

Believes in Success of Democracy Against Other Types of Government

In the last few years Europe has been torn by various isms—Communism, Fascism, Hitlerism, and Bolshevism. On October 25 Sir Frederick Whyte compared these new governments with the older principles of democracy. He spoke not to a capacity audience, but to a much larger group, for the Museum Auditorium was overflowing; numbers had to stand in the doorways and in the hall even after all free spaces in the aisles were crowded with folding chairs.

"The title is ambitious," Sir Frederick Whyte began. "The lecture will be not nearly so ambitious. Since the title is 'Democracy's Communism, Fascism and Hitlerism' I shall endeavor rather to discuss democracy's case than to give a discourse on each of the other governments.

"Democracy today is at a crisis. Many people believe the challenge difficult to answer. I shall endeavor, however, to prove it is not so difficult to answer.

"There is, at the present, a world wide skepticism about democracy. Very largely this is traceable to the general ignorance regarding the origin of democracy. The first government was not a democracy; it has been a much later development. Even the Greek city state could not extend its practice beyond a very narrow limit. Aristotle stated as a principle that no more than 10,000 persons could constitute a democracy.

"It was a comparatively long time before Aristotle's theory was disproved when England in the House of Commons introduced representative government. America carried the idea one step further in her Federal government. She employed democratic principles on a continental scale.

"In the governments of today there are many contradictions. China has always had a mass of the democratic society and a mass of the absolute supports in power. France is a social democracy, laid on the foundations of the Napoleonic Empire. In England a political democracy has been laid on the remains of a feudal society.

"Russia and Germany have never shown any signs of democracy. Russia is establishing an industrial democracy, but has failed to do. Great War. Sir Frederick was certain that the result of the war in democracy's favor with the defeats. But as we see, such prophecy was not correct now. Many of the democratic rights have to be reconsidered to meet the state power. Socialism's economic difficulties in the post-war period have helped the opponents of democratic in-

(Continued on page 3)

MORTAR BOARD DANCE SCHEDULED NEXT FRIDAY

Misses Putnam, Harris, Durick, in Charge—Tutorial Board to Be Sponsored

On Friday, November 4 Mortar Board will sponsor an informal dance to which the members of the junior and senior classes and their guests are invited. Miss Putnam and Miss Durick will be in charge of the arrangements. Miss Harris '34 and Miss Durick '34 are the committee in charge of the dance. Music will be furnished by Ted Hamilton and his orchestra. The dance will be held in the Student Union from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Mortar Board is to be run by the members of the junior class, each member being in charge of one dance. Miss Putnam is the chairman of the committee in charge of the dance. Miss Durick is the chairman of the committee in charge of the dance. Miss Durick is the chairman of the committee in charge of the dance.

STUDENT UNION

Fall Play Tryouts Announced During the Coming Week

S. Pierce '34 Designates Time for Tryouts at 4 O'clock on the Afternoons of November 1 and 2, Room 3, North College—Jenks Sends Out Call for Property Scrubs for Group Plays

SAMUEL PIERCE

NEW HAMPSHIRE WILL SPONSOR CONFERENCE OF STUDENT LEADERS

Boulder President Invited to Send Men Representatives to Organization Meeting November 10-11

C. F. Dobson '34 the president of Boulder society recently received the following letter from the Student Council at the University of New Hampshire. He asks that the organization represented by him be present if possible. Other delegates are scheduled to attend the conference. Carl E. Adams '34 president of political science will represent the new Public Affairs Club at the meeting. President Lewis Hartshorn of the University of Vermont [illegible] Vermont [illegible]

The Student Council of the University of New Hampshire is trying [illegible] student leaders from New England [illegible] Durham, New Hampshire on November 10 and 11. The purpose of the conference is to [illegible] an organization through [illegible] student bodies may [illegible] and interest [illegible] government [illegible] governing bodies.

It is suggested that each [illegible] and at least [illegible] delegates from each [illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

CLASS PLAYS CANCELLED

Campus Millinery Creations Pass In Review for Critical "Cynic"

Eighty-five Percent of Homo Collegianus (Male Species) Flouts All Cranial Protection, With but Ten Percent Addicted to the Habit

ANALYSIS OF THE HAT AS A CAMPUS INSTITUTION

By R. I. M[illegible] '36

Have you ever noticed the [illegible] of the [illegible] hat? [illegible] the [illegible] hat [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE VERMONT CYNIC

NEWS EDITORS

FEATURE EDITORS

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

COLUMNIST

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

REPORTERS

FACULTY ADVISER

Editorials

WANTED—NEW BLOOD

FRATERNITIES' MESSAGE TO THE FROSH

Sir Frederick Whyte Grants Short Interview to Curious News Reporter

Eminent Scotchman Talks Cordially With Reporter--Details Travels and Points Out Future Plans

VERMONT EXHIBIT OF HAND-MADE CRAFTS TO BE STAGED DEC. 4-10

muted by the committee on standards and awards.

In Windham County local exhibits have been held to aid in determining which articles are likely to meet the

PROF. MEREDITH WRITES

Prof. L. D. Meredith of the department of economics University of Ver-

ALL RESEARCH THESES BY STUDENTS INCLUDED IN LIBRARY COLLECTION

One of the collections in the Vermont Room of the Bailey-Howe Library at the University of Vermont contains the [illegible] theses written by Vermont students in partial fulfillment for master's degrees or doctorates in architecture or engineering. In recent years the usage in this collection has risen [illegible] available soon for reference. All the theses are typewritten and bound.

In the collection are theses by many students on various drawing and Vermont subjects by instructors. Rowland Evans Robinson, Professor of Vermont Backgrounds and Character [illegible] Miss G. M. Cook, the Philosophy of Ethan Allen, Ethan Allen's Manifold Occupations by M. E. Jacobs, Rural Vermont, and Dr. Hans Huntington on the Royal Law of the Western Reserve. [illegible] W. W. Lyndon, Forms of Vermont, [illegible] H. H. Bigelow, Laws of Barbarism and [illegible] by George D. Hooker, The Sculpture of Randolph Rogers by B. W. Chapman.

Another very large portion of the collection consists of architectural theses [illegible] dealing exclusively with [illegible] Vermont farming, and [illegible] over a period of twenty-five [illegible] Another section includes engineering theses, and the remainder of the collection [illegible] with miscellaneous subjects on a general [illegible] Rogers subjects.

By a committee of experts the theses in the collection have been further divided into [illegible] subject groups. Ph.D. [illegible] and other longer and more [illegible] theses.

Where did you get those [illegible]

A friend of mine sent them [illegible] Cuba.

He certainly knows the ropes [illegible]

DOCTOR ALLEN WRITES OF THE EARLY DAYS OF MEDICINE IN VERMONT

Professor of Surgery Here Describes Interesting Early Doctors in Journal of Medicine Article

A sketch of Vermont's early medical history is the subject of an article written by Dr Evman Allen, professor of surgery at the University of Vermont, which appeared under date of October 19, 1933, in the New England Journal of Medicine.

"The names of the early Vermont doctors," says Doctor Allen, "are preserved to us largely by their political connections, and little or nothing is said about their professional ability."

He cites among other colorful examples Dr Jonas Fay of Tronderogatane, Dr Reuben Jones, who, after the Westminster Massacre, rode "express and hatless to Dummerston to arouse the people", Dr Benjamin Warner, father of Col Seth Warner of the Green Mountain Boys; Dr Stephen Powers, who helped dress the wounds at the battle of Bunker Hill and always wore buckskin trousers on which he sharpened his scalpel.

Early Surgery

Many stories are told of the privations and narrow escapes of early physicians and Doctor Allen narrates one or two. In 1814, in Brownington, a marauder was shot in the leg. Dr. L. W. Adams amputated, using a bench washe for a tourniquet and a razor and a sash-saw as his only instruments.

Of these early physicians Doctor Allen says: "Although undoubtedly [illegible] lacking in medical knowledge they were courageous and resourceful and their skill perhaps compared favorably with that of physicians in other states at the time."

Doctor Allen remarks facetiously that apparently early doctors in Vermont were born and not made for there were no laws limiting the practice of medicine until 1870 except that from 1829 to 1870 the right to collect taxes was regulated.

First Medical School

"Vermont's first school to improve medical education in the State was the founding of medical societies. In February, 1818 three men [illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

The Catty Co-ed

[illegible] Rudy Dunn [illegible]

[illegible] Coed thinks that W. [illegible] ought to become a law [illegible] big bus at the Razz [illegible] between to keep [illegible] of the floor. The Catty C[illegible] that the dancing [illegible] outside around.

Did you know that Addy P[illegible] wears a corset [illegible]

We seem to have a would be cr[illegible] at our midst. Witness Gillespie's [illegible] at Rand's the other da[illegible]

General campus opinion seems to [illegible] against cut in dances.

The Catty Co-ed wonders why [illegible] Morgan found it impossible to [illegible] the train home when the rest of [illegible] took last Sunday.

The Catty Co-ed wonders just [illegible] took Louise Armstrong home Sat[illegible] day night.

It has been said that it seemed [illegible] like an S. A. E. convention that [illegible] Razz Dazz last Saturday night.

Rotzone seems to go over big [illegible] it comes to blind dates.

George H. and Alice looked pre[illegible] smooth that first dance Satur[illegible] night.

Madeline Poole likes horseback r[illegible] ing pretty well.

Why did all the freshmen look sad last Friday morning? Oh, [illegible] math test papers were passed back.

Did anyone miss seeing Peg Nuger[illegible] home?

Where was Musicant during the [illegible] days in Boston?

DOCTOR ALLEN WRITES OF THE EARLY DAYS OF MEDICINE IN VERMONT

Professor of Surgery Here Describes Interesting Early Doctors in Journal of Medicine Article

A sketch of Vermont's early medical history is the subject of an article written by Dr Evman Allen, professor of surgery at the University of Vermont, which appeared under date of October 19, 1933, in the New England Journal of Medicine.

"The names of the early Vermont doctors," says Doctor Allen, "are preserved to us largely by their political connections, and little or nothing is said about their professional ability."

He cites among other colorful examples Dr Jonas Fay of Tronderogatane, Dr Reuben Jones, who, after the Westminster Massacre, rode "express and hatless to Dummerston to arouse the people", Dr Benjamin Warner, father of Col Seth Warner of the Green Mountain Boys; Dr Stephen Powers, who helped dress the wounds at the battle of Bunker Hill and always wore buckskin trousers on which he sharpened his scalpel.

Early Surgery

Many stories are told of the privations and narrow escapes of early physicians and Doctor Allen narrates one or two. In 1814, in Brownington, a marauder was shot in the leg. Dr. L. W. Adams amputated, using a bench washe for a tourniquet and a razor and a sash-saw as his only instruments.

Of these early physicians Doctor Allen says: "Although undoubtedly lacking in medical knowledge they were courageous and resourceful and their skill perhaps compared favorably with that of physicians in other states at the time."

Doctor Allen remarks facetiously that apparently early doctors in Vermont were born and not made for there were no laws limiting the practice of medicine until 1870 except that from 1829 to 1870 the right to collect taxes was regulated.

First Medical School

"Vermont's first school to improve medical education in the State was the founding of medical societies. In February, 1818 three men [illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

FREDERICK WHYTE DRESSES LARGE CROWD

(Continued from page 1)

...to democracy since ... has not been easy ... governmental systems dis... Frederick Whyte. Russia ...

...Revolution in 1917, ...government was virtually ... not even Stalin ... what the final form ... we hope that we have ... from Communism. To ... to do with political ... is an economic experi... side will undoubtedly ...

...the Communist experiment, ...group of Russians who be... Communist nation could ... all other nations were ... Today the group is very ... more important for us to ... economic society than her ... If we fear the propaganda, ... is good government and ... home.

...government is not present at ... ground is more fruitful for ... ideas. China, for instance, ... will turn toward Russia for ... nation, although at the present ... are toward the Western world."

Frederick spoke of recognition of ... government. Though he re... discuss the subject, he was quite ... to advise us not to follow Great ... example in frequent changes in ... to make up our mind clearly ... intend to do. Russia, he added, ... has given up her policy of ... and is anxious to treat with ... nations, even if they are not Com...

...form of government, too, is cer... not democratic. Non-conformity ... major sin in Italy for a good ... years. Their system of representa... however, is extraordinarily interest... Instead of representation by dis... the Fascisti rely upon representa... profession. "It remains to be ... remarked Sir Frederick, "whether ... may be the best transitional ... autocracies of the past to the ... of the future."

...turning to Germany, it is inter... remark that the Japanese nation... militaristic party which came into power in 1931 was very similar to the German Nazi party.

There are two principal reasons why Hitler gained power in Germany—first, the economic pressure exerted by the Treaty of Versailles; and, secondly, the economic depression. The part played by French opinion is important: France and England, too, continuously insisted on keeping the treaty. The great tragedy of the situation is that when German spirit was beginning to rebel, the policy of the French government was changing and in the Lausanne conference she agreed to the abolishment of reparations; that when England announced that the Four-Power-Pact was to be an instrument of treaty revision, the Nazi party was rapidly growing in power.

Sir Frederick here digressed to reassure us that, while people in Europe are talking about war, he believes it quite impossible. "Germany," he said, "can not go to war; the others will not. Even if France should undertake a so-called 'defensive war,' the other nations would not support her.

"The ease with which the Nazis disregarded the Weimar constitution and blotted out the Reichstag makes one wonder if Madame de Stael was not right when she wrote 'The love of liberty is not known to the Germans.' The German people do seem to prefer a government by discipline to a government by representation. Perhaps these ideas of liberty so widely different may help to explain the great conflict of 1914-18."

In Germany today, Sir Frederick tells us there are small groups of workers, known as "The Fives," for no more than five are in any of these "cells." Originally, the majority in these cells were social-democrats; but, today, they are 100 percent Communistic. Today they are the only real opponents of the régime; they promise to be its only real successors tomorrow.

Perhaps these nations are going through a preparative phase. Italy certainly is; so is Russia; about Germany we are not so positive. But it is very possible that all these nations are working toward a new type of government, a new type, perhaps, of democracy.

"Is there not a transformation in the modern world? Will future historians term this a revolutionary era? Conservative critics of democratic institutions reply, 'Yes.' Adaptations to the needs of the time, to a mechanistic age, are necessary; there has been a change of attitude toward the family—compare China and America.

"But when we look at the outside world and within our own governmental systems, we can find no satisfactory alternative for democracy. It may change in form; perhaps we have gone too far with our principles and will have to retrace our steps somewhat. But we believe that democracy will prove herself the lasting type of government.

OMICRON NU OFFERS CUP AS FROSH PRIZE

Omicron Nu, the [illegible] honoraries society, is offering a silver cup to the freshman taking the Home Economics course, who makes the best progress in her freshman year in scholastic standing, socially, and all-around activities.

There will be a meeting of Omicron Nu at Miss Terrill's this afternoon at four-thirty. The members are working on campus problems in health and nutrition.

H. E. DEPARTMENT GIVES MORRILL HALL SUPPER

Fifty Vermont co-eds attend a supper in the foods laboratory in Morrill Hall Wednesday night, October 28. The fifty girls are for the first time preparing their own meals wherever they are rooming, [illegible] the supervision of the Health Committee, the home economics department and Dean Bess supper together. Six different menus were prepared and served [illegible] groups of the girls.

Miss Blundell spoke on "What Are the Essentials of Good Nutrition" after supper. She gave them several helpful suggestions for the preparation of their own meals. Miss Cummings and Miss Liston, head of Rand House, were guests at the meeting. The students were reported as saying that they "had a delicious supper and a very pleasant and helpful evening."

The head of the home economics department, Miss Terrill has in mind other possible ways of help for this group of girls in which she is greatly interested.

ALPHA ZETA

Alpha Zeta, the honorary agricultural society, will have a meeting once a month during the year. Alpha Zeta supports the Aggie Club in its activities.

PHILAGON MEETS TODAY

[illegible] who were unable to at[illegible] the Philagon meeting last Friday [illegible] are urged to be present today at 4:30 in addition to the regular business meeting, Ruth Barron '35 [illegible] the freshmen, men and women, whose [illegible] will be held on approximately two weeks. There will [illegible] a debate on the timely subject of smoking with Muriel Mayer '38 on [illegible].

The news notes include the fact that three cuts from meetings of this society and the member will be automatically [illegible].

BURLINGTON CANDIDATES WIN IN FROSH ELECTION

Webster, Carr, Leary, Noonan Voted Into Office at Meeting in Science Hall

Burlington's win freshmen predominated as winning candidates in yesterday afternoon's election conducted by Boulder Society in the Williams Science Hall. Jonathan Webster was elected president of the class of 1937, while Sally Carr won out as vice-president. Helen Leary and William Noonan were chosen secretary and treasurer respectively.

Webster, brother of the famous Dave, is a Delta Psi pledge. Nooman is a Sigma Phi neophyte. The election was characterized by the usual large number of candidates and the inevitable general confusion.

PLEDGES ANNOUNCED

Three new pledges from the freshman class have been announced by the various fraternities since the regular rushing season.

Sigma Delta announces the pledging of H. E. Page '37 of Groton.

S A E has pledged R. F. Manley '37.

Delta Psi fraternity announces R. Buttles '37 of Burlington.

Sigma Delta announces the pledging of A. T. Reed of Chatham, N. J.

R. O. T. C. INSTRUCTOR SAVES CONVICT'S LIFE

By L. H. '37

[illegible] of having a miserable [illegible] ... [illegible] Dave Dyer looks ... [illegible] plans at military science is ... a free ride. The R. O. T. C. court-martial convicted Lem and sentenced him ... two years in the guard house, but the ... [illegible] stepped in and interrupted the proceedings, he abolished the court and ... [illegible].

... [illegible] and the witnesses are now members in Company "I" of the 41st Doughboys, recently of parts unknown, ... [illegible] Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont. From the ranks of infantry ... the recruits have turned to the ... [illegible] demonstration.

This change in assignment has lowered the status of a few of the mighty. From being an all-powerful "law member" Donald Crawford has been reduced in rank to Private C. I. Dwyer '34, Judge Advocate C. H. Dewey '34 is now only a first class private and has been designated company cook in the mess shack. A. C. Pond '34 was a first sergeant, but now he is just a buck private, and it wouldn't surprise the department to see his name appear soon on the company record for having gotten into mischief. F. H. Spear '34 was Policeman Keon of Philadelphia in the trial, but he has since turned the arms and is now private quants. J. J. Connolly, Jr. '35 was an awesome captain sitting on the court-martial bench, but he too has fallen and has become a mess sergeant in the new outfit. (Look out, Connolly, if your beans aren't good, you'll lose your job!) For three weeks the senior military class will be in charge of Company "I," and will keep all the necessary records, to the best of its ability.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Alpha Xi Delta announces the pledging of Mary Fleming '36 of West Rutland, on Wednesday, October 28.

Eleanor Ward '31, Mildred Akins '32, and Frances Thomas '33 were recent visitors in the city.

It is blessed to give and always will be, but it is more blessed to use intelligence in reducing the necessity of giving.—Charles A. Beard

What you want in your pipe

a sensible package 10 cents

. . . is tobacco that's made to smoke in a pipe. This means the right kind of leaf tobacco—the kind that grows for pipes.

It means that it's made right . . . and old man Wellman, who taught us how to make Granger, knew how. It means that it's cut right.

Just pack Granger good and tight in your pipe and strike a match. Folks seem to like it.

Granger Rough Cut

—the tobacco that's MADE FOR PIPES

© 1933, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

SPORTS NEWS

VERMONT FROSH DRILL FOR CONFERENCE TITLE GAME AGAINST MIDD. '37

Coach Wmenet's Charges Drilled Intensively During Week of Bad Weather

PROF DYKHUIZEN ADVISES

Professor Dykhuizen gave a talk to

The words to the freshman class were

November 1

FROSH CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM MEETS WATERBURY HIGH TEAM TOMORROW

Squad Is Large and Has Several Good Men Who Have a Good Chance of Winning

UNIVERSITY MILLINERY CREATIONS IN REVIEW

(Continued from page 1)

fancy the full brimmed felt hat—some style and some who live in the Dells midst toward the wider brims and then those who hail from a couple of decades model hats are the campus giglos who figure that they are not quite up to the minute in style if they haven't as far down as the rims will go without becoming distorted, and pinch the top together till it forms quite a crease.

It actually reminds us of the typical

Snow-Covered Field Hinders Cats in Preparation for N. H.

Tough Opponents to Be Met by Vermont Eleven—Wildcats Have Yet to Be Defeated by Teams in Their Own Class

CATAMOUNT HARRIERS TO RUN CONNECTICUT STATE AGGIES TOMORROW

Team With Suitor, Woodruff, Harwood, Levine and White Expects to Win

The harriers, victorious with one win and one close contest, are getting out for the hardest assignment, when tackle the Connecticut Aggie team at Storrs with their unbeaten record. Last year the Cats were unable to win the Storrs bunch, but on their home course at Storrs they lost by a close margin.

The Connecticut team has lost the services of Howland their last year's star and has developed next best in the person of Gutchess. Black and three members of last year's frosh team are the best squad the state has ever had. Coach Hartwell, in the same old reliable hard work man he was last year, has another season expectations and is considered one top man and is the smoothest runner on the squad. He should go places from here on. Johnny Woodruff says he all he can when the squad tries to follow him around the course they figure he is only joking. An attack of grippe kept him out of the first meets but he is raring to go now. Manny Levine, the winner against Springfield is not to be disregarded. For this, his first year at cross-country, he has developed a distance stride, but he runs easily and always has a good sprint left. Dusty White is in better shape than ever before but is far from a topnotcher yet. He is a dangerous man in any race and will hand his say

Saturday.

The men making the trip are Capt.

Cliff Harwood, Doug Sutter, Dusty

White, Liberty Woodruff, Carl Rogers,

Phil Andress and Wes Tarbell. The team leaves early today and will stop tonight at Willimantic. The race tomorrow run at two-thirty is part of a "Dad's

Day" program at Storrs.

Last Monday in spite of the cold the team ran a time trial over the freshman course. Doug Sutter led the men in, in good time considering the day, Manny

Levine was second Johnny Woodruff third, Dusty White fourth, Carl Rogers

fifth, Wes Tarbell sixth, Phil Andress seventh and Charlie Thibault eighth.

The Connecticut team shut out Weslevan by a perfect score 15-40.

HAVE USUALLY SPELLED DEFEAT FOR VERMONT

Returning from the disastrous tr

Boston, the Catamounts have been tling the elements all week in an at to prepare for the tough game wi

New Hampshire Wildcats tomorrow.

The squad, with the exception o

Delfausse, stellar wingman who susta a leg injury in the B. U. encounter, perfect shape. Capt. Jack Morga expected to be available for duty

Coach Burke decides to give his k little more rest. Denhoff, who plac hard up game against the Terriers, proved a capable substitute. Eddie will be out of the game for at least weeks more. One of the big p which faces Coach Burke is finding a substitute for Freddie Lanahan. Lanaha been the spark plug of the offense and a power on the defense as well as the leader of the team. His work has be to suffer however, for after standing in the first part of the Terrier game became tired and suffered a complete down. He must be rested if he is to relied on for the coming contest games.

New Hampshire, as usual, will pres

a huge team who have yet to be defeated in their own class. The last time fronted Vermont, in 1931, they compl swamped the Cats 54-0. Their power is considerable and their sho against major opponents this year they will have a team every bit as if not better than last year. The standing man on the team is Bob Ha who is a triple threat back. He is of the best kickers in the eastern colleges and can pass and run equall effectively. Coach Cowell, veteran W cat coach showed he fears the lat power of the Catamounts by presen several new plays to his squad this w

The Vermont team will line up

Negus and Rollie Delfausse on flanks. Morgan or Denhoff and Co

the tackles: Paul and McGowan g with Bowers at the pivot. Sowka, L han, Rapuano and Giardi are expe to start in the backfield but the quartet of Saba, Beckley, Jezucawicz and Ramon will be ready for instant serv

THREE PROGRAMS MARK EDUCATION WEEK

DOCTOR ALLEN WRITES OF EARLY MEDICAL DAYS

SONATA RECITAL TO BE HELD NEXT WEDNESDAY

here and now. Look how many children are awarded to a preacher stand it. Everything is decided by a man they call the vampire

FORTY WOMEN STUDENTS ENTERTAINED WEDNESDAY

Home Economics Students Visit Miss Terrill's House, Listen to Introductory Speeches

Miss Terrill and Miss Blondell entertained forty women students at supp

Wednesday, October 25. Following th serving of supper, Miss Blondell spoke t

the girls about menus and planned m keting. Those girls present at Miss Te rill's home Wednesday night report that they received much valuable advice, f which they are extremely grateful.

The Health Council wishes to thank

Miss Terrill and Miss Blondell and is extremely grateful for the interest a effort shown by them.

To those girls who need and de advice upon meal planning, the membe of the home economics faculty extend a invitation to consult them at any t upon the subject.

PI GAMMA MU

"Pi Gamma Mu," said C. B. Eaton '34 president, "is to cooperate this year w

the Public Affairs Club that is being o ganized at present. Aside from that shall have no meetings." Pi Gamma Mu is the honorary social science society

"ARIEL" PROOFS READY

Ariel proofs can be secured, with a two-dollar deposit, at the Univer sity Store, Thursday or Friday be tween 10 and 4 o'clock, or Saturday between 10 and 12

Some ancient by-laws dug up at Harvard reveal that freshmen may not wear hats in the college yard unless it is raining or snowing, or they are on horseback, or have both hands full.

This sure would be a bad thing at Watershops University where it is said that the freshmen have their hands full all of the time.

PLEASE LEARN!

Vermont
Vermont
Rah! Rah! Rah!
Rah! Rah! Rah!
Rah! Rah! Rah!
Vermont
Team, Team, Team

AGGIE CLUB TO MEET TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 14

The next meeting of the Aggie Club will be on Tuesday, November 14. A report of the work of the judging team which went to the Eastern States Exposition will be given by A. M. Webster

'34. There will also be a report on the latest developments in agriculture and one on "Agriculture in the Mid-west" given by V. L. Weiser, PG. The main speaker, who will probably be a member of the faculty, has not yet been asked.

Impromptu speeches by different members will also be a feature of the afternoon and last, but not least, refreshments will be served.

NOTICE

There will be an important meeting of the Gold Key society tonight at 7.00 p.m. at the Sigma Nu Lodge.

WILLARD CONNOR,
President.

All students wishing to scrub properties and stage for the Group Plays kindly get in immediate touch with David Jenks, stage manager. Phone 1025-J.

THE UNIVERSITY MILLINERY CREATIONS IN REVIEW

(Continued from page 1)

And the Honorary Hats advance to the highest. There are supposed to be eighteen Gold Key hats on the campus belonging to sophomore a little modified and a more correct name, the Key and we find those dignified Boulder caps, worn almost every day by each of shaped exactly like the Key and Serpent caps except for the insignia and similar to the Key and Serpent cap.

However, the Boulder cap's insignia embroidered replica of the boulder.

As yet we have seen no men's hats, caps or any headgear whatsoever other than that which has been mentioned

At Last the Co-ed Idea

the latest feminine skull wear. It would take much too much valuable time and space to innumerate all the various styles and types of to the women's honorary societies, so we can't start there.

percent of women do and do not wear hats, but by watching a number of co-eds passing by a certain point in

(Continued on page 6)

McGregor Leather Jackets

Made of the Finest Hides and Tailored as a Leather Jacket should be

$10 TO $12.50

CROSBY SQUARE SHOES
$5 AND $6

C'MON DOWN SATURDAY AND GET THE FOOTBALL SCORES

HAYES & CARNEY, INC.

"Where Vermont Men Meet"

FRESHMEN HAVE EEN PRECEDED HERE BY FAMILY RELATIVES

en of That Number Have mont-attending Relatives Who Are Still in the University

[illegible] the class of [illegible] students [illegible] University or to [illegible] In fact 150 [illegible] names now appear [illegible] attending rela- [illegible] college portals. [illegible] with students [illegible] ent, and go on [illegible] t part is as far [illegible] plan to be filled in the [illegible] registry card marked [illegible] none." The majority [illegible] can boast of but [illegible] related to them by [illegible] tour, and one [illegible] ing line" numbers no [illegible] near relations as [illegible] gentleman of the [illegible] ceed preceded through [illegible] entering by a father [illegible] three brothers and one [illegible] [illegible] and their relatives (in [illegible] follows.

[illegible] (uncle)
[illegible] Barker (cousin)
[illegible] (uncle).
[illegible] Bartlett (sister)
[illegible] Bartlett (brother).
[illegible] Thomson, Samuel [illegible]
[illegible] Beach (sister),
[illegible] Belcher (sister).
[illegible] (cousin)
[illegible] Bickford.
[illegible] Blodgett (cousin),
[illegible] A. McKindsey.
[illegible] Bloomberg (sister).
[illegible] (cousin), Glen-
[illegible] Goddard (cousin).
[illegible] (uncle)
[illegible] Perret (sister),
[illegible] Bristol (brother) Vt.
[illegible] Taylor (cousin), Ralph
[illegible] Burroughs (sister),
[illegible] W. H. Grinnell
[illegible] Burrows (father),
[illegible] uncle) G. H. Burrows,
[illegible] Jessup Jr (brother).
[illegible] Buttles, J. S. Buttles
[illegible] D. Burton (father).
[illegible] K. F. Caldwell (brother).
[illegible] (sister).
[illegible] H. A. Collins
[illegible] (brother-in-law)
[illegible] Conway (brother).
[illegible] Convery (sister); K.
[illegible] Straight (uncle). Dr.
[illegible] Dean (cousin)
[illegible] Deshaw (brother)
[illegible] Donahue (uncle),
[illegible] Dan Johnson (cousin),
[illegible] Douglas (sister).
[illegible] Greaves (aunt) [illegible] Eno (father), Mrs.
[illegible] Hugh Sinclair (cousin).
[illegible] Farmer (father).
[illegible] (cousin).
[illegible] (cousin).
[illegible] W. W. Ferrin (father).
[illegible] Carter
[illegible] Jean Galbraith (cousin).
[illegible] Gallup (father),
[illegible] cousin), Winifred Randall
[illegible] (brother).
[illegible] F. Gale (mother).
[illegible] G. Forte (sister).
[illegible] London (uncle), D. C.
[illegible] (cousin).
[illegible] Collyer (uncle), Dr.
[illegible] Mueller (cousin), Cleone
[illegible] Livingston (uncle).
[illegible] Harvey (cousin).
[illegible] Hammond (sister).
[illegible] Heininger (uncle), [illegible] uncle), Helen Heininger

DINING ROOMS
At The Willard
Opening Monday
Inquire at [illegible] Loomis Street
$3.50 A WEEK

UNIVERSITY GROUP OF METHODIST CHURCH MEETS

[illegible] University group of the Methodist church met [illegible] with a short devotional program.

The plan of the meetings is to provide a speaker on a different profession each week. Two weeks ago M. D. Peters, college secretary of the Y. M. C. A. spoke on that as a life work. Last Sunday night Dr. C. A. Nowell, assistant professor of anatomy at the Medical college spoke on the profession of medicine. Next week a speaker will be a prominent high school teacher who will talk on the profession.

The purpose of the plan is to help those who are still undecided about their life work. Emphasis is placed on the human service in the various professions and opportunity to ask questions is provided in a general discussion. Regular meets will be held [illegible] E. A. Hess, Jr.; [illegible] Doris Herrick; H. S. Herrick (father), Phyllis Wanzer.

Helene Hughes; A. [illegible] law).
C. E. Hoag; Hilda Hoag (sister), J. Bixby (cousin), [illegible]
Barbara Howd; M. Howd (brother).
Abbie Howe; C. J. Howe (brother).
H. H. Hunt; Dr. Frank Hunt (uncle).
W. I. Inks; [illegible] Jenks (brother), David Jenks (brother), Marjorie Jenks (sister).
H. L. Johnson; K. W. Johnson (uncle)
R. F. Kennedy; [illegible]
Reba Kinsley; [illegible] Levin (sister), Moine Levin (sister), Sophie Levin (sister) Julius Levin (brother)
A. F. Lacroix; H. [illegible]
R. P. Lawton; E. H. Lawton (father).
Helen Leary; Esther Leary (sister).
B. R. Levin; [illegible]
F. L. Ligouri; Dr. P. C. Ligouri (father).
F. E. Little; Phillip Hooker (uncle).
Margaret Lockwood; A. N. Lockwood (father)
Mary McAuliffe; Dr. D. A. Shea (uncle), Dr. R. F. Corley (cousin)
C. A. McCuin; R. E. McCuin (brother)
A. S. McDonough; J. P. McDonough, Marjorie MacDonough, Marion MacDonough
Emily McIver; Maud Davis (cousin), F. McIver (brother).
Elsie McKee; G. R. McKee (uncle).
Eleanore M. Mahon; [illegible]
L. B. Maguer; Helen Maguer, Mary Maguer, Evelyn Maguer, W. b. Maguer.
W. B. Maguer; Helen Maguer, Mary Maguer, Evelyn Maguer, L. B. Maguer.
Lona Main; Orabelle Main (sister).
Sylvia Margulis; Louis Lisman (cousin), Irving Lisman (cousin), W. Berenson (cousin).
Gertrude Martin; Howard Martin (brother), Roger Martin (brother), Helen Martin (sister).
P. R. Marvin; H. R. Marvin (father), L. R. Marvin (brother).
L. P. Massucco; F. J. Massucco (brother).
Ruth Maurice; W. C. Maurice (father).
G. N. Millett; J. J. Millett (brother).
Marion Moody; Ruth Moody (sister), Ines Moody (aunt).
Clarabelle Moyer; Edythe Perry (aunt)
B. W. Mullen; Mildred Mullen (sister).
I. G. Murphy; Constance Canning (cousin).
F. H. Neagle; F. McFarland (cousin).
G. Nekos; A. Scutakes.
H. P. Niles; W. Niles (uncle).
H. A. Noyes, Jr.; H. A. Noyes (father), Natalie Noyes (sister).
P. W. Noyes; C. E. Noyes (father), Mrs. C. E. Noyes (mother), Virginia Noyes (sister).
W. F. O'Neil; A. S. Bloomer (uncle); S. J. O'Neil (uncle)
D. S. Parker; C. J. Parker (father).
Clara Pearl; Mary Pearl (sister).
Virginia Pelsue; Lucille Pelsue (cousin), Ivor Pelsue (brother), Neil Pelsue (cousin).
H. W. Pierce; R. R. Pierce.
Vernice Piette, Dr. L. N. Piette.
J. H. Press; H. N. Press (cousin).
Dorothy Purinton; W. Heaton (cousin) Velma Purinton (cousin).
B. S. Rawson; Rev. W. Burnett (uncle).
A. T. Reed; [illegible] Jefford (grandfather), I. E. Reed (uncle)
B. C. Reilly; K. L. [illegible] (uncle)
E. C. Rice; R. Briggs (uncle), D. Rice (brother).
E. R. Ricker; Leslie Rowe, Dean Rowe, Dascomb Rowe, Edward Rowe, Harry Rowe, Milton Ricker (all cousins).
G. W. Rist; G. E. Rist (father).
I. E. Robertson; Eleanor Wood (cousin).
Dantina Rosa; Alba Rosa (sister).
Oreste Rosa; Alba Rosa (cousin).
A. H. Ross; Mr. Ross (father), Mrs. Ross (mother).
C. R. Rust; Dr. E. A. Rust (father), J. A. Rust (brother).
R. B. Ryder; D. R. Ryder (father).
M. Saiger; S. Saiger (cousin).
Estelle Samuelson; M. D. Samuelson (cousin).
Ruthela Sanborn; H. C. Sanborn (father)
Florence Schoff; A. E. Schoff (father), Mrs. A. E. Schoff (mother), H. A. Schoff (brother).
H. A. Schoff; A. E. Schoff (father), Mrs. A. E. Schoff (mother), Florence Schoff (sister).
Laura Sherman; Dr. G. Dickenson.
W. F. Shuttleworth; Fayette Hubbell (cousin).
G. E. Somers; B. A. Somers (brother).
D. C. Stafford; J. Dodds (cousin).
D. D. Sternberg; Ruth Votey (mother), Edward Tracey (cousin), Anna Tracey (cousin), Dorothy Votey (aunt) Florence Votey (aunt), Janet Dodds (cousin), Louise Dodds (cousin), Russel Dodds (cousin), Doris Dodds (cousin), Constance Votey (aunt), J. W. Votey (grandfather)
H. R. Swift; [illegible] father)
Helen Taylor; Barbara Taylor (sister)
N. L. Thibault; A. Fremeau.
H. R. Tomassetti; M. Tomassetti (brother)
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

PUBLIC AFFAIRS CLUB TO ORGANIZE TONIGHT

CAMPUS HEADGEAR

STUDENT SENATE NOTICE

There will be a meeting of Student Senate next Tuesday evening, [illegible] in the Upper Mo Lounge. All the following were placed on [illegible]

[illegible] H. W. W. Brown '34
[illegible] '34 J. J. Bonanno '34 J. D.
Dodgson '34 D. J. Lyman '34 W. Cotton
'34 J. J. Dellacorte '34 G. H. Brown
'35, G. H. Cook '35, M. A.
Peck '35, K. J. Wilson '35 and E. Mc-Kinney '36.

T. J. COGSWELL '34,
President.

Vermont Sororities

PI BETA PHI

The Vermont [illegible] chapter was established at the University [illegible] years in 1898.

The HEART of a LUCKY STRIKE

The Cream of the Crop

The finest tobaccos —only the center leaves

The very heart of Lucky Strike's fine quality is choice tobaccos—ripened by warm sunshine, rich soils and gentle rains. Right now, up to $100,000,000 worth of fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos, the Cream of the Crop, are aging and mellowing for the makers of Lucky Strikes. For only a special selection of choice tobaccos is used in making your Luckies so round, so firm and fully packed—free from loose ends. The reason why Luckies are always the same in mildness, smoothness, in delicious taste.

ALWAYS the finest tobaccos
ALWAYS the finest workmanship
ALWAYS Luckies please!

"it's toasted"
FOR THROAT PROTECTION—FOR BETTER TASTE

The Vermont Cynic

BURLINGTON, VERMONT, OCTOBER 31, 1933 — NUMBER 13

ee Group Plays o Be Presented In Gym Thursday Night

ge From Museum Audi- um to Gym, It Is Believed, ill Facilitate Presentation plays will be presented ...sium Thursday evening, ... the Group Players, ac- ...ment issued by S. Pierce ... Wig and Buskin. ...direction of members of ... and Masque and Sandal, ... plays of quite outstanding ... prepared. This is in ac- ...h a custom inaugurated two ... "Hedda Gabler" was pre- ...ject of these productions ... the official college three- ... to give inexperienced actors ... to show their abilities. ... to Stage Manager D. W. ... the gymnasium, which has a ... ready for use, offers numerous ... over the Fleming Museum. ... has the hall greater capacity, ... stage itself is larger, having ... greater depth, the lighting which ... installed is much better than ... arranged at the Museum, and the ... arrangement allows a back stage ... and considerably improved ... facilities. While accoustics may ... perfect the directors feel that by ... seats well forward this deficiency ... overcome to a great extent. The ... will be much easier and ... better, so that some small sacri- ... merited.

YERS TO GIVE PARTS WN CHARACTERIZATION

... three plays to be presented are of ... types, written by authors ... different nationalities and highly ... of present-day dramatic ... in their respective countries. ... as has been practicable the direc- ... encouraged originality of inter- ..., so the results will show to an ... extent the relative abilities of the ...

... first play, a typical Russian ... is under the direction of Alice ... '34 and S. Pierce '34. "Subtle ... darkly sparkling in its mood of ..." it offers unlimited opportunity ... player who really appreciates its ... atmosphere. In the cast are ... Maurice '37, A. Dean '37, C. J. ... '34, P. W. Lawson '36, A. S. Levin ... J. Levin '36, E. Meservey '37, ... '37, and C. Maxfield '36.

... English farce "characterized by ... delightful English straight-face ..." will be the second play on the ... The cast of this comedy, which ... R. S. Wright '35, includes ... M. Ashliffe '37, S. Belcher '37, ... '36.

... last play is a German comedy di- ... Mary Casey '35, and Rosemary ... Marion Herberg '36, Thelma ... '35, Elizabeth Haig '36, Ellen ... Geraldine Kipp '37, A. A. Mor- ... Frances Rowe '36, Jane Par- ... and C. A. Langer '37, make up ... this play.

HIRD ANNUAL SCABBARD AND BLADE DAY IS HELD THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26

... formation of R. O. T. C. Can- ... Reserve Commissions" was ... address given before the ... Scabbard and Blade by Capt. ... night at the Owl house, ... October 26. The meet- ... in commemoration of the ... holiday anniversary of ... Revolt and was part of a ... of Scabbard and ... third annual such event. ... the military department ... present at the meeting were ... and Second Lieut. G. C. ... Vermont chapter of Scab- ... was also present. After ... meeting, refreshments were ...

Philagon meeting as usual Friday, November 3 at 4.00 p.m. in the Children's Room of the Museum. Punctuality is necessary. New members, both upperclassmen and freshmen, will be required at this time to give their three-minute prepared speech.

E. FARMAN, President.

CHARLOTTE DE VOLT, who will play at tonight's recital

RECITAL OF VIOLIN AND PIANO TO BE TONIGHT

The programme of the Sonata recital by Charlotte de Volt, violinist, and Howard Gordon Bennett, pianist, to be given in the Fleming Museum Auditorium, Wednesday, November 1 at eight o'clock will be as follows:

Sonata in F Major, Op. 24—Beethoven
- Allegro
- Adagio molto espressivo
- Scherzo. Allegro molto
- Rondo. Allegro ma non troppo

Sonata in A Minor, Op. 13—Faure
- Allegro molto
- Andante
- Allegro vivo
- Allegro quasi presto

Sonata in G Minor, Op. 13—Grieg
- Lento doloroso. Allegro vivace
- Allegretto tranquillo
- Allegro animato

This concert is free and open to the public.

MORTAR BOARD DANCE THIS SATURDAY NIGHT

Mortar Board, the senior women's honorary society, will sponsor its annual fall dance Saturday evening, November 4. Sid Carsley's orchestra will furnish the syncopation from eight-thirty to twelve. The chaperones will include Prof. and Mrs. Leon W. Dean and another professor not yet chosen. The co-eds may buy the tickets which are $1.00 from any of the Mortar Board girls or from a member of the committee, which includes Daisy Putnam '34, Grace Harris '34 and Catherine Durick '34.

Mortar Board gives two dances a year, one in the fall and one in the spring. It is the custom for women to invite men to these dances. In the past the co-eds have responded in large numbers and the committee expects as large a crowd in attendance this year.

BATTLE OF ORCHESTRAS IS STAGED AT DANCE

Interfraternity Council Sponsors Dance Saturday, Those Present Reap Benefit of Two Orchestras

Last Saturday night another dance undulated its rhythmic way to the limbo of many another Vermont dance. Gone, and long forgotten. This was the dance sponsored by Interfraternity Council, which replaced the customary Gold Key dance.

An unusual feature of this innovation was the use of two orchestras throughout the evening—Sid Carsley's and Bob Minotti's. Black and white, differently treated, were the dominating colors of the costumes of both. There was no intermission. The two orchestras played alternately throughout the evening from eight until twelve p.m.

An unusual feature of the evening was a peculiar apparition which wandered about in a more or less ghostly fashion, if one can believe the tales of certain people in attendance upon the dance.

Chaperones were Prof. and Mrs. P. H. Ewert. The dance was under the direction of R. M. Bent '35 and K. D. Spaulding '34.

Public Affairs Club Elects Eaton President at Meeting Last Friday

Club to Hold Meetings Every Three Weeks, With Open Discussion Among Members

SPECIAL MEETINGS MAY BE CALLED ON OCCASION

C. B. Eaton '34 has been elected the first president of the newly formed Public Affairs Club which held its first meeting Friday night October 27, in North College. Helen Jenkins '34 was elected vice-president, Margaret Levarn '35, secretary and W. Cohen '34, treasurer. Meetings of the club are to be held every three weeks with special meetings subject to call in the case of an opportune subject which may be discussed. The question of dues was deferred until the next meeting.

Mr. Stimson, the faculty advisor for the Political Science Department, gave a brief explanation of the organization and its purpose. The purpose expressed is that of providing a forum in which the students themselves may study and discuss present day problems.

A. C. Pond '34 was in charge of the program for the evening. Two ten minute talks were presented by student speakers. G. H. Burrows '34 and A. C. Pond '34 spoke respectively on "Germany and Disarmament" and "The Revolutionary Element in Germany." Both talks were highly informative and very interesting.

The Public Affairs Club is the successor to the old International Relations Club, retaining, however, an International Relations Committee. The club will be reorganized each year by an advisory council consisting of one representative from each of the Departments of History, Political Science, and Economics. Early in the year they will plan for the first meeting and appoint a nominating committee of three and a three-man temporary program committee.

Anyone interested in the affairs and problems of our present-day civilization is invited to attend.

FALL PLAY TRYOUTS TO BE FRIDAY AND MONDAY

"Torchbearers" Is the Play, With a Cast of Six Men and Six Women

Tryouts for the annual fall play, which were announced in a previous issue of the CYNIC as scheduled for the first and second of November, will occur on Friday, November 3, and Monday, November 6, in Room 3, North College, at four o'clock. Anyone may try out, and it is hoped that there will be a large number of aspirants. The judges will probably include Professor Myrick, Professor Tupper and Professor Metcalf.

"Torchbearers" is the play to be presented, it is announced by the members of Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal. Other plays which were considered were "Rollo's Wild Oats," "The Late Christopher Bean," "Garvey's Inn," and "Merton of the Movies." Most of these are humorous or farcical in nature, as is the play chosen. "Torchbearers" is an English comedy. The cast is made up of six men and six women.

Immediately after the cast has been chosen, rehearsals will start, for there will probably be only about a month in which to prepare for presentation. There is as yet no coach. Last year Mrs. C. I. Taggart coached the major dramatic production which were put on by the students. "To the Ladies" and "March Hares" were given under her tutelage. It is possible that her services may again be at the disposal of the college players.

The fall play is one of the more important dramatic productions at Vermont. Anyone who has tried out, and anyone who has not and would like to prove his ability in histrionics should come to the tryouts Friday and Monday and demonstrate his ability to act to the judges. The members of Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal wish a large representation of the college population to choose from, and they remind those who may have tried before and failed to obtain a part that in some cases it is not acting ability alone but also fitness for the particular part, that determines the choice of the judges.

While the wicked flee when no man pursueth, they make much better time if some one is after them.—Doctor Parkhurst.

Vermont Team Upsets Dope to Defeat New Hampshire

Catamounts Exhibit Firm Defensive Game to the Tune of 13-0 in Vermont's Favor

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB TO MEET NOV. 9

Andrée Emery of Bennington College May Speak at the Meeting

The next Home Economics Club meeting will be held Thursday evening, November 9 at the Home Management House, and it is hoped that Andree Emery (Mrs. Steven), a faculty member of Bennington College, will speak. If she is not available at this time, Ruth Johnstone '34 will give a report of her attendance the past summer at the Omicron Mu convention, the honorary Home Economics society's Convention held in Milwaukee, Wis.

Miss Emery who teaches Social Studies in the Bennington College received her A.B. degree in Kolozsvey, Hungary in 1923. She won a graduate scholarship at the University of Budapest for 1927-30, and also won a graduate foreign fellowship at Bryn Mawr College, 1930-31, where she received her Master's degree. She has been a research fellow in the Brookings Institution, Washington, D. C., and was the assistant, for a time, to the capital director of the first experimental year of the social service school of Budapest. She has served as the head of the Industrial Research Department of the Hungarian Red Cross in Budapest, and was assistant in the Department of Economics in the University of Budapest. She has also taught economics and sociology in the graduate school of Fordham University, 1932-33.

A meeting of the Home Economics Club was held Friday, October 20, at the Home Management House. This was a business meeting to outline the year's program.

Membership in the club depends upon the individual Home Economics student, that is, she must show an active interest in the club, attend two consecutive meetings, and pay the dues of twenty-five cents a semester. If a member cannot attend a meeting she must be excused by the president, otherwise it will count as a cut. Each member is allowed two cuts after attending two consecutive meetings.

Each member, this semester, will help her class to carry out whatever project has been decided upon. The chairmen elected for each class are: Marjorie Jones '37, Esther Sinclair '36, Winifred Perry '35, Hilda Davis '34 and Janet Dodds '34.

It has been rumored that the seniors are planning to give a public Sunday night supper November 5. There will be a meeting a month, either the second or the third Thursday. Edna Leach has been appointed press agent for the club and will put notices in the CYNIC each month. A similar notice will be on the Home Economics Club bulletin board in Morrill Hall. Will all members please pay dues before November 9.

PEP RALLY HELD AT MASS MEETING SAT.

A pep rally in preparation for the New Hampshire game was the chief feature of the mass meeting Saturday morning. Margaret Kane '35 was in charge of the meeting as a representative of Women's Student Union. According to the usual practice at such gatherings there were cheer and songs. G. W. Flynn '35 led several new cheers among the old favorites, assisted by H. O. Sales '37. Pierce '34 led in singing.

Several announcements were made during the meeting. Alta Rock '35 spoke of the new French Club which has just been formed, and asked that more people come out for it. Anyone who is interested in speaking French may become a member of the French Club. Those who wish to try out for membership in Bluestockings were asked by Alice Hoyt '34 the president, to hand in as soon as possible their contributions. These should all be in before Thanksgiving recess.

FRESHMEN

You are required to give your three-minute prepared speech to prove your eligibility for Philagon this Friday, November 3, at 4.00 p.m. in the Children's Room at the Museum. E. FARMAN, President.

TWO NOVICES PROVE THEIR METTLE IN PLAY

[illegible] eleven from New Hampshire State last Saturday at Centennial Field to win 13-0. The Green and Gold, showing from the opening whistle, an offensive spirit heretofore hidden, pushed everything before it and kept the Wildcats on the defensive the greater part of the game.

The Vermont team ruled a slight favorite and not given an outside chance to win after the opening kick-off turned the Wildcats gradually back toward their own goal line. Near the end of the quarter New Hampshire kicked out to Vermont's own goal line and Werner recovering the ball, carried it back to the 30-yard line. At this point Saba and Rapuano were rushed in to take the places of the tiring Sowka and Buckley. On a beautiful off-tackle play, Eddie Saba—coming his specialty, took the oval and marauded made his way through five New Hampshire players to score standing up. Red Cook pressed into service kicked the goal with apparently little effort.

In the third quarter Vermont threatened again to score when Saba intercepted a pass on his own 48 yard line and carried it to the 18. There, however, the Cats lost the ball on downs. In the middle of the last quarter, New Hampshire had the ball on the 50-yard line. They attempted a pass which was intercepted by George Rapuano who then ran 55 yards, behind perfect interference, for the second score of the game. The try for the point failed.

It is difficult to attempt to pick out any outstanding one feature of the game for there are several that should be commended. Negus' defensive play, Sowka's kicking, Werner's line bucking, Red Cook's defensive play, Lanahan's runbacks and Saba's off tackle slants and kicking must all come in for notice.

Negus, starting his first varsity game, under the strain of "coming through," turned in the finest exhibition of defensive end play seen on Centennial Field in some time. He easily made a third of the team's tackles, oftentimes diving over the interference to nail the ball carrier. He frequently stopped the punt receiver before he moved. On the basis of this performance, Coach Burke certainly has some worries in store now on how to get both Joe Delfausse and Negus into the lineup.

(Continued on page 4)

RHODES CANDIDATES MUST APPLY BEFORE NOV. 18 OF THIS YEAR

Elections to Be Held in Each State on January 2 and 4, 1934

Announcement has been made that the final date for the filing of applications for Rhodes scholarships this year will be November 18 approximately one month later than in previous years. These scholarships established in 1901 by the will of the statesman and owner of extensive diamond mines in South Africa carry an annual stipend of four hundred pounds sterling, and are awarded on a strictly competitive basis to thirty-two [illegible] students in the United States and to equal number of [illegible] parts of the British Empire. By the terms of the will there shall be preserved as the basis of selection, not attainment and promise, interest and participation in outdoor activities, not necessarily athletics, and [illegible] moral character and capacity for leadership. The holders of scholarships are permitted to study for two years at Oxford University, England, and to travel widely during the long vacations with the prospect of renewing the scholarship for a third year of study at Oxford or elsewhere in Europe, if sufficient promise is shown and a definite program of further work is presented.

Any male male citizen of the United States between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five and unmarried is eligible to apply. Candidates must have completed at least two years of college work, and have received the endorsement of the

(Continued on page 6)

THE VERMONT CYNIC

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

NEWS EDITORS

FEATURE EDITORS

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

COLUMNIST

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

Arnold Rose '34

REPORTERS

FACULTY ADVISER

Editorials

LOOKING TO A NEW SYSTEM

INTERFRATERNITY FELLOWSHIP

The Catty Co-ed

PLEDGED

COME, SEE, CONQUER

HAPPY FEET

THEATRE

Flynn

Majestic

State

Society Notes

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Isabel Bishop '33 and Helen Eschoms '2 were in town over the week end.

PI BETA PHI

Elizabeth Wallace '33 was in town over the week end.

The Pi Beta Phi Alumni Club entertained the active members and the pledges Tuesday night, October 24.

KAPPA DELTA

Founder's Day exercises were held after regular formal meeting at the chapter house Monday, October 23.

"Who is a crow?"
I don't know why."
Caws."

Down College Row

PLEDGED

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

During the last few weeks there has been considerable talk as to the best team Vermont was to put out this fall. Enthusiasm has run high. However, when Vermont has received setback the Cynic as well as certain others, has been quick to cast a long list of alibis.

Why so apologetic? The men work hard and no doubt receive hard knocks that they should but when a game is lost let's not give each opponent the credit for putting up a good fight; let's be the sorriest drop? Men may come through the season for various reasons but it's back what we have left, so the world knows that our teams never play to win or lose.

A. W. '33

S A E INITIATES

...hawn On The Masculinity Of The Interpretative Dance

...ESDAY 37

... Must be a ...

... when I first ... of classical ... a poster or ... I had completely ... I heard a brief ... light upon the ... members of Shawn's ... As a result of that ex... exciting performance. I now have a ... the art of the dance.

... greater artist of many ... began the movement to ... masculine players to ... held among men, ... certain Polynesian, ... and South American ... depicting ceremony and ... and sorrow, nar... His efforts at re... of art were first ... attention of the public ... training athletically-... at Springfield College. ... in the Berkshires at... ment and interest when ... to some of the re... renovated barn with hard... and mirror-covered walls. ... eight men for the ... winter tour of various ... And so the troupe ... ington.

... ...owing, the program was ... several general phases, each ... particular theme: The first ... work, the second on an epic ... history, the third upon ... the last on religious ... remember most vividly six of ... individual compositions.

... classical group the Brahms ... Four, Opus 119, was, ... impressive, not because it ... but because it showed ... of the male figure when ... ...cally by strong, forceful ...

... ...ing of "John Brown Sees ... ...composition by Jess Meeker, ...ist, is one of the most ... inspired of all solo dances. ... beautifully simple development of ... interpretation of the spirit of ... remarkable pre-Civil War agitator ... led by the dictates of his conscience ... to turn the slaves to revolt ... against their masters. One remarkable feature about this solo is the fact that it requires some seventeen minutes to complete, although it seems hardly more than four, fully nine minutes longer than the longest of classical dances of this nature.

Two of the short realistic, dances of the third group especially appealed to me. The "Japanese Rickshaw Coolies," a light and brilliantly performed little skit, was very entertaining, so entertaining, in fact, as to require an encore in response to a prolonged period of applause. "Cutting the Sugar Cane," a rather modernistic creation, made a very colorful showing.

Shadow and light entered strongly into Shawn's study of St. Francis of Assisi, played, for the most part, within a disc of light on a darkened stage. Again simplicity brought forth the great beauty in masculine dancing. As the conclusion of the group of religious dances, three negro spirituals were enacted. These Afro-American themes were given beautifully.

The evening, insofar as the audience was concerned, had ended, and the theatre slowly poured its crowd into the street, past the modernistic poster in contrast shades, depicting a male figure in exalted pose, advertising "Shawn," and waiting to be torn from its place in the morning. But I went backstage to seek a chance to meet and speak with the artist who has conceived and carried out anew the dance for male actors.

While waiting on the stage I had ample opportunity to see some of the other men in the troupe at first hand. They seemed to be quite normal, healthy human beings, youthful and well built—without a trace of effeminacy about them.

After being held in conversation with a group of ladies for some considerable time, the tired Shawn found a moment's respite which was broken almost immediately by my forcing myself into his presence. We shook hands; his grip was firm, and I noticed that he had a wonderful physique for a man of his age (his black hair has touches of grey). Of medium-tall stature this man was splendidly well knit. It being evident that I had but little time, the "interview" I had hoped for drew shortly to a close with my having gained two things: Personal contact with a great artist and, of secondary importance, the place where I could find material for this article.

No pansies, then—these men, their work being of a most difficult type, physically and mentally. Though their dancing appears effortlessly smooth, it demands the respect of even the most accomplished athlete. I left the "Strong" that night wholly in sympathy with the movement to advance the Manly Art of Dancing.

AS CRITICS SEE THE "MERCHANT OF VENICE"

... ...correction admires for its ... entertainment, which was in this instance the "Merchant of Venice," presented by a company which played here three years ago—the company under the direction of James Hendrickson and Claire Bruce.

As a whole, the performance failed to reach the standard which a play of Shakespeare's inevitably finds set for it. However, the last half of the drama was played in a manner far ... to Bruce's the most two acts. The part of Shylock, played by James Hendrickson, stood out throughout the play, with a voice of superb power and resonance, and with the exhibition of a true sense of dramatic proportion.

The unfortunate miscasting of some other members of the company, notably Portia, was plainly evident and needs little comment. It is also worthy of notice that the conditions under which the play had of necessity to be presented were such as to make understandable the lamentable stiffness in the rendition of the first and second acts.

There are difficulties in the presentation of Shakespeare's dramas before a modern audience—despite the "universality" of Shakespeare. Let us consider that, and the difficulties under which members of a road company labor, in judging this presentation of the Merchant of Venice.

Geneva is the center of the ring where the nations make the customary gesture of touching gloves.—Arthur Branders.

"Merchant of Venice" Has Good Attendance

Thursday Evening's Performance by New York Shakespeare Players of "Merchant of Venice" Draws Crowd

Last Thursday evening saw a well-attended performance of William Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" by the ... company that ... drama to U. V. M., with presentations of "Macbeth" and other of his most renowned works.

Clair Bruce as "Portia" and James Hendrickson, her co-star of their company as "Shylock," assisted by a cast of experienced "men of the boards," not to mention six of Vermont's amateurs as supernumeraries, brought back the atmosphere of the Venetian court of hundreds of years ago. Aided by settings and costumes designed this year, the performers rang the changes in the blank verse dialogue with truly Shakespearean finesse. One could easily imagine—or rather, one could not help living in imagination—the ancient characters in their romantic surroundings.

With forty-cent student tickets avail... the student ... ...mar and high school as far away as Vergennes, took advantage of the opportunity to attend this single performance. Sections of the Vermont student body turned out en masse for the production.

University members who were called upon to assist the players in the presentation were M. J. Miltimore '34, P. M. Howe '35, R. S. Wright '35, Alice McConnell '34, Rosemary Cahill '35 and Mary Casey '35 as supers, with D. W. Jenks '34 appointed as stage and property manager, and A. A. Ross '34 with D. J. Tobin '34 in charge of the business and publicity sides. All the aforementioned are members of the University Players. The six supers have all taken ... in at least two major dramatic productions here, while Jenks is the Players' stage manager, and Ross and Tobin are their co-business managers.

COMING SOCIAL EVENTS AROUND THE CAMPUS

Today, Nov. 1
...
...
Thursday, Nov. 2
...
Friday, Nov. 3
Phi...
...
Saturday, Nov. 4
Grades
Norwich at Northfield (football)
Community Concert
...
Monday, Nov. 6
Alliance Française
Friday, Nov. 10
Phi...
...
...
Saturday, Nov. 11
...
St. Michael's here (football)
Men's Informals
Entertainment Evening
Tuesday, Nov. 14
...
Wednesday, Nov. 15
Class Play
Friday, Nov. 17
Phi...
...
Key and Serpent Smoker
Saturday, Nov. 18
Middlebury here (football)
Middlebury here (cross country)
Key and Serpent Football Hop
Tuesday, Nov. 21
...

PROOF

The lecturer was getting warmed up to his subject.

"And, friends," he said impressively "I tell you once again, medicine never did anyone any good."

"That's not true," came a voice from the back of the hall.

"Not true?" echoed the lecturer. "What do you mean?"

"Medicine did my family a lot of good," went on the heckler.

"But, my friend," said the lecturer, "you have no way of proving that statement."

"Oh, yes, I have," replied the heckler, "my father owns a drug store!"

Anyway, this is teaching us that a car built to do 50,000 miles will keep going after 20,000 miles, even if the paint is dull.

Smoke a Lucky

A FULLY PACKED CIGARETTE

Choice tobaccos—and no loose ends—make Luckies burn smoothly

This young lady is one of a small army of inspectors. Her job is to examine Lucky Strike—to make sure that it comes up to the exact standards we set. Every Lucky Strike she passes is full weight, fully packed, round and firm—free from loose ends. And no Lucky that she examines leaves without this OK. That's why each and every Lucky draws so easily—burns so smoothly.

ALWAYS the finest tobaccos
ALWAYS the finest workmanship
ALWAYS Luckies please!

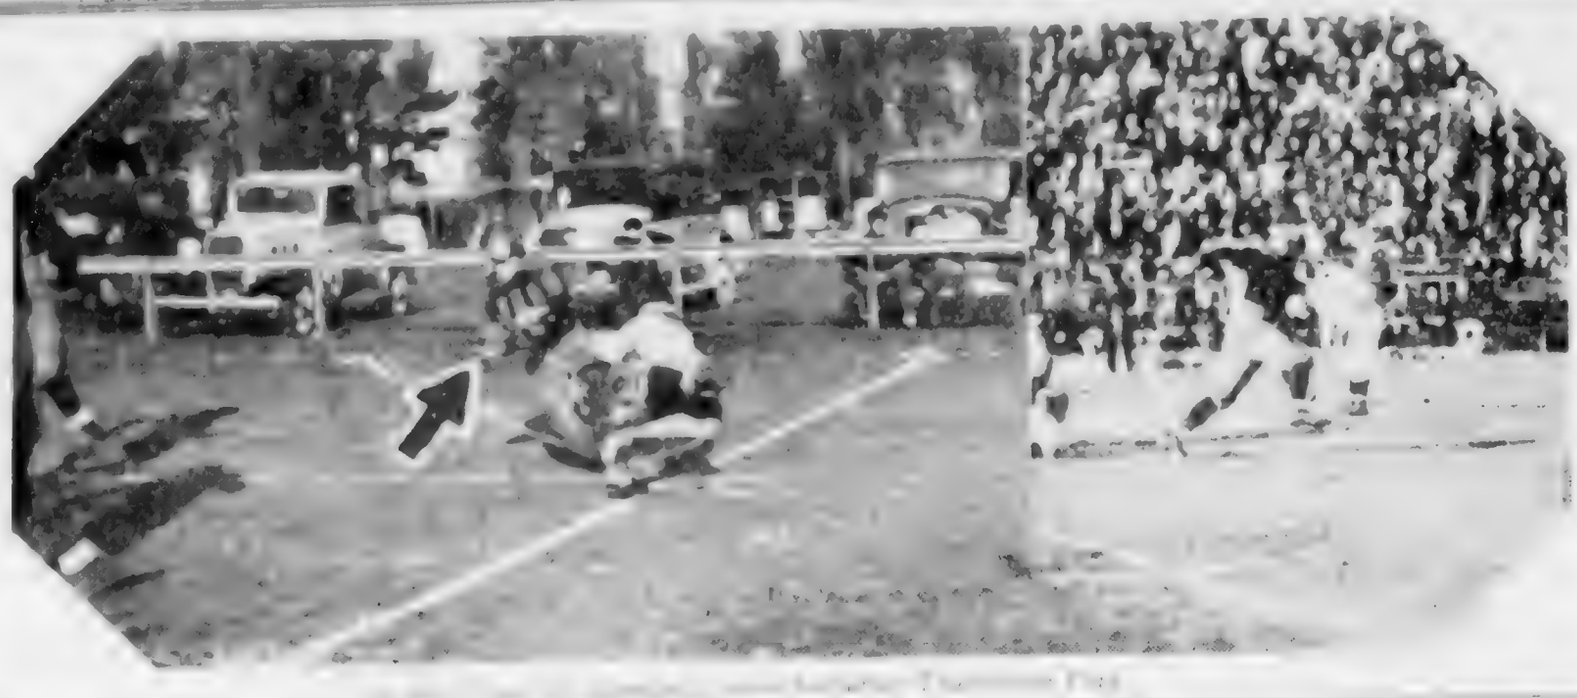
...ght, 1933, The American Tobacco Company.

"it's toasted"

FOR THROAT PROTECTION—FOR BETTER TASTE



SPORTS NEWS

KITTENS HOLD YEARLING MIDDLEBURY ELEVEN TO SCORELESS TIE FRIDAY

Vermont's Defense Is Solid Against Determined Offensive Efforts to Put Ball Across

SECOND PERIOD OPENS WITH KITTEN OFFENSIVE

Vermont's Goal Line Is Threatened Twice by Middlebury Without Success

CAT'S MEOW

CONNECTICUT STATE BEATS VERMONT CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM 15-40

Vermont's Winning Combination Didn't Do So Well as Connecticut Piles Up Perfect Score

CATS DEFEAT WILDCATS IN THRILLER SATURDAY

(Continued from page 1)

Sowka and Saba combined on the kicking to keep New Hampshire on the defensive. Saba got off several fine quick kicks while Sowka at one time, standing on his own 10 yard line, booted a spiral which did not stop until it was fumbled on New Hampshire's 10-yard line. The ball had traveled eighty yards.

Werner, another sophomore, starting his first varsity game made several long gains on spinners through the line. Red recovered a fumble, blocked a kick and contributed a good all-around defensive game besides adding the point after the final score.

Frankie Lanahan taking care of the opening kick-off kicks made some runs of 20 and 25 yards never failing to advance the ball although nearly every time he received a kick four or five of the Wildcats were almost on him as he got the ball.

On the whole, the team played "heads up" ball and capitalized on the breaks—intercepting passes and taking advantage of every opportunity to gain ground. The punting duel, handled by Ed Sowka and Ed Saba was extremely good for the first time this year and contributed a great deal to the ultimate result.

The only trouble with New Hampshire seemed to be in their inability to get the passing attack under way. Bob Hapbey, who lived up to all advance reports, tried and passed well but the receivers were hampered by the sun and several times fumbled throws directly in their arms. Also Vermont's kicking kept them on the defensive for so much of the game that they were unable to launch any effective offensive.

Because they have been better fed than many other peoples Americans in the last few decades actually have developed a better physique as a nation, in the opinion of Prof. Agnes Fay Morgan of the University of California.

It now remains, she says, to see if nutriment may not have some bearing on the solution of other problems, such as the prevention and cure of malignant growths such as cancer, the control of susceptibility to infectious diseases, and the prevention of the circulatory and metabolic diseases which are now the chief causes of death of middle-aged and elderly persons.

LEARN! THIS SONG TO BE PLAYED AT GAMES!

HAIL! GREEN AND GOLD

I

Tho' years may come, and years may go,
Old Vermont lives forever,
We love the hill and the old mill.
For the pleasant memories there.
Out on the field we never yield,
But sing this 'frain to thee
With lusty cheers, to quell all fears.
Our song of victory.

Chorus

Vermont, Vermont forever more
Hail! green and gold!
Hail! Mater fair!
Dear old Vermont,
Your colors we'll ever wear,
Let's give a cheer for Vermont,
Far famed and old,
This game today we want
For the green and gold.

II

Thro' endless days, we'll sing thy praise
And do or die for Vermont,
Noble and strong we raise our song.
To thy sacred walls and always
For thee we pray tho' far away,
For prosp'rous future days
Till 'ternity we'll sing to thee,
The song of victory.

FIELD DAY TO MARK END OF OUTDOOR GYM

Finals in Women's Tennis, Hockey and Volleyball to Be Played Off at This Time

S A E'S DEFEAT OWLS IN TOUCH FOOTBALL SERIES

Treat Yourself to the Best!
Sherwood Hotel Barber Shop
In Lower Lobby
WE TRIM THE HAIR, BUT NOT THE MAN
JOE. LANGLOIS, Prop.—Phone 2911

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
* * *
Elias Lyman Coal Company
204 College Street

Compliments of
ALEX VERRET

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
Opposite New Fleming Museum
MEALS—LUNCHES—HOME COOKING
Open daily 6:30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday 7:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.

PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS
NEW AND USED FIRST-GRADE TYPEWRITERS RENTED
Special Rates to Students
Brubn Office Equipment Co.
10 Church St. Burlington, Vt.

NEW CARD RATES
for the
LENDING LIBRARY
in the
UNIVERSITY STORE

A $1.00 card for reference reading and 2c per day titles

A $1.50 card covers any title in the Library

For details inquire of the clerks in the store

PIES OF 1933-34 NIVERSITY DIRECTORY AVAILABLE THIS WEEK

nd in Yellow, Directory Con- as All Necessary Information egarding Students, Faculty and University Employees directory contains the students, faculty members, employees. In addition the class numerals, home addresses, and telephone numbers listed. After each name is listed his the location of his office, telephone number. In the students are listed by as well as by states. fraternities, and dormito- with their addresses and Students may ob- the University Directory Thursday, November 1 or Store, and their value as is such that no one without one.

calendar and the social the front, contain much information, for in them are important events of the The Directory is bound in pocket this year, and is being Registrar's office.

offers quite a variety every aspect of its existence, names of its faculty, employ- it is no exception.

number of letters the names range from two to twelve. The shortest male employee name is Roy, and the longest Blomberger and Householder, with 12 letters each. Honors for the shortest female faculty-employee name are divided among Cook, Frey, Luce, and Muse, while LaMountain, with 11 letters, takes honors for the long- The faculty and employees in all sorts of professions and trades—Abbott, Carpenter, Cook, Dean, Dresser, Householder, Marshall, Miller, and Walker. Hardy, Swift, Young, Small, and even Moody and Slack.

and its various aspects are represented with Banks, Brooks, and a Lane. The weather may include Storms. The faculty preference in colors to be Black The surnames with the most numbers are Clark, Miller, Perkins, Allen, and Ballard with three The employees have their Price, faculty has its Dole, and even of professions that the stu- boasts is even longer than that faculty and employees. We find a Baker, Barker, Carpenter, Farmer, Householder, Miller, Piper, Proctor, and Par- among them. The nobility is rep- by King, Lord, and Baron. Its colors are White, Green, Gray, and Black, Fox, Fay, Kew, Eno, and Day divide honors for the while the Powers seem to Armstrong, a Spear, and a Can-weather phenomena include a Gale, and Storms. The automo- is represented by an Austin, and Sinclair has his Babbitt. We Robinson Hall and in Slade each has her Suitor. Some Swift, Little, Long, Still, and also Moody and Jealous. a Lane, Bowers, Berry, Pond, and Bean. Some Luck Getting a Pearl, after a Hunt Case.

OSTONE CAMPUS SEES PUPPETRY EXHIBITED afternoon the fine art was demonstrated by Plainfield who have that craft, for the students of the Uni- Most of these came campus. Construction explained in the after- coming from seven to concerning the activi- The Beanstalk was those who had wit- of the little wooden their capabilities might management—which, puppet must have, as celebration was a part program which is President Bailey in the heads of the women's dormitory agrees to money for the entertainment President Bailey has the administration as the other later creation of a synthetic one of the grand- old historical stone neglected and by Mussulman and Spain and

BLUESTOCKINGS WILL DISCUSS "POETRY" AT MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT

"Poetry" is to be the topic of discussion at the meeting of Bluestockings Friday evening, November 3, at seven-thirty at the Pi Beta Phi house. Lois Whitcomb '35 and Margaret Kane '35 are in charge of the program.

It is planned to conduct a series of studies of poetry this year, noting especially the peculiarities in the literature of each country. This is the first program in the series. Short extracts of different types of poetry will be read at each meeting.

The second of these discussions will be held during the first part of the winter, as the manuscripts which have been submitted to Bluestockings for approval will be read and discussed at the next meeting.

College Man's Ideal Co-ed Is Revealed

If you chance to see a girl just five feet and four inches tall, weighing just one hundred twenty-two and one-half pounds, having blue eyes and dark, but not black, hair, and having just the very lightest suggestion of powder and paint, plus beautiful—simply beautiful—teeth you can be fairly sure that you have seen the ideal Vermont girl as visualized from the opinions of numerous male individuals attending the University at the present time. But this description is only a very superficial one, for there are many other stipulations which must be fulfilled before the picture is complete. She must be "intelligently quiet," which means she must know when not to ask ridiculous questions, and when to understand the answers to such questions; furthermore, she must not paint her fingernails (by a large majority of votes) and she must consider the fact that men are not made of money.

Of course, the above description is made on an average basis and, as everyone knows, averages are never completely satisfactory all around. So it is necessary to give some more definite conclusions which were drawn at the close of the survey. Freshmen, for example, choose blondes, light brunettes and dark brunettes in the order named; while upperclassmen, on the other hand, prefer dark brunettes to blondes. Likewise, over one-third of the freshmen questioned answered "No paint at all," and the others said it is all right if used with caution; but the upperclassmen were a little more lenient: all of them admitted that make-up can be used, but moderately. All but two of the fellows agreed that fingernail paint is horrible, absolutely unnecessary, and one of the two who differed said that rose is the only color he likes, while the other said it is OK: both were freshmen and may some day change their opinions. Practically all agreed on medium height and build. The votes on color of eyes were close, blue leading by the merest shade of an eyelash!

Some of the individual statements were interesting, to say the very least. One senior demands luscious lips! "Not undue plucking of eyebrows," was one comment which was seconded by several others. A prominent Boulder man said, "Intelligent, know what it is all about . . . . know responsibility . . . . a good dancer, swimmer, talker, and driver." A Sigma Phi man said that the girl could be dumb or intelligent, depending on his mood. A certain member of one of the debating teams wants 'em SOCIABLE!

Don't worry, girls, if you don't seem to fit into the picture of the Ideal. There is a certain strong and very influential group in our society today which believes, and always will believe, that a man can, and does, change his opinions very abruptly at times. Why, it may be that tomorrow every man in college will suddenly change his opinions, although it seems more plausible that such a change would take place over a period of some years. At any rate, it is a sure thing that anyone can succeed if he or she has a sense of humor and can mix with other people.

NEW FRENCH CLUB WILL MEET THIS FRIDAY EVE

The second meeting of the newly organized French Club is scheduled for 8 o'clock Friday evening, November 3 at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

The meeting will deal largely with business matters, the drawing up of the constitution for the club being the main issue of the evening. A series of French games will be one feature of the entertainment programme.

Joyce Young '34, chairman of the programme committee, is in charge, and urges anyone who is interested to attend. It is not necessary that the members be taking courses in French at the present time.

WOMEN'S SOCIETIES ANNOUNCE OFFICERS

Heads for Coming Semester Are Made Public

Eight women's societies announce their officers for the coming semester. Most officers are not mentioned in this record which concerns itself chiefly with those given to each organization concerned, up to the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. The sheets are:

Delta Delta Delta: President, Grace Harris '34; vice-president, Alice Chalmers '34; Secretary, Ellen Pearl '34, treasurer, Leona Warren '34. Pi Beta Phi: President, Barbara Belcher '34; vice president, Ruth Dawson '34; record secretary, Carolyn Cook '35; treasurer, Betty Boright '35. Alpha Xi Delta: President, Helen Jenkins '34; vice president, Mary Moore '35; secretary, Katherine O'Brien '35; treasurer, Daisy Putnam '34. Alpha Chi Omega: President, Ellen Lyman '34; vice president, Gertrude Wilder '34; corresponding secretary, Jane Parsons '35; recording secretary, Joyce Young '34; treasurer, Shirley Tripp '35. Sigma Gamma: President, Dorothy Thomas '34; vice-president, Dorothy Kennedy '35; secretary, Velma Purinton '34; treasurer, Lydia Curler '34. Kappa Delta: President, Anna Greene '34; vice-president, Alta Rock '35; secretary, Geneva Wilcox '34; treasurer, Susie Sanborn '35. K. E. L.: President, Augusta Cohen '34; secretary, Gertrude Fishman '36; treasurer, Edith Spiller '35. Epsilon Sigma: President, Elizabeth Washburn '35; vice-president, Pearl Savage, T. T.; recording secretary, Rita Finnegan, T. T.; corresponding secretary, Ethel Perrotta '35; treasurer, Marjorie McGrath, T. T.

One society, Kappa Alpha Theta, does not publish the names of its officers.

Short Story Contest

Story, the only magazine devoted solely to the short story, announces a prize of $100 for the best short story submitted by a college student. This contest is open to all registered students of colleges and universities in the United States. The story may or may not have first appeared in a college publication during the contest. The second prize will be $50.

The English Department of the University has taken charge of the contest at Vermont, and manuscripts may be turned in at the English office. As will be seen from the appended rules, two entries must be picked from all those turned in and sent to Story by April 15.

Rules of the contest are as follows:

"Stories submitted must be not less than 1,500 or more than 6,000 words in length.

"Each entry must be certified by a member of the faculty of the institution.

"No college or university may submit more than two entries.

"All entries must be mailed to Story on or before April 15, 1934.

"The submitted stories are to represent the best selection, by qualified judges, of the work of the students of the school year 1933-34. Such stories may be selected from the work done in English courses or they may be drawn from a contest specially designed to afford selection. The story may or may not have first appeared in a college publication during the contest.

"The stories must be legibly written, preferably typewritten, on one side of the paper.

"The winning story will be published in Story for September, 1934.

"Story reserves the right to allow reprints of the winning story in short-story anthologies.

"Sincerity, authenticity and skill in writing will be determining factors in making awards.

"Other stories, selected from the entries found worthy of publication, will be paid for at the usual rate."

SOCIAL DANCING CLASS SOON TO BE ORGANIZED

The social dancing class has not met as yet, because of lack of members. The first lesson was scheduled for October 19, 7:00 p.m., in the Vermonters' Club House. However, as only two girls and five boys appeared, the dancing classes will be postponed until at least ten girls and ten boys sign up.

Any girl or boy whether he can or cannot dance should take advantage of this opportunity to receive instruction in the art of dancing. Miss Annis Baldwin will give four one-hour lessons in social dancing at twenty-five cents a lesson, or one dollar for the course.

Anyone who would like to take the course is requested to put his name and the words "Social dancing" on a piece of paper and put it in the box on the door in the gymnasium. Even if those [illegible] from this [illegible]

PRESS CLUB ENJOYS HALLOWE'EN GATHERING LAST FRIDAY EVENING

[illegible] at their Hallowe'en party at the Alpha Chi Omega house Friday evening, October 28. The spirit of Hallowe'en was [illegible] and in the orange and black crepe paper [illegible] and the presence of [illegible] witches.

The evening passed quickly as the [illegible] played musical chairs, with [illegible] as [illegible]. Then the [illegible] great delight in [illegible] various characters.

The refreshments of cider and doughnuts followed out the Hallowe'en spirit.

Some of the girls went back to their earliest childhood and appeared in diapers or as a baby with a bottle.

PHILAGON MEETS IN MUSEUM FRIDAY P.M.

The Philagon meeting was held Friday, October 27, in the Museum. The program consisted of a rousing debate in the Oregon style. The question was, "Resolved, That the women students at U. V. M. should have smoking privileges equal to those of the men." It is said that the lawyers were both sharp and clever.

A short business meeting took place. Plans are under way for a freshman debate between the men and women. The motion was passed that there will be a meeting every Friday afternoon, at which there will be a planned program. Attendance is required at least once in every two meetings. The necessity for punctuality was emphasized.

At the next meeting the new members will take their test for eligibility. They will prepare a three-minute speech which must be interesting and well composed, delivered without notes.

Profs To Hand In Records Saturday

[illegible] there have been some [illegible] a quite loud report that some [illegible] that the program [illegible] some [illegible]. Personally, [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

GERMAN CLUB TO MEET THURSDAY AT REDSTONE

WOMEN PLAY FIRST MATCHES IN ANNUAL HOCKEY TOURNMENT

CONNECTICUT STATE HAS DATE AGENCY

JUNIORS RECEIVE ARIEL PROOFS OCTOBER 26

REVISED LIST OF 1936, 1937, CLASS OFFICERS

RHODES CANDIDATES MUST APPLY NOV. 18

W. A. A. WILL ANNOUNCE WINNERS OF AWARDS AT CLOSE OF FIELD DAY

● Isn't it exasperating to have to miss a wonderful party because of "recurring" pains? Embarrassing, too, when you can't tell friends the reason. But now, no need to flunk an exam or miss a party. When you are below par, take Kalms, quick-acting tablets developed by Johnson & Johnson especially to relieve "recurring" pains, such as headache, backache and neuralgia. One tablet is enough for most cases. Kalms are safe, do not affect digestion or heart action, and are not habit-forming. Your druggist has them in purse-size boxes of 12 tablets.

KALMS FOR RELIEF OF "RECURRING" PAINS

FREE SAMPLE—SEND COUPON

Johnson & Johnson
NEW BRUNSWICK NEW JERSEY

Send me a FREE sample of Kalms.

Name_____

Address_____

Chesterfield Signal...

T-H-E-Y S-A-T-I-S-F-Y

watch 'em hold 'em!

Chesterfield

the cigarette that's MILDER the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

© 1935, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

LME 52 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1933 NUMBER 14

Students Fired on by Officers

UDENTS PRESENT SINGLE-ACT DRAMAS LAST NIGHT IN GYM

up Players Perform Three ays in Third of Such Pre- ntations Since Inauguration

RMANY, RUSSIA AND ENGLAND REPRESENTED

eign Dramas Given Charac- ization for Large Audience n Makeshift Stage of Green Burlap

... night the curtains rose ... of three one-act plays ... the Group Players. The ... representative of three ... countries, Germany, Russia ... and were given in the ... instead of the museum in ... better staging facilities. ... roles were taken by stu- ... of whom were novices, ... were directed by mem- ... the University Players.

... play, of Germany, opened ... Rowe '36 as the land- ... small mountain hotel and ... '35 as her maid discuss- ... coming visit of the Princess ... Rosenberg '35).

... arrives, pursued by the ... played by Elizabeth Haig ... two daughters (Geraldine ... Ellen Hall '37). A young ... student (A. A. Morrissette ... the Dowager's party, he ... pursuit of an imaginary ... while they are attempting to ... themselves to the real ...

... an student unconvention- ... the Princess while attempt- ... enter the hotel by climbing ... of the windows, the doors ... locked. Upon recovering from

(Continued on page 2)

CABBARD AND BLADE WILL SPONSOR ANNUAL MILITARY BALL NOV. 10

...bard and Blade, senior men's ... military society, is preparing ... annual dance of the year, the ... ball, to be given on Friday, ... 10. Its members list among ... uniforms, dance programs, ... and refreshments.

... '34, president of Scabbard ... announces that orchestration ... by Bob Minotti and his ... Serenaders will be Col. and ... Col. and Mrs. C. R. ... and Mrs. E. Colby, and Capt. ... E. Craig. In charge of ... G. L. Davis '34 D. E. ... arranging for the music ... while F. O. Walter ... programs and advertising. ... of Scabbard and Blade ... Bennett, Jr., Burlington; ... Junction; J. J. Con- ... L. E. Davis, Burling- ... Donahue Jericho; C. H. ... M. D. Howe, Adams. ... Burlington; J. L. ... A. C. Pond, Rich- ... St. Albans; W. J. ... H. G. Stone, Essex ... O. Walter, Burlington.

MYRICK WILL SPEAK IN FRENCH CLUB TONIGHT

... Myrick, head of the French ... will speak at the second meet- ... French Club tonight at the ... Omega House.

... up of a constitution has ... and the adoption of this ... business of the evening. ... a play and songs are ... Irene Young, chairman ... committee in charge. Re- ... be served.

... club has been just recently ... revives the former so- ... Francaise, and is open ... taking French. Any per- ... not attend the first meeting ... interested in joining the club ... be present at the meeting

GALTON CLUB SUCCEEDS TO FINGERPRINT CLUB

The former Fingerprint Club of the Fleming Museum is now a thing of the past, being succeeded by the Galton Club. Personal identification of any sort is the field which the club has decided on. The Galton Club is so-called because of the valuable aid Galton gave to the commencement and furtherance of the work.

"The reason for changing name and work is simply that the group of young people forming the club has grasped the fundamentals of the technique of finger printing and is eager to try other fields," explains Prof. H. F. Perkins, director of the Museum.

Tryouts For Play "The Torchbearers" Today and Monday

Six Male and Six Female Rôles Off Wide Field for Talented Actors

Tryouts for any of the twelve parts of the fall play, "The Torch-Bearers," will be held this afternoon and Monday at four o'clock in the Old Mill. The play, recently selected by the members of Masque and Sandal and of Wig and Buskin, is a satirical farce by George Kelly. It is to be presented December 13, probably in the City Hall Auditorium.

The directors of the play announce that the six male parts and six female parts are so varied that there will be a wide field for the students' talents. New material is desired, especially new men.

"The Torch-Bearers" is a satire on the "little theater" movement, with a New England flavor. The story is told that Mr. Kelly, while traveling in New England, saw a group of amateurs struggling to produce a play for their neighborhood's benefit; that he was so amused by their efforts that very soon he set to work to write this satire. When the play was first produced in New York, says a reviewer, playgoers were very skeptical, but the small group of skeptical theater fans that first night were kept in laughter all evening; the play had a long run in New York and was highly popular, if we can believe its reviewers. The author of the drama is a one-time Pulitzer Prize winner.

FIRST PHASE OF ARIEL PHOTOGRAPHY IS ENDED

Editor Decides High Neckline for Women's Pictures Should Be Changed

With the departure of White's representative, the photography for the Ariel reached the end of its first stage. However, information from W. L. Cross, editor, indicates that forty-one cards have so far failed to return their proof. He states that they are to be kept until White's representative returns, sometime between now and Christmas. He also cautions that if all proofs are not returned by that time, the individual failing to do so will have no picture in the Ariel.

The photographer will probably come on his second prolonged visit around Thanksgiving. At that time three different sets of photography will be completed. All resittings of juniors will take place. Group pictures will be made of campus organizations, and Medics will have an opportunity for their pictures.

Editor Bill notes the following personal statement to the junior girls:

"After the first day the representative from the White Studio had been seen by various members of the women board of the Ariel came to me and said that the majority of the junior women desired high neckline portraits. Believing this unwise, but wishing to please the majority, I said high neckline pictures would be standard for the 1935 Ariel. It has appeared, however, that there is very strenuous objections among the junior women to the high neckline. Therefore, for these three reasons: 1. That the high neckline is rather theatrical for a yearbook, 2. that not all girls have such features, nor is there as great a selection, 3. that technically the white background used in the high neckline pictures is much harder to engrave. I have telegraphed White Studio, stopping the de-

(Continued on page 4)

Free Press Photo Service

Above: Wagonload of apples, which furnished students with ammunition last Tuesday evening. Right: Police Officer Bates, who fired the shots into the crowd. Left: Collins, who was wounded last Tuesday by one of the wildly-fired shots.

MORTAR BOARD GIVES USUAL AUTUMN DANCE TOMORROW IN GYM

Sid Carsley Will Furnish Music; Tickets to be $1.00 a Couple

The Mortar Board dance, featured twice a year by the senior women's honorary society, will take place tomorrow night in the Gymnasium under the supervision of Dale Putnam '34, Grace Harris '34, and Catherine Durick '34. The tickets will be $1.00 a couple. These tickets can be bought from any of the Mortar Board members. Sid Carsley and his orchestra will furnish the music and Prof. and Mrs. Leon W. Dean will be chaperons.

There are the usual dances sponsored by a women's organization and it is customary for the girls to regard the dance as leaping the tickets and asking the men. The unwritten rule that the dance had always been a girl's privilege one. The committee is hoping for a large crowd as usual to greet the Steward punch and attractions.

BARNETT CONDUCTS CHAPEL SERVICES

The chapel service on Wednesday morning was conducted by Reverend J. W. Barnett of Worcester, Vt. He took as his theme, "What I Get Out of God and as an illustrated example, the discussion of the prodigal parable. Also Mr. Barnett spoke of what are the conditions of the prodigal's return and the attitude of the father toward his son. One must have a ridged and furrowed field, where everything is alive, and the only certainty is that something is uncertain."

"In these uncertain days one must turn from the world to God for real spiritual courage, private patience, personal assurance, and in the Eternal God's mercy must ever hope and trust. Let us go out into the world of this old heart in our hearts. Lead kindly light amid the encircling gloom."

TOTAL ENROLLMENT, 1,262, IS INCREASE OF 79 OVER LAST YEAR

College of Arts and Sciences Has Greatest Increase in Number of Students

The total enrollment of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College, as shown by official figures of F. W. Kehoe, registrar, made public records in 1,262 students, an increase of 79 over last year. Of the total, 897 are Vermonters as compared with 824 a year ago. This year Vermonters comprise just over 71 percent of the student body, while last year they were just under 70 percent.

The principal increase in enrollment has been in the College of Arts and Sciences, which has 762 students an increase of 54. The department of the Commerce is limped on enrollment to 1,000 students. The College of Engineering went an enrollment of 136, has 7 more students than last year. The College of Agriculture has 114 students, the same as last year and the College of Medicine has increased from 150 to 170 students.

In the three undergraduate colleges the entering class numbers 376 compared with 361 last year. The other classes number: sophomore 341, Junior 264, senior 179.

As a year ago the state represent number to engage student number 49, the district sending one to Montpelier, degree and 32 one more than last year. Fifteen students including three pre-medics are listed as undecided.

There are 772 men and 490 women in the student body, compared with 698 men and 485 women a year ago. There are two women in the College of Engineering, eight in the College of Medicine, 70 in the College of Agriculture and 340 in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Eleven states the District of Columbia, Canada and France are represented in the enrollment as follows: Vermont 867, Massachusetts 149, New York 88, Connecticut 67, New Jersey 21, New Hampshire 26, Maine 10, Montana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Canada two,

(Continued on page 4)

R. W. COLLINS '35 SHOT THROUGH ARM IN MIDST OF HALLOWE'EN STUNTS

Police Officer Fires Into Group of Students on Way Down College Street With Load of Apples

MAYOR ORDERS BATES SUSPENDED FROM FORCE

Students Pelt Policemen With Apples; Injured Man Is Son of Former Baseball Pitcher

Efforts of Police Officers Hubert Bates and John Francis to prevent a dozen pleasure-bent University students from taking a wagonload of apples down College Street resulted in the shooting of R. W. Collins, Jr., '35, of Colchester, and the temporary suspension pending investigation of Officer Hubert Bates of the Burlington Police force by Mayor James Burke. Failure of the contestants to arbitrate the Hallowe'en fracas resulted in the students pelting the policemen with apples and the latter returning with fire from revolvers.

Collins, son of Ray Collins, a former American League baseball pitcher, received a wound in the right forearm, as he was in the act of heaving an apple. The bullet diagonally pierced his lower forearm and came out by his upper forearm, without injury to bones or nerves. He was taken to Mary Fletcher Hospital, where he was treated by Dr. Oliver N. Eastman of this city. He was able to attend classes Wednesday.

Out for Skunks

Originally, the rioters were on a harmless search for skunks to be deposited in certain co-ed dormitories. Failure of the students to uncover any of the odoriferous creatures incensed them to adopt a wagonload of apples from the estate of Mrs. H. Holt. Parading the cart along South Prospect street and thence to College Street, the students proceeded unmolested to the vicinity of the Phi Mu Delta house, where they were halted by the officers on duty.

A wordy battle preceded the actual fight, but the heated debate resulted in a bombardment of apples from the University members. The officers were forced to take shelter behind trees, where pulling

(Continued on page 2)

MEN'S GLEE CLUB HAS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Wilcox, Manager, Hopes Organization Can Again Enter Contest, Next February

At the regular Wednesday night meeting of the Men's Glee Club, ... was elected president for the year, John A. P. Wilcox, '35, was elected manager of the organization. P. M. Anderson '34 and D. D. Howe '34 were elected to serve as assistant managers.

Although tryouts for men are not held at this time, there are still many good singers in the college who are not members of the Glee Club. Any man who is interested in singing is urged to attend the meetings which are held every Wednesday night at 7:00 p.m.

THE VERMONT CYNIC

Published by the Students of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College

Entered at the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

NEWS EDITORS

FEATURE EDITORS

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

COLUMNIST

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

REPORTERS

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Ernest Hunt

Issued Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday during the college year by the Vermont Cynic Publishing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Editorials

AS A PROTEST

GROUP PLAYS PRESENTED

PUBLIC OPINION

Police and Firearms

WHAT SORT OF RUSHING?

"THERE'S A RED LIGHT ON THE TRACK"

COLLINS SHOT IN FIGHT LAST TUESDAY EVENING

Continued from page 1

Officer Bates' Report

The Mayor's Opinion

FOOTBALL HOP WILL BE AFTER MIDDLEBURY GAME

Once again, as the football season nears its end, the time draws near for the annual football hop sponsored, this year by the Key and Serpent Society. This dance will come the evening after the last football game, which is with Middlebury, on November 11. It will last from 8:30 to midnight.

A feature of this dance will be the presenting of blankets to all senior varsity letter men. Paul Creehan, line coach, will make these awards.

The chaperones for the dance and the orchestra have not yet been chosen. The chairman of the dance is M. A. Patch '35 in charge of the blankets is G. H. Cook Jr. '35.

KAPPA DELTA

Dorotha Edwards '33 and Medora Kendall '33 were in town over the week-end and attended the Vermont-New Hampshire game.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Helen LeBarron '32 was in town Sunday.

Eleanor Wood '31 and Mildred Akin '32 were in the city Saturday to attend the Interfraternity Pledge Dance.

Molly Woolson '31 of this city is at 57 N. Willard street.

A supper will be given by the home economics girls in the practice house Sunday night, November 8, from six to seven o'clock. Tickets are thirty-five cents and everyone is invited to come. Hilda Davis '34 and Janet Dodds '34 are in charge.

NOTICE

PHILAGON will meet as usual today (Friday) at 4.00 o'clock in the Children's Room of the Fleming Museum. Each new member will be required to give a three-minute prepared speech to prove her eligibility. Please come promptly.

ELVIRA FARMAN,
President.

CLASS OF 1936
ELECTION FOR MEMBERSHIP TO THE STUDENT SENATE

Membership in the Student Senate from the sophomore class consists of four members, including the president. The following have been nominated. Balloting will take place all day Tuesday, November 7, in the corridor of the Old Mill. The three receiving the highest number of votes will be elected.

Nominees: L. A. Dickinson, J. A. Dodds, C. D. Howe, F. B. Hunt, H. L. Martin, J. S. Pozzabut, R. G. Warren.

SPORTS NEWS

E WINS TENNIS CUP T WOMEN'S FIELD DAY

rs Are Victors in Hockey Volleyball Tournaments

Y PUTNAM '34 MAKES W. A. A. AWARDS

omores Win Class Song Con- ; Supper on Grassmount Lawn won the cup for the tennis tournament ch '37 as a result of Field Day, Wednes- score. The hockey at that event also, was won who downed the sopho- game. The class of '33 a volleyball game with winning two out of three features of the day were around bonfires on Grass- class song contest of which were winners, and records made by Daisy Putnam

Mount '35 was chairman of activities; Marie Horak '34 of the supper; song contest were under the direction of Hall '36; cheers were led by Rowe '36.

W. A. A. Awards

W. A. A. awards made folwere won by Marie Horak '34, '35, Helen Mount '35, and Mountain '35.

W. A. A.'s were won by Ellen Alice Wimett '35, Ellinor Norma Hathorn '34, Ruth Rey- Elizabeth Woodward '34, Mar- '35, Elizabeth Rich '35, '35, and Harriet Gray '36, sophomore. Ruth Reynolds '34, Hathorn '34, Elizabeth Brown '36, '36, Frances Rowe '36, Nicholson '35, won their class No V's were given out.

hockey team was an- as follows:

Horak '34, c.f.; Harriet Gray Putnam '34, l.i.; Mary K. ; Elizabeth Woodward Rogers '34, c.h.; Eliza- h.; Ellinor Bean '34, l.h.; '35, r.f.; Ellen Barrett Downer '36, g.

volleyball team was also

Mount '35, Helen Skerry '36, Lockwood '37, Margaret Patter- Margaret Nugent '35, Elizabeth '34, Ruth Reynolds '34, Mary Margaret Blodgett '36.

New Council Started

in W. A. A. activities announced by Daisy Putnam. A has been chosen, a mem- each dormitory and sorority, to her house and do anything be needed. From Grass- Margaret Millet '36, has been House, Carolyn Cabot Elizabeth Brown '36; Rob- Elizabeth Downer '36; Slade Donaldson '36; Rand House, Woodward '34; Allyn House, '36; Alpha Xi Delta, '34; Alpha Chi Omega, Tri-Delta, Ruth John- Delta, Marie Horak; Pi Cook; Sigma Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, son, a sophomore trans- a W. A. A. ribbon for over 300 W. A. A. points

Freshmen Get Ribbons

freshmen were given gained fifty points or membership in W. A. A.: Bertha Bapp, Marion Goldman, Sarah Green- Hendricks, Lois Hammond, LaMonda, Helen Main, Dorothy Robertson, Virginia Riley, Ruth Quinn, Helen MacAllister, Dora Gagetta, Lambert, Sylvia Corey, Glenna Wright, Sally Carr, Marion Webster, Gertrude Martin, Pelsue, Lula Hennessey, Margaret Lockwood Mary Curtain, Florence the ladies of the Senior- gave a demonstration were given by the two-year students.

Jackson '37 and Nellie were separated for fresh- to W. A. A.

Free Press Photo Service
RALSTON, Speedy Norwich End

GEOLOGY FIELD TRIP AT WILLIAMS COLLEGE

A trip up to Mt. Greylock, a lecture on the geology of the "Taconic Quadrangle," and a view of the New England peneplain, and old base level of converging rivers, were parts of the program of the annual New England Intercollegiate Geological excursion, held this year at Williams College. Prof. E. C. Jacobs, Prof. C. G. Doll, and D. F. Green '34, of the University of Vermont, were present at the conference of geologists, held in Williamstown, Mass., Friday and Saturday, October 13 and 14.

Professors L. Prindle, E. B. Knopf, H. F. Cleland, and E. L. Perry of Williams College were in charge of the field trips and of the group discussions held. The group met at Mohawk Park, two miles west of Charlemont, on the Mohawk Trail, at 1.45 p.m., Friday afternoon, and the itinerary included a twenty-three-mile trip through the Berkshires. The famous Stamford Dike locality showing the Pre-Cambrian contact was visited, and the party met in the evening at the College Geological Museum, and discussed the geological strata of the localities visited.

A. I. E. E. MEETS

A meeting of the Vermont branch of A. I. E. E., held in the Williams Science Hall, Friday, October 27, was featured by a demonstration by D. C. Whitney '34 on "Some of Tesla's Experiments with High Potential, High Frequency Apparatus."

The remainder of the meeting was taken by a short demonstration by Professor Buchanan on "The Rotating Field Effect."

MUSEUM NOTES

Tomorrow's program at the Fleming Museum includes the children's story hour at nine-thirty in the morning, a talk at two-thirty in the auditorium, and a meeting of the Galton Club some time during the day. The meeting of the Galton Club and the children's story hour will take place in the Children's Room in the west wing of the second floor.

There will be the usual broadcast Monday, November 6, over WCAX. Prof. C. G. Doll, instructor in geology, gave the broadcast a week ago. He spoke on "Fossils and Fossilization."

A Directory of Rooms is now available for the convenience of visitors to the museum. This is a complete guide of floors, rooms and exhibits and may be obtained at the main entrance.

A wheelchair is also placed at the disposal of anyone who would find it helpful in his visit around the museum. Any attendant will furnish the same on request.

Wherever we have learned new truth sensed new beauty, improved taste, or found new ways to live, it has never been by the vision of majorities.—Dr. Robert Wicks of Princeton University

The scores of the hockey tournament were as follows:
Seniors 2—Freshmen 0.
Seniors 1—Sophomores 0.
Seniors 1—Juniors 0.
Juniors 4—Freshmen 0.
Sophomores 1—Juniors 0.
The sophomore-freshman game was played yesterday.
The class Tennis teams are as follows:
Seniors—Ruth Reynolds, Helen Hubbard.
Juniors—Barbara Russell, Susan France
Sophomores—Janet Wooley, Elizabeth Haig.
Freshmen—Virginia Riley, Helen Lentz.
The sophomores beat the freshmen and the seniors and juniors will play off their match today.

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTS EDITOR

[illegible] Captain Lyle Morgan who has led the Cadets through their [illegible] will lead his team out against the Norwich [illegible]

Norwich lost three opening games to Springfield, Tufts and Worcester Tech, and dropped games to Worcester Tech, Tufts, Boston U., Lowell Textile, St. Michael's and last week tied Northeastern, a team which formerly had beaten St. Mike's.

The Cadets have a strong backfield with Hicks, local quarter as the mainstay, Captain Morgan at the other end and Chalmo Zoppo, fullback, a power both on offense and defense.

Hicks ran wild against Northeastern and it was the passing combination of Hicks to Ralston which accounted for the Norwich score.

Vermont with renewed spirit and encouraged by their upset victory over New Hampshire should take Norwich after a hard fight by a margin of at least two touchdowns.

Interfraternity touchfootball is in full swing and we find A. T. O. and Sigma Phi lined up to oppose each other today for the fourth time in as many years. Three of these contests were for the championship, but today's game is only a semi-final.

A. T. O. defeated Sigma Nu, Tuesday, to the tune of 38-0 and then the boys all had tea at the Lodge. Mr. Jack Bedell poured and Mgr. Tom Cogswell told of his experiences in the Barre jungles.

Sigma Phi reached the semi-finals by a 13-6 victory over Phi Delta Theta. Capt. Jim Naylor scintillated for the Phi Delts, while "Embryo" Bent and "Psychy" Brown formed the nucleus and centersome, respectively, of the Sig outfit.

The Sigma Phi cheering squad led by Mr. G. H. Burrows, II, of Exeter, N. H., competed with "Wee Willie" Starbuck's crew during the contest and although "Bones" strained a tonsil in the third period, his boys carried on with the echo ringing in their ears and the Sigs took home the bacon. It was carried by "Steward" Grant.

The Delts have lost the services of Ray Collins, who fell over an apple cart last Tuesday, but we feel that "Hugo" Wilson will carry on in the absence of the noted botanist.

We hope to see you all over at Northfield and let's show the Cadets that U. V. M. has a new college spirit.

CALL FOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

All men not members of the football team who intend to try out for varsity basketball are asked to report next Tuesday evening, November 7, in the gymnasium.
JOHN H. BURKE, Coach.

YOU'RE SMART

when you shop at this store.

It's been the meeting place of Vermont men for a decade.

We sell everything you need in the clothing line. Also shoes.

▲

Hayes & Carney, Inc.

"Where Vermont Men Meet"

Vermont Tackles Norwich In State Game Tomorrow

CAPTAIN MORGAN

RESULTS OF PAST VERMONT-NORWICH GAMES

	Vt.	N.
1904	0	15
1905	26	0
1906	5	0
1907 (Norwich forfeited)	2	0
1908	11	6
1909	11	0
1910	0	17
1911	18	3
1916	6	7
1920	7	16
1921	14	2
1922	61	0
1923	34	0
1924	13	0
1925	3	0
1926	0	3
1927	0	13
1928	0	0
1929	0	20
1930	0	0
1931	7	26
1932	19	0

Won, Vermont 12, Norwich 8. Tied, 2.

CYNIC STAFF MEETS WITH SCRUBS WED.

A Cynic meeting was held last Wednesday of all scrub reporters and news editors, any whose absences were not excused lost twenty credits. R. S. Wright '36, news editor, offered advice to scrubs as to how to write news stories, and C. J. Libby '34, editor, announced that the scrubs would be taken to the Free Press printing rooms Friday and Tuesday afternoon.

Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.

Sporting Goods for All Sports

Special Prices to Schools, Clubs and Societies

The W. E. Greene Co.

New Location
128 CHURCH STREET

MORGAN WILL BE IN

[illegible] Captain Lyle Morgan who has led the Cadets through their [illegible] will lead his team out against the Norwich [illegible]

The Cadets must not be underestimated for they have been great improvement since the first part of the season. Ralston a freshman end must be watched carefully as well as the fast backfield composed of Hicks quarter Lockwood and Halbicht, halves and Frank Chalmo at full. The team is heavy and on their own field may prove dangerous.

Since 1925 the Cats have defeated Norwich only twice—last year, 18-0 and in the year when Jack Conway's educated toe spelled defeat to the cadets to the tune of 3-0. This year, however, after dropping early season clashes Norwich last week tied Northeastern—a team which formerly had beaten St. Mike's.

Vermont will line up with the Delfausse brothers on the flanks, Morgan and Cook, tackles, McGowan and Paul, guards, and Bowers over the ball. Sowka will handle the quarterbacking reins, Lanahan and Beckley will be at the halves, with the flashy sophomore, Werner, at full. Rapuano, Saba, Jezukawicz, Ramon, Giardi and Funk will be held in reserve.

THE LINE-UP

Vermont		Norwich
R. Delfausse	r.e.	Ralston
Cook	r.t.	McGuire
McGowan	r.g.	Wess
Bowers	c.	Smith
Paul	l.g.	Watkins
Morgan	l.t.	Lemaire
Negus	l.e.	Blanchard
Sowka	q.b.	Hick
Beckley	r.h.b.	Halbicht
Lanahan	l.h.b.	Lockwood
Werner	f.b.	Chalmo

Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring a vesper service this Sunday in Redstone at 7.30.

PORTABLE TYPEWRITERS
NEW AND USED FIRST-GRADE TYPEWRITERS RENTED
Special Rates to Students
Bruhn Office Equipment Co.
18 Church St. Burlington, Vt.

GREETING CARDS
For All Occasions
ISHAM NEWS and GIFT SHOP
102A Church St.
Open Evenings
NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES

"Memoirs"

ARE YOU NOT PLANNING TO MAKE A NAME FOR YOURSELF?

If so either you or someone else will want to write your biography.

Give them reliable material

KEEP A MEMORY BOOK OR DIARY

These may be the most important days of your life. They should be the happiest.

Keep something to help you recall the details.

UNIVERSITY MEMORY BOOKS AND COLLEGE DIARIES ARE SPECIALTIES AT THE University Stores

YEAR'S FIRST MEETING OF FACULTY-STUDENT COUNCIL HELD NOV. 1

Permanent Committee Nominated to Manage Entertainments for Year

TOTAL ENROLLMENT INCREASED BY 79

(Continued from page 1)

GEOLOGY PROFESSORS EXPLORE ISLAND SHORE

FIRST RECITAL OF YEAR IS IN FORM OF SONATA

Miss DeVolt and Professor Bennett Present Selections From Three Composers

FIRST PHASE OF ARIEL PHOTOGRAPHY IS ENDED

(Continued from page 1)

COMMUNITY CONCERT IS POSTPONED TO NOV. 11

The Sigma Nu freshmen extend a challenge to any other group of fraternity freshmen to a touch football contest. See W. Hoag or M. Wheeler.

DR. LEON VALLAS GUEST OF ALLIANCE FRANCAISE

Basketball practice will begin for women November 9. Notices concerning particular hours will be posted in the "Y" room.

a sensible package 10 cents

Granger Rough Cut

—the tobacco that's MADE FOR PIPES

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 52 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1933 — NUMBER 15

Cats Win First Conference Game Saturday

PROF. BUTTERFIELD SAYS R. O. T. C. MEDALS WILL BE PRESENTED THIS YEAR

R. O. T. C. Unit to Be Recipient of Sons of American Revolution Medals Again

[illegible] of the College [illegible] president of the Ver- [illegible] of the American [illegible] announced to the CYNIC [illegible] awarded last year to [illegible] students of the local [illegible] are again to be [illegible]ent. The presentation [illegible] will take place at [illegible] Annual Federal In- [illegible] U. S. A. unit of the [illegible] Training Corps. The [illegible] S. A. R., is urging [illegible] chapters and individuals [illegible] the country to under- [illegible] of similar medals to [illegible] at other colleges.

[illegible]ntfield and Colonel [illegible] department of military [illegible]ated last year in in- [illegible] Vermont Society to pre- [illegible] the members of the [illegible] and the following rules [illegible] the award of the [illegible]ary medals:

1. That the awards be based upon the student's character, conduct, leadership qualities, soldierly bearing, and excellence in the theoretical and practical knowledge of the course.
2. That no student shall receive more than one award while a member of the R. O. T. C.
3. That the selection of the students to whom the medals shall be awarded shall be made by the professor of military science and tactics.
4. That the presentation of the medals shall take place at the time of the Annual Federal Inspection of the R. O. T. C. unit.

[illegible] the Quarterly Bulletin [illegible] Society, S. A. R., com- [illegible] present issue: "These [illegible] awarded to the stu- [illegible]serve Officers' Training [illegible] in their work a high [illegible] with respect to leader- [illegible]hing, and excellence [illegible] and theoretical [illegible] Here has already [illegible] various parts of the [illegible] of this sort, and [illegible]ate that the Ver- [illegible]k, was the first [illegible] and has again taken [illegible] this spring at [illegible] Norwich and Ver- [illegible] that state societies, [illegible]duals who are in- [illegible] work and who are in [illegible] C. units under- [illegible] the field and promote

(Continued on page 5)

WILL GIVE GIRL SCOUT TRAINING COURSE SOON

Beginning Monday, November [illegible] and continuing for five days, there will be a girl scout training course for any women students who are interested. Miss Sullivan, of the National Girl Scout headquarters, will be the instructor. The place of meeting will be announced later.

It was planned to hold the course from 3.00 to 5.00 p.m. each day, but this time may be changed to 4.00 to 6.00 if these hours prove more convenient for the majority of girls.

Any girl interested in the course is asked to give her name to Miss Cummings or Miss Blanchard. There will be a fee of fifty cents for the five days.

FRATERNITY DANCES SATURDAY NIGHT TO OPEN SOCIAL SEASON

Owls, Phi Mu Delts, and S A E's Have Dances This Week; Others to Wait Until Later Date

Three fraternities, as far as is now known, will start off the interfraternity social season this week Saturday night, November 11, with their regular fall informals. Two fraternities will probably have no informal either now or later. Some others are either undecided as to date, or will definitely hold theirs on the other dance date, November 25. Delta Psi and probably Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Nu will make use of this later date. The nearness of the military ball, Middlebury game and football hop are undoubtedly the reasons for the few number the eleventh.

The Owls on that date will hold a masquerade dress dance at their house. E. R. Greemore '36 is in charge and has secured the Black Pirates for melody. Chaperones of the affair will be Prof. and Mrs. P. H. Ewert and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Livingston.

Phi Mu Delta Fraternity will have a supper victrola dance, with Prof. Leon Dean chaperoning. The dance committee consists of W. E. Concannon '34, chairman, S. F. Morris '34, and C. A. Rogers '35.

The S A E informal will be run by N. O. Wells '34, assisted by C. R. Congdon '34, R. G. Warren '36 and L. E. Cusick '36. Lechnyr's Vermonters will syncopate and Prof. and Mrs. L. B. Puffer will act as chaperones.

Student Senate meeting at Kappa Sigma Manor Wednesday, November 8, at 7.30 p.m. All members to be present.

T. G. COGSWELL,
President.

ANNUAL MILITARY BALL TO TAKE PLACE IN GYM THIS FRIDAY EVENING

First Formal Dance of College Year Is Sponsored by Scabbard and Blade

Friday evening at nine o'clock, Bob Minotti and his orchestra will sound the flare for the annual Military Ball in the gymnasium. Scabbard and Blade, annual sponsors of the first formal dance of the college year has made several arrangements to make the evening's entertainment run off smoothly.

"This year's society believes that it has the best to offer at the least possible price. We urge all students who can possibly attend to do so without fail" states Chairman Stone, when asked concerning the dance. C. F. Drown '34, co-chairman avers, "We'll guarantee that all who come will be well satisfied with the evening's fun—the music, the decorations, the refreshments, the orchestra and the company. Yes by all means the company."

On the receiving line will be Colonel and Mrs. F. F. Black, Colonel and Mrs. C. R. Haig, Captain and Mrs. M. E. Craig, Captain and Mrs. E. Colby, G. Stone '34 and Miss Mary Breen of Essex Junction. Decorations for the formal occasion will be supervised by G. L. Davis '34, while the programs have been planned by F. O. Walter '34. The latter has also assumed responsibility for the advertising and the tickets. D. E. Bennett, Jr., '34 has charge of the music and the refreshments. According to Bennett, cider and cookies will be served. Machine guns, banners, standards and colored lights will form the greater part of the decorations.

Freshman uniforms will be ready Thursday and may be worn at the dance. Formal wear is meant to include tuxedo or R. O. T. C. uniforms, both basic and advanced.

All sophomores wishing to scrub varsity basketball report at practice any evening to the assistant managers, Howe, Patch or Woodard.

D. J. TOBIN, Mgr.

The directors of the group plays wish to thank all those who helped to make them a success. Particular thanks is due D. W. Jenks '34, A. Svigoon '37 and C. F. Derven '36.

ALICE McCONNELL,
S. PIERCE, JR.

BLUESTOCKINGS SETS NOV. 29 AS FINAL DATE FOR ALL CONTRIBUTIONS

Society is to be Used as Forum for Discussion of Literature

[illegible] November 29 the latest [illegible] on the final date [illegible] submissions [illegible] a Bluestockings [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE VERMONT CYNIC

Published by the Students of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Sports Editor
Associate Editor
Business Manager
Advertising Manager

NEWS EDITORS

FEATURE EDITORS

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

COLUMNIST

CONTRIBUTING EDITORS

REPORTERS

Edna Leach '36

FACULTY ADVISER
Prof. Leon Dean

Vol. LX No. 15

Editorials

CORDIALITY

WINTER SPORTS ENTHUSIASTS

Group Players Show Promising Material were less fortunate than others in the results produced. In each play there was much left to be desired, yet after believe that Herr Strubel must have been far less self-conscious than he was support to the action.

and grew petulant with a truly delightful abandon.

The Scribe

By Pud Tramp

Society Notes

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Last 33 and Helen Cumming

PI BETA PHI

Kay Skillen '35, Doris Skinner '35,

KAPPA DELTA

An alumni meeting was held at the

Mrs. Mark Brannon, formerly Helen rooms Friday evening, November 3. The Burlington alumnæ were invited.

K. E. L.

The freshmen were greeted at a tea

Louise Gamble '35 spent the week end

The Catty Co-ed

The Catty Co-ed wants an introduction to Ken Spaulding's new roommate.

The Catty Co-ed would like to borrow Mrs. Williams' Hallowe'en costume to wear to the military ball.

There should be a course given in "How to Ventilate Classrooms."

'Two freshmen made blind dates with two girls from Slade. They went up and found a Hallowe'en party. The girls gave them apples. Just two Kappa Sig pledges making a good start.'

Aren't those black shirts some of the men are wearing nifty. The girls like em on the blonds.

A great many people seemed quite interested in obtaining Vermont's official telephone list.

Eli Jepson says we can print anything about him we can find to print.

Professor Isaart: "Close that door, Mr. Somebody." Two people got up to close the door.

Pip-pa Saxton is out guessing for the Catty Co-ed. He has prepared himself for this morning by collecting several cans of M.C.

What kind of what grammar school was he in a class of suppose? Mary Lowery, secretary of the Sig Alph alumni.

The Catty Co-ed would like to see Professor Dean made tax collector.

The Catty Co-ed intent on other things worked right by a downtown mail box one other day. Some times her morning hours have been made miserable in sophomore 1 performance in choosing courses with hazards as the center.

The Catty Co-ed suggests that Commencement be made shorter. It might have a short speech by Dean, and of all those degrees given, perhaps the most interesting would happen to be conferred on the girl.

girl knows also how many couples there are in reading the Bible, since someone was not get the wrong [illegible]

THEATRE

Flynn

M. T. W. Th. Bolero—George Raft and Carole Lombard. Also the two

F. S. The Countess of Monte Cristo—Fay Wray, Paul Lukas, Irene Ware and Jack Searl. For once not a

M. T. W. Love Captive—John Gilbert in another characterization those who saw it—it's okay.

Majestic

M. T. W. Love Honor and Oh Baby—Zasu Pitts and Slim Summerville get together. Also the small town lawyer with

W. Th. Gambling Madness—a gangland story by Lucien Cary, Robert Young and Leila Hyams.

F. S. Love Time—Nils Asther and Loretta Young. Also two

State

M. T. The Keyhole—George Raft and Kay Francis really merge talents in The Keyhole says the

The adventures of a private detective thought he knew his own mind.

F. S. Heroes of Hammarskjold—a walks of N. Y. C. picture with a

M. T. Love Captive—John Gilbert in another characterization those who saw it—it's okay.

FOUND

A green fountain pen with initials D. M. has been found and may be obtained by calling at the University Store.

"Young man," said his employer, "is it that you are always the last one to arrive in the morning and the first to leave at night?"

The young man explained. "Well, you wouldn't want me to be late only a day, would you?"

Father—I don't favor your marrying that young man. Why, he is getting only $6 a week.

Daughter—Yes, but think how rich he'll be a week passes, Daddy!

Judge—Why did you burn your employer's house down?

Maid—I wanted to give my sweetheart a chance to rescue me. He's a fi-

Compliments of

ALEX VERRET

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

• • •

Elias Lyman Coal Company

208 College Street

● Don't let "recurring" pains ruin your day and deprive you of your normal activity. Don't take chances of flunking exams. Banish such pains with Kalms tablets. Headaches, neuralgia, backache, cramps, and other localized pains are promptly and effectively relieved by a small dosage. Kalms, developed by Johnson & Johnson, are safe. They are not habit-forming, do not affect digestion or heart action. Your druggist has Kalms in purse size boxes of 12 tablets.

KALMS FOR RELIEF OF "RECURRING" PAINS

FREE SAMPLE—SEND COUPON

Johnson & Johnson

Send me a FREE sample of Kalms

Name _____

Address _____

USEUM EXHIBITS ORIENTAL CARVING

ricate Piece of Chinese Crafts- manship Consists of Twelve Concentric Ivory Balls recent and unusual at the Robert Hall The Ivory Ball" intricate piece of ing as it does of ball was bought H. Perkins from a little shop in whither he was wissman, Henry C was then, as now, pro- the Lung Nan Uni- of Canton and was at the well-known in the teeming knew the clever crafts- the traveller, his old to a number of presided over by typi- the Orient.

In a recent radio WCAX gave the following ball, which is ethological room: inches in diameter concentric balls. The of an inch in thick- under eleven is only sixteenth of an innermost ball is a good sized pea this remarkable reveals, one after an- surprises. One beauty and intricacy of I think no one who has the smaller balls in other failed to marvel that such could ever be solved. it?" everyone asks. seen it done tell us that delicate tools of finest them shaped like thick a dentist's hand tool. business ends made in Some are straight, bent at right angles.

Technique Explained

one ball from an- through one inch them, equally nearly to the in- diminish a little in smaller. The ivory nineteenth century technique. one of the tools ac- at the work. It artist is able to hold geometric perfection even the innermost ball is the only one which irregular outer surface; be smoothly finished be- revolves free from one an- one within another inch holes in the outer is meant for the base of Around it a rosette is it radiates to the equa- ball, and then converges to what we might call the north elaborate design of pagodas, buildings and human figures. The little people of half-inch stature are in high relief and are represented at all sorts of household tasks, wood-chopping and playing. I that one might accomplish the counting these figures but it a more patient person than the delicate tracery of this outer a lacelike fragility be- multitude of very small holes the ivory. These holes un- make it possible to insert the carve away this outermost ball almost beneath. They follow of course, that is, they are deepest depressions of the outer eleven balls are cut with a pattern of tiny stars, each one with the points of uniform sharply cut. The excel- workmanship is very remarkable. look at the carving of most Chinese artisans reveals a startling delicacy of technique be- and the Chinese. Even the and tenth balls inside of show no carelessness hurry. The little star- are so uniform and so clearly absolutely perfect even examine them with the ut-president of the Univer- Wisconsin, recently proved to what a college president can little faster than a holdup as the underworld is given

Frank was alone in a hotel when a robber forced his pointed at the educator. against the wall and hand me your bag," said the thug. Frank backed up, but he backed against the bathroom door. Sud- swung himself inside the bath- slammed the door and locked it, to the window calling for help. escaped, but Doctor Frank keys to his bag.

CO-EDS EXPRESS OPINIONS ON THE PERFECT MAN

(Continued from page 1)

some, a good dancer and a smooth line. One girl goes farther and says: "He doesn't have to be interested in sports, but must not have a mustache and preferably should not wear glasses all the time."

One junior goes against the crowd and says she like 'em "Tall (six feet 3 inches) and blond with a sense of humor and a well developed silly streak—he must not wear colored shirts and must have a good imagination."

This is a composite picture of the ideal man, but remember the intellects of women. So don't be too discouraged, boys, if you don't quite toe the mark. Remember tomorrow is another day, and women are you ahead to change their minds?

Adolescent Observations

It is awful, some of the second-hand books we purchase are! Sometimes the English translations cover up the German text. To make matters worse we can't even read the English!

One day two of us "explored" the third and fourth floors of North and Middle College. We can only say (for publication) that we rejoice in having the library and chapel to counterbalance the Old Mill.

Why is it a sin to omit theta?

It was at a recent dance when one of our fairest youngsters confessed in all seriousness that she liked to dance with a certain football hero because he was so big and comfortable—just like a stone wall. So that was the secret of Stonewall Jackson's success.

Some kid, eh fun?

A local fraternity on the campus joined a national one not long ago. Now a once-prominent national chapter went local, keeping the self-same nickname. What's the story?

A new club, Hell's Belles, was organized recently. This makes a veritable inferno of Campus House; pajamas will make girls look Mephistophelian.

It is an excellent thing that the Halloween skunk was never captured. We realize the Robinson women lamented the lack of a few cents, but this rise to the occasion was overwhelming. Rav! Rav!

How can they expect us to attend the "better things of life" when a well-known English professor falls asleep during a lecture given by a world authority?

Who walked out of the "Merchant of Venice"? And we infants were led to believe that Shakespearean plays were the height of something or other.

Why is it that whenever plays are reviewed the comment is only favorable?

A new creamery just put up in Colorado advertised for blond girls to work in the butter department. "What makes you insist on blonds?" somebody asked. "Well," confessed the manager, "yellow hair in the butter isn't so conspicuous as black."

Wifey—Darling, do you trust me?

Hubby—Trust you, my precious—certainly I do. What in the world prompted you to ask such a question?

Wifey—Well, I notice that the pocket in which you keep your money is fastened up with a safety pin.

COLLEGE MAN'S INCOME DOUBLE THAT OF THE HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE

Dean Lord of Boston University C. B. A. Makes Nationwide Survey on Education-income Relation

If an elementary school graduate works [illegible] total of $88,000, while a college graduate will probably have earned $200,000 by his sixtieth year.

[illegible] were announced the other day by Everett W. Lord, Dean of Boston University's College of Business Administration, who has made a nation-wide survey of the relation of education to income. From thousands of men in all parts of the country he received statements as to their education and their income.

The relative earnings in 1932 of business men with high school education only and graduates of the college of business administration of the same age have been charted by Dean Lord. The men were all between the ages of 24 and 37. At 24 the high school graduate was earning $1,000, while the college man earned $1,300. At the age of 30, the difference was more marked, for the first man had just reached the $1,300 income, and the business administration graduate had attained a salary of $2,850.

The $5,000 mark was reached by the second man when he was 37 years old, but the high school graduate was earning only $1,750 by that time.—Boston Herald.

LECTURERS ANNOUNCED FOR DAIRYMEN'S MEETING

The list of lecturers for the Short Course Conference for Dairymen offered by the University of Vermont and at the Twelfth Annual Meeting of the Vermont Dairy Plant Operators' and Managers' Association to be held in Burlington, November 8, and 9, includes the following in addition to several prominent speakers from outside the state who have already been announced.

Dr. A. E. Cance of Massachusetts is to discuss the present economic situation and explain clearly the difference and meaning of the various schemes of inflation, reflation, or deflation, and also where the expressed policies of the present administration appear to be leading us. Professor Cance has had an opportunity to study dairy production control proposals in the Middle West as well as in the East and will discuss these strictly from an unbiased standpoint.

Others who will present valuable messages are E. H. Jones, representing the State Department of Agriculture and the Vermont State Milk Control Board; R. W. Smith, Jr., of the Dairy Department of the University of Vermont; H. E. Bremer, Supervisor of Creamery Inspection, State Department of Agriculture; J. M. Fraver, Dairy Department Vermont Agricultural Experiment Station and H. B. Ellenberger, Department of Animal and Dairy Husbandry, University of Vermont and Vermont Agricultural Experiment Station.

Billings Library Announces List of New Books Received Recently

Some of the most interesting of the new books received by the Billings Library are "An American Omnibus," "American Men of Science," Field's "Protection of Women and Children in Soviet Russia," "Eaton's Autobiography of Peggy Eaton," "Ralph Waldo Emerson, How to Know Him," Lafcadio Hearn's "Autobiography of Alice Tobin."

"An American Omnibus" is a very recent review of American literature including essays, essays, and poetry. Cattell's "American Men of Science" is a list of outstanding scientists of the country, including college professors, commercial chemists, and research workers. Field's "Protection of Women and Children in Soviet Russia" is an accurate description of Soviet labor conditions as they apply to the welfare of women workers and their children.

Professor Prindle, now abroad, is making a collection of early editions of Ovid and the library has just received two old editions that he has sent us, published in 1563 and the other in 1584.

A more complete list of the new books received by the library is as follows:

An American Omnibus.
Annual Review of Biochemistry.
Aeschylus, Prometheus Bound, edited with translation by Thomas [illegible] [illegible], Up Way Forward.
Cable, Rammona.
Conferences or Conversations on the Origin of Language in relation to the Social Order. Addresses.
Cattell, Men of Science.
Curtis, Life of Whitelaw Reid.
Emerson, Ralph Waldo Emerson, How to Know Him.
Hearn, Literary Reader.
Eaton, Autobiography of Peggy Eaton.
Field, Protection of Women and Children in Soviet Russia.
[illegible] Late of the Right Honorable [illegible] Walter Hines Page, M. P. [illegible] Letters Now First Published by Burton Jesse Hendrick, Albert Bushnell [illegible]
[illegible], A Weekly Times essays on the current Book and the Author.
[illegible], Latin America, an Appraisal of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru, Bolivia, Paraguay, Uruguay, Ecuador, Panama, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador, Nicaragua, Mexico, Cuba, Haiti, Dominican Republic, Porto Rico, Early American Inns and Taverns.
[illegible], Mineral Deposits. Third edition.
[illegible], Lord Lansdowne, a biography.
[illegible], Works translated by Farewell [illegible].
[illegible], Recent Advances in Plant Genetics.
[illegible], Autobiography of Alice Tobias.
[illegible], United States Department of Education, Research problems in school finance [illegible].
[illegible], Power.
[illegible] of [illegible], Alternating Current Circuits.

Methods used by a number of European dictatorial governments of spreading the government doctrines through the schools and universities will not be used by the United States government. American students are to be allowed perfect freedom in discovering for themselves the possible good and evil of the [illegible] theories behind NRA.

This was made clear by Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, when he removed by official ruling the [illegible] prohibitions sought to be laid down by the administrators of the various codes of the several arms of the recovery program, including the N.R.A., the governmental employment agencies and other of the emergency organizations created by the Roosevelt administration.

The publication will not be banned, however, and those teacher wishing to use it will have the privilege of doing so.

When you see Niagara Falls on the package, you KNOW you have Shredded Wheat.

HERE'S Energy FOR YOU!

FOLKS who pull a steady stroke in everything they do usually favor that natural energy food, Shredded Wheat.

Here's why. Shredded Wheat is made only of whole wheat—nothing added, nothing taken away. And whole wheat is packed with natural energy elements . . . proteins, vitamins, minerals, carbohydrates and bran. Get enough of these, and your days will be brighter. For these are the vital elements that put a snappy spring in your step.

Try it, for at least ten days. Just order "Shredded Wheat." It's ready cooked, ready to eat. Pour on plenty of milk or cream. Top with your favorite fruit. And sail into the finest-tasting energy food a few pennies ever bought.

THE VITALLY DIFFERENT FOOD

SHREDDED WHEAT

A product of NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY "Uneeda Bakers"

SPORTS NEWS

FROSH AND VARSITY CROSS-COUNTRY TEAMS IDLE LAST SATURDAY

Suitor First in Time Trials, Followed by Levine and Kennedy of Frosh Team

Norwich-Vermont Game Play-by-Play Description

Second Quarter

Coach Burke inserted Joe Delfausse for Negus at end, and injected an entire new backfield, consisting of Saba, Jezukawicz, Ramon and Ramano. Hicks kicked on the first play [illegible] Jezukawicz [illegible] the end zone, where the ball was brought back to the twenty yard line. Lockwood gained six yards around right end. Hicks took the ball for about four yards and another first down for Norwich.

Darling behind splendid interference made about five yards. A pass, Hicks to Lockwood, was fumbled by the latter. Hicks again carried [illegible] Hicks got off a punt to Vermont's thirty-two yard line. Saba, swinging into action, netted about four yards through tackle, where he was brought down by Lockwood. Lanahan could only squeeze one yard out on a similar play off the other tackle. Saba booted the ball to Darling on the fifteen yard line, where Norwich's left [illegible] back to his own twenty-five yard [illegible]

Hicks' pass was incomplete on Norwich's attempt to advance the ball to Vermont's goal, but Lockwood had more success when he speedily [illegible] around right end. He was finally brought down. Darling gained about two yards on a cut back through [illegible] Hicks was smeared on the line of [illegible] attempted line buck. The Norwich quarterback then punted the pigskin [illegible] Vermont's thirty-yard line, where Ralston [illegible] the ball.

Ramano, Vermont quarterback, failed to get a pass away to Hutchinson on the first play. Saba was rushed for a short loss on the next attempt. On the next play he kicked the ball to Norwich's eighteen yard line, where Darling [illegible] Hicks made about six through the center of the line, nearly making it a first down, but there was about a foot to go. [illegible] An attempted pass, Hicks to [illegible]

Second Quarter

Coach Burke inserted Joe Delfausse for Negus at end, and injected an entire new backfield, consisting of Saba, Jezukawicz, Ramon and Ramano. Hicks kicked on the first play [illegible] Jezukawicz [illegible] was brought down [illegible] the end zone, where the ball was brought back to the twenty yard line. Lockwood gained six yards around right end. Hicks took the ball for about four yards and another first down for Norwich.

Darling behind splendid interference made about five yards. A pass, Hicks to Lockwood, was fumbled by the latter. Hicks again carried [illegible] Hicks got off a punt to Vermont's thirty-two yard line. Saba, swinging into action, netted about four yards through tackle, where he was brought down by Lockwood. Lanahan could only squeeze one yard out on a similar play off the other tackle. Saba booted the ball to Darling on the fifteen yard line, where Norwich's left [illegible] back to his own twenty-five yard [illegible]

Hicks' pass was incomplete on Norwich's attempt to advance the ball to Vermont's goal, but Lockwood had more success when he speedily [illegible] around right end. He was finally brought down. Darling gained about two yards on a cut back through [illegible] Hicks was smeared on the line of [illegible] attempted line buck. The Norwich quarterback then punted the pigskin [illegible] Vermont's thirty-yard line, where Ralston [illegible] the ball.

Ramano, Vermont quarterback, failed to get a pass away to Hutchinson on the first play. Saba was rushed for a short loss on the next attempt. On the next play he kicked the ball to Norwich's eighteen yard line, where Darling [illegible] Hicks made about six through the center of the line, nearly making it a first down, but there was about a foot to go. [illegible] An attempted pass, Hicks to [illegible]

Third Quarter

[illegible] was received by Lockwood [illegible] and ran back to the [illegible] Vermont substitute [illegible] the [illegible] Hicks, [illegible] faking a kick, was tackled [illegible] line to lose four yards. Hicks then [illegible] ball to his own forty-six yard line [illegible] advanced it five yards. An [illegible] [illegible] Hicks [illegible] Norwich's [illegible] on the Norwich twenty-seven-yard line.

A pass from Hicks to Ralston while [illegible] netted no gain for the Maroon and White. A second forward, this time from Hicks to [illegible] gained about seventeen yards for the Horsemen. Darling was thrown for a loss behind the line [illegible] a first down after Hicks had galloped [illegible] right end for a nine-yard gain. The [illegible] with the ball on Vermont's forty-yard line.

Fourth Quarter

Hicks covered about two yards on a [illegible] through center. Hicks, again carrying the ball, bucked center for about four yards and a first down through tackle going to Vermont's forty-four-yard line. A pass, Hicks to Ralston, was incomplete. Reynolds stopped Hicks for the latter had made about two yards. Hicks' pass to Ralston is again incomplete, and a pass attempted on the following play fails.

With the ball ceded to Vermont on downs, Funk attempting an off tackle play lost about six yards, when the line failed to hold. He gained the lost ground when he bucked the line. Beckley's kick was received by Darling on Norwich's fifteen-yard line and was run back to the twenty-six yard line. Darling gained only a yard on a wide end run. Habicht was stopped in his tracks on a quarterback sneak. He passed to Funk at Vermont's forty-four yard line.

Funk on a reverse, was thrown for a four yard loss. Beckley kicked the ball out of bounds on Norwich's twenty-four-yard marker. Lockwood gained four yards on an off tackle play, and Hicks kicked to Funk on his own forty-three-yard line. Smith, substituting for McGuire, recovered a fumble by Giard on Vermont's forty-four yard line. Blakey broke through on Norwich's first play to nail Hicks for a four-yard loss. Hicks, bucking center, gained about two yards. A pass from Hicks to Ralston, landed the ball on Vermont's forty-two yard line.

Hicks, attempted to gain ground by a lateral pass but made no impression into Vermont territory. A second pass from Hicks to Ralston also failed to gain any ground. A third attempt at aerial ground gaining resulted in a loss when McGuire passed a lateral to Darling and there was no gain. The fourth attempt to pierce Vermont's defense via the aerial route was thwarted when Hicks' pass to Ralston was knocked down.

Saba, who replaced Beckley, gained about six yards through tackle in short time and added [illegible] three more yards through the same hole. After failing to gain further ground Ramon jumped into Norwich's line to gain the necessary distance for a first down. Following short gain through tackle and an end [illegible] kicked to Darling on Norwich's thirty-yard line. Hicks completed a long forward pass to Darling on Vermont's forty-three-yard marker and, taking the ball again made a beautiful open field dash to the twenty-yard line. A fumbled lateral pass brought the ball back to the thirty-two-yard marker, while a series of incomplete passes netted the Horsemen a five yard penalty. A third incomplete pass invited two further penalties as the ball was yielded to Vermont on downs. Saba made the last play of the game as he gained a yard.

S A E DEFEATS DELT TOUCH-FOOTBALL TEAM REACHES FINAL ROUND

A T O's and Sigma Phi's Advance to Semi-finals After Turning Aside All Opposition

ATO's Win Also

[illegible] Delta Theta aggregation by a score of 14-6. After clashing on fairly even terms for the first half the Phi Delta Theta team broke into the scoring column in the fourth quarter. Bowles to Cannon to Naylor on a march early in the third period. However the Sigma Phi team soon took the lead when Brett after receiving his first pass of the game, [illegible] touchdown and then proceeded to make the score 7-6 when Millett received a pass from Brett for the extra point.

Late in the fourth period Brett ran through a broken field for another touchdown and also proceeded to make the conversion by receiving a short pass. The Phi Delta Theta's last minute attack was stopped when Millett knocked down a pass behind the Sigma Phi's goal.

STATISTICS

		1st	2nd	Total
Yards gained by rushing	N.	64	32	96
	V.	40	17	57
Average yardage of kicks	N.	22.3	24.2	23.3
	V.	42.6	41.4	42
Average yardage of kickoffs	N.	57		57
	V.	42.5	56.5	49
Average distance punts returned	N.	5.3	11
Passes attempted	N.	5	13	18
	V.	10	0	10
Passes completed	N.	0	7	7
	V.	5	0	5
Yards gained passing	N.	0	71	71
	V.	81	0	81
Fumbles	N.	1	1	2
	V.	1	1	2
First downs	N.	6	4	10
	V.	4	2	6
Penalties	N.	15	35	50
	V.	35	15	50

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

[illegible] Norwich dropped their second game in the state series.

[illegible] was interested to [illegible] was planning a comeback in the [illegible] Panther eleven on Middlebury [illegible] Centennial Field.

[illegible] interest at present [illegible] the [illegible] with [illegible] Middlebury [illegible] the [illegible] Norwich [illegible]

The [illegible] will be resumed next [illegible] the Green and Gold meets [illegible] Centennial Field and Mid[illegible] plays Norwich at Middlebury.

In [illegible] game Ed Saba again [illegible] through the opposing team and showed up almost as a ring two backs every [illegible] the Green and Gold. His punting and [illegible] were outstanding in the [illegible]

Negus, Ramon, and Funk continued [illegible] in the line and had a great time in the Norwich backfield.

[illegible] in the New Hampshire game [illegible] Wesleyan game is a weak Vermont team." If the Catamounts were a weak team what can we say of the [illegible]

(Continued on page 6)

KITTENS FAIL TO SCORE AGAINST OPPOSITION AS FOOTBALL SEASON ENDS

Team Deserves Much Credit However in Turning Aside Supposedly Better Opponents

A successful game with the Middlebury [illegible] closed the Frosh football season on Friday October 27.

The Kittens exhibited a stalwart defense in this game, twice holding the [illegible] for downs with the ball on the 1 yard line and putting out of danger each time. Most of Middlebury's long gains were made or were started in the air, [illegible] most runs were made by the [illegible]

The Middlebury attack however seemed to lack that final punch needed to put the ball over the line.

Newcomers to the game were Wheaton and Haug in the backfield and Hopkins, Sims and Lawton in the line.

Although the Frosh did not make a [illegible] scores during the entire season it could not be said that the team was a failure. Their first game was a scoreless tie with Stambaugh at Barre. Stambaugh's team was tried and tested while the U. V. M. JV team had not as much to muster in the game. Cornell and the Dartmouth [illegible] each ran up [illegible] scores, while Norwich dropped [illegible] by the [illegible] score.

The next game was lost 6-0 in the last [illegible] after a fine defensive battle. Sturges, the Norwich halfback, could gain no ground through the line. A pass, Hicks to Ralston, was incomplete on Norwich's attempt to advance the ball to Vermont's goal, but Lockwood had more success when he speedily [illegible] around right end. He was finally brought down. Darling gained about two yards on a cut back through [illegible] Hicks was smeared on the line of [illegible] attempted line buck. The Norwich quarterback then punted the pigskin [illegible] Vermont's thirty-yard line, where Ralston [illegible] the ball.

Ramano, Vermont quarterback, failed to get a pass away to Hutchinson on the first play. Saba was rushed for a short loss on the next attempt. On the next play he kicked the ball to Norwich's eighteen yard line, where Darling [illegible] Hicks made about six through the center of the line, nearly making it a first down, but there was about a foot to go. [illegible] An attempted pass, Hicks to [illegible]

Second Quarter

Coach Burke inserted Joe Delfausse for Negus at end, and injected an entire new backfield, consisting of Saba, Jezukawicz, Ramon and Ramano. Hicks kicked on the first play [illegible] Jezukawicz [illegible] was brought down [illegible] the end zone, where the ball was brought back to the twenty yard line. Lockwood gained six yards around right end. Hicks took the ball for about four yards and another first down for Norwich.

Darling behind splendid interference made about five yards. A pass, Hicks to Lockwood, was fumbled by the latter. Hicks again carried [illegible] Hicks got off a punt to Vermont's thirty-two yard line. Saba, swinging into action, netted about four yards through tackle, where he was brought down by Lockwood. Lanahan could only squeeze one yard out on a similar play off the other tackle. Saba booted the ball to Darling on the fifteen yard line, where Norwich's left [illegible] back to his own twenty-five yard [illegible]

Hicks' pass

Should Our Athletic Teams Compete With Large Colleges

... Vermont foot- ... with such teams ... Yale, N. Y. U. ... This is a ques- ... quite freely ... Opinions ... question are ... think that play- ... this caliber is a ... from a practice ... from a mercenary ... one think that the ... damage than good ... The arguers ... good points.

... sports editor of the ... that playing col- ... rior to the U. V. M. ... in more ways than

... ...

Vermont Sororities

ALPHA XI DELTA

WOMEN'S CLASS HOCKEY TEAMS RECENTLY CHOSEN

PRENTICE ANNOUNCES INDOOR GYM SCHEDULE

St. Michael's Ties Middlebury

(Continued from page 5)

CATS MEOW

(Continued from page 4)

GREEN MOUNTAIN CONFERENCE STANDING

	Won	Lost	Tied
Vermont	1	0	0
St. Michael's	1	0	1
Middlebury	0	0	1
Norwich	0	2	0

Touchdowns: Vermont, Saba, Ramon, Negus. St. Michael's, Bozek.

Milder ..yes I like that word about cigarettes

"When I think of milder cigarettes nowadays, I always think of Chesterfields.

"Because Chesterfields are milder. They've got plenty of taste and aroma to them but they've got mildness too!

